CARVELL'S MESSAGE TO THE CARLETON-VICTORIA ELECTORS

Ladies and Gentlemen:

The writs for the General Election to be held on the seventeenth day of December next having been issued, and, being the New Brunswick representative in the new union government, in appealing to you for your support I feel it incumbent upon me in as brief a manner as possible to state to you my position, and the reasons for the formation of the Government three weeks ago.

The real question before the electors of Canada today is whether or not this Dominion will do its full duty, not only to itself, the Empire at large, and the civilization of the world, but to the soldiers who have already gone forward, many of whom who have made the supreme sacrifice. Ten thousands of others have been maimed and wounded and two hundred thousand are still in Europe fighting for you and me and everything which is of value in life.

When the Military Service Act was introduced in Parliament by the present Premier in the month of May last, a sharp cleavage arose, not only in Parliament, but throughout Canada at large, and, in voting upon this all important measure, unfortunately twenty-five of my colleagues and myself found ourselves at variance with our Leader as to the advisability of supporting selective conscription, which I freely admit was something new in the political life of Canada, and something which had not existed in the British Empire for more than one hundred years, until the war had been in progress for about a year, when it was introduced and enforced in Great Britain; and, even then, we did not dream we would have to be called upon to enforce such a measure in Canada, but the world is experiencing a condition such as it never knew before. All preconceived ideas of political economy, ideas of Government and the liberty of the subject must change, if necessary, under the altered conditions as they arise, to make this world a fit place in which people may dwell in peace and security.

For four long months my colleagues and myself attempted to find some common ground with our Leader on this issue, on which we could appeal to the country, but unfortunately we failed, and, believing as I do, that the first duty of every citizen is to do his utmost, and see that his country does its utmost, to the successful prosecution of this war, after many long and weary negotiations, I decided to accept the position of the Union Government which I now occupy.

This Government has been formed by a union of both Conservatives and Liberals for the express purpose of carrying on the affairs of the country, if elected, until the close of the war and a reasonable time thereafter in which to demobilize the army and place the country again upon a peace footing. When that has been accomplished our agreement ceases, and every member of the Government, whether Liberal or Conservative, is at perfect liberty to pursue any course which in his conscience he may deem right and proper.

We have allowed all matters of local and political interest to Canada to remain in abeyance until peace has been declared, and to devote our whole attention to the energetic prosecution of the war.

Holding these views, and upon this platform, I confidently appeal to you for support, and, if elected, promise you that not only will I give my whole energy to the great object for which this Government was constituted; but, also, so far as my Department is concerned, and so far as my opinion may prevail with my colleagues, the affairs of this country will be run upon a business basis such as never existed heretofore. Patronage, committees and patronage lists will be abolished, and the appointments to offices and other necessary functions of Government will be divided between both political parties in as equitable a manner as is possible. In other words, I intend to practice in office what, for the past six years, I have been preaching in opposition. I will probably not be able to accomplish all that I would like to do, but, in so far as in me lies, I will do my best to attain the goal before me.

Upon this platform, and with these objects in view, I confidently ask for your support on the seventeenth day of December next.

Sincerely yours,

F. B. CARVELL

There's fighting in Flanders, there's fighting in France,
And the fighting drifts near to the ramparts at Rome;
Let us give the brave boys in the trenches a chance
And abstain from political fighting at home.

POTATO MARKET IS UNPROMISING

Markets are Glutted and Dealers Not Anxious to Buy at Any Price

The Fredericton Gleaner says: Advice from potato shippers show a very unsettled condition of the market in the big centres. At the large distributing points the market is so enshrouded in mystery that dealers refuse to quote prices for future delivery, and shipments are at a standstill, at least in so far as New Brunswick and Main stock is concerned.

Large shipments to Boston and New York from Michigan points last week glutted the markets. These goods are going forward "on the gambler's chance," there being no particular demand for them. The crop is so large there that farmers are rushing the spuds forward, taking their chances on what they can get out of them.

One of the extensive shippers of potatoes from this province informs The Gleaner that he has closed his warehouses, and will not receive any more spuds for shipment until such a time as the market shows some life and certainly the best price that can be offered now is $1.75 per barrel. The farmers are unwilling to haul at that figure, and the buyer is not anxious to purchase at that price.

Hereafter the shippers of Aroostook will be obliged to buy and sell potatoes by weight. Just what effect this move, promulgated by the U. S. Food Administration Committee, will have on the potato industry of Maine cannot be determined at present. In the future potatoes in the United States will be quoted per the hundred pounds.

Prior to this law going into effect, that is prior to Saturday, the top price for Mainstock was $3.25 per barrel. At this figure there was no demand, and the warehouses might as well have been closed, as the farmers were not willing to haul in their goods. The reports from the turnip market show no demand whatever. An embargo has been placed on carload lots for Boston, and dealers will not quote prices on the vegetable.

Prices for the future on both potatoes and turnips are wholly in doubt. There certainly is no demand for the week. Saturday's reports all show a crowded market and no indication of any early clearing up.

Vol. IX NOV. 15, 1917 Nov. 23

That Hon. F. B. Carvell will be re-elected by acclamation appears to be the determination of a majority of both Liberals and Conservatives in the constituency. No one doubts the sincerity of purpose for which the union government was organized, and so grave is the present crisis in the progress of the war that Canada can only do her utmost by the united parties giving their best endeavour. Let Carleton-Victoria place no hindrance in the way.

MR. CARVELL'S ADDRESS

Hon. F. B. Carvell's address to the electors of Carleton-Victoria is not long, but it covers the ground. In terse and vigorous sentences he sets out clearly the great issue before the country in this hour of national peril, and states the reason for the existence of a union government. Not lightly or hastily did he and his union Liberal colleagues part company with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but only after four months of fruitless effort to find a common ground of action. In the end the momentous step was taken, because they were convinced the policy of Sir Wilfrid would not enable Canada to throw her whole strength into the war, and give the men in the trenches the support they have a right to demand from the people at home. Mr. Carvell makes it clear that the union agreement ceases as soon as the country is again placed on a peace footing, and that matters of merely local political interest are to remain in abeyance until the war has been pressed to a successful issue. For himself Mr. Carvell says:

Holding these views, and upon this platform, I confidently appeal to you for support, and, if elected, promise you that not only will I give my whole energy to the great object for which this Government was constituted; but, also, so far as my Department is concerned, and so far as my opinion may prevail with my colleagues, the affairs of this country will be run upon a business basis such as never existed heretofore. Patronage committees and patronage lists will be abolished, and the appointments to offices and other necessary functions of Government will be divided between both political parties in as equitable a manner as is possible. In other words, I intend to practice in office what, for the past six years, I have been preaching in opposition.

This is the forthright declaration of a straightforward, honest man, in whose firmness of purpose the people have learned to repose full confidence. Its appeal to his constituents should be irresistible, and they would be doing themselves honor to return Mr. Carvell by acclamation.—St. John Times

Be Ready For Emergencies.

The best way is to always keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, ready for emergencies.

Then when croup, or colds come suddenly they can be promptly cured before they have time to reach an acute and dangerous stage. To meet this requirement we have put the syrup up in family size bottles which contain nearly three times as much as a 25-cent bottle and sell at 60 cents.

How an Author Achieved Success

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

Elliott Kenton was writing a Sicilian story in his room in a tenement building in which various nationalities had their abodes. His first dwelling-place since he had begun writing was a handsome bachelor apartment house. He had not found literature profitable and had moved from time to time, each move carrying him downward.

His literary aspirations had come down with his ill success. He had begun by "firing over the heads of the people" and had ended by firing low enough to cut off some people's toes. This was what he was writing at the present time:

"This detective who has come among us, who seeks for evidence to convict our most valuable members, must be obliterated. I shall rely on you and the others to keep me advised of his movements and inform me of the opportune moment to strike him. Send me word at what hour he usually goes out—whether he is alone or attended. Does he ever cross the park? If I can catch him there, where the danger of witnesses would be at the minimum, I would finish him at a single blow."

Kenton wrote this twice, and, selecting the copy that he liked best, he threw the other on the floor. Then he went on with his story, which ended with a certain person known only as "the detective" being murdered in cold blood while crossing the park.

It was late in the afternoon when Kenton finished the last chapter and, wrapping up his manuscript and addressing it to a publisher, went out with it, dropped it in a receptacle for bulky mail and proceeded to a restaurant for dinner. In the evening, having a dead-end ticket to a movie theater, he attended a play and about 11 o'clock started for his room. As he approached he saw a number of men standing before the entrance, among whom were several policemen. On drawing nearer he noticed that the front of the building in which he lived was scattered on the pavement and the street.

"What's the matter there?" he asked a man coming toward him from the wrecked building.

"Bomb," said the man as he hurried on.

Kenton paused. He knew that the building had been filled with a miscellaneous people, including German, French, Norwegian, Italian and other nationalities. He did not recall the fact that he as a roomer there might be mixed up with this bomb throwing.

He turned to walk away, was seen by a policeman and followed, the fact of his turning having excited suspicion. The policeman took him to the building, where the owner, standing among the others, recognized him.

"That's the man," said the landlord. "What man?" asked the policeman. "The man that rooms where you found the note."

A pair of handcuffs were clapped on Kenton's wrists, and he was taken to a police station. The landlord went along as a witness. There was a preliminary examination, at which the landlord swore that Kenton occupied a room in which an incriminating paper was found. Then the prisoner was put into a cell.

The next morning, when Kenton was wondering what it all meant, a lawyer was ushered to his cell who said that he had been retained by certain parties to defend him, but that the defense would not amount to anything. The prisoner's friends relied rather upon terrorizing any witnesses that might testify against him. "But why," asked the attorney, "were you so careless as to leave that letter where it would be readily found?"

"What letter?" asked Kenton. "That letter to the gang announcing that you were ready to kill the detective."

"I never wrote such a letter."

The lawyer shrugged his shoulders. "For heaven's sake, man," cried Kenton, suddenly remembering his story, "you don't mean that they have found a scrap of my Sicilian story?"

"They found a letter offering if those to whom it was written would put the writer on to how to get a certain detective you would 'do' him."

"Why, that is fiction."

"Fiction be hanged! You can't play that game with the public prosecutor, but you haven't been afraid. That letter doesn't prove that you threw the bomb. It's only circumstantial. You keep quiet. Your friends have got it all fixed, and you can't be convicted."

"You needn't consider yourself my counsel. I'll take care of my own case."

"Very well; if you want to be sent up for a term of years or to the 'chair' go ahead. All I have to say is the only thing that can save you is terrorizing any witnesses who may be brought against you."

With that the man of law departed, and Kenton sent for a friend who was also an attorney. When the latter arrived Kenton told him that he had got into a fix from writing a blood and thunder story and must be helped out. The lawyer called on the publisher to whom his client's manuscript had been submitted with a copy of the scrap of paper that had been picked up and found its place in the novel. He succeeded in procuring Kenton's release without his being brought to trial.

"The incident attracted the publisher's attention to the story and procured a reading for it. The reports concerned that the story was thrilling and especially adapted to the class of readers the firm desired to reach. It was published, was a great success and established the reputation of the author."

MARTYRS TO GIRDLES.

A Native Protest Against Feminine Fashions in Japan.

A caustic Japanese critic, Saito Man, has this to say in the Tokyo Advertiser about women's fashions in Japan:

"Archaic costumes, especially those universally worn by ladies, demand reform. The indigent world can be clothed out of the materials wasted in gorgeous kimono sleeves. Nothing is so absurd as the long, heavy, pendant sleeves attached to a girl's holiday kimono. They serve no purpose, impede locomotion and are a pitiful spectacle. The girdle is more cumbersome and expensive; especially those woven in one piece of heaviest silk."

"Formerly the latter were only worn at weddings and state affairs; now every girl has one. Every wife must have one to sport at the theater. In price this maruobi varies from 30 to 1,000 yen ($15 to $500) and upward. To girdle it requires all the strength of a well built husband or father. I do not know any Japanese woman who ever succeeded in putting on one herself."

"It is over three feet wide, folded into half that width when worn, and its length is three times the full height of its wearer. In weight it is terrific, thickly embroidered as it is with golden threads. It is chiefest attraction in the whole dress scheme of Japanese womanhood. One might as well ask a woman to discard her hair as it. Every well dressed Japanese lady is a martyr to her girdles. Her entire waist is covered with layers of belting. From the viewpoint of health the girdle (only) is a most vile contrivance, as every doctor asserts."

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF. HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Dandruff-Right now—Also stops itching scalp.

A thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is "mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful, scurfy, there is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverish, not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Dandruff-Right—now—any time—will surely save your hair."

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff-Right from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Dandruff-Right. Save your hair! Try it!

Preparedness on the Farm.
Every farmer ought to believe in preparedness, says Farm and Fireside, the kind of preparedness that provides tested rather than guessed seed corn; that sees that all farm machinery is carefully looked over and the badly worn or broken parts replaced before the beginning of the rush season; that makes ready a supply of bolts and taps, extra tap rings and clevises, singletrees and at least one extra pair of doubletrees. Man-labor and horse-labor are too expensive and time too precious to take chances of risks which might easily be avoided.

A Regiment.
In military terms a "squad" is part of a company.
A captain commands a company, and he has under him a first lieutenant and a second lieutenant.
A major commands a battalion, which is made up of four companies. A regiment is commanded by a colonel, and it comprises three battalions, so that a regiment is made up of twelve companies.

Fresh Air as Medicine.
It has taken centuries for us to find out and know that fresh air is the cure of consumption, pneumonia and colds, and probably it will take another century to make us know and use fresh air as a preventive of these and some other diseases.

Filling a Need.
"I'm doing my best to get ahead," asserted Cholly.
"Well, heaven knows you need one," asserted Dolly.

REALISTIC STAGECRAFT.

The Electric Light Is Responsible For Many Innovations.

The introduction of electric light was, of course, responsible for greater innovations in the art of stage decoration than any other one thing. It was now possible to light up equally well any portion of the stage, and so the "fog" was dispensed with and the picture frame proscenium introduced.

The cry for realism which Ibsen's dramas had aroused was now taken up by the scene builders with enthusiastic vigor, and "nature" was reproduced in every material detail. "We must show life exactly as it is," became their motto.

These changes naturally also had an effect upon the actors themselves and upon what they said. Formerly the actors were continually conscious of the presence of the audience, and to a considerable degree addressed it directly. Now they could interpret the story on the stage, entirely ignoring, apparently, the presence of the audience.

This change in the conception of the play as a whole, as being made up not alone of dialogue and recitation, but also of action and pictorial representation, has had a very far-reaching effect on our present day conception of the drama.

Luminous Eyes.

Gate among animals and over among birds, says W. H. Hudson in his book, "Idle Days in Patagonia," are the most highly favored of any creatures in the matter of luminous eyes. "The feline eyes, as of a puma or a wildcat, blazing with wrath, sometimes affect one like an electric shock, but for intense brilliancy the yellow globes of the owl are unparalleled." Mr. Hudson asserts that nature has done comparatively little for the human eye either in these terrifying splendors or in beauty. He says that in Brazil he was greatly impressed with the magnificent appearance of many of the negro women, but that if they had only possessed the "golden irides" of certain intensely black tropical birds their "unique loveliness" would have been complete.

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanses little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother, can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs" because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children need to be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children, of all ages and for grown-ups.

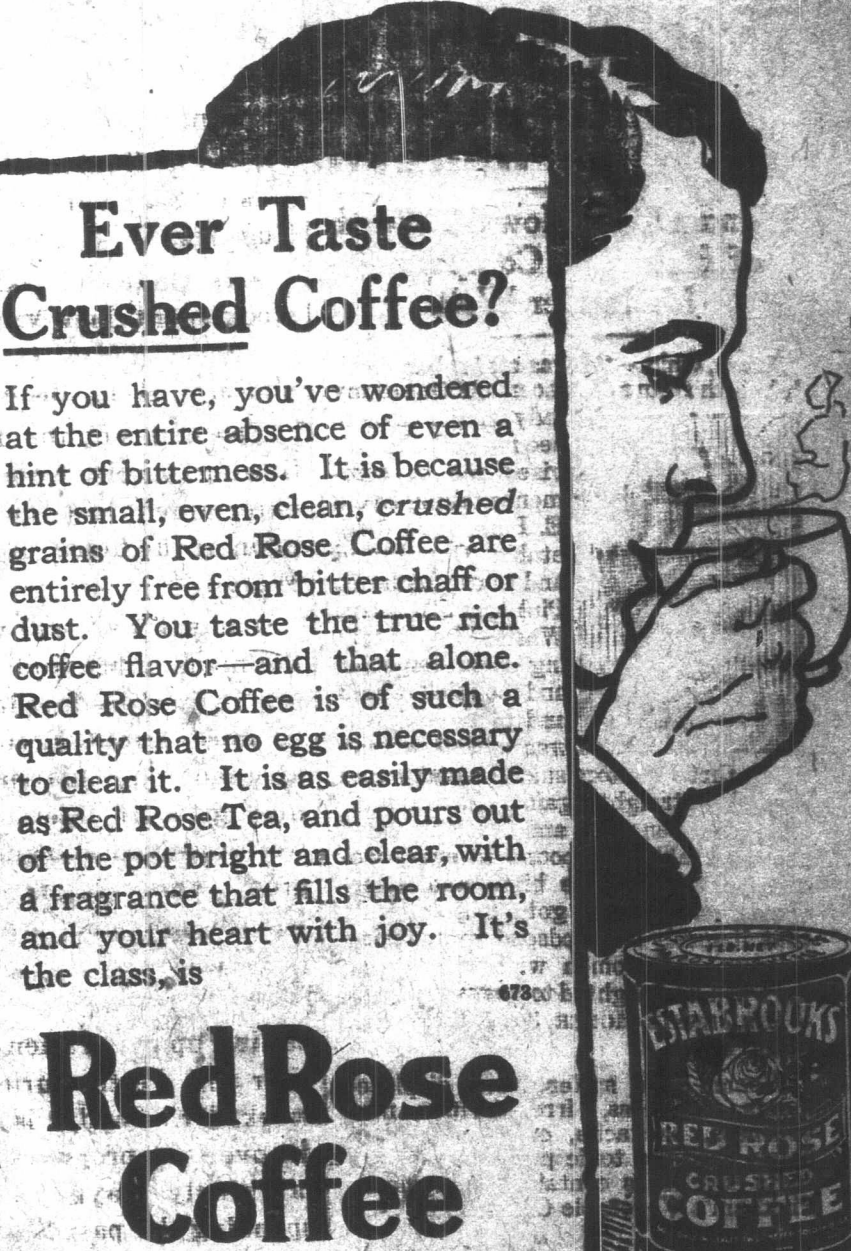

Query.
"She is posted on husbands."
"Is she?"
"Indeed she is."
"I wonder—"
"Well, what?"
"I wonder whose husbands?"

Danger Zone.
"We are to run right through the tail of the comet."
"It is taking an awful chance."
"Why?"
"Our trust magnates will be out sprinkling salt on its tail."

Explained.
"Pa?"
"Yes."
"What's a ventriloquist?"
"A fellow who talks back at himself."

Good News for the Soldiers

Nothing of recent times will so hearten the Canadians in the trenches as the formation of the Union Government at Ottawa. Through many a bleak dawn, waiting to go over the top, or steeling their hearts to make an attack, the Canadian trench-dwellers must have wondered in their inmost souls whether the hardships and dangers they are enduring at the front were being realized in Canada, and whether their sacrifices were to be lost by the indifference of those at home. The band-playing and cheering and fine speeches accompanying their departure overseas must have contrasted strangely with the lack of necessary reinforcements at the front and the seeming forgetfulness of the needs of our bonnie fighters. The news that old political lines have been obliterated and the heart of Canada set to the one task of winning the war, will inspire the tired but still undismayed Canadian soldiers to renewed efforts of the kind that have brought honor to Canada.

"We must win the war or quit the war."

Put an end to your stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diaphepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it was to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation or excessive acid in stomach.

BROKEN DOWN IN HEALTH

Woman Tells How $5 Worth of Pinkham's Compound
Made Her Well.

Lima, Ohio.—"I was all broken down in health from a displacement. One of my lady friends came to see me and she advised me to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I began taking your remedies and took $5.00 worth and in two months was a well woman after three doctors said I never would stand up straight again. I was a midwife for seven years and I recommended the Vegetable Compound to every woman to take before birth and afterwards, and they all got along so nicely that it surely is a godsend to suffering women. If women wish to write to me I will be delighted to answer them."

—Mrs. JENNIE MOYER, 342 E. North St., Lima, Ohio.

Women who suffer from displacements, weakness, irregularities, nervousness, backache, or bearing-down pains, need the tonic properties of the roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Free War Maps.

A good war map helps one to follow and understand the war news. The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal offers a fine war map in four colors about 24 feet x 34 feet in a neat cover free of charge to all who subscribe to that great paper at $1.25 a year. The map alone would cost as much as the whole charge in most stores. The Family Herald is greatly improved this year and is wonderful value. It is a credit to Canadian Journalism. It should be in every Canadian home at the price offered, $1.25 a year, with the great war map free.

Children Like It

It is not an easy matter to get a medicine that children like, or to force them to take one they don't like. Most mothers know that a cough medicine, while palatable, should contain no drug injurious to the child. The great popularity of is explained by the fact that it contains no opium or narcotic of any kind, and at the same time is so pleasant and agreeable to the taste that children like it. For this reason it is a favorite with the mothers of young children. Yours for health, —Jenny Chamberlain.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Hartley-Gardiner

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardiner, Charleston, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday, October 30, when their daughter, Clara Belle, was united in marriage to Samuel J. Hartley of Bridgewater, Me. The groom was supported by David Nichol of Bridgewater and Miss Pauline Grey, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. The wedding march was played by Miss Lipsett of Charleston. A happy group of people, relatives of the bride and groom, were the invited guests. At 5.30 the happy couple were made one by the marriage service conducted by Rev. J. B. Gough of Jacksonville. The bride's costume was of Spanish lace over white silk and she wore the customary bridal veil with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid was costumed in pale blue crepe-de-chene and her bouquet was dark crimson roses. Little Miss Majorie Gardiner, a niece of the bride, gown in pale blue silk, made a charming ring girl. The presents to the bride were numerous and valuable, among which was a beautiful Bible and a money gift from the Charleston Baptist church of which the bride had been organist for several years. A valuable travelling bag was the groom's gift to the bride, and to the bridesmaid he gave a gold watch pendant. After the ceremony the invited guests partook of a delicious supper. The happy couple drove to Bridgewater from whence they took train to their home at Holeb, Me., where the groom is in the employ of the United States as customs official. All wish Mr. and Mrs. Hartley a successful and happy life voyage.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whiten and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of cold cream from the grocery store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Indigestion Resulted From an Inactive Liver

The Bowels Became Constipated and the Whole Digestive System Upset.

With many people constipation becomes a habit. And it is a dangerous habit which is certain sooner or later to cause serious disease. "Daily movement of the bowels" is the first and most important rule of health. When the liver becomes torpid the flow of bile into the intestines is stopped and the bowels become constipated. But you can readily overcome this condition by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no treatment obtainable which so promptly awakens the activity of the liver and bowels and thereby corrects derangements of the digestive system.

Mrs. Herbert Doherty of Beaver Brook, Albert Co., N.B., writes: "I truthfully say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a great medicine for constipation. I have suffered from constipation ever since I can remember, but got to using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and was so benefited that I began to study this malady. I found that the indigestion resulted from a bad case of inactive liver, and as soon as I got the liver working right I didn't have any stomach trouble or indigestion. I cannot praise this medicine too highly, and would advise anyone suffering from indigestion or constipation to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. My husband also claims that these pills have done him more good than any medicine he ever used. You are at liberty to use this letter."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively relieve and cure torpid liver, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, headache and kidney disease. Put it to the test. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, all dealers, or H. M. Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Hurrah! How's This

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lock-jaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called frezons can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus. You simply apply a few drops of frezons on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain. This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.
