Messenger and Visitor. WEDNESDAY, NOV. 16, 1892. TENNYSON AND THE BIBLE.

The death of Tennyson has called forth so many articles upon so many phases of his work that we are forced to see how large a place the poet holds in the great republic of letters and in the esteem of English-speaking people throughout the world.

Seeing that he is to be so widely read and that his teachings will be so influential, Christians will ask how the moral effect of his work will be, what the result on the Bible as the Word of God.

In the first place, it is said, there is in his poetry the moral quality of the Bible. He always speaks from the side of virtue, and on the side of the virtue of the New Testament.

In theology some have thought Tennyson favored a pantheistic view; but his teaching on prayer and the power he assigns to it can be explained only on a theistic basis.

"Speak to Him, then, for He hears, and spirit with spirit thou meet. Closer is He than breathing, and nearer than hands and feet."

And when King Arthur asks his knight for help, he says: "Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." And he opens in Memoriam with "Strong Son of God, immortal Love!"

WHAT IS IMPLIED IN A LICENSE TO PREACH?

The ministers and brethren composing the York and Sunbury counties quarterly at their last session adopted, among others, a resolution advising that "a licentiate could properly give the hand of fellowship on behalf of a church, but should not administer the ordinances."

In the case of the ordained minister, his relation to the denomination is pretty well understood. By his ordination he becomes related as a minister of the gospel not simply to the church to which he belongs or which, for the time being, he serves, but to all the churches of the body.

The position of the licentiate is certainly quite different. In this case one church acts by itself and for itself. If a church chooses to grant to any of its members a license to exercise his gifts within the church's own boundaries it is quite competent to do so.

In this part I found much superstition and belief in direct agency of superior powers; and strange manifestations were so commonly spoken of, that a problem for solution presented itself.

Good reliable men, church members and deacons, would tell of having seen phantom ships, old admirals in uniform and other figures, besides hearing voices and sounds. My mind found rest in a theory that I think explains this condition of things.

It is, we suppose, in reference to pastors of this class that the York and Sunbury quarterly advisers that they should not administer the ordinances, and this action is to be commended as quite in harmony with Baptist usage.

We would not be understood as holding that in exceptional cases this rule may not be set aside. We believe that, where the services of an ordained minister cannot be obtained, the Lord's Supper may very fittingly be administered by the deacons of the church or the unordained pastor.

St. Margaret's Bay and other Places, AS SEEN BY A TORONTO MINISTER.

When on a visit to St. Margaret's Bay and vicinity last summer, I promised some friends there to write to the MESSENGER AND VISITOR. I may say that I found the MESSENGER AND VISITOR in most of the homes I entered, and found it a very worthy substitute for the Canadian Baptist, that I could hardly expect to find beyond the city of Halifax.

The meeting house, lately repaired, is comfortable and ample. The pastor is beloved. But when told that he had eleven such places to minister at, I looked at him again, thinking who is sufficient for these things?

Though Pastor Hopper is a plodder, a man of good judgment and ability, a kindly brother and not easily discouraged, how can he, in any adequate way, do the work of these scattered churches? The little church here is weak.

Pastor Hopper asked me to go to Indian Harbor and preach at the reopening of the house there. The thirty miles to travel presented the question of "how" but as the worthy pastor, some years my senior, regularly did it some how, my anxiety subsided.

miles to the next village till the wrath of the worshippers had somewhat abated. Now no one doubts that he did a good thing in destroying that "sacred desk," which I was thankful to say, is replaced by a neat stand, behind which I had liberty in preaching the Word.

As I sailed or rather tugged away from Indian Harbor with Pastor Gullison for Tanook, I cast a prayerful look to the place where I found much that gave promise of an ingathering of souls, and wondered who was to be the honored toiler to get the joy.

A kindly breeze came at last. The worthy pastor of Tanook and the writer needed no persuasion to drop oars and toil no more. How many soul journeys are begun by legal toiling as Moses' disciples. But when the "It is finished" of Christ is heard, who will not hoist the sail of faith and catch the saving breeze?

When Paul took the men and the next day purifying himself with them entered into the temple to signify the accomplishment of the days of purification, until that an offering should be offered for every one of them.

That Circular.

In your interesting account of the "Brussels Street Meeting" (Nov. 3rd) you represent Mr. Hall as having said that he "went out circulars to all the churches on his list, which was that of the Western Association."

Home Mission Board.

I see that I have called forth a reply from Bro. Macdonald because of my words in commendation of the H. M. Board. He intimates that the policy of the Board is to group the churches into weak sections.

As to what Bro. Macdonald has to say about church independence, we answer: No, not one bit. Would that the churches would enjoy their freedom. What they have done and are now doing, in respect to many of them at least is a very different thing.

Where's Our Authority?

In your issue of Sept. 21st the following interesting advisory piece of legislation is given under the sanction of York and Sunbury Quarterly Meeting: "Touching the duties of licentiates the Quarterly advised that a licentiate could properly give the hand of fellowship on behalf of a church, but should not administer the ordinances."

The licentiate is the called out, separated unto the gospel of God—first, by the Spirit in regeneration; second, by the church when in view of his gifts and callings it voted the license to teach and preach this gospel.

Criticism of Paul.

"Then Paul took the men and the next day purifying himself with them entered into the temple to signify the accomplishment of the days of purification, until that an offering should be offered for every one of them."

Lately, I happened to mention to our pastor (who is fond of dabbling in a little trading) how Paul said that "the laborer is worthy of his hire," that "the Lord ordained that they who preach the Gospel should live off the Gospel."

"At Rest."

To many of the readers of the MESSENGER AND VISITOR the news of the death of the Rev. J. F. Avery on Oct. 21st came like the announcement of a personal bereavement, for while our brother labored in Halifax he had such a happy faculty of making friends by showing himself friendly, that when he left the city his loss was felt in a great many homes.

That is the policy to which the Board steadily adheres, we think, is quite clear to an unprejudiced mind. The Board has been frequently urged to divide fields, because they were too large, and have a case of that kind just now under consideration.

As to what Bro. Macdonald has to say about church independence, we answer: No, not one bit. Would that the churches would enjoy their freedom. What they have done and are now doing, in respect to many of them at least is a very different thing.

too have been rescued from the jaws of death and are now living marvels of grace and trophies of consecrated effort. Bro. Avery was a man of prayer and faith and a firm believer in the power of the Gospel to save and uplift the very worst. He was as cheerful and happy as a day in June, always looking on the bright side of things, and with a hearty "God bless you" ever on his lips.

The funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23, in the Mariners Temple; fully 80 persons of every walk in life were present, and by look and word and falling tears told of the deep sorrow which had fallen upon them.

A Sabbath at Wolfville.

Sunday, October 20, we spent at Wolfville. The morning sun rose clear and bright, but soon hid himself in cloud and mist that hung heavy over Blomidon. We had gone there to preach, simply to preach, before the students.

As we stood, bathed in sunlight, at nine a. m., overlooking the peaceful village, from the home of our friend, Rev. A. Cohoon, instinctively there passed over the mind the words, "Acadians," "Grand Pre," "Longfellow," and "Evangeline." The cattle were feeding on the distant dyke as of yore—"foremost, bearing the bell, Evangeline's heifer."

In the evening, at the close of the service in the village, a large congregation gathered on the "Hill," at eight o'clock, filling the body of the beautiful assembly hall. For while progress is putting her hand to all on the "Hill," we were pleased to see that she had entered "Assembly Hall," and left her mark in neat and beautiful fresco on the ceiling.

On Monday next the note in the Book Room to organize a committee for the circulation of the Bible among the churches in the county was sent.

Grateful Mention.—It is a pleasant task again to record the kindness of our people. On Wednesday, the 2nd inst., a number of friends from Spa Springs paid us a visit, bringing along divers and sundry gifts, selected with great care and forethought.

From Halifax.

A memorial service was Tabernacle on Sunday morning of October, for the late pastor J. F. Avery. The Rev. J. F. Avery preached an appropriate and timely text, "He being dead etc." Mr. Hall gave a sketch of Avery's life. His work here was land; was continued in the Tabernacle, Halifax, finished in New York. He zeal and success were fully in this service.

From Halifax.

A memorial service was held in the Tabernacle on Sunday morning, the 30th of October, for the late pastor, the Rev. J. F. Avery.

The North church had a sociable, largely attended, at which all the Baptist ministers in the city were present by invitation, to welcome their pastor the Rev. D. G. McDonald.

On Thursday evening, the 10th, the First church had a similar service. The storm being severe, interfered with the attendance.

There is a feeling general among Baptists in Halifax that the pastors now in charge are specially adapted to the work before them.

A. C. Chute is received fully into the affections and confidence of the First church. His ministrations, both public and private, thus far have been received with great satisfaction.

Rev. E. M. Saunders lectured on Saturday evening (the 5th) to the Intercollegiate Association of the young men at Dalhousie.

Archbishop O'Brien has, over his own signature, declared the school for the Deaf and Dumb in Halifax, a Protestant institution.

The city has also difficulty in settling the matter of a new cemetery. The one now used is about full.

On Monday next the ministers meet in the Book Room to organize a ministerial conference for the city and county.

An ecclesiastical council convened with the Baptist church at Apple River, N. S., on November 8th at 2:30 p. m., to take into consideration the advisability of setting apart Bro. F. N. Atkinson to the work of the gospel ministry.

A Barefaced Fraud.

The following, clipped from the columns of the Toronto Globe, Oct. 28th, is of sufficient importance to newspaper readers to warrant its reproduction in these columns.

To the Editor of the Globe: Sir,—I am sure you will agree with me when I say that something ought to be done to stop the barefaced swindling (no matter name will do) which is going on in certain directions in our midst.

SOMETHING FOR THEE.

Something, my God, for Thee, That each day's setting sun may bring Some penitential offering;

Something, my God, for Thee, That Thy gracious throne may rise Sweet incense from some sacrifice...

THE HOME.

Some children's faces are like interrogation points; always in the rising inflection; always turned up with inquisitive interest...

In one family a sort of conversational scramble had manifested at meals. There was plenty of interest, lots of questions and stories, but no order, and so all was spoiled.

How the weather is foretold. Let me briefly describe the method: The Weather Bureau has agents, who are called "observers," at all the places throughout the country from which it desires daily information.

Government messages have "right of way" through all telegraph offices, and other business must stand still for them; so it is not many minutes after eight o'clock when the central office is ready to make a map which, by the use of convenient symbols and lines, gives all the facts in very small space.

In this way maps just all alike are being made in many cities at the same moment of time. The printing-machinery used is made for the purpose, and is very rapid. Often as early as ten o'clock in the morning, only two hours after the observers on the Pacific coast wrote their reports, the map containing those reports is printed in Boston.

The method was perfected and patented by Mr. J. William Smith, the observer at Boston, to whom also, it belongs the credit of getting the boys and girls enough interested in the maps to study them. Quite recently he made an address to the Boston public school teachers, in the teachers' central lecture-room, and, of course, he was able to tell them many new things about the weather.

The subject of gruels is not fully understood, yet these are the most valuable foods for the invalid. The average cook understands oatmeal gruel alone by this term, yet there are many other varieties of this food. A barley gruel made by boiling two tablespoonfuls of barley in a quart of water for two hours till it is reduced one-half, is a nutritious and excellent food, which may be sweetened and flavored to the taste.

rice that will go. Let the gruel boil up for five minutes after it is strained. Add sugar and nutmeg, and kindle. Serve it with little slices of brown toast.

One of the simplest gruels, but one not often used, is a gruel of water and corn meal. This is made by mixing three tablespoonfuls of corn meal with half a cup of cold water and stirring it into a pint of boiling water...

Another very simple, old-fashioned mixture of "thickened milk" is really a gruel, and a very useful and valuable one when rightly made.

Fruit for Food. Fruit culture should be quite as closely associated with family use as with market. I have eaten apples all my life, but never learned how to make the best use of them till last winter.

The construction of a grate is a matter of importance to every one who delights in an open fire. It has been the fashion of late years to use low grates. These are very picturesque when a fire of soft coal is burning in them, but they are not so valuable for heating purposes as a higher grate, because the draft cannot be so strong.

The English dog grate, which is mounted on legs and castors and may be rolled into any fireplace, is one of the most practical and useful that we can have. The coal burns better in such a grate as this than in one that is masoned in with firebrick, because of the better sweep of the draught, while another advantage is that it may be rolled out at any time, and androns and a back log put in its place for a wood fire, or a wood fire may be made in the grate, where it burns well, though it is not as picturesque as the lower fire on the hearth.

The business of child life is education, but he alone is educated to any useful purpose who can earn an honest living, and contribute his share to the work of maintaining our institutions.

THE FARM. Ensilage vs. Roots. There is no doubt but that the sugar beet will make more milk and richer milk than any other root which is fed in equal quantities, and the mangel wurzel is probably next in rank.

Hints About Horses. Starting for a drive with an acquaintance, I noticed that his spirited young horse was so eager to go as to be scarcely manageable. Before we had gone a quarter of a mile he stopped at a water-trough and allowed the animal to drink unreasonably.

Drivers ought to remember that a horse cannot derive nourishment from food or drink while in motion, and that these things only cause misery after the momentary gratification of appetite. The strength must be accumulated or fat laid on while at rest, and it is more economical of both to give the horse but little food and only a swallow or two of water frequently while performing his duty.

Match for Gooseberry Bushes. The reason why gooseberry bushes mildew in this country is because the summer temperature of the soil is too high. Protect the soil by mulching and the mildew will be less injurious.

More of Green Manuring. There is quite a good deal of what approaches to nonsense written now and then in these days, as to the formation of nitrates in the soil, their fixation by the root-nodes, etc.

Earth Over Manure Piles. No matter how hot or wet the weather, a few inches of common earth spread over a manure pile will save it from loss. The heat of fermenting manure keeps this soil dry, and it also sends up ammonia that is lost by evaporation.

The Cistern Rescue. "How much will your cistern hold?" I asked a friend. "Oh, half a dozen hog-heads or more. It cost me $20." Twenty dollars for an unfailing supply of water which is never contaminated by soil-teaching is cheap enough if the cistern be well-made and lasts for twenty years.

How the weather is foretold. Let me briefly describe the method: The Weather Bureau has agents, who are called "observers," at all the places throughout the country from which it desires daily information.

NEWS SUMMARY.

Demotion.
—The election in Kent Co., N. B., is fixed for Dec. 6th.

—Thanksgiving day was generally observed in Ottawa. The weather was beautiful with good sleighing.

—The young people of Winnipeg celebrated Thanksgiving day by skating on the Red River, which is frozen over much earlier than usual.

—The village of Canning, N. S., is to have a system of water-works. A company has been formed and the necessary laying of the pipes will be commenced early next spring.

—The mills in and about St. John are, with one or two exceptions, still running, and it looks as if they will continue in operation for some time. There is an ample supply of logs for the mills which saw all winter and for the early spring sawing.—Sun.

—It is said a creamery is to be established at Canard, on the Cornwallis Valley branch railway. Excellent opportunities for such an enterprise are offered in that locality, it being the very heart of some of the best dyke lands in Nova Scotia, where splendid pasturage is available.

—It is announced that the Canadian Pacific Railway will extend its line from Regina, N. W. T., to a point on the Canadian border where it will connect with the Soo line to be extended from Valley City, North Dakota. This will form the shortest route to the Pacific coast from St. Paul.

—On Nov. 7 the Sussex butter factory commences operations under J. E. Hopkins, dairy superintendent of the staff of Prof. Robertson, dairy commissioner for the Dominion. A Masson power butter worker has been put in, and when the other improvements are completed the factory will be able to make the finest creamery butter.

—In order to push immigration the Canadian Pacific Railway is sending delegates selected from among the farmers of Manitoba and the Territories to all European countries to urge their countrymen to emigrate to the Canadian North-West. Mr. Hamilton, land commissioner, leaves for Europe to-day to push immigration matters.

—The railways of Canada, acting in conference, have decided that on and after 14th November, inst., they will make a charge for collecting, and a like charge for delivering freight at all stations where they have hitherto performed this service, of one and a quarter cents per hundred pounds on freight in first, second, third and fourth classes, in addition to their published tariff rates.

—The Truro News says: A flock of geese belonging to H. E. McNutt, Lower Village, that is in the habit of feeding in the bay, a few weeks ago was accompanied home by a wild goose that has remained with the flock ever since and is quite tame. It goes into the barn at night with the flock; one of its wings has now been clipped to prevent its flying away.

—An Ottawa despatch says: Mr. Billings, of the public works department, who has just returned from Greece, says the boilers for the steam disinfectors are now on the island, and the finishing touches to the other parts of the machinery are now being given at Levis and they will be removed to the island in a few days. The buildings to contain the disinfectors are nearly completed.

—It is announced that Governor Royal, of the Northwest, has been instructed from Ottawa to take action in regard to the dead-lock in the North-West assembly immediately after the election in Wallace constituency. Should Insinger be returned Premier (Aytey will be in a minority of two, and should McNutt be elected the parties will be evenly divided. It is understood that if Insinger is victorious the governor will call the legislature together at once, but if he is defeated the governor will immediately bring on the general election.

—An Ottawa despatch of the 10th inst. contains the following: Hon. Mr. Patterson, secretary of state, visited the house of commons this afternoon while the civil service examinations were in progress. Addressing the candidates he expressed pleasure at seeing so many ladies writing. It was more and more evident that women were perfectly competent for many classes of work which had hitherto been monopolized by the other sex. He cautioned the male candidates not to aspire to the employment in the civil service with the view of spending an easy life.

—The annual reception of the pupils and teachers of the St. John School of Music and Education was held Friday evening at the school rooms on Princess street, and proved a very pleasant and enjoyable affair. A large number were present and thoroughly enjoyed the excellent entertainment provided for them. The visitors were received by Miss Hitchens, Miss Alexander, Miss Ogden and the other teachers, who did all in their power to make the evening a pleasant one. Good opportunities were offered for social intercourse. A short musical and literary programme was carried out, including piano-duet, Miss Whitman and Secord's piano solo, Miss Retaillic, solos, Miss Pidgeon and Mr. Keirstead; violin solo, Miss Taylor; readings, Misses Roach and Harding. All these numbers were well rendered and heartily appreciated. The singing of Miss Pidgeon and the violin playing of Miss Taylor were great treats. Miss Alexander is a master of her art and a careful, painstaking and conscientious teacher—in fact all the teachers in the School of Music are competent and efficient, and that their work is being appreciated is shown by the large increase of pupils over last year. The school is growing steadily in popular favor and is deserving of all the success it has secured. Before the entertainment closed the entertainers were served.—Globe.

United States.
—By the collapse of a mill at Oprau, Michigan, on Wednesday, about fifty persons were caught in bricks and broken timbers. The dead bodies of twenty have been removed.

—The early Thursday morning destroyed the business portion of Camden, Me. The loss is $750,000, and the insurance amounts to about $600,000. The fire service of the town was inadequate. Help from other towns arrived but too late to be of much use.

British and Foreign.
—A number of Welsh tin plate manufacturers whose works were closed are giving notice of a resumption of work at their establishments. The news of the Democratic party is received with great satisfaction in the iron and tin plate manufacturing districts of Great Britain.

—A London despatch says: It is understood as a result of a lengthy cabinet council Nov. 11th, the British government has decided to retain possession of Uganda. The East Africa Company will withdraw in March. The British government will, it is believed, retain part of the company's organization.

—A Paris despatch of Nov. 8, says: A curious iron vessel was picked up by the police in front of the offices of the Carmaux Mining Company. It was taken to the police station and while being examined exploded with terrible force, killing two officers and fatally injuring another. It is believed to have been the work of Anarchists. The affair has caused a renewal of the fears experienced during the time of the outrages perpetrated by Ravachol and his accomplices.

—A strong Unionist attack is directed against the evicted tenants' commission, which is part of Mr. Gladstone's scheme for the betterment of affairs in Ireland. Lord Salisbury and Balfour have both publicly denounced what they term the partizanship of Justice Mathew as president of the commission, and now it is announced that Mr. Murphy, the only Unionist member of the commission, has resigned as a protest against Justice Mathew's refusing to allow Mr. Carson, the landlords' solicitor, to cross-examine witnesses who appeared before the commission at its first sitting, which examined into evictions on the Clontarf estate. Strong efforts will be made by the opposition to prevent any Unionist taking the place made vacant by Murphy's withdrawal.

—The great value of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh is vouched for by thousands of people whom it has cured.

Literary Notes.
The November number of the New England Magazine is a Whittier number. The frontispiece is from a rare photograph of the poet taken about 1855, and the opening article takes the reader in and about the New England country, which recognizes so much of Whittier's poetry, and is so associated with him as a man. It is by William Sloane Kennedy, whose monograph of Whittier was so well received. Another article deals with Whittier as poet and man, and is by F. Augustus Spalding. Allan Eastman Cross contributes a fine poem, "The passing of Whittier." Mr. Edwin D. Mead, the chief editor of the magazine, deals with Whittier's life, work and influence in his Editor's Table. The articles are finely illustrated throughout.

The November number of the Cottage Journal fully realizes the tasks given by its readers. A handsome frontispiece is created by illustrating a part of J. G. Whittier's poem, "The Pumpkin." Elder Lealand's ghost is the title of Hezekiah Butterworth's capital Thanksgiving story. The Silver-Buckalew Slipper is a story of "eye olden times," by Samantha C. Merrill. Annie Isabel Willis, in her story of Grandpa Grace's Thanksgiving, gives us an exceptionally good tale. These are all stories of special merit, and together with Whittier's second paper suggestive of his time, an unusually interesting number. The regular departments offer a wealth of interesting matter, notably Household Chat, under Mrs. Mary A. Hungerford's direction. Handsome and pleasing illustrations abound. (W. A. Wilde & Co., Boston, Mass.)

The Homiletic Review for November contains much helpful material for those engaged in ministerial work. President Merrill E. Gates, of Amherst, writes on "The Christian a Trustee." F. Burr, D.D., the well-known author of Ecce Coelum, writes on "Astronomy as a Religious Helper." Dr. William H. Ward, of the Independent, tells of the Latest Palestine Discoveries. N. S. Burton, D. D., of Needham, Mass., brings out the parabolic nature of the Miracles of Christ, and Messrs. B. Thomas continue the series of articles on Denominational Federation. The Sermonic Section is especially rich in its contents. A practical article on How to See Europe, Egypt and Palestine on Two Dollars a Day, is contributed by Camden M. Cohen, Ph. D., to the Miscellaneous Section. The Funk & Wagnall Company, 18 and 20 Astor Place, New York, are the publishers.

The Arena for November will challenge the interest of all thoughtful people. One of the ablest educational papers of the year is found in this number, by the pen of Professor J. R. Buchanan, the author of "New Education," and many scientific works. Professor Buchanan discusses the practical application of the new education in a masterly manner. A paper of peculiar interest is that of the late Dr. A. A. Allen, of all lovers of American Literature, is entitled "The West in Literature," by Hamlin Garland. It is probably the ablest essay Mr. Garland has yet written. Rev. M. J. Savage discusses in a critical and penetrating manner the "Present Status and Theories of Psychological Research." A very valuable and timely paper is given by Dr. Henry Sheffield on "Practical Suggestions as to the Treatment of Cholera." Dr. Henry A. Hart, of New York, discusses "Alcohol in its relation to the Bible." Joaquin Miller, whose portrait forms the frontispiece of this number, contributes a ten-page poem entitled "Dawn in San Diego." It is a weird creation, but contains many lines of great beauty. Several other articles and stories contribute to make the closing number of the Arena's sixth volume one of its best.

Although the Review of Reviews does not attempt to set copies by means of sensations, its timeliness in the treatment of live topics is really sensational in the best sense of the word; and, with this understanding of what it is meant, the Review of Reviews may fairly be called a decidedly sensational magazine every month. The number for November has as its most striking sensation an article entitled "Ought Mrs. Maybrick to be Tortured to allow Mr. Carson, the public to have a good deal about the circumstances under which Mrs. Maybrick was convicted in Liverpool, where she is now slowly dying in prison. The controversy over the case has risen almost to the dignity of an official international question. Mr. Stead, the English editor of the Review of Reviews, has undertaken to investigate the matter, and comes out with a strong article, taking the American side of the case. He holds that the American public is condemned on insufficient evidence, and that her treatment is a scandal upon the name of English justice. Mrs. Maybrick is a young American woman, highly connected in this country, and her case has been a sensation in this country. Mr. Blaine and all the leading people at Washington.

The Treasury of Religious Thought for November is, like all its predecessors, rich in matter for all readers, but especially adapted to preachers and Christian teachers. A sermon by Dr. A. T. Henson on the Three Leavens will be earnestly read, as also the two following sermons by Drs. Alger and Hallock and the Communion Sermon by Rev. C. H. Ricketts. Prof. Shodde discusses "The Unity of the Scriptures;" Prof. M. S. Terry gives a critical comment on "The Song of Songs;" Prof. Hunt pays a tribute in verse to J. G. Whittier. The Dangerous Encroachments of Romanism and Gambling, by Dr. Gifford, are treated in the Questions of the Day. Lovable Christians are described by Dr. Cuyler, and many excellent thoughts are given in several articles for pastoral work and home life. The Bible in France and the Old and New in Russia should be read by lovers of missions. "A Survey of Christian Progress," Beautiful and Illustrative Thoughts, with review of books and Periodicals, are excellent. The editorials are suggestive and timely, on the Cultured Indefinity, Serve it up Warm, Commemorative Services, Christmas, and Christianity, Comparative Religions, etc. Yearly subscription, $2.50; clergyman, $2; single copies, 25 cents. E. B. Treat, publisher, 5 Cooper Union, New York.

JOHNSTON'S FLUID BEEF

Has threefold usefulness:

AS A STIMULATING TONIC,
As a Perfect SUBSTITUTE FOR MEAT.

IT CONTAINS THE VITAL PRINCIPLES OF PRIME BEEF.

In her death our church has sustained a great loss. Every one in Argyll united in sympathizing with the afflicted family. First a son, then a daughter, and now the mother have fallen victims to the deadly fever, while the father is slowly recovering. Bro. and Sister Spinney have had thirteen children; eight survive their mother; five are members of Baptist churches.

PECK.—At Hopewell, Sept. 26, Nancy, relict of Albert Peck, aged 72 years, Sister Peck was a member of Hopewell church, and was esteemed by the community in which she lived. During the last year of her life her health began to give way. She was faithfully cared for by a loving daughter during months of weariness and watchfulness. Our sister was perfectly resigned to her situation and patiently bore all with Christian fortitude until her last. She leaves several children and a large circle of acquaintances to cherish her memory. A large gathering attended her funeral, when appropriate services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. B. N. Hughes, and her remains were interred in the old resting place of the older inhabitants.

HALL.—At Burlington, Sept. 23, of diphtheria, Vera May, aged 4 years, youngest daughter of Albert and Ruth Hall. Thus the morning flowers are taken away. Oct. 14, of the same illness, died the oldest son of Albert and Ruth Hall. On Sabbath morning his place was filled in the house of the Lord. He went home and was stricken down with that dread disease, and after five days of suffering he called his friends to his side and bid them farewell, and told them he was going home to be with the Lord. His last words were, "Prepare to meet me in Heaven." Though he had never made a public profession he was a good boy, well respected in the community by old and young.

ADAMSON.—At Little Glace Bay, Cape Breton, of typhoid fever, Oct. 24, James D. Adamson, aged 35 years, leaving a wife and two children with many friends and relatives to mourn their sad loss. This faithful brother united with the Baptist church at Little Glace Bay some eight years ago, during the labors of Rev. D. G. McDonald, since which time till his last illness, he remained an earnest Christian worker, always ready to bear his part in that which was for the benefit of the church and the salvation of precious souls. In the Sunday-school his ability as superintendent and teacher was known and prized, and his class gave due attention to his instructions. By the death of our brother the church sustains a very great loss and they feel it keenly. May the Lord raise up others to take his place. His funeral took place on Wednesday following, and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Forbes (Presbyterian), and the pastor of the church to which he belonged, when a large number of people from all denominations assembled to pay him their last token of respect.
