VICTORY LOAN MUST SUCCEED

At least $500,000,000 must be obtained by Saturday night: (1) To bring the boys home; (2) To maintain them in Europe till peace is firmly established; (3) To maintain our industrial activities and provide new employment for munition workers and soldiers as they return; (4) To continue our loans to Britain for buying Canadian food; (5) To enable Canadian workers to get their rightful share of orders for re-building Belgium and France.

Claims the Report Was Misleading

Editor Ontario,—My attention has been drawn to a statement in your report of the Thanksgiving Victory Peace Service which is misleading. To quote the passage referred to: "In the absence of Rev. Dr. Scott, the Venerable Archdeacon Beamish, senior chaplain of the district was in charge."

I deeply regret the enforced absence of Dr. Scott whom we all highly esteem and respect, but had he been present I should have presided just the same, not as a matter of choice, but of right, and in the performance of a military duty. As I write I have before me the statement and order of the Militia Department and with the concurrence of the Honorable the Minister of Militia and Defence.

Let us at home learn from the splendid example of our chaplains overseas service to "play the game" fairly and squarely, in which it is not the particular "faith" of the individual that counts, but the official rank which he has won in the service.

Yours, etc.,
G. R. Beamish, Major,
Chaplain 15th Bata., A.L.I.
The Rectory, Belleville,
Nov. 13th, 1918.

Editor's note.—The Ontario would very greatly regret to be the medium to give publicity to any wrong statement about Venerable Archdeacon Beamish whose activities since the commencement of war we all recognize and value. We would also regret, if at this time of general rejoicing any jarring note should arise over such trifles as precedence or "right" in regard to a chairmanship.

We know there has been a misunderstanding. The devotional service before the Court House on Monday was if we are correctly informed of a non-military character. If there was a present he was there as an individual and not in any official capacity. It was a citizen's thanksgiving service for the people of Belleville. It is therefore difficult to understand how Venerable Archdeacon Beamish's official position as senior chaplain gave him the "right" to preside at this service.

To go back further, this service of thanksgiving was arranged for last Thursday night at a public meeting at the city hall, called by the Mayor of Belleville. At that meeting there were three clergymen present who were appointed a special committee to look after the devotional part of the local celebration of peace. Dr. Scott's name having been the first mentioned was by usage assumed to be the convener.

As the Ontario sees it, it was the proper privilege and duty of that special committee to select the chairman to preside at the public service. The Ontario, without making any inquiries, assumed that Dr. Scott, as president of the Belleville ministerial association, and chairman of the committee, would be assigned to the chairmanship. We find, however, upon looking into the matter today, that the committee made no choice of chairman and did not even discuss the subject, apparently having overlooked the matter or taking it for granted who would preside.

In this matter The Ontario has no denominational ax to grind. All denominations will receive in the columns of our paper a square deal. Our highest endeavor is to play the game "fairly and squarely."

If The Ontario was wrong in the assumption that the service was of a non-military character, or if Venerable Archdeacon Beamish was the choice of the special committee as chairman, we will be very glad to put the correct information before the people as soon as we receive it.

ONLY THREE DAYS LEFT TO BUY VICTORY BONDS

Wollaston Wins Honour Flag—War Veterans Put Their Money in Victory Bonds—Hastings County Still Needs $1,000,000.

The total returns to date from the County of Hastings is $1,414,500. This includes all special subscriptions. With special subscriptions included Hastings County to reach its honour flag needs $2,500,000. There is still a shortage in Hastings County of over $1,000,000, which it is to be hoped will be made up in the next three days. That would mean over $300,000 a day. This is a heavy task but it is hoped that the objective will be reached. Every citizen should help to bring the County of Hastings where it belongs in this great war effort. If we fail to reach the objective we will have the disgrace of being about the only county in the Dominion of Canada to fall. Let's get busy.

Belleville's total to date is $475,000. $225,000 is needed still in Belleville by Saturday night, midnight. This is over $100,000 a day. It can be done, but it will require some hustling.

Congratulations, Wollaston.

Congratulations of Hastings County is due to Wollaston Twp. and the village of Coe Hill for they have won the Governor General's honour flag. Reeve C. S. Rollins, the energetic and popular Victory Loan canvasser for that district has brought the old township to the front once more in this magnificent patriotic effort. The objective of Wollaston was very high, being $25,000. As it is very thinly populated however, no objective is too high for this good old township where patriotism is concerned. It is unlikely that there is another community in the Dominion of Canada that has given its blood and treasure to a greater extent than Wollaston. Charlie Rollins is one of the Vice-Chairmen of the Victory Loan committee of Hastings County and he has given every ounce of energy both in the campaign last year and in the campaign this year to put the Victory Loan over the top in his district. The thanks of the committee is also due to Mrs. J. Rollins, who last Thursday night at a public meeting at the city hall, called by the Mayor of Belleville. At that meeting there were three clergymen present who were appointed a special committee to look after the devotional part of the local celebration of peace. Dr. Scott's name having been the first mentioned was by usage assumed to be the convener.

As the Ontario sees it, it was the proper privilege and duty of that special committee to select the chairman to preside at the public service. The Ontario, without making any inquiries, assumed that Dr. Scott, as president of the Belleville ministerial association, and chairman of the committee, would be assigned to the chairmanship. We find, however, upon looking into the matter today, that the committee made no choice of chairman and did not even discuss the subject, apparently having overlooked the matter or taking it for granted who would preside.

In this matter The Ontario has no denominational ax to grind. All denominations will receive in the columns of our paper a square deal. Our highest endeavor is to play the game "fairly and squarely."

If The Ontario was wrong in the assumption that the service was of a non-military character, or if Venerable Archdeacon Beamish was the choice of the special committee as chairman, we will be very glad to put the correct information before the people as soon as we receive it.

Mr. W. H. DeBlas advises headquarters that the Nichols Chemical Company of Sulphide has subscribed $25,000 of Bonds. The employees of the Nichols Chemical Company have bought very liberally of the bonds and this special subscription of $25,000 brings Sulphide's record up to the front. We can stand a few more Sulphides.

During every patriotic campaign there are many instances occurring of unselfish patriotism. This is particularly noticeable in the Victory Loan campaign. A great many of us have invested in Canada's War Loan at 6 1/2%, because it is the very finest financial opportunity ever offered to the people of any country as a business proposition. A great many of us had this in mind when buying, but there are others who did not think of the investment end and if the I can pay no interest would have come forward just as cheerfully with their dollars to help their country through this gigantic crisis.

An instance of this kind has been in each of our campaigns. Last year during the campaign Mr. W. B. Deacon, the county chairman, was at the G.T. depot waiting for a train when he was approached by a boy selling papers. He asked Mr. Deacon to explain how he could buy a Victory Bond. Mr. Deacon gladly gave him the information, and told him he would assist him to purchase one, but the boy made out his application for four $50 bonds or $200 in all. They are all paid for now. This year this same boy approached a local canvasser and bought four more $50 bonds. He had done his bit but was not satisfied with this. His brother, 14 years of age, was ambitious to help out his country. He had saved $25.00 and asked his older brother how he could purchase a Victory Bond. His brother lent him $72.50. He bought a $100 bond. These two boys have between them $500 in Victory Bonds.

Grenville Fradette is the older brother, and the younger is Walter. They were unable to go and fight for their country because of their youth and disability, but they have sent their dollars. Can any citizen or business man in Belleville show an appropriate effort in this campaign. If he can, we would like to hear of it.

There are three more days left in which to buy bonds. The campaign closes at midnight, Saturday night. Keep this instance of the Fradette boys constantly in mind and between now and Saturday night try to emulate their magnificent efforts.

YOUR MONEY IS NEEDED TO BRING BACK THE BOYS—BUY BONDS.

Veterans Buy Victory Bonds.

On June 3rd last the good people of Belleville and Belleville district turned out in enormous numbers to show their appreciation of the Great War Veterans. The people of this district vied with each other to swell the financial returns. The result was one of the biggest days Belleville has ever had. The profits were devoted to paying off the indebtedness that had been incurred by this organization and the balance left, being over $3,000, was placed in a trust to be left intact until the boys come home. This action created a great deal of favorably comment and the veterans were praised very highly for their regard for their comrades, who were still fighting the battle for civilization, but the latest action of the executive of the Great War Veterans will receive greater praise. At a meeting held recently it was decided that the $3,000 held in trust should be invested in Victory Bonds, thereby not only placing the Trust fund to the very greatest advantage so that the greatest returns may be made, but by investing in the Bonds, the fund of the organization have provided money to bring back their comrades from the horrors of the battle field in a fitting way. Long live the Great War Veterans.

The following letter was received by Victory Loan Headquarters today:

Dear Sir,—

It is with much satisfaction that I have to advise you that every one of the nine men and women, who compose this organization have bought Victory Bonds. Total sub-

Painted the City Red; Belleville Celebrates

Biggest Day in History of City of Bay — Celebrant Crowds Thronged Streets — Greatest Parade in Local Annals — Thousands Lined the Streets — Addresses at Armouries — Torchlight Parade and Last Scenes of the Day.

Never again will such sights be seen as were witnessed yesterday in Belleville, Canada's greatest day and Belleville's greatest day was—the dawn of peace. The long strain of fifty-two months of war was relieved everywhere the signs of relaxation were apparent. Faces that have shown iron nerve beamed with the joy of the end of carnage. Even the happy veteran became more happy and showed every sign of relief.

The spirit of joy broke loose everywhere. Even those whose relatives have fallen, and who can hope for no return, took part in the events of yesterday, although in a subdued manner. Citizens generally cut loose but the crowds which walked Belleville's streets were the most good-natured that could be found anywhere. Scarcely any damage was done.

How many took part in the proceedings can only be guessed. Farmers and villagers from the surrounding country came to the city, joined in all the festivities and stayed late. In the afternoon fifteen or eighteen thousand people witnessed the parade.

The ringing of bells in the morning, the whistling and screaming, the hooting and shouting were all an overture to the afternoon events. The parade crystallized all the feelings of the people into one grand demonstration.

The procession was the greatest ever witnessed in this city. It took over half an hour to pass Bridge St. corner. The committee of which Ald. Hanna was chairman, handled their work well and the result was most gratifying.

Along Front street, gaily decorated with flags and busting by the Thompson Company, the roadway and walks were lined with people waving flags and toasting horns. Through them wended the parade. Dr. Ackrill led off with a broom, bearing the emblem "What we have we hold" and a bull dog. Next came the Marshal Mr. J. J. B. Platt, then Mayor Platt and the city council, the 15th Regimental band, maimed soldiers of the Great War, in a float, with Germany's flag—a Red Cross flag, torn and blood-stained, the Great War Veterans and several naval officers, veterans of the Foutan Raid, Northwest Rebellion and South African war, the Depot Battalion band, Major Green and the Depot Battalion, the soldiers, carrying flags, Salvation Army band and the local corps, floats bearing the boxes which were supposed to contain the remains of the ex-Kaiser, the "Clown" Prince and "Hindy", Johnstone's Pipe Band, a float Goodbye "Bill", Albert College students led by the Principal Dr. Baker and the lady principal, Miss Gardiner; hundreds of decorated cars, children of the various schools led by principals and teachers, bearing Union Jacks and Canadian flags; fire department, war workers' societies from West Belleville, a hoarse screaming, its shrill notes, coal merchants' display, and citizens.

The route of march was up Front street and Mill and back Front to Bridge street corner and thence to the armouries. At 2.30 o'clock the procession reached the armouries grounds. In a few minutes the parade ground was filled with people. A large platform had been erected at the armouries entrance. From this the speeches were delivered and five or six thousand people listened. On the platform were the Mayor and the members of the council, members of parliament, ladies representing the different societies of the Red Cross, L.O.D.E. and War Workers.

Col. Ponton was the chairman of the proceedings. He was full of inspiration of the occasion. "I am proud to be chairman today," he declared. "Venerable Archdeacon Beamish opened the proceedings with an invocation."

"We are proud of the fellows who have laid down their lives for you and me—to protect us from the atrocity of the Huns. These boys of our empire were so noble. Before I go any farther, let us give three cheers for our boys" (applause). "We have had splendid allies—France, Italy, Belgium and the great republic to the south of us."

"There is one thing I do not want to forget. We could not have won this war without the British navy, and let us not forget the boys when they come home." (cheers).

Mr. E. Guss Porter, M.P. for West Hastings, whose sons sleep his last sleep in France said: "Today we have an opportunity to praise Providence that has brought peace to this world. There has been in other wars an idea of conquest but in this great conflict, the allied nations had no such aim. The central powers wanted to conquer the world and resorted to all kinds of cruelty to gain their object. Against them the Allies have fought a clean fight—for the sole purpose of living here free and happy peoples. Could there have been a greater cause? There never was. A shadow of a doubt what the result would be. Our men have not made these sacrifices in vain. I do not want to forget those men at the front that have made this celebration possible. Some may have thought the day would never come but our men nerved us to continued effort and today we celebrate their victory. Let our gratitude be shown in more than mere words of praise. Let us do everything possible to let our heroes live in the sunshine of a nation's gratitude. Canada today is the admiration of the world. Let us be looked upon as the star of hope and emblem of a happy and peaceful humanity."

Col. Ponton voiced the crowd's praise of the Red Cross and L.O.D.E. "I propose that in November for all time to come there shall be Thanksgiving Day for the whole of Canada." ("Hear! hear!") said Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P. for West Hastings.

"That old flag has been for a thousand years the champion and guardian of the world. Under it our men have been fighting for over four years and of each of our fallen, let us say in the words of Tennessee 'God accept him, 'risit receive him.' I say the same of our departed soldiers who have died for the cause of civilization. We feel gratitude to our heroes who have not fallen. We honor the men of England, Ireland, and Scotland, who put six million soldiers in the field."

"I want to do some justice to General Hughes. None but he could have accomplished what he did in the opening months of the war."

"No longer is Canada a mere colony, but now we are one of the nations of the Empire, having a voice in the peace negotiations."

"We have the greatest heritage in all the world. We all have to be careful what classes we admit. Only those willing to defend and serve should be given entrance to Canada."

"Historic Mons has been taken today," declared Col. Ponton with deep feeling. "It was taken by Canadian" (cheers). Mr. B. Burrows led the what throng in the song "Jolly Good Fellows" when this was announced.

"They crowned peace with victory" continued the chairman. "Some tell in the last great fight of all."

Dr. Coughlin, superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf in his speech said: "The eloquent words could not express in any way the joy in the hearts of the Canadian people today. We are celebrating the victorious close of the war, which has been the fiercest in history. Our Canadians have suffered untold hardships. The fortitude of these soldiers has been only equalled by the fortitude of their mothers and sisters at home. We are proud of their achievement. We recognize their heroism."

"I was a sufferer from these complaints for five years, and my sedentary occupation, Music, brought about a kind of Intestinal Paralysis; with nasty Headaches, belching gas, drowsiness after eating, and pain in the back."

Their work shall not go unrewarded. We are filled with profound gratitude. Our boys will return to their peaceful home life, bringing joy to their fathers and mothers. It is not a victory not so much of arms, as of right over wrong. At no future time shall any tyranny be set over the people of the world. While we are happy at the return of peace we must never forget the heroes who have fallen in Flanders and France. Of those who have sacrificed all for us, the dependents will ever receive the kindest consideration of the public. We are proud of the returned men. Your deeds must not be forgotten. I can only congratulate this country that they can soon hope to have their dear ones back again.

As senior member of the Board of Education Mr. F. E. O'Flynn next spoke. The next speaker called upon was Mr. F. E. O'Flynn, representing the Board of Education as its senior member and the fathers of the boys overseas. Mr. O'Flynn who was enthusiastically received stepped forward waving the Union Jack and said some man said that the English race is decadent that the colonists of Britain would not make good soldiers that the Union Jack no longer was the emblem of the victors and the flag that swept the seas, but recent events had proved they were falsehoods, that the English soldier was the best soldier in the world, that the soldiers from the colonies were the best of the English soldiers and that the British flag, the old Union Jack was still the emblem of victory on land and floated over the vessels whose power ruled the seas (prolonged cheering). At the close of the speech and the boys of Germany and although outnumbered twenty to one and submerged like the rocks by the incoming tide, they held their formation and repelled all attacks and retreated to the Marine where when the command was given they sprang upon the Germans and gallantly did their part in saving Paris and winning the first great victory of the war. The speaker then referred to the happy coincidence that on the eve of signing the armistice Canadian troops had again captured Mons—so that where they first took their stand against the German hordes although for the time being they had been driven away they had come back and again held the same ground as victors and had again proved the old adage that "what we have we hold" still means something as a motto for Great Britain. It was particularly gratifying that this place had been recaptured by our own Canadian boys. Four years ago we had all met in the same place to bid good bye to the boys who hastily left our city to join the first contingent and who made an immortal record in the noted Second Battalion of the First Division. From time to time we had gathered in the same place, at the armouries, to bid good bye to our boys as they marched away for the front to battle for freedom, home, and our loved ones, and today while we are rejoicing over the magnificent outcome of the great war, our hearts were heavy as we thought of the boys who would never come back again. All honor, to the boys who have so bravely responded to the call of duty and who with smiles on their faces and songs on their lips went into the greatest conflicts of this war and gave their lives cheerfully. Let us do what we can to comfort the fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers, wives and children of those who have fallen and let us be careful that those who return maimed or otherwise handicapped in their struggle for life are taken care of and their dear ones protected in the stern struggle for existence. One way to do this is to support the Victory Loan which will enable the government to finance the closing days of the war, the return of the soldiers and the commencement of the reconstruction period. He urged upon all to send Christmas presents to the front so as to make the boys as happy and comfortable as possible. He complimented the people on their splendid attention and the great enthusiasm with which they were conducting the celebration and he hoped that before another year rolled around we would have the boys back with us and all, he boldly suggested by the successful enterprises which would make our country great, and our people happy. The speaker referred to the splendid work which had been done by the Women's Red Cross and Patriotic Association of this city and the kindred ladies' associations. All had joyfully worked together and by their industry and splendid services had done much to help our boys win their victories. The speaker closed, thanking the large audience for their orderly conduct and enthusiastic reception of his address.

Major R. D. Ponton as a veteran of the Great War, was spokesman for the G.W.V.A. He was received with applause by his comrades and the citizens. "We have broken faith nowhere and we have fought the fight." To the public he said "Do not criticize all returned men for one or two Socialists or Bolsheviki. The soldier went over to defend right and he comes back endeavoring to do the right. He does not want to be hollered at as a hero."

"We must see to it that the maimed do not go to the poorhouse for they have fought for freedom. The G.W.V.A. intends to set an example to the nation."

"The world series has been won. We are on top. The Hun has never been able to understand why we called it playing the game. No American or German can say he was ill-treated. The fighting is over, but the war is not over until we get all our men back. We need money. This can be secured by buying Victory Bonds. Lend your money to your country. Don't forget the boys this Christmas. Send plum-pudding and Christmas cake."

Col. Ponton led in a pledge which the citizens took, their heads bowed, to keep in eternal remembrance those heroic dead of the city and in their care their families. The assembly broke up with cheers for King George, the Army and Navy and Canada.

Although the demonstration was over, the people kept up an informal celebration of their own. Everybody doing something to express his almost inexpressible joy. "They don't know what to do," said one man. "They are so happy."

Evening came along and with it a torchlight parade in which the bands took part, and citizens generally. There were several unique floats, one from the Ontario School for the Deaf, with a Red Cross nurse in prominence. Another was a burial outfit, on a bier rested an effigy of William-Hohenzollern, or which were some weeds and grass growing. Another showed a Thiel Kaiser with the motto above—"Kicked out of H—". The paraders discharged rockets and roman candles and crackers. Some people were dressed up in freak fashion. Greek fire was started in scores of places.

"Go the marker" square after the march and pouter march on Front street moved the parade. There at eight o'clock things began to do. It was quite dark as the 15th band made a circle on the market around boxes containing effigies of the German ex-war lords. A bonfire was lighted which was surrounded by thousands. Somebody set other Kaisers alre and altogether 3 big piles were in flames. As the flames mounted and higher, the crowds cheered, the band played, rockets lit up the heavens, roman candles were discharged and altogether it was a warm spot. These proceedings lasted for an hour or more. Meanwhile another Kaiser was burned on Front street near the Molsons bank. In front of Ed. Thomas' shop a huge bonfire was started which lasted for hours, while at the corner of Front and Bridge streets Mr. Jack Roblin made charmed circles, pouring gasoline on the road which caught fire, the flame following the pouring liquid.

The joy of feeling fit and fresh rewards those who heed the laws of health, and keep the habits regular with

In the afternoon confetti was freely thrown about. With it came a deluge of talcum powder. Somebody started the fashion and soon nearly every person was throwing it. Thousands of people were covered with it. Faces at night looked ghastly with the coating of talc and hair and clothing were in a horrible mess. Druggists sold out their supplies of hundreds of dollars' worth of the powder. At eleven at night the sidewalks were white with it. The Sis everywhere gave off a wholesale aroma of 'cheap talcum' perfume. Windows were splashed with dashes of the dust.

At 11 at night the celebrants got weary. From four o'clock in the morning until midnight was too long a holiday for most people and midnight saw most of them home. A few kept up the din by shouting and banging the pans.

The city hall bell worked overtime—everybody took a turn at the crank to be able to say "I rang the bell on Victory day." Men, women, and children all joined in. About noon the cable to the bell was disconnected in case there should be any fire, but somebody connected it again.

The Bell Telephone had a unique display with poles, telegrams, and "hello girls" ringing telephone bells. Among the floats of the day was one by Safe & Co., junk dealers. They had a display of their goods, and in the centre was an animal's skull perched on shoulders held up by a pole. The barabones bore the emblem "Kaiser's head."

Last evening on Front street, the Serbians of the city put on a demonstration of their own. One carried Hungarian pipes and played national dances of Serbia, at last freed from the Huns, while several compatriots danced before the piper.

Wonderful to relate, not one accident occurred to mar the proceedings of the day in spite of the heaviest motor traffic in history.

A bull terrier seated on a Union Jack on the hood of an automobile engine and holding flags in his firm jaws was the admiration of the crowds in the parade.

On the O.S.D. automobile a young girl sat on the engine hood for hours at a time tooting a horn.

Body of Mrs. Horton Found
Flooded Down River This Morning—Had Been over Five Weeks Missing

This morning about twenty minutes to eight o'clock, three citizens on the lower bridge saw the body of a woman floating down the river. The alarm was at once given to the police and several boatmen put out in a skiff and secured the body as it was passing under the C.P.R. bridge near the west bank.

Coroner Dr. Boyce authorized Police Constable Smith to take the remains in charge. They were removed to Tekell's morgue. The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition. By means of a boat and some clothing, the Rev. Gilbert Horton identified the body as that of his wife Cassie Maud Blows Horton, who disappeared on the night of Sunday, Oct. 6th. It is thought she entered the river or fell in near the upper bridge as there some articles of hers were found. Mrs. Horton had not enjoyed good health for several years. Evidently the body had been caught in the vicinity near Cooper's mill.

Lieut. Herbert Stacey, attached to the Royal Flying Corps, arrived in town today for the week-end. What have you done in the Great War?

What did you do about your Victory Bonds?

Come, reason it out. You are only asked to loan your dollars, and even then you get 5% per cent. Loosen up your thoughts, and your purse!

Lieut. Leslie Perry, formerly attached to the British Chemical Co., Ltd., arrived in town from Toronto this morning to visit with former friends.

It has been definitely decided by the Imperial Munitions Board not to reconstruct the TNT plant, also the gun cotton plant of the British Chemical Co., Ltd., which were destroyed through fire at Thanksgiving. This will be rather serious for Trenton, owing to the recent new property which has been added, still it has been said—and very rightly, too—the chemical employees have been most generous to the town. This in itself will be a consolation.

Mrs. Herbert Harris, of the Dupre Club, returned from Detroit today, where she has been visiting with relatives.

Mr. J. McV. Cameron, attached to the Industrial Branch of the Y.M.C.A., left for Hamilton today noon where he will visit with relatives.

Mr. Graydon Ore left today for Toronto, where he has accepted a very good position.

Mr. Chesterton Woods of the chemical company, took leave of his friends today prior to going to Toronto.

Much credit is due to Messrs. T. F. Rixon, H. F. Whittier, also H. B. Nichols, who have worked very faithfully in the Victory Loan campaign.

Mr. Hugh O'Rourke has won great fame through his efforts for the Victory Loan Bonds. He took charge of the British Chemical Works, with other points outside, and met with much success.

Mr. H. L. Potter left for Montreal today noon.

Mrs. K. L. Montgomery was a visitor to Belleville today.

The Patriotic Working Club have decided to forego their Rummage Sale and a series of afternoon teas will be given at various members' homes to raise a sum of money for the Christmas stockings for our boys overseas. The first tea is to be Wednesday next, at the home of the secretary, Miss Annie Evans, Victoria avenue, who will be the hostess. All welcome; remember the boys; silver collection.

Miss B. K. Mearns, of Ottawa, arrived here today to visit her brother, Mr. Ernest Mearns of this town.

Your King and Country need you—do not slacken up.

"Carry on" must be our password until things become normal.

Miss Jean Collins was a visitor to Belleville this week-end.

God save our King and our heroes.

Mrs. W. H. James visited at Belleville today with friends.

Mrs. (Dr.) T. S. Farncomb has received official word that her son, Lieut. Hugh Farncomb has quite recovered from his mishap and has resumed flying at Madras.

Buy to your utmost. Today will decide your share in the Great War.

Mr. Jas. Cameron, formerly attached to the chemical works, now of New York City, arrived in town today noon to visit with old friends.

Miss Annie Evans, of the Patriotic Working Club, is very busy raffling off a huge squash grown in her own garden. The proceeds are for the Club, who are very busy with comforts for the boys overseas.

Mr. Clayton W. Reynolds left town today noon for Montreal, where he has accepted a position with the Canadian Explosives, Ltd.

We can all wave flags, but how much better we would do so if we could all say we had a real share in its glory. Buy Victory Bonds.

Major R. D. Ponton was a visitor in town today from Belleville.

Dr. J. L. McKee was a visitor to Brighton today.

Mr. W. C. Craig is out of town on business.

"Today"—or perhaps you will lose your last chance of sharing the fame Canada has earned on the field of honor. Buy Victory Bonds.

Mrs. R. J. M. Webb was a visitor to Belleville today.

Mrs. Stacey is doing excellent work at our hospital where so many sick people have been well cared for.

Rumors afloat here that the Massey-Harris Co. are coming to town. This will certainly boost Trenton.

Help our town to win the Honor Flag by subscribing towards the Victory Loan.

Miss Violet McCall autoed to Belleville today to visit with friends.

the German navy not actually surrendered. Every sailor and officer in the German navy is to be paid off and discharged. The existing blockade conditions set up by Allies is to remain and all German merchant ships found at sea are liable to capture. Freedom of seas to and from Baltic is to be given to the merchant ships of the Allied powers.

All Allied merchant ships in German ports are to be surrendered. All German forts in the neighborhood of Baltic are to be occupied by the Allies.

This armistice agreement is to be effective for thirty days and may be renounced on two days' notice by either party within that period.

ARMISTICE MEANS NO RELAXATION OF ALLIED DISCIPLINE

With the American Forces in France, Nov. 12—Orders announcing that the armistice between the Allied Powers and Germany had been signed and giving directions as to the future conduct of all allied soldiers along the line, said that all communication with the enemy, both before and after terms of hostilities, is absolutely forbidden. In the case of violation of this order, the severest disciplinary measures will be immediately taken. Every emphasis is laid on the fact that the arrangement is an armistice only and not peace. There must not be the slightest relaxation of vigilance. Troops must be prepared at any moment for further operations. All troops must be held in readiness, fully prepared for an eventuality and maintain the strictest discipline.

Aviation Camp to Close at Once

One result of the signing of the armistice will be the immediate close of the two aviation camps at Deseronto, Camp Mohawk and Camp Rathburn.

The commanding officers received instructions yesterday morning from Ottawa to make arrangements for the demobilisation of the force and the safe storage of machines and equipment. The engines are being taken out of the planes, coated with vaseline and being stored away. This work it is expected will be finished in about two weeks, and then the camp will be abandoned except by caretakers.

It was decided some months ago to make use of the camps at Deseronto all winter and not send the men south for training the same as had been done last year. It was the intention to install elaborate heating and sanitation systems so that the men would be comfortable during the cold weather. About a month ago however, the authorities at Ottawa, apparently sensing the coming of peace, ordered the discontinuation of the work.

The aviation camps have been popular resorts for sight-seers the past two years, and the planes have been a frequent spectacle manoeuvring over our city. The men also have been welcome visitors to the city on many occasions. They were of a superior class, always well conducted and gentlemanly. Their departure will mean a social and sentimental as well as a real business loss to the merchants of Deseronto.

EXIT WILHELM, ENTER PEACE

Saturday evening, a little too late for publication in The Ontario, the despatch arrived telling of the abdication of Wilhelm II. from the imperial throne of Germany and of the renouncement by Wilhelm junior of all right of succession. Both are now fugitives from the mobs that have taken possession of the cities and processes of government.

The world tragedy is rapidly nearing its close. The arch-villain has made his exit. We have had the welter of blood, now chaos and the curtain!

Had Germany continued in the path of peaceful conquest the world might have been hers. No nation ever made more rapid strides towards commercial and material preeminence. Her fleets of merchantmen were upon every ocean. Her manufactories monopolised and became dominant in many of the world's markets. Her universities and schools of philosophy and science were the mecca of students from America and elsewhere who never considered their education finished till they possessed a German degree.

Had Germany and the Germans been willing to pursue indefinitely the arts of peace, their capacity to appropriate the discoveries of others, their genius for system, organisation and exploitation made their progress and rivalry invincible.

The arch-villain was by no means a fool. He was a man of exceptional and varied talent. He even possessed some of the powers of true statesmanship and had the instinct to govern to lead and to inspire patriotism. His showy arrogance suited the German mind and temperament. None was better fitted than he to maintain in the modern world a mediaeval political system and to perpetuate the discredited superstition of divine right.

The Kaiser, as the arch-villain, has, in our estimation, attracted altogether too much of the exclusive hatred of his Entente audience.

The Kaiser has been, as we have just observed, the true exponent of the German mind and temperament. Did he plan wholesale murders, and plot outrages and unspeakable infamies? He unquestionably did, but the cold-blooded crimes were carried out by an officialdom and subservient soldiery that showed no sign of revulsion at being the instruments of atrocity. The German press and the German public applauded each perfidious brutality as long as the brutalities were coupled with success.

The martyrdom of Louvain, the murder of Edith Cavell, the sinking of the Llandovery Castle, the massacre of nurses and wounded soldiers in the hospital at Etaples—horrific assassinations like these inspired no shudder in the complacent German breast. The emissaries of the arch-villain were doing their appointed work well. They carried out their simple duty as a matter of "military necessity."

The arch-villain had for his accomplices in murder the German army and the German people. We are unable to hold the German people guiltless and place the whole load of condemnation on the Kaiser. The men who willingly carry out and execute the orders of a man who has planned murder, are morally quite as culpable as the man who has arranged the plot. The whole diabolical cast must be condemned together.

Wilhelm Hohenzollern aspired to be an Alexander or a Julius Caesar. He imagined himself to be endowed with the military genius of a Hannibal or a Napoleon. He believed that he combined in his omnipotent person the mathematical infallibility of the great Caesar and the daring brilliance of the greater Napoleon. He would carry out his scheme of world conquest with infallibility, with brilliance and with all the ruthlessness of his true prototype, Attila the Hun.

Nothing falls like failure. The arch-villain has failed. The nation of brutes he has led and inspired now turn upon him and perhaps may deal with him as he has dealt with others. At times it appeared as if there was but the narrowest of margins between the grand assassin and world-domination. But it was not to be. It can never be.

Divine right is gone forever. Out of the confusion, the rivers of blood, the passion and the tumult, new nations will arise and old nations will be born anew.

The night has been long and intensely dark but the light of a durable peace is surely breaking. Four years and more of agony will, we trust, bring forth an era when freedom and the will of God will prevail. Were it otherwise, this world would indeed have occasion to be sorrowful.

The peace of which we heard the announcement by the ringing of the bells and the blowing of whistles in this morning's early hours has been bought with a tremendous price. May it prove to be the deliverance for which we have all so earnestly yearned! May the sun which shone so brilliantly this morning from the eastern horizon be the emblem of that brighter dawn which has arisen over this blood-stained and war-stricken world.

THE GREAT DOWNFALL

Casting back through history one fails to find a parallel to the collapse of Germany. Other empires have gone under the point of obliteration, but no downfall of a first-class power has been so sudden and humiliating as that of Germany. Four years ago Germany stood second as a naval power, first as a military force and right in the front rank commercially and industrially. Today her splendid fleets, war and merchant, are either locked up, or the property of her enemies, her magnificent armies, once unequalled for efficiency and strength, are bowing in abject surrender, and the powerful trade connections that she established in all parts of the world have been wiped out.

Four years ago "imperial" fitted the Kaiser's kingdom perfectly. Germany's "shining sword" was the real thing. No policies of an international nature could be put into play without Berlin's consent. Prussian truculence and arrogance backed by military strength, the most stupendous in the world's history, kept the world in fear. The Hohenzollerns had some reason to dream of world conquest. They were the new Caesars destined to build up an empire which would throw into the shadows those of Rome and Greece. Today this once mighty nation has had to beg for mercy at the hands of peoples she formerly despised, while her subjects are heading rapidly for the reddest anarchy and confusion. From gleaming heights to gloomiest depths in four short years, the passing of Germany from her former splendid eminence to a second rate, broken, unhappy existence stands unequalled in the long list of nations that have crashed.

A CHALLENGE TO CANADA.

The United States having subscribed $866,000,000 over its objective in the Fourth Liberty Loan of $6,000,000,000, has set Canada a high mark in the present drive. It is equal to $62 for every man, woman and child in the United States. What a splendid demonstration of what the people can do!

Canada must not only equal but exceed this high per capita record. On a basis of 8,000,000 people, $62 per capita would mean only $496,000,000 or $4,000,000 less than the required $500,000,000. But as the drive proceeds the public will not be satisfied with the half billion.

So the necessity of keeping up the pace is quite obvious. Things must go even a little faster than they have been going. The American achievement is a challenge to Canada which must be taken up. If Canadians at home are worthy of those overseas they will not rest second to any other country.

THE BRAVEST BRAVERY

A worker at a large grain elevator in Western Ontario was ordered to get on the roof of the lofty building and make some repairs. The man was one to whom the thought of ascending to any great height spelled mental agony, and he said that he was afraid to go up. Another man, whose calling has taken him to dangerous heights, including the scaling of steel work over the East River and the towering frame of the Singer Building, was present when the order was given to the elevator employee. He could not understand anyone being awed by having to work at heights. There was scorn in his tones when he said to the elevator worker, "Here, if you are afraid, I'll go up and do the job."

The elevator worker did not "take him up." Although it was plain that he was suffering in anticipation of his ordeal, he simply said, "No, I'll go up."

He scaled the building in a long series of climbs that represented the last hazard of life to him, even if to the other man it merely seemed a day's work. He reached the roof of the elevator, 180 feet from the ground, and did his work for three-quarters of an hour. When he had descended he fainted.

The man who had climbed like a spider over the narrow beams of the East River bridge 200 feet from the water, turned to those who were nearby and said: "There's the bravest fellow I ever saw in my life."

Life is a series of days, each with its fear to be conquered. Being stoically indifferent to fear is not bravery in its purest form; to live and conquer the realised fear is a greater existence.

A SORE FATE FOR RUSSIA

The Financial Chronicle of New York publishes the views on Russia of James Keeley, former owner of the Chicago Herald. Mr. Keeley obtained his information from eminent Russians. The following extract shows the awful condition to which the Emperor of Germany has brought Russia:

"European Russia this coming winter will, yes, must be, the world's most awful graveyard. Famine isn't a possibility. It is a certainty, today an actuality. Pestilence is reaping the first crop of a gigantic harvest. According to my information, from a starter to one-third of the inhabitants must die before next summer. There is neither work nor food to support the population, and today the working people are simply predestined victims of hunger and disease. Productive labor has been annihilated and no nation can live without it."

SHOULD ANSWER FOR HIS CRIMES

The abdication of the German Emperor came as a scene rather than an act in the great drama of events. Seized of a hunger for the vital climax, the world saw him flash across the stage as Mr. Hohenzollern with only passing interest. The hisses of the world multitude were in his ears, then he was numbered among the "down and out" monarchs who put their trust in the infallibility of divine right and despotism. The world felt that the bloody Prussian chief was safe in the hands of the international officers of the law, his punishment is certain to be decided and inflicted, and it gave him no more than a moment in the few decisive hours during which the world war was to come to an end.

The waves of revolt and Allied victory that swept the monarch from his throne rushed from a tremendous reservoir of manpower and munitions in the control of Marshal Foch. The German people have been under Wilhelm's thumb for more than four years with scarcely a symptom of revolt, and it was only after the military ascendancy had definitely passed to the Allied nations on all fronts that the domination of the Kaiser was shattered.

When a document was handed to the Kaiser as he sat in the German grand headquarters considering the demand that he should cast off his crown, it is said that the man of blood "shivered." Some ominous and dramatic message from the Socialist, Scheidemann, caused the frame of the despot to tremble, some suggestion of an ultimatum involving physical violence, such as has been suggested by authors who in painting every possibility had the imagination to forecast the circumstances under which the tyrant might fall. In front of the eyes of the monster made in the semblance of man must have come the film of his deeds and the plunge from the topmost pinnacle of his temple to the abyss of defeat and despair. Little more than a hundred days ago he showed his fangs in an awful grimace of pleasure as his hordes were hurling toward Paris. His minion nations were standing by, eager for the spoils of war, yet hanging off at a safe distance like wolves that rush up after the killing. The Kaiser was a valiant prince to his people then, a conquering super-king before whom all men and all nations must quail; today he is a vagrant king, grotesque in his downfall and without the pity of the world. The world regards him as a gory monster, impotent, like a serpent from which the deadly venom has been extracted, scarcely worth the effort to crush beneath the heel of the nations it sought to strike.

But even while the ex-monarch may writhe and tremble while the nations keep a safe hand upon him, there will come a demand that as a felon he should answer for his crimes. The world is not so eager for the blood of any man that it will revel in the sight of his execution, but it has seen the guilty punished in its courts of law, and it will demand that as an example to the world, he pay for his crimes insofar as it is possible with his life, that life to be disposed of as the international court of justice shall decide.

To The Ontario it seems that the Kaiser was the Goliath of a most terrible race of giants and that the Allied nations, individually and collectively, played the part of David. David was the shining youth of inconquerable spirit who went forth with his sling to meet the giant David was Belgium and France and Britain. David was each man of the armies that sprang into existence at the sight of crime. David was the young Canadian who dropped his plow or left his mining camp or closed his books, and rushed forward to confront the ogre and to die. David was the spirit of sacrifice which sent forward the millions of the free and the brave. After months of struggling, David came to the point of vantage from which he hurled his stone. Like the flash of a comet the stone struck the giant of militarism in the forehead and he crumpled before the eyes of the multitudes. Each man who fought in this great war to dethrone the Kaiser and all his brood is the David of the cause. To him shall great glory be given!

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hohenzollern and son, Willie, "Sundayed" at the home of Count Bentinck, Maastricht, Holland.

The Russian Bolsheviks are asking for a peace conference. Let's hope it won't be held at Szczeszczyn or Radisivilovich.

Some of these days Wilhelm, Ferdinand and Constantine will gather around and relate sad stories of the downfall of kings.

Mayor Platt's address on Sunday night at Bridge Street Church is described as masterly in its eloquence and power of appeal.

Foch has done less talking than any man around the premises but he has an awkward habit of delivering the goods on schedule time.

And let us not forget that there were many yesterday who could not engage in the celebration with an abandon of joy because some loved one had paid the price in full. The end of the war brings to these saddened homes no sustaining hope of return and reunion.

The recent perpetration of the "greatest hoax of recent years" in the publication last Thursday of the premature announcement of peace by the United Press Service and the newspapers gullible or unscrupulous enough to spread the report and persist in its authenticity does nothing if it does not make the old, reliable, world-embracing Associated Press stand out in great strength as the one dependable news service 365 days in the year. The Associated Press is the Gibraltar among news services, the Bank of England in dignified enterprise in the handling of news—facts that have been proven many times during the progress of the war.

"Yes, the Germans started the influenza epidemic by throwing the germs around," said a citizen, today. "Not only did they have these germs developed to a deadly purpose, but the germs were so well trained by German scientists they attacked only people of military age, say from 17 to 35 years of age." Most people have heard of trained fleas, but the trained germ that can pick out a man who comes within the scope of the military service act is something decidedly new.

Wedding Bells

A wedding of interest to the community was quietly solemnized by Rev. M. E. Wilson, at St. Paul's parsonage on Tuesday evening, Oct. 24th, at 8:30 o'clock. The bride was Miss Marie E. Brown, of Clifford, Ont., the groom, Mr. Frank Elliott of the 1st Depot, Battalion, Belleville, at present on leave at his home on the Monk Road. The bride was gowned in tan and white silk with embroidered net veil and carried orange blossoms. Mr. Elliott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, sister of the late Mr. Kerr, who formed the duties of the bride's honor. Mrs. Kerr, so self a bride, wore her or tan and white silk, of white blossoms. Mr. H. Kerr performed the duties of best man. The brief ceremony being over, the bridal party, with accompanying relatives were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. M. Kerr, Bancroft. After a very enjoyable evening the party separated for their respective homes. The happy young couple is very well and favorably known in this vicinity, the bride having taught school at Wood and Monk Road schools. An extended circle of acquaintances and friends follow them with kindly interest and best wishes for a happy and prosperous life.—Bancroft Times.

D. W. Hubbs Passed Away

After Three Weeks, Engineer of Corbyville Distillery Succumbed to Pneumonia.

The death occurred on Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock of Daniel Way Hubbs at his home at Corbyville. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Corneilus Hubbs and was born in Brighton township in 1882. He had been engineer at the Corbyville Distillery for nearly fourteen years. Three weeks ago he was taken ill. Death came from pneumonia. Surviving are his parents, his widow and four children, Milton, David, Horace and Norma, and one brother and four sisters. He was a Methodist in religion and a member of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends.

Picked Up Around Town

A bicycle was found on Front St. and was claimed by Mr. Gerald Vermilyea.

The funeral of the late Georgia Russell, young daughter of Mrs. Frank Bryant, took place today. Rev. Rural Dean Swaine officiating. The remains were shipped to Cornwall for interment.

Mr. Joseph Weller of Trenton was quite seriously injured at five o'clock yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from a buggy against a pole in front of the Standard Bank. His horse started to run away from the vicinity of the opera house on Bridge St. A boy named Fred Rushlow jumped from the buggy at the lower bridge. The horse was captured on the west side of the river. Dr. Robertson attended Mr. Weller and had him taken to the hospital.

Mr. Merritt Adams of Concession, recovered his Chevrolet car last evening at the corner of Bridge and Chatham streets. The machine was not damaged but had been run a great deal. The battery was run down.

Mr. Wm. Green's McLaughlin car was stolen at 11:45 last night. Ten minutes later he found the auto on Victoria Ave.

Mr. Raymond L. Zuffelt has taken over the grocery business of the late Alfred John McCrohn and will take charge tomorrow. Mr. Zuffelt has had a lengthy experience in the grocery trade. The business will be run under the present name.

The influenza epidemic in Belleville seems to have spent itself. For a considerable period not one death from the "flu" or its complications of pneumonia has resulted. The severe tax on the medical profession has been lessened. The children are now attending the schools in large numbers.

Last night some time after ten o'clock someone removed a beautiful large Canadian flag from the premises of Mr. Fred Quick, John street and so far no trace of it has been found. The flag was a valuable one, which cannot be replaced today, and was made of wool. It had been hung from a tree to the verandah.

FOUR KINGDOMS, MANY STATES IN HANDS OF REVOLUTIONISTS

King of Saxony Has Been Deposed and Wurttemberg Has Been Declared a Republic—Grand Duke Promising to Reform, But Thrones are Tottering.

CALL TO NAVY TO FIGHT FOR FREEDOM.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The admiralty has intercepted a German wireless addressed from "the Command and Soldiers' Council on the Cruiser Strassburg" to "all ships, torpedo boats, destroyers and submarines in the North Sea."

The message refers to the terms of the armistice and declares:

"This would entail the destruction of us all. German comrades, defend our country against this unheard-of presumption."

"Strong English forces are reported off the Skaw. All submarines in the Baltic, except those on outpost duty, assemble immediately in Sassnitz harbor."

Sassnitz is a watering place on the east coast of the Island of Ruegan, Prussia.

Copenhagen, Nov. 11.—The revolution in Germany is today, to all intents and purposes an accomplished fact.

The revolt has not yet spread throughout the whole empire, but fourteen of the twenty-six states, including all the four kingdoms and all other important states are reported securely in the hands of the revolutionists. The twelve small states which apparently are not yet affected cannot hope, it is believed here, to stay the triumphal progress of the Socialists.

King Friedrich August of Saxony has been dethroned, according to an official telegram from Berlin.

The kingdom of Wurttemberg has been declared a republic and the king has announced he will not stand in the way of any movement demanded by a majority of the people.

The free cities of Hamburg, Bremen and Luebeck are ruled by Socialists. In the Grand Duchy Hesse of Oldenburg, Baden, Bieso, Mecklenberg-Schwerin and Mecklenberg-Strelitz the power of the rulers is gone. The grand dukes are conferring with delegations and promising all reforms demanded, but their thrones are tottering.

In Berlin great street demonstrations took place Sunday, the marchers carrying banners with the inscription "Freedom, Peace and Bread" and singing the workmen's Marseillaise. The Socialist leaders, Cochré and Sudekum, who are officers in the Landwehr have issued an appeal to all officers not to provoke needless bloodshed.

Deputy Ebert and other party leaders have formed a committee of twelve men, representing the larger political factions, to facilitate co-operation with the soldiers' council.

No German press comment on the situation has reached Copenhagen over the Socialist-controlled wires, excepting for a brief appeal by Germania, the Centrist organ, to the people to remember that the adoption of Bolshevism would mean continued war with the allies and misery for the people.

The Independent Socialists, according to a special despatch to The Berlingske Tidende, are demanding further concessions.

The grand duke of Oldenburg has been dethroned and the grand duke of Mecklenberg-Schwerin has abdicated, according to despatch from Hamburg.

The Hamburg Nachrichten, which reports the abdication of the grand duke says that a government for Mecklenberg has been formed by a workers' and sailors' council.

In many towns of northern Germany the military have refused to recognize the soldiers' and workers' council. In these places the local administration has been taken over by a commissary.

WAR HAS COST CANADA THE LIVES OF 60,000 SOLDIERS

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—In the awful conflict that ended yesterday Canada's glorious efforts has cost the lives of sixty thousand Canadian soldiers. Up to and including the 31st of October, the latest figures available show that the casualties were 211,358 divided as follows: Killed in action, 34,877; died of wounds or disease 15,457; wounded 152,779; presumed dead, missing and prisoners of war, 8,245.

ASKS WILSON TO INTERVENE FOR MITIGATION OF ARMISTICE TERMS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The appeal of Dr. Self, foreign secretary at Berlin for intervention by President Wilson for mitigation of armistice terms to save Germany from starvation was delivered to Secretary of State Lansing today by Minister Sulzer of Switzerland. It was sent to President Wilson.

HELIGOLAND IN HANDS OF REVOLUTIONISTS

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 12.—Entire German northern fleet and island base of Heligoland are in the hands of the Soldiers' Councils. German troops at Beverloo in Belgium has mutined, and are marching with their guns toward Holland.

GERARD URGES INDICTMENT OF KAISER FOR MURDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The extradition of former Emperor William from Holland and his trial on a charge of murder, for which he has been indicted in England is urged by former Ambassador Gerard.

TWO WOMEN ESCAPE FROM JAIL FARM

"Fit" More Fatal Than War in Oshawa and Smiths Falls

Two Escaped Female Prisoners Recaptured.

Cobourg.—On Friday night Chief Ruse arrested Annie Foster and Sarah Morrison two women who had escaped from the goal farm in Toronto. They escaped with a third woman, but the latter was arrested in Toronto. Both the two arrested here are well known in Cobourg and Chief Ruse arrested them half an hour after they arrived in town at the home of a friend. He was aware that the Foster woman, whose husband is overseas, had recently been sentenced to six months at the goal farm, and called up police headquarters in Toronto and found out that both women were wanted. He soon had them in custody, an officer from Toronto escorting them back to that city on Saturday.—Sentinel-Star.

"Conscience" Home

Last week six conscientious objectors who had fled from the West, arrived in Kingston. They had been to England, and were sent back to Canada. The men will be sent to the West and they now claim that as they have been overseas they are free. However, the military authorities still have the men in custody, and will dispose of their cases.

Kingston Officer Awarded the M.C.

Kingston, Nov. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Strachan have been notified that their son, Major F. P. Strachan, has won the Military Cross. Major Strachan went over with the 11th B.I. Battalion as a private. Before going overseas he was employed at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and it was from there he went across.

More Fatal than the War

Smiths Falls.—The epidemic of influenza which has had Smiths Falls in its grip for the past fortnight has waned and there are few, if any, cases in the last few days. It was a very serious disease, and no adequate explanation has yet been made as to where it came from or whether it has gone. In many instances whole families were ill with it at once, in other families one member might be affected and the others escape, while a great many seemed to be immune altogether. The death-rate was heavy, and never before were there so many funerals here in the same length of time. More than twice as many succumbed to it in this town than have been killed from here in the four years of war.

No Delivery After 6 p.m.

After Saturday, Nov. 16th, the grocers and butchers of Cobourg will refuse to deliver any goods on Saturday evenings that have not been ordered before 6 p.m. This rule will be strictly adhered to. This is a step in the right direction, and will go away with young boys out until midnight making deliveries of goods that can just as well be ordered in the morning or afternoon.—Port Hope Guide.

Moving to Montreal

Kingston is about to lose a good citizen and one who has for thirty years been a faithful and trustworthy servant of the city, in the person of Horace Atwood, of the city building. Owing to recent bereavement he has resigned his position with the civic works department and is leaving for Montreal, where he will take up his residence with his daughter, Mrs. Emme.

81 Deaths From Flu in Oshawa

Up till Wednesday night of this week there had been eighty-one deaths resulting from the Spanish influenza epidemic in Oshawa. It is of interest to analyze the list. Upon an investigation of the death records in the local registry office we find that of the total number 80 were males and 11 females. It is also of interest to note what ages suffered most. A summary of the deaths classified are as follows: Those under ten years, 14; between ten and twenty, 7; between twenty and thirty, 35; between thirty and forty, 12; between forty and fifty years, 8; between fifty and sixty years, 2; over sixty, 3. Therefore it will be noticeable that the large majority of deaths occurred among people between twenty and forty years of age. It has also been stated a large majority of those who died had been work-

With Dawning of Peace

I hate the Hun, I hate him not for all
Our valorous dead, who, cleansed of bitterness,
Like rain have fallen that their world may live.
Nor shall I hate him for the metal heel
That ground the breasts of Belgium soft with milk.
For all the peopled wheatlands left a waste,
And desolated cities where the cry
Of homeless children greet the dull-mouthed guns,
And rivers red with blood, and Rheims in ruins;
Nor yet for women torn between the claws
Of lust I hate him, nor for the midnight bursts
Of death upon the unguarded tents of pain,
Nor brutish laughter where the lonely ship
Stricken goes down, and leaves the lonely sea
More lonely with the last sob of a child;
Incredulous that men strike thus and live.
Nor must my hatred feed on him they took
In battle, black with smoke, him over whom
The maple leaves once sang, and held aloft
And spitted close against their blood-red wall.
Slow-writhing on the cross invisible
Whereby we dreamed such things could never be,
A blade of Rhenish steel through each torn hand,
And through the bleeding feet twin blades of steel.

For these I scarce need hate, since the high dead
Are dead, and far above our rancor sleep.
Wounds may be left to silence and to time,
And over buried wrong the ivy runs.
Yea, in the years to come these riven lands
Once more shall laugh with poppy and with wheat,
And pure again shall flow the streams of France,
And on the plains of Flanders children play.

But him, the Hun, I hate and ever shall,
For thrusting on my soul his gift of hate,
For wresting from my hands life's final flower
Of tenderness, for hurling on my heart
The lust to fight his lust, since as the brute
The brute must still be faced. Yea, back he turned
Our feet, back to the twilight paths of time,
To jungled wraths, and fang confronting fang,
And thick-coiled venoms. And against our will
He drags us down to his own hellish depths;
Back to the age of tooth and claw he hurls
All me and mine, and on a startled world
Imposes his black creed, and e'en in death
Shall not be worsted, spitting in our teeth
His hates triumphant, leaving in our hand
A blood-stained sword, and wonder in our eyes.

—Arthur Stringer.

ing in factories. This, on examination of the list, proves incorrect. Out of the 81, only 23 or 24 were employed in factories. Another feature worthy of note in this connection is that when the previous epidemic occurred in 1899, there was a steady stream of funerals of old people from sixty years upwards, to the cemetery. This time the older people seem to have been largely immune, owing to the fact, no doubt, that they had been made so to a more or less degree as a result of contracting the disease upon the previous occasion. Prior to the epidemic in 1899 records show that more than a generation passed without a recurrence of the influenza's visitation.—Oshawa Reformer.

WHIRLWIND FINISH OF VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN

Saturday November 16th Closes the Campaign—Last Opportunity to Buy Victory Bonds at 5 1/2%—Headquarters Staff Taking many Applications.

$100,500 was reported from Hastings County yesterday. This is an excellent showing for such a day. The people were so elated with the magnificent news of victory that the Victory Loan campaign was apparently forgotten, but this shows us that while celebrating victory, the good citizens of Hastings County were equally anxious to show in a material way that their hearts are in the great cause.

November 16th end of Campaign. Word has been received at the County of Hastings headquarters that there will be one extension of time because of diversions. People are expected to redouble their efforts, and if the canvassers are unable to call on every citizen it is expected that the citizen will either hunt up the canvasser or give him his subscription or call at headquarters, corner of Bridge and Front streets, Belleville.

SIX REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BE THE OWNER OF A VICTORY BOND

- 1. By buying a Bond you are doing a highly patriotic act and redempting the cause of humanity... 2. The purchase of Victory Bonds stimulates saving and encourages thrift... 3. The purchase of Victory Bonds stimulates saving and encourages thrift... 5. Experience demonstrates that bonds that have been issued by a nation when at war, have invariably appreciated in value during the period that follows the declaration of peace... 6. Finally—in all probability this will be the last war bond that Canada will issue and therefore the last opportunity the people at large may have of investing their money so advantageously.

SERG. LAPP TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCES AS A "CASUALTY"

T. C. LAPP, LATE FOREMAN AT DAILY ONTARIO JOB ROOM, GIVES VIVID ACCOUNT OF THE LIFE HE HAS LIVED SINCE HE WAS WOUNDED THREE MONTHS AGO—SEEING BEAUTIFUL ENGLAND AS A CONVALESCENT—THE SIGHTS IN SUSSEX, AT HENLEY AND IN LONDON.

Within a few hundred yards of the caves and perched on a pre-dominating cliff are the ruins of Hastings castle whose history goes back to the eighth century and continued with varying fortune till it fell into ruins in the sixteenth century. The most interesting features remaining are the Norman dungeons and the chapel. The view from this point is magnificent. At the base of the cliff to the south is the channel, westward and it overlooks the newer city of Hastings.

My first trip from hospital in England was on the Thames train between Reading and Henley. It was at the height of the holiday season and the river was covered with small craft (mostly propelled by the fair sex). Either bank is lined with beautiful summer homes of English aristocracy, with innumerable house boats in the vacant spaces along the banks. Henley is the fashion centre of the Thames. Before the war a great yachting regatta was held there every year. We passed over the course on our trip. East of Henley our party went ashore to Lord Hambleton's estate and were entertained by Lord and Lady Hambleton. The gardens, lawn and orchards can best be described as a "dream." It was a veritable "paradise." The house contains some fine old paintings, statuary and oak paneling. The farm is stocked with pure-bred horses and Jersey cattle.

As I write the men in the ward are eagerly discussing the prospects of peace as embodied in the German reply to President Wilson's questions which accepts his famous fourteen points. The only fear seems to be that the central powers and particularly Germany, will not be punished sufficiently for their many crimes against humanity. There is a feeling of confidence that if the war continues the German armies will meet their "Sedan" before Christmas. We do not forget though that Field-Marshal Haig's splendid work of the past few weeks has brought about the present situation. As we look forward to a prospective return to Canada in the near future, our chief concern is that every man may not fall in with his "other bit." We have a splendid heritage awaiting us and we remain with us to see that it is marred by selfishness and greed. With the hallowed memory of those who have found a resting place in the "Over There," our first concern shall be to see that the widowed and orphaned shall not suffer want. Other problems shall be met in the spirit of brotherhood that has been cemented on the battlefield. The dawn of the day is at hand. May we live up to our trust. Sincerely yours, T. C. Lapp.

Nervous Ailments

Few people realize that nervous ailments often arise from digestive troubles. The stomach fails, for some reason, to digest food properly. Then the system languishes and the nerves become exhausted in striving to continue their work. Impure blood also causes nerve troubles, but frequently it is in the stomach where the mischief starts. As the nourishment is carried to the nerves by the blood, it will be seen what an important connection exists between the stomach, the nerves and the blood, and how such troubles as nervous headaches, nervous dyspepsia and insomnia may begin. In such cases relief is easily obtainable by means of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills replenish the blood with the food elements on which the nerves thrive; at the same time they exercise a tonic influence on the digestive organs, enabling the system to derive nourishment from the food taken. By this perfectly natural process nervous ailments are steadily dispelled by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you are suffering from nerves, or require a blood-making tonic, give these pills a fair trial, and see how speedily the best of health will be yours.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

IVANHOE.

On Friday evening, Nov. 8th, the friends and neighbors of Mr. Stanley Prest gathered at his home to spend a social evening with him before leaving our community to do his bit for King and Country. During the evening Rev. A. B. Frederick was chosen chairman. After making a few remarks he called on Mr. Percy Ray to read the following address:

Dear Stanley—

Having heard that we must for a time bid you farewell, we felt that we could not forego the pleasure of having once more a few hours in our presence, to express our sorrow at your departure, and at the same time our good wishes for your future welfare.

None of us escape the chequered shadows in this life, but our captain has set us an example which should help us to face our lot, and do our bit in true soldierly fashion. This lesson you have learned, and we express to-night our admiration of the quiet composed way in which you are facing the inevitable.

We feel that it is not presumption on our part when we say that no matter what remote part of the globe you may visit no corner will hold stronger attractions nor truer friends than this community. Some of us have watched you grow from sturdy boyhood to sturdier manhood and there have been plenty of opportunities for your general disposition to endure you to us, so that we can also truly say that there is no corner where you could at any time receive a heartier welcome.

We can not refrain from giving prominent place to the blank which your going will make in the life of Beulah church. We hope that your absence may not extend over much time, but no matter how long you are away the memory of your church work will ever remain green in our hearts and you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have left behind you a lasting influence for good. No matter what enterprise was launched we could always feel sure of Stanley's loyal support. On behalf of your Sabbath School Class let us say that we shall miss the kind counsel and lessons of a wise teacher and we shall endeavor to work out in our lives the lessons which for two years you have so faithfully taught not only in the session of the school but also by the example of a clean life. Your place as Epworth League President will be hard, if not impossible to fill. For that position your executive ability fitted you to efficiently fill one of the most important offices the church has to offer.

In order that when absent you may have a reminder of our thought and that we may feel assured of your having an occasional thought of us, we ask you to accept this wrist watch and wear it as a souvenir of Beulah Sunday Schools and Epworth League.

In closing let us assure you that we shall look forward with longing to the time when we can welcome you home, and that during your absence many hearts will lovingly hear your name to the throne of the loving God who in mercy orders each life. Signed on behalf of Beulah Epworth League and Sunday School:

Mrs. John Clement, E. L.
A. A. Mitta, S. S. Supt.

Our town was all astir on Monday when the news arrived that peace had been declared. The whistles shrieked and bells were rung and about 1 p.m. a crowd assembled on the school grounds where speeches were given, by Rev. Knox and others and a most delightful thing was the starting of a subscription for putting up a monument on the school grounds in memory of our brave boys who have given their noble young lives in defence of homes and loved ones. This was most nobly responded to by the people who were present. When a procession was formed of men and boys on horse back followed with decorated automobiles and the men of the Trent Paper Box Co. on the firm's wagons which were decorated for the occasion. A large motor truck beautifully decorated had the young ladies of the Canadian Overseas Club and then the school children with flags of the Allies and singing the favorite songs and the last of the happy afternoon was the burning of the Kaiser.

All places of business were closed on Monday as everybody was wild with the expectation of the good news of peace once more in our midst.

There passed away at her home in town, Mrs. Henry. She and her husband were stricken with the flu which developed into pneumonia,

Trapped Muskrats Eat Off Own Feet

Three Escape From Steel Trap by Undergoing Torture

Cleveland, O., Nov 13.—Councilman Moyers, who has returned from a week's visit to his farm, thirteen miles south of the city, reports that muskrats have been frequently seen in a creek that flows through his acres.

Being told of this he set a steel trap and baited it with a liberal chunk of bacon. On visiting the trap on the following day he was amazed to find several muskrat feet scattered about the closed trap and from what he figured out while carefully studying the matter, it is plainly evident, he says, that three muskrats were trapped while devouring the bacon and then effected their escape by deliberately gnawing off their entrapped feet.

Accommodation From England Now Ample—Railway Troops First.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Another appeal is made to women and children of Canadian soldier dependents to return to Canada forthwith. Accommodation is now ample. Canadian military authorities, are putting arrangements for this class of traveller on a wider basis, enabling soldiers now awaiting trans-shipment at Buxton and their wives to travel together.

It may be taken as a broad principle that those soldiers who have served the longest will have the best passage home, but much also will depend upon information supplied from Canada concerning immediate labor needs of the Dominion. Such units as the Railway Troops doubtless will be demobilized as early as possible. In any event trans-shipment will be spread over a considerable time. We are in a position to assert that nobody will be able yet to count upon returning to Canada, at any definite date.

THEN MME. LAVOIE USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Now She Says She is in Perfect Health, and is Recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to All Who Suffer From Kidney Troubles.

Vauban, Que., Nov. 11.—(Special)—"I know that Dodd's Kidney Pills are good," so says Mme. Xavier Lavoie, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place. And Mme. Lavoie tells out of her own experience why she recommends her friends to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I suffered from kidney disease, headache and indigestion," she says. "I had no appetite and I could not work. My heart also bothered me.

"I took Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I am now in perfect health. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everyone who suffers from kidney disease."

That Mme. Lavoie's troubles all came from sick kidneys is shown by the quick relief she got from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. The reason they give good results for so many different diseases is that when the kidneys are sick the whole body is sick.

Weak or sick kidneys cannot do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. It follows that the seeds of disease are carried to all parts of the body, and affect all the weak spots. The natural cure is the cure of kidneys—to use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Armistice Signed and Went Into Effect at 6 o'Clock a.m., Canadian Time-- Kaiser and Party at Eysden, on Holland Border.

WORLD WAR ENDED AT 6 O'CLOCK CANADIAN TIME

Washington, Nov. 11.—The world war ended this morning at six o'clock Washington time, 11 o'clock Paris time. The armistice was signed by the German representatives at midnight. This announcement was made by the State Department at 2.50 o'clock this morning.

The terms of the armistice it was announced will not be made public until later. Military men here however regard it as certain that they include immediate disarmament and demobilization of the German armies, occupation by the allies and U. S. forces of such strategic points in Germany as will make impossible a renewal of hostilities, the delivery of the German High seas fleet and a certain number of subs to the allied and American naval forces, the disarmament of all other German warships under supervision of the allied and American navies which will guard them, the occupation of the principal German naval bases by the sea forces of the victorious nations, the release of all the allied and American soldiers, sailors and civilians, held prisoners in Germany, without such reciprocal action by the associated governments.

KAISER AND PARTY AT EYSDEN

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The former German Emperor's party, which is believed to include Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, arrived at Eysden on the Dutch frontier at 7.30 o'clock Sunday morning, according to the Daily Mail advices. Practically the whole German general staff accompanied the former Emperor and ten automobiles carried the party. Automobiles were brilliant with rifles, and all the fugitives were armed. The Ex-Kaiser was in uniform. He alighted at the Eysden station and paced the platform, smoking a cigar. Eysden lies about midway between Liege and Maastricht on the Dutch border. Chatting with members of his staff the former Emperor the correspondent says, did not look the least disturbed. A few minutes later an imperial train including restaurant and sleeping car ran into the station, only servants were aboard. Revolution in Germany assumes tremendous proportions. The monarchy is swept away. Berlin, the capital is the scene of severe street fighting and violent cannonades. Through the provinces of the erstwhile empire the uprising has spread like wild fire. A Socialist leader is in control as temporary chancellor. Great public parades are marching the streets of German cities, shouting "Long Live the Republic," and singing the Marseillaise.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS SUMMARY

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Associated press this morning issued the following.—"After 1567 days of horror, during which virtually the whole of civilization has been convulsed, the greatest war in history ended this morning at six o'clock, Washington time. The details of terms formulated by Marshal Foch it is believed are of such a nature as to protect the world from a resumption of the struggle by the Germans. It is assumed that they call for demobilization of Germany's army, the surrender of part of her fleet and the dismantling of the rest. The announcement of state department did not tell anything of the scene at Marshal Foch's headquarters at the time armistice was signed. It stated however that at five o'clock, Paris time, the signatures of Germany's delegates were affixed to the document which blasted forever the dreams which embroiled the world in a struggle which has cost, at the very lowest estimate, ten million lives.

TEXT OF ARMISTICE TERMS NOT YET OUT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—There is no indication when the text of the armistice terms will be given out, further than that it will be some time during the day.

GERMAN REVOLUTION NOT TO PREVENT ARMISTICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Unless the revolutionary German government repudiates present armistice delegates it is thought here revolt spreading through Germany will not prevent Foch from accepting the signature of the envoys and putting the armistice into effect.

TERMS OF ARMISTICE ABSOLUTELY PREVENT RENEWAL OF WAR

LONDON, Nov. 11.—German armistice terms are more stringent than was forecasted. Germany will be absolutely deprived from further military power on land, sea and air.

ESSEN ALSO IN HANDS OF RED REVOLUTIONISTS

ESSEN, Nov. 11.—The city of the Krupp steel works, Essen, is in the hands of the Revolutionists. Frau Krupp and her husband have been arrested.

SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN DECLARES ITS INDEPENDENCE

LONDON, Nov. 10. 11.25 a.m.—Schleswig-Holstein, the Prussian province which formerly elonged to Denmark, is proclaimed an independent republic.

ARMISTICE COURIER AT GERMAN HEADQUARTERS

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The German courier from the meeting place of the armistice negotiations arrived at the German grand headquarters at ten o'clock Sunday morning.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The German peoples' government has been instituted in the greater part of Berlin. The garrison has gone over to the new government.

ANOTHER GERMAN REPUBLIC FORMED

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Leipzig, the largest city in Saxony, Stuttgart, capital of Wurtemberg, and Cologne and Frankfurt have joined the revolution. Soldiers' councils at Stuttgart, Cologne and Frankfurt have decided to proclaim a republic.

TODAY'S LATEST DESPACHES

PRUSSIAN MINISTER AT HAMBURG ARRESTED

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The Prussian Minister at Hamburg has been arrested at his home in that city, according to a Basel despatch.

MONS RECAPTURED THIS MORNING BY CANADIANS

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(official)—To Canadian troops fell the honor of capturing the last important town before the armistice, put an end to hostilities. Mons, where the British made their brilliant stand at the beginning of the war was retaken early this morning by Canadians.

MARSHAL FOCH SENDS NOTICE OF SUSPENSION OF HOSTILITIES TO THE ENEMY

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Marshal Foch, according to a French wireless here, has notified the German commander-in-chief that hostilities will cease on the whole front as from Nov. 11 at eleven o'clock a.m., six o'clock Washington time.

PERSONNEL OF GERMAN ARMISTICE DELEGATION

PARIS, Nov. 11.—Besides the five principal German armistice delegates, the others in the German party are Majors Dusterbere Briskmann, Kriebel and Von Boettcher and Baron Von Lersner. The principal German delegates are Mathias Erzberger, General Winterfeldt, Count Alfred Von Oberndorf, General Von Gruennel and Naval Captain Von Salow.

Three Thousand Deaths

From Spanish "Flu."—During Month of October—Death Rate 26.1—Diphtheria More Virulent Than in 1917.

October, 1918, will long be remembered in the province of Ontario as the month in which the death rate eclipsed all previous records. How many of the residents fell victims to the influenza epidemic will never be actually known. The regulations of the Provincial Board of Health do not require that the local boards report these diseases, although some have done so. The only means of getting anything like an accurate figure of the deaths due to the epidemic are from the returns of the local undertakers. Many of these comply with the regulations and report promptly. Others are belated with their returns. The deaths reported for October as due to Spanish influenza and pneumonia are 3,015, but this is probably only about fifty per cent of the actual total.

Death Rate 26.1 in 1,000.
"The average number of deaths from all causes monthly as given in the last report of the Registrar General is 2,900, making a death rate of 12.8 per 1,000. If we add 3,015 from Spanish influenza we have 5,915, making a death rate of 26.1 per 1,000," says the report issued by the Provincial Board of Health to-day.

Mr. G. B. Higgins, of Toronto arrived here today.

Mr. H. Romley-Williams, Trenton was in the city Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Finkle leave today for their home in Los Angeles, Cal. They report having had a very enjoyable time, due to courtesy of their many friends here and elsewhere on their trip.

The Victory Bonds in Quebec are considered a mighty good speculation. Though slow to begin, they are selling with vim. And she'll show up quite well will Quebec.

WE MOUEN THE LOSS OF A FRIEND

There are noble souls who have lived and died. Who arrived at manhood in their prime— It was thus with our dear friend, Jim.

With a helping hand and a kindred smile He would wish his way for a thing worth while, And his chum had a friend in him. He turned not aside from the path that was straight— Those calm, true eyes and a smile serene— The man had a friend in Jim.

A call to the fields of golden grain— The fish-rod could wait for a later bait— A help in need is a friend indeed. One with the best of loyal help To forward the work of the grand Red Cross, A gem in the working band.

In the brave Boy Scouts—a splendid move— He did his part in a noble mood, Responsive, kind and true, Jim was a man before his time.

We could ill spare him from this earthly shrine; But the Captain called, "Halt! Jim's needed on high, The Captain of worlds needs a friend in the sky." —Observer (Special to The Ontario) Striving, Nov. 7, 1918—What purported to be an official despatch proclaiming that Germany had accepted the peace terms of the Allies was received here this afternoon.

The news spread like wild-fire, and church bells were soon ringing, and girls and adults are parading the streets with banners flying. The gloom of the recent epidemic seems to have disappeared as the darkness before the dawn.

Complete in itself, "Mother Graves' Worm Extremator" does not require the assistance of any other medicine to make it effective. It does not fail to do its work.

Mr. Stewart Replies To Mr. Flint

Editor Ontario—

Kindly permit me space in your columns once more to reply to Mr. Flint. I fear space will not permit me to answer all his assertions, but I will take up those which I believe to be the most important.

In my letter of Oct. 31st, my remarks were referring expressly to the church of this gospel age, which our Lord said of them, "Ye are not of this world even as I am not of this world." Mr. Flint, in the beginning of his letter, quotes St. Paul (1 Cor. 15:51), "Behold I show you a mystery; we shall not all sleep."

The apostle is also speaking of the church class, the prospective bride, and shows that some have slept, as for instance Stephen (Acts 7:60), but that a time was coming when they would no longer need to sleep; that would be at Christ's second advent. Then in the first resurrection they would be changed from mortal to immortal beings, from corruptible to incorruptible. The same apostle admonishes the disciples to seek for immortality; so if immortality was an inherent quality, what need would there be in seeking for it?

But we are assured in 1 Tim. 8:16, that God only hath immortality; and we believe our Lord, since His resurrection possessed immortality, and the church, His bride and joint heirs, will also possess it when resurrected, and no others.

We will here quote a few scriptures to prove none will receive this reward till Christ comes—Matt. 16:27—"For the Son of Man shall come in the glory of His Father with His angels and then He shall reward every man according to his works; Luke 14:14—"And thou shalt be blessed, for they cannot recompense thee for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just;" 2 Tim. 4:1—"I charge thee therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ who shall judge the quick and the dead at His appearing and His kingdom."

This church class is referred to in Rev. 20:6—"Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection; on such the second death hath no power; (because immortal, death no longer) and they shall be priests of God and they shall see His face; and they shall reign with Him a thousand years. This thousand years will be the world's judgment day. Do you not know that the saints will judge the world? 1 Cor 6:2—"He hath appointed a day in which He will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof He hath given assurance unto all men in that He hath raised Him from the dead" (Acts 17:31). So we see that if Moses and Elias were taken to heaven we would need no such assurance of the resurrection and a judgment as the apostle refers to in the above text.

Moses and Elias on the Mount In Matt. 16:28 Jesus said, "Verily I say unto you, there be some standing here which shall not taste of death till they see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom."

It is thought by many that Moses and Elias here appeared in person to the disciples and Jesus. Such have omitted to notice that Jesus told His disciples expressly that what they had seen was a vision (Matt. 17:9). Peter in his second epistle explains that the visions foreshowed the coming of Christ and the establishment of His kingdom, for which we are still praying "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth even as it is in heaven."

The word rendered vision is in the Greek "horama." This word occurs altogether twelve times in the New Testament, and in each instance it is properly rendered "vision." To take two examples: In Acts 9:11-12, we read, "The Lord said unto him (Ananias) arise and go into the street that is called straight and inquire of the house of Judas for one called Saul of Tarsus, for behold he is praying, and hath seen a vision (horama), a man named Ananias coming in and putting his hand on him that he might receive his sight." The man seen by the blind Saul of Tarsus was not a reality but a vision.

In Acts 12:7-9 we read: "Behold an angel of the Lord came upon him and a light shined in the prison and he smote Peter on the side and raised him up saying, arise up quickly and he went out and followed him and wist not that it was true which was done by the angel, but thought he saw a vision" (horama). Peter thought that what he had seen was a vision and did not know that it was a reality. These examples make it evident that the word "horama" used by Christ indicates that Moses and Elias were not really present on the Mount, but only appeared to be there. The whole scene was a vision, but no doubt fulfilled the promise made in Matt. 16:28. To say that Moses and Elias actually stood with Christ on the Mount would be to contradict the teaching of the Scriptures that Jesus was the first to rise from the dead (Acts 26:23; 1 Cor 15:20).

John the Baptist was not Elijah, neither Elijah John, but were two individuals, used by God to typify the same class, viz. the church in the flesh.

Elijah caught up into heaven, typifying the church changed from earthly conditions to heavenly conditions in the end of this age. 1 Thes. 4:13-17—"But I would not have you be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not as others which have no hope; for if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so shall they also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him; for this we say unto you by the word of the Lord that we which are alive and remain (the feet members of the church) unto the coming of the Lord shall not precede them which are asleep; for the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel and with the trump of God and the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air and so shall we ever be with the Lord."

It is evident that Elijah did not go to heaven, God's throne, for long after Jesus said (Jno. 3:13) "And no man hath ascended up to heaven but He that came down from heaven even the Son of Man which is seated on the right hand of the Father."

The account of the rich man and Lazarus we understand to be a parable; and a parable is a figure or metaphor used to illustrate a hidden truth. Now the truth that our Lord taught was that the rich man illustrated the Jewish nation, and the poor man the Gentile nation. When at Christ's first advent He cast off the Jews from favor and received the Gentiles to favor, both died to their former conditions as nations, but not as individuals; and so the one received the chastisement (torment) which has rested on them for eighteen centuries, and the other, the Gentiles, are receiving the blessing of God's favor of being granted in as wild olive branches (Rom. 11:17).

As for Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from the sleep of death, we understand it was just a temporary awakening for the purpose of demonstrating to the owners of such buildings to take sufficient interest in the matter and to see that such fuel as is absolutely necessary is used for heating purposes. Through investigation has established the fact that a maximum of 68 degrees is all that is required and the temperature in all buildings must not go any higher than that; was the decision of the Administrators of both Provinces. "It is important," said the Fuel Controller, "that the other Canadian Provinces should fall into line."

It is the duty therefore, of owners of large buildings of all kinds to place thermometers in prominent positions, along with a notice specifying the maximum heat allowed, in view of the urgent necessity for fuel conservation.

It is equally important for the private householder to keep within reasonable limits the temperature in his home. The issuance of specific regulations on the subject is still under consideration. It is hoped, however, that the public spirit of the citizens will manifest itself by practical evidence that they are attending to the regulations of heat themselves, thus obviating the necessity of any drastic action by the Fuel Controller.

Editor's Note:—Proving or disproving the claims made by those who have investigated psychic phenomena by quotations from Scripture is, it appears to us, about as barren of logic as to apply the same process of making quotations to solve a problem in Euclid or to work out an equation in chemistry. But, aside from that, this habit of making an interminable series of biblical texts prove all sorts of contentions, theological, sociological and scientific, has no news value whatever to a public journal. The Ontario comes contributions to its columns upon subjects of live public interest. But we must decline to publish further long communications which serve to work out the personal opinions of the correspondent in regard to the meaning of certain texts chosen from various places in the Bible. Denominational organs are the proper media for such campaigns. The Ontario, as we have repeatedly been compelled to inform correspondents, is not a denominational organ but a public newspaper. It is not our mission to promulgate the views, opinions or doctrines of any church, creed or sect. We do not object to the occasional publication of letters or news items that may have a theological or religious bearing. But we must insist that the letters have real news value.

Fatally Crushed Under Car Wheel

Body of Twelve-year-old Boy Cut Completely in Two.

St. John, N. B. Nov. 7.—Frederick Cooney, the 12-year-old son of Edward Cooney, an engineer on the C.P.R. railway, was fatally crushed under a freight train at Brownville, Me., at 8.40 Monday morning. He was going across the C.P.R. yard with two of his young friends and he was very anxious to get across, as there was a freight in the way. The two boys he was with crawled under the freight train and Frederick made the same attempt.

He was the last one under. As he went under a car an engine came along and started the train. The boy's body was cut completely in two, yet he lived three hours and was able to talk and understand clearly. It is reported that he said that he felt no pain whatever. No doctor was available, but the services of a trained nurse, Miss Amy Kane, were obtained.—Moncton Transcript.

Must Not Exceed 68 Degrees

Fuel Controller Has a Word to Say on Heating Problem

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—"The temperature in all buildings must be kept down to 68 degrees at most," is announced by Mr. C. A. Magrath, Fuel Controller. The fuel situation has become so critical that it is urgently necessary to avoid waste, and a conference called by Mr. Magrath has just been held, at which ways and means of saving limited supplies of hard coal were discussed with the Fuel Administrators for the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

It is common knowledge that many buildings in Canada are overheated in the winter time. Even during the present mild weather the temperature in some of the large office buildings is decidedly higher than is needed, this being due partly to the failure of the owners of such buildings to take sufficient interest in the matter and to see that such fuel as is absolutely necessary is used for heating purposes. Through investigation has established the fact that a maximum of 68 degrees is all that is required and the temperature in all buildings must not go any higher than that; was the decision of the Administrators of both Provinces. "It is important," said the Fuel Controller, "that the other Canadian Provinces should fall into line."

Picked Up Around Town

Permission has been given by the city council to the Provincial government to take 200 loads of crushed stone which belong to the city and put it on the new provincial highway from the city boundary westward. The city is legally bound to contribute to the roadway for three miles out on the highway. This stone will however pay Belleville's share of this part of the Trent Road.

The city council at a special meeting last evening consented to loan the steam roller to the Imperial Munitions Board for work at Deseronto. The board will pay all expenses and ten dollars per day.

The inoculation of citizens at the Y.M.C.A. will be resumed at noon tomorrow (Saturday). The public is urged to take advantage of this protection against the flu.

Mr. George Graham's automobile was taken away by some person unknown, but Mr. Graham has recovered it.

One tramp was given shelter at the police station last night.

Mrs. Chas. Buck, 18 Everett St., received a letter this morning from Sergt.-Major W. C. Jack, an active service in France, that her son, the late Pte. R. M. Buck, had been awarded the military medal for gallantry in the field. Pte. Buck, it will be recalled, was reported killed in action some weeks ago. The receipt of this splendid testimonial to the young hero's valor will add a sombre satisfaction to the remembrance of one who gave his life that freedom might survive. That satisfaction will be weighed with the deeper regard that he could not himself be spared to share in this signal honor. A brother, Pte. Gordon Buck, is still on active service at the front.

The Bank will trust you

Perhaps you never had an account in a bank—maybe you've never done business in a bank—hardly even cashed a cheque in one. But—that is no reason why you cannot go to a bank and borrow money to buy Victory Bonds.

If you are a steady, industrious, thrifty citizen, working and saving a part of your income, you are just the kind of person Canada's chartered banks stand ready to help to-day.

Any bank will lend you as much money as you can save during the next twelve months, with which to buy Victory Bonds.

All you have to do is to pay ten per cent. of the amount you want to buy and deposit the receipt for that ten per cent. in the bank.

The bank will lend you the 90 per cent. balance at 5½ per cent. interest and will give you a year to repay it, the interest you get on your bond being just the same as the bank charges you.

This is a fine opportunity for you to begin a real savings account, to make a first class investment and to help your country at the same time.

Why not see a banker to-day—he will tell you all about it and you will be glad of the advice and help he can give you.

Smokeless Day in Grange Center

Selected By S. M. T. Brandon, Man.

"Grandfather, why don't you stop smoking and knit?" The man thus addressed gave such a start that his pipe almost fell from his mouth, and he turned and looked curiously at the grave little boy who sat in his corner by the living room window industriously knitting a pair of wristlets.

"Me knit?" he exclaimed when he recovered himself sufficiently to speak. "Why, Bobby, I don't know how an besides that's a woman's job—and children's," he added as he noted the flush that rose to the child's face at his last words.

Grandfather was not a very old man but he was crippled in one foot and not strong, and having a comfortable income found plenty of leisure to smoke and read. He had bought liberty bonds, contributed generously to the red cross, Y.M.C.A. and other war relief projects and Bobby had often heard him lament that he was not able to do something more active for his country.

When the "wheatless and meatless and porkless days" came round, he would often say, "This is as it should be. I like something that has a little front are doing so much."

"But, Grandfather, I didn't know how to knit till I learned how. It isn't very hard to learn, and I guess you are as smart as I am."

"Think so?" Grandfather laughed. "Well, I don't know about that, anyway my fingers are not as limber as yours."

"O, pshaw now, Grandfather, you'd be mad if anybody told you that you had stiff fingers. Look how you use the typewriter and what splendid toys you whittle out for me. Knitting is not half as hard as that. And about the smoking—you could give that up, couldn't you? That would be one of the real sacrifices you talk about wouldn't it?"

"What put such things into your head, Bobby boy?"

"I guess it was this poetry that Aunt Frances wrote. She let me read it and I borrowed her carbon copy to show my teacher—she said she didn't care. She thinks maybe she will send it to the paper. Would you like to see it?" "Certainly I would if you think she would be willing."

"She'd be glad to have you see it. I know she would because I heard her say that she wished every tobacco smoker in the world could get his brains clear enough to see just

And teach each lad and lass To honor the men who sit and knit Because they cannot fight And hand to hand, and heart, We'll do our noble sexless part In the cause of ultimate right."

A dead silence followed the reading of these startling verses. At length Grandfather asked, "Well, what do you think of it?" Still an uncomfortable silence then:

"I think it's too blamed true to be pleasant."

"You wouldn't like to see it printed in the town paper?"

"It might clear off the park benches and send us inside to do our smoking, perhaps."

"We sure would feel like sneaks and slackers then, wouldn't we?"

"Ain't no use denyin' that the women folks always do get the worst of a war deal."

"Then why in thunder aren't you men enough to help them out on this?"

"Because we're so soaked in tobacco that we can't quit and because we're ashamed to knit, that's why, if you want the bed-rock truth."

"Look here, I don't believe there's a man back of us who hasn't said something—yes, frequently—said he could quit smoking any time he pleased. Wouldn't this be a good time to prove if it's so?"

"And learn to knit?"

A peal of laughter followed this question.

"Well, why not? We'd have something to occupy us while we were swearing off and maybe we wouldn't miss the tobacco so much. I own that rap about women's doing men's work kind of jarred me. It's too all-fired true."

"Turn about's fair play—no denyin' that."

"You talk as though you really ought to take this thing seriously."

"Women seem to be taking the situation rather seriously. You can hardly see one of them without her knitting bag nowadays. They're turning their card parties into knitting parties and they even knit between scenes at the movies. My wife will get dinner on the table, call the family and then snatch her knitting while they are getting seated."

"There ain't the least doubt that there's a good deal of tommy-rot about men's work and women's work nowadays, when there are about as many women as men supporting families, and girls marry and go right on with their office or teaching jobs, bringing in about as much money as their husbands and sometimes more."

"Tell you what I'll do, boys, if you'll support me in it. I'll get up a petition for a smokeless day once a week—or a pledge rather—and if we can get twenty-five signers we'll go ahead and make it as uncomfortable able as possible for them that won't sign. Agree?"

"And shall we pledge ourselves to learn to knit?"

"Sure! Why not? Strikes me those verses are a sort of dare and I'm in favor of calling their bluff and showing them we can turn out as many socks as they can."

"Might chip in and buy a knitting machine, what?"

"Good scheme. Well, all agree to the pledge?"

The consent was almost unanimous. Finally every one present had been induced to sign under penalty of being called a "slacker."

A committee was then appointed to circulate the pledge and get as many signers as possible.

"Tell you what I'll agree to do, boys," said Grandfather. "If this thing goes, I'll see that these verses are kept out of the paper so that folks will think we did this of our own volition. Wouldn't you rather?"

"This is how smokeless day in Grange Center was established. The outcome? Ah! that is the whole story in itself and would be a very amusing one if not so pathetic. For to witness the agonies of restlessness and craving of the men deprived of their accustomed weed, was a thing long to be remembered in the little town.

Some of the women vowed that they were sorry the thing was ever started because their husbands were so cross on smokeless days that they were unendurable. But enough of the men were "game" to keep the others in line and woe befalls the hapless one who thought to indulge himself on the sly and was caught in the act.

The boys and girls engaged in essay contests on the tobacco habit and had a rich fund of first-hand information on the enervating aspect of the case, and a most valuable object lesson reinforced the teaching of the schools against the habit.

The savings of that day were at once voted for the purchase of the knitting machines and the women of course, rallied loyally to the support of the movement as soon as they could sufficiently recover from their astonishment to collect their senses. They patiently instructed the would-be knitters, co-operating in the use of the machines, "heeling and toeing" for them until they themselves became expert and relegating to them the easier task of making sweaters and wristlets.

Also on the evenings of smokeless day when they knew the men would "miss" their accustomed "smokes" at the village store or club, they planned a community knitting party at the town hall where music and humorous readings enlivened the work and the most famous cooks of the neighborhood vied with each other in furnishing appetizing dishes to accompany the hot coffee, and in demonstrating how palatable "war dishes" could be made.

Best of all, there is a growing feeling among the men that if one smokeless day a week is possible and its savings turned to such good advantage, why not seven days and complete freedom from the too evident enslavement of the tobacco habit? One man was heard to say dolefully:

"Goah! I don't know but I'd rather quit entirely and forget about it than to go through all this misery once a week."

And the women of Grange Center are hoping and praying that just this may happen in a good many cases at least.

MONEY IS NEEDED

Canada needs money. To clinch the Victory for the Allies, to round out the unexampled heroism and sacrifice Canada needs money. She has the power to make the final effort complete and all-conquering. Canada has the money; let every loyal son of this proud land tap it for his country's needs. The Government is asking for it so that the glory and sacrifice of the past years may not be compromised; may not be overshadowed by any lack on the part of our citizenship; may not leave an unworthy stain on the brilliant history Canadians have been making.

Our gallant boys overseas call for manifestations of patriotism, yes sacrifice, and how better can we do this than by lending our treasure, our gold, our silver, in sustaining the cause so dear to their and our hearts? The Government does not ask for our gifts—we would give them, it is true, but it does ask every citizen to lend it all they can on undoubted security and at splendid interest rates.

Victory Bonds are the things to buy and buy until every ounce of our blood tingles with joy over helping Canada and her splendid soldiers in their perils and their triumphs.

Mr. Fred McKee, of Stirling, was in the city yesterday.

BELLEVILLE PASSES HALF-WAY MARK IN RACE TO OBJECTIVE

Peace Celebration Slows up Campaign—Thousands Viewed Victory Loan Pictures—Will Be Repeated To-night.

Belleville yesterday passed the half-way mark in the race to objective for the city and the campaign for 1918. Victory Loan total bonds sold being $381,200. Now for the last half of the race. Yesterday in spite of the fact that everything in Belleville shut down at noon so it was impossible to do business, Belleville reports $34,350 for the day, which is an excellent showing, considering the diversions that took place. The false rumor of peace that spread through the city affected the campaign, thereby losing a precious half-day of the few remaining days. Redoubled efforts will be required to make up for time lost, and it is hoped that the citizens will co-operate with the canvassers and put Belleville over the top.

Hastings county felt the peace demonstration more than the city, as the returns for the county fell down to $92,000. It is expected that the county will pass the half-way mark of their honour flag objective of $2,100,000 today.

Great Interest in Pictures. A crowd of fully 3,000 gathered last night in front of Griffin's Palace theatre on Front street to view the new programme of pictures, which the Victory Loan publicity committee had procured and which the Griffin Amusement Co. were kindly showing. Interest was very great in the pictures of Canada's own Mary Pickford in her patriotic appeal "100% Canadianism." This charming little actress was born in Canada, and from the enthusiasm shown in her pictures she still retains the love of her homeland. A great effect will be felt from the showing of these pictures, as no one can view them without feeling like a slacker until he has bought his 100% Canadian Victory Bond. The Max Sennett comedy which followed gave an excellent appeal also, and great applause was received from the crowd.

A sunshine Fox comedy two-reels followed. This funny film was lent to the Belleville publicity committee by the Fox Film Co. without any charge whatever. The way that the Theatre Film Co. and artists have co-operated with the Victory Loan campaign committee of 1918 is deeply appreciated. No effort is spared to assist in this great work by these ladies and gentlemen and expense is absolutely no question. People in watching these pictures should realize the very great effort that they have made to assist in this drive.

The speakers last night were Rev. Archdeacon Beamish, Mr. W. C. Michel, K. C. and Mr. D. V. Sinclair. Their addresses were most appealing. They especially, requested the people to remember that though peace came to-day or to-morrow this money was necessary so that Canada would finish the way she began it and carried it through the four awful years independent to any one. If the people do not respond to the Victory Loan, 1918, Canada at the time of victory will go down to defeat, the home fronts will have failed. Every citizen of Belleville was appealed to, to buy bonds—boys girls, men and women. Rev. Archdeacon Beamish gave an example of a boy who had already invested $400 in two war bonds and lent his younger brother $72.50 so that he might buy a bond. Therefore, no boy, girl, man or woman in the city of Belleville should be without an honour button, showing that he has bought a Victory Bond and done his little bit to help in this great cause.

Mr. Michel in his address emphasized the fact that 39c and a fraction of a cent per day for 136 days would pay for a bond. Also that a bond was really a first mortgage on every bank in the country and all the deposits in every bank and on the farm, every house and on all the wealth of Canada. He said those who could buy the bonds, and did not were simply helping the Kaiser.

Thurlow Going Strong. Up to last night Messrs. Geo. Reid and Henry Denyes, the hard-working Victory Loan representatives in Thurlow Twp. have reported $31,800. With the bank their total is already $90,000. The most remarkable part of their canvass is the extraordinary large subscription received from the village of Cosbyville. With a population in the neighborhood of 200 this little village has taken over $24,000 in bonds. This is $240 for every man, woman

Tizza Was Killed in His Own House

Soldiers Invaded His Drawing-room and Slew Him Before His Friends

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 7.—The Berlijn Vreesche Zeitung contains a dramatic declaration of the assassination of Count Stephen Tizza, former Premier of Hungary, last week.

At 6 o'clock in the evening three soldiers invaded Count Tizza's residence and presented themselves in the drawing-room. Count Tizza, with his wife and the Countess Almásy, advanced to meet the intruders, asking what they wanted.

"What have you in your hand?" a soldier demanded of Tizza. Tizza replied that he held a revolver. The soldier told him to put it away, but Tizza replied:

"I shall not, because you have not laid aside your rifles." The soldiers then requested the women to leave the room, but they declined to do so. A soldier then addressed Tizza as follows:

"You are responsible for the destruction of millions of people, because you caused the war."

Then, raising their rifles, the soldiers shouted:

"The hour of reckoning has come."

The soldiers fired three shots and Tizza fell. His last words were: "I am dying. It had to be."

The soldiers quitted the house, accompanied by gendarmes who previously were employed to guard the door.

Recipes
A correspondent from practical knowledge says the following two recipes are good and worth trying: Salmon Loaf—One can salmon, one egg, two tablespoons butter, one cup buttermilk with half teaspoonful soda stirred in, salt, pepper to taste, half cup cornmeal, two sodas rolled fine. I often mince parsley and onion. This we think adds to the taste, but just try it. When done stick blanched almonds, sliced, all over it before serving.—Picton Gazette.

The happy couple were the recipients of many useful and dainty presents, showing the high esteem in which they are held in the community in which they will reside.—Trenton Courier.

Frozen Potatoes
Do not throw away frozen potatoes. An American Chemical Society bulletin says if they are kept frozen until they are used they will be just as wholesome, nutritious and palatable as if they had not been frozen at all. It is only when prematurely thawed that they are spoiled. It would be difficult to estimate the waste that has been caused by the mistaken belief that potatoes are unfit for food merely because they have been frozen.

How Many Crowns for Your Honor Flag?

Of course every city, town and district will earn its Honor Flag.

But how about the crowns?

For every twenty-five per cent. in excess of its quota, each city, town and district will be entitled to add a crown to its flag.

Can you do fifty per cent. better than your quota—that means two crowns for your Honor Flag.

But double your quota and it means four crowns.

Hang a Flag in your hall, that for years to come will show that your city, town or district did better than well—

That it was a real factor in the huge success of CANADA'S VICTORY LOAN 1918.

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

LETTERS FROM OVERSEAS

From Leslie Yerex

France, Sept. 17, 1918.
Dear Mother:—
I don't know if I can think of very much to write about, but as I have a chair to sit on and a table to write on I thought I would try it. I'll tell you about the place I'm living in now.
We moved into a village evacuated by the Hunns just recently, and there had been some civilians in it, too, but they were gone and had left all kinds of stuff behind them. The town was not damaged to any extent when we moved in. The houses were full of everything just as if the people had stepped out for a few minutes—tables, chairs, dishes, sewing machines, pictures hanging on the walls, everything natural. We made several excursions and as a result we have chairs, tables, china dishes, etc., to say nothing of clothes. I have on a pair of swell navy blue trousers; they are a great comfort after wearing tight riding breeches for three years. I also have a nice pair of carpet slippers.
It's fun to see the fellows putting on civilian clothes to see what they feel like. One fellow has on light checker-board trousers and a white shirt with stiff front and cuffs and a straw hat. The best of all, we are sleeping (when we do sleep) between white linen sheets which we found in some of the houses.
I'll now tell you what we had for dinner today, after a search in different gardens. Fried meat, kind unknown, boiled spuds, string beans, new carrots and parsnips, bread and butter and tea. How's that? If we could live like this all the time it would not be so bad, but we're lucky to have this. We are in an old barn, which will keep out water if nothing else; and we can stand upright in it and that is quite a change from a hole in the ground which you have to enter on your hands and knees, and back out again. So you can just bet we are making the most of it.

I received two letters and magazines a few days ago, but not the parcel. But it may come any day. I was pretty sick for a couple of days last week and had about decided to go to the hospital, but I stuck it out and came around O.K. I don't like doctors and so don't go near them unless absolutely necessary.
Leave in on again. I may get mine before Christmas. I had a letter from Skit some time ago and a snapshot. He looks fine. Well, can think of nothing more so will adjourn.
Les.
October 3rd.
Well, I've been so busy that I'd forgotten I hadn't posted my letter. We are right in it again, as you likely have seen in the papers. I received three more letters from you and the Intel, but no parcel. They do not send the parcels through when we are on the move, but keep them back until we get out for a rest. It doesn't look as if I'll get my leave before Christmas. It's moving very slow. I have not been very well lately but manage to keep going. I guess the country is getting me. A couple of weeks in England would likely fix me up. I had a letter from Bob Brown. He wants to get leave the same time I do so we can go over together. We are kept mighty busy these days and Fritz takes a lot of beating. So I must ring off for this time.

Les.
Dear Miss Fleming:—
I was pleased to receive your new and interesting note of August, a few days ago. It was longer than usual in reaching me, but that wasn't the fault of its writer, or the Postal Department, either, but my own, as I am somewhat nomadic in my habits, roaming a lot, and was not here to receive it. Yes, I was in a good place, enjoying myself on leave in England and Scotland. I hope this finds you in as good health and enjoying life in general (such as it is), as I am and have been all along. It's a queer life this, full of strange and new experiences every week, yet we have our pleasures to offset other features of this life—going on leave (so seldom though), kicking Old Fritz back, taking a new village with much of his war material, and watching the thousands of blue-grey clad prisoners pass by to the rear. A fellow can get all kinds of souvenirs, but what's the use; they are hard to send and awkward to carry around, when we are moving a lot.
The war does look good, on all fronts, doesn't it? You people receive comprehensive news far more quickly than we do. But we know what our Canadian Corps are doing and the troops to the right and left of us. How are the casualty lists? I just wish I could see them. I know they will be large at a time like this. So, as things are going, don't be too surprised if I walk into your school-room some sunny day next spring.
I am very sorry to say the box you sent me was stolen out of a pal's dugout. I was away and he was keeping my mail for me. I know the box must have been yours for I haven't missed any other. It seems tough luck, but just the same I appreciate your sending it. I'd like to have tried that cake. I just know it was fine for it's your habit to do things well.

I wonder how the schools are getting along. Do you know that I'm just lonesome for the school and the kiddies. I really enjoyed my terms with them. I'll be very pleased to receive that scrap-book you mentioned and only hope it arrives soon. My, how the girls and boys used to like making them!
I can only give you a brief account of my leave, as I travelled so much and likewise visited a lot of historic places. I sailed from France on the morning of Sept. 5th and I don't think a happier chap could have been found than myself, when I saw the chalk cliffs of old England heave in sight. Oh, it was so fine to get back out of the war, for a holiday. It seemed like a dream to be at a good hotel, live in a luxurious way, and, best of all, to climb between deesy white sheets and sink to rest in a swan-soft bed. I had never realized just how many things we miss in France, until then.
The army gives each going on leave a book of ration tickets, and, believe me, I didn't starve. The farther north I went the greater the supplies of food, and the better the people, till the acme of perfection was reached in Aberdeen. I stayed five days in London, seeing all I could in sights and operas. I visited Westminster and Cathedral and fairly lost my breath at its beauty and magnificence. I was at Buckingham Palace and Whitehall, St. Paul's, the Tower, Art Gallery, British Museum and Parliament Buildings.
I then went to Edinburgh, for old Scotland and the bonnie Scotch lie close to my heart. I went by night, to save time. I was five days there, staying at a Maple Leaf club. Everything was fine; the climate is so lovely and the people look so healthy and are so kind. I saw about all there was to see, Edinburgh Castle, Forth Bridge (one and a quarter miles long), Scott's monument, Holyrood Palace, and I climbed a high spur near by, called Arthur's Seat, where the fabulous (?) King Arthur is supposed to have held court on visiting the city. A grand view of the whole city, the Forth, North Sea, and country for miles around is seen from there. I visited the Museum, a marvellously fine collection of everything under the sun. It is counted one of the best museums in the world. The Art Gallery, too, is a gem. I took a bus eight miles out to Roslin Castle, one of the old historic Scotch ruins. I saw a yew-tree 1,000 years old, and the largest open fireplace in the world, there. Lovely wooded glens and valleys lie all around and the famous Esk River flows by. Mr. Gompers, the noted American Labor man, was there the same day.
I then took train for Aberdeen, crossing the Forth and Tay bridges, going through Dundee, Montrose and Stonehaven. It was a grand ride—the blue, blue North Sea on one side flecked with ships, and the rolling harvest fields on the other. I stayed two days in the Granite City and like it the best of all the places on the British Isles, I've seen. It does look so clean and fresh; not a building but of grey-white glistening granite. The people, too, are the kindest I ever met. They can never do enough for a Canadian. I visited the lovely University. It is so fine and what a view from its towers—sea, ships, hills, and dell, winding rivers (Dee and Don), and glistening city below.
I came down to Edinburgh and took train for Stirling, en route for Glasgow, via the Lady of the Lake country and the famous Rob Roy haunts. I saw Stirling Castle and the battlefields of Bruce and Wallace and others. I went by stage by Ben Ledi, Collinloch, Ford, Laphich Mead, Loch Venachter and through the Trossachs Pass. How the lines of the Lady of the Lake came back to me. I railed down Loch Katrine with her silver strand and passed Ellen's Isle. It was so wildly beautiful, cradled by great Bens, covered with forest and heather, with dashing crystal streams leaping down. We took stage to Loch Lomond and down it by the Rob-Roy boat. It is grand beyond description. I saw Rob Roy's Cave, Ben Vorlich and Ben Lomond. I took train to Glasgow and saw the shipyards, but am in France now again. Sincerely,
V. E. Bullough.
(I can teach Scottish history or literature now. Scotland is grand. I could talk to no end about it, but I'll tell you all when I get back.)
Warts will render the prettiest hands unsightly. Clear the excrescences away by using Holloway's Corn Cure, which acts thoroughly and painlessly.

Letter From W. J. French

Seaford, Oct. 8, 1918.
Dear Cousin Winifred:—
I received five letters from Ivanhoe tonight, one from you, one from Luella, one from Mrs. (Rev.) Frederick, one from Ben L. and one from Everett. I haven't had any mail for over a week; they seem to have a poor way of giving it out. I got a dozen or so at once and then won't get any for a week or more.
Well I got back from Ireland alright. Had a very good trip. Was all alone; none of the rest of the lads have had their leave yet. I thought I was going to be through training before they got started, but they are all away ahead of me now. Clement has gone to France. I saw Earle Twidly last Sunday. He has been wounded but is better now. There are not very many of the lads left that came over in any of those other battalions. I am not very far from E. but I can't get over there yet. I expect to get to Whitley Camp in a few days; have a bad cold just now but have been feeling pretty good. Ross Holland has been sick with a cold for the last few days. We are not together but just in the next hut and in another company. I can't explain the trip to Ireland much more than Fred did. I was at the old place for three days it rained nearly all the time or I could have seen more of the country around there. They live about seven miles from the station. I got an old man to take me to the house before dark, but I would have walked it sooner. The carts that they drive for a light rig are like the ones we use in the quarry at home. They certainly used me well though. There are two old maids with James in the house. The house has a straw roof, stone floors, fire-places, everything as old-fashioned as can be. It is fun to watch them cooking on the fire place. The two old ladies eat in one room and the hired man and James and I in another room. All the time I was there. They cut the grain and hay with a sickle, dig potatoes with a shovel, and spade up the ground for a garden instead of plowing it. James is just like Grandfather Benson; to watch him working and walking around you would think it was him. We were up to his brother Joe's. He is a lot different fellow and has a pretty good place. He told me that he knew some of my own father's people in the County of Cork. When I would be going along the road I could see three or four looking out at me in every house. I don't think they ever saw a Canadian. I like the country very well. It seemed more like home than this country. I was in Belfast for two days. It is a nice city, a lot like Belleville. The stores are about the same. I was in Dublin for a couple of days. I would have liked to see more of London; was only there about three or four hours.
Well I think I have told you all I can until I get home. The way the war is going I don't think I'll have to stay here much longer. It will be great to get home, for I get very lonesome ever since I heard about Uncle Fred being killed. All I can hear is Frenchmen talking. There are about fifteen in each hut.
Well I think I'll stop for this time. I got a box from home and hear there are a couple more on their way to me. You write often as I have not much time only on Sundays. I have my rifle and some whares about a hundred pieces of brass to shine every night. I don't know as I want anything in particular. Write often. From your loving cousin,
W. J. French

CONY AND DISTRICT

as. Kendry, Former M.P., Dead at Peterboro.
DOUBLE BEREAVEMENT IN ONE DAY AT SMITHS FALLS
Brockville Syndicate to Erect Eleven Brick Houses.
Two Men Expatriated on Charge of Arson
Cobourg.—The alleged arson case arising out of the burning of the Fenella cheese factory on the 30th of April, 1918, was finally disposed of here in the County Judge's Criminal Court this week before Judge Ward, when two Cobourg citizens, H. R. Free and Thomas Biezard, who were called to face the charge of burning the factory, were expatriated.—Port Hope Guide.
Souvenirs for Peterboro City.
Major J. H. Eastwood, medical officer of the 57th Regiment, has received word from Major R. Vanderwater, commanding the 2nd Canadian Battalion, that two German guns and two machine guns captured by the 2nd Battalion, are to be presented to the City of Peterboro.
Doubly Bereaved
Mr. and Mrs. Silas Woodcock Napanee, were sorely bereaved on Wednesday. They went to the station to meet the remains of their little grandchild, who died at Massey, Ont., and in place of one coffin the remains of their son, Arnold Woodcock, as well as those of their little granddaughter were taken off. Deceased was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodcock and had been living in Massey for the past five or six years. He leaves a wife and small baby, both of whom were quite ill with influenza.
Found Ten Gallons of Whiskey
Chief McGrotty, of Whitley, discovered ten one gallon tins of pure alcohol contained in a suitcase and other packages in some bushes near the Grand Trunk tracks just west of Whitley Junction last Tuesday morning. Upon investigation it was found that the wet goods belonged to three foreigners who had alighted from a 4.52 Montreal train.
Former M.P. Dead
James Kendry, aged seventy-three, well known Peterboro citizen, passed away at his home on Monday. Mr. Kendry served two terms in the House of Commons and for a long period was president of West Peterboro Conservative Association. For many years he was a member of the Peterboro City Council, and on three different occasions was elected mayor of the city.
More Houses for Brockville
Operating under the charter of the Brockville Homes Building Company, a local syndicate in that town started operations on the erection of the first eleven brick houses. That the action of the company is long required want is evidenced by the fact that the first house is already sold, before the foundation is completed. The money required for the work of erecting the homes will be between $30,000 and $35,000 and this amount is almost subscribed.
Two Sons Dead in One Family
Smiths Falls, Nov. 8.—A double bereavement came to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Frost on Monday in the death of their two sons, Burton N. Frost and E. Theodore Frost, and included in the bereavement are two sorrowing young widows. Both of the brothers were active young business men associated with their father in the Smiths Falls Malleable Castings Co., the first named, thirty-five years old, the latter, thirty-three. Both were happily married. Burton only five months ago, and both comfortably settled in their own homes. A week ago both fell ill with influenza, which has been epidemic here, and Monday both died. Burton passed away at 6 o'clock in the morning and his brother followed at 2 in the afternoon. Both were well known and well liked in the community and their deaths, coming so unexpectedly and on one day, cast a gloom over the town. Besides their parents each is survived by a wife, one brother and two sisters.
Written Memorial
Cobourg, Nov. 8.—A public meeting was held at Millbrook to consider the matter of taking steps to erect a monument to the late Joseph Scriven, author of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," in the little private cemetery at Rice Lake. Clergy men of Millbrook and Rev. A. H. McConnachie, the reeves of South Monaghan, Cayon and Millbrook, and W. B. McCrick, manager of the Bank of Toronto, Millbrook, were appointed a committee to proceed in the matter.

Suffered Heavy Loss
John Love, who resides near North Augusta, suffered a heavy loss on Sunday evening when his carriage shed and stable building were totally destroyed with all contents by fire. The blaze originated from an unknown source, shortly after nine o'clock. In addition to the usual contents found in a country carriage house and stable, two automobiles were also burned. The loss is placed at $2,000 with only small insurance carried.
STOCKDALE
Have you bought your Victory Bonds or have you had the "flu" is the question you hear on every side.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wood was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, Oct. 30th, when their second daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, became the wife of Mr. Percival Solmes, of Trenton. Among the many beautiful presents received by the bride was a set of teaspoons and desert spoons from her nieces and friends at Stockdale.
Mrs. J. Williamson and Mrs. H. Gay and little daughter took dinner at Morley Davidson's on Saturday. School re-opened for a couple of days this week but has been closed again as several of the children are sick, also Miss Williamson, the senior teacher.
We are sorry to report the death of Mr. Frank Savage on Oct. 27th. Deceased came home to help his parents move to Stirlington and while en route with the cartload of moveables was stricken with influenza and on the arrival of the train at Matheson was unconscious, in which state he lingered for twenty-four hours when he passed away. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in this vicinity.
Mr. A. E. Wood was home a few days last week.
Mrs. L. Coates and daughter, of Toronto, have been visiting relatives here for the past two weeks.
Miss Maggie Hudgins has been engaged as clerk in Mr. J. F. Collins' store.
Rumor says Mr. C. M. Foster, of Trenton, has brought the brick mill from Mr. Collier.
A very pleasant time was spent on Monday afternoon at the paragon when the Women's Institute met and packed forty boxes filled with comforts for our boys who have gone overseas. We trust that before another Christmas season comes our boys will have returned to us. At the meeting Mrs. Annie Davidson was elected a delegate to the provincial convention at Toronto.
ZION
Rain, rain, more rain!
The "flu" has reached us and many are suffering from it. There have been no fatalities as yet and we all hope there may not be.
Mrs. M. B. Spencer is seriously ill with the influenza. We hope for a speedy recovery.
Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Reid motored to Bayside on Sunday last.
Mrs. Roy Sills, of Foxboro, spent one day last week visiting friends in our neighborhood.
Mr. Earl Spencer, is spending a few days under the parental roof.
Messrs. Jas. and Percy Reid spent Sunday at their grandmother's, Mrs. J. McCann, of Stirling.
SIR THOMAS WHITE EXPRESSES WARM APPRECIATION OF WORK OF PRESS IN VICTORY LOAN 1918 CAMPAIGN.
The following letter from Sir Thomas White, minister of Finance, speaks for itself:
Editor Ontario:—
I desire personally and on behalf of the Government to express our most earnest thanks to the press of Canada for the splendid support given so freely and generously to the Victory Loan. This fine patriotic service is the more deeply appreciated by reason of knowledge of the many difficulties which have been imposed upon the press by war conditions and of the disorganization of staff in so many parts of the Dominion owing to the prevailing epidemic. I feel that the success of the Loan will be in large measure attributable to the invaluable assistance of the press.

Appeal to Save the Children of Bible Lands

Editor Ontario.— The remotest place on the continent in these stirring days is not secluded to feel the world-thrill and to have a part in the great movements that are making the world a better place to live in, and alleviating its suffering.

nobly. Another challenging call, however, is sounding in the ears of the Christian people of North America. It is the call of over two million people in Bible lands—Armenians, Syrians and Greeks, of Asia Minor.

Everything in their wake. Four million people, destitute of home, clothed only in rags, and facing the cold of winter and starvation. One million of these can be rescued by relief agencies. Four hundred thousand of these are orphans. The relief agencies can do nothing unless North America furnishes the money.

The international Sunday School Association in this campaign is working in co-operation with the Armenian and Syrian Relief Committee in New York, and two million which they are to raise is part of a larger campaign on the part of the committee for thirty million dollars.

Bride in Egypt and Groom on Great Lakes Married by Proxy

Great Lakes, Ill., Nov. 7.—After a courtship by wireless, a wedding by proxy, with the bride thousands of miles away, united Miss Emily Orsi, of Cairo, Egypt, and Lieut. Rudolph Winzer, of Chicago at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station Tuesday.

The romance began in Egypt when Lieut. Winzer was assigned to the U.S.S. North Carolina. Miss Orsi is the daughter of an Italian Marquis, who was married to an English woman. The marriage license was obtained in Waukegan two months ago and a copy mailed to the bride, who obtained a similar document in Egypt and sent a copy to this country.

At the ceremony the bride was represented by Miss Grace Belle Reams, of Chicago and the services read by Chaplain Charles W. Moore. A bluejacket orchestra played the wedding march. At the close of the event a wireless message was relayed to Egypt and Mrs. Winzer started at once for this country to join her husband.

Must Procure Permission

Under an order issued by the secretary of State, Washington, effective November 11th, 1918, all persons going from Canada to foreign destinations by way of the United States seaports must procure permission for embarkation before leaving Canada.

Such permission may be arranged for either by executing Declaration and procuring visa on passport before one of the American consuls in Canada, or by making formal application before any of the United States immigration officers located in Canada upon forms furnished by the said officers.

In order to allow sufficient time for investigation, transmission of papers to Washington, etc., applications should be filed either with the consul or the immigration officer at least 17 days prior to the date of proposed departure.

The State Department invites special attention of prospective travelers to the fact that unless they have obtained visa by an American consul, the said Department must decide whether or not departure from an American port will be allowed, such decision being based upon the application submitted through the immigration officers. Passengers are accordingly warned not to proceed to the port of embarkation until they are in possession of either the consular visa, or proper certificate from the U.S. immigration authorities showing that permit for departure has been granted.

AFTER THE WAR

Editor Ontario.— The minds of people generally, all over the world, are in a state of wonder as to what is ahead, and many and varied are man's thoughts as to the future.

The result is much speculation as to how the war will end. Will wars cease as a result of a league of nations? Will the world be better after the war ceases and man settles down to make it a better world? Will the Jew get his land back and become a nation again? Etc, etc.

It must be set aside; and if we would know what God's plan are we must go to His Word which makes it plain.

To go back close on to 2,000 years—God sent His Son into this world, and had the world received Him and given Him His place as King, what a different world it would be. He healed all the sick, blind, deaf and lame, fed the hungry, and even brought the dead to life. But what did they do to Him? They murdered Him. They were willing to receive the blessings, but hated Him because He exposed their sinful condition.

The Jew was looking for a saviour to deliver him from Roman bondage and give him back his kingdom, but they didn't want a saviour to deliver them from their sins. Jew and Gentile said, away with Him; and although He could easily have delivered Himself from their hands, He suffered Himself to be led as a lamb to the slaughter, there to take the sinner's place and die in the sinner's stead.

For this crime the world has not yet answered, but its judgment is in store. We hear a lot of world-betterment after the war, and a league of nations to keep it right. But God's Word holds out no such way of righting it.

We are now passing through what Scripture calls the last days, or the times of the Gentiles, beginning with the descent of the Holy Ghost, which times will end when the Lord Jesus comes back to take His place and reign over the earth. Satan will then be cast into the bottomless pit, and this poor sin-cursed world will enter upon a millennial time of peace and righteousness, and those who are His will reign with Him; and not till then will there be a lasting peace.

But wonderful events will happen ere that time. The first unfulfilled prophecy is (1 Thess. 4:16-17)—"For the Lord Himself shall descend from Heaven with a shout, with the trumpet of God, and the dead in Christ shall rise first."

Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord. And any day this may be fulfilled. The condition of things in the world at present is so much like what other Scriptures tell us they will be at that time that we may conclude it is close at hand.

Then follows a period of at least seven years—seventieth week of seven years (Dan. 9:27). At the close of that seven year the Lord returns with His saints (previously caught up) to reign over the earth during the thousand years of millenium that follows.

If we would know what the world will be like during the last half of those seven years, we get it in Rev. ch. 6-18; and I don't want to be here during that time.

At the commencement of the seven years the Jew will be back in his own land (and we can easily see that he will soon be there). The church, composed of blood-washed saints, born-again ones, will have to be caught away. The Spirit of God will also be gone (2 Thess. 2:7), and Satan, the god of this world, will for those seven years have it all his own way. And Matt. 24, as well as Rev., tells us what is ahead instead of the peace of which we hear much.

As we approach that period the world is taking on its character. We are getting a taste of what is in store for a Christ-rejecting world after the church is caught away and the wars, famines and pestilences of Revelations are poured out on this ungodly world, which is waxing worse and worse, at the close of the seven years and previous to the Lord taking His place as king and ruling. The battle of Armageddon will be fought, resulting in Satan's being cast into the bottomless pit (Rev. 20:1-3).

personally I am stirred with this worthy and mighty call. I trust that every Sunday School within the borders of the South Hastings Sunday School Association will rise in their might and give a worthy Christmas offering to help save the children and suffering mothers of Palestine, Armenia and Mesopotamia where, thank God, our gallant British armies have conquered the unrepentable Turk, after holding away for centuries. These boys and girls are the hope of the future in that land where the "shepherds" followed the guiding star to Bethlehem's manger.

South Hastings Sunday School Association consists of the towns of Trenton, Deseronto, Township of Tyendinaga, Thurlow and Sidney. Let every Sunday School worker get into the harness. A cold winter is ahead for those people. We have plenty to eat and wear for ourselves.

For I was an hungered and ye gave me no meat; I was thirsty and ye gave me no drink; I was a stranger and ye took me not in; naked and ye clothed me not."

May this not be said of us. H. K. Doyles, Halliway, P.O. Secretary of the South Hastings Sunday School Association.

Trenton Trenton, Nov. 6.—His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught declares the Canadians have made name for themselves an imperishable name in the history of arms, and there is no allied force with a richer share of honor. Now it is up to those left behind to share their honor by buying Victory Bonds. "Do it today."

Mr. W. Crawford Craig was a visitor to Belleville Tuesday of this week. Miss Marie Daley is visiting with her family at Cornwall, Ont. Let us forget Buy Victory Bonds. Lieut. T. F. Marshall, visited the Imperial Munitions Board Offices at Cobourg Tuesday.

Strive to do your share for peace. Strive to buy Victory Bonds. It is cheering to note the cases at our emergency hospital are considerably smaller today. Capt. E. T. Sterne, chief chemist, attached to the chemical works was at Brighton yesterday. Mr. Eben James has leased the cold storage plant to a local company. We hate to see so many familiar faces taking their departure from our town. Mr. Jas. L. Cox is making good recovery. Victory is yours; have a real share in it and buy a bond. Mr. Jas. Ward left for Montreal today. Mr. R. H. B. Elkins returned from New York City today. Buy Victory Bonds today.

Let our object be our country, our whole country, and nothing but our country, and the blessings of God, may that country become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace and of liberty, upon which the world may gaze with admiration forever.—Daniel Webster, United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Flatters, of Toronto arrived here today. Real estate here is not very flourishing these days. Mrs. Marshal F. Brown has quite recovered from the influenza. Mr. Arnold Gibson left for Montreal at noon today. Mrs. M. E. Matchett with her son Master Ross left for Toronto today. Mr. H. L. Drugan took leave of his many friends today, prior to his departure for New York. Mr. J. A. Sutcliffe returned from Lindsay today. Mr. Harold Baker returned from Napanee today, having quite recovered from the "flu."

Trenton is resuming its former appearance, plate glass windows which were damaged at the explosion, being replaced daily. His Worship, Mayor Ireland was a visitor to Belleville today. Buy Victory Bonds and so do your bit before it is too late. Today is your chance—Victory

Thanking you for the space. George Perry. THEY'RE ALL GOING Ludendorff has had to go. Von Tirpitz he went long ago. Bethmann-Holwegg's on his farm. Hindenburg has taken alarm. Soon the Kaiser too will go. What a gang there'll be below!

"THE TRAIL OF THE SWINGING LANTERNS"

New Book by JOHN M. COPELAND, of Toronto (A Belleville Old Boy) INTERESTING REFERENCES TO HIS NATIVE HOME

A new book by a Belleville author is by no means a common event. But when the book is one of uncommon interest and merit, the event becomes notable.

"The Trail of the Swinging Lantern" by John M. Copeland, Canadian representative of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway (is primarily a book of interest to rail-roads. It is not a text-book but a

During the turbulent period in Britain's history when Sir Francis Drake's buccannery exploits had Spain by the ears and intrepid Champlain was spying out the boundaries of Bay of Quinte, there flourished under the checked reign of the first James in bonny Scotland, Herbert Biggar, and it is coincidence that centuries after his descendant settled on the rim of the bay where the great explorer had camped.

William Hodgins Biggar, called to the Bar in 1880, twice Mayor of Belleville, and in 1890 elected M.P. for West Hastings, Ontario, now director of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and vice-president and General Counsel of the Grand Trunk R.Way, was born in September, 1852, at Carrying Place, an historic portage where no doubt, Samuel Champlain and his Indian allies carried from Quinte Bay to Lake Ontario their supplies and canoes.

As the divisional point and home of the work upon the Grand Trunk R.Way, it is naturally to be expected that Belleville should turn out some real railroaders. Few of us, however, will have any idea that the name of Belleville is so prominent in the names of those who attained prominence or risen to fame in the rail-roading world. Here they are—

Prominent Bellevillian Railroaders: W. B. Bamford, District Freight Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Toronto, Ont.; H. E. Beasley, General Superintendent, Equinault & Nanticoke Railway, Victoria, B.C.; John Bell, (the late), General Counsel, Grand Trunk Railway, Montreal; W. H. Biggar, Vice-President and General Counsel, G.T.R., Montreal; W. R. Burke, Assistant Manager, Canada Steamship Lines, Toronto, Ont.; A. B. Chown, Traveling Passenger Agent, Grand Trunk Railway, Pittsburgh; J. M. Copeland, T. F. P. A., Chicago and Northwestern Railway, Toronto; R. J. Cottrell, Locomotive Foreman, Grand Trunk Railway, St. Thomas, Ont.; W. P. Dempsey, T. F. P. A., Chicago & Northwestern Railway, Detroit; E. Donald, Land and Tax Commissioner, Grand Trunk Railway, Montreal; W. J. Duckworth, Superintendent of Communication, G.N.W. Telegraph Co., Toronto; J. H. Ellis, Secretary Louisville & Nashville Railway, Louisville Ky.; W. E. Foster, K.C. Solicitor for Ontario, Grand Trunk Railway, Montreal; W. G. Grier, (the late), G.P.A., N.C.R., also General Manager Housecar Tunnel Line, Chicago; R. Hay, C.P. & T.A., Canadian Northern Railway, Vancouver, B.C.; J. Hay, Locomotive Foreman, Grand Trunk Railway, at Sarnia, Ont.; D. J. Hay, Former Air Brake Inspector, Grand Trunk Railway, Stratford, Ont.; E. W. Holton, General Passenger Agent, Northern Navigation Co., Sarnia, Ont.; R. Iverson, (the late), Locomotive Foreman, Grand Trunk Railway, London, Ont.; H. E. Kelly, Superintendent, Canadian Northern Railway, Capreol, Ont.; W. H. Kennedy, Master Mechanic, Grand Trunk Railway, Toronto; W. D. McCreary, T. F. P. A., Montreal, Que.; R. B. Moodie, (the late), General Agent, Intercontinental Railway, Toronto; F. H. Philippen, K.C., General Counsel Canadian Northern Railway, Toronto; Geo. H. Pope, (the late), Right of Way Commissioner, Grand Trunk Pacific R.Way, Montreal; T. F. P. A., Commission—former Assistant to General Counsel, G.T.R.; J. P. Pratt, Assistant to General Counsel, Grand Trunk Railway, Montreal; W. D. Robb, Vice-President, Grand Trunk Railway System, Montreal, Que.; W. Robertson, Former M.S., G.T.R., Master of Robertson Clinker Conveyor Chicago; T. Watson, Chief Clerk to General Counsel, Grand Trunk Railway.

Not long ago his interpretations of the intentions of certain clauses respecting the Government's attitude towards the sale of bonds of the western section of the N.T.R., were assisted by the Privy Council in London and that body's vindication of Mr. Biggar's insight was equivalent to an immense saving in favor of the "G.T.R."

With the strain of business he intersperses a lively participation in golf, always evincing a keen interest in good sport and when a younger man in Belleville owned and named his yacht "Solantine" on Lake Ontario and across the bay beside his birthplace. He was also a bit of an angler and could sink the bait's eye at five ranges. Many a time, when a boy, have I seen him galloping past in the saddle accompanied by (Justice) R. C. Cluz, the late T. E. Thomson, then City Ticket Agent of the G.T.R., Thomas Ritchie, T. S. Carman, publisher of the "Ontario" and the late Senator Harry Corby. A gentleman of the old school, John Biggar was as prompt to perceive the charwoman's curtesy as he would to acknowledge the gracious inclination of the city's first lady.

Like some men in public life, he is reserved, almost shy of the lime light, but an interesting companion among his intimates and a favorite with little children and generally popular, so much so that he has a rare avis in local politics when he carried the Liberal standard to victory in "Tory" West Hastings in 1890 with the untrumped aid of many Conservative friends. It has been said, He was always a "man's man" but now gives the Mount Royal and other Clubs only such a share of his time as leisure as domesticity will permit.

Escooned in a setting of green and gold, She is ever young to young and old; Could her waters speak as they flow "Forget me not" would be their song.

As the divisional point and home of the work upon the Grand Trunk R.Way, it is naturally to be expected that Belleville should turn out some real railroaders. Few of us, however, will have any idea that the name of Belleville is so prominent in the names of those who attained prominence or risen to fame in the rail-roading world. Here they are—

The tribute on the following page is inspired by the charm and beauty of the bay where Belleville's absent son sailed, skated, fished and swam. Upon the opposite page appears a composite photograph showing many of those whose names appear above. Upon the page following is a post-tribute to Belleville's beautiful bay. The ode is nameless as to authorship, but we fear that Mr. Copeland, in his undue modesty has not admitted the work to be his own. The imagery and descriptive power are worthy of so fair a subject.

Lines to Queen Quinte Green are the hills when far away, And Youth in leash craves Man-hood's sway; Placed the waters that wash the sands, The sky is blue o'er distant lands, Yet phantom castles—springtime dreams, Dissolve like foam on woodland streams, As Fancy—chastened by breath of Time.

From Saturday's Daily Yesterday Tyndinaga went over the top for its honour flag, the objective being $35,000. Congratulations are in order. This is the second district to win the coveted pennant, and the people of the old township have reason to be proud of the showing made. Sergeant-Major Garaid Spafford and J. P. Hinchey are responsible for the excellent showing made in this district. Hard work and self-sacrifice is the answer. These three workers have been on the job from the opening of the campaign. They have one of the most difficult districts in the county to cover. Besides having to do hard working canvassers extended into the wee small hours of the morning, but they were determined to put the good old township of Tyndinaga on the map in this respect, with a vengeance. Hats off to Tyndinaga.

Help! Help! Help! Boost Belleville's Bunch of Bonds That Will Bust the Poach. Mr. J. F. Hinchey, one of the canvassers for Tyndinaga has won a double honour. Besides having his district proudly flying the Governor General's honour flag as a result of his and his partner's efforts, he has been presented with a shield by the Sun Life Assurance Co. This is the fourth time Mr. Hinchey has won this honour.

Yesterday Hastings county reported $109,300 for the day, bringing the total amount to date up to $1,087,650. This is past the half-way mark to $2,100,000, the honour flag objective for the county. Now, let everybody get their shoulder to the wheel and put Hastings county over the top for its honour flag. Maynooth and Tyndinaga have done their best and it is up to the rest of the county to do the same. One big shove for the honour flag!

Prices Easier on the Market Larger Attendance Than Usual Today. Belleville market began to-day to take on its old aspect with a larger attendance. Sickness has had its effect on the numbers attending but the great improvement in the situation during the past week or more was shown today in the attendance of both citizens and farmers.

appeal was made by Pte. Wm. Davies, late of the 52nd Battalion, who was severely wounded in France. Pte. Davies is now attending Albert College, Belleville. Mayor Ireland introduced the speaker after the second act, and Pte. Davies was received with an enthusiastic applause. His appeal was sympathetically received. He spoke of the horror of war that we know nothing of. He asked the people of Trenton in the name of his comrades, who are in France struggling to make victory complete, to ask them in the name of his comrades of immortal memory, who now lie beneath the blood-soaked fields of France and Belgium, to help him to go forth and buy at least one bond. His appeal was sympathetically received and his response was guaranteed. Bring in your money in the audience initial payments were thrown on the stage and one little boy, 5 years of age, walked down from the top of the house and handed Pte. Davies $10, for which he wanted two bonds. This action was most appealing and the audience broke out in enthusiastic applause.

More Honour Flags Won. The Deloro Smelting & Refining Co., under the supervision of Mr. F. A. Bappte has won an honour flag, to date the employees of the Deloro Smelting & Refining Co. have subscribed over $35,000. This is one of the most satisfactory showings in the County of Hastings for this year. Therefore, the subscription from this company alone will amount to over $70,000 to date. The Motive Power Dept. is all right. The Deloro Smelting & Refining Co. have won their honour flag with 89% of their employees buying bonds for 10% of the pay roll. 372 men have already subscribed. A 100% honour card has been won by the Bell Telephone Plant Dept. under the supervision of Mr. E. I. Moorey. Out of the total of 62 employees in this department, 12 have bought bonds; good work.
