Unveiling of a Portrait of Senator Wark in the Senate Chamber.

Senators and Commons Gather to Honor the Patriarch of the Upper House.

Ottawa, April 28.—There was an historic scene in the Senate Chamber this afternoon when a portrait of Senator Wark was unveiled and the patriarch of the Upper House was presented with an address. It does not come to every country to have in the active ranks of its statesmen a man over 100 years old. The floor of the red chamber was crowded with commoners and visitors, including many ladies. The mace was not on the table, so visitors could go where they liked. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden, the Opposition leader, occupied seats to the right of Speaker Power.

Senator Wark entered the chamber escorted by Senator Scott and Sir MacKenzie Bowell, and as he walked to the chair in front of the throne, everybody arose and applauded the New Brunswick veteran.

Speaker Power read addresses which eulogized Mr. Wark's services to his country and expressed the hope that the Almighty might prolong for years a life which throughout had been lived with continual consciousness of His Divine oversight.

Senator Wark, on rising to speak, was loudly cheered. He said: I thank you for this very flattering address. I never expected anything of the kind, nor do I think I deserve it, but at the same time I feel deeply grateful to you and to those whom you represent for such an expression of kindness and friendship. There is no part of it with which I agree so heartily as the last sentence. I join with you most cordially in the belief that God exercises a wise providence over the affairs of this world, and especially over the affairs of this Empire, that He intends to make it a powerful, populous, and prosperous Empire, united under our gracious sovereign in a policy of peace, and that it will be greatly blessed under His guidance in bringing about the happy time when the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea. I thank you again for your kindness and for the kindness of the whole House.—Applause.

The portrait of the venerable Senator, which was painted by J. Colin Forbes, R. C. A. of Montreal, and is a speaking likeness, was then exposed.

Congratulatory addresses were delivered by Sir W. Laurier, Messrs. Borden and Scott and Sir M. Bowell, after which nearly all present shook hands with the venerable senator.

It was decided to record the proceedings on the journals of the Senate.

NASTY ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. G. Snell returned yesterday from an extended visit to their son, Dr. C. A. Snell, at Essex. When boarding the C. P. R. train at Tilbury yesterday, Mrs. Snell met with a very painful accident, which will lay her up for some weeks. The unfortunate lady was entering the car, when she tripped and fell forward. The fragments of her knee were injured. Mrs. Snell is under the care of the local C. P. R. surgeon, Dr. J. P. Rutherford.

SAD DEATH

The funeral of the late Mrs. David Lee, whose sad death occurred in St. Joseph's Hospital, took place this afternoon at two o'clock from the B. M. E. church to the Maple Leaf cemetery. The death of Mrs. Lee is a very sad one, being cut off in the prime of her life. She is mourned by a very large circle of friends, who always held her in the highest esteem. She leaves a husband, who is one of Chatham's popular drymen, and a family of small children to mourn her loss.

JUDGE DOWLIN

Judge J. L. Dowlin, the new junior judge for Kent County, has arrived in the city from Ottawa. He visited Harrison Hall this morning and was introduced to his quarters and the other legal officials at the County Buildings by his honor Judge Bell.

Mr. Dowlin is a six-footer of fairly solid build. He has a fine face of the true Irish type. He is rather reserved and the caution he displays in conversation suggests a Scotch ancestry. He is a man of marked intelligence and his fellow officials are very much pleased with his appearance. Judge Dowlin is a bachelor and very unobtrusive. The Law Society had intended to give him a reception, but he arrived unheralded and came alone to the County Buildings and quietly introduced himself.

TREASURE HID IN OXFORD COUNTY

Michigan Man With a "Dip Needle" After $15,000
Was Planted by his Father

The Latter was Forced to Leave it Behind When Pursued by the Americans in 1812

Woodstock, Ont., April 27.—Equipped with a Spanish "dip-needle," an instrument to determine the location of minerals, James Ostrander, of Big Rapids, Mich., arrived in Woodstock yesterday, and took the Port Dover train for the south at 11 o'clock, on a unique mission. He is proceeding to Charlotteville, a village on the southern border of Oxford county, where he hopes to discover the location of the sum of $15,000 in gold and silver coins, representing money buried by his father at the time of the American invasion of Western Ontario in the war of 1812. From his father he learned the approximate location of the buried treasure, and with the use of the modern dip-needle, recently received from Spain, he is confident of finding the money. Mr. Ostrander made an effort to find the treasure several years ago, but failed.

Two heavy brass cannon were also buried near the coins. These were the equipment of a regiment of British soldiers, which retreated after the defeat of the Canadian forces near Moraviantown. Mr. Ostrander's father was a member of one of the British regiments sent to Canada at the time of the war in 1812. He was unfortunate enough to be among those pursued after the defeat of the Canadians in the west, and with the others resolved to bury his money possessions rather than run the risk of having them fall into the hands of the Americans. At the close of the campaign he was forced to return with the regiment to England, and no opportunity was afforded of regaining the lost treasure.

CHOSE DEATH TO SURRENDER

Two Hundred Japanese Go Down with Transport Sunk by Russian Torpedoes.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—Russian torpedo boats belonging to the Vladivostok squadron sank a Japanese military transport, the Kinshu-Maru, of 4,000 tons, during the night of April 26, with all on board, with the exception of 17 officers, 20 soldiers, 65 of the crew and 85 coolie carriers. The others, who refused to surrender, were sent to the bottom with the ship.

The official report of Rear-Admiral Yezzen to the emperor is as follows: "During the night of April 26 two Russian torpedo boats met at sea the Japanese military transport Kinshu-Maru, of 4,000 tons, laden with rice and other military stores and about 2,500 tons of coal. The transport was armed with four Hotchkiss guns of 47 millimetres. The Russians captured on board 17 officers, 20 soldiers, 85 military carriers, or coolies, and 65 of the crew, who surrendered. The remainder of the men, who were to form a landing party and who were left without officers, obstinately refused to surrender or go on board a Russian cruiser. Furthermore, they offered armed resistance to the Russians. In the end they were sent to the bottom with the transport."

The number of men drowned is not given. Admiral Yezzen also reports that besides the sinking of the Japanese steamer Goyo-Maru at Won-San (Gensan), April 25, the Russians sank at sea the same evening the Japanese steamer Nakamura-Maru, of 220 tons, whose crew were saved.

The satisfaction of the people of St. Petersburg at the exploits of the Vladivostok squadron is tempered with admiration for the bravery of the Japanese soldiers who were on board the sunken transport Kinshu-Maru and who preferred to drown rather than surrender.

Rear-Admiral Yezzen's report says that 200 men went down with the ship. The admiralty admits that the men acted heroically, but holds that Admiral Yezzen had no other alternative than to sink the transport, since he could not spare a prize crew or hamper his swift squadron with a slower steamer. It is pointed out that the officers on board the Kinshu-Maru appreciated the situation by accepting imprisonment rather than death.

In the case of the smaller Japanese transport, sunk by the torpedo boats

OLD BOYS ARE ALL COMING

Every Mail Brings Scores of Acceptances and Good Wishes from Them.

Secretaries Expect List to Run Over
3,000—What the Old Boys'
Say.

"The names of old boys are coming in well," said J. W. Aitken, assistant secretary of the Old Boys' Re-union, this morning. "And we have still got accommodation for a good many more," continued he. "We have now got about seventeen or eighteen hundred names of old boys with their addresses, and are busy sending circulars to them."

Mr. Blatchford, who was assistant secretary of the Hamilton Old Boys' Re-union, was in the city yesterday visiting his friend, E. B. Arthur. While here he had a long talk with Mr. Aitken and gave him some very valuable information on how the Hamilton old boys were handled last year. Mr. Merton, the Hamilton secretary, will be here shortly and will inform Mr. Aitken as to the detail workings of the Hamilton carnival. In Hamilton the secretary had 4,000 addresses to send circulars to, and from present appearances the Chatham management will have about 3,000 addresses of old boys, so this is very encouraging. It is important that they get the names and addresses as soon as possible and it is requested that those who do send in names do not forget the old girls.

Several more letters have been received from old boys who have heard of the re-union. One was received from Frank Henry, of Detroit, to-day.

Mr. Henry said: "I received your very enthusiastic and interesting invitation, and if 'Bill Bailey' can dispose of his fine tooth comb to advantage he will be with you. Wishing the old town every success in the enterprise," etc.

Wm. Douglas, of Toronto, writes that he will be here and will bring a contingent from Toronto with him.

J. E. McMullen, editor of the Lovilia Tribune, of Lovilia, Iowa, says he is not the oldest, but he is coming.

H. F. H. Eberts, Vice-President of the Cotton Oil Co., of Little Rock, Arkansas, is another of the many well-wishers.

PAYS PENALTY

The Alfred Murderer Hanged at L'Original—Culprit Dies
Penitent.

L'Original, Ont., April 28.—Clement Goyette was hanged at 7.58 a. m.

Goyette took supper at six p. m., and was visited by his brother and brother-in-law until a late hour. He prayed and read a while, went to bed at 10 p. m., and slept brokenly until four a. m. After bidding good-bys to the officials and guards, and expressing thanks for kindnesses, he partook of a glass of milk. Mass was held in the jail from six a. m. until five minutes to eight, when the sheriff, jailer and executioner entered the doomed man's cell. After reading the death warrant, Radcliffe placed the strap around Goyette's arms. The sad procession then moved from the place of confinement, headed by the sheriff, Goyette closely following, accompanied by Father Edward, of the Capucian Order, intoning prayers. The prisoner, who is said to have been duly penitent for his crime, and who seemed to feel it a relief to get out of mental torture, ascended the stairs to the scaffold and took his position under the rope. Radcliffe then positioned his legs, drew the black cap down over his face, put the noose around his neck, and at a given signal while the priest engaged in prayer, the drop fell at 8 a. m. sharp. Goyette, after the drop, died not moving a muscle. His neck was broken. The pulse stopped beating within 12 1-2 minutes. After being allowed to hang 25 minutes the body was cut down and an inquest held by the coroner, after which the body was interred.

CAUGHT IN ST. THOMAS

Chief Holmes received word last night from the chief of police at St. Thomas that the sneak thief who stole a gold watch from the residence of F. H. Briscoe while soliciting alms had been arrested in that city. The watch was found on the man and was recognized by the initials on it. The fellow gave his name as Chas. King. When in this city he represented himself as deaf and dumb. The Chief at St. Thomas said that when he first came, he had pretended to be deaf and dumb but since his arrest he was talking alright. P. C. Tom Groves left at noon to-day to bring the fellow here for trial.

FRIDAY, APRIL 29.

BUSINESS AND PATRIOTISM.

The city of Toronto is confronted with a peculiar problem. The corporation desired tenders on about $90,000 worth of six-inch iron pipe, but it is alleged, fearing a hold-up on the part of Canadian tenders the city advertised for tenders in the United States and Canada with the result that a Pittsburgh firm put in a price $3,000 lower than the Toronto firm which tendered, though the Americans claim that they will have to pay $18,000 duty and $3,000 freight. Now, the usual objection is being urged against Toronto civic money being spent in Pittsburgh instead of in Canada, alias Toronto, while the equally strong protest is urged that having called for American tenders the city is in honor bound to accept the lowest tender even if it is that of a Pittsburgh firm.

There is another consideration, however, which further complicates the situation. If it is true that the Pittsburgh firm can deliver $90,000 worth of iron pipe in Canada, notwithstanding a drawback of $21,000, and still be $3,000 under the lowest Canadian tenderer, it would look very much like a case of "dumping." That is the only possible explanation, unless the city was being "held up" to the tune of $24,000 on a $90,000 contract. That this is the case seems unlikely in view of the fact that outside tenders were called for, which would have a tendency to cause the competitors to getting prices down to a fair business profit. If it is a case of "dumping," the corporation of Toronto is in a poor business encouraging such competition at the expense of native industries. Notwithstanding the fact that the foreign tender is the lowest, if the Canadian firm can show that its price is fair and gives no more than a reasonable business profit, the city would be justified in accepting it and protecting Canadian industries from the evils and unfair competition of large American concerns who desire to make a slaughter market of Canada.

THE SAULT GUARANTEE.

The following resume of the Sault deal is from the Toronto News, edited by Mr. Willison, ex-editor of the Toronto Globe, and will help the reader to a complete understanding of the deal:

The Sault bill establishes a new precedent in provincial legislation. It is bad from a business standpoint. It is unsound legislation. A new and vicious principle in provincial policy has been adopted. If it were only a matter of two million dollars it would not matter so much. It is infinitely worse than that.

The relation that Mr. Conmee and Mr. Bowman sustain towards the bill is the gravest feature of it. These members sit in the house and voted the land subsidy for the Algoma Central railway. They are among the staunchest supporters of Mr. Clergue at every stage of his development, and upon every occasion that he required concessions. There is no fault to be found with them for supporting the Clergue project. They no doubt believed he was capable of carrying through the marvelous industrial consolidation he effected at Sault Ste. Marie. But these men who stood behind the Algoma Central railway when it was only an idea that required influential friends to vitalize it, are found in the position of contractors on the road when the work of construction began. At this stage, Foley Bros. come upon the scene, and take the work off the hands of Mr. Conmee and Mr. Bowman. A ten per cent. profit is the share of the members. It is payable three per cent. as the estimates are passed and the money paid, and seven per cent. upon the final completion of the work. Nor is that all. Whatever contracts Foley Bros. obtain from Mr. Clergue or any of his allied companies are to bear ten per cent. for Mr. Conmee and Mr. Bowman. That is the contract still read in the house. Mr. Clergue still comes to the legislature for favors. Mr. Conmee and Mr. Bowman sit on the committees that consider his application. They are at the same time under agreement to receive ten per cent. on contracts given by the applicant promoter to Foley Bros. Two members of the legislature vote subsidies to Mr. Clergue. He in turn gives contracts to their friends. They get ten per cent. of the profits. That is the kind of thing the Liberal members of the legislature have approved by their votes on the Sault guarantee bill.

But there is a collapse. The completion of the railway is in doubt. The whole property has been mortgaged to Speyer and Co. It is an all-embracing pledge. Even lands "hereafter" to be granted to the company are covered by the mortgage. For the creditors of the railway there are no assets from which they can "realize any part of their claim," if the Speyer mortgage takes priority. Mr. Conmee and Mr. Bowman and their solicitor, N. W. Rowell, K. C., have taken affidavits that such is the case. Mr. Conmee and Mr. Bowman are judgment creditors against the railway for over $400,000. If Speyer & Co. are allowed to foreclose, there are no assets to satisfy the Conmee and Bowman claim. They have sworn to it. So has Mr. Rowell, as their solicitor. If the government refuses to lend the credit of the province for the reorganization of the industries, Speyer & Co. will foreclose. A bill to guarantee two million dollars for the completion of the Algoma Central railway, upon which hinges the discharge of the mortgage and the release of the property, is introduced in the legislature. Is it not clear that the $400,000 judgment held by Mr. Conmee and Mr. Bowman is practically worthless unless guarantee bill is passed? Have not these men a direct interest in its adoption? There can be only one answer. It was nothing short of an outrage for them to vote for the bill under these circumstances. The whole transaction stands as the most disgraceful attack upon the independence of parliament that ever has been witnessed in Ontario.

Messrs. Conmee and Bowman have voted themselves that two million dollars, and Premier Ross remarks, "What are you going to do about it?"

Cutting Trees by Electricity.

Successful experiments have been made in the various forests of France in cutting trees by means of electricity. A platinum wire is heated to a white heat by the electric current and used like a saw. In this manner the tree is felled much easier and quicker than in the old way. No sawdust is produced, and there is consequently less waste of the wood, while the slight carbonization caused by the hot wire acts as a preservative to the wood. The new method is said to require only one eighth of the time consumed by the old process.

STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE.

A KIMONO SACK.

How to Make One With Half a Dozen Large Handkerchiefs.

Kimono jackets and sacks made of handkerchiefs are as popular as they are pretty. The one in the illustration has a design of rose color on white, and there are six handkerchiefs where the back is comparatively plain and seven where looseness is desired in the back. Two handkerchiefs are gathered to the front and two to the back yoke, and the sleeves have part of one side sewed up and the remainder sewed into the armhole, with the point turned back to form a little ornament. By a little ingenuity the border of the handkerchief from which the yoke is cut may be made to outline the shoulder seam and the neck, as in the one illustrated. Ribbons are tied where the neck fastens.—New York Mail.

When Home is Sweet Home.

Dissension in families often arises from a lack of mutual consideration among the members of the family. The "soft answer" that turneth away wrath is forgotten for the hasty reply, the unkind retort, that kindles the fire of ill feeling.

Love does not linger in the home where rudeness shows its unlovely qualities. It chooses to dwell in the home where the spirit of unselfishness, of self control, of thoughtfulness and of charitableness makes the atmosphere sweet. The woman who is quick to take offense is not like her of whom the Holy Scripture says, "Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace." Happy homes depend on happy hearts. Home is distinctively a woman's sphere, and she who sweetens it most makes earth nearer heaven.

Age Told by Figure.

The woman who follows an outdoor sport is usually a very graceful woman. The woman who takes to the rocking chair at 9 o'clock in the morning and who sits all day, getting out for only a few minutes, is not the woman who will preserve her figure. At forty this woman will look her age, and at fifty she will look a great deal older. Don't forget that age is told not by the lines on the face, but by the figure. The middle aged figure is well known. The hips and abdomen are prominent, and there is fat on the shoulder blades. Then there is the figure of old age. There is a withered figure, thin above the waist line and heavy on the hips. This is the stage when a woman begins to look as though she were seventy long before she has lived out her sixties.

Small Towels.

The housekeeper who has not discovered the value of the small towel in her household economics has something yet to learn. It is only recently that they have been used to any extent in private families, but their usefulness is making them increasingly popular. This is the towel that has heretofore been known as the hotel size. It is the small hand towel that is used in large quantities in public places, where many people use a towel only once. A large towel would be inconvenient, and the ordinary towel would make at least twice the bulk to send to the laundry.

Are Women Too Active?

The women of this generation are undoubtedly suffering from too much occupation. The listless, bored, discontented, unsettled girl of twenty years ago has given place to the restless, energetic and positively business woman thirsting for fresh outlets for her enterprise. We are caught up in the whirlwind of modern unrest, and we imagine we are happy because we have no time to think anything to the contrary.—Ladies' Field.

CHANGE of LIFE

Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop forever, are only a few of the symptoms of dangerous nervous trouble. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life, and all women who use it pass through this trying period with comfort and safety.

READ THESE CONVINCING LETTERS:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to write you about the wonderful cure your medicine has brought about.

"I suffered for years with change of life. I would have fainting spells, either before or after my monthly periods. They would come on me suddenly. Sometimes I would be on the street.

"I had pains all over me. My head ached all the time, could take no walks or go up stairs without becoming completely exhausted. I suffered untold misery. I tried doctor's medicines for a long time, but derived no benefit.

"I cannot say too much in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and would advise all sufferers of female trouble to use it, for it will certainly cure them."—MRS. LIZZIE C. REYNOLDS, Buchanan, Va.

When one stops to think about the good these women derived from this great medicine, it seems almost beyond belief; yet it is all true as stated in their letters published above.

For these ills no other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse all substitutes.

As a positive fact the private files at Lydia E. Pinkham's laboratory contain thousands of letters from women who have been safely carried through that danger period "Change of Life." The cures of Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Blake are not unusual ones for this medicine to accomplish.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was change of life and cramping. No human tongue can describe what I suffered with the cramp. I dreaded from one time to another so much that I almost wanted to die.

"Our family physician did everything he could for me, but I got no relief. He said if I lived to get through with the other trouble, it would wear away after a time, but I had it six years and could not walk or exercise in any way without bringing on an attack of the cramp, and I would suffer untold misery until I would be perfectly exhausted and helpless.

"I read in one of your little books about your medicine being good for female trouble and change of life, and thought there was no harm in trying it, so I did, and it helped me and I was able to take walks and work some.

"I am very thankful for the relief your medicine has been to me."—MRS. V. M. BLAKE, Deep Water, W. Va.

from this great medicine, it seems almost beyond their own request.

No such helpful advice to women who are sick can be had elsewhere as will be received free by addressing Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass.—If you are sick write her—you are foolish if you don't.

Young Men Who Forge Ahead

The past season of the Legislature has seen a great many young men come to the front, and those who have seen former Legislatures agree that the present gives evidence that Ontario's public men to-day are fully as alert and able as were those in the first Parliament, to whom people sometimes look up as men who can never be equaled. A few great figures there were, certainly, the like of whom are not in the present House, but the rank and file are just as much alive to public questions as were their predecessors, and are as eloquent and ready in debate. The session just closing furnished many opportunities for these young men to show what they could do, there being long debates on the address, the budget and the Soo loan bill, to say nothing of minor affairs.

MR. HANNA'S RECORD.

On the Opposition side, Mr. W. J. Hanna, the member for West Lambton, has sprung into prominence, which gives ground for the assertion that he must be in the Whitney Cabinet when it is formed. His legal training shows in his speeches, and his manner of delivering them. Every point has been carefully thought out, and is backed up by convincing arguments. At the outset of his speeches, Mr. Hanna talks very slowly and deliberately, but he quickly warms up, and can make the chamber ring with his denunciation of the Government. Mr. Hanna lives in Sarnia, and has been the subject of several Liberal attacks because he is solicitor for the Imperial Oil Company.

MR. A. G. MacKAY

Another lawyer who has made a place and a name for himself on the other side of the House is Mr. A. G. MacKay, member for North Grey. He is slightly older than Mr. Hanna, but retains a deal of his younger appearance. As a speaker Mr. MacKay had a reputation before he came to the House, and this he has enhanced. He was for some years a school principal, and at times this comes out in his manner of talking to his fellow-members. In committee Mr. MacKay, like Mr. Hanna, is a valuable member, taking an active part in the work of framing legislation.

MR. I. B. LUCAAS.

Looking much younger than his years, is another lawyer, Mr. I. B. Lucas, of Centre Grey, who comes from Markdale. He is almost boyish in appearance, but there is nothing juvenile about his speeches. He is easily one of the best speakers in the House, addressing himself directly to the heart of the matter he is discussing, and backing up his views with strong arguments.

MR. F. MACDONALD.

Younger than any of these gentlemen, and a farmer instead of a lawyer, is Mr. Finlay Macdonald, whose section for West Elgin is somewhat hilly. During the past session he has been very prominent in committee work, where his strong common-sense has proved valuable on many occasions. Mr. Macdonald speaks rarely in the House, but when he does he is always worth listening to.

MR. J. P. DOWNNEY.

The newspaper profession is not without its representatives on both sides among the new men of the House. Mr. Jos. P. Downney, member for South Wellington, and proprietor of one of the Guelph papers, has all the Celtic eloquence, and his speeches in the House were all notable. As a platform speaker, Mr. Downney is also a favorite, and he created an excellent impression in North Rowfrew. On the Liberal side there is Mr. C. N. Smith, the member for the "Soo," a former Toronto newspaper man, and a proprietor of the Sault Ste. Marie Express. His speech on the Soo loan bill drew encomiums even from political opponents who disagreed with him.

There is also Major Clark, member for Centre Bruce, and publisher of The Kincardine Review.

Other members who have shown themselves valuable additions to the House are M. G. Cameron, West Huron, and Archibald Hishop, East Huron and A. A. Mahaffy, Muskoka, on the conservative side. Mr. Ganey's speech on the Soo loan bill was a splendid one.

FREDDY'S PROFESSIONS.

When I'm a man I'd like to be Something big and great;
An Admiral who lives at sea,
Or Governor of my State.

I'd like to be an engineer
Who runs the State Express; I'd like to be a brigadier,
And eat my meals at mess.

I'd like to keep a candy store,
Or write a book or two—
About the countries I explore
From here to Timbuctoo.

And then I think it would be fine
If I could—by and by—
Be a captain on a baseball nine,
A Sampson or a Schley.

So now I think I ought to grow
The quickest way I can;
For what I'd really like, you know,
Is first to be a man.

But when I ask my Uncle James
What he would most enjoy,
He laughs at me and then exclaims
"I'd like to be a boy."

Van Dauber—"So the old Gotrox fell in love at first sight with that impossible Jones girl. Why she is a perfect freak!" Friend—"Just so. Do you know, old chap, it wouldn't be a bad idea to get the old boy around to look at your pictures."

Stopping an Artery.

The prompt application of the tourniquet or even of the finger to stop the bleeding of an artery before the doctor comes will often save life. A wound anywhere below the middle of the upper arm or below the middle of the thigh may be easily stopped by a tourniquet. The simplest improvised form of this implement, which may be always found ready to hand, is a linen handkerchief and a strong stick. The best place to apply the tourniquet for a wound of the arm is above the elbow, where the pulsations of an artery may be felt by any one.

The handkerchief should be tied around the arm rather loosely; the stick is thrust in and turned to tighten it until the blood ceases to flow. Of course this is only a temporary relief till the coming of the doctor, who, in case of serious bleeding, must be summoned as soon as possible. When you have nothing at hand in a case of sudden accident even the pressure of the forefinger and the thumb over the wound may arrest the flow of blood for the time.

The People Next Door.

The reason why the people next door are invariably regarded as most worthy of our javelins is plain to me. They have a piano. I do not know of any race that is quite so unpleasant as the people next door. They are not like any ordinary people who live elsewhere. They obtain their music on the hire system, as it were, and it is generally of the type we most detest. Are we worldly minded? They chasten us obtrusively with hymns—or Mendelssohn, who is for some obscure reason regarded as a moral force in the suburbs. Are we of the elect? They hurl at us with defiant persistence the latest blood curdler from the "halls." The thing that passes with them for a piano is turned upon to no work of three, and the wall dividing our respective houses, be it dense in mind, is a beautiful conductor of sound—Out-look.

IT'S THE HOPE- LESSNESS OF IT

That Makes Dyspepsia a so Terrible—
But The Best Hopes Are Realized
If You Use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

The hopelessness of it all is particularly responsible for the terrible despondency that is one of the worst features of Dyspepsia.

The same tortures day after day, always getting a little worse, doctors unable to afford relief—Is it any wonder that the future looks black to the victims of this terrible disease?

But there is relief, hope, comfort, health for all in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Those who have used them are shouting their praises. Listen to what Henry A. Coles, of St. Mary's River, Guyaboro Co., N. S., says: "I had stomach trouble for about five years," says Mr. Coles. "It got so bad at last I was taken to my bed and the doctor called in. But he did me no good and I was suffering very bad, not knowing what to do."

"Then my wife said, 'Let us try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.' And we gave them a trial, with the result that after taking seven boxes I was completely cured, and have not felt any of the trouble since."

If everybody followed the golden rule the lawyer's occupation would be gone.

Drainage Referee J. B. Rankin left to-day for Wingham where he will, on Monday, make an inspection in connection with the case of Farrand et al vs. Township of Morris, and on Tuesday he will try the case.

The taking of evidence in the drainage suit of Bradley vs. Raleigh Tp. was finished yesterday and the case adjourned until May 9th, when another inspection will be made in the forenoon. In the afternoon, on the return of the Referee and lawyers from the inspection, the case will be argued. O. L. Lewis and W. G. Richards for plaintiff, M. Wilson, K. C., and W. E. Gundy contra.

Col. Rankin has forwarded the desired information.

Judge Houston has returned from Toronto, where he was acting for the appellants in Martin vs. Martin. Mr. Houston says that they are having a great time pulling down the brick walls in the burned district. Dynamite is being used. A white brick wall running from Wellington street to the alleyway caused a great deal of trouble. Many attempts were made to blow this wall up and, although it didn't fall, the expert said that this was caused by the softness of the bricks. A hard brick wall cemented together was blown up with scarcely any difficulty.

THE C. C. I. CADET CORPS

Editor Planet.—
I desire to protest in the most emphatic terms against the injustice and inaccuracy of the report of the London drill inspector, when he says, referring to the cadet corps of the C. C. I., that there was "want of interest taken by the principal."

It was at my urgent request and with my assistance that Mr. J. S. Black organized the corps some five years ago, and throughout its successful career it has had my cordial support and commendation. The instructors, Messrs. Black, Mowbray and Collins, I am glad to say, have been so capable that not much was left for me to do.

I have each year encouraged the boys to join and canvassed them for their signatures, conducted the correspondence with London headquarters, and arranged the time-table of the school to enable the boys to have drills a month or two before inspection, assisted in selecting the officers, etc., etc.

Last season, to relieve Mr. Collins of extra work, I personally supervised and kept the score of the target practices when two thousand cartridges were used. This task alone required at least an hour a day after school hours for a month, besides special time on Saturdays.

It is true I was not present at the inspection last June, as it was held on Tecumseh Park, and during school hours. To satisfy the inspecting officer next June, the Board will need to declare a half-holiday, and I shall have to march the whole school down to the parade grounds, to the stirring strains of the Band, and introduce the whole school to the grand old young officer, all the pretty girls of the Institute—and their name is legion!

Not How or Where we Buy But How We Sell.

There are many lines besides Linoleum that we could easily demonstrate to you that we buy cheaper, saving the commission that stores that buy through a brokerage firm have to pay, either because they lack the cash or the ability to buy sufficient to entitle them to recognition from the manufacturers. If we told you all about it not only YOU but our COMPETITORS would know as much about this business as we do.

Can We Sell You Cheaper?
That's the Question

We believe you are most interested in. We believe we can and do, not in one or two lines but in scores of lines throughout this broad stock. Here's a story of special savings for quick cash buyers.

Little Sister

F. B. WRIGHT

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

"Aren't you going to answer my question? Won't you take me with you?"

Clifford Vane turned with surprise as he heard the voice. A girl with deep brown eyes and hair in which there was a tint of gold was standing beside the boat, her skirts blown out against her slender figure. The fluttering sail had made so much noise that Vane had not heard the girl before. He frowned unconsciously, for he was in no humor for company.

"It's too rough today. There's a nasty sea running, and you'll get wet through," he answered.

"As if I cared for that! And if it's so rough why do you venture out?"

"Because I want to. Because it suits my mood."

The words sounded rude, but Marjorie Winthrop knew from the intent expression on Vane's face as he gazed out on the black clouds, the sullen green water of the bay and the wind-blown whitecaps that he was speaking more to himself than to her.

"And if it suits my mood?"

"You with moods, child?" Vane said wonderingly. "What can you know of thoughts black enough to suit with such a day. Go back to your dolls or read your pretty fairy love stories and believe in their truth as long as you can," he added bitterly.

"You think because I'm only seventeen I'm not to feel and think."

"Think only of pleasant things."

"But if the day suits me it is pleasant. Please take me."

"What will your mother say?"

"She won't care. She only thinks of Edith. If it was Edith, now, it would be different, but I'm not such a valuable cargo. No one will bother about me."

There was a quaver in the girl's voice that made Vane look at her. She was looking out over the yeasty water with misty eyes and set mouth.

"All right," said Vane after a moment's hesitation. "I'm in a reckless mood. Let fate take care of us. What will be will be. Jump in."

It was a gusty day, and the Dot, too light for such weather, her lee rail almost under water, staggered under the daws, every now and then burying her nose into the rollers and sending a shower of spray into the boat. Vane had all he could do to manage her and for a time forgot his companion and almost his gloomy thoughts in the grim pleasure of his contest with wind and storm lashed sea. It was Edith Winthrop he was thinking of, the woman who had led him on to love her and then thrown him over for another man. Edith did not care. Every one must be sacrificed for her amusement—yes, even this child, her sister. At the thought he glanced at the girl where she sat poised out to windward, like some spirit of the sea, her hair blowing in the wind, her cheeks aglow with excitement, her eyes fixed with a far-away look on the horizon. Vane had never noticed how pretty she was before. He had always thought of her as a mere child, and, lo, she was a woman. What was she thinking of? he wondered.

As if in answer to the question, Marjorie turned and met his eyes for an instant and then looked away.

"You've heard of Edith's engagement?" she said.

"Yes," answered Vane, setting his teeth hard. "I only found it out today."

"I knew it weeks ago. You thought she cared for you?"

"Yes."

"You might have known she didn't."

Six Doctors Failed to Cure Him.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM WAS THE TROUBLE.

Burdock Blood Bitters

DID MORE THAN SIX DOCTORS COULD DO.

Mrs. Theo. Newell, Argyle Sound, N.S., expresses her opinion of this wonderful blood remedy in the following letter:

"It is with the greatest gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of Burdock Blood Bitters. For years my husband suffered terribly with Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. He was so bad at times that he could not sleep on account of the itching and burning. He had been under the care of six different doctors, but they failed to do him any good. I had read different times of the wonderful cures being made by Burdock Blood Bitters, so advised him to give it a trial. He did so, and after taking five bottles was cured without a doubt. I would strongly advise any person troubled with blood disorders to give B.B.B. a fair trial for I am sure it will cure them."

A Kidney Sufferer FOR Fourteen Years.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS THE BACK.
Could not Sit or Stand with Ease.

Doan's Kidney Pills FINALLY MADE A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. Jacob Jamieson, Jamieson Bros., the well-known Contractors and Builders, Welland, Ont., tells of how he was cured.

"For fourteen years I was afflicted with kidney trouble which increased in severity last five years. My most serious attack was four years ago, when I was completely incapacitated. I had terrible pains across my back, floating specks before my eyes and was in almost constant torment. I could not sit or stand with ease and was a wreck in health, having no appetite and lost greatly in flesh. I had taken medicine from five different doctors and also numerous other preparations to no purpose. I finally began to take Doan's Kidney Pills and before I had taken five boxes the trouble left me and I now feel better than I have for twenty years. Those who know me know how I was afflicted and say it is almost impossible to believe that I have been cured, yet they know it is so. I have passed the meridian of life but I feel that I have taken on the rosy hue of boyhood."

Van Alstyne is a richer man than you—in money. It's wealth and power she wants, and attention and admiration. Love! She doesn't know what it means. And you thought she had a heart!" cried the girl. "This sea has more."

"I know it now," said Vane, "when it's too late."

"And you—can you care for her still?" asked Marjorie after a silence.

"Yes—at least I care for the ideal I thought her."

"What did you think her?"

"Brave, courageous, noble hearted, with a soul as beautiful as her body, a comrade for a man, to face with him the storms of life, a woman tender and true, to fight for and dare for. I would have tried to give her everything she wanted. No man can love her as I do—and now—"

Vane laughed bitterly as an ending to his sentence.

"Why did you come out today in this gale?" said Marjorie. "Is your life so worthless to you that you would risk it because a thoughtless woman has wronged you?"

"My life! What does it matter? I don't care."

"I thought you didn't," returned the girl gravely. "I knew you didn't. That's why I came. I couldn't let you come alone."

"And you came because you thought—"

"You would be reckless? Yes."

"And you were not afraid?"

"No. Why should I be? I knew you would take care of me—if not of yourself." The girl smiled at him confidently. "I am perfectly safe with you," she added.

So Marjorie had risked her life for him, so that in his desperate humor he should not go alone. But how came she, a mere child, to understand? She, at least, had a heart to make some man happy. And here he was putting her life at the mercy of the sea to gratify his selfish mood of bitterness. Well, he must get her home at once—then—Vane thought he did not much care what happened afterward.

It was blowing harder as Vane came about and slacked the sheet for the run to the far distant boathouse and the hotel on the hill. They were going before the wind now, the boat rolling dangerously in the clutch of the sea, the waves behind following with hungry jaws and threatening every moment to engulf them.

With braced body and strained muscles, every sense alert, Vane gripped the tiller, striving to hold the boat against the swirling buffets of the waves, his one thought to get her safe to land. Every moment the wind increased, every moment the bay became more tumultuous. Would they make it? he wondered.

They were nearly opposite the boathouse when there came a sudden whirl of wind from between the hills ahead. Vane had but time to cry a warning when the sail jibed, the boom came swinging over with an angry snarl, the boat was flung upon her beam ends, and the next moment he found himself entangled in cordage and battling for his life beneath the waves. With desperate fingers he cleared himself and came to the surface. And Marjorie—where was she? Good God! Had she been struck by the boom and made unconscious or killed, or had she, too, been carried down by the sinking boat?

For an agonized moment Vane could see no sign of her, and then he spied her just coming to the surface. She was going down again when he caught her and started for the shore. It was a long swim against a tide that seemed to drag him down as if with clutching hands, but Vane swore he would save this girl who had risked her life for him or lose her own. He could see people running to the boathouse now and getting out the boat. How slow they were! Would they never come? His muscles were giving out, his breath came heavily, his limbs felt like lead. Could he hold out? They were wearing fast now. He tried to revive his failing strength, to overmaster his weakness. The world grew black before him, and then a strong arm gripped his shoulder, and he and Marjorie were lifted into the boat and rowed toward shore.

In those days afterward, while Marjorie hovered between life and death, Clifford Vane learned how much he could do for this girl, this girl he thought was a child and now knew to be the woman in all the world for him. Gone was his love for Edith Winthrop. He knew now that he had in her sister all that Edith had seemed and more. And there came a day when he was permitted to see her.

He found her on an upper piazza of the hotel clad in a soft blue wrapper, her soft hair loose on her shoulders, and the smile her pale face held for him gave him hope that in saving her he had found happiness.

He Didn't Forget.

Many years ago, writes Mr. Thomas Bailey Aldrich in "Ponkapog Papers," a noted Boston publisher used to keep a large memorandum book on a table in his private office. The volume always lay open, being the receptacle of nothing more important than hastily scrawled reminders to attend to this thing or the other.

It chanced one day that a very young, undogged author, passing through the city, looked in upon the publisher, who was also the editor of a famous magazine. The unfledged had a copy of verses secreted about his person. The publisher was absent, and young Milton sat down and waited.

An inspiration seized upon the youth. He took a pencil and at the tail of this long list of "don't forgets" he wrote, "Don't forget to accept A's poem."

He left his manuscript on the table and disappeared. That afternoon, when the publisher glanced over his memoranda, he was not a little astonished at the last item, but his sense of humor was so strong that he did accept the poem—it required a strong sense of humor to do that—and sent the lad a check for it, although the verses remain to this day unprinted.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE BEATEN AGAIN

Mary Malcolm's Life Was Measured by Days and Hours

Dodd's Kidney Pills Had Her Able To Be Out in a Week.

Another Remarkable Cure Brought Out By The Collingwood and Eglington Cases.

Toronto, April 28.—(Special).—The interest in medical circles here over the cures of Mrs. Adams, of Collingwood, and Mrs. Philip, of Eglington, of Bright's Disease, has been given fresh fuel by another and yet more startling cure of that same terrible ailment. This latest case is that of a young girl, Mary Malcolm, who lives with her parents at 199 Marlborough avenue, this city.

DEATH SEEMED SURE.

This cure is little short of miraculous. Miss Malcolm was in the clutches of Bright's Disease from May until September, and had sunk so low that her life was measured by days if not by hours. Hope had given place to a certainty to death, and her friends had turned to the sad task of preparing her grave clothes. These last ghastly garments are now in the house, but Mary Malcolm is a strong hearty maiden who can look on them without even a shudder of fear. Dodd's Kidney Pills effected the change. Here is the story as told by the girl's mother, Mrs. W. Malcolm:

"My daughter, Mary, who is now fourteen years old, was taken suddenly ill with Bright's Disease in May, 1902. We had the doctor and continued with him till September, 1902, when he said he could do nothing more for her. She was so swollen with Dropsy as to be almost unrecognizable."

CURE WAS QUICK.

"From a book dropped in at the door, we learned of Dodd's Kidney Pills and as a last resort, determined to try them. They gave her relief from the very beginning, so much so that in one week we were able to take her out to Munro Park for an afternoon."

"After taking four boxes, she was entirely cured and she has never had the slightest relapse. We can never say too much for Dodd's Kidney Pills as they certainly saved my daughter's life."

And Mary, the daughter on whom Bright's Disease had pronounced the sentence of death, now a picture of healthy girlhood, smiled a cheerful assent to her mother's statement and chimed in, "If I am ever sick again I will take nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills."

It is hardly necessary to add that proof piled on proof has convinced the public that Bright's Disease is curable and that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the cure; that if the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys the one unfailing remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

EASTEP EGGS.

How Little Girls Used to Color Them
Years Ago in Old Virginia.

Easter eggs were a great thing with us little girls in Virginia. I do not remember whether there was any talk of new Easter clothes; but, then, that would have been in our eyes a small matter in comparison. The prettiest ones by far were dyed with calico.
Get the calico either small figured, wee sprigs of flowers and the like, or with a flower large enough to decorate the whole side of the egg. A piece about 4 by 7 inches will serve the purpose or two pieces 3 1/2 by 4 inches, or larger if the figures require it in order to be well placed upon the egg.

In covering put the right side of the goods to the egg, and tack or pin the calico tight over it, and follow this tacking with close sewing (see illustration), drawing the calico tight and as smooth as possible, especially where the figures are, as you wish the figures to lie flat against the egg, and whole figures, if possible, rather than parts.

Outside of these smooth places the plaits and ridges (resembling the spurs of a mountain range) need extra stitches and extra tightening to adjust them right.

We were advised to use calicoes which faded easily, but that was exaggerated advice. The tolerably fast dark colors succeed better. The brown, black or scarlet of good, fast colored prints scarcely color the egg at all.
Purple seems desirable and dark blue.
Deep pink roses often come out beautiful. A white or very light ground is generally best.

Prints not intended to be washed do well. For instance, the cheaper draperies, like thick silkoline and the thin furniture coverings, especially old fashioned "curtain calico" (lately fashionable again), which has a sort of varnished glaze.

We boiled our eggs (thus sewed in their covers) in weakened lye, but I, living in town, boil them in washing soda and water, a lump the size of a walnut to a quart or less, which boils down generally to still less. Put the eggs into the boiling mixture at any time, only be sure that the soda is fully dissolved. Let them boil nearly half an hour. If your calico is, however, of somewhat fast colors, an hour may be better. The danger is of boiling off the pictures which you have boiled on. The fast colors will stand a good deal of boiling, getting prettier and prettier, whereas the less fast may soon begin to fade out of the egg as well as out of the covering.

Use a spoon in handling the wet egg.
Soda or lye eats the skin. Do not boil many at once in a can if there is danger of the colors running much.
The picture shows eggs wrapped in cloth and also after the cloth is removed.

If all this is too much for the family patience, there is another entertaining way. Get some of the ready prepared egg dyes, to be used cold. Boil the eggs hard and after they are thoroughly cooled mark words or figures upon them with melted wax. Then dye and afterward carefully tear off the wax.

Do not put away lye very long in a bottle, as it eats it thin and brittle, and between broken glass and biting lye you could have a mishap from which you might get real injury.—

Fashion's Echoes.

Buttons of every description are now the fashion, and you may wear them on any part of the costume, from the hem of your gown to the crown of your hat.

Boas of all sorts are a fad. The Paris way to wear them is wound twice around the neck and hanging down the back instead of in front. A lovely one is of Valenciennes felled on to white satin ribbon.

When gathers appear on skirts they are almost flat and simply define the least suggestion of a drawing together of the material. The cut is in every way responsible for the closeness and clinging effect so often obtained in Parisian skirts.

Colored muslin aprons with ribbons to match for waitresses are the last fad in swell New York houses. It comes from London.

Basques rather than boleros are now
the thing.
The long shoulder line predominates on all the new gowns.
Not for a long time have the separate coats, quite distinct from the gown, been so fashionable.
The becoming and pretty Japanese puff is the latest smart thing in hairdressing.

A Plant Root Regulator.

Regulating the root growth by root pruning, transplanting and other methods is no new idea. The several transplantings, often practiced, are, however, sometimes difficult, as when a tap-root runs deep into the earth. A Texas man has it appears, invented a mechanical device to regulate root growth. His idea is to insert a metallic open-work strip or screen in the earth and plant over it. The main root of the plant striving to pass through the screen in its downward journey is partially headed off and forced to throw out side roots.

A PRESENT FOR THE OLD FOLKS.

FOR THE STOMACH'S SAKE.
An eminent physician says, "human life should last five times the years it takes to mature"—thus if twenty-one is maturity we should live over a hundred years, but there are not many reach the century mark. A great deal more longevity would exist if the stomach did not get crippled and played out—That organ gets plenty of abuse, and is depriving of attention—
It is the starting-point of most ailments, and it needs the first attention when symptoms of sickness appear. If an elderly stomach can be kept working right, you may be sure of a ripe and contented old age, comparatively free from physical burdens. The great new discovery, ANTI-PILL, the Great System Treatment, has a grand effect in helping old and deranged stomachs.

Cross Folds, Silk Braids, Narrow Frills and Shirrings All Popular.
Crossway folds are among the prominent features of dress. These are simuskirts where the real tuck would be too clumsy.

Fine braids in all sorts of silky loosely woven patterns will be another feature of smart gowns and coats. Wheels of tubular braid are used varying in size from a quarter to a silver dollar.
They are usually distributed at regular

WALKING COSTUME.

Intervals around the hem of a skirt or the edge of a dounce and are repeated in corresponding style on the bolero or bodice.

Narrow frills must be taken into account also in enumerating the different trimmings. They add an ornate appearance to the simplest of gowns.

Bands of shirrings now attain the proportions of three or four inches in width, and in many cases they are edged on either side with wide irregular applications of lace.

The new coats as well as the gowns display rich undersleeves of lace and mull. The newest undersleeve is one composed of many tiny ruffings.

The new spring silk frocks are of taffeta and a soft, luminous weave of French silk. They require to be plaited, gauged or trimmed in some way to give them chic folds.

Fine black cloths always form a smart costume, and in the illustration you will see an example of this. Pin tucking figures largely on coat and skirt. The latter, by the way, is a very new model. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CHOOSE DEATH TO SURRENDER

Wan San, the crew were sent ashore because there was no accommodations for them on the torpedo boats.

The crew of the Japanese steamer Mikamura-Maru, as well as the Japanese of the Kinshu-Maru who surrendered, have been taken to the Russian cruisers.

The admiralty here professes ignorance as to the future plans of Admiral Yezzen, but it is believed he is in communication with Vladivostok by wireless telegraphy, and is not likely to be surprised by the Japanese squadron sent to prevent his return.

CAIR MAY RELIEVE YESZEN

St. Petersburg, April 28.—The operations of the Vladivostok squadron have revived the spirits of the people of St. Petersburg, who have been depressed since the destruction of the Petrovsk and the consequent confinement of the remainder of the Port Arthur fleet to the harbor. The fact that the navy is doing something of an offensive character appeals to the popular mind, which has been seen to appreciate the reason for the inactivity of the fine ships of the Vladivostok squadron.

It is generally recognized that Rear-Admiral Yezzen cannot do more than frighten the Japanese and compel them to exercise greater care in their military movements, as the sinking of a few transports or even cruisers can have no permanent effect on the result of the war. Moreover, he is bound by his instructions not to risk his ships unduly, the intention being to keep them safe for an attack with the Baltic fleet when it arrives in the Pacific.

The possibility of a Japanese attempt to mine the entrances to Vladivostok, as was done at Port Arthur, is considered, but the conditions are different, and, besides, Rear-Admiral Yezzen, with the lesson of the Petrovsk disaster fresh in his mind, will observe the utmost caution.

MAY RELIEVE YESZEN

St. Petersburg is loaded with rumors regarding the sinking of the Japanese military transport, the Kin Shin Maru. One report has it that 3,000 men were aboard the transport when she went down, but the admiralty insists that there were only 200. It is said that the Emperor is highly indignant over the affair, and that he will relieve Yezzen and order him to be court-martialed. This report lacks confirmation in responsible naval circles, where it is reiterated that no other course could be pursued, and that the admiral only fired when the Japanese categorically refused to surrender and adopted a hostile attitude.

MAKE A DISTINCTION

The officials say that there is no similarity between the sinking of the Kin Shin Maru and the destruction of the Kowshing, which was sunk by the Japanese before the declaration of war with China, as Russia is at war with Japan. That Admiral Yezzen gave the men every opportunity to leave the ship is proved by the fact that all the officers, some of the soldiers, the crew and the coolies were transferred on board a Russian cruiser.

Seek to mingle gentleness in all your rebukes, bear with the infirmities of others, make allowances for constitutional frailties; never say harsh things if kind things will do as well.

WORLD OF SPORT

BOWLING

A fine cut of N. H. Stevens, of this city, appears in to-day's London Free Press. Under the cut is the following: Mr. Stevens is one of the most popular of the members of the Chatham Lawn Bowling Club. He is to be representative of Chatham on the forthcoming trip to the old country by the Canadian Bowlers.

FOOTBALL

GOING TO GET IN THE GAME.

The officers and committee of the Windsor football club will hold a meeting this evening for the purpose of reconstructing the team. They have a couple of promising players on hand and are desirous of strengthening the team for the coming games. Windsor team are determined that in spite of their reverse this year, Sandwich shall not hold the western division cup for another term.—Windsor Record.

LAOROSSE

ST. THOMAS PRACTISES.

St. Thomas lacrosse boys had their first practice last night on the New Athletic grounds. Everything looks bright for an A1 team this year. The boys are entering into the game with heart and soul and intend to give St. Thomas credit of having one of the fastest teams in the country.

Lacrosse is becoming more popular every year. To prove this you have only to make a comparison with last year's C. L. A. districts. There were only eight junior districts as against twelve this year. The intermediate series is smaller than last year owing to so many towns playing senior series. St. Thomas is classed with Chatham, Blenheim, Wallaceburg and Thamesville in the intermediate series, and also have a team classed with Chatham and Rodney in the junior C. L. A. series.—St. Thomas Journal.

Two Views of Sport.

Sport comes in as a sort of safety valve, as plenty of riding and walking minimizes the effect of too luxurious living, always supposing that the latter has not already had the effect of begetting a disinclination for anything approaching strong exercise, a fate not at all unlikely to overtake those who are too capon lined.—London Field.

We are growing accustomed to being called a nation of shopkeepers, and we seem to be going the right way toward earning the still less enviable title of a nation of game players. Let us remember while there is yet time that an empire almost as great tottered to its fall when the citizens of the mother city grew too serious over their amusements.—Blackwood's Magazine.

A Magpie's Conscience.

Why does the magpie construct a dome of twigs over its nest? Most readers will say as a shelter, but it does not in the least answer to such a description. The twigs are only a network through which rain may pour and cold winds penetrate. May it not be the case that the magpie is conscious of its own sins, and a guilty mind, apprehensive of reprisals, causes the bird to build this over its nest? The magpie is an egg stealer and makes use of knowledge, gained while carrying out its depredations on the contents of other nests, to protect those of its own.—Country Gentlemen.

PUNISHED FOR INJUSTICE

Rosalio Artega, an officer of the mounted police of Mexico City, Mex., was imprisoned yesterday, under a charge of abuse of authority. A few days ago the officer sent to Belem to the first correctional court, a man named Gaspar Jimenez, charging him with assault on an officer. Jimenez was incarcerated, and after several days he was able to prove that he had never attacked the police, but that Artega had sent him to jail because he (Jimenez) was in company with a woman whom the officer was courting, and who paid no attention to his advances, because she is in love with Jimenez. The officer, after serving a term in Belem, will more than likely be discharged from his post.—Mexican Herald.

SATCHEL OF THE SATELLITE

Has anybody heard anybody else say anything about an electric railroad for Chatham?

The Chatham Old Boys' will be rather stuck on this town and will want to stay home.

The politician who tries to import a burning question into Toronto for a while now will get into trouble.

Those intelligent gentlemen who composed that Stratford delegation certainly knew a good live hustling town when they saw it.

It is reported that the maple sap is running well. This must be the reason why so little of it seems to get caught.—Montreal Star.

Ald. John Edmondson.—The Great Home Journal can do most anything, so I think it is about up to them to write Hicks and have him make some good weather for May.

It was a pupil of the O. C. I. geography class who gave this definition of what Fundy was—"Fundy is a bay in Quebec. Its principal feat is high tides, about 40 feet."

The only people to make money out of this wet weather are the citizens who live on streets that are sprinkled. They don't have to pay good money to the man who drives the water wagon.

No, Dear Alright. Yes, I scarcely think that the real motive of the visit of N. H. Stevens and John A. Walker, K. C., to Europe is to examine electric railways for the purpose of purchasing and importing one to this county.

County Clerk Jonas Gosnell.—No, I don't carry this big umbrella because it is for exercise, nor do I carry it for use in arguments in bowling because bowlers never quarrel. You see the street car is coming along and I want to be ready for any excitement that is doing.

Chief Holmes.—The best receipt for curing dumbness is to send the victim to St. Thomas to be arrested. This is found to work a very effective cure.

It is surmised that when the deaf man reached St. Thomas, things were so quiet he thought that he was in the city of the dead and he began to talk to himself to find out if he was alive.

WHO WAS RIGHT?

"There is only one more wicket to fall," said a boy watching a cricket match, as the ninth man was going in. "No," said another boy; "there are two."

"You are both wrong," said a third; "there are three."

Who was right?—Montreal Star.

SOCIAL CATECHISM.

Can people play the social game without money?

Not often. There are a few people who do that, but they can always find a much better snap.

What is meant, in society, by paying your debts?

It is filling up your house with people that you don't want to entertain and who bore you to extinction.

Why is this sort of thing done?

It is done so that you will be invited back and be bored some more.—Kansas City Times.
