McKINLEY'S EXAMPLE

Commented on at Presbyterian Alliance Meeting in Detroit.

Detroit, Sept. 11.—At the meeting of the Presbyterian Alliance, held in the First Presbyterian Church, 30 members of the alliance present reverently fell upon their knees, while Rev. W. H. Clark offered up an earnest prayer for the recovery of President McKinley.

Elisha A. Fraser spoke of the magnificent spirit displayed by the president in the hour of most excruciating agony. First the thought of his wife, then that of mercy towards his assailant, showed the president to be a man far above the ordinary.

"When the head of the nation displays such a spirit," said Mr. Fraser, "the whole nation must be helped and uplifted."

A LIGHT PENALTY!

President's Assailant May Escape With Six and a Half Years' Imprisonment.

Albany, Sept. 11.—Inquiry at the Department of State by Superintendent of Prisons Collins developed the fact that no measurements under the Bertillon system for the identification of criminals had been received from the Buffalo police authorities in the case of Czolgosz.

Chief Clerk Charles K. Baker called attention to the possibility of Czolgosz's escape from even ten years' imprisonment. If the president recovers the highest degree of crime for which he can be convicted is assault in the first degree. The punishment for this crime under the state laws is only ten years' imprisonment.

If Czolgosz should receive the maximum term of ten years, he can by good behavior earn a commutation of sentence under the law of three and a half years, so that his total punishment for an act for which the criminal authorities of the land agree that hanging is too mild a penalty will be but six and a half years' imprisonment.

Justice David McAdam, of the Supreme Court of New York, gives the opinion that Emma Goldman and other Anarchists who are naturalized can be expelled from the country on the ground that they have sworn falsely in that they obtained certificate of citizenship by fraud in testifying that they were attached to the principles of government and would support its constitutional laws.

THE PRESIDENT BENEFITED!

By the Reopening of His Wound Which Caused a Scare Last Night.

His Condition Now Reported as Excellent---Takes Nourishment With Great Satisfaction---The Danger Point Passed.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—"The president has passed a very comfortable night," said the 6 o'clock morning bulletin of Drs. Rixey and Wasdin, the two physicians who remained at the president's bedside throughout the night. A few minutes later Dr. Rixey, the president's regular physician, was seen by an Associated Press representative. He displayed no evidence of anxiety, and was emphatic in his characterization of the sensationally alarming reports of last night's 10:30 bulletin. Dr. Rixey was asked about these reports and he replied earnestly and without any hesitation whatever:

"Those statements are not true. The president is not in a serious condition, and there is no alarm felt over him.

THE FACTS ARE JUST AS STATED in the regular bulletins of the physicians, who are anxious that the public shall be fully acquainted with them."

The scare caused by even the faintest indication of trouble in connection with the president's wound, coming on the heels of steady and continued improvement was only natural under the circumstances. But there is absolutely no reason to doubt the frankness of the official statement of the physicians that the opening of a few stitches of the wound last night can give rise to other complications, and Dr. Rixey this morning was emphatic in his insistence of the complete truth of this statement. The opening of the wound was

IN NO SENSE AN OPERATION.

It was more in the nature of a redressing of the wound, an antiseptic dressing to allay the slight irritation that had appeared."

The fact that the wound in the president's abdomen is not healing by "first intention" is not a feature at all unusual in such cases, explained one of the president's physicians. On the contrary it is usual for gunshot wounds to heal by what is termed "second intention" through granulation. Especially is this the case with older persons, whereas in the case of young people they usually heal by "first intention."

NO SIGN OF BLOOD-POISONING.

There is absolutely no sign of blood-poisoning in the president's case, said the doctor, when a newspaper man hinted that the irritation which had appeared at the exterior wound might have partaken of that nature.

As the morning advanced and the usual activities of the day began, the feeling of confidence grew stronger.

At 8:30 o'clock the physicians began arriving for the morning consultation. They came in accordance with the usual understanding that a consultation would be held at 8:30 preparatory to the 9 o'clock bulletin.

WHAT CAUSED THE SCARE.

The following bulletin was issued by the president's physicians at 10:30 last (Tuesday) night:

"The condition of the president is unchanged in all important particulars. His temperature is 100.6, pulse 114, respiration 28. When the operation was done on Friday last it was noted that the bullet had carried with it a short distance beneath the skin a fragment of the president's coat. This foreign material was, of course, removed, but a slight irritation of the tissues was produced, the evidence of which has appeared only tonight. It has been necessary, even on account of this slight disturbance, to remove a few stitches, and partially open the skin wound.

"This incident cannot give rise to other complications, but it is given to the public as the surgeons in attendance wish to make their bulletins entirely frank. In consequence of this separation of the edges of the surface wound, healing of the same will be somewhat delayed. The president is now well enough to begin to take nourishment by the mouth in the form of pure beef juice. (Signed) F. M. Rixey, M. D., M. D. Mann, Roswell Park, Herman Mynter, Eugene Wasdon, Charles McBurney, George B. Cortelyou, secretary to the president."

GROUNDLESS FEAR.

Late last night there was a slight scare at the Milburn residence, caused by the protracted visit of the consulting physicians, who remained almost two hours, and this was increased by the announcement in the official bulletin that a slight irritation of the exterior wound had necessitated the opening of a few stitches. As explained in the bulletin, this irritation was attributed to the fact that a small fragment of the presiden's coat had been carried into the body by the bullet, and although this foreign substance was removed, a slight disturbance developed which made necessary the opening of the wound. The doctors seek to allay all apprehension by the positive statement that this incident cannot give rise to other complications, and their frankness in giving the news to the public leaves no reason to question their entire good faith.

The Midnight Report.

OUT OF DANGER.

The corps of eminent surgeons and physicians in attendance upon the wounded president today committed themselves without reservation that their patient was out of danger and only complications threatened his life. Of course we will all feel easier when a week has passed," said Dr. McBurney, the dean of the corps. "We would like to see every door locked and double-locked, but the danger from possible complications is now very remote."

Dr. Rixey placed himself squarely on record, not privately to the friends of the president, but publicly, throught the agency of the press, that the danger point had been passed, and that the president would survive the attempt on his life.

THE BULLET.

The little piece of lead in the muscles of the back is giving the physicians no concern whatever. Unless it should prove troublesome to the president later on, he probably will carry this grim souvenir of the anarchist with him to the end of his days. The doctors say that once encysted it can do no harm. Thousands of men are today walking the earth in perfect health with much larger chunks of lead in their bodies. The X-ray machine is ready for instant use, however, and if there is the slightest inflammation or pain in the vicinity of the bullet an operation will be performed.

WILL BE TAKEN TO WASHINGTON.

The president will be taken direct to Washington as soon as it is safe to move him. A most important development of the day was a determination reached among those in charge of the case that food should be administered to the patient tomorrow by the mouth, and not by the rectum. The importance of this feeding by the mouth is that it will restore the normal condition of the stomach for the first time since that organ had both its walls pierced by a bullet.

ALL GOOD NEWS.

Buffalo, Sept. 11.—The conference at the Milburn broke up at 9:15, and five minutes later Dr. Mynter left. "It's all good news," said he, as he reached the rope at which half a hundred newspaper men were congregated. "The action we took last night has been beneficial, and I feel more confident of the president's recovery than at any time since the president was shot. Everything is favorable, and we have tripled the amount of nourishment, giving him now three teaspoonfulls of beef juice every hour instead of one. But the president's recovery will be slow. All talk of his sitting up in a few days and leaving Buffalo in a week is nonsense. I shall be satisfied if he can be moved in six weeks."

Dr. Mynter said that Dr. Mann had taken out the stitches in the wound last night. He described the necessity for the action as an irritation of the skin not unusual in such cases. He said, generally speaking, that the president was doing excellently. He drank water freely, and his condition was satisfactory.

"MUST HAVE BEEN CRAZY."

Buffalo, Sept. 11.—President McKinley for the first time, has mentioned his would-be assassin, and said:

"He must have been crazy. I never saw the man until he approached me at the reception."

"He is an anarchist," the president was told, and he replied:

"Too bad, too bad. I trust, though, that he will be treated with all fairness."

Today's Bulletins.

STILL ENCOURAGING.

Buffalo, Sept. 11.—The following bulletin was issued by the president's physicians at 6 a.m.: The president has passed a very comfortable night; pulse 120, temperature 100, respiration 26.

OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 11.—The following bulletin was issued by the president's physicians at 9 a.m.: The president rested comfortably during the night. Decided benefit has followed the dressing of the wound made last night. His stomach tolerates the beef juice well, and it is taken with great satisfaction. His condition this morning is excellent. Pulse 116, temperature 100.2. (Signed) P. M. Rixey, M. D. Mann, Roswell Park, Herman Mynter, Eugene Wasdin, Charles McBurney. George B. Cortelyou, secretary to the president.

EULOGIZED LATE GRAND MASTER

Appreciative Remarks of the Contemporary Press.

Widespread Sorrow for Bro. Hungerford Is Thoroughly Genuine—Messages of Sympathy.

At the regular communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 20, last night, the worshipful master, Bro. O. Ellwood, was instructed to confer with the other masters of city lodges, with the view of preparing a resolution of condolence with the widow and family of the late Grand Master Hungerford, instead of having eight or ten of them express the same sentiments. Bro. Ellwood alluded feelingly to the great loss the craft had sustained, and requested that as many brethren of the lodge as possible endeavor to attend the funeral this afternoon. No work was done during the evening out of respect to the memory of the late head of the craft.

M. W. Bro. Mason, Murray, Malone, J. Ross Robertson and W. Gibson, past grand masters, arrived here this forenoon, and many prominent brethren from a distance came by the morning trains. The members of the Supreme Council of the 33rd Degree will also be quite numerously represented. Ill. Bro. A. W. Porte and B. Allan, of Toronto, arrived here last evening.

Many messages of sympathy have been received since the death of Grand Master Hungerford, among which are the following:

R. W. Bro. D. F. MacWatt, of Sarnia, an old-time colleague of deceased, telegraphed: "Very much shocked at grand master's death; convey my sympathy to the family."

M. W. Bro. Wm. Gibson, past grand master, wired from Penetanguishene, where he is temporarily sojourning, as follows: "Please convey to Mrs. Hungerford and family my deepest sympathy; will leave for London tonight."

R. W. Bro. Dewitt H. Martyn, P. D. D. G. M., of Kincardine, sent the following: "Convey to the family the sympathy of Kincardine brethren on the occasion of the grand master's death."

M. W. Bro. J. M. Gibson, P.G.M., of Toronto, wired his condolence last night, and expressed regret at his inability to attend the funeral.

The secretary-general of the Supreme Council of the A. and A. S. Rite for the Dominion, Ill. Bro. Hugh Murray, of Hamilton, has instructed Ill. Bro. A. E. Cooper, 32 degrees, of this city, to secure a suitable floral design for that body; and M. W. Bro. Mason, grand secretary, has wired similar instructions on behalf of the Grand Lodge.

R. W. Bro. (Judge) John E. Harding, of Lindsay, the deputy grand master, will assume the duties of grand master, with all the powers and rights of the office, but without the title, until Grand Lodge meets again.

The following appreciative references to the late grand master are made in the contemporary press:

Woodstock Times: News which caused deep sorrow in this city, not only among brethren of the craft, but many of those who are not Masons, as well, was received this morning. It was the news which came from London of the death there of Most Worshipful Bro. Richard B. Hungerford, grand master of the Masonic Lodge. The news of his death came as a most sorrowful surprise, totally unlooked for as it was. Canadian Masonry loses in Bro. Hungerford one of its most distinguished men. He entered the craft when but a young man, and since then has filled every position Masonry can honor a member with, and taken every degree. His death makes a gap in Canadian Masonry, in Canadian citizenship, that will be hard to fill. Everybody liked Bro. Hungerford. He was a jovial, whole-souled man, one whom it was a pleasure to meet and converse with. A son of Erin, he was not without the native wit, and knew how to turn a joke. The widespread sorrow for Bro. Hungerford is thoroughly genuine.

Hamilton Times: The announcement of M. W. Bro. Hungerford's death was a shock to all Masons. Less than two months ago Mr. Hungerford was in Hamilton, bright, active and energetic; apparently in the best of health, and good for many years of busy service. His illness, which came on suddenly a few weeks later, caused alarm, but his friends had begun to feel that he would recover, and were not ready for the announcement.

Woodstock Express: The death in London this morning of Mr. R. B. Hungerford, grand master of the grand lodge of Canada, A., F. and A. M., cast a gloom over the entire order. Mr. Hungerford was highly respected by every member of the craft, and a more popular man could hardly have been found for the position, which is now left vacant. In Woodstock expecially the deceased was well known and highly thought of. The deepest sympathy of the Masonic body in Woodstock will be extended to the bereaved family of deceased.

Stratford Beacon: Mr. Hungerford was an enthusiastic member of the Masonic Order for many years, and occupied almost every office in the gift of the brethren. He was held in high esteem outside the fraternity.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review: He was genial in disposition and beloved by all with whom he came into contact. The deepest sympathy will go out to the sorrowing family.

Amusements.

DRAWING THE CROWDS.

The audience which crowded the London Opera House last night waxed enthusiastic over the fine presentation of the stirring drama, "Woman Against Woman," by the Sullivan Repertoire Company. The company's work, as a whole, shows a decided and surprising improvement over their form of the opening plays, and their presentations are now first-class in every respect. The members of the company worked together perfectly, and the play went off without a hitch. The specialties took well, and received several encores, an especially good one being that of Baby Rossie, a clever child artist. The bill for tonight is "A Parisian Princess," in which a previous production and repeated rehearsals have made the company perfect. Visitors and citizens alike can find no better place for an evening's amusement than the London Opera House.

SUPERBA THIS WEEK.

One of the new acts in Superba this year represents a scene at a race course. The Fairy Queen Superba changes Pierrot into a jockey, for some trifling act of disobedience, and whilst appearing in this guise he has some hair-raising experiences. First a scene is unfolded to his gaze of a poor old man and woman, the former a trainer of horses, who has spent his last dollar to fit his only remaining horse for a race that means life or death to him—the horn of plenty if he wins, starvation if he loses. The horse is a particularly vicious one, and it is a difficult matter to get a jockey to ride him, but Pierrot, with his magic aid puts a nickel in the slot, and an individual named Broncho Pete appears. Pete fails to keep on the back of the unruly animal, so Pierrot again invokes the aid of the machine, and five cowboys appear. They environ poor Pierrot, who has attempted to ride the horse himself. The cowboys, riding their own fiery mustangs, try to put Pierrot in a pocket so that he cannot win, and even go so far as to dismember the horse, but Pierrot, equal to the occasion, remains on the animal, or rather what is left of him, and finally lands him a winner and replenishes the couple's larder. Superba will be seen at the New Grand the last three nights of this week, with a special matinee on Saturday.

"QUO VADIS" IN DEMAND.

An item was recently published among theatrical jottings of the metropolitan press, to the effect that before the routing of "Quo Vadis" was commenced for the coming season there were, by actual count, in the office of Whitney & Knowles 479 letters requesting a return of this phenomenally successful attraction. These letters were from local managers, who voiced the wishes of their patrons. "Quo Vadis" appears at the New Grand on Tuesday and Wednesday next, with special price matinee on Wednesday.

"WAY DOWN EAST" TONIGHT.

A large and delighted audience witnessed last night's performance of "Way Down East," at the New Grand. The play received and deserved the encomiums of all as a pure and healthful presentation of real life scenes. A special matinee is being given this afternoon, and tonight's performance closes the engagement of this sweetest of pastoral dramas. Those who have not seen it should not miss the opportunity; those who have will witness it again, if possible. The theater draping and carpeting is almost completed, and the house presents a finished appearance.

Child Murder.

When a child comes to its death by the willful act of a second person, the law takes cognizance of the crime, but it fails to do so when little ones are exposed to danger, and often death, by the negligence of parents, who do not take care that the food furnished their family is of the kind best suited to nourish the growing bodies and expanding frames of the boys and girls. Granose is an ideal food for children, enabling them to begin mature life unhandicapped by the affliction of indigestion or constipation, the result of eating injurious foods. The children should not be allowed to drink tea and coffee, whose properties of thein and caffein are so destructive to the nervous system and digestive organs, but should be given instead, Caramel Cereal, a true health drink. See that you get the genuine.

MELBOURNE.

Melbourne, Sept. 10.—Rev. Mr. Endicot, a Chinese missionary, gave a very interesting address in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening last.

Rev. W. H. Geddes, B.D., of Ailsa Craig, will conduct anniversary services in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday, 15th inst. Service will be conducted at 11 a.m. and 3 and 7:30 p.m. The Presbyterians have discontinued the practice of having entertainments in connection with their anniversary, and make a free-will offering, which in past years has been more profitable from a financial standpoint than the average entertainment.

A quiet wedding took place at the manse on Wednesday, the 4th inst., when Alex. Duncanson and Effie McMullen, of Dunwich, were married by Rev. R. Stewart.

BATH DAY

CAUGHT BY KITCHENER'S COHORTS!

Methuen Defeated Vautonder and Delarey.

Boers Leave Eighteen of Their Dead on the Field—A Week's Roundup Reaches 681.

London, Sept. 11.—Lord Kitchener reports to the war office from Pretoria as follows:

"Methuen engaged Vautonder and Delarey in Great Maries Valley, Sept. 6 and Sept. 8, driving them from a strong position Sept. 8. The Boers left six dead Sept. 6 and twelve Sept. 8. Forty-one prisoners were captured."

London, Sept. 10.—The following dispatch was received from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, today:

"Since Sept. 2 the columns have again got good results, the total bag being 681, composed of 67 killed, 67 wounded, 384 made prisoners and 163 surrenders; also 179 rifles, 65,211 rounds of ammunition, 3,400 horses and 19,000 head of cattle."

Lord Kitchener further says that the situation in Cape Colony is unchanged, excepting the capture of Lotter's command, reported last week.

Pretoria, Sept. 10.—Kekewich, Allenby and Featherstonehaugh have made further captures of Boers in the Western Magaliesberg district, mostly of men belonging to Kemp's commando, who were hiding in kloofs. Kemp escaped northward. Within five days about 150 Boers have been captured in this district and smaller captures have been made elsewhere.

Gen. Kitchener has ordered that tools and materials be supplied to the men in the burgher camps, to enable them to work at such trades as tanning, cabinetmaking, etc. The articles made by them will be sold for their benefit.

THE CHARGE AGAINST DR. KRAUSE

Treason Trial Postponed Pending Arrival of Papers.

Sovereigns of Britain and Russia at Copenhagen—Women in Degradation in Egypt.

London, Sept. 11.—Dr. Krause, former governor of Johannesburg, who was arrested last week and was arraigned in the Bow street police court and remanded on a charge of treason, was brought up again in the Bow street court yesterday. Dr. Krause was informed that a warrant, charging him with incitement to murder, was issued in the Transvaal.

Sir George Lewis, on behalf of the prisoner, said it semed strange, since Dr. Krause had been in England fourteen months as a paroled prisoner of war, warrants should be issued in Transvaal because of acts committed in England, and he asked how could a gentleman not an English subject be charged with high treason.

The case was adjourned to await the arrival of papers from the Transvaal.

MEETING OF MONARCHS.

The czar and czarina and their children, the King and Queen of England, the King of Denmark, the King of Greece and 28 royal princes and princesses, all on one train, arrived at Copenhagen on Tuesday from Fredensborg, and were present at a farewell luncheon on board the Russian imperial yacht Standart. Then all the party with the exception of the czar, went on board the imperial yacht Pole Star to take leave of the czarina. The Standart soon afterwards weighed anchor and started for Dantzic, the Danish forts and the men-of-war in the harbor saluting.

QUEEN MARGHERITA KNOWS.

Queen Margherita, hearing the news of the attack on the life of President McKinley, with tears in her eyes, said: "These things come hardest on women, and poor Mrs. McKinley should, in her state of health, have been spared."

Pope Leo displayed deep emotion, exclaiming: "Oh, how earnestly I pray that he may escape with his life! These violent crimes are the curse of our days. I can only offer the afflicted victim and his poor wife my humble prayers."

RESERVISTS AND GENDARMES.

A special dispatch from Paris says: At Montecau les Mines, some hundreds of reservists, returning in uniform today from the army maneuvers, entered the town singing the "Internationale" and other revolutionary songs. A force of gendarmes attempted to disperse the reservists, but the latter fixed bayonets and charged on the police with cheers for anarchy and a social revolution. The gendarmes were scattered. The soldiers then held a mass meeting, and passed a resolution in favor of a revolution.

IN AWFUL FILTH.

Mrs. Leland Stanford, who has just returned to New York from a trip of fifteen months through Europe, Egypt and Palestine, has been studying the religious side of life in the east. In an interview last she said:

"The degradation of women in Egypt who are kept down in abject slavery, living in horrible filth, shadowed for me the natural beauties of that wonderful land. Only Christianity, I believe, will save that country and elevate its womanhood, as it has other nations of the world."

GREAT NUMBER WERE KILLED.

A dispatch from Ersteeroum says that according to the Turkish authorities, the Mussulman quarter of Moush was attacked and burned by 500 Armenians. The resolutionists retired on Sausoun after a serious engagement with the regulars. A great number were killed and wounded.

CABLE NOTES.

The Peruvian Cabinet has resigned.

Pope Leo intends to take the initiative in joint action by Christian powers against anarchism. He is writing an important encyclical on the subject, which will be published next month.

DETAILS OF PRINCETON DISASTER!

Three Trainmen Lost Their Lives in the Wreck.

The Victims Pinned Fast by the Burning Cars—How the Accident Happened.

Woodstock, Sept. 11. — The wreck which occurred on the main line of the G. T. R. early yesterday morning was attended with three fatalities and the loss of thousands of dollars' worth of property. The accident happened about a mile and a half east of Princeton station. There were three trains in the wreck.

THE DEAD.

The dead are: Conductor Harmon, of Toronto; Engineer Fred Denning, of Sarnia; Fireman Rennie, of Sarnia.

Freight train No. 319, in charge of Conductor Rich, passed Princeton station at 12:29 Monday night. She had through running orders. A few moments later a train of empty passenger coaches in charge of Conductor Harmon, of Toronto, came in and was sent after the freight at what was considered a safe distance. Following the passenger train, and anticipated by a danger signal on the rear car of the second train, came a through freight from Chicago.

The train was in charge of Conductor Low, and in the engine were Fred Denning, of Sarnia, and Fireman Rennie, also of Sarnia.

CAUSE OF THE DISASTER.

The trains had safely passed the station and the semaphores had been dropped after them, when the men on the first train made the discovery that one of the boxes was burning. The brakes were applied, and the train was stopped. The passenger train coming behind was signaled, and its engineer brought his train to a standstill a few yards from the caboose of the freight ahead. Anticipating some delay, Conductor Harmon, of the passenger train, knowing that he was being followed by the through freight, decided to back up, and signaled. Engineer Denning, of the through freight, seems, however, to have been unaware of the passenger train ahead of him, for he came on at full speed. The result was

A TERRIFIC COLLISION.

The engine of the freight completely telescoped three of the passenger coaches, dragging four freight cars after it. The engine landed on the south side of the track, and the tender was thrown off on the other side.

Almost immediately after the collision took place, the steam pipes burst and the fire-box of the engine was shattered, scattering burning coals over the wreck. In an instant the mass of battered wood and twisted iron was lost in flames. The two rear passenger coaches over which the engine of the freight had bounded took fire first, and the flames were fed by the four freight cars, which were piled up by the force of the impact.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Engineer Denning and Conductor Harmon were caught in the wreckage and were burned to death. Fireman Rennie was also caught before he could get clear of the wreck. He jumped, but was pinned down beneath the shattered freight cars which came over the tender. When released he was unconscious and terribly injured and he expired a few minutes afterwards.

THE INJURED

Brakeman R. Oliver was injured about the head and Brakeman R. Peacock's right leg was broken above the ankle and had to be amputed.

Conductor Harmon was for many years a resident of Windsor. He was a man of fine physique, good hearted and very popular. He was 34 years of age, and unmarried. His funeral will be held at Bothwell, where his father and mother are buried. He left three brothers—John, of Windsor; Peter, of Chicago, and Edward, of Pittsburg.

MR. ATWOOD'S SUCCESS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

With this I send you a sample of a Bartlett pear which I have grown on a graft I put in an apple tree. When you sample it I think you will find it excellent in flavor and firmer in the center than Bartletts usually are. I have sold all the apples in my orchard as a lump lot to Mr. D. Cantlon, of Clinton, for $1,100. I pick and draw to station; he packs and furnishes the barrels. My pears and grapes will pan up towards another 100, which will make over $4,000 I have cleared on my orchard in the last five years, after having suffered a loss of $500 in shipping to England myself during that time, caused, as I believe, by the fruit having been stored in a hot place on board the steamer, which, as I believe, is the chief cause of apples arriving in bad condition, as is often the case. I think it would have been better if our government had spent the money they wasted (as I think) in trying to destroy the Boers, in providing cold storage at reasonable rates for all kinds of fruit. Yours truly,

A. C. ATWOOD.

A TORONTO WORKMAN FELL FIFTY FEET!

John Anderson Meets Almost Instant Death—Man Crushed by Thirty Tons of Coal Falling on Him.

CRUSHED BY FALLING IRON.

Watertown, Sept. 11.—Erastus Barker, aged 43, was killed on Monday, and Daniel Orr and Martin McAndrews were injured by the fall of the iron framework of the Taggart Paper Company's paper mill in Felt's Mills.

BURIED UNDER TONS OF COAL.

Glace Bay, C. B., Sept. 11.—Michael McKinnon was killed in the Dominion Coal Company's yards yesterday morning by 30 tons of coal falling on him. He was aged 30, and a native of Frenchvale, C.B.

OLD COUPLE TOOK GAS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Peter Jackson and wife, both past 60, were found dead in their flat at 540 Belmont avenue. The gas jets in the parlor, dining room and bedroom were wide open. The stove connection in the kitchen was also broken. It is the belief of the police that the aged couple died together by agreement.

SUICIDE THROUGH WORRY.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 10.—Grief over the shooting of President McKinley, and subsequent worry over his condition and prospects of recovery, were the causes which led Ordando D. Van Camp, one of Erie county's most prominent men, to kill himself last night. He blew off his head with a shotgun. He was interested in Chicago opera houses.

WOODSTOCK MAN KILLED.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11.—James J. Robinson, an omnibus driver, was thrown from his seat to the pavement by the collision of his bus with a street car yesterday morning and killed. His home was in Woodstock, Ont.

TOOK A SMOKE.

Moscow, Idaho, Sept. 11.—The 12-year-old son of C. A. Gummer, a village farmer, living near Moscow, was instantly killed by a powder explosion. The boy was noticed to have a powder horn in his hand, and called to his sister: "I'm going to take a smoke." A moment afterward there was a report and the young lady turned in time to see the boy fall on the floor dead. Examination showed that the boy had put the horn in his mouth, lighted a match and applied it to the powder.

FELL FROM FOURTH STORY.

Toronto, Sept. 11.—At the noon hour yesterday, John Anderson, aged 17, who resided at 85 Lindsay avenue, and who was engaged as a decorator at the Pottery warehouse of Gowans, Kent & Co., attempted to cross the window sills from one window of the fourth story, in the rear, to another. He missed his footing and fell to the ground. His head struck a projecting iron in his fall, and his skull was terribly crushed. Anderson was alive when picked up, but died a few minutes afterwards.

MAUD WILLARD'S DEATH.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 11.—Coroner Dr. Emes yesterday empanelled a jury and held an inquest into the death of Maud Willard, which took place in the whirlpool on Saturday evening, after she navigated the rapids in a barrel. The evidence of the witnesses, the principal one being Carlisle D. Graham, when to show that the woman had entered the barrel of her own free will, and that her object was to obtain the remuneration promised her by the New York Mutuscope Company, which made moving pictures of the wild ride through the rapids, as well as Graham's swim through the Devil's Hole Rapids to Lewiston on the same afternoon. The jury returned a verdict of death by suffocation, holding no one responsible, but censured the United States authorities for permitting such foolhardy performances.

SOCIALIST EXPELLED

Candidate for Governor in a Fight With Syracuse Types.

Syracuse, Sept. 11.—Charles H. Corregan, the Socialist candidate for governor of New York State in the last state election, is involved in a fight with Typographical Union No. 55, of which he has been a member up to a few weeks ago. Mr. Corregan was charged with having used in his socialistic speeches sentiments derogatory to the union of which he was a member, and from which he had a working card. He was suspended from the union until a fine was paid. He paid no attention to this, and was expelled and discharged from Lyman Bros., where he was employed as a printer. This was done at the instigation of the union.

Mr. Corregan, through his attorney, procured a temporary injunction from Justice Scripture at Rome, restraining the union from interfering with his employment. The writ is returnable on Sept. 21. He also asks for a writ of mandamus to compel the return to him of his working card, and sues the officers of the union for $3,000 damages. The suit is against Arthur A. Hay, president of the union, and Thomas M. Cafney, Andrew J. Moynihan, Fred H. Brown, James McCormick, and John H. Hatch as executive committee, and John J. Gilson.

Corregan was fined $50 and to stand suspended until it was paid. He says that the union printers in the office with him struck and Lyman Bros. were forced to be a warm one.

JOURNAL CARTOONS SCORED.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Central Labor Union at its weekly meeting passed resolutions denouncing the shooting of the president and expressing sympathy with Mrs. McKinley. Then the delegates went on to talk of the Journal and its editorials and cartoons.

"Those cartoons are calculated to inspire hatred and contempt for this government," said Delegate Farrell. "How far they are responsible for spreading a feeling of discontent I cannot undertake to say, but they are bound to have a bad effect on weak-minded people. I am in favor of the liberty of the press, but not of license. When the anti-cartoon bill was before the legislature I thought it a blow at the liberty of the press, but since then that liberty has been shamefully abused. If the bill were introduced now, I, for one, would be strongly in favor of it."

CARRIE NATION RAVES

Says She Has No Sympathy for President McKinley.

New York, Sept. 11.—Carrie Nation, in the course of her afternoon lecture at Steeplechase Park, Coney Island, on Sunday, narrowly escaped violence. After a characteristic harange denouncing police, saloons and dance halls, she unexpectedly switched off onto an attack against the president.

"I have no cares for this McKinley," she said. "I have no sympathy for the friend of the brewers. I have to ——"

The rest was drowned out by hisses and hooting from her audience. She started on the same subject three times more, but each time was interrupted by the crowd. At the conclusion of her ravings several indignant citizens crowded around her to remonstrate. But she only started off again and it was necessary for her manager to lead her to her hotel in order to avert trouble. At her evening lecture she again referred to the president in a disrespectful way. This time a young man in the back row got up and called for three cheers for McKinley. They were given with a will.

Mrs. Nation came very near spending Sunday in jail for her little cigar-showcase smashing display of the day before. In the Coney Island police court yesterday morning Magistrate Voorhees set her trial for this morning on the ground that he disposes of no cases on Sunday. She was handcuffed and dragged to the Raymond street jail van, containing about 25 other prisoners in various states of intoxication. Just as she was about to be driven off her bondsman rushed into court, and after some discussion she was released on bail.

MISS GOLDMAN TOLD STORIES

She Denied Her Identity When Arrested.

Calls Czolgosz a Fool—Denies Plotting and Says She Never Advocated Violence.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Emma Goldman, whose speeches are alleged to have fired the brain of Leon Czolgosz, the would-be assassin of President McKinley, was arrested shortly before noon.

Miss Goldman's manner was defiant as she was led into the office of Chief of Police O'Niel, but she disclaimed all knowledge of Czolgosz and his crime, admitting only that she met him in Chicago July 12.

"Do you know that your words are what Czolgosz claims stirred him to shot the president?" she was asked.

"I do not; I never advocated violence. I scarcely knew the man."

"I was leaving for Rochester via Buffalo, when Czolgosz had a few words with me. He said he had heard me lecture in some memorial hall in Cleveland last May and that he wanted to know me.

"He said he knew I was in Chicago and looked me up. I scarcely remember anything about him save that his complexion was light."

"Then how do you know that this man is the one who tried to kill the president?"

"Oh," with a shrug of the shoulders, "I guessed that from what the newspapers say."

"What did you think when you heard that an attempt to kill the president had been made?" the woman was asked.

With a wave of her hands and another shrug of the shoulders she answered disdainfully.

"I THOUGHT, OH, THE FOOL."

The prisoner's manner had been growing more and more excited, although she made an evident effort to control herself. In this she finally succeeded, and launched into a discourse of the teachings of anarchy.

She declared that anarchy did not teach men to do the act which has made Czolgosz despised and hated the world over.

"We work against the system, and education is our watchword," she said.

"It was early last July when I came to Chicago to visit the Isaaks family" she continued, in answer to interrogations concerning her whereabouts recently.

"I AM AN ANARCHIST."

"On the night of July 12 Izaaks was out of the house. The bell rang and I went to the door. The man who, I learn through the newspapers, was Czolgosz stood there. He said he wanted to see me. I was about to catch the Nickel Plate train, as I and Izaaks' daughter were about to go to Rochester. He went to the Rock Island depot with us, but I was so busy taking leave of my friends that I scarcely noticed him. It was not a time when one would want to make new friends. At the depot I had the few words with him of which I've told. That is all there [illegible] tween us.

"Nothing in anything I ever said to Leon Czolgosz knowingly would have led him to do the act which startled everybody on Friday."

"Not even in your lectures? He says your words set his brain on fire," asked the interviewer.

"Am I accountable because some crack-brained person put a wrong construction on my words?"

"Leon Czolgosz, I am convinced, planned the deed unaided and entirely alone. There is no anarchist ring which would help him.

"There may be anarchists who would murder, but there also are men in every walk of life who sometimes feel the impulse to kill.

"I do not know surely, but I think Czolgosz was one of those downtrodden men who see all the misery which the rich inflict on the poor, who think of it, who brood over it, and then in despair, resolve to strike a great blow, as they think, for the good of their fellow-men. But that is not anarchy.

PRONOUNCES THE NAME WITH EASE.

"Czolgosz (the woman pronounced the name with the greatest ease)—Czolgosz may have been inspired by me; but, if he was, he took the wrong way of showing it."

Police officials are not entirely satisfied with Miss Goldman's story.

When Capt. Schuettler and Detective Hertz discovered her at the home of one Norris, at 203 Sheffield avenue, she denied her identity.

"Hello, Miss Goldman," said the captain, as he entered the parlor. "Are you glad to see me?"

"I'm not Miss Goldman; I'm a Swedish woman, and my name is Lena Larson," answered the woman, endeavoring to imitate the Swedish dialect.

"All right I speak Swedish myself," said the officer, as he poured out a few questions in the Norse tongue. Miss Goldman did not answer, affecting to misunderstand. Detective Hertz meanwhile had been investigating, and had discovered a pen with the name Emma Goldman engraved thereon.

"What does this mean?" shouted Capt. Schuettler, holding the tell-tale article before its owner's eyes.

"It means that the game is up," she said.

She then admitted her identity and accompanied the police to the office of Chief O'Neill.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION

Lesson Learned From the Death of Garfield.

Circumstances Attending His Assassination and the Previous Murder of Abraham Lincoln.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

Three presidents of the United States have fallen at the hands of assassins within the last thirty-six years. President Lincoln was shot at 9 o'clock on the night of April 14, 1865, and died at 7:22 on the morning of April 15, 1865. President Garfield was shot on the morning of July 2, 1881, and after a lingering illness died on Sept. 20 1881.

The shooting of President McKinley has occurred just six months and two days after his second accession to the presidency.

From the moment President Lincoln received the bullet of Wilkes Booth there was no prospect of his recovery. His devoted wife and members of the cabinet remained with him through that memorable night, when all Washington was in a fever of excitement over the attempts on the life of Lincoln and Seward.

GARFIELD SHOT IN WASHINGTON

President Garfield was shot at the Pennsylvania railroad depot in Washington as he and Secretary Blaine were about to depart for Long Branch. As the two distinguished men were passing through the ladies' waiting-room two pistol shots rang out upon the open air. Mr. Blaine saw a man running and started toward him but immediately saw the president arch forward and fall. A moment afterward the assassin, Charles J. Guiteau, was discovered and was rescued with difficulty from the infuriated mob. When, in answer to his eager question, his physicians informed Mr. Garfield had one chance in a hundred of livin, he said calmly and bravely, "Then, doctor, we will take that chance."

Gen. Arthur was in New York when the news reached him late at night that the president had passed away. Among those who joined Gen. Arthur at that solemn moment were Elihu Root, now a member of the McKinley cabinet. Mr. Blaine and his associates of the Garfield cabinet had telegraphed Gen. Arthur to take the oath of office. At two o'clock on the morning of Sept. 21, Gen. Arthur took the oath of office, which was administered by a local official of the city of New York.

NO ACTING PRESIDENT.

The course pursued during the lingering illness of President Garfield appears to be a precedent directly applicable to the present condition of affairs. President Garfield without doubt was incapacitated to perform any executive duty, although he was himself in a certain sense. There was no acting president at this period, and, in fact, the people did not desire one during such a critical emergency.

The lessons of Garfield's death led to the enactment of a law on Jan. 19, 86, providing a mode of succession to the presidency. This established that in case of the death or disability of both the president and vice-president the succession should devolve upon members of the cabinet in the following order:

Secretary of state, secretary of treasury, attorney-general, postmaster-general, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior.

The new law made no constructing of "disability." An important provision of this law is that whenever the powers and duties of the presidency shall devolve upon any of the persons named, that is, the vice-president or members of the cabinet, if congress shall not be then in session, or if it would not meet within twenty days, then it shall be the duty of the new president to issue a proclamation convening congress in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice of the time of meeting.

LAW OF SUCCESSION.

In case the skill of the physicians at the president's side prove unavailing and the nation's chief executive passes away, Vice-President Theodore Roosevelt will become president at once. There will be no delay in administering the oath.

Until President Garfield was assassinated there was no clearly defined rule of succession. Chester A. Arthur, being vice-president when Garfield died, took the oath of president, Sept. 22, 1881, before Judge James R. Brady, of the New York supreme court. He again took the oath before Chief Justice Waite at Washington. His right to succeed to the presidency was established by the constitution. The defect in existing laws being sharply brought to the attention of congress a line of succession was adopted. This is fixed by chapter four of the acts of the forty-ninth congress, first session. After the president comes the vice-president as has been said. Then the line of succession, according to the act of congress, extends to the following in the order named: Secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, attorney-general, postmaster-general, secretary of the navy, and secretary of the interior. Since this act the office of secretary of agriculture was created.

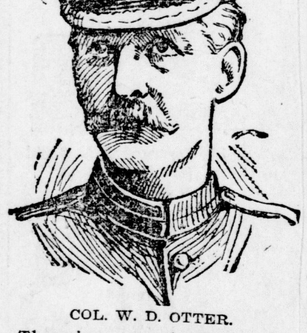

This act applies only to such cabinet officers as shall have been appointed by the advice and consent of the senate, and are eligible under the constitution to the presidency.

The acting president on taking the oath of office must convene congress, if not then in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice.

The line of succession day is:

Vice-President Roosevelt, Secretary Hay, Secretary Gage, Secretary Root, Attorney-General Knox, Postmaster-General Smith, Secretary Long, and Secretary Hitchcock.

Col. Otter's Tribute To "Foot Elm"

COL. W. D. OTTER.

There is no man in Canada better able to give expert evidence on military matters, or anything connected with the welfare of the soldier than Colonel Otter, who commanded with such distinction the Royal Canadian Regiment in South Africa. ANARCHISTS ARE COMING THIS WAY!

Scotland Yard Men Say a Steady Stream Has Been Flowing Toward This Country.

London, Sept. 11.—While the Secret Service men of Scotland Yard are not acquainted with either of the names Czolgosz or Nieman, they believe, as was intimated yesterday, that he has never been in Europe. They say that there has been a steady stream of European anarchists flowing towards the United States for the past six or eight months. These are mainly theorists, not active anarchists, although they are equally dangerous in influencing unbalanced desperadoes. A majority of them carefully avoid touching England when they are bound for the United States, knowing that descriptions of them would be sent to their destinations. On the other hand, there has been a considerable increase in the anarchist population of England recently, owing to the activity of the French police, who are taking measures of precaution, in view of the czar's visit. The poor foreign quarters in Soho and Tottenham Court road are kept under constant surveillance by the police. The refugees realize that they are marked and are here only on sufferance.

Weary Brainworkers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone, too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your stomach needs aid, your digestion needs a bracer, too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves; it will make you strong quickly and permanently. Sold by W. T. Strong & Co.

CHEAPEST OF ALL MEDICINES.—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the cheapest medicine ever offered to the public. The dose required in any ailment is small, and a bottle contains many doses. If it were valued at the benefit it confers it could not be purchased for many times the price asked for it, but increased consumption has simplified and cheapened its manufacture.

MISS GOLDMAN TOLD STORIES

She Denied Her Identity When Arrested.

Calls Czolgosz a Fool—Denies Plotting and Says She Never Advocated Violence.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Emma Goldman, whose speeches are alleged to have fired the brain of Leon Czolgosz, the would-be assassin of President McKinley, was arrested shortly before noon.

Miss Goldman's manner was defiant as she was led into the office of Chief of Police O'Niel, but she disclaimed all knowledge of Czolgosz and his crime, admitting only that she met him in Chicago July 12.

"Do you know that your words are what Czolgosz claims stirred him to shot the president?" she was asked.

"I do not; I never advocated violence. I scarcely knew the man."

"I was leaving for Rochester via Buffalo, when Czolgosz had a few words with me. He said he had heard me lecture in some memorial hall in Cleveland last May and that he wanted to know me.

"He said he knew I was in Chicago and looked me up. I scarcely remember anything about him save that his complexion was light."

"Then how do you know that this man is the one who tried to kill the president?"

"Oh," with a shrug of the shoulders, "I guessed that from what the newspapers say."

"What did you think when you heard that an attempt to kill the president had been made?" the woman was asked.

With a wave of her hands and another shrug of the shoulders she answered disdainfully.

"I THOUGHT, OH, THE FOOL."

The prisoner's manner had been growing more and more excited, although she made an evident effort to control herself. In this she finally succeeded, and launched into a discourse of the teachings of anarchy.

She declared that anarchy did not teach men to do the act which has made Czolgosz despised and hated the world over.

"We work against the system, and education is our watchword," she said.

"It was early last July when I came to Chicago to visit the Isaaks family" she continued, in answer to interrogations concerning her whereabouts recently.

"I AM AN ANARCHIST."

"On the night of July 12 Izaaks was out of the house. The bell rang and I went to the door. The man who, I learn through the newspapers, was Czolgosz stood there. He said he wanted to see me. I was about to catch the Nickel Plate train, as I and Izaaks' daughter were about to go to Rochester. He went to the Rock Island depot with us, but I was so busy taking leave of my friends that I scarcely noticed him. It was not a time when one would want to make new friends. At the depot I had the few words with him of which I have told. That is all that passed between us.

"I am an anarchist, a student of socialism; but, nothing in anything I ever said to Leon Czolgosz knowingly would have led him to do the act which startled everybody on Friday."

"Not even in your lectures? He says your words set his brain on fire," asked the interviewer.

"Am I accountable because some crack-brained person put a wrong construction on my words?"

"Leon Czolgosz, I am convinced, planned the deed unaided and entirely alone. There is no anarchist ring which would help him.

"There may be anarchists who would murder, but there also are men in every walk of life who sometimes feel the impulse to kill.

"I do not know surely, but I think Czolgosz was one of those downtrodden men who see all the misery which the rich inflict on the poor, who think of it, who brood over it, and then in despair, resolve to strike a great blow, as they think, for the good of their fellow-men. But that is not anarchy.

PRONOUNCES THE NAME WITH EASE.

"Czolgosz (the woman pronounced the name with the greatest ease)—Czolgosz may have been inspired by me; but, if he was, he took the wrong way of showing it."

Police officials are not entirely satisfied with Miss Goldman's story.

When Capt. Schuettler and Detective Hertz discovered her at the home of one Norris, at 303 Sheffield avenue, she denied her identity.

"Hello, Miss Goldman," said the captain, as he entered the parlor. "Are you glad to see me?"

"I'm not Miss Goldman; I'm a Swedish woman, and my name is Lena Larson," answered the woman, endeavoring to imitate the Swedish dialect.

"All right I speak Swedish myself," said the officer, as he poured out a few questions in the Norse tongue. Miss Goldman did not answer, affecting to misunderstand. Detective Hertz meanwhile had been investigating, and had discovered a pen with the name Emma Goldman engraved thereon.

"What does this mean?" shouted Capt. Schuettler, holding the tell-tale article before its owner's eyes.

"It means that the game is up," she said.

She then admitted her identity and accompanied the police to the office of Chief O'Neill.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION

Lesson Learned From the Death of Garfield.

Circumstances Attending His Assassination and the Previous Murder of Abraham Lincoln.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

Three presidents of the United States have fallen at the hands of assassins within the last thirty-six years. President Lincoln was shot at 9 o'clock on the night of April 14, 1865, and died at 7:22 on the morning of April 15, 1865. President Garfield was shot on the morning of July 2, 1881, and after a lingering illness died on Sept. 20 1881.

The shooting of President McKinley has occurred just six months and two days after his second accession to the presidency.

From the moment President Lincoln received the bullet of Wilkes Booth there was no prospect of his recovery. His devoted wife and members of the cabinet remained with him through that memorable night, when all Washington was in a fever of excitement over the attempts on the life of Lincoln and Seward.

GARFIELD SHOT IN WASHINGTON

President Garfield was shot at the Pennsylvania railroad depot in Washington as he and Secretary Blaine were about to depart for Long Branch. As the two distinguished men were passing through the ladies' waiting-room two pistol shots rang out upon the open air. Mr. Blaine saw a man running and started toward him but immediately saw the president arch forward and fall. A moment afterward the assassin, Charles J. Guiteau was discovered and was rescued with difficulty from the infuriated mob. When, in answer to his eager question his physicians informed Mr. Garfield had one chance in a hundred of living, he said calmly and bravely, "Then, doctor, we will take that chance."

Gen. Arthur was in New York when the news reached him late at night that the president had passed away. Among those who joined Gen. Arthur at that solemn moment were Elihu Root, now a member of the McKinley cabinet. Mr. Blaine and his associates of the Garfield cabinet had telegraphed Gen. Arthur to take the oath of office. At two o'clock on the morning of Sept. 21, Gen. Arthur took the oath of office, which was administered by a local official of the city of New York.

NO ACTING PRESIDENT.

The course pursued during the lingering illness of President Garfield appears to be a precedent directly applicable to the present condition of affairs. President Garfield without doubt was incapacitated to perform any executive duty, although he was himself in a certain sense. There was no acting president at this period, and, in fact, the people did not desire one during such a critical emergency.

The lessons of Garfield's death led to the enactment of a law on Jan. 19, 1886, providing a mode of succession to the presidency. This established that in case of the death or disability of both the president and vice-president the succession should devolve upon members of the cabinet in the following order:

Secretary of state, secretary of treasury, attorney-general, postmaster-general, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior.

The new law made no constructing of "disability." An important proviso of this law is that whenever the powers and duties of the presidency shall devolve upon any of the persons named—that is, the vice-president or members of the cabinet, if congress shall not be then in session, or if it would not meet within twenty days, then it shall be the duty of the new president to issue a proclamation convening congress in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice of the time of meeting.

LAW OF SUCCESSION.

In case the skill of the physicians at the president's side prove unavailing and the nation's chief executive passes away, Vice-President Theodore Roosevelt will become president at once. There will be no delay in administering the oath.

Until President Garfield was assassinated there was no clearly defined rule of succession. Chester A. Arthur, being vice-president when Garfield died, took the oath of president, Sept. 22, 1881, before Judge James R. Brady, of the New York supreme court. He again took the oath before Chief Justice Waite at Washington. His right to succeed to the presidency was established by the constitution. The defect in existing laws being sharply brought to the attention of congress a line of succession was adopted. This is fixed by chapter four of the acts of the forty-ninth congress, first session. After the president comes the vice-president as has been said. Then the line of succession, according to the act of congress, extends to the following in the order named: Secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, attorney-general, postmaster-general, secretary of the navy, and secretary of the interior. Since this act the office of secretary of agriculture was created.

This act applies only to such cabinet officers as shall have been appointed by the advice and consent of the senate, and are eligible under the constitution to the presidency.

The acting president on taking the oath of office must convene congress, if not then in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice.

The line of succession day is:

Vice-President Roosevelt, Secretary Hay, Secretary Gage, Secretary Root, Attorney-General Knox, Postmaster-General Smith, Secretary Long, and Secretary Hitchcock.

ANARCHISTS ARE COMING THIS WAY!

Scotland Yard Men Say a Steady Stream Has Been Flowing Toward This Country.

London, Sept. 11.—While the Secret Service men of Scotland Yard are not acquainted with either of the names Czolgosz or Nieman, they believe, as was intimated yesterday, that he has never been in Europe. They say that there has been a steady stream of European anarchists flowing towards the United States for the past six or eight months. These are mainly theorists, not active anarchists, although they are equally dangerous in influencing unbalanced desperadoes. A majority of them carefully avoid touching England when they are bound for the United States, knowing that descriptions of them would be sent to their destinations. On the other hand, there has been a considerable increase in the anarchist population of England recently, owing to the activity of the French police, who are taking measures of precaution, in view of the czar's visit. The poor foreign quarters in Soho and Tottenham Court road are kept under constant surveillance by the police. The refugees realize that they are marked and are here only on sufferance.

Weary Brainworkers

Fagged out, ideas come as slowly as molasses. You think of things just a minute or two too late. Snap's gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure—that's gone, too. The doctor would tell you that you are run down, not eating enough nor digesting enough. Your stomach needs aid, your digestion needs a bracer, too. Your blood requires Phosphorus and Iron that it may be formed readily. Now Ferrozone is a wonderful nerve bracer and blood maker. It's food for the blood and nerves; it will make you strong quickly and permanently. Sold by W. T. Strong & Co.

CHEAPEST OF ALL MEDICINES.—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the cheapest medicine now offered to the public. The dose is limited in any ailment to small, and a bottle contains many doses. If it were valued at the benefit it confers it could not be purchased for many times the price asked for it, but increased consumption has simplified and cheapened its manufacture.

SOCIALIST EXPELLED BY PRINTERS' UNION

Candidate for Governor in a Fight With Syracuse Typos.

Syracuse, Sept. 11.—Charles H. Corregan, the Socialist candidate for governor of New York State in the last state election, is involved in a fight with Typographical Union No. 55, of which he has been a member up to a few weeks ago. Mr. Corregan was charged with having uttered in his socialistic speeches sentiments derogatory to the union of which he was a member, and from which he had a working card. He was suspended from the union until a fine was paid. He paid no attention to this, and was expelled and discharged from Lyman Bros., where he was employed as a printer. This was done at the instigation of the union.

Mr. Corregan, through his attorney, procured a temporary injunction from Justice Scripture at Rome, restraining the union from interfering with his employment. The writ is returnable on Sept. 21. He also asks for a writ of mandamus to compel the return to him of his working card, and sues the officers of the union for $3,000 damages. The suit is against Arthur A. Hay, president of the union, and Thomas M. Cafney, Andrew J. Moynihan, Fred H. Brown, James McCormick, and John H. Hatch as executive committee, and John J. Gilson.

Corregan was fined $50 and to stand suspended until it was paid. He says that the union printers in the office with him struck and Lyman Bros. were forced to discharge him. The local union has also preferred charges against other Socialists, and the fight promises to be a warm one.

JOURNAL CARTOONS SCORED.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Central Labor Union at its weekly meeting passed resolutions denouncing the shooting of the president and expressing sympathy with Mrs. McKinley. Then the delegates went on to talk of the Journal and its editorials and cartoons.

"Those cartoons are calculated to inspire hatred and contempt for this government," said Delegate Farrell. "How far they are responsible for spreading a feeling of discontent I cannot undertake to say, but they are bound to have a bad effect on weak-minded people. I am in favor of the liberty of the press, but not of license. When the anti-cartoon bill was before the legislature I thought it a blow at the liberty of the press, but since then that liberty has been shamefully abused. If the bill were introduced now, I, for one, would be strongly in favor of it."

CARRIE NATION RAVES

Says She Has No Sympathy for President McKinley.

New York, Sept. 11.—Carrie Nation, in the course of her afternoon lecture at Steeplechase Park, Coney Island, on Sunday, narrowly escaped violence. After a characteristic harange denouncing police, saloons and dance halls, she unexpectedly switched off onto an attack against the president.

"I have no cares for this McKinley," she said. "I have no sympathy for the friend of the brewers. I have to ——".

The rest was drowned out by hisses and hooting from her audience. She started on the same subject three times more, but each time was interrupted by the crowd. At the conclusion of her ravings several indignant citizens crowded around her to remonstrate. But she only started off again and it was necessary for her manager to lead her to her hotel in order to avert trouble. At her evening lecture she again referred to the president in a disrespectful way. This time a young man in the back row got up and called for three cheers for McKinley. They were given with a will.

Mrs. Nation came very near spending Sunday in jail for her little cigar-showcase smashing display of the day before. In the Coney Island police court yesterday morning Magistrate Voorhees set her trial for this morning on the ground that he disposes of no cases on Sunday. She was handcuffed and dragged to the Raymond street jail van, containing about 25 other prisoners in various states of intoxication. Just as she was about to be driven off her bondsman rushed into court, and after some discussion she was released on bail.

Loss of Appetite

Is commonly gradual; one dish after another is set aside till few remain. These are not eaten with much relish, and are often so light as not to afford much nourishment.

Loss of appetite is one of the first indications that the system is running down, and there is nothing else so good for it as Hood's Sarsaparilla—the best of all tonics.

The Advantage of Steadiness.

It is rather interesting, and not without significance, to observe, in times of national danger or excitement—as, for example, when an attempt has been made to assassinate a president—how instinctively the people at such times attach importance to the utterances not of the frothy, but of the more steady-going section of the newspaper press. At such a time, journals like the New York Evening Post, the Boston Herald, the Washington Star, and the Springfield Republican do much to steady and form right public opinion. The New York Evening Post (William Cullen Bryant's old paper) in its last issue pronounces against the wild utterances of some of the wilder writers and speakers who have dealt with the shooting of President McKinley. As the Post says, hysteria produces anarchy, and apparently anarchy in turn produces hysteria. "If we cannot deal with anarchism and anarchists," says the Post, "without having an attack of national hysteria, without overturning our constitutional prohibition of cruel and unusual punishment, and without lynching every man whose tongue is set on fire of hell, this republic is a failure." And the New York Tribune, after quoting President McKinley's "Let no one hurt him!" goes on to say:

"It is a fortunate thing that law has triumphed over the instincts of the crowd in this case. It may mark the turning point in the evil tide of mob rule as well as in the toleration of anarchy. Mob rule is a form of anarchy. The same lawless spirit which justifies killing and burning of hated individuals works in the mind of him who hates existing social systems to justify murdering heads of state."

The Welcome to the Duke.

We notice the statement in Le Soleil that "feus de joie" are to be lighted on the heights, opposite Quebec, at 50 different places, as a welcome to the Duke of Cornwall and York. Coming as he does to Quebec a few days from now, the son of King Edward VII. will receive his first welcome to Canada from a part of the country where most of the people are of French race and language, and from what we read in their journals, the welcome will be both cordial and demonstrative. It was stated in the papers that in South Africa the Duke and Duchess received presents from Boers, but these particular Boers were prisoners of war. One cannot help contrasting the condition of the two countries in South Africa; two different and yet nearly allied races have been in a death grapple to decide the question of supremacy; in Canada two different races have solved the problem of living peaceably side by side. This royal visit is another symbol of the fact that has been so much insisted on of late, that peoples of different languages and religions throughout the world can be bound into one commonwealth through loyalty to the same idea's of liberty, justice and humanity. We feel sure that the Duke and Duchess are noble people, worthy of being honored for their own sakes, but their tour is more than a personal matter; it is part of the "imperial programme," and is meant to give another sign of the unity of the British Empire. The imperialism that we all desire is that which will give stability to the throne by securing peace and prosperity for the empire.

Humors of Railroading.

A more than usually entertaining report has been made on the railway through Uganda, East Africa, by Sir C. Elliot. The commissioner tells of amusing scenes occurring daily at the stations on this tropical line. He tells us that on the platform naked savages peer and grin with good-humored curiosity, their nudity rendered more conspicuous by the fact that they wear short cloaks hanging down their backs, and carry elaborate ornaments, often including old jam pots, in the slits cut in their ears. Near the stations, the ostriches and the barnyard fowl almost intermingle. The obstinate rhinoceros, who assimilates new ideas more slowly than other beasts, sometimes disputes the passage of the train in a narrow cutting and derails it, though he perishes in the attempt. A troop of more intelligent elephants occasionally occupy a station, and in their curiosity ravage the booking office and take tickets, which cannot be accounted for afterwards.

It is all very primitive, and one is not astonished to find Commissioner Elliot expressing himself as skeptical about the value of a railroad without freight or passengers. It is just possible, Sir C. Elliot argues, that too much attention has been paid to the building of the line, and too little to the development of the country. Twenty-five million dollars have been spent on the railway, and only $2,225,000 on all the rest of the protectorate. The moral is that unless the country is settled by a higher type of humanity than is described above, the railway can never pay, and the trouble is that a very large portion of the territory, because of its tropical heat and unhealthfulness, is unfit for the settlement of Europeans.

Other Presidents.

The bearing of President McKinley during the recent attempt on his life, marks him out a hero. His presence of mind did not fail him, and he seemed the most self-possessed and collected actor in what will be a memorable drama. His first thought was not for himself, but for his devoted invalid wife. He next begged that no harm be done the assassin. His heart was shown in his solicitude for his wife; his lofty moral excellence, in his concern that his assailant should escape mob violence; and his courtesy, in his apologetic expression to the highest official of the Pan-American that he should have been the means of overclouding the prospects of the Exposition.

But William McKinley is only one of the many noble types of manhood that have held the Chief Executive of the United States. That country has been very fortunate in electing men whose names have been an honor to the annals of the nation's story. The names of Garfield, Harrison, Cleveland, as well as McKinley, are not unworthy of a place alongside those of Washington, Lincoln or Adams.

The fortunate choice of such men goes only to show that democracy is, after all, the best workable form of government. Too much faith cannot be placed in the people. At times their voice seems uncertain, but ultimately the power of sovereignty manifests itself in a way clear and unmistakeable.

The people of the United States, we repeat, have no reason to be ashamed of the personnel and character of their long line of presidents.

Private Schools.

In looking over the academic advertisements at the present season, one is struck by the increase in the number of private schools and colleges in Ontario. This is a development that implies, in a country, a prosperous, settled condition, the growth of families that have some means as well as divergence of opinion as to the character of education required. It may, perhaps, be welcomed as showing an advance towards culture and a revolt from uniformity. That point we are not at present prepared to discuss; we simply note the fact as worthy of attention, as if it continues to grow in the same proportion it must have some effect on our national system of education. We can imagine many reasons why people, who have the means, desire something different from that which is provided in the regular schools. We do not dwell upon the fact that, in a democratic country there are some who do not wish their children to grow up in close contact with the masses of children of the land in which they live. This feeling can scarcely be met by argument, but we are glad to note the statement, that in the United States many of the best people, best in every way, are determined that their children shall meet on equal footing in the schools with the children of the people. Such children, who have the advantage of refined home training would, in that case, both get and give good influence. But there are other reasons—the desire for more religious instruction, desire for discipline, that is for a school that does the work of a home as well as a school, objection to have boys and girls attending the same schools, and meeting in the same classes, the need that some pupils have of more individual attention of special tutoring to enable them to keep up with the standard. We dare say that all these influences are working, and will continue to work.

As the province increases in wealth and refinement, we may perhaps expect an increase of such. Those of them that are well conducted will be useful auxiliaries of the general system, but what statesmen must see to is, that the national system is well maintained, so that the children of the people shall have kept open to them the roads that lead to intellectual culture of every kind.

A Novel Tally.

[Hamilton Times.]

One swallow does not make a summer, but one little incident at Quebec last week may suggest a partial explanation of the census returns. Two ladies were introduced, one belonging to Quebec, the other to Ontario. They were of the same age, and had been married the same number of years. The Quebec lady had fifteen children, the Ontario lady three. That's all there is to the story.

KOMOKA.

Dorothy Alway, the young daughter of Reuben Alway, of Komoka, was accidentally shot by her brother yesterday morning.

With some friends, he was preparing for a shooting trip, when by some unfortunate mishap his gun was fired.

Dorothy was standing ten or fifteen yards away. The bullet struck on the upper left jaw. It broke out three teeth and wounded the mouth terribly. The bullet has not yet been located.

For two hours she bled profusely, and has since suffered much, and though extremely weak, is apparently not dangerously injured.

EXHIBITS AT THE WESTERN.

Products of the Garden, the Dairy and the Apiary.

Magnificent Collection of Agricultural Products To Be Seen Now—Swine Exhibit

Those who are interested in the results of agriculture in its broadest sense—including horticulture, floriculture, the apiary, dairy, poultry and stock-raising, as well as the production of cereals—will find abundant objects of interest in the various agricultural exhibits at the Western Fair. In some instances, notably vegetables, the number of specimens is not so large as in former years, but the quality has been maintained throughout. In the floral department the display is particularly fine. The number of pot-plants is larger and more varied than the exhibits of former years. The collections of geraniums are of good color and well-grown. Other specimens of pot-plants comprise lantanas, abutilons, begonias, alternantheras, carnations, caladiums, varieties of ferns, cannas, fuschias, acalypha and coleus or foliage plants. The exhibit of cut flowers also not only sustains the reputation of past years, but shows that in this, as in other departments, considerable progress has been made. The floral designs show great taste and skill in arrangement on the part of the designer. Among the exhibitors in this department are the following: Messrs. J. Gammage & Sons, A. Pegler, E. Wells, Frank Newton, of Woodstock, T. C. Mills and J. Powlitzki.

THE GARDEN.

It is this department that has been chiefly affected by the July drought. Although for the most part the quality is sustained throughout, there is a marked shortage in the number of specimens. A large number of entries were taken out, but, perhaps owing to the extreme scarcity of first-class specimens, were not all made use of. The falling off in quantity will be felt more in garden roots and tubers. The grapes, peaches, plums, pears, etc., are of excellent quality and appearance.

THE APIARY.

In proximity to flowers and fruit will naturally be found the work of the bee, since the former must of necessity constitute the resource of this indefatigable little worker. In the main agricultural hall, not far from the above-named exhibits, are to be found golden pyramids of honey. The exhibitors are four in number. J. B. Aches & Sons, of Poplar Hill, who have had exhibits at the Western Fair for a number of years past, are on hand again with a splendid showing. Wm. Coleman, of Birr; George Kemball, of Bryanston, and Mrs. Rodd, of this city, have also added interest to this department. Mrs. Rodd's exhibit contains a showcase of preserved fruit, pastry and so on, showing the domestic uses for which honey may be employed.

THE DAIRY.

The dairy department containing cheese from twenty-two different factories—cheese that, in the estimation of competent judges, is as fine in quality as has ever been exhibited at the Western Fair.

NEW ONTARIO.

An important feature of the fair is the New Ontario exhibit. Following out the lines of their policy to aid in the development and colonization of Ontario, both old and new, and seeking to take advantage of the high wave of prosperity now sweeping over the country, the government, represented by Hon. E. J. Davis, commissioner of crown lands, has established an information bureau under the direction of Mr. Thomas Southworth, director of colonization. Mr. W. G. Fee, the representative of the Clergue syndicate, is in attendance, and willing to give information as regards his department. The exhibit is accessible day and night, and information may be had by intending settlers or all other inquirers, touching on every particular relating to the new district, which has been so widely spoken of of late. All the latest pamphlets and literature, containing the inexhaustible funds of information as to the district and its resources, and which provide food for study and thought in the leisure hours of home, are to be had. A great deal has been said of the tremendous grain resources of New Ontario, and this is fully illustrated by the fine agricultural exhibits of products of the district in the agricultural hall. Here Mr. R. A. Burriss, of the department of the interior, which is working in conjunction with the crown lands department, has charge. In the exhibit are shown excellent samples of wheat, rye, oats and other grains, and 150 examples of grasses, which are excellent in quality and growth. There are also pictures of farms and scenes throughout the district. The grains are particularly fine, of good growth, heavy in the ear, and convey in a most forcible manner, the idea of the richness of New Ontario, as an agricultural country. One specially remarkable feature is several stalks of speltz, a hybrid grain used for stock feed. This is said to be a new grain to Canada, but wherever grown in New Ontario has yielded about 70 bushels to the acre. These specimens are the first ever shown at any fair in the country. It is understood, on good authority, that this exhibit and the bureau of information will be sent to other fairs throughout the country, and thus give a widespread publicity in Old Ontario of the resources and prospects of the New.

SWINE.

The showing of thoroughbred swine is remarkably good. The principal aim among swine breeders has been to produce a bacon hog, and through a process of artificial selection that aim has been accomplished to a greater or less degree in most instances. J. C. Nichol, of Hubrey, Ont., has a fine drove of Tamworths, 19 in number, which he has just returned from showing at the Pan-American Exhibition at Buffalo. In Mr. Nicholl's pens on the Western Fair grounds are to be seen a boar that took first prize against competitors from both Canada and the United States. Out of eight possible prizes offered at the Pan-American, Mr. Nicholl carried off seven. W. S. Hawshaw & Sons, of Glanworth, Nelson Wiley, of Wisbeach, and N. M. Blain, of St. George, Ont., also have fine specimens of Tamworths on exhibition.

William N. Tape, of Bentpath, is also on hand with a fine lot of Duroc Jerseys. Mr. Tape is successor to Tape Bros., of Ridgetown, Ont., under whose name the Duroc Jersey stock was for a number of years exhibited at the various exhibitions in Ontario.

H. George, of Crampton, and W. E. Wright of Glanworth, are the principal exhibitors of Chester Whites.

George Green, of Fairview, Jas. McEwen, of Wanstead and George A. Dewar, of Kerich, have fine Berkshires.

D. C. Flat & Sons, of Millgrove, Ont., by means of selecting suitable types, have succeeded in producing excellent examples of Yorkshires. Their swine have proved very successful prize-winners wherever they have been shown. Other exhibitors in this class were, H. J. Davis, of Woodstock; Brethour & Saunders, of Burford, Ont., and Joseph Featherston & Son, of Streetsville, Ont.

W. & J. Smith, of Fairfield Plains, Ont., have made a very creditable showing of Poland Chinas.

TUESDAY'S ATTRACTIONS.

The special attractions in the ring yesterday attracted many thousands of people, who went away delighted with the performance. All the clever performers on Mr. W. J. Reid's list were present, and they were greeted with a perfect hurricane of applause.

The speeding events included the free-for-all, trotting and pacing, mile, and a mixed race, trotters and pacers, mile heats. In the free-for-all Richard A. was drawn after the first heat. Paddy D. won both heats, but Maggie Usher and Fred Wilkes made him trave to do it. Summary:

NOTEWORTHY EXHIBITS.

A Monster Saurian.

One of the premier attractions is the man-eating alligator, Jumbo, found just south of the fair offices. Jumbo left his native wilds in Africa a couple of months ago, and still longs for a mouthful of plump native, as he snaps fiercely at his dusky attendant. Jumbo would create great consternation if he got loose in the crowds, but he is securely chained, and there is no danger to sightseers. Jumbo is accompanied by two smaller Florida alligators. Visitors should certainly see this saurian monster.

Park's Catsup Flavor.

Coming no more than it is justly entitled to, to say that Park's Catsup Flavor surpassed by none, and is so easily made. While at the exhibition call on the agent, taste a sample of it, and hear of its merits. So easily made, all should use it.

This for the Housewife.

At the foot of the first stair in the main building, at the exhibition, the merits of Park's Catsup Flavor is shown by tasting the catsup made by the Catsup Preserver and Flavor. Call at the exhibition call and see it for yourself.

A Good Steam Valve.

The London Brass Works Company show by their new — improved steam valve, brought this class of goods within measurable distance of perfection. The valve they exhibit is the invention of the foreman of their works, and is known as Walters' Renewable Seat Valve. It is something entirely new, and is without doubt the valve of the age. To see it is to appreciate it. To use it is to adopt it in preference to all others. The company have first-class testimonials. The seat is detachable without disconnecting it from its pipe connections, and the worn-out seat can be replaced with a new one within a couple of minutes, thus practically making a new valve.

The valve has been subjected to high pressure test and first-class engineers say it is the best, most useful and economical valve in the market.

Penalty of Living Too Long

[New York World.]

The death in poverty and obscurity of ex-Governor William E. Newell, of New Jersey, as narrated in the World, was another illustration of the irony of fate.

Here was a man who had "sat in Congress beside Abraham Lincoln," who was governor of New Jersey from 1857 to 1860, was afterward for several years governor of the Territory of Washington and was "the father of the government life-saving service."

He was an educated physician, and his faculties and character were so well preserved that he served as foreman of the grand jury last June whose action closed the gambling houses at Long Branch.

Yet this man who had "done the state some service" died in poverty in a small bedroom in a cheap boarding-house, and his body was rescued from ignominious neglect in a public morgue by the creditable action of Adjt.-Gen. Olyphant. He had the coffin draped in the American flag, removed temporarily to the State House and given a guard of honor from the National Guard, after which it was placed in the receiving vault of the cemetery.

To complete the grim irony of this life's story it is added that there is a possibility that the body will be buried in Potter's Field unless the State of New Jersey intervenes.

Gov. Newell's old frend, Abraham Lincoln was fond of quoting the refrain of an old poem:

O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

Why, indeed?

For pimples, blotches, bad complexion, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine to take—it has established this fact.

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANOS... ARE SUPREME.

They have no rival—they are peerless.

Other pianos are spoken of as being "as good as the Heintzman & Co. pianos," but a great author has well said that imitation is the sincerest kind of flattery.

The prestige of half a century stands behind this unapproachable piano; but along with this experience is a measure of twentieth century progressiveness that, like the piano itself, has no competition. Albani has well said: "The Heintzman & Co. piano excels any piano I have ever used."

Then, as the sun sank to rest, her head sank likewise—on George's shoulder—and all was still.—Chicago Tribune.

The Advantage of Steadiness.

It is rather interesting, and not without significance, to observe, in times of national danger or excitement—as, for example, when an attempt has been made to assassinate a president—how instinctively the people at such times attach importance to the utterances not of the frothy, but of the more steady-going section of the newspaper press. At such a time, journals like the New York Evening Post, the Boston Herald, the Washington Star, and the Springfield Republican do much to steady and form right public opinion. The New York Evening Post (William Cullen Bryant's old paper) in its last issue pronounces against the wild utterances of some of the wilder writers and speakers who have dealt with the shooting of President McKinley. As the Post says, hysteria produces anarchy, and apparently anarchy in turn produces hysteria. "If we cannot deal with anarchism and anarchists," says the Post, "without having an attack of national hysteria, without overturning our constitutional prohibition of cruel and unusual punishment, and without lynching every man whose tongue is set on fire of hell, this republic is a failure." And the New York Tribune, after quoting President McKinley's "Let no one hurt him!" goes on to say:

"It is a fortunate thing that law has triumphed over the instincts of the crowd in this case. It may mark the turning point in the evil tide of mob rule as well as in the toleration of anarchy. Mob rule is a form of anarchy. The same lawless spirit which justifies killing and burning of hated individuals works in the mind of him who hates existing social systems to justify murdering heads of state."

The Welcome to the Duke.

We notice the statement in Le Soleil that "feus de joie" are to be lighted on the heights, opposite Quebec, at 50 different places, as a welcome to the Duke of Cornwall and York. Coming as he does to Quebec a few days from now, the son of King Edward VII. will receive his first welcome to Canada from a part of the country where most of the people are of French race and language, and from what we read in their journals, the welcome will be both cordial and demonstrative. It was stated in the papers that in South Africa the Duke and Duchess received presents from Boers, but these particular Boers were prisoners of war. One cannot help contrasting the condition of the two countries in South Africa; two different and yet nearly allied races have been in a death grapple to decide the question of supremacy; in Canada two different races have solved the problem of living peaceably side by side. This royal visit is another symbol of the fact that has been so much insisted on of late, that peoples of different languages and religions throughout the world can be bound into one commonwealth through loyalty to the same ideals of liberty, justice and humanity. We feel sure that the Duke and Duchess are noble people, worthy of being honored for their own sakes, but their tour is more than a personal matter; it is part of the "imperial programme," and is meant to give another sign of the unity of the British Empire. The imperialism that we all desire is that which will give stability to the throne by securing peace and prosperity for the empire.

Humors of Railroading.

A more than usually entertaining report has been made on the railway through Uganda, East Africa, by Sir C. Elliot. The commissioner tells of amusing scenes occurring daily at the stations on this tropical line. He tells us that on the platform naked savages peer and grin with good-humored curiosity, their nudity rendered more conspicuous by the fact that they wear short cloaks hanging down their backs, and carry elaborate ornaments, often including old jam pots, in the slits cut in their ears. Near the stations, the ostriches and the barnyard fowl almost intermingle. The obstinate rhinoceros, who assimilates new ideas more slowly than other beasts, sometimes disputes the passage of the train in a narrow cutting and derails it, though he perishes in the attempt. A troop of more intelligent elephants occasionally occupy a station, and in their curiosity ravage the booking office and take tickets, which cannot be accounted for afterwards.

It is all very primitive, and one is not astonished to find Commissioner Elliot expressing himself as skeptical about the value of a railroad without freight or passengers. It is just possible, Sir C. Elliot argues, that too much attention has been paid to the building of the line, and too little to the development of the country. Twenty-five million dollars have been spent on the railway, and only $2,225,000 on all the rest of the protectorate. The moral is that unless the country is settled by a higher type of humanity than is described above, the railway can never pay, and the trouble is that a very large portion of the territory, because of its tropical heat and unhealthfulness, is unfit for the settlement of Europeans.

Other Presidents.

The bearing of President McKinley during the recent attempt on his life, marks him out a hero. His presence of mind did not fail him, and he seemed the most self-possessed and collected actor in what will be a memorable drama. His first thought was not for himself, but for his devoted invalid wife. He next begged that no harm be done the assassin. His heart was shown in his solicitude for his wife; his lofty moral excellence, in his concern that his assailant should escape mob violence; and his courtesy, in his apologetic expression to the highest official of the Pan-American that he should have been the means of overclouding the prospects of the Exposition.

But William McKinley is only one of the many noble types of manhood that have held the Chief Executive of the United States. That country has been very fortunate in electing men whose names have been an honor to the annals of the nation's story. The names of Garfield, Harrison, Cleveland, as well as McKinley, are not unworthy of a place alongside those of Washington, Lincoln or Adams.

The fortunate choice of such men goes only to show that democracy is, after all, the best workable form of government. Too much faith cannot be placed in the people. At times their voice seems uncertain, but ultimately the power of sovereignty manifests itself in a way clear and unmistakeable.

The people of the United States, we repeat, have no reason to be ashamed of the personnel and character of their long line of presidents.

Private Schools.

In looking over the academic advertisements at the present season, one is struck by the increase in the number of private schools and colleges in Ontario. This is a development that implies, in a country, a prosperous, settled condition, the growth of families that have some means as well as divergence of opinion as to the character of education required. It may, perhaps, be welcomed as showing an advance towards culture and a revolt from uniformity. That point we are not at present prepared to discuss; we simply note the fact as worthy of attention, as if it continues to grow in the same proportion it must have some effect on our national system of education. We can imagine many reasons why people, who have the means, desire something different from that which is provided in the regular schools. We do not dwell upon the fact that, in a democratic country there are some who do not wish their children to grow up in close contact with the masses of children of the land in which they live. This feeling can scarcely be met by argument, but we are glad to note the statement, that in the United States many of the best people, best in every way, are determined that their children shall meet on equal footing in the schools with the children of the people. Such children, who have the advantage of refined home training would, in that case, both get and give good influence. But there are other reasons—the desire for more religious instruction, desire for discipline, that is for a school that does the work of a home as well as a school, objection to have boys and girls attending the same schools, and meeting in the same classes, the need that some pupils have of more individual attention of special tutoring to enable them to keep up with the standard. We dare say that all these influences are working, and will continue to work.

As the province increases in wealth and refinement, we may perhaps expect an increase of such. Those of them that are well conducted will be useful auxiliaries of the general system, but what statesmen must see to is, that the national system is well maintained, so that the children of the people shall have kept open to them the roads that lead to intellectual culture of every kind.

A Novel Tally.

[Hamilton Times.]

One swallow does not make a summer, but one little incident at Quebec last week may suggest a partial explanation of the census returns. Two ladies were introduced, one belonging to Quebec, the other to Ontario. They were of the same age, and had been married the same number of years. The Quebec lady had fifteen children, the Ontario lady three. That's all there is to the story.

KOMOKA.

Dorothy Alway, the young daughter of Reuben Alway, of Komoka, was accidentally shot by her brother yesterday morning.

With some friends, he was preparing for a shooting trip, when by some unfortunate mishap his gun was fired.

Dorothy was standing ten or fifteen yards away. The bullet struck on the upper left jaw. It broke out three teeth and wounded the mouth terribly. The bullet has not yet been located.

For two hours she bled profusely, and has since suffered much, and though extremely weak, is apparently not dangerously injured.

EXHIBITS AT THE WESTERN.

Products of the Garden, the Dairy and the Apiary.

Magnificent Collection of Agricultural Products To Be Seen Now—Swine Exhibit

Those who are interested in the results of agriculture in its broadest sense—including horticulture, floriculture, the apiary, dairy, poultry and stock-raising, as well as the production of cereals—will find abundant objects of interest in the various agricultural exhibits at the Western Fair. In some instances, notably vegetables, the number of specimens is not so large as in former years, but the quality has been maintained throughout. In the floral department the display is particularly fine. The number of pot-plants is larger and more varied than the exhibits of former years. The collections of geraniums are of good color and well-grown. Other specimens of pot-plants comprise lantanas, abutilions, begonias, alternantheras, carnations, caladiums, varieties of ferns, cannas, fuschias, acalypha and coleus or foliage plants. The exhibit of cut flowers also not only sustains the reputation of past years, but shows that in this, as in other departments, considerable progress has been made. The floral designs show great taste and skill in arrangement on the part of the designer. Among the exhibitors in this department are the following: Messrs. J. Gammage & Sons, A. Pegler, E. Wells, Frank Newton, of Woodstock, T. C. Mills and J. Powlitzki.

THE GARDEN.

It is this department that has been chiefly affected by the July drought. Although for the most part the quality is sustained throughout, there is a marked shortage in the number of specimens. A large number of entries were taken out, but, perhaps owing to the extreme scarcity of first-class specimens, were not all made use of. The falling off in quantity will be felt more in garden roots and tubers. The grapes, peaches, plums, pears, etc., are of excellent quality and appearance.

THE APIARY.

In proximity to flowers and fruit will naturally be found the work of the bee, since the former must of necessity constitute the resource of this indefatigable little worker. In the main agricultural hall, not far from the abovenamed exhibits, are to be found golden pyramids of honey. The exhibitors are four in number. J. B. Aches & Sons, of Poplar Hill, who have had exhibits at the Western Fair for a number of years past, are on hand again with a splendid showing. Wm. Coleman, of Birr; George Kemball, of Bryanston, and Mrs. Rodd, of this city, have also added interest to this department. Mrs. Rodd's exhibit contains a showcase of preserved fruit, pastry and so on, showing the domestic uses for which honey may be employed.

THE DAIRY.

The dairy department contains cheese from twenty-two different factories—cheese that, in the estimation of competent judges, is as fine in quality as has ever been exhibited at the Western Fair.

NEW ONTARIO.

An important feature of the fair is the New Ontario exhibit. Following out the lines of their policy to aid in the development and colonization of Ontario, both old and new, and seeking to take advantage of the high wave of prosperity now sweeping over the country, the government, represented by Hon. E. J. Davis, commissioner of crown lands, has established an information bureau under the direction of Mr. Thomas Southworth, director of colonization. Mr. W. G. Fee, the representative of the Clergue syndicate, is in attendance, and willing to give information as regards his department. The exhibit is accessible day and night, and information may be had by intending settlers or all other inquirers, touching on every particular relating to the new district, which has been so widely spoken of of late. All the latest pamphlets and literature, containing the inexhaustible funds of information as to the district and its resources, and which provide food for study and thought in the leisure hours of home, are to be had. A great deal has been said of the tremendous grain resources of New Ontario, and this is fully illustrated by the fine agricultural exhibits of products of the district in the agricultural hall. Here Mr. R. A. Burriss, of the department of the interior, which is working in conjunction with the crown lands department, has charge. In the exhibit are shown excellent samples of wheat, rye, oats and other grains, and 150 examples of grasses, which are excellent in quality and growth. There are also pictures of farms and scenes throughout the district. The grains are particularly fine, of good growth, heavy in the ear, and convey in a most forcible manner, the idea of the richness of New Ontario, as an agricultural country. One specially remarkable feature is several stalks of speltz, a hybrid grain used for stock feed. This is said to be a new grain to Canada, but wherever grown in New Ontario has yielded about 70 bushels to the acre. These specimens are the first ever shown at any fair in the country. It is understood, on good authority, that this exhibit and the bureau of information will be sent to other fairs throughout the country, and thus give a widespread publicity in Old Ontario of the resources and prospects of the New.

SWINE.

The showing of thoroughbred swine is remarkably good. The principal aim among swine breeders has been to produce a bacon hog, and through a process of artificial selection that aim has been accomplished to a greater or less degree in most instances. J. C. Nichol, of Hubrey, Ont., has a fine drove of Tamworths, 19 in number, which he has just returned from showing at the Pan-American Exhibition at Buffalo. In Mr. Nicholl's pens on the Western Fair grounds are to be seen a boar that took first prize against competitors from both Canada and the United States. Out of eight possible prizes offered at the Pan-American, Mr. Nicholl carried off seven. W. S. Hawshaw & Sons, of Glanworth, Nelson Wiley, of Wisbeach, and N. M. Blain, of St. George, Ont., also have fine specimens of Tamworths on exhibition.

William N. Tape, of Bentpath, is also on hand with a fine lot of Duroc Jerseys. Mr. Tape is successor to Tape Bros., of Ridgetown, Ont., under whose name the Duroc Jersey stock was for a number of years exhibited at the various exhibitions in Ontario.

H. George, of Crampton, and W. E. Wright of Glanworth, are the principal exhibitors of Chester Whites.

George Green, of Fairview, Jas. McEwen, of Wanstead and George A. Dewar, of Kerich, have fine Berkshires.

D. C. Flat & Sons, of Millgrove, Ont., by means of selecting suitable types, have succeeded in producing excellent examples of Yorkshires. Their swine have proved very successful prize-winners wherever they have been shown. Other exhibitors in this class were, H. J. Davis, of Woodstock; Brethour & Saunders, of Burford, Ont., and Joseph Featherston & Son, of Streetsville, Ont.

W. & J. Smith, of Fairfield Plains, Ont., have made a very creditable showing of Poland Chinas.

TUESDAY'S ATTRACTIONS.

The special attractions in the ring yesterday attracted many thousands of people, who went away delighted with the performance. All the clever performers on Mr. W. J. Reid's list were present, and they were greeted with a perfect hurricane of applause.

The speeding events included the free-for-all, trotting and pacing, mile, and a mixed race, trotters and pacers, mile heats. In the free-for-all Richard A. was drawn after the first heat. Paddy D. won both heats, but Maggie Usher and Fred Wilkes made him trave to do it. Summary:

NOTEWORTHY EXHIBITS.

A Monster Saurian.

One of the premier attractions is the man-eating alligator, Jumbo, found just south of the fair offices. Jumbo left his native wilds in Africa a couple of months ago, and still longs for a mouthful of plump native, as he snaps fiercely at his dusky attendant. Jumbo would create great consternation if he got loose in the crowds, but he is securely chained, and there is no danger to sightseers. Jumbo is accompanied by two smaller Florida alligators. Visitors should certainly see this saurian monster.

Park's Catsup Flavor.

Coming no more than it is justly entitled to, to say that Park's Catsup Flavor surpassed by none, and is so easily made. While at the exhibition call on the agent, taste a sample of it, and hear of its merits. So easily made, all should use it.

This for the Housewife.

At the foot of the first stair in the main building, at the exhibition, the merits of Park's Catsup Flavor is shown by tasting the catsup made by the Catsup Preserver and Flavor. While at the exhibition call and see it for yourself.

A Good Steam Valve.

The London Brass Works Company have, by their new Lubricated steam valve, brought this class of goods to a measurable distance of perfection. This valve they exhibit is the invention of the foreman of their works, and is known as Walters' Renewable Seat Valve. It is something entirely new, and is without doubt the valve of the age. To see it is to appreciate it. To use it is to adopt it in preference to all others. The company have first-class testimonials. The seat is detachable without disconnecting it from its pipe connections, and the worn-out seat can be replaced with a new one within a couple of minutes, thus practically making a new valve.

The valve has been subjected to high pressure test and first-class engineers say it is the best, most useful and economical valve in the market.

Penalty of Living Too Long

[New York World.]

The death in poverty and obscurity of ex-Governor William E. Newell, of New Jersey, as narrated in the World, was another illustration of the irony of fate.

Here was a man who had "sat in Congress beside Abraham Lincoln," who was governor of New Jersey from 1857 to 1860, was afterward for several years governor of the Territory of Washington and was "the father of the government life-saving service."

He was an educated physician, and his faculties and character were so well preserved that he served as foreman of the grand jury last June whose action closed the gambling houses at Long Branch.

Yet this man who had "done the state some service" died in poverty in a small bedroom in a cheap boarding-house, and his body was rescued from ignominious neglect in a public morgue by the creditable action of Adjt.-Gen. Olyphant. He had the coffin draped in the American flag, removed temporarily to the State House and given a guard of honor from the National Guard, after which it was placed in the receiving vault of the cemetery.

To complete the grim irony of this life's story it is added that there is a possibility that the body will be buried in Potter's Field unless the State of New Jersey intervenes.

Gov. Newell's old friend, Abraham Lincoln was fond of quoting the refrain of an old poem:

O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

Why, indeed?

For pimples, blotches, bad complexion, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine to take—it has established this fact

HEINTZMAN & CO.
PIANOS...
ARE SUPREME.

They have no rival—they are peerless.

Other pianos are spoken of as being "as good as the Heintzman & Co. pianos," but a great author has well said that imitation is the sincerest kind of flattery.

The prestige of half a century stands behind this unapproachable piano; but along with this experience is a measure of twentieth century progressiveness that, like the piano itself, has no competition. Albani has well said: "The Heintzman & Co. piano excels any piano I have ever used."

ONLY NATURAL.

The sentimental bride on the park bench at St. Joe watched the sun set in Lake Michigan.

"And she murmured:

"See, darling, how phosphorescent!"

"It's no wonder," responded the matter-of-fact bridegroom, "when you think how many matches are made here."

Then, as the sun sank to rest, her head sank likewise—on George's shoulder—and all was still.—Chicago Tribune.

FAIR WARNING.

The following notice was posted up in a small country village: "Notice is hereby given that the squire (on account of the backwardness of the harvest) will not shoot himself or any of his tenants till the 14th of September."—Tid-Bits.

During the first half of this year 30,000 tons of vegetables were shipped east from California.

Every Exertion a Task

There is failure of the strength to do and the power to endure; a feeling of weakness all over the body.

The vital functions are impaired, food does not nourish, and the whole system is run down.

A medicine that strengthens the stomach, perfects digestion, invigorates and tones is needed.

What Hood's Sarsaparilla did for John Y. Paterson, Whitby, Ont., it will do for you. He took it as a tonic and general builder of the system, and writes: "I have found no other remedy to compare with it as a restorer of vitality. It drives away that tired feeling, quiets the nerves, and brings sweet refreshing sleep."

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Wheat—There has been no change in the value of wheat this week. Receipts were light, the falling off being attributed to the fairs now going on, as farmers are busy attending them. At today's session the price of new wheat, if good quality, was $1 07 to $1 10, and old at $1 10 to $1 12.

Oats—Values fluctuated considerably. The general opinion was that a break was near, and buyers, while apparently anxious to secure the grain, were uneasy lest they should get caught paying too much. New sold today at 95c to 97c, and old at $1 05 to $1 10. During the first part of the week the supply was good and prices uneasy; Tuesday and Wednesday very little came in, and as a result higher prices were paid—we believe higher than would have been had deliveries continued good.

Barley—Receipts were light; 85c to 90c was the full range of prices, the bulk of sales being made at 87c.

Peas—Only one lot came in; $1 05 was paid for them.

Corn—Was unsettled; American markets were easily affected, and this one weak.

No rye offered.

Live and dressed hogs—Were a shade higher. The former sold at $6 85, and the latter at $8 75 to $9 at Monday's and Tuesday's sessions.

Hay—Was quiet at $7 50 for No. 1, and $7 for poorish.

Straw—Ranged from $2 50 to $3 by the load.

NEW TIMOTHY SEED,

The very best to be had.

HAY AND STRAW.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Baled hay—The offerings are light, there is a fair demand, and the market is steady. Cars on the track here are quoted at $9 to $9 50. Baled straw—Is in moderate demand and steady. Cars on the track here are quoted at $5 to $5 25.

AMERICAN MARKETS.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 10.—Wheat—No. 1 white, cash, 71c; No. 2 red, cash and Sept., 71c; Oct., 71½c; Dec., 73c.

Hogs—Steady to a shade lower; mixed and butchers, $6 10 to $6 70; good to choice heavy, $6 60 to $6 90; rough heavy, $6 to $6 40; light, $6 10 to $6 70; bulk of sales at $6 30 to $6 50. Sheep—Steady; best lambs steady; others weak; good to choice wethers, $3 75 to $4; fair to choice mixed, $3 50 to $3 65; native lambs, $3 to $5.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Beeves—Receipts, 28; dressed beef steady at 7½c to 9½c per lb for native sides; Texas beef, 6½c to 7c. Latest reported cables quoted American steers at 10½c to 12½c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef at 9½c to 10¼c per lb. Exports today, 610 cattle, 1,619 sheep and 4,860 quarters of beef. Calves—Receipts, 298; steady all round; veals, $5 to $8; culls, $4 50; grassers and buttermilks, $3 10 to $3 62½; fed calves, $4. Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 4,314; quiet but at steady prices all around; sheep, $3 to $3 75; few at $4; culls, $1 50 to $2; lambs, $4 37½ to $5; one deck, $5 25; culls, $3 to $4. Hogs—Receipts, 1,424; no reported transactions today.

EAST BUFFALO, Sept. 10.—Cattle—Offerings, 12 cars; dull; 15c to 20c lower for common stock and half-fat steers; fairly good light steers, $3 75 to $4 60; thin, $3 55 to $3 60; no good stock here; poor cows, $1 80 to $2 60; bulls, worst of the season; sausage lots, $2 70 to $3 10; coarse heavy, $3 25 to $3 40; good smooth butchers, $3 40 to $3 50; choice fat heavy exporters, $3 60 to $3 90; veals, $5 50 to $7 25. Hogs—Offerings, 60 cars; full steady for good sows, fed grades; others all lower; best heavy grades, $6 95 to $7; one deck, $7 05; mixed packers and mediums, $6 90 to $6 95; corn-fed Yorkers, light to best, $6 55 to $6 65; pigs, $5 95 to $6; Michigans and grassers, $6 40 to $6 50; roughs, $5 85 to $6; stags, $4 50 to $5. Sheep and lambs—Offerings, 80 cars, mostly holdovers and late arrivals; market dull, 15c to 20c lower for lambs; bulk good, fat, corn-fed, $4 70 to $4 85; few decks, $5; fair to good, $4 15 to $4 50; culls and common, $2 75 to $4; feeding lambs, $3 50 to $4; sheep, mixed, $3 40 to $3 60; culls to good, $1 to $3 30; wethers and yearlings, $3 70 to $4; heavy fat ewes, $3 25 to $3 40.

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—Receipts at the western cattle market today were heavy in cattle and light in other stock. There were 60 loads all told, 1,097 cattle, 680 sheep and lambs, 600 hogs and 38 calves. Trade was good all round, with the exception of export cattle, which were a trifle slow on account of the quality of the stock. Good fat stock was, however, in good demand, and brought high prices. Hogs were steady, and sheep a little easier. All stock was sold out early except a few loads of export cattle. The buyers are looking for choice exporters, and seem to neglect all other offerings, except at moderate prices.

IMMENSE CROWDS

Elbow Their Way Into the Great Western Fair Ground and Buildings.

Cloudy Skies Fail to Keep Away the Braw Lads and Bonnie Lassies Who Know Where a Day of Genuine Pleasure and Good Profit May Be Spent.

Unfavorable weather does not seem to have materially affected the attendance at the big fair. The morning broke dull and gloomy, with rain threatening, and when, later, the clouds still hung black and ominous, the faces of the directors took on the prevailing gloomy hue. The event proved that they need not have caused themselves any worry. It requires more than unpleasant weather to keep the people away from the Western Fair. At an early hour they began to come, and by noon the exhibition grounds were literally black with people. The wind was raw and the grass damp and overhead the clouds threatened rain, but nobody seemed to mind the weather conditions in the least. Nearly everyone of the thousands on the grounds carried umbrellas. Such a collection of umbrellas has seldom been seen.

It was farmers' day in earnest. From every corner of the west they came, the sturdy yeomanry who have developed the fruitfulness of this garden of Canada and to whom the Western Fair is at once a pleasure and an education. They brought with them their families, determined, come sun, come rain, to enjoy the fair to the fullest extent, to see every hole and corner of it.

As the day grew older, the gloom on the faces of the directors was chased away by sunny smiles, for they began to realize that the day was to be one of the most successful in the history of the fair. By 10 o'clock the side shows on the Midway were doing a rushing business. There was enough to see to keep everyone in good spirits and oblivious of the weather. All the buildings were crowded throughout the day, the agricultural and dairy departments being thronged so that it was almost impossible to get through them.

The hospital tent, in charge of a nurse from Victoria Hospital, has as yet not been occupied. There have been no accidents on the grounds since the fair opened, and the best of order has been maintained by the force of police under Sergt. Crawford.

At the meeting of the directors this morning a petition, signed by exhibitors in the carriage shed, was brought up with regard to closing the building at 6 o'clock, and improvements to be made on the electric lights if it was continued open.

The owners of the Kilfyre, a fire extinguisher, asked permission to show the merits of their article.

Several other minor matters were brought up.

NOTEWORTHY EXHIBITS.

Favored by Music Lovers.

Music lovers gravitate naturally to the exhibit of the Nordheimer Piano and Music Company, at the east end of the main building, for there they find a display of superb instruments which testify eloquently to the perfection which this leading Canadian house has attained in the manufacture of pianos. Their popularity is evident from the fact that already half a dozen have been sold, and more orders are in sight. Special features of the exhibit are the beautiful "R" pianos, in crotched mahogany, and the Angelus, the beautiful instrument which places those totally ignorant of music on the same level with the artiste, so far as regards the rendition of the world's best music. The Nordheimer Company are the largest Canadian importers of music and musical goods and supplies, and a full line of these will be found at the Dundas street showrooms. The local branch is under the superintendence of Mr. James J. Callaghan, general manager for Western Ontario, his territory embracing from Brantford to Windsor, and from Berlin to Owen Sound, together with Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur. The Nordheimer Company is sole Canadian agent for the Steinway pianos, chosen by royalty and indorsed by artists, and also deal in the Haines pianos. *

The New Williams.

The New Williams Sewing Machine exhibit is found upstairs in the main building, near the southeast corner. A special feature is the ladies' desk-cabinet machine, which when closed is a ladies' handsome secretary. When opened the table is large enough for a cutting board. Among the improvements found on the New Williams are the self-threading shuttle, the self-setting needle, the automatic bobbin-winder, and other valuable features. The loose pulley for winding the bobbins without running the machine is so constructed as to admit of an instantaneous stoppage and starting of the machine without stopping the treadle movement. The leveling castor screw, for moving the machine over an uneven surface, is another excellent feature. Fessenden Bros., 245 Dundas street, are the agents in London and vicinity for this favorite and popular machine. **

An Ideal Motive Power.

For the user of power from 2 to 25 horse power, the Ideal Gas and Gasoline Engines, manufactured by the Goold, Shapley & Muir Company, Limited, of Brantford, will prove indeed an ideal motive force. The manifold advantages of an engine, the use of which means no boiler, steam, fireman, engineer, coal, ashes, dust, dirt, smoke or danger, are such as to comend their use to all. The Goold, Shapley & Muir Company claim that their engines are superior in design, workmanship and material to anything in the market. In entering upon the making of engines, they selected a high-grade type, which had given the utmost satisfaction where used. They installed the latest and most approved machinery, and secured the services of one of the best experts in America to superintend their manufacture. Under these conditions it is small wonder that the "Ideal" engines well sustain the claim made for them. Among the good points possessed by them are economy, safety, cleanliness, noiselessness, reliability and ease of operation. Special features of the Ideal engines are the double exhaust, the exhaust muffler, the optional electric and hot tube igniter, and improved valves, cylinders, pistons and other parts. The governor regulates not only the speed of the engine, but also the exact mixture of gas or gasoline and air to insure perfect combustion and economy. At Toronto exhibition the company's display of engines of this class was easily the best made and many sales were effected. The Ideal is in no sense a "cheap" engine. On the contrary, no pains or expense have been spared to make it strictly high-grade, and with proper care one will last not a few years, only, but for a lifetime. **

Blue Ribbon Tea.

Immediately facing the western entrance to the main building is the handsomely decorated stand of the Blue Ribbon Tea Company. Pretty girls are kept busy supplying the clamoring crowds with dainty cups of delicious tea. So fragrant and inviting is the aroma of the beverage that few pass without sampling it. The fame of Blue Ribbon Tea has spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and as it is a fame based on purity and merit, it will not readily wane. Visitors should sample Blue Ribbon Tea, and they will find that to try it is to buy it. *

Risen From the Ashes.

In these days of gigantic enterprises and ambitious undertakings on the part of the sons of the vast British Empire, it is certainly a proud boast for any manufacturing firm to say that their works are the largest of the kind under the Union Jack. It is an especial matter for pride, when a concern has risen Phoenix-like from the ashes of a conflagration, which would have dismayed and overwhelmed a firm possessed of less energy and progressiveness and smaller resources than the McLaughlin Carriage Company, of Oshawa. The many who have been more than satisfied in their dealings with this company will be pleased to see their fine exhibit in the transportation building at the Western Fair. The company are happy to be able to say to their good friends that they are now working full force in their new premises, and that they are able to handle with promptness and care any amount of business that may come their way. In erecting their new factory, they allowed for their constant growth, and put up a building which will meet their requirements for several years to come. The factory now has an annual capacity of over 15,000 finished vehicles. Though starting afresh in a new factory, with new equipment, the company adheres to the old motto, "One Grade Only, and That the Best," aiming always to improve their work, and keep all their vehicles up-to-date in every particular, as may be seen in the exhibit at the fair. The company extends a cordial invitation to all to call and see their display, which is in charge of Mr. M. C. Rose, the firm's western traveler. The public may rest assured that any trade with which they favor the McLaughlin Company will be appreciated, and that orders for the coming season will be promptly and carefully filled. The company have a branch warehouse at 149 York street, where they are doing a limited amount of retailing, as well as attending to their wholesale trade. G. W. Rose is the local salesman. *

Smallman & Ingram's Display.

The well-known drygoods house of Smallman & Ingram makes a very attractive display on the north side of the Palace of Arts. Its attractiveness consists not so much in its magnitude as in its quality, for seldom has a more select assortment of ladies' goods been seen in London. The booth, which is large and tastily arranged, is devoted exclusively to samples of fall and winter styles for women, in dresses, coats and millinery. Among the many beautiful garments displayed is an exquisite Persian lamb coat, which has attracted very general attention. Another feature is a complete fall costume, gown, hat and all, displayed on a dummy figure. The very noticeable progress made by Messrs. Smallman & Ingram has at no time in the firm's history been more satisfactory than during the past year. And for this there is a reason: The well dressed women of Western Ontario have learned that this firm, importing as it does direct from the European markets, is always abreast of the world of fashion; that in matters of style and taste, it sets the pace which other establishments less fortunately situated, must be content to follow. This general excellence and progressiveness is reflected in the beautiful exhibit which so many women visitors to the Western fair have examined with pleasure and profit. The exhibit is a complete lesson in the season's styles. No woman need be ignorant of the proper dress, or the correct coat or hat for autumn or winter wear, for the whole story is told here. *

Magnificent Piano.

In the magnificent display of the Mason and Risch Piano Company in the main building at the exhibition, the Baby Grand attracts much attention. This instrument embodies four special features, patented in Canada, the United States, and several European countries. These patents were all granted without modification. The features are duplex iron plates, sectional composite pin-blocks, resonant extension sounding board (Table de Resonance), and the equi-tempered equi-sonant scale. Many artists claim this instrument to be the finest grand piano they have ever heard. In the exhibit are shown several other instruments, each one a model of its kind. It will be remembered that at the first Industrial Exhibition in 1879, opened by the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise, the Mason & Risch pianos, then exhibited for the first time, were awarded not only two diplomas, but the gold medal in competition with the pianos of all other manufacturers. This was the highest distinction that could be conferred upon them. Since then Mason & Risch pianos have established for themselves an enviable reputation, and are known everywhere as "the instrument of the cultured." In the exhibit is also shown the Pianola, the wonderful instrument that enables anyone to play the world's masterpieces of music. Visitors are presented with "The Mason & Risch Two-Step" with the firm's compliments. *

Standing Test of Time.

"Built like a battleship" is the claim made by the Wm. Buck Stove Company, Limited, of Brantford, for their "Her Majesty" planished steel range, but it is a motto quite as applicable to all other lines manufactured by this well-known and justly successful firm, for in all only the best materials and workmanship obtainable are utilized. A visit to the fine exhibit made in the machinery hall will convince the few who are not already cognizant of the merits of the Buck stoves that they easily stand in the front rank of Canadian manufactures. The old reliable Happy Thought ranges and Radiant Home baseburners and furnaces are shown, and in addition there is on exhibition the company's latest product, the "Her Majesty" planished steel range, for coal or wood.

This entirely new and strikingly beautiful range is built of planished steel, introduced and used exclusively by the Buck Company in Canada. Highly polished by a secret process, it requires no blacking and always retains its lustre. There is no japan or paint to burn off or cover up poor material and faulty work. Like a locomotive jacket, always exposed, it looks well and wears better, as lustre is made by hammer, insuring a dense, strong body and highly finished surface. The Buck products are sold in London by Sutherland Bros., 384 Richmond street, and those who miss the exhibit will find a full line on hand at the store. *

A New System of Treating Disease

Since the doors of the main building were thrown open to the public great crowds of people have thronged about the beautiful booth in which that wonderful new remedy, Powley's Ozone, is exhibited. Mr. Powley, the inventor of Ozone, is in charge of the booth, and courteously answers any questions regarding this truly miraculous remedy. Ozone is condensed oxygen, and is antiseptic in its properties. By its action it tones up the blood and so destroys the germs of disease. The result is inevitable. Nature, freed from the burden of disease, is enabled to help herself, and the patient recovers. Since the opening of the exhibition Mr. Powley and his staff of assistants have cured many hundreds of headaches with Ozone. Free samples are given to everyone applying at the booth. If you have a headache, it is worth your while to try Ozone. It never fails to act beneficially. *

The Bell Piano.

There can be no disputing the fact that the exhibit of the Bell Piano Company, in the Palace of Arts, transcends them all. There is individuality and character belonging to this company's showing, which makes it special and exclusive. The Bell piano really does not require testimonials as to its merits, for the people—the whole people, professional and laity alike, love this ideal instrument and are prepared to accord it the first place among the pianos of the times. In the palace the Bell exhibit is constantly surrounded by an eager throng of people, who show in no unmistakable manner their appreciation of this magnificent instrument. There is something in the fact that the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, G. C. M. G., after listening to and examining fully the Art Bell piano, expressed himself as delighted with the superb instrument, which he regarded as the best exemplar of the advanced musical culture of the age. *

RETURNING TO WORK

Trackmen on the C. P. R. Resuming Their Places—Chance to Settle Steel Strike.

Montreal, Sept. 11.—J. Lennon, chairman of the C. P. R. Trackmen's Union, is daily receiving reports from the various sections of the C. P. R., which show that the men are gradually returning to work all over the system. Some few complaints are being received, but these, he says, will be adjusted in time.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—President T. J. Shaffer and his advisers in the general office of the Amalgamated Association hold the power by authority of the general executive board to settle the steel strike. Mr. Shaffer and his advisers apparently allowed today to elapse after the authority was vested in them without closing any settlement. On Monday, it is said, the executive board directed President Shaffer, together with Secretary John Williams, Assistant Secretary Tighe and Ben I. Davis, of the advisory board, to settle without delay on the best terms obtainable. Since the executive board first urged upon President Shaffer that he go after a settlement, it is said the Amalgamated president has endeavored, through Chief Engineer McBray, of the American Tin Plate Company, to reopen direct negotiations with the corporation officials, with the hope of getting better terms than those secured through the efforts of the committee of the National Federation. This failed, it is said, and the combination stands to offer no better terms than those given the Civic Federation people. Besides it is said by representatives of the corporation that just as fast as additional mills are started by the operating officials of the constituent companies of the corporation, they will be added to the growing list of mills eliminated from the union list.

TRIED TO KILL HIS PRIEST.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 11. — Mail advices say that O'Brien, executed in Dawson recently for the Triple Trail murder, attempted to kill his spiritual adviser, Rev. Father Gendrau while the latter was in his cell trying to induce him to take the last sacrament. O'Brien refused to take the last sacrament, but would give no reasons.

MINISTERS' WESTERN TOUR.

Toronto, Sept. 11.—Hon. J. M. Gibson and Hon. J. R. Stratton leave tomorrow for a New Ontario speaking tour. They will address the East Algoma Liberal convention at Sault Ste. Marie on Saturday, and afterwards speak at Rat Portage, Fort Frances, Mine Center and a number of other places in the far western section of Ontario.

CENSUS OF ANARCHISTS.

New York, Sept. 11. — Police Commissioner Murphy has issued a general order to all the commanding officers in the police department, directing them to take a census of all Anarchists living in their districts and forward the list to headquarters, the detective departments to conduct a general surveillance upon the Anarchists of the city. The purpose of this is to make life so disagreeable for Anarchists in New York city that they will move.

A RECORD BROKEN.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 11.—In the one-mile championship swimming race between Howard Brewer, of San Francisco, and Wilbur E. Kyle, of this city, Brewer won in 28 minutes, 31⅘ seconds, breaking the American amateur record of 28:52⅘, which was made by Otto Wahle at the Pan-American exposition on July 9.

McNALLY GIVES UP.

New York, Sept. 11.—Peter McNally has abandoned his attempt to swim from Boston to New York in 30 days, and has returned to this city, says a Boston dispatch. McNally said the elements were against him, having smashed two of his dories, and injured two of his attendants.

CHANGES IN THE FOOTBALL RULES.

What Spalding's Official Guide for 1901 Says About Them.

[By Walter Camp.]

The changes in the rules for the season of 1901 will not prove serious in the way of their effect upon the play. They are more after the order of rendering more explicit the existing rules and placing sufficient power in the hands of the officials to insure the enforcement of those rules.

For the last three years the popular feeling had been that the game when properly conducted is thoroughly satisfactory, and that if the officials enforce the rules the result is always a fair one, and the game of the most interesting kind when equally matched teams meet.

The exact alterations which have been made in the rules this season by the committee are as follows:

In rule 4 of the guide, section (d), there is a further definition of a safety, namely, that a safety is made when the ball, kicked by a man behind his goal line, crosses the extension of the side line behind the goal line. It was generally supposed that the rules did not provide for such a contingency, but, as a matter of fact, they did. When a man, standing behind his own goal, attempted to kick the ball out and made such a poor kick of it that the ball did not cross his goal line at all, but crossed what would be the extension of the side line and thus went into touch, by the existing rules the ball was dead as soon as it crossed the side line. But also by another rule when a ball was kicked out of bounds it did not go to the man who first obtained possession of it, but to the opponents. Hence a kick of this kind would result in the opponents having possession of the ball in touch. But then they must bring it to the point where the side line was crossed by the ball and there put it in play. The result would be that they would bring it down behind the kicker's goal, and immediately upon putting it in play there, they would hold it on the ground, and thus secure a touchdown. In other words, a ball which, kicked by a man behind his own goal line, did not cross the goal line, but crossed the side line, meant, if the rules were followed out, a touchdown for the opponents. This seemed rather a severe penalty for the misplay, and it was determined by the rules committee that such a play should be ruled a safety instead of a touchdown for the opponents. Hence the new rule.

The second alteration is under rule 10 of the guide, note. This formerly defined "ahead of the ball" as "between the opponents' goal and a line parallel to the goal line and passing through the center of the ball." As a matter of fact this was inconsistent with some of the other rules where the forward point of the ball is taken as the line. The rule was therefore altered so that instead of reading as it did in the former edition, it reads, "passing through the point of the ball nearest the goal line of the side not in possession of the ball.

The next alteration occurs in rule 12 of the guide, section (e). The difficulty that caused the alteration in this rule has not been appreciated very much in the big games in the east, but there have been occasions even there where the delay of the game was prolonged unreasonably. As a matter of fact it was found that although the rules committee intended that no delay should result over two minutes, an obstreperous team would make it more nearly four minutes in this way: Acting under rule 12 (e) that no delay from any cause whatsoever should continue more than two minutes, they would delay, supposedly for injured player, for the full two minutes. Then the referee would tell them time was up and they must play. But they would manage to occupy nearly two minutes longer by refusing to play, claiming under rule 28, section (g), that the referee could not give the game forfeit to the other side until fully two minutes after he had ordered them to play. Just before the expiration of the fourth minute they would play. With this contention in mind, the rules committee added to rule 12, section (e) the following: "Any delay thereafter shall be penalized under rule 27 (e), 28 (c). It means that after the consumption of two minutes five yards shall be given for further delay of the game, this in no way interfering with the referee's making them forfeit the game at the end of two minutes of such delay. In other words, they will lose distance for delay as well as forfeit the game if they do not go on at the end of two minutes more.

Rule 13, section (d), first line, the word "kick" is changed to read "punt, or drop kick," for further clearness.

Rule 14, section (b), the words are inserted after the words "fair catch," "when kicked after touching the ball in at the side line." This was an omission in the former rules.

Under rule 17 there has been added to section (a), "any such interference shall be regarded as delay of the game." Rule 28 (c). This was to insure the abandonment of pulling and hauling the opponents in the rush line.

Rule 21 of the guide, section (b) the following clause was added: "Unless this should result to the advantage of the offending side, when the down and the distance to be gained shall remain the same." It is clear that this is what was intended in the former ruling, but it has not been made definite enough.

Rule 22, section (a) before the word "or," are inserted the words "at least ten yards." That is, a man touching the ball in at right angles to the side line and thus putting it in play by a kick, must kick it at least ten yards.

Rule 25, section (a) was added to the clause providing that the referee shall make a signal with his hand when a team is trying for goal immediately upon the touching of the ball to the ground. This has been the custom for officials for some time, but has never been stated clearly in the rules.

Rule 28, section d, paragraph 2 the words "is attempting to" were changed to "has an opportunity for," in order that the official should judge where there was a real chance of a man making a fair catch.

Rule 28, section (k) has been altered so as to make the rule broader and make it apply to any kind of unsportsmanlike conduct not elsewhere provided for.

This completes the list of alterations, and, as will be seen, there is very little that affects the play directly.

Thursday — Easterly to southerly winds, increasing in force; becoming showery again.

WEATHER NOTES.

Rain has fallen generally over Ontario, and heavily in many localities. Local showers have also occurred in the Territories and Manitoba. A depression which promises to be of some importance is situated in the Western States and general outlook is very unsettled.

LATE LOCAL ITEMS

—The following is the population at the London Asylum for the Insane: Males, 458; females, 536; total, 995.

—Mr. John F. Taylor, head of the big firm of Taylor Bros., paper and brick manufacturers, who failed recently, died this morning at Todmorden.

—The chief engineer of the department of miltia will make his annual inspection on the following dates: Quebec, Oct. 13; Montreal, Oct. 16; Toronto, Oct. 19; London, Oct. 22; Kingston, Oct. 28.

—At the forthcoming London assizes the crown will insist on closing up the Sifton murder case, which has been adjourned from time to time for almost fifteen months. Chief Inspector Murray of the provincial bureau, came to London today to make preparations for the trial, which begins on Sept. 23.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Wm. Scellin took place today from the family residence, Thamesford, to the Presbyterian Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Watson conducted the funeral services. A large concourse of people gathered to bear their testimony to her worth as a friend and neighbor. She leaves to mourn her loss a sorrowing husband and four children—James, barrister, of Berlin; Tilly, matron Victoria Hospital, London; Mrs. Alex. Ross, of Thamesford, and Tena, at home.

CHANGES IN TARIFF.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—Mr. Massey, of Massey, Harris & Co., headed a delegation of implement men who waited on the premier, Messrs. Paterson, Sifton and Tarte, yesterday in regard to some changes they want in the tariff.

KILLED BY A HORSE'S KICK.

St. George, Ont., Sept. 11.—A sad accident occurred a few miles north of the village yesterday, when Mr. J. S. Thompson, a prominent farmer, lost his life. He was in the act of hooking his team to a disc-harrow, when one of the animals kicked him on the temple, causing immediate death.

BIG PLANT CLOSED DOWN.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 11.—The plant of the American Glucose Sugar Refining Company, the largest of the kind in the United States, and the property of the Glucose Trust, has been closed down indefinitely. The plant employed about 1,200 hands.

FIRE DOES $200,000 DAMAGES.

Salt Lake, Utah, Sept. 11.—Fire broke out in the Oregon Short Line building on Southwest Temple street, at 4:30 yesterday morning, and did serious damage to that structure as well as to adjoining buildings, including the postoffice. A heavy explosion of dynamite occurred and four firemen were injured. The loss probably will approximate $200,000. Nearly all the records of the road, including the plans of the new Salt Lake-Los Angeles extension were lost.

The Exhibition That Lives.

In passing through an exhibition, the memory of mostly every single object is more or less ephemeral. A great picture lingers longer than things of more intrinsic value. Perhaps of all the exhibits in this year's exhibition that will live longest in the memory of the visitor is the picture, "Christ in the Temple," exhibited by the Montreal Star.

UNMISTAKABLE EVIDENCES OF IMPROVEMENT!

In the Condition of President McKinley—The Patient Is Cheery—Visited by His Faithful Wife.

Milburn House, Buffalo, Sept. 11.—President McKinley continues to show the most unmistakeable evidences of improvement and recovery, and the uneasiness caused by the news last night of the dressing of the abdominal wound has given way to more pronounced confidence than has existed at any time since the shooting.

The president himself was so cheery that one of the doctors remarked that they would let him smoke a cigar before long. He had shown not the slightest depression from the dressing of the wound last night.

Mrs. McKinley had her usual brief morning visit with him.

No definite plan for the prosecution of Leon Czolgosz and Emma Goldman has been decided upon by the police authorities.

DROPPED!

End of the Protests in the Case of the Ottawa Members-Elect.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 11.—It was decided today to drop the protests in the case of Messrs. Belcourt (Lib.) and Birkett (Con.).

THE STEEL STRIKE

Complete Tieup of Several McKeesport Plants—Women Aid the Strikers.

NON-UNION MEN BEATEN.

Pittsburg Sept. 11.—Three non-union men were set upon by strikers or strike sympathizers at McKeesport last night and badly beaten.

A wagon load of cots, 50 in number, succeeded in making its way as far as Fourteenth street, where the women gathered about it and cut the ropes holding the load on. The driver continued on his way, the cots dropping off at every turn of the wheels until about 30 of them had become the property of the women, who numbered about 200. Some of the women ran into their houses and came out with oil can, poured the contents over the cots, which had been piled in two heaps on Fourteenth street. In an instant two large bonfires were blazing briskly. The men kept in the background as a rule, apparently content with the results of their female sympathizers' raid.

GENERAL TIE-UP.

No attempt whatever was made this morning to start the big tube mill at McKeesport, although there was a large crowd of strikers around the mill to keep out any men who might try to get back. After the lively scenes of yesterday none of the employes showed the least inclination to return. Total suspension of the National tube mill and other plants of the National Tube Company will likely follow the two unsuccessful attempts to resume operations—those of yesterday and Monday.

Fires have been drawn at all the McKeesport plants of the National Tube Company, and few others who have been doing odd jobs about the mill have been notified not to return to work until further notice. The only people about the mill this morning were the watchmen.

Fires have also been drawn at the National rolling mill in the Monongahela steel works in this city.

The strikers are growing ugly and numerous assaults have been reported within the last 48 hours.

A PEACE MISSION.

Ottawa, Sept. 11. — Mr. W. L. M. King, deputy minister of labor, has gone to St. Hyacinthe to act as conciliator in a dispute between the management of the woolen mills in that city and their employes. The management have reduced the wages 10 per cent, and the factory hands now threaten to go out on strike. Mr. King hopes to avert the threatened strike.

The machinists' strike was compromised. The men accepted the proposition of the employers for a 9-hour day and a 5 per cent increase in wages.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S CHARACTERISTICS

Despite His Strenuous Tendencies He Need Not Be Feared.

No man of his years has been more in the public eye, and in so many capacities as Theodore Roosevelt. The people of the nation feel almost a personal acquaintance with this bustling, energetic man of 43 years. He had an excellent start in life, coming as he does from a solid old Dutch family which has lived upon the soil for eight successive generations, and with plenty of wealth at his command, a sturdy body and an active brain.

He is a man of strong animal instincts and perfectly healthy mind. As a child, he was a weakling, but he developed into a sturdy man by taking excellent care of himself and paying proper attention to the development of the body. He was backward in his studies, but kept at work with dogged perseverance.

On emerging from college he went abroad looking for further culture, and when he was not studying he engaged in mountain climbing or some other healthy outdoor exercises. He returned to America in 1881, married Miss Alice Lee of Boston, and began the study of American history preparatory to a career in politics, after he had found the study of law in the office of his Uncle Robert too slow for a man of his temperament. The gang at the primaries, where the amateur politician took his first lesson in 1881, found that "Teddy" was a good fellow with decided opinions, and more than ordinard intelligence, and he naturally became a leader in his district, and was elected to the New York assembly. In that capacity he astonished his more timid associates by boldly antagonizing the machine in New York city, and forcing a bill that robbed the city council of some of its powers. This feat developed the fact that Teddy was a fearless fighter, and it won the respect of both parties.

In 1884, after three short years in politics, he went to the national convention as chairman of the Republican delegation.

He lost his wife and his mother in the same year, and the shock of these events added to the hard work he had been doing in politics, and in literary work during his spare moments threatened to ruin his health. He wisely changed his mode of life and went west to become a ranchman. Between 1886 and 1889 he spent much time in hunting and in writing historical works which are well known, the most important one being his "Winning of the West."

In 1886 he was nominated for mayor of New York, but he ran against a disastrous combination of circumstances and was beaten by Abram S. Hewitt. That same year he married Miss Edith Kermit Carow, of New York.

He resigned as police commissioner of New York in 1897, to become assistant secretary of the navy. When there was fighting to be done the quiet of the navy office was not at all to Teddy's taste. He resigned on May 6, 1898, and proceeded to the raising of a regiment of rough riders. Roosevelt might have taken command had he insisted upon the honor, but he knew his limitations, and wisely gave way to Col. Wood. What the rough riders did is too recent history to be repeated. His dramatic nomination for the vice-presidency is also well known.

GRATE GOIN'S ON AT NEWPORT!

Mr. Dooley Describes High Life at "The Socyal Capital iv America"—By Finley Peter Dunne.

"Great goin's on at Newport," said Mr. Dooley.

"What's Newport?" said Mr. Hennessy.

"I r-read about it ivry day in th' pa-aper," said Mr. Dooley; "an' I know. 'Tis th' socyal capital iv America this here pa-aper says. 'Tis like Washin'ton on'y it costs more. 'Tis where th' socyal ligislachure meets wanst a year an' decides how long we'll wear our coats this season an' how often, an' how our yachts'll be cut an' our friends. 'Tis there th' millyionaire meets his wife that was an' inthrajooces her to his wife that is to be if she can break away fr'm her husband that oughtn't to've been.

"Yes, sir, it must be th' gran' place. But 'tis no aisy thing livin' there. In th' first place, ye must have th' money an' ye must have th' look iv havin' it, an' ye must look as though it belonged to ye. That last's th' hardest thing iv all. No matther how much coin a man has, if it hasn't been siparated fr'm th' man that arned it so long that th' man that has it can go ar-round without th' fear iv a mechanic's lien in his eye, they tear up his ticket at th' box office. Not f'r him th' patent medicine dance where th' nobility goes as little liver pills, not f'r him th' vigitable party where th' sings iv aristocracy appears radyantly clad as onions an' egg-plants, not f'r him th' jolt fr'm Mrs. Bilcoort or th' quick left fr'm Mrs. Rasther. He's set back to about Cooney Island an' there he stays till his money stops baggin' at th' knees an' climbin' up over th' collar.

"But 'tis th' millyionaire's dhream to land there. He starts in as foreman in a can facthry. By an' by he larns that wan iv th' men wurrukin' f'r him has invented a top that ye can opin with a pair of scissors an' he throws him down an' takes it away fr'm him. He's a robber, says ye? He is while he's got th' other man down. But whin he gets up, he's a magnate. Thin he sells out his wurruks to a thrust, an' thin he sells out the thrust to th' thrustful, an' thin he begins his weary march to Newport. First he has a house on Mitchigan Avnoo with ir'n dogs on th' lawn. Thin he builds a palachial mansion at Oconomowoc. They're beginnin' to hear about him now. Thin he moves down to th' sea shore an' roughs it with th' Purytans an' fin'lly he lands. 'Tis a summer's mornin' as his yacht steams slowly up to Newport. Th' aged millyionaire is propped up on th' deck an' as th' sunlight sthrikes th' homes iv luxury an' alimony, a smile crosses his face. 'Is that th' house iv Mrs. Rasther?' he says. 'It is,' says th' weepin' fam'ly. 'An' is that where Mr. A. E. I. O. U. an' sometimes W. and Y. Belcoor lives an' has his bein,?' 'That's th' house.' 'Thin,' he says, 'put me congress gaiters undher th' bed an' hide me fine cut where none can see it,' says he. 'I die content,' he says."

"What do they do there?" asked Mr. Hennessy.

"Well, 'tis hard f'r me to make out," said Mr. Dooley. "They must have their own throubles. Ivery day I r-read in th' pa-per iv a horrible catastrophe at Newport. Here ye ar-re today. 'Misther Willie Hankerbilt met with a mos' dhreadful an' provokin' accident today. While dhriving his cilibrated gasoline, Booney-Mooney five hundhred power autymobile, Purple Assassin, at a modhrate rate of wan hundhred miles an hour, accompanied by th' beautiful Countess Eckstein (who was formerly Mrs. Casey-Kelly, whose husband's marredge with her aunt was cilybrated at Saint Go-go's-on-th'-hill las' week) he was r-run into by wan Thomas Sullivan, a painther employed by Mrs. Reginald Steenevant, who is soon to occupy th' handsome house, Dove Villa, which is part iv th' settlement allowed her be th' Dakota coorts. Mr. Hankerbilt was onable to turn aside to avoid th' collision, an' it was only be a supreme effort that he kep' fr'm bein' tipped over. He showed rare prisince iv mind, on which he was congrathulated be th' whole colony. Sullivan showed no prisince iv mind at all; eyether befure or afther death. Manny iv th' cottagers ar-re talkin' iv havin' a law passed compellin' pedesthreens to ring a bell an' blow a hor-rn on their way to wurruk. Otherwise they won't be a whole tire left in Newport.'

"An' if it isn't bein' bumped into be pedesthreens, it's bein' almost upset in a yacht or bein' almost dhrowned swimmin', or almost suffycated at a garden party. An' thin there ar-re burglars. There ar-re burglars that break into ye-re house an' there ar-re burglars that creep up behind ye an' give ye a wallop with a piece iv pip an' steal ye'er dinner nights. Ye heerd about poor Mrs. Rasther. Well, sir I almost cried. Ye see, whoiver it was med Newport, whin he laid out th' specifycations, set aside two days ivry week f'r Mrs. Rasther's dinner. On thim days Mrs. Rasther was to eat. I don't know what she done on th' other days. But two dinners a week ain't much f'r even a lady an' light feeder, an' ye can imagine this poor woman countin' th' days. Sundah, July eight, on'y two days to victuals.' 'Mondah, July nine, twenty-four hours to th' groceries.' 'Choosdah, haven't time to write my di'ry.' 'Winsdah,' in bed, docther thinks nawthin' seeryous.' Well, sir, wud ye believe it, ye won't, some unscrupylous persons, some shoplifters disgeesed as s'ciety leaders, some criminals, took off their shoes an' crept in an' hooked Mrs. Rasther's dinner nights. Stole thim, be hivins. Lifted thim off th' line. I don't know how they done it, but here it is in th' pa-aper: 'Newport much excited. Mrs. Rasther's dinner nights stolen.' I hope they'll get afther thim Red Learies iv Newport s'ciety an' sintince thim, an' I hope th' polis'll raycover Mrs. Rasther's dinner nights an' she can identify th' goods. What's it to be a s'ciety leader if ye can't eat. 'Tis an impty honor, be hivins. They'se nawthin' to it."

"Well, why do they live there if it gives thim so much throuble?" said Mr. Hennessy.

"Well, sir," said Mr. Dooley, "I guess they ain't much diff'rence between th' very rich an' th' very poor. In th' ol' counthry when a man got th' money, he used to buy an estate an' thry to get as far away fr'm anywun else as he cud, an' th' on'y time he see anywun was whin he wint to Dublin f'r horse show week an' sold all his spavined horses to th' hated sassenach, an' came back an' sobered up. But here 'tis diff'rent. Rich or poor, we want to be in sight an' sound iv neighbors or they'se no fun in life. What made Mrs. Mulligan rayfuse las' year to go to live on th' tin acres her rich brother, th' plumber, offered her rint free? She needed company. She wanted to be where she cud get th' smell of th' neighbors' cookin' an' brush th' clothes line aside an' talk across th' alley with Mrs. Schmitt-schmitt an' see rollickin' Terry Duffy go by on his autymobile, ringin' up fares with a glad smile. So it is with th' millyionaire. He's got to have some wan to set on th' stoop iv his yacht with him chattin' about matters iv th' union, while his wife has th' s'ciety iv other millyionaires' wives an' can give little Reggy or Clarissa eight dollars an' sind thim down to th' corner f'r a pail iv champagne. As more millyionaires comes up, th' place'll be more an' more crowded. It'll be a conjisted disthrict an' we'll r'read in th' pa-apers iv a millyionaire an' family iv eight livin' in wan room with on'y about two-be-four iv oxygen f'r each person. No, sir, they ain't th' breadth iv ye'er hand's diff'rence between Mrs. Mulligan an' Mrs. Ganderbilk. If Tim Mulligan iver shovels his way into a thrust, Mrs. Mulligan'd live at Newport an' if Ganderbilk wint broke, Mrs. Ganderbilk wud be in a tinimint. 'Tis th' socyal feelin', Hinnissy."

"We're all alike," said Mr. Hennessy. "They ain't more thin three or four hundred millyun dollars diff'rence between us," said Mr. Dooley.

Wisdom of the Ancients.

Thales, the father of Greek philosophy, and greatest of the seven wise men, lived in the seventh century, B. C. The saying ascribed to him by Diogenes Laertius are interesting, as a means of comparing the wisdom of that day with that of our own time. Thales gave thanks to Fortune for three things; that he was a man, and not a beast; that he was a man, and not a woman; and that he was a Grecian, and not a barbarian. It was he who said "Know thyself." "Few words are the sign of a prudent judgment." "Search after wisdom, and choose what is most worthy; so shalt thou stop the mouths of slanderers and tale-bearers." "God is the most ancient of beings, for he had no beginning." There is nothing more beautiful than the world." "The mind is the swiftest thing, for it surveys all things in a moment." "The strongest thing, necessity, for it overcomes all things." "The widest thing is Place, for it contains all things." "The wisest thing, time, for it invents and discovers all things." Being asked "Whether the crimes of bad men were concealed from the gods?" he said, "No, nor their thoughts either." To other questions he replied that "Perjury was worse than adultery;" that "The hardest thing in the world is to know oneself." "The easiest thing in the world is to admonish another;" that "The rarest sight was a tyrant stricken in years;" that "A man might easily brook misfortune, if he saw his enemies in a worse condition;" that "We can live most justly and honestly, if we do not act ourselves what we reprehend in others;" that "He is happy who is healthy in body, wealthy in fortune, and well furnished with parts and learning;" "Be equally mindful of absent and present friends;" "Do not study to beautify the person, but embellish the mind;" "Do not seek riches by unlawful gains;" "Parents may expect from their children the same duties which they had paid to their parents." In youth, being urged to marry, he said. "It was too soon;" later, being again urged, he said, "It was too late."

ELSIE.

CHAPTER VI.

"How do you do?" said Lady Marjorie, holding out a small jewelled white hand to Elsie. "How do you do? I hope you are quite well?"

Elsie faltered out her response. She was excited, overwrought; her head ached a little. She would have given anything to have been allowed to run away from all this gay assemblage and throw herself upon her bed and cry.

Lady Marjorie was not one atom like her mother. She had hair of a deep burnished auburn, bright blue eyes, and cheeks as rosy and fresh as a milkmaid's. Her smile and her teeth were perfection, so was her figure—tall, supple, strong, fully developed. She rode and skated as well as her brother; she did not fish or shoot. The countess had imbued her with too tender a sympathy for the brute creation to permit her to follow such sport; but her nature was cast in a completely different mould from that of her mother. Her health was robust; her enjoyment of life and its pleasures was too keen, her mother thought; but, brought up by such a mother, the Lady Marjorie could not fail to be kind and considerate, honest and truthful. She was clever, in a dashing, vigorous way, but she did not care much for study or for thought; pleasure, excitement, variety was what she sought. As for lovers—since she was a beauty and an heiress, and renowned for her good temper and good nature—she had them by the score, though she was only 19. She had given her heart to nobody. Some of her discarded lovers were of the opinion that she had no heart to give.

She wore a lovely dress of dark blue velvet brocade, and a glorious diamond brooch, in the form of a butterfly, fastened the lace at her throat.

Lady Marjorie was the heiress in her own right to a fortune of twelve thousand a year.

The footman brought Elsie some roast partridge, and she began to eat—without interest at first, but afterwards with relish, such dainty viands were brought to her. As she ate her courage seemed to revive in her. She looked up, and took note of some of the people present.

A man of perhaps thirty—a dark-eyed, keen-faced person, near enough to being handsome to make him attractive in many eyes—was looking at her with an expression of curiosity, interest and something like admiration.

Elsie wondered who he was; there was something in him that attracted and repelled her at the same time. Presently he leant over the table, and asked her to pass her glass for some champagne.

"Unless you belong to the blue-ribbon army!" he said.

Elsie had not joined that society. Champagne had not very often come in her way during her experience of life. She had drank the school ale at Coome Hill, brewed on the premises. At her aunt's house at Tooting sometimes she had tasted port and claret; but she had not thought much about the blue-ribbon question.

"I am a blue-ribbonite," said Lady Marjorie, "for a year, to see how I like it, and I am perfectly well." And indeed Lady Marjorie looked so. "You look pale and thin, as if you ought to take good wine," continued her young ladyship.

So Elsie's glass was filled and she drank the champagne. After that there was a general rising of the company.

On went Lady Marjorie walking to a tall, beardless young officer, who hung on her words as if every one were worth a pearl of price, and lonely Elsie found herself led from the dining-room by the dark, keen-looking man.

He was tall, slender; a very subtle intelligence looked out of his black, restless eyes.

"Have I never had the pleasure of speaking to you before?"

He asked the question so suddenly that Elsie started.

"Never," she said, promptly. "Never that I know of."

"Then I must have met someone whom you resemble. May I ask if your name is Carew?"

"Yes," said Elsie.

"Oh! then it is explained. I have met your father in New York."

"Lately?" asked Elsie, eagerly.

"About a month ago."

"My father!" said Elsie, with glistening eyes. "I have not seen him since I was 12. I almost forget him."

"But he does not forget you; he talks of you, and wishes you lived with him."

"And so I shall," said Elsie, "when I am 21, and can do as I like."

The stranger smiled.

"I don't know how long off that date is," he said; "but I think it likely something may happen to prevent that voyage."

"I may die or he may die?" said Elsie.

"I was not anticipating any event so gloomy. Your father is a splendid man, in the prime of life."

"And his country ought to honor him," said Elsie, with rebellious lights in her eyes. "Instead, it exiles him!"

"He was too brilliant for his own safety," said the stranger.

"That is only a phrase," rejoined Elsie Carew, promptly.

The stranger laughed at her quickness. They had crossed the inner hall, and were now in a long drawing-room, all sunflower-colored silk and ebony, and blue china, and oak-panelled walls, the panels framed in carved ebony. Here and there some priceless gem of art hung against the wall—a Claud's sunset, or a dreamy landscape of Rembrandt; and here and there some masterpiece from modern art, some nocturne or symphony from the school which delights to exhibit itself at the Grosvenor Gallery. It was a room to enchant the soul of an aesthete, from the velvet-pile carpet of amber and jet to the ceiling of oak.

It was a vast room this amber drawing-room at Charteris, with seven long windows, opening upon a smooth sloping lawn, at the foot of which was a glassy fishpond, fringed with alder trees. In a corner was a grand piano, in a case of ebony, inlaid with gold.

At this piano sat Miss Pauline Bracegirdle, turning over the leaves of a music book. By her side stood a tall dark youth; sombre fire was in his eyes; he had black meeting brows; there was something picturesque and half-foreign in his aspect; young gentlemen and young ladies sat in groups, chattering, laughing.

Elsie looked round on the whole scene with a strong and vivid interest; her companion had placed a chair for her, and he stood by her with folded hands and a peculiar smile on his lips. Elsie interested him more than anybody in the room, with one exception.

"You seem to enjoy the sights in Vanity Fair, Miss Carew."

"Vanity Fair!" She started. "I did not think of it as Vanity Fair."

"Why not?" he asked, abruptly.

"Because there is nothing here that looks silly or affected—everyone seems natural."

"You mean that the ladies laugh loudly and say startling things? They are not like your ideal of fine ladies; but if you could understand all of this scene you would see that it painted from 'Vanity Fair' proper."

"Do you mean Thackeray's book"

"I mean that most of these men and women live in the same atmosphere that the fine ladies do in his story; everybody has brought his or her wares to the fair to display them or offer them for sale."

Elsie wondered who her companion was. He saw the wonder in her eyes, and he said, smiling:

"I know who you are, Miss Carew, and all about you. Lady Chase related the story of your heroine-like conduct to me yesterday, and I began to wonder if you could be the daughter of my old friend Cornelius Carew, and I find that you are; but you don't know who I am?"

"No," said Elsie, quietly. "Who are you?"

"I am Basil Byrne."

"Basil Byrne," she repeated; "but I don't think I am much wiser than I was before."

"Young ladies at school do not read newspapers?"

"No; and Aunt Johanna considers them the vulgar product of a vulgar age," said Elsie; "and I have read poetry, and biographies, and histories, and lots of novels, openly and secretly, but scarcely any papers. When I have the chance I shall devour them."

"Well, if you had read the Daily Telegraph, or the Daily News, or the Standard, or the Times, you would sometimes have seen my name. I am an Irishman, and I am a barrister, and I am a novelist, and I am in parliament."

"Oh!" said Elsie, "how delightful! If I were a man I would not rest until I had written my name on the century. And so you have written novels? Perhaps I have read some of them. What are they called?"

"I won't tell you now—I hate talking about my books; but I want you to understand that I am a student of my species, and that I take an interest in them, and I flatter myself that I understand them; and when I saw your innocent little face I said to myself, 'Here is a little wild bird flown by chance into an aviary filled with brilliant foreign ones, who may peck her if she does not take care,' so I thought I would warn you."

ANOTHER VICTORY!

Canadian Riflemen Defeat the Irish Team at Seagirt Ranges.

Towns Challenged by Eddie Durnan---New Records Made by Walthour---Matthews Signs Articles---Scores in International Cricket Match.

THE RIFLE.

CANADIANS VS. IRISH.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Canadian and Irish riflemen met Monday on the long ranges at Seagirt, N. J., in a special contest between teams of five men each. They shot over 800, 900 and 1,000 yards ranges, the Canadians using the English military rifle and the Ulster representatives shooting with Mannlicher guns. In consequence the Canadians received an allowance of eight points each, or 40 points for the team, and the honors went to Canada by 13 points on the gross score. The scores were: Canada, 593; Ulster Rifle Association, 620. The Irish team was selected by lot, and was not nearly so strong as if it were specially selected. Major J. K. Milner made 49 points out of a possible 50, at 1,000 yards. The match was decided on the scores made in the first half of the special all-comers' cash prize match race, in which 33 men took part, each of whom had ten shots apiece at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards. The second half will be shot today. In addition to this match, there was another between four men, who had seven shots each at 200, 300, 500 and 600 yards, which constitute the first half of a contest for three prizes, donated by the French shooting societies. The result so far is as follows: Capt. G. C. Shaw, Washington, D. C., 128; Capt. W. Martin, Elizabeth, N. J., 125; Lieut. H. M. Bell, Washington, D. C., 115, and Lieut. A. M. Allison, Washington, D. C., 109, out of a possible 140 points. In the all-comers' match those shooting with military rifles will be allowed 8 points each by those using Mannlicher rifles, and the net high scores out of a possible 150 are: Major J. K. Milner, Ireland, 136; Frank Hyde, New York, 135; Dr. J. C. Sellars, Ireland, 135; John Morgan, Ireland, 133; Capt. W. B. Martin, Elizabeth, N. J., 132; Color-Sergt. Skedden, Canada, 131; Thos. Caldwell, Ireland, 129, and James Wilson, Ireland, 128. The summary of the team match is: Canada—Capt. W. H. Davidson, 122; Pte. Paupst, 122; Sergt. Skedden, 131; Sergt.-Major Huggins, 113; Gunner Fleming, 105; handicap allowannce, 40; grand total, 633. Ulster Rifle Association—Major J. K. Milner, 136; Robert Duncan, 126; W. T. Braithwaite, 122; J. R. Williams, 120; F. W. Henry, 116; total, 622.

THE OAR.

TOWNS CHALLENGED BY DURNAN.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 11.—Towns, the new world's champion sculler, has received his first challenge, J. W. Smith offering to put up £250 for a race between Towns and Durnan. Sullivan, on behalf of Towns, declined unless the race is rowed either in England or Australia.

Rat Portage, Ont., Sept. 11.—George Towns received Eddie Durnan's challenge Monday, and was undecided as to whether he would row again this fall or not. He declared, however, that he would not row in America for any championship, but that if a regatta was arranged any place in Canada he says he might row. He says he is out of training for the present, and he will not likely take up work again before next year.

PEARCE BEATS HACKETT.

Rat Portage, Ont., Sept. 11.—The weather conditions for the Hackett-Pearce race Monday evening were perfect. Pearce had things all his way, and won by about ten lengths. The race was a mile and a half, straight-away. Sullivan offered $1,500 to $1,000 on Pearce on Saturday night, but his offer was not covered.

YACHTING.

ANOTHER SPIN.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 11.—After a successful trial spin of two hours and a half, the Shamrock returned to her moorings in the bay Monday. There was a good breeze from the southeast, when she started, at 3:05 p.m. It shifted to the southward, and finally to south-southwest. The yacht sailed on one tack through Gedney Channel to Sandy Hook lightship, thence to the southward about three miles, keeping off for home at 4:25. Her speed on the beam reach coming in from the lightship was undoubtedly between 14 and 16 knots. She covered all told about 20 miles while she was out.

FISTIC.

MATTHEWS SIGNS ARTICLES.

Toronto, Sept. 11.—The Crescent A. C. received the signed articles from Matty Matthews, of Brooklyn, N. Y., for a 20-round bout on Sept. 21, the first day of the fall races. Matthews' opponent will be either Eddie Kennedy, of Pittsburg, or Charlie McKeever, of Philadelphia. Weights will be 142 pounds.

THE WHEEL.

WALTHOUR A RECORD-BREAKER

Providence, R. I., Sept. 11.—Bobby Walthour was in fine form at the Coliseum Monday night, and lowered all world's bicycle records from 18 to 25 miles, placing the new marks as follows: 18, 26:58⅗; 19, 28:27⅕; 20, 29:55¼; 21, 31:24; 22, 32:32⅘; 23, 34:22; 24, 35:50⅛; 25, 37:17.

CRICKET.

AN INTERNATIONAL MATCH AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The Canadians did not do well yesterday in the international cricket game, and only scored 77 for eight men out. They go to bat again this morning, but the prospects are not good for a high score. Last night the visiting cricketers were tendered a dance at Aylmer. The score at lunch was 80 for the Americans, with six men out. Play was resumed at 2:30, with Bains and Clarke, the bowlers being Bristow and McGivern; total, 87-6-6; Bains' score, 127-7-65. He made three 4-hits and eight 3's. Bristow replaced Gillespie, and Laing, the fast over-hand bowler, went on in place of Chambers, the score being 140. Runs came slowly until the batsmen began to find Laing, but a mistake was made in judging the runs in a fine square-leg hit by Altenmuse, which led to Mason being run out; score, 153-8-18. Mason had made his runs by correct cricket. Jordan followed and made a short stay; score, 167-9-1. Pearson followed as last man, and a stand was made for a time, until the last man was caught out. Altenmuse's inning was well played. The score:

The action of the players probably will end the Eastern League baseball season in Hartford, as the franchise will be lost.

A THOUSAND THANKS.

Quebec Man Cannot Be Too Grateful for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Elyear, Que., Sept. 9, (Special).—A feature about the work of Dodd's Kidney Pills is the great gratitude they arouse in those whom they restore to health. Health and sickness are as different from each other as happiness and unhappiness, misery and joy. Is it any wonder that those who are transported from sickness to happiness and joy by Dodd's Kidney Pills are grateful to that wonderful medicine? And as Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured people all over the world, one may judge of the multitude which bless the name of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Here is what a Quebec man says:

"I thank Dodd's Kidney Pills. They cured me of Kidney disease which forced me to rise every hour at night. Today I am perfectly well. I sleep without rising. You can believe me I am glad to have regained my health. Thanks a thousand times to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The man who sleeps in a room without flyscreens doesn't need an alarm clock.

to the public the British Army Foot Powder, and we have heard nothing but praise of its healing and soothing qualities.

Dusted into the stockings in the morning it allays all inflammation and prevents chafing. Sold in 25 cent boxes by Cairncross & Lawrence.

Are You Weak?

I have the grandest invention of the age for weak men; the surest and easiest cure for all nervous and chronic diseases. Its wonderful power is directed to the seat of the nervous system, through which its vitalized strength penetrates into all parts of the body, carrying new life to every function which has been weakened by excesses or dissipation, restoring energy to the brain and power to the vital organs. No weak man, no sickly or delicate woman, will ever regret a fair trial of my

which is nature's restorer of vitality. It will cure every case of Rheumatism, Nervous Debility, Weak Stomach, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Lame Back, Sciatica, Varicocele, Loss of Power in the Vital Organs, and every evidence of weakness in men and women. It will not fail; it cannot fail, as it infuses in the weakened parts the force of life and strength. Anyone who will secure one can have my Belt and

Pay When Cured

Dr. McLaughlin:—

Dear Sir,—I beg to say that I am well pleased with your Belt, for it has done me a wonderful lot of good. I can also say that my back is completely cured. I cannot recommend your Belt too highly, and I will do all I can in favor of your treatment. Yours truly, CHARLES MATTHEWS, Brigden, Ont., June 24, 1901.

I guarantee a cure if I say I can cure. I don't ask anyone to take chances on my invention. It doesn't cost you anything if I fail.

Drugs won't restore your health. They only stimulate. If you have to take a stimulant take whiskey. Taken in moderation it does less harm than the others.

I will gladly send you my book on this subject. It has 82 pages of interesting matter for weak people. Sealed, free.

I take imitations of my Belt in trade, just to show how much better mine is.

RESOURCES OF THE DOMINION

Strikingly Shown by the C. P. R. Exhibit at the Western Fair.

Scenes of the Imperial Limited's Dash Across the Continent—Grains and Grasses From Manitoba — The Temiscaming Region and Its Beauties.

Canada offers homes to suit all tastes and all circumstances. For the capitalist an endless variety of opportunities for investment are offered, while for the man who has little else than his hands and brains the inducements to strike into the new territory are powerful and substantial. "Ho! for Manitoba!" cries the man who wants to strike his plowshare at once into the fertile prairie, while "Ho! for Temiscamingue!" is the password of the youth who believes in the timber country, where "the man with the axe" can make good wages while clearing his own farm. In its exhibit at the fair the C. P. R. makes a display of the resources of both sections, and of the Dominion generally, which is calculated to redound immensely not only to the benefit of the road itself, but to the whole country as well. A fine set of views are shown, showing the 96-hour trip across the continent in the Imperial Limited. Starting from Montreal, scenes are shown of Toronto, Ottawa, the shore of Lake Superior, Fort William, Winnipeg, the wheat fields of Manitoba, the ranching country of Alberta, and the magnificent beauties of the Rockies and British Columbia. A beautiful and tastefully-arranged exhibit is also made of the grains and grasses of Manitoba, showing the fertility of the Prairie Province, whose wheat fields can feed the world. The wheat shown at the fair brings the fertility of this part of Manitoba home to everybody who visits the Western. The grain is, of course, from this year's crop, the wheat standing four feet high, with clean and bright straw. The heads are well-filled with the hard, amber-colored berry which has become familiar all over the world as "Manitoba No. 1 hard." Other grains are shown, the whole making in itself a most attractive exhibit. The impression that the useful and habitable part of Canada was destined to be confined to a narrow strip along the great lakes and international boundary has long ago been dissipated, but the vast extent of the wealth that lies in the northern parts of Ontario and Quebec, and in other parts of the Dominion, is now being proved, and in this the C. P. R. is doing a good work. It is regrettable that the space allotted the C. P. R. is so limited, for several cases of magnificent scenes of the Temagaming and Temiscamingue regions were left unpacked because of lack of room. The whole exhibit is in charge of Mr. W. T. Dockrill, the traveling passenger agent of the C. P. R.

Questions Answered.

BELMONT.—Two men give written orders for two wagons to be built, costing $110 each, $50 down, when delivered, and balance as they get it. The wagons were for dray purposes. All that is done on wagons is the boxes. The parties have notified the builder to cancel the order as they do not need them. Now the builder wants $25 from each man as damages and for his trouble. Can he hold the order against them and collect full amount of order, or can he collect any of it? I am a painter, the other man is a railway employe. Can he garnishee his pay?

Ans.—The parties are liable to damages for breach of contract to the builder. If the parties cannot agree upon the amount, with the builder, they can defend an action against them to settle the amount. The builder cannot, under the circumstances, collect the full amount of the order, but only such damages as he has sustained. When he has obtained judgment for such damages he can garnishee the railway company for any sum exceeding the exemption allowed by law due to the employe. It does not appear whether it was a joint or several order. If joint, both parties are liable for all the damages; if several, each is liable for his own default.

Ventilation.

The Resilia insole expands from outsole when foot is lifted.

It thus draws in fresh air, through a tiny valve in the heel, which locks it in.

When insole is borne upon, the air contained in the cross channels is then forced up around the stocking, through a row of perforations, under the hollow of the foot.

The valve works one way only.

It thus locks the air in, when foot is lifted, compelling it to circulate up around the stocking, and out at the boot top.

Have You Made Your Will?

Doubtless delay is frequently due to the difficulty experienced in selecting an executor of requisite ability and integrity, more particularly if a trust is created under a will; and even when a suitable person is selected there is always a grave doubt whether such person will live to execute the trust.

This company was established expressly to remove such doubts and meet every requirement (as executor or trustee) in respect to security, continuity and efficiency in management.

ST. THOMAS CITIZEN DEAD.

Mr. Jesse Broderick, an aged and much respected resident of St. Thomas, died Monday at the residence of his son, Mr. W. C. Broderick. He was born in England 90 years ago, and had lived in St. Thomas for a quarter of a century. His wife died twenty years ago. Mr. Broderick had been ailing for a couple of weeks, but death was due to old age. He was a man greatly respected in the community, and well-known in the city. He was a member of what is called the New Church. The deceased leaves five children—H. G., drygoods merchant; David C., merchant tailor, St. Thomas; John, of this city; Theophilis L. and William.

IN SPITE OF THE BISHOP.

Two young people of Sandwich East township on Monday succeeded in getting married despite the opposition of Bishop McEvay to their union. The parties are Frank Reaume and Miss Minnie St. Louis. The groom and the bride's father oppose the separate school which Bishop McEvay founded at Tecumseh, and refused to give it financial aid, choosing rather to remain supporters of the public schools. The bans for the young couple were called in the Tecumseh church for two Sundays, but when Reaume and his father-in-law-elect continued firmly opposed to separate schools, they were informed by Father Villeneauve, parish priest at Tecumseh, that he was prohibited by the bishop from performing the marriage ceremony. The couple were married in Detroit later on.

KILLED BY A FALL

Mrs. John Jones Fractures Her Skull by Falling Down Stairs and Dies Next Morning.

Mrs. John Jones, of York street, fell downstairs Monday night and fractured her skull. She died yesterday at Victoria Hospital.

She arose during the night, and was walking upstairs in the dark, when she fell to the floor.

The family will have general sympathy in the unfortunate occurrence. Mrs. Jones was about 60 years of age. Her family comprised five boys, one of whom is Mr. Alex. Jones, of Sault Ste. Marie.

When No. 32, Michigan Central express, was standing at the St. Thomas depot on Sunday morning waiting for the conductor to get his orders, Chief Train Dispatcher George Babbitt, looking out of an upstairs window, saw a man lying on his back on the top of one of the cars. Depot Master Allen was notified, and took the man to his office. He was a pretty tough-looking object, being covered with coal dust. He was allowed to clean himself up, and was then told to get out of town. He rode from Windsor.

Mrs. Harris, wife of Edward Harris, who is employed by Duncan Ferguson, con. 12, Yarmouth, went to St. Thomas on Saturday, accompanied by her three children. About 11 o'clock she missed one of them, Gertrude, a girl 9 years of age, while she was in the postoffice. Mrs. Harris at once notified the police, and they made a search for the missing child, as also did the latter's parents, but she could not be found. Thinking that perhaps Gertrude had driven home with friends, Mrs. Harris went to Mr. Ferguson's, but in this she was disappointed. Mr. Harris on Sunday continued the search, and found his daughter at the residence of Peter Sharp, near the Dominion Hotel, where she had been well cared for.

CENTURY FUND OF PRESBYTERY.

Report Upon Details of Its Condition.

Several Important Resolutions Passed Upon and Much Business Transacted at Yesterday's Meeting.

When the Presbytery resumed yesterday afternoon, W. J. Clark gave in the report of the century fund, showing that of the amount subscribed for the common fund by the presbytery, $28,732, there had been received by the general treasurer $26,098. The details are as follows, the first column giving the amounts subscribed by the various ministers and congregations; the second column amounts subscribed by Sabbath schools and young peoples' societies, and the third column giving the amount received by the treasurer of the church:

Mr. Clark concluded by moving the following resolutions, which were carried:

1. The presbytery having heard the report of the convener of the century fund, expresses its gratification at the faithful response there has been throughout its bounds to the appeal of the church, and especially in the subscriptions given to the common fund, the Presbytery of London standing 5th on the list of 52 presbyteries in its subscription to the common fund, and 4th on the list when regard is had to the amount of money paid in to the church treasurer for the common fund on June 25, 1901.

2. The Presbytery strongly urges all, sessions, managing boards and congregations within its jurisdiction to make an earnest effort so that the full amounts subscribed may be remitted to the treasurer of the church at as early a date as possible, not later that the 15th of October.

3. It is also urged upon all local century fund committees to see to it that an accurate copy is made of all subscribers in the congregation, Sabbath schools and young people's societies, and that this be forwarded at as early a date as possible to Dr. R. Campbell, Perth, the general agent.

4. Inasmuch as it appears that at least $60,000 additional to the amounts subscribed is needed in order that the $600,000 aimed at for the Common Fund may be obtained, congregations are exhorted to make an additional effort in order that the amount subscribed for the common fund in this presbytery, $28,732, may be raised to at least $30,000.

5. The presbytery is desirous that the suggestions of the General Assembly for the deepening of spiritual life and the development of aggressive work in connection with this century fund movement be properly carried out, and hereby appoints the first Sabbath of January as a special day of thanksgiving, on which, wherever practicable, the Lord's Supper shall be observed. And further, the presbytery instructs the committee on church life and work for the current year to take into consideration the recommendations of the General Assembly (minutes, page 59), and report at the November meeting as to the best methods of carrying these into effect.

An additional resolution was moved instructing the committee to take into consideration the best methods of carrying out the spirit of resolution No. 4.

The discussion on Dr. McCrae's motion was continued at length, a number of members taking part. When the question was put to the house, the motion was defeated.

Rev. Mr. Currie then submitted a motion to delete the words "who are eligible for election" from the following rule: That presbytery shall have power to elect any members "who are eligible for election" to any assembly, independent of the rule of rotation. This was carried.

The grants from the augmentation fund for the past six months were passed—$29 to Aylmer and Springfield; Appin and North Ekfrid, $37 50. This grant was refused by Mr. Henderson. Fingal, $125; Hyde Park and Komoka, $55; Port Stanley, $100; Tempo and South Delaware, $62 50. The presbytery decided to increase the application for South Delaware and Tempo to $75, and Messrs. J. G. Stuart and R. Stuart were asked to forward a statement to the executive of the augmentation committee regarding the needs of that charge.

It was decided to appoint Rev. D. J. Ellison, Dunwich, as a representative of presbytery at the annual meeting of the W. F. M. S., in Glencoe, on Nov. 5.

Rev. Mr. Drummond was granted leave to moderate in a call to Aylmer and Springfield if necessary.

The committee to strike standing committees for the year submitted the following list:

Church Life and Work—James Wilson, convener; W. M. Kay, Thos. Watson, Thos. Wilson, ministers, and Dr. J. McArthur, elder.

Augmentation—J. Currie, convener; James Little, R. McIntyre, ministers; A. P. Campbell, elder.

Sabbath Schools—J. H. Barnett, convener; J. Scott, R. Stewart, ministers; John C. Fletcher, elder.

Examination of Students—W. J. Clark, convener, examiner in systematic theology; W. H. Reede, in Hebrew; D. R. Drummond, in Greek; W. H. Geddes, in church history; J. G. Stuart, in philosophy, ministers; elders, John Turner and A. J. Campbell.

Young People's Societies—H. W. Reede, convener; A. Lawrence, D. J. Ellison, ministers; James Meek, elder.

Statistics—J. H. Courtenay, convener; John Lindsay, Walter Moffatt, ministers; John McFarlane, elder.

Schemes of the Church—George Gilmore, convener; Dr. J. L. McCrae, Isaac McDonald, ministers; D. McColl, elder.

Remits of Assembly—James Steven, convener; R. W. Leitch, J. Wilson, ministers; I. Rathburn, elder.

Finance—D. Kelso, convener; Dr. George Sutherland, A. Wilson, ministers; D. C. McKellar, elder.

Supply of Vacancies—W. A. Wyllie, convener; John Hosie, Alex. Henderson, ministers; John Strathdee, elder.

Home Missions—A. J. McGillivray, convener; Dr. R. Johnston, ministers; and John Cameron and Eliot Grieve, elders.

The following session records were approved: Glencoe, First Church (London), Hyde Park, English Settlement, Thamesford, Ailsa Craig, Dutton and Chalmers Church (Dunwich).

The presbytery agreed to postpone consideration of visiting Wardsville and Newbury until the November meeting.

Rev. Mr. McGillivray reported as to supply of Hyde Park in the early part of the year, that it was practically provided for. This was received.

Mr. Kelso presented the following resolution in connection with the retirement of Rev. John Milloy: The presbytery, in accepting the resignation of the Rev. John Milloy, of Crinan and West Lorne, feel grateful to God for having spared him to labor for so many years within its bounds. Mr. Milloy has been a member of this court for 30 years, ever ready and willing to do the work assigned him, and by his courteous, unassuming bearing he endeared himself to every member. During all these years he ministered to one congregation, taking the deepest interest in the welfare of his people. Painstaking in pulpit preparation, faithful in the discharge of duty, and devoted to his pastorate, he had the satisfaction of knowing that his services were duly appreciated by an attached flock, the utmost harmony and goodwill always prevailing between minister and people. His ministry was owned and blessed by God in the upbuilding of the church, in the conversion of sinners and edification of saints. When the infirmities of 80 years began to tell upon his strength he felt it to be his duty to tender his resignation, and retire from the active duties of the ministry. The presbytery, in saying farewell to their esteemed brother, pray that the blessing of God may rest upon him, and that when his work on earth is done, an abundant entrance may be granted him into the presence of his Lord, where there is fullness of joy.

This resolution was cordially agreed to.

It was agreed to hold the next regular meeting of the presbytery in Knox Church, St. Thomas, on the second Tuesday in November, at 10:30 a.m.
