WHAT ANNE BIVENHOUSE SAYS

(Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It is to be a silk year. The looms have been busy since last summer turning out weaves with new designs and new colorings. Plain surfaces seem to have disappeared from the face of the earth and whatever has a figure or a kind or least gains attention from those who regard those who sell.

It is claimed that the reason for this extensive manufacture of costly fabrics is due to the fact that the dressmakers insist upon using such short lengths of material for a gown that the manufacturer is in danger of losing their incomes. More important than this, the working girl was in danger of losing her position. In fact she did lose it—thousands of her kind in France and in some of the American mills—after the fashion was established for slim and scanty skirts. The girls who made petticoats suffered more than any when the modish skirts were banished from the wardrobe. After the silk petticoats came into fashion—silk, scanty affairs as they are—the petticoat industry was renewed on another base, but there is no longer a demand for women for short lengths for gowns.

It is easy to see what a difference it makes when thousands of persons buy only four yards to make a gown, whereas they used to buy twelve yards. To offset this decrease in the amount of material the manufacturers invented novelty fabrics and made each one as expensive as they could. The velvet de laine, which has been so popular all winter, was costly and intricate, which was invented, or rather revived, last summer, was costly the purse of the average woman. Dress made de chine was necessarily expensive and heavy satin embroidered with velvet flowers was necessarily expensive, and so it went through the list of materials. Of course there remained many fabrics that were more expensive and that had plain surfaces, for it is not possible to withdraw from the shops the clothes needed by the majority of women and there were comparatively few who indulged in the costly weaves. They left those to the women who must have novelty and who are willing to pay a good price for the mere privilege of being different from their neighbors.

The new silks show no tendency to decrease the cost of novelty fabrics, but they are exceedingly lovely, which is a verdict that one can give concerning any of the weaves of the day, with the exception probably of plain cotton ratine, which may be serviceable but is not exactly artistic. It would be difficult to class the new materials under any particular name. The words "old fashioned" are more often applied to them than any others, but these are elastic words that mean anything and include what is ugly and undesirable as well as what is lovely and to be desired.

The new silks are in the latter category. Their coloring is rather wonderful and is another tribute to the skill of the modern dyer, who has far too little credit given him in this period of frenzied fashion. He has mastered the art of dyeing in a way that puts him in a high class, and it would not be possible for the dressmakers of the day to bring the glory upon themselves that they do if it was not for the aid of these dyes of color.

Enough color has been used in the formation of the design in the new silks to give them a brilliancy that is not generally appreciated. It is especially true when it is not rather hard to decide on how much of it a woman could wear. There are whole gowns made of some of these silks, but unless the fabric is handled by a supreme artist its effect will be deplorable. This is especially true when plainness and severity have departed and when intricate convolutions, caused by tulle and sashes, have become the most fashionable method of making clothes.

The idea of putting a plain colored sash on these various silks is acceptable to the women, because it saves them from the trouble of thinking out another means of making any from the necessity of being trimmed; both of these are economies in time and money. The French have understood the value of a sash of the same color as well as in a different color better than the Americans. One of the best gowns turned out by Worth, built of black and white satin, had the selvages of both fabrics used as the only finishing touch to all the edges. The result was delightful and had real artistic value.

Now that colored selvages are put on the silks, women are bound to use them in lieu of the trimming, which is often a dangerous thing to leave in the hands of an amateur. The third color and the third fabric, like the third rail, are something to beware of.

The return of gray to fashion has given the dyer a chance to incorporate wonderful pink roses or designs in old blue against a speckled or striped background. There are also touches of yellow flickering through the gray and a gray selvage. There are cream silks which are speckled over with a fine dot of fresh pink and almost covered with a design of blown Cherokee roses with green leaves. A gown of this coloring has been made up without the introduction of anything except white tulle for the half bodice. The skirts are narrow and the panner is reminiscent of Watteau. It is drawn down over the hips in good lines and bunched at the neck below the spine and falls in a flowing box plait to the hem. The bodice of white is caught high at the back and is well opened in front and the edges finished with a fluff of malinge lace. Because of the fashion for sashes it should come into favor and the new shades offered by the shops are exceedingly attractive; they are an exact imitation of the new silks, except that the flowers in many cases are of velvet raised on a silk or satin ground. These are used for girdles that wrap around the figure and form themselves into panels that hang down the side and are finished with silk or bead fringe. They can also be used as a shoulder drape, for one sees labels appearing here and there, and they are best when made of handsome floral ribbon. The becoming way of hanging double panels or a long pointed cape from the shoulders at the back brings into play the new ribbon, as they can be used under lace or alone. They are very effective under lace, as you may imagine, as well as under the figured net that will play a large role in the season's fashions. Such ribbon gives character to the shoudering drapery of lace, especially when it extends beyond the lace and is weighted with a tassel, more or less simple, according to the gown. Crepe de chine also shows these wonderful flowers raised on its surface, some in velvet, some in satin. There is a great deal of broad crepe de chine the kind which has a stamped satin figure on it, and it is more becoming than the plain weaves. As long as its surface remains in one tone it can be used for the simplest kind of one piece frocks. When the design is made in another color from the foundation then the fabric must be reserved for an ultra smart frock, only to be worn on special occasions.

BRITAIN'S PLANS FOR VESSELS IN THE AIR. Great Airship Station, 200 Officials and Men, 15 or 20 Airships. London, Jan. 15.—Work has begun on the construction, in the neighborhood of Cuckney of a great airship station to cost $400,000. The building, which will include large movable airship hangars to accommodate two Zeppelins, is to be opened about the middle of this year. As a nucleus of the naval aerial section 200 officers and men are asked for in the estimates. It is hoped that the army and navy will have a fleet of between fifteen and twenty airships at their disposal before the end of this year. Both departments seem to have satisfied themselves as to the aggressive value of airships, and to favor the rigid type, because it is possible to mount machine guns on top of the hull of vessels of this class. It is said that the naval Zeppelin now manufacturing has a ship's lifting power of three tons for armament and bombs, and is likely to become a standard type. Confirmation is now to hand of the report published many days ago that the British Admiralty has ordered from the Societe Astra in France, an airship of the Astra-Torres type. The Astra-Torres is the product of the wife of a Spanish engineer, Leonard Torres Quevedo, and the Societe Astra build it under license. F. J. CHENEY & CO. Toledo, O. Sold by all druggists, 75c. WANT SHOES AND SKATES. Playgrounds Commission of Winnipeg Would Help Poor Children to Enjoy Skating. At a regular meeting of the Winnipeg Playgrounds commission the financial report for the year was submitted and approved. In the matter of the two large public skating rinks, it was reported that these rinks are adequately lighted with arc lamps, and have a shelter 34x12, divided into two parts, one for boys and the other for girls, erected at an approximate cost of $100 each. As a number of children are unable to avail themselves of the rinks an appeal is made for skates and shoes by Mr. Morrison, playgrounds commissioner for the city. Customers who put a penny in the slot can now, it is said, obtain their daily supply of milk in England from an apparatus devised by a Wolverth milkman.

Little Beauty Chats

Novel Skin Whiteners

I DO not need to ask if you long to possess a milk-white skin, as I know, without being told, that you do. Every woman worthy of the name cherishes a bitter enemy to a brown skin and would rid herself of the unbecoming tints if she could. This is just as it should be. Here is a bleach that is as simple and inexpensive as it is effective. Make a friend of it, I beseech you, if you wish to be not as white as you would wish to be. Tonight after you have given your pretty face its night bath in hot, soapy water, dilute it over with a lotion made by adding three teaspoonfuls of salt to a glass of sweet milk. When this salty liquid has dried on the face, run off to bed to sleep the sleep of the just. When morning dawns and you have yawned yourself out of your snowy cot, wash off the salt which still adheres to the skin with lukewarm water, then massage face for a few minutes with some good skin cream. Several such treatments will make your skin as white as cotton and as soft as the cheek of a babe. You will not need to resort to powder once you become acquainted with this skin fader, hey! that good news? Now let me tell you of a bleach which, so an old chronicler tells me, was a favorite with the belles of Washington's time. You would like to know of it, I am sure. When ready to prepare this bleach, beat the white of an egg until it can stand alone, so to speak, then add the juice of one large lemon and put the cup containing this mixture into a pan of hot water, but be careful not to scorch or cook the egg compound. As the pomade heats, stir it with a spoon until it is as smooth as cream, then remove cup from the stove and pour its contents into a jar. This pomade will not keep long, so do not make up a large quantity at any one time. It is meant to be rubbed into the skin at night just as if it were a cream. When the egg begins to dry, rub the skin gently with a silk handkerchief until all the egg mixture has been smoothed into oblivion. If the lover of a white skin will use this beautifier regularly, she will soon have as pretty a skin as she could wish to own.

BRITAIN'S PLANS FOR VESSELS IN THE AIR. Great Airship Station, 200 Officials and Men, 15 or 20 Airships. London, Jan. 15.—Work has begun on the construction, in the neighborhood of Cuckney of a great airship station to cost $400,000. The building, which will include large movable airship hangars to accommodate two Zeppelins, is to be opened about the middle of this year. As a nucleus of the naval aerial section 200 officers and men are asked for in the estimates. It is hoped that the army and navy will have a fleet of between fifteen and twenty airships at their disposal before the end of this year. Both departments seem to have satisfied themselves as to the aggressive value of airships, and to favor the rigid type, because it is possible to mount machine guns on top of the hull of vessels of this class. It is said that the naval Zeppelin now manufacturing has a ship's lifting power of three tons for armament and bombs, and is likely to become a standard type. Confirmation is now to hand of the report published many days ago that the British Admiralty has ordered from the Societe Astra in France, an airship of the Astra-Torres type. WANT SHOES AND SKATES. Playgrounds Commission of Winnipeg Would Help Poor Children to Enjoy Skating. At a regular meeting of the Winnipeg Playgrounds commission the financial report for the year was submitted and approved. In the matter of the two large public skating rinks, it was reported that these rinks are adequately lighted with arc lamps, and have a shelter 34x12, divided into two parts, one for boys and the other for girls, erected at an approximate cost of $100 each. As a number of children are unable to avail themselves of the rinks an appeal is made for skates and shoes by Mr. Morrison, playgrounds commissioner for the city. Customers who put a penny in the slot can now, it is said, obtain their daily supply of milk in England from an apparatus devised by a Wolverth milkman.

Interesting Words

A prominent New York food expert recently said:

Statistics show that of 20 million school children in this country, 15 millions are more or less defective in eyes, teeth, glands, bony structure or otherwise.

This is largely due to their being fed upon substances in which the twelve minerals in the human body, and necessary to renew that body, are deficient in the food. Chief among these twelve minerals are Phosphorus, Iron, Magnesium, Calcium and Fluorine.

Common flour, rice, corn meal and some breakfast cereals have been robbed of 75% of their mineral elements, largely by being prepared to look "white and nice."

Grape-Nuts FOOD

Made of whole wheat and barley, contains all the valuable mineral elements necessary to the building of sound bodies and keen brains. This food is particularly rich in organic Phosphates, the essential mineral element necessary to brain building and brain development.

A regular morning dish of Grape-Nuts and cream is the daily, healthy habit of thousands of families, who for years have found by actual test that this food has properly won the title of "King of Breakfast Foods."

THE PARCEL POST

There was an interesting discussion in parliament yesterday concerning the re-establishment of the parcel post. Postmaster General Fletcher announced that the subject was receiving attention from the government, and that action would be taken, although he did not go into particulars further than to say that he expected to introduce legislation providing for the establishment of a parcel post system. Mr. Fletcher made this statement after the Hon. Mr. Lemieux had stated that in the opinion of the house such a system would be to the advantage of consumers in Canada.

The Winnipeg Tribune prints the following comparison of postage rates on a parcel weighing eleven pounds, to show how Canada stands in the matter.

London, Eng., to Toronto, Ont.	$.75
Paris, France, to Toronto, Ont.	$.87
Berlin, Germany, to Toronto, Ont.	1.00
Hamilton, Ont., to Toronto, Ont.	1.70

It would not be possible, however, to send a package of eleven pounds from Hamilton to Toronto until it had been broken up into three smaller packages, each of which would weigh less than five pounds. At the present time parcels of larger weight entering Canada are forwarded to their destination at the low rate, but Canadians cannot yet avail themselves of such rates. Mr. James-Lawler, the well known forestry expert, who was in Philadelphia last week, says that he was informed there that in the first week of the operation of the parcel post system no less than 150,000 parcels had been sent through the Philadelphia post office.

THE HOME RULE FIGHT

The long fight for home rule in Ireland appears to be almost won. The House of Lords may once more reject it, but the emergency does not appear to be inevitable. It is said that the Unionists of Ulster are organizing a provincial government to come into being when home rule is adopted. That is, these extremists will defy the parliament of the United Kingdom. When it is stated, however, that Ulster will pursue a certain course it must be remembered that there are a great many Nationalists in Ulster, and that these are well represented in the British parliament. Mr. Balfour, who appears for the time being to have resumed the leadership of the Unionist party, made some very gloomy predictions in his speech in the commons yesterday, but he was well answered by Premier Asquith. It pleased Mr. Balfour and his friends to direct attention to the dissatisfaction which will be felt in Ulster if home rule is adopted, but Mr. Asquith brings their attention to the fact that the country back to the question of what the Unionists would do with the rest of Ireland if home rule were defeated. Mr. Asquith was able to point out also to Mr. Balfour that the latter made certain very gloomy predictions of what would happen in South Africa if home rule were given to that portion of the Empire. These predictions have not been fulfilled, for though there is some inevitable friction in South Africa, that Dominion is solving its problems without any suggestion by any party of delay to the Empire. The adoption of home rule for Ireland will not bring serious trouble, unless that trouble is fomented for political reasons by men who do not care a fig for Ireland itself.

AN INTERESTING BOOK

The Times has received a copy of the last annual report of the Temperance and Moral Reform department of the Methodist Church in Canada. The book is entitled Living Issues in Moral and Social Reform, and in its more than 100 pages sets forth many striking facts about conditions existing in this country, and efforts that are being made for social improvement.

There is a very interesting comparison and statement of the amount of intoxicating liquor consumed in Canada since 1869. A glance over the figures shows that there was considerable variation in the quantity consumed in different years, and that there has been a notable increase during the last fifteen years. No doubt this increase is partly accounted for by growth of population. The figures show, however, that there has been a slight decline since 1908. The quantity of spirits consumed has shown a considerable decrease during the last thirty years, but there has been a large increase in the consumption of beer. In the year 1882 the consumption per capita of spirits was 1.69 and of beer 2.74. In 1911 the quantity of spirits consumed was .829 and of beer 5.431 gallons per capita. The consumption of wines is relatively very small. The report estimates that the total quantity of intoxicating beverages entered for consumption in Canada for the year ending 31st March, 1911, was as follows:—

Canadian spirits	4,144,422
Imported spirits	2,561,456
Canadian malt liquors	41,739,853
Imported malt liquors	1,193,415
Imported wines	833,239
Total	50,515,765

The report says that a conservative estimate of the amount of money spent by the people of Canada for those liquors during the year was $81,392,902.10, or that the per capita expenditure was $1.12. In view of the progress that has been made in extending local option and prohibition teritory, these are rather startling figures, and justify the plea made in the report that every effort should be made to encourage total abstinence. The report contains a review of the progress of local option and the movement toward prohibition, and contends that the outlook is hopeful, despite the fact that so much liquor is still consumed.

This report deals also with the increased consumption of tobacco, pointing out among other things that the consumption of cigarettes increased from nearly 285,000,000 in 1911 to 782,683,841 in 1912.

An interesting portion of the report treats of child welfare, among other things it is recommended that a juvenile court be established in every Canadian city, and industrial homes in all the provinces. Reference is also made to the need of some provision for the care of the feeble minded, and it is declared that every province should provide for the segregation and care of such persons.

A careful perusal of this report must be of great value to all who are interested in social and moral reform movements in Canada. It is filled with valuable information and suggestions, and on the whole takes a hopeful view of the situation, because there are so many agencies at work having for their object the improvement of social conditions. If, however, any individual is disposed to assume that there is no room for an extension of the work, the facts set out in this book show very clearly that such an assumption is without warrant, and that there is on the contrary a very wide field of opportunity for all who feel that they would like to have a share in a great work of which there is great need.

We have now reached mid-winter. It will soon be spring. The question of the extension of the street railway line toward East St. John is still unsettled.

The emergency does not appear to be inevitable. It is said that the Unionists of Ulster are organizing a provincial government to come into being when home rule is adopted. That is, these extremists will defy the parliament of the United Kingdom. When it is stated, however, that Ulster will pursue a certain course it must be remembered that there are a great many Nationalists in Ulster, and that these are well represented in the British parliament. Mr. Balfour, who appears for the time being to have resumed the leadership of the Unionist party, made some very gloomy predictions in his speech in the commons yesterday, but he was well answered by Premier Asquith. It pleased Mr. Balfour and his friends to direct attention to the dissatisfaction which will be felt in Ulster if home rule is adopted, but Mr. Asquith brings their attention to the fact that the country back to the question of what the Unionists would do with the rest of Ireland if home rule were defeated. Mr. Asquith was able to point out also to Mr. Balfour that the latter made certain very gloomy predictions of what would happen in South Africa if home rule were given to that portion of the Empire. These predictions have not been fulfilled, for though there is some inevitable friction in South Africa, that Dominion is solving its problems without any suggestion by any party of delay to the Empire. The adoption of home rule for Ireland will not bring serious trouble, unless that trouble is fomented for political reasons by men who do not care a fig for Ireland itself.

The Times extends congratulations to the Board of School Trustees for opening the Douglas Avenue school building as a social centre for at least one evening. A meeting is to be held there to discuss the question of improving Douglas Avenue. There is no reason why every school building should not be opened for similar purposes, and the board will no doubt gradually come around to that way of thinking. There is no better place to discuss matters relating to civic and social welfare than in a school building, which is paid for by the people.

MISS VIOLET FRENCH OF MONCTON DEAD

Will Be Buried at Millstream—Fire in Home of J. B. Magee

Moncton, N. B., Jan. 16.—The death of Miss Violet French, daughter of Mrs. L. D. French, occurred yesterday afternoon after a lengthy illness of tuberculosis. She was about twenty-four years old. Her father, L. D. French, died a few years ago. He formerly lived in Millstream, Kings County, where the body of his daughter will be taken for interment on Friday morning.

A fire of mysterious origin occurred in the residence of J. B. Magee, Alma street, between one and two o'clock this morning. It was seen, fortunately, in time to prevent any great damage. Mrs. Magee, after retiring, believed she smelled smoke, but she went to sleep. She soon awoke with a feeling that there was fire in the building. She investigated and found a small blaze getting under way and the rear of the house full of smoke. A still alarm was sent in and the blaze was soon put out by the chemical. It is a puzzle to Chief Ackman how the fire originated unless by incendiary.

The late Sir George Darwin used to tell an interesting story showing how his own existence was once dependent, as he was accustomed to put it, on a puff of wind. When he said his monstrous father made as a young man his famous voyage in the Beagle, he asked the captain to put him ashore at Durban, in order that he might write Sir George added, his father would almost certainly have been killed on the journey, and so he himself would never have been born.

Could Not Digest His Food

Suffered For Years From Indigestion Until Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Mr. J. D. S. Barrett. If you suffer from chronic indigestion, forget about the stomach and pay attention to the condition of the liver and bowels. Ten to one that is where the real trouble lies. The liver gets sluggish and fails to filter the bile from the blood, the bowels become constipated and the whole digestive system is upset. As to cure you cannot do better than to read Mr. Barrett's experience with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment so prompt and thoroughly effective. Mr. J. D. S. Barrett, Nelson, B. C., and formerly of Twillingate, Nfld., writes:—"For several years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. The least bit of food caused me considerable trouble and often I could scarcely eat a meal a day. The many remedies I tried were all unavailing. I considered a great blessing." Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

LIGHTER VEIN MAKING PEOPLE SWEAT. "Well—'Yes, sir, I make all my money by the sweating system—by making other fellows do the sweating while I take in the coin."

"Friends—'I should be ashamed to acknowledge it if I were you.' "Well—'Why, there's no harm in being a proprietor of a Turkish bath, is there?'"

ENJOYING HIMSELF. A man who worked in a mill went out of his mind and removed to the asylum. A fellow-walker on the other side of the gate, saw Jimmy sitting in the grounds smoking his pipe.

"Hallo, Jimmy" he called. "How are you going on?" "Oh, Ah'm going on first-rate, thank you," answered Jimmy.

"Ah'm verry glad to hear it, lad. You'll happen be coming back to work soon, eh?" "Well," answered Jimmy, "I'm great surprise. Leave a big house as a garden like this an' cum back to work? Do ye think Ah'm wrong in my head?"

HER FAVORITE. The other Sunday evening, when church service was over, a young curate started on his golf home, accompanied by two young ladies of the choir, when they began a conversation about hymns.

"What is your favorite hymn?" asked the curate, turning to one of his fair companions.

"Draw me nearer," she replied, not thinking of the double meaning.

At that moment her companion, who was walking on the other side of the curate, to make matters worse, said innocently:

"That is only the chorus; the commencement of the verse is 'I am thine.'"

At this the curate laughed heartily, and the ladies all eyed him with a very careful when talking about hymns.

AS PER SAMPLE. He was up from the country, was Joe Muggins, intent on seeking his fortune in the gold-paved streets of London town.

On the first day of his arrival, after a long tramp around to see the sights, the young man turned into one of the neighboring restaurants to get a much-needed meal.

It was one of those brightly-lit, gilded places, but Joe wasn't in the least disconcerted. He sat and stared stolidly round, while the waiter deftly arranged his dinner in the numerous little dishes beloved at such resorts.

Then Joe was left alone to enjoy his food. But, to the consternation of the waiter, who called the proprietor to look, he still stared stolidly and entirely ignored the dishes under him.

At length the proprietor took courage with both feet and advanced towards the table of the supposed madman. Directly Joe perceived him he called:

"Ere, when's my dinner comin'?" If yer don't hurry I shall eat yer samples oop!"

BEAUTIFUL SONG PLAY FRECKLES HERE NEXT WEEK

There has been a demand from theatre-goers in every part of the United States and Canada for "Freckles," a dramatization from the now famous story of Gene Stratton-Porter. It was up to A. G. Delamater, the well known "producer of clean plays" to comply with the popular wish and so the play will be seen at the Opera House on next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

House on next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. There has been no more popular play seen in New York or in any other city than "Freckles" if capacity audiences are any standard. The millions of readers of the book and the millions who have not read it, are of one opinion, that it is the play of the decade. The dramatization is by Neil Truony and the music by the Viennese composer Anatol Friedland; the songs this musician of "Freckles" to sing are among the sweetest he has composed; they are catchy, and are sure to be the rage wherever heard. The presentation of this play in any city is an event in theatrical history and so it will be in St. John.

"SECRETS REVEALED" How Neal Cures DRINK HABIT In Three Days

When it was first publicly announced three years ago that Doctor B. E. Neal had originated a treatment that removed the cause and overcame all the effects of excessive use of liquor in three days, physicians and laymen alike declared "It can't be done." In the face of opposition, skepticism and incredulity, the wonderful merits and remarkable results of the Neal treatment have been demonstrated in over 20,000 cases and proved in sixty splendid institutions established in principal cities in Canada and foreign countries.

The "secrets" of the Neal Three-day treatment have been "revealed" to all the thousands of physicians and all others who have investigated. The explanation is simple. Constant or excessive drinking causes the system to become saturated, with the poison of alcohol. No man can or will stop drinking until this poison is eliminated. The Neal treatment easily and quickly eliminates this poison, removes the cause and overcomes all the effects of excessive indulgence.

Those interested in receiving full information, call, write, wire or phone the NEAL INSTITUTE, 46 Crown St., St. John N. B. Phone Main 1685.

DIVISION ON HOME RULE BILL TONIGHT

Balfour, Instead of Law, Leads Opposition

Premier in Defence

Wm. O'Brien Suggests Conference to Bring Agreement — Labor Men for Home Rule — Whips Get All Into Line for Tonight

London, Jan. 15.—The Home Rule bill started on its final stage in the house of commons today and the occasion was marked by two speeches seldom excelled in the house, by the prime minister, Herbert H. Asquith, and Arthur J. Balfour, the former leader of the opposition, who have no equals as parliamentarians.

Other speakers representing all parties, followed, and the debate finally was adjourned until tomorrow, when a division will be taken. The bitterness which has been largely absent in the discussion today, but with the harder hitters on the program for tomorrow, this may not be continued.

When the orders of the day were called, and Mr. Balfour, at the request of the opposition leader, Andrew Bonar Law, moved the rejection of the measure, the house was crowded to its capacity and every seat in the galleries was occupied by interested listeners.

Mr. Balfour, who has been absent from parliament for some weeks, while not so fluent as the prime minister, delivered one of those telling speeches for which he is famous, and which rouses his supporters to the height of enthusiasm and commands the respect of his opponents.

He dealt with the bill in a general way and particularly laid stress on the case of the United Kingdom, in the present condition of which he likened to that of the American colonies before the revolution. He charged the government with having complete control of education and patronage; that the bill would be a step towards the restoration of the old style of government, as he pointed out, which God forbid, never had the courage to face the situation.

Premier Asquith defended the bill from every standpoint. He pleaded with the house to forget the past and give Ireland a fair hearing, which he demanded. He laid stress on the safeguards introduced in the bill to prevent Protestants from being oppressed by the majority and repeated the government's offer to insert any reasonable safeguards, if only the opposition would consent to a conference.

The unionist and Liberal members of the debate until after dinner, when T. P. O'Connor gave the bill his blessing in behalf of the Nationalists.

"No one would say," continued Mr. Balfour, "that the Roman Catholics will persecute the old style or deliberately persecute the minority at all. But will they reconcile the minority in the north of Ireland to live under the control of the majority, who for generations and under the political have been mixed up and under the control of the majority who have complete control of education and patronage? Ulster men will be in the Irish parliament to be taxed, but not to tax."

In reply to the prime minister's offer to have a conference, Mr. Balfour said: "The sentiment, traditions and now made the Irish question what it now is, the right honorable gentleman, in spite of past history the Irish Nationalist movement has passed from the stage of sentiment and is now an organized and practical reality."

"We cannot ignore the fact that if this bill is rejected we will still stand in our path the organized and permanent expression of the demand of a majority of the Irish people. In view of the strength of this demand what are the opposition Liberal chieftains greeted the speech of William O'Brien, leader of the Independent Nationalists, criticized some of the provisions of the bill, and said that while he could not accept it as a final settlement of the demand of a majority of the Irish people, he regarded it as a sincere and courageous message of peace to Ireland, and that he suggested that if the former chief secretary and under secretary to Ireland, John E. Redmond and Sir Edward Carson could be got together, they might come to some measure of agreement."

The laborites addition to home rule was declared by James Parker, sitting for Halifax.

The Right Honorable Louis Samuel, postmaster general, who had charge of the financial provisions of the bill defended them at length.

The Right Honorable James Henry

WOMEN, AVOID OPERATIONS

Many Unsuccessful — And Worse Suffering Often Follows. Mrs. Rock's Case A Warning.

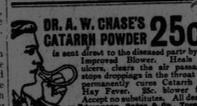

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will show how untrue it is for women to submit to the dangerous surgical operation when often it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement:

Paw Paw, Mich., "Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. Orville Rock, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FRANK FARRELL HAPPY OVER SIGNING OF CHANCE AS PILOT FOR THE YANKEES

New York, Jan. 15.—Frank Farrell, the leader of the New York American League team, is the happiest man in this city. This is due to the fact that he has signed Frank Chance, former leader of the Chicago Cubs, to manage his team next season.

Contract to play with Cincinnati next year. Tinker intimated that he offered Kling a contract as remunerative as he had with Boston last year. Kling again said that he probably would not play ball this year.

Quarter Dollar Seats.
The management of the Boston American League baseball club has finally decided to give in to the "fans" and have more 25-cent seats at Fenway Park. President James R. McAleer says that he intends to have twice as many 25-cent seats this year as he had last. He declared that there will be 8,000 of these seats on sale at each game.

Baseball lovers of New England have been advocating more 25-cent seats for some time. They have been backed by Mayor Fitzgerald, who is a firm believer in 25-cent ball.

McAleer also announces that the price of a seat in the new stand along the left field line will be 50 cents, and from this stand 4,500 fans can sit with their backs to the sun and view the game in comfort. The addition of 2,000 seats of the 25-cent variety to the first base pavilion is involved with the new allotment of 25-cent seats. This raises the capacity of the third-base 25-cent section to about 9,500 and the total number of 25-cent seats at Fenway Park to 14,000.

Patrons who wish to sit in the left field 25-cent seats will have quite a stroll after buying their tickets but it will be worth it. There will be no entrance for them on the grandstand side of the works, although there will be exits into Lansdowne street for both 25 and 50-cent patrons and exits through the grandstand from the 50-cent reservations.

Fanning the Wind.
Hud High Chalmers offered an automobile to the American League player of 1912 who struck out the least frequently, the man who would have won the car would in all probability have been a member of the White Elephants. It is a certainty that neither the St. Louis Club, which finished next to the bottom, or the Washington team, which finished next to the top, would have claimed the winner, for these two combinations possessed the heaviest misers in the organization. The Browns struck out 285 times in 157 games and the Senators on 701 occasions in 154 contests.

HORSES FOR CITY. Arrangements for the purchase of five horses for the department of public works were completed at the meeting of the commissioners at noon today. The animals will be bought from Thomas Hayes, Alex. Clark and Harry Green.

CONCERT WAS SUCCESS. A concert given for the financial benefit of Rev. Mr. Pearson, pastor of the church, which was given by a group of kindly disposed white folk in St. Philip's A. M. E. church last evening proved very successful. There was a good sized audience, whose hearty appreciation was shown by their vigorous encores, and the receipts were eminently satisfactory.

PLEASURE AND PROFIT. The illustrated lecture in the Centennial school assembly hall tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock, under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club, will be open to all. The people who live in the neighborhood of the school are especially invited to attend. Parents are invited to attend with their children. The lecture on Porto Rico and Jamaica will be given by Mrs. James F. Robertson, and the illustrations are very beautiful. The people have here an opportunity to make the school building a social centre and enjoy an evening.

MAPLE TREES GIVING SAP IN JANUARY

Mr. Gould Finds Unusual Conditions in Germain Street

In his twenty years' experience in the study of plant life, H. E. Gould, florist of Union street, says that he has never known conditions to be as they are at present, and he was led to make the comment today, having had it brought forcibly to his notice yesterday that sap was running from some maple trees about the city. Mr. Gould had been doing some work in pruning for the Arboricultural Society, and in this connection had occasion to visit the boulevard in Germain street. Here he was pruning one of the trees when sap began to flow steadily, and it became necessary for him to stop his work to check the flow.

He said this morning that he believed the fact that there had been no little frost for the winter was responsible in great part for the sap running from the trees. He said that the trees were not cold weather had started the sap running fully two months before the usual time. It was difficult for him to say whether this state of affairs prevailed throughout the province, but he did not think it did where there was colder weather. Should such be the case, it would be material to the prospects for the maple sugar industry, but with the coming of some colder weather the flow of sap would be checked.

RAMORE HEAD HEARD FROM

Rapahannock in Communication With Delayed Head Liner

Anxiety for a time was created at this port for the safety of the Head Liner Rapahannock, which sailed from Port Talbot twenty-three days ago for St. John and which has not arrived yet. No word of the missing steamer was heard until Wednesday. The agents here, William Thomson & Co., yesterday received a message from the captain of the S. S. Rapahannock, which sailed from here this week, in which he stated that he had been in communication with the Ramore Head off Sambro on Wednesday afternoon, and that the captain of the Head Liner told him that he expected to make port to-night or tomorrow morning.

It was said that the reason the steamer was taking so long to make the trip, was due to the fact that she was coming out light, with no cargo and very little ballast, and the exceptionally stormy weather had kept her back considerably. The Ramore Head will load cargo here for Belfast.

BACK FROM BUSY CHAMCOOK

Mr. Kenney Inspected New Theatres - Managers Everywhere Show Good Spirit

After visiting the busy little town of Chamcook, John Kenney, factor inspector, returned to the city at noon. He found things very prosperous and satisfactory. The company operating the factories had opened stores and were displaying much interest in the welfare of those under their charge, including nearly 200 girls, many of whom had been brought out from Norway. Two theatres were being started, one of which was well under way. His object in visiting Chamcook was to inspect the theatres, and he had found conditions for the most part in keeping with the requirements.

Mr. Kenney said the managers of amusement houses throughout the province were displaying a marked readiness to comply with the new law, and he did not anticipate any trouble even in the smaller towns where motion pictures were being shown. He is contemplating a trip to the upper part of the province in the near future to inspect the picture houses.

WINTERPORT NOTES

The Atlas liner Tunisian, which is under charter of the C. P. R. for one trip, will arrive in port on Friday from Liverpool. She has thirty-eight cabin, 101 second cabin and 340 steerage passengers. The Tunisian is taking the place of the Empire steamer being renovated at Liverpool. The Donaldson liner Saturnia will call this afternoon for Glasgow with about 150 passengers.

The S. S. Manchester Inventor is due to arrive at Halifax this week. The Donaldson liner Lancia is not expected until next week.

WANT ST. JOHN IN BIGGER LEAGUE

Fredericton, too, For Eight Team Baseball Organization

MEETING IN A FEW DAYS

Scheme is to Have Two New Brunswick Nines and Six From Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire

Although practically nothing has been heard of so far from the local baseball magnates as to the baseball season here this year, it is now considered probable that the fans in the city may be treated to an even better class of ball than last year. Some say that the New Brunswick and Maine League may not be in existence this year, as Hamilton and Woodstock would not enter. The fans all around the circuit last season were treated to an A. 1 exhibition of baseball, some games being as good as are seen in much faster leagues. They want it again this year.

All the teams were composed of good fast players, many of whom are looked upon as being in the best company this season. The games were well attended in St. John and Fredericton, but the other towns did not pay so well, in fact this city was practically relied upon to support the league. A meeting of the executive will be held at an early date.

However, there is talk of the Fredericton and St. John teams getting into a bigger league, and if the scheme works out, the fans can look forward to some crack-grade baseball. There is at present in course of organization a league which, if formed, is to be known as the Northern New England League. Already teams from Portland, Lewiston, Bangor, Manchester, Pictou and Gloucester have signified their intention of entering and the organizers are looking in this direction for two more teams to make the league an eight-team one. Teams from Biddeford, Patauket, Taunton and Nashua have also expressed their willingness to enter the league.

A meeting of the organizers will be held at Fredericton, N. B., on January 23, when matters in connection with the formation of the league will be discussed. The organizers have written to some of the magnates in this section and have asked that they who know the territory well be present from each of the places named, and it is possible that the league may be formed.

MISS WORDEN WINS CHURCH POSITION IN DOMINION CAPITAL

Miss Bertha L. Worden, whose departure from St. John to join the other members of her family in Ottawa, where her sister, Miss Lena, is secretary to Hon. J. D. Announcement is just made that Miss Worden has been appointed organist and choir mistress of the MacPhail Baptist church, a position which is regarded as one of the most important of its kind in the dominion capital, and for which there was a large number of applicants.
