

BANDIT'S RETURNING FOR TRIAL

Body of Woman Found in Thames at Ridout Street Bridge

LESLIE HATHEWAY, TRAPPED BY SMART WORK OF POLICE, ACCUSED AS LONE BANDIT

A. LLOYD MENNIE,
London provincial officer, whose good work was responsible for the capture of Leslie G. Hatheway, confessed bank robber.

HATHEWAY HERE FOR MANY YEARS Man Accused As Bandit Held Many Jobs in This City.

Leslie G. Hatheway, 30 Windsor avenue, held by Toronto police as the man who robbed the Thorndale branch of the Bank of Montreal, has been living in London for the past five or six years.

He has been employed in several places in London. When he first came to the city he worked for the McClary Manufacturing Company in its accounting department. After being there two years he left and went into the automobile business. In 1923 and part of 1924 he was employed as a salesman by J. W. McLaughlin, 21
Dundas street. After he left Mc-Laughlin's he did not work for a considerable length of time. Six months ago he started work with the Hay Stationery Company, and he stayed with that firm for one week.

As far as could be learned he then
was employed by another automobile
firm as a mechanic.

On the day following the Thorndale
robbery, friends went to visit him. He had told them that he was going to leave London but when they arrived at his home he said things had picked up considerably and that he did not expect to go. Nevertheless,
they thought to have come to Toronto
where he rented the apartment where
the money was found.

The Hatheways had lived in South London for four years, ever since they were married. Hatheway's parents are believed to have lived at one time in Fredericton, N. B.

Mrs. Hatheway has been away for some weeks, long before the Thorndale case. Neighbors are convinced that she could know nothing of the robbery, and that she was a rather charming personality in the neighborhood, a former teacher of English in Haverhill college.

Hatheway, too, has his little circle of friends, but they were mostly the youngsters of the neighborhood, who went by him as a good sport and a generous one. He had been out of work so long that they had more time with him than the other men in the neighborhood.

Their mothers and fathers felt sorry that Hatheway is suspected. It is clear, they say, that he must have gone overseas as early as his age would permit. He had spent some time in hospital as a result of his war services, and to the group it was his inability to get or hold steady work was a probable consequence.

Recently a brother in Toronto had offered to take him under his wing and get him a start. He had been a bank clerk before his last prolonged spell of unemployment, and had taken the job as a garage mechanic
only for the purpose of breaking
"the jinx."

ALBERTA COAL DELIVERIES STARTED IN TORONTO

Canadian Press Despatch.

mences in Toronto today of coal

augurated some time this week. Forty-three carloads of the Alberta coal arrived

of the 25,000-ton consignment.
The remaining tonnage is expected in trains of 40 or 50 cars, during the next week or so.

Thorndale Bank on July 3.

Same Day and Paid For the Next With

BROKEN STOPLIGHT ASSISTS PURSUERS

Leslie Hatheway, former bank clerk and London automobile salesman, arrested in Toronto last night on a charge of robbing the Bank of Montreal branch at Thorndale on the afternoon of July 3, will arrive in London tonight, accompanied by Provincial Constable A. Lloyd Mennie, who is almost entirely responsible for the apprehension of the youthful and daring bank bandit.

Hatheway was remanded in Toronto police court this morning until such time as Constable Mennie was prepared to take him to London. Immediately on the prisoner's arrival he will be rushed en masse into the county jail and placed in the famous steel cage built specially for Sid Murrell. Hatheway, who will appear before Deputy Magistrate Gladman, will be further remanded and likely come before the court tomorrow morning.

SMART POLICE WORK.
Hatheway's capture resulted from smart police work on the part of Constable Mennie and those closely associated with him.

The day after the Thorndale robbery, Crown Attorney Albert Judt sent for the provincial constable and asked him to devote his entire time to the capture of the cool-headed young man that robbed
the bank and made his escape without attracting any particular attention.

The first move was to get in touch with every provincial constable in Ontario. Constable Storey at Fenelon Falls heard of the robbery, and was given a description of the robber, as well as that of his car, a dark green McLaughlin, four cylinders and 1923 model.

Fenelon Falls Tip.
A few days later Mennie was notified
by Storey that a Mr. Hatheway
from London had arrived in Fenelon Falls driving a car of that description. Hatheway was staying at the hotel and seemed to have lots of money.

Mennie then got busy in London.
He had learned from two Thorndale
garagemen that the number of the bandit's car was 184-503, the garage-
men thought, and they also noticed that the glass on the red stop-light
was broken, with the piece of glass lying in place. The stop-light was also broken in the green car at Fenelon Falls.

Hatheway's number was 184-503, Constable Mennie learned from his friend Storey, and the next move was a trip to the license bureau here,
where Mennie verified the license
number issued to the car. The car,
had been owned by Silverwoods, Limited.

A trip to Silverwoods' office
brought the information that Hatheway had visited Silverwoods the morning of the robbery, stating that he thought he had a purchaser for the car, and would be back at noon
with the car or the money.

Mrs. Hatheway There.
Hatheway then took the car over to the office of H. J. Childs, issuer
of licenses, and bought a new license.

MADE THREE FUTILE TRYS TO HIDE SOURCE OF MONEY

Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, July 20.—Leaping from the running-board of the automobile
in which he was driving to the steering wheel of another car late yesterday afternoon, Police Constable
Craddock, No. 690, arrested Leslie Hatheway of London, Ont., on a charge of bank robbery.

Police say that, following his arrest, Hatheway confessed to being the man who held up a branch of the Bank of Montreal in Thorndale on July 3, forced four employees into the vault at the point of a gun, and escaped with over $7,000 in bills.

Upon investigation it was found that a new McLaughlin, Officers McGregor and McLeellan, in charge of the police switchboard and signal service in No. 1 station, notified the constables on every beat in the city to watch out for the car and arrest all its occupants. Shortly after 2:30 the automobile was reported as being seen on College street just west of Bay. The constable who saw it was unable to give chase and was lost to him.

Craddock Gives Chase.
About an hour later, Constable
Craddock was walking on Queen street near Soho, going east, when he saw the car going east. He immediately commanded another automobile, which he ordered to chase the car containing the alleged robber. As Hatheway was turning

DARROW CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Evolution Trial Counsel Must Face Charge in Dayton
Tomorrow.

BAILED FOR $5,000

Associated Press Despatch.
Courtroom, Dayton, Tenn., July 20.
—Clarence Darrow, of counsel for the defense in the Scopes evolution trial,
was cited for contempt of court today
by Judge John T. Raulston. The attorney was ordered to appear tomorrow and show cause why contempt proceedings should not be instituted.

"As soon as the case opened this morning Judge John T. Raulston read a statement in which he declares one of the responsibilities of a judge is to avoid exciting passion or prejudice
among any persons, particularly
among the jurors."

He then said that a colloquy occurred last Friday between the judge
and Clarence Darrow of the defense counsel.

"In the face of what is considered
an unjustified criticism of the court
made by Clarence Darrow I feel that I must protect the dignity of my court."

The judge then directed that Clarence Darrow be required to appear in court Tuesday morning to answer to a charge of contempt directing that he make a bail bond of $5,000.

Mr. Darrow arose and said he did not know whether he could make the bond.

"I guess you can," said Judge
Raulston.

Mr. Darrow was smiling. The judge
was not smiling.

Surety Guaranteed.
The court received a guarantee of Mr. Darrow's surety and the trial proceeded with the defence endeavoring to introduce documentary evidence in the absence of the jury.

The state objected to this and Judge Raulston ruled that the book might be filed "for the present."

A mild controversy developed between defence and state counsel as to whether the statements of scientists should be admitted.

62,000 WORKERS THREATEN STRIKE

Yorkshire Wool Trade Is in Throes of Biggest Crisis
in Century.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, July 20.—The Yorkshire
wool trade is in the throes of a crisis such as has not been known for nearly a century. The employers threaten to lock out 62,000 employees unless they agree to a reduction in wages, and the employees are threatening to strike on July 25 unless the employers' proposals for the reduction are withdrawn in the meantime.

Four years ago the workers in the wool industry accepted reductions
in their pay which they now claim to be a detour towards the rehabilitation of the wool trade of £50
for each man and £30 for each woman. The workers claim that the nomination of a new scheme would result in saving only one per cent of the cost of production.

The workers contend that the present stagnation in the wool trade
is not due to foreign competition,
but to decrease in the demand in this country for woolen goods.

There is a deadlock at present between employers and employees in the wool industry, but the employees declare that unless the employers withdraw their proposals all
the workers, members of the unions,
and non-union members, will be occupied upon to cease work on Saturday.

MAY NAME FALLON AS CARDINAL

Death of Archbishop of Quebec
Makes Vacancy For London
Bishop.

WELL KNOWN AT ROME

Endeavors in Behalf of Catholic Education Well Known Locally.

Rt. Rev. Michael F. Fallon D.D., bishop of London, is, by reason of the death yesterday of Cardinal L. N.
Begin, archbishop of Quebec, in line
for the appointment by Pope Benedict XV as cardinal of Canada.

Particularly in this true should the pope decide to follow the only two French-speaking cardinals the Dominion has had with an English-speaking prelate.

Sir Philip Pocock, prominent Roman Catholic of this city, sees the possibility of the appointment of two Canadian cardinals, one French-speaking and one English-speaking, in the event of which action he regards it as highly probable that Bishop Fallon
of the church in the past merit his appointment as cardinal of Canada.

"Bishop Fallon stands well in line,"
remarked Mr. Pocock this morning,
"and he is well known at the Vatican."
In fact, when I visited Rome with him five years ago, I thought that he was well known at the Vatican. The bishop of London is an exceedingly active man, aggressive on behalf of the church, a keen student of both religious and secular affairs, a warm
situation, and he has been frequently mentioned as a possible cardinal.

"Bishop Fallon's efforts on behalf
of the church in the past merit his appointment as cardinal," continued Mr. Pocock, "and I, in common with all other English-speaking Roman Catholics in Canada, would be delighted to hear of his elevation to the cardinalship. Without the bishop's energy and zeal we would never have had the magnificent building at Sunshine park for St. Peter's seminary, for the bringing of which institution to London the bishop is responsible." His comments were on behalf of the bishop's efforts.

Tapestry Steal Fools Officers

"Synthetic" Third of German Treasure Is Sought.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Berlin, July 20.—What is surely one of the most notable art swindles on record is occupying German connoisseurs and police. Two magnificent tapestries which were hung in the Wartburg as property of the grand duke of Sax-Weimar, were placed under the index of works of art forbidden to leave the country, when an inventory of pictures and other valuables was taken shortly after the revolution.

It was not forbidden to sell to other German owners, and the ex-grand duke was within his rights in offering them lately to a private collector. The tapestries were bought by a purchaser sent to the director of the Berlin museum for his opinion
before paying the exceedingly high price demanded.

Here it was discovered that a great part of both tapestries had been cut away in so subtly skillful fashion that a third tapestry picture can very well be constructed from them. The
would-be buyer has refused the offer of the two mutilated pictures, and search is being made for the "synthetic" third.

SPLIT IN KLAN RANKS STARTS NEW GROUP HERE

London To Be Prominent Center
For Organization of Ku Klux
of British Empire.

ORGANIZER HERE

Idea Is To Emphasize Points
Not Stressed by Old Order.

London will be a prominent center
for the organization of the Ku Klux Klan
of the British Empire, a new hooded order which is already making successful sorties into the ranks of the K. K. K. of Canada. Organizers here claim that members of the established order are coming over daily to the ranks of the Empire group.

A serious split in the ranks of the "Canadian" Klan is reported in London, a division which the "British Empire" group declares is due to the place demanded for the support of Protestant tenets in the order. According to members of the newer organization, the K. K. K. of the British Empire really isn't new at all but was formed a year and a half ago and before the "Canadian" Klan got under way last February in London. The second order apparently secured the ideas of the Empire
order and commenced organization,
with results that have proved far from satisfactory to the Empire
order supporters.

Organizer Here.
Dr. J. Hawkins, Toronto organizer of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan
of the British Empire, was in London
last week, conferring with officials at new headquarters here. Several Londoners met Dr. Hawkins yesterday and laid plans for immediate and carefully planned steps to build membership. Officials admit that Klansmen from the Canadian order
are leaving that order for the Empire organization.

Protestantism is stressed by the new faction, which alleges that the old order is weak in the exercise of its church principles. The new order is based on patriotic arguments and much support is expected from British Protestants.

Not Fighting Religion.
"We want to bring to the front
several of the strongest planks in our platform," a London organizer said today. "Protestantism, chastity
of womanhood, sanctity of the home.
We are not fighting religious Rome.
But we are taking a strong stand against political Rome and its influence in this country."

Application card statements of the Empire order appear much the same as the old Klan publicity. The new motto is "Not for self but for others."
Criminals, gamblers, thugs, libertine peddlers, moonshiners, pagans,
priests, crooked politicians, white slavers, and others are down on the Klans' books as enemies.

"We are not slinging mud and offering any expose of the old order
now," a prominent member of the new order points out. "We are dissatisfied with the old regime and want new administration. Much will be revealed within the next two weeks regarding the operations of the old order."

UNKNOWN WOMAN IS DROWNED

Remains Found in Thames at Noon, But Not Yet Identified by Police.

VICTIM ABOUT 65

Police Seek Information About
Woman Taken From River.

Floating among the weeds in the Thames river at the Ridout street bridge the body of an unidentified woman was found at 12 o'clock noon
today by Robert Murrell, 238 Talbot street and Nell McDonald, 42 York street.

It was evident from the state of decomposition that the body had been in the water for several days. The woman was clothed in a white shirt
waist, black dress, black stockings, black silk stockings. She was about 65 years of age. Her hair was slightly gray. Her height was five feet six inches. She wore a small band gold ring.

The body was found in a small clump of weeds just a foot or two off the east bank of the river just where it makes the turn to go under the bridge. The Murrell and Mc-Donald boys were walking along the bank when they saw the form lying face down in the water.

In Water Long Time.
Bearing the marks of the ravages of water, the features would almost defy identification. Those who were on the scene said that the body could not have been in the water less than three weeks. The rest of the body to the undertaker parlors of N. J.
Griffith.

Detective Elmer Walsh was on the scene a few minutes after the body was found. He is working on the case.

Bridge Crowded.
It was only a matter of moments
after the body was found that the street and the bridge was crowded with people. The false alarm that two boys had been drowned drew a hundred people from the neighborhood.
Mothers whose children had been away all morning playing in Thames park, some of them hysterical, rushed to the bridge to see if their children who were watching the operations
on the bank opposite.

Even after the hears left with the body, the curiosity of the crowd held
two boys had been drowned.

It was thought by some that the body might be that of the patient of the Ontario Hospital who disappeared from that institution a couple of weeks ago. Inquiry at the hospital showed that such was not the case.
Dr. Robert Hargrave, coroner, said
this afternoon that the police were working on the case and that nothing
had been done concerning an inquest as yet.

CROWDS DELIGHTED AS AMATEURS AGT

Saturday Night, With Ten Acts, Inaugurates New Feature at Beach Movie.

The inauguration of a series of amateur theatrical contests at the Port Stanley Beach moving picture aerodrome on Saturday evening delighted a packed house, when ten acts were presented in an attractive little vaudeville bill as has been enjoyed by a summer crowd in some time.

The judges encountered a difficult task in arriving at a decision, but it was finally found out of the dilemma by doubling most of the prizes.

Successful was the first contest and so pleasing to the audience, that the management forthwith announced that next Saturday evening will be another contest in which all amateur entertainers are invited to enter.

REALIZING OF DUTY IS GREATEST NEED

Rev. Col. George Wood Preaches At Union Services.

A newspaper editorial supplied the theme of a powerful sermon delivered at the union service of St. Andrews and First Presbyterian churches Sunday morning by Rev. Col. George W. Wood E.A. The editorial which prompted Col. Wood's remarks was entitled "The Christianizing of a Christian" and taking his line of thought from the idea developed in the editorial he preached an interesting sermon on the subject "The greatest need of the church."

There was need he thought for a great deal of work in the churches along the lines suggested by the newspaper editor. It was not only necessary for a man to become a Christian, but also that he should progress and grow in the faith, just as enlistment is only the beginning of the making of the soldier, conversion is only the commencement of a Christian life.

Before there could be any progress to full growth in the Christian life there must be a conception of the meaning and purpose of the life of Christ. Col. Wood declared. The first vision of Christ shouldn't be the best one, there should be other and better visions later on.

There could not be much progress made in the Christianizing of the heathen world he pointed out in conclusion, until those already in the Christian church are seized with the importance of their own responsibilities and duties. Realization of this by church members he characterized as the present greatest need of the church.

Col. Wood, who was the preacher also the evening service, is associate minister of Trinity United church, Ingersoll.

HYDE PARK THIEF GIVEN TWO YEARS

Harold Sager Has Served Three Previous Terms. But This Is Stiftest.

Harold Sager, who pleaded guilty a week ago to robbing a Hyde Park house of goods valued at $150 on July 7, was given a determinate sentence of two years less one day in the Ontario reformatory when he appeared before County Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw this morning.

Sager, although but a youth of 20, has a bad record, it was ascertained by High Constable Wharton, having already served three terms in prison. Crown Attorney Judd stated that his plea for parole would be viewed with favor by himself or other court officials, which will mean that Sager will be locked up for the next two years.

On July 27, 1920, Sager was convicted in Hamilton on four theft charges and sentenced to Burwash for from three to six months. In 1921 he bobbed up in Kingston and was given three months for theft. Sager was released on parole in September, 1922, and was not in the toils of the pill till April 17, 1924, when a charge of shop-breaking in Nanawau was dismissed.

"You are a bad man of bad character and dangerous to be at large," Magistrate Hawkshaw told Sager. "I might be worse," replied the prisoner. "However, here I am."

DARROW NOW FACES CHARGE OF CONTEMPT

MASS OF EVIDENCE.

Associated Press Despatch. Dayton, Tenn., July 20.—Attorneys for John Thomas Scopes had ready for presentation to court today a mass of documents to support their contention of theories of evolution.

The lawyers were prepared to place these statements in the record of the case for the information of a superior court in the event Friday forbade the jury to hear the experts' explain the theory of evolution.

After two days' adjournment over the week-end, which the defence spent in preparing the experts' statements, both sides today anticipated an early conclusion of the case.

Condemned From Start. John Thomas Scopes was condemned from the start of the evolution case, Clarence Darrow declared in a statement in which he outlined his views of the case, evolution, and religion.

"We know that in this state, under the surroundings and conditions of the trial, Mr. Scopes was condemned from the start," he said. "We are from the interested in two things: That a higher court shall pass upon this case, and that in other states those who wish to pursue the truth shall be left free to read and investigate as they wish and learn."

"We know that the great majority of the intelligent Christians do not accept the literal interpretation of a whole Bible. We have learned here, both from laymen and clergymen, that a large part of the fundamentalists do not accept it."

William J. Bryan, in a statement, says that the Tennessee evolution case has uncovered a conspiracy against Bible Christianity.

Deceived, Says Darrow. Declaring that multitudes have been deceived by the use of the term "evolution," he added that their eyes are now being opened. Evolution as taught by scientists, he claims, is an imaginary process, wholly unproved, that begins with life, but does not attempt to explain life.

The evolutionists bring their doctrine before the public in a jewelled case and praise it as if it were a sacred thing. They do not exhibit, as Darwin did, its bloody purpose; they do not tell the public that Darwin, who studied for the ministry and in his youth believed in a personal God and in the strict and literal truth of every word in the Bible, was led away from Christianity by evolution and died an agnostic."

Human Ears Found on Train

Associated Press Despatch. Paris, July 20.—What are supposed to be human ears were found in an underground railroad train. The driver of the train, which had arrived at a terminus, was preparing for the return journey when he noticed a small box carefully wrapped up on the floor of the car. When opened the box was found to contain two ears, freshly cut off. The police were immediately informed of the matter and a doctor was called. The doctor expressed the opinion that the ears were human, and possibly were those of an Algerian.

LESLIE HATHEWAY ACCUSED AS BANDIT

The house was shrouded in darkness, but Constable Menzies and license inspector, Walter Bolton, who had assisted him through the case in every manner possible, waited patiently for Hatheway until he returned. The officers waited all day Sunday and did not leave the neighborhood until news arrived from Toronto that their man was behind jail bars.

Police are quite positive from information received at Thorndale that Hatheway planned and executed the robbery without help. It was stated that the man who drove the car, but is now believed that Hatheway acted the part of the "Lone Wolf" and took no persons into his confidence in executing what police claim to be the most daring and clever bank robbery in the history of Western Ontario.

Laugher George Tuttle, an officer mentioned to the crown-attorney, and High Constable Wharton the fact that he had passed a green McLaughlin car going either to Lindsay or Fenelon Falls.

Both front tires were punctured and the driver of the car was not stopping for anything, Mr. Tuttle said. The car talked with the description of the machine at Thorndale, Mr. Tuttle declared.

A trip to St. Mary's was made last week by the crown attorney, Constable Menzies and High Constable Wharton to get more information about Hatheway. It was intended to have a high constable and a constable drive to Toronto for the prisoner this morning, but it was feared that they would not be back in time tonight for an inquest which Mr. Wharton must attend.

Has Lots of Nerve. Hatheway is described as a young man with "lots of nerve." People who knew him more or less intimately stated today that he was just the type to get away with a robbery such as was committed at Thorndale. He was quite a sensible chap and enjoyed life to the full. The fact that he was down on his luck did not apparently bother him much. He served overseas and was quite used to handling firearms. Coming to London after he left the employ of the Sterling Bank, he got a job on the office staff of McClary's, who was a valued member of the Silverwoods staff. Later he became an automobile salesman and was employed by several dealers in London.

His wife, whom he married three years ago came from New Brunswick. Mrs. Hatheway was a Miss

Early Railway Settlement Favored By City Engineer As Great Step In Advance

W. P. Near Addresses Rotary Club on Some Immediate City Problems.

BOWLERS ARE GUESTS. Bridge Problem a Football For Years, City Engineer Complains.

The unsettled state of London's street railway problems, according to W. P. Near, city engineer, speaking before the Rotary club today, is having a more far-reaching effect on London's progress than some people imagine.

Mr. Near urged strongly the attainment of an early consummation of the involved street railway affairs, protested against the erection of a separate street railway bridge at Ridout street, and advised the city and railway company to get together directly on plans for a combined bridge at that point.

The address given by Mr. Near, touching intently upon municipal problems, featured the regular luncheon at which the club entertained as its guests a number of last year's Canadian lawn bowling team to England, which is in the city for its reunion at the London Rowing club, and about 12 members of the club.

The musical program of the day included a solo, England, by Samuel Inkster, St. Catharines, and a duet, After the Pray, by E. A. Webster and A. L. Christiani, with Charles E. Wheeler at the piano. R. B. Rice, well-known Toronto bowler, and capt. of the Canadian team introduced the Rotarians from points as distant as Ashton, Ohio; St. Clair, Mich., and Drumheller, Alta.

Footbal for Years. Referring to the bridge problem in the city, Mr. Near observed that it had been made a football for some years past. He paid a tribute to the designer of the Ridout street bridge, built in 1875, the structure having stood up so well for so long under conditions of traffic which the builder could not possibly have foreseen.

Comment was made by the engineer also on the grade separation problem, and it was stated that even now the C. N. R. and the officials of the city council have been in conference with a view to building certain subways, which will fit in with the final plan of a combined raising of the tracks and subway scheme is completed, the plans of which have not yet been made public.

Mr. Near bemoaned the fact that there is not definite city plan for the guiding of new street development, though thanks are due to those who in the past had made a liberal start on wide streets.

Other Cares. Characterizing the duties of a municipal engineer as including the promotion of health, comfort and convenience in the city, Mr. Near cited the cares and interests of such an engineer as including the following departments: pure water supply, sewer system, sewage disposal, garbage collection, street flushing, street cleaning, construction of pavements and sidewalks, building inspection.

"The city which can be said to have no problems can be considered well on the road to the graveyard," concluded Mr. Near, "and, therefore, we are to be congratulated that we still have a few problems on our hands."

FUNERAL TOMORROW OF ACCIDENT VICTIM

A. E. Root of Argyle Park Is Survived by Four Brothers and Four Sisters.

The funeral of Albert E. Root, Argyle park, who was killed in an accident near Pottersburg early Saturday morning, will be held from his late residence, 78 Edmonton street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The service will be conducted by Rev. A. L. Beverley, rector of St. Mark's Anglican church, of which the deceased was a member. Interment will be made in Woodland cemetery.

The late Mr. Root came to the city from London, England, about 15 years ago, and was employed here with Nelson Southern, contractor. Besides his father, he is survived by four brothers and four sisters, as follows: Misses Emma, Jessie and Alice Root, all of Argyle park; Mrs. George Malces, London, and Claude, Samuel, James and Sidney Root, all of Argyle park. His mother predeceased him a few months ago. He was not married.

Mr. Root bemoaned the fact that there is not definite city plan for the guiding of new street development, though thanks are due to those who in the past had made a liberal start on wide streets.

Other Cares. Characterizing the duties of a municipal engineer as including the promotion of health, comfort and convenience in the city, Mr. Near cited the cares and interests of such an engineer as including the following departments: pure water supply, sewer system, sewage disposal, garbage collection, street flushing, street cleaning, construction of pavements and sidewalks, building inspection.

"The city which can be said to have no problems can be considered well on the road to the graveyard," concluded Mr. Near, "and, therefore, we are to be congratulated that we still have a few problems on our hands."

In the list of students successful at the London Normal school the name of Miss Iva L. Campbell was included by mistake.

The Most Important Problem We Have

The Advertiser's Ottawa correspondent says that there is a rumor at the capital that the government may ask the people of the dominion to vote on the course they favor for the future management of the Canadian National Railways. He makes it clear that he has no ministerial authority for his report, but that it is a matter being discussed generally.

The report of the Senate committee on railway expenditure, just issued, brings out some facts that are worth considering. The senators apparently realized that they were dealing with a matter of supreme importance, because they held a number of sessions, and all the members of the committee, seventeen of them, were present at each meeting. Their meetings were held in camera, and they had in attendance at various times a number of prominent businessmen to give evidence and advice. Among the schemes discussed were:

Co-operation between the C. P. R. and the C. N. R.

Acquisition by the government of the C. P. R. Sale or lease of the C. N. R. to the C. P. R.

Transfer of the C. N. R. to a private company to be owned and operated by that company.

Merging of the two railway systems for purposes of administration and operation.

The last-named suggestion was the one favored by the committee of the Senate, and in support of this claim that witnesses had stressed the waste of effort and money on competitive immigration practice, and urged consolidation of effort. Three agencies are at work to secure immigration to Canada—the dominion government, Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific. Each of them maintains independent organizations, and their competition entails heavy expense which could be materially reduced by a unified system. The Senate committee claims that the merging of the two railway systems for purposes of operation and administration will remove or dispense with duplication in railway tracks and rolling stock, in passenger and freight services, in railway stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in telegraph, express, and other services, in offices, in accounting and bookkeeping, in numerous other special offices and staffs, in administration boards, etc., etc., and thereby and otherwise save an enormous amount of money to the country.

The committee also brought out the information that during the last five years the national obligations have increased by $600,000,000 for railway purposes, and the total in the last six years has been $710,000,000, an amount equal to the whole capitalization, including bonding liability, of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Not only is there useless competition between the C. P. R. and the C. N. R., but it must be remembered that the C. N. R. is made up of several railroads which were built in the first place to compete with each other for available business in the same district, and to some extent this is still being done.

A merger is something in which the people would be protected because the government would name five directors, the C. P. R. another five, and these ten to choose five more capable businessmen to complete the board.

It is well that all available information and reports should be brought forward and placed before the people, who are, above all else, interested in producing a fair solution to a situation that is becoming acute because it is putting too great a burden on the taxpayers to absorb even the carrying charges of advances to and deficits on the National system.

When Calgary was a Cow Town.
 Calgary is a good western city, one of the small places that got marked on the map and stuck while a good many others that had just as promising a start got wiped off. A few days ago the Calgary Herald issued a special edition setting forth in word and picture the early days, particularly those of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, and even now that name seems to have more romance than the modified title of today, Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

As is fitting, such an edition was given over to stories of early days, the heroic adventures of the red-coated patrols of the prairies, to whom home was wherever they happened to be, and to whom distance was a trifle and danger something accepted as part of the day's work.

There are plenty of people in Calgary today who could read with interest as a new tale many of the exploits of the police. One of the police recalls a trip in 1875 from some unknown place to another similar point, through half-frozen rivers that let men and horses down, facing blizzards and snowdrifts. He says: "We all had empty stomachs, horse and man alike. The weather turned worse than ever. My wet clothes had frozen stiff—a good thing—the wind could not penetrate them. We made Sage Creek that night, and found little or no shelter from the biting wind, nothing to build a fire with. That meant no warm tea and a menu of hard tack and raw sow belly. The horses made no attempt to paw for their supper, but just stood with their tails to the wind and with humped backs. That was the worst, the longest and the coldest night I ever put in, and we spent most of it walking around in a circle and buffering ourselves to keep the blood circulating."

Calgary and the western centres in general have all the comforts that are available today, and the incident related above took place only 50 years ago, when Calgary was no more, no less than a good cow town. The fact that that city is what it is means that the district tributary to it must have developed a good head of force in the intervening years, because cities become great only as they are made so by the community they serve. The Calgary Herald did a good piece of business in putting in print whole pages of the pioneers' and police activities, for it was those old-timers who gave the place a start, and it is fitting that the present well-groomed generation should now and then be nudged into remembrance of this.

London Started Civic Holiday.

Civic Holiday will be the next day off. The first holiday bearing that name was held in London in 1863, when Frank Cornish was mayor, and there was probably more reason for it then than now. It was adopted by city council because there was no general holiday then between the 24th of May and Christmas.

There was no 1st of July holiday, because confederation had not taken place; Labor Day had not come into existence, nor was Thanksgiving publicly celebrated as a holiday. The method of celebration here in the days after 1863 was an excursion to Port Huron, the return fare being 50 cents.

People often wonder now why we have Civic Holiday, and it is no wonder, because it has no particular significance, and as a meaningless celebration, takes its place along with New Year's Day. It is not difficult to see how it served its purpose very well when it was first started, but that purpose exists now only in a very limited way.

Overdoing It.

Reconciliation is a sweet-smelling plant in the garden of matrimony, and for the fifth time in two years Wilford Inglis and his wife have sniffed a fragrance of the bloom and watered the hardy perennial with their tears.

The fifth reconciliation was more wonderful than the others. Following No. 4, Mrs. Inglis, who lives in Detroit, armed herself with a revolver because something had happened. She saw her husband on the road in a car, went out and stopped it with the intention of filling him as full of holes as the top section of a coffee percolator. By the time she had shot five times the police interfered. It was easy to see that she was a bungling amateur, and therefore had no right to be shooting on the streets of Detroit, which are by common consent reserved for expert gunmen and bandits.

Not one of the shots had taken effect, but on account of her evil intentions she was marched off to the police station, and, after making sure that she had no more firearms on her person, she was allowed to meet her husband in a private room, where reconciliation No. 5 took place. The wife is 21, the husband 23, and their trouble seems to be that they have taken up house-keeping on the edge of Vesuvius.

Higher They Go—Farther They Fall.

It's a poor day when a new story does not appear about a fortune made in Florida real estate. Some person bought a lot five years ago for $150, and sold it last week for $7,000. The government of the state deliberately set about to bring on this boom by cancelling all income and inheritance taxation and in that way invited all the tax-dodgers of the country to flock there.

A real estate boom of that sort is the worst thing that can happen. The man who paid $7,000 for a $150 piece of property must do one of two things: (1) use it, or (2) get rid of it. If he is going to use it for commercial purposes he is going in at a time when his overhead will all be based on boom prices. He will have to secure a large revenue, and to do so he must charge for any service he renders at a rate that will discourage business. If he intends to get rid of it he must turn it over at an increase above his $7,000 investment, and must find a buyer who is an easier mark than he was. He will have performed no useful service to enhance the price, and when that is absent it simply leads to pyramiding values until the whole business collapses under its own weight.

Note and Comment.

Chesley bowlers won from Southampton, and took home as prizes four brand new shirts, and thereby hangs a tail.

Chicago city council will now license all who handle typhoid or other germs. Those who handle revolvers still run free.

It was often said of the R. N. M. P. that "the mountie always got his man," which is more than the summer girl can write.

Mme. Nemtchinova, Russian dancer, has insured her legs for $175,000, probably because they're her only means of support.

John Philip Sousa, aged 71, famous bandman, says he's too young to take up golf for exercise. He probably gets a workout blasting on a slide trombone.

A Windsor stenographer had $50 stolen from her purse, and London stenogs are not so much interested in the theft as in the fact that one of their number should have accumulated such a fortune.

Henry Ford wanted to buy 200 useless boats from United States, and as soon as this news came out others wanted to bid for them, so Ford's price has been raised. As soon as a successful man wants something that is apparently good for nothing it starts to take on a real and hitherto unsuspected value.

The Sarnia Canadian-Observer says people who are fat should stop eating for two or three days at a time, and that after the pangs of hunger pass the feeling is one of comfort and good temper. Can the Sarnia man recommend this from actual experience, or is it just something that sounded interesting to him.

Say, Doctor!

When I signed on your diet list at all sweet things I blinked my eye, but was not thinkin' of the time when come the juicy cherry pie.

I went to see the doctor once to see what things was wrong with me, for I was sure as how my works were not like what they ought to be, for rows of fat lay on my jaw, unhealthy sign it was, of course, and when I ran a half a block I wheezed much like a winded horse.

The doctor punched me in the ribs and looked my framework through and through, and kept a-scribblin' down the things that he was thinkin' I should do.

He put some sounders in his ears, and listened to my thumpin' heart, and looked as though he'd take a saw and cut my framework half apart; he made me work my lungs for him, he charted me from head to feet, remarkin' how a dude like I should cull the stuff I took to eat.

And then he writ a diet down that cancelled this, and those, and that, he figured it was good for me to shed ten pounds of surplus fat.

Then when I'd took off ten pounds first, he'd start me on another list, 'twould scape another ten pounds off, take pudgy dimples from my fat, so if I worked as how I should, heaved hay and oats upon a farm, I might still come unto the spot where muscles bulged upon my arm.

He cut from me my pie and cake, all sweet things with a dash of spice, and filled the silo up for me with rye bread, buttermilk, and rice.

Yet, as I go recountin' now about the way I followed him, and how I hoped to see the ribs a-poking out beneath my skin, I'm sure I played the game all right and did all things as how I should, great blisters parked upon my hand from flayin' in ten cords of wood.

I said nay, nay, unto the cake, and shook my dome at lemon pie, and seasoned sweets and gingerbread, I bravely stood and passed them by.

Ah, doctor, when I went to you, I never thought about the time when kitchens would pour forth a smell to put a shiver in my spine—it never did occur to me that there would come the time of year, when it would be announced again as how the cherry pie was here.

Ah, doctor, have a heart for once, and tell me it won't bust my health, if I should take a cherry pie and eat the bloomin' thing myself.—Ark.

CITY TREASURER, STRATFORD, DIES

Col. William Lawrence Passes Away Suddenly While Visiting in B. C.

Special to The Advertiser.
 Stratford, July 19.—Word was received in the city this morning of the sudden death on Saturday, in Victoria, B.C., of Col. William Lawrence, Stratford's city treasurer. Col. Lawrence and Mrs. Lawrence left the city a little more than three weeks ago to visit their son, Major W. F. Lawrence, in Victoria, and a letter received in the city on Friday said he was in the best of health.

The late Col. Lawrence, who was in his early seventies, was appointed to the treasurership of the city on April 6th, 1896, succeeding his father, the late G. W. Lawrence, who occupied the office for many years. Col. Lawrence was a graduate in law, but did little actual court work. Upon receiving his degree he entered the office of his father who, in addition to being city treasurer, had a large practice in notary public and conveyancing work, which Col. Lawrence carried on after his father's death.

In military circles was the late Col. Lawrence particularly active. For upwards of 40 years he was associated with the 25th Perth Regiment as paymaster. In 1912, the regiment was reorganized with Col. Lawrence as commanding officer. He held this office until the battalion was again reorganized following the war. During the war he was active in recruiting campaigns and Victoria loan drives.

He was a life member of Stratford Lodge, No. 322 A. F. & A. M., and a long-standing member of Avon Lodge, No. 41, I. O. O. F.

Besides his widow, one son, Major W. F. Lawrence, of Victoria, survives. The remains are being brought to Stratford for interment.

WINDSOR MISHAPS TAKE THREE LIVES

Two Are Drowned, One Killed by Car—Detroit Man Held.

Canadian Press Despatch.
 Windsor, July 19.—Three persons are dead as a result of two drownings and an automobile accident during the week-end. They are: Edwin A. Harris, 32 years old, Windsor real estate and insurance agent; Miss Evangeline Morencie, 15 years old, Lasalle, and Maurice Parent, 5 years old, 14 McEwen avenue, Windsor.

Harris, former lightweight boxing champion of the Canadian expeditionary forces, was bathing at Point Pelee, this afternoon, when a wave of large size washed him away. Mrs. Harris and a number of friends, who had journeyed to the Point for a picnic, saw him carried away. The body was washed ashore two hours later. Dr. G. E. Kendrick, coroner of Leamington, said that Harris may have died from heart failure.

Miss Morencie, daughter of Daniel Morencie, Lasalle business man, jumped from a truck in front of a car driven by James Madden of Detroit. She was instantly killed. Madden is being held on a charge of criminal negligence.

Young Parent was fishing for minnows at the foot of McEwen avenue, Windsor, when he slipped into 25 feet of water. The body was recovered Saturday night by Sergeant J. Pero of Windsor.

Peter Rabbit Is a Good Jumper But Not a Patch On Jack Rabbit

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Peter Rabbit pricked up his ears when Digger the Badger said that he had seen Peter's cousin, Jack, out in the Far West where he had come from. Peter was all curiosity at once. Digger had exclaimed, "How that fellow can jump!" Now Peter thinks he is a pretty good jumper himself, and he is at once always interested in any one who jumps. In his own mind, Peter had been quite certain in his own mind that his big cousin, Jumper the Hare, was the greatest jumper for his size in all the Great World excepting Timmy the Flying Squirrel. He didn't consider that the latter counted anyway, for he always has to climb a tree before making one of his famous jumps. Of the people who jumped on the ground Peter was sure that his big cousin, Jumper the Hare, couldn't be equalled.

"You ought to see Jumper the Hare, who lives in the Green Forest, jump," said Peter.

"I have seen him jump," replied Digger. "He is a very good jumper, but his Cousin Jack out in the Far West would laugh at him." "I don't believe it," replied Peter. "Your honesty must excuse your impoliteness," said Digger. "I am not in the habit of being told that I am not believed."

"I beg your pardon," said Peter hastily. "It slipped out before I thought. I am sorry. Truly I am, Mr. Badger. Of course, if you say that Cousin Jack is a better jumper than Cousin Jumper, it must be so. It is hard to believe, that is all. What does Cousin Jack look like?"

"Oh," replied Digger, "he looks like the rest of the family only he has longer legs and longer ears. Jumper the Hare's ears are short compared with the ears of the Jack Rabbit."

"Really?" exclaimed Peter.

"Really," replied Digger. "And his legs, both his front legs and his hind legs, are much longer. That is why he can jump so. You ought to see that fellow start in a hurry. He makes his jump way up in the air to look around, and then it seems as if he hardly touched the ground. He can jump twice as far as Jumper the Hare. That is because, his legs are

Why Can't Daughters-in-Law See That the Better Their Husband, the More They Owe to Mothers-in-Law.

Undoubtedly there is no other thing over which so many tears are shed and which is such a potent source of discord and misery as in-laws.

Innumerable young women have the happiness of their youth wrecked by their quarrels with their mothers-in-law. Innumerable old women have their last days made bitter to them by the knowledge that they are unwelcome guests in their sons' houses and that their daughters-in-law hate them. Innumerable men are made miserable by being torn between the two women they love, who fight over them like dogs over a bone.

Discussing this subject the other day, a woman who is a mother-in-law herself said:

"Like everything else, the mother-in-law question is a fifty-fifty proposition, and when they don't get along together both are to blame. Certainly it isn't an easy thing for a woman who has run her own house and been at the head of everything to take a back seat in her daughters-in-law's home. And it isn't easy to forget that your children are your children and to keep hands off in their affairs and treat them with the formality you would strangers."

"On the other hand, most daughters-in-law meet their mothers-in-law with a chip on their shoulders and are always hunting for trouble. They seem to feel that when a man marries he should forget the mother who bore him and wipe out the memory of all the years of association that there has been between them. They are even jealous of the slightest attention and consideration that their husbands show their mothers."

"For if a man is tender, and kind, and generous to his mother, it is because his mother has taught him to be chivalrous to women. She has trained him to be a good husband just as she has trained him to be a good citizen, and his honors and respect are really because he has greatly honored and respects his mother."

"You never saw a bad son who was a good husband. You never heard of a man who abused and cursed his mother, and regarded her as only a slave to wait upon him, who didn't treat his wife the same way. And so we mothers who raise up clean, straight sons, who enter into marriage with high ideals and a determination to cherish their wives and make them happy, have done the girls who get them such a service as they could not repay if they were down on their knees before us the balance of their days."

"But if any daughter-in-law has ever lifted her voice and thanks her mother-in-law for teaching her son to be unselfish, or to be generous with money, or to pay her the little attentions that women love, I have never heard of it."

"And there is another queer thing about daughters-in-law. They seem to think that marriage should obliterate a man's past and break all the ties of life."

"He and his mother might have been the closest of companions, but he may have accepted her advice on every subject and talked over all his plans with her, but were he unto all concerned if he tries that after he takes a wife."

"Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the wife grows green-eyed and considers it her duty to get her husband to forget the little talks that were such a joy to them both or else do this stealthily and hold a stolen rendezvous."

"So perhaps there is no way to settle the question so long as we are all human and not female saints. But God pity the mother who is obliged to live with her children, no matter how kind they may be. She is always the first to be hurt, and it is perhaps those savages who kill off all the old people haven't such a bad plan of disposing of the question, after all."

COATS CROWD OUT CAPES FOR FALL

Mannequins Swelter Under Leopard, Lynx and Gray Opossum.

By ALLEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, July 20.—The mannequins not lucky enough to have been sent to the summer resorts to exhibit frocks are sweltering at present under new fall coats. Kasha avenue is the material which most of the designers seem to favor. Coats are crowding capes to the back of the closet and the favorite trimmings are nutria, leopard, lynx or gray opossum.

Sitting on a silk hat has been good for a laugh ever since the days of Tony Pastor but the travelling hats were nowadays of silk ribbon interwoven with flexible straw braids may be set upon without the slightest damage. They are especially designed for travelling since they can be packed in trunk or suitcase without losing their attractiveness.

Mere men often wonder why the popular chokers and necklaces of crystal and non-precious stones are so expensive. Usually it is because these beads are cut and graduated to size by an expert lapidary who takes as much pains with their facets as with gems.

The hats Englishwomen are wearing at afternoon functions and garden parties at present are almost as large as their sun shades and are much the same shape. The hats, however, are the more elaborately trimmed, the decorations ranging from fruit and flowers to ostrich pompons and paradise plumes. Rosita Forbes, the authoress recently appeared in one which absolutely concealed her face from below.

Years

The years are not lost. They stand whispering. They tell each other secrets. And remember everything.

Today is a mist. Between us and the past. Strange, how we forget. What we thought would last!

Strange, how the edge dulls. On our old pain. And we go quietly. On old ways again!

Something stirs now and then. When an old year calls. And we try to look back. Through high, gray walls.

The years are not so far. As they seem to be. At times I think they press Close about me.

And one says "I loved." And one says, "I lost." And one, "I would not pay the price." And one, "I count the cost."

The years come together. A close company. Only the New Year Comes alone to me.

The New Year comes and hides. The years that came before. But I hear them whispering. And crowding at my door.

I hear them whispering. Of what used to be. They are very kind, I think. And wish to comfort me.

—Louise Driscoll.

The program also included a dance by Allen Reason, the pantomime "Just Like This" and a play entitled "A Day in a Country School."

GRAIN CONTROL SHOULD STAY HERE, SAYS EXPERT

Many in Europe Complain of Having To Buy Through N. Y. Houses.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, July 19.—Publicity in Canada's great need in Europe for the present time, has been stated by M. P. Fennell, director of trade and transportation for the bureau of Montreal, who arrived home this week-end after 16 months in the United Kingdom and on the continent. It was his idea to divert a great portion of the transportation of European goods to the St. Lawrence route and to improve upon it, to the necessity of trade within the empire.

CARDINAL L. BEGIN, CALLED BY DEATH
Archbishop of Quebec Succumbs After Illness of Only One Week.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Quebec, July 19.—His Eminence Cardinal Louis Nazaire Begin, Archbishop of Quebec, and Primate of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada, died early this morning in the archbishop's palace, of uremia, with which disease he was stricken last Sunday night. The body lies in state in the chapel of his residence, from where it will be taken to the basilica and remain until Saturday morning, when his body will be interred in the basilica alongside the remains of other archbishops of Quebec.
Cardinal Begin was overcome on his return from St. Nazaire last Sunday. He made a gallant fight against death, and on Friday night the reports issued from his palace were of a hopeful nature, but the aged prelate suffered a relapse Saturday morning, and sank rapidly thereafter. His eminence was conscious to the end, and died peacefully. It was due only to his remarkably strong constitution that Cardinal Begin battled so long with the illness that had overtaken him.
Yesterday morning it began to be realized that the cardinal was sinking rapidly, and in the course of the afternoon members of the clergy were summoned while the sacrament of Holy Communion was administered by Monsignor Langlois, coadjutor of Quebec, at 6 o'clock. It became apparent as the evening wore on that the end was but a question of hours, and the prayers for the dying were recited. It was at 12:20 o'clock this morning that the venerable primate of the church closed his eyes as if in sleep, but this was recognized by all at the bedside as being the end.
His eminence now lies exposed in state in the chapel of the archbishop's palace, and from the time the doors of his residence were opened to the public, an unending stream of mourners made their way past his remains to pay their last respects to one who, it is generally recognized, has been one of the most outstanding figures in Quebec history, if not in the whole country, for many years.

STRATHROY MERCHANT SUCCEUMBS TO ILLNESS
John A. Newton Was in Clothing Business For Many Years.
Special to The Advertiser.
Strathroy, July 19.—John A. Newton died tonight in Strathroy hospital after a lengthy illness. He underwent an operation some months ago, but this did not relieve his malady. He was born here, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Newton, and learned the clothing business with C. T. Scott. He entered a partnership with Douglas McKellar and George Ashwell, the firm being known as Newton, McKellar and Ashwell, and dealing in clothing and groceries. Later the firm dissolved, and Mr. Newton opened a clothing business under the firm name of Newton and Freed. Three years ago when Mr. Freed died, the name was changed to J. A. Newton and Son.
Survivors are the widow, Marie Stevenson, daughter of Alex. Stevenson, three daughters, Mrs. J. G. Williams of Toronto, and Misses Merle and Amy at home; four sons, Arthur of Toronto, Grant, John and Gordon of Strathroy; two sisters, Mrs. Argue of St. Louis, and Mrs. D. McKellar of Strathroy, and three brothers, William of Strathroy, and Fred and George of Toronto.

MESSAGES FLOOD SCOTT'S PRISON

Another Alleged Confession Received From Brother in Chicago.

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, July 19.—More letters, telegrams and witnesses have appeared to save Russell Scott from the gallows. All of them are characterized as "fakes" by the state's attorney's office, while Scott's lawyers continue to investigate the various tips, mostly anonymous.
Scott, sentenced to hang Friday morning last for the murder of Joseph Maurer, drug clerk, during a holdup two years ago, was given a reprieve of one week six hours before the time set for his execution. Yesterday another message purporting to be from Robert and addressed to attorneys for Scott was made public. It was mailed Thursday night in Chicago, and read:
"I hereby swear that Russell Scott is innocent of murder, and that I, his brother, am the guilty party. You want to hang him because you think someone should pay for the murder, but why hang the wrong party? As God is my judge, you will be murderers, hanging an innocent man, if you hang my brother. May your souls rot in hell." The note was typewritten and signed "Robert Scott" in ink, while beneath the signature was a postscript signed "Mrs. H. C. R." and reading: "The above was dictated to me by Mr. Scott, who is apparently near death. I believe it to be the truth from what I have seen. As soon as he is able he promises to give himself up."
If this letter is not a fraud, attorneys say, then the message from Detroit is, for the letter was written and mailed in Chicago the same night as the telegram also purporting to be from Scott, was sent from Detroit. Scott's attorneys were pinning most of their hopes for a commutation on affidavits they said they had from two women whose identities were carefully concealed. The women were in the drug store at the time of the slaying, and both said that Robert, and not Russell, was the killer, and that the killing was the result of a liquor party and not of a hold-up.
His attorneys also were looking into a statement made in Detroit by James Ball, telegraph operator, that he was present when Maurer was shot and that Robert Scott shot him after an argument over payment of a bill.

JAPS AND SOVIETS TO CONTROL CHINA
Governments Planning To Supplant All Other Foreigners With Own Nationals.
Special to The Advertiser.
Berlin, July 18.—The threatened understanding between the communists and the yellow races has made amazing strides since the beginning of June. According to sensational information which reached the writer privately today, the Japanese and Soviet governments have reached an understanding to keep this agreement in force, and to undertake a common course of action to suppress the influence of all other countries, especially the United States.
The writer's informant claims to have complete information of this understanding with exact details of the motives which caused two instinctively inimical governments to unite. The understanding means in practice that Japan and Russia will work together in supplanting all other foreigners in China, especially Americans and English, with their own nationals.
It was intended to keep this agreement absolutely secret. Japan specially reserves the right to keep a sham front of solidarity with Europe and America in the attitude toward China and the Bolsheviks while really working with the latter. Each side makes concessions. The Soviets, realizing they will be unable to carry on extensive Third International propaganda with their entire force in China and Japan simultaneously, agrees to withdraw all communist agents from Japan to the mainland.
The Japanese government, alarmed by the increasing social unrest within Japan and the growth of Communist doctrines, promises to observe military neutrality toward any Russian action in China, and further, to manufacture and deliver to Russia, heavy artillery and submarines.
The first consignment of heavy guns recently passed through Vladivostok over the Trans-Siberian railroad, and has reached Moscow.
It is notable that among the 40 assistants of the new Japanese ambassador to Moscow, Tanaka, are a large number of officers.
The agreement, according to the writer's informant, was promoted by the Soviet people's commissar for war and navy, Frunze.
Whatever are the mental reservations of the two governments, each of which expects later to overcome and supplant the other, this agreement is perhaps the most stupendous political event in the embittered struggle for the control of Asia, which has developed since the Washington conference.
The agreement will certainly be denied by both the Soviets and the Japanese, and the writer would hesitate to make it public except for the entire faith in the trustworthiness of the source of information.

BURGLAR STEALS JEWELS AND CASH
Wallaceburg House Ransacked Early Sunday Morning by Bold Thief.
Special to The Advertiser.
Wallaceburg, July 19.—A daring robbery took place early on Sunday morning at the home of Clayton Baughman, Elgin street, when twelve valued at over $1,000 and two $100 and $500 in cash were stolen.
The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Baughman and her sister, Mrs. W. Meredith, retired about 2 a.m., and upon rising at 10 o'clock they discovered their loss.
The thief had entered through a front window which had been pried up by a screwdriver after the screen had been removed.
The robber rifled the pockets of Mr. Baughman's trousers, and extracted a watch and a pair of diamond earrings. Other jewelry of less value was not touched.
The rings stolen included five diamond rings, two pearl and a wedding ring.
This theft appears to be the work of some person or persons fully acquainted with the layout of the Baughmann home. Excepting for the trousers, which were found in the dining-room, the house was in no way disarranged.
The screwdriver was found outside the house and also footprints by the window through which entry was made, and it is believed that exit was made by the front door, which was found unlocked.

APPLE CROP IN HURON EXPECTED TO BE GOOD
Hay Crop Is Light and Grains Are Reported As Short.
Special to The Advertiser.
Goderich, July 19.—The agricultural representative for Huron county, S. B. Stothers, gives the following report of present conditions of the crops of the county:
Hay has been in progress for a couple of weeks. Many of the old meadows are very light. Alfalfa is in many cases, giving a fair crop, and is saving the day for many farmers.
The dry weather has affected the grain crops to a very great extent. Oats and barley are bound to be short. There are some good fields of wheat, but many of them are very short, and the yield will not be up to expectations.
Fruit seems to be reasonably good, with prospects of a fairly good crop. So far, damage from scab is confined to unsprayed orchards. Several varieties, Northern Spy, Greening, Wagner, Stark, and some others promise good crops, while Baldwins are light.

McRae, Glenora, Mrs. John Shaw of London and Mrs. P. B. Wade of Dorchester; and four brothers, Neil and Archibald of Glenora, Duncan of Strathroy and Dr. Angus Graham of London.

Horse Instantly Killed in Smashup On St. Marys Road
Special to The Advertiser.
St. Marys, July 19.—A bad smashup in which the participants narrowly escaped serious and perhaps fatal injury, occurred on the St. Marys road about one mile east of the town last night, when a car driven by a Stratford man crashed into a horse and buggy in which Alvin McMaster of St. Marys was riding. The accident occurred when the horse was being turned off the road into a lane-way, and the driver of the car, coming directly behind, was unable to avoid a collision. The car was driven by Stratford man, and the buggy completely demolished. McMaster luckily escaped with only a severe shaking-up and minor bruises, and the occupants of the car were uninjured.

The crowd gathered under the shady maples while drumhead service proceeded. Canon Collins addressed the assembly in appropriate address, which he emphasized the need for companionship among men.
He urged everyone to have a good time, and those of good fellowship, hospitality and companionship. He believed all were meeting in order to preserve the highest in character and citizenship. At the close Canon Collins spoke particularly to the ex-servicemen. The empire he believed, was the greatest force for the preservation of peace in the world and also expressed the highest form of civilization in the world.
The concert given by the Windsor silver band, and the decoration of graves at Lakeview cemetery by Frunze, was a most impressive feature.

Sarnia Gives Way To Joy As Old Boys Flock Home For City's First Reunion

Three Thousand Expected As Big Week Is Auspiciously Opened.

Essex Fights Sunday Sports
Associated Press Despatch.

Complaints against at least two clubs will be laid Monday morning. It is understood.

PARADES, CARNIVAL
March of Fenian Veterans Feature Drumhead Service On Sunday.
Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, July 19.—Sarnia is now in the midst of the greatest celebration in its civic history, the city's first old boys' reunion. Hundreds of former residents have already arrived in the city, and the trains and ferries are rapidly adding to the total every hour. By tonight it is expected that at least 2,000 of the promised 3,000 will again be in their home city.
Bright shiny weather, with the heat not too pronounced, is bringing smiles to the faces of the busy executive, and with the opening day and military day now gone by, even greater successes are promised for the remaining week.
Home reunion week was formally opened in Victoria Park, Saturday morning, but as it was realized that the greater part of the visitors were yet to arrive, the addresses of welcome by Mayor James C. Barr, Senator F. F. Pardee and R. V. Lesueur, M.P., were reserved for Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when there will be a band procession to the park. It was later announced that Duncan McIntyre, of Sarawak, Borneo, the ex-Sarnian, returning from the longest distance, would make the reply to the welcome addresses.
Celebration Opens.
The celebration on Saturday opened with a parade of decorated vehicles from the fire department, department of public works, and other civic bodies. Headed by the city band and Imperial pipe band, the long line wended its way to the athletic grounds, where 3,000 people saw Sarnia trounce Blenheim in a league baseball game.
In the evening, the real city block, was in full swing, with crowds estimated at about 20,000 down town. The midway is by far the largest ever seen here, and includes a street dancing floor, with accommodation for six or seven hundred.
Saturday night's throng was very orderly, and the police department intended to allow no unseemly conduct, particularly with regard to the O. T. A. spread quickly. Nevertheless, the enjoyment was noticeable everywhere. It was early Sunday morning before the last of the revelers found their way home.
Sunday was set aside for church and military observance, former pastors occupying pulpits in the morning, and basing their sermons appropriately on the special nature of the occasion.
Drums Lead Service.
The military units paraded at 3 o'clock for drum headservice in Victoria Park, where already every available vantage point was taken by a crowd estimated at 4,000. Service was conducted by Rev. Canon D. W. Reardon, pastor of the Anglican church, Collins, chaplain of the Land Forces Regiment, and a member of the public library, where the military units deposited on the drums the royal and Lambton regimental colors.
The units paraded under Col. Rout, and were as follows: Fenian and Northwest Rebellion Veterans, under Major Henry Gorman; Major James F. Finch, David W. McVicar; Lambton Regiment, Lt. Col. C. S. Woodrow; No. 2 Machine Gun Co., Major Geo. L. Lewis; The Fenian and Northwest Rebellion Veterans, under Major Henry Gorman, aged 75; Major W. H. Finch, Richard Causley, W. S. Percival, J. M. Hoskins, Andrew Logan, veterans of 1866; Charles F. Finch, David W. Finch, James Spurway, T. J. Walker, veterans of 1855-55. The whole parade was headed by the Windsor Salvation Army band and the Imperial pipe band.

WALLACEBURG HOUSE RANSACKED

Early Sunday Morning by Bold Thief.

Special to The Advertiser.
Wallaceburg, July 19.—A daring robbery took place early on Sunday morning at the home of Clayton Baughman, Elgin street, when twelve valued at over $1,000 and two $100 and $500 in cash were stolen.
The occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Baughman and her sister, Mrs. W. Meredith, retired about 2 a.m., and upon rising at 10 o'clock they discovered their loss.
The thief had entered through a front window which had been pried up by a screwdriver after the screen had been removed.
The robber rifled the pockets of Mr. Baughman's trousers, and extracted a watch and a pair of diamond earrings. Other jewelry of less value was not touched.
The rings stolen included five diamond rings, two pearl and a wedding ring.
This theft appears to be the work of some person or persons fully acquainted with the layout of the Baughmann home. Excepting for the trousers, which were found in the dining-room, the house was in no way disarranged.
The screwdriver was found outside the house and also footprints by the window through which entry was made, and it is believed that exit was made by the front door, which was found unlocked.

St. Marys, July 19.—A bad smashup in which the participants narrowly escaped serious and perhaps fatal injury, occurred on the St. Marys road about one mile east of the town last night, when a car driven by a Stratford man crashed into a horse and buggy in which Alvin McMaster of St. Marys was riding. The accident occurred when the horse was being turned off the road into a lane-way, and the driver of the car, coming directly behind, was unable to avoid a collision. The car was driven by Stratford man, and the buggy completely demolished. McMaster luckily escaped with only a severe shaking-up and minor bruises, and the occupants of the car were uninjured.
