Sixty Years A Queen

What is probably the most wonderful film that has ever been manufactured has just been completed by the Barker Motion Company, Limited, Belling, London, and has been shown in the New Gallery, Kinema, London, and the New York Theatre, New York. It is a resume of all the important events in the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, and shows every important event of her reign, from the Coronation scene, in which she, a young girl of 19, is invested with sovereignty of the vast and greatest Empire, until death brought to a close what was unquestionably the most wonderful reign in the history of the world. It tells in pictures the story of this young girl's great love for her late husband, the Prince Consort, her privilege of proposal, her marriage, her children's christening, their first state ball, and finally his death and her great sorrow, which she carried with her through all the honors that a loving nation and its statesmen bestowed upon her, the Diamond Jubilee, her regrettable wars and finally her old age, a great queen, a good mother, and a loving wife. The scenes in this massive production are laid in many of the original settings, the characters, such as the Prince Consort, Gladstone, Disraeli, Salisbury, etc., are wonderful likenesses, which with the costumes and the three famous actresses impersonating her Majesty are the result of great work and patience, and have only been obtained at great expense. It is estimated that this production cost over twenty thousand pounds, and took over two years to complete. The London Morning Standard in commenting upon this picture states:—"It is a splendid and magnificent triumph of the Cinema, and no Englishman can resist the emotion and reverence which must come to him as he realizes, in the way these pictures enable him to realize, the mighty, glorious majestic woman who for so long was the guiding star of Britain's Empire. This grand production will be shown at the Grand, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 8, 9, 10, with Saturday matinee.

MARIE TEMPEST HAS GREAT CAREER

She Was Once One of the Comic Opera Stars of First Magnitude.

To nine people out of ten who will greet Miss Marie Tempest at the Grand next Monday, Oct. 12, the greatest comedy actress on the English speaking stage will be just that, and nothing more. Which is, of course, enough to satisfy any human being, however gifted.

But to the tenth man or woman, Miss Tempest will recall another variety of artistic altogether. They will remember her as a comic opera star of the first magnitude, rollicking in a dozen delightful roles in the creation of which Marie Tempest impressed her genius and personality in most unforgettable fashion.

"Imagine me in those early days of the 'eighties a tightly laced girl of sixteen fresh from school at Paris," remarked Miss Tempest in a recent London interview, touching upon this part of her career.

"I was timid as most English girls of that age are, and the fact that I had made up my mind to study singing under the great Manuel Garcia, only added to my timidity. Garcia was the acknowledged master of singing, but he was also a man of most extraordinary methods. For instance, when the great day arrived for my being introduced to him—a day I had dreamed of for months before—instead of making the slightest pretence of conventionalality when at last I was presented to him, he merely jerked his head and abruptly ordered me to go down and take my corsets off, when he would hear me sing, and as I look back now I wonder at his tolerance, for if every girl laced as tightly as I did in those days—and every girl did—I wonder that the female voice did not become extinct in one generation.

There will be three or four hundred voices recruited from Grace Church, First Baptist, Park Baptist, St. Basil's, St. Mary's, Wellington street, Wesley, Congregational, Zion, Colborne, Brant Avenue, St. Andrew's, St. Jude's, St. John's, Trinity, St. Luke's, Immanuel and Calvary. Paris will also contribute forty voices, a special car being run from that town at a single fare rate.

Tickets are now out and a large number are being sold. The patrons tickets are $1 and entitles the holder to a special reserve seat. Other reserved seats will sell at 50c. Rush tickets are 25c.

Patriotism at Brant Theatre

One of the brightest bills, and considering recent programs, that means a whole lot, that the Brant Theatre has put on for some time, was started last night before a good house. Manager Moule has an especial and an exclusive feature in the picture of the Canadian troops going to the front. The pictures are really excellent, and aroused real patriotic fervor and enthusiasm last night. The other features of the program are away above the average, including a musical act which is real music, and which was forced to respond to several encores. The patronage at the Brant continues to pack the cosy theatre each night, and the programs also continues to please. This week there is a treat of patriotism for every one who takes a glimpse at the departure of the Canadian troops.

OUR aim is to get business by the fairest means possible, and this can only be done by giving the people seasonable goods at the very best prices possible, and with this end in view we purchased the Bankrupt Stock of the Roberts & Van-Lane Shoe Co. at a very low rate on the dollar, which allows us to give this stock at the disposal of the citizens at a large margin below the original cost from the factory, and this means a very considerable bargain, as you all know that the price of shoes is on the rise. For the best idea of these enormous values you must pay a visit to our store and see for yourself, but for the benefit of the sceptical how does this look—we are selling the

SECOND-HUTCHINSON
A pretty, but fittingly quiet October wedding was celebrated this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hutchinson, 148 Brock St. when their daughter, Miss Rhea Claude, became the bride of Mr. Arthur O. Secord, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Secord.

The Rev. Llewellyn Brown tied the nuptial knot in a prettily decorated reception room, and made the couple man and wife.

The groom was supported by his friend, Dr. Lynn Coates, while the maid of honour was Miss Evelyn Hoffman and the little ring bearer Lita Stratford of Hamilton.

The bride was robed in an ivory satin gown while the maid of honor was arrayed in a delicate blue and carried a shower of pink roses.

After the ceremony, the many guests were entertained to a buffet luncheon and festivities usual to such an occasion were indulged in.

CHIEF OF GERMAN STAFF REPORTED TO BE FIRED

LONDON, Oct. 6.—News reached here last night that Lieut.-General Helmuth Von Moltke has been superseded by General Voigtner as chief of the German General Staff.

General Von Moltke is a nephew of the great strategist of that name who engineered the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, and died in 1891. At the funeral in that year, the Kaiser told Mrs. Von Moltke as he then was, that he would be promoted to the rank of personal aide de camp. He was promoted to be major-general in 1899, and appointed commander of the first infantry brigade of the Guards at Potsdam, and he became lieutenant-general in 1902.

On January 1, 1906, General Von Moltke assumed the office of chief of the German General Staff. He succeeded Count Schlieffen.

It was common knowledge at that time that Von Moltke did not consider himself qualified for so high an honor, and strove hard to avoid it, even declining the office on two occasions, but the imperial will was not to be thwarted.

General Von Moltke has the reputation of being a serious, hard working soldier, as tactician and silent as his more illustrious namesake, and a man who has done perhaps more to bring the German army to the fighting pitch than any other of his colleagues.

Of General Voigtner, who succeeded General Von Moltke as chief of the German General Staff, little is known. His name is not even mentioned in "Wer Ist's." His father, however, was a great soldier, who was born in 1809 and rose to high rank in the Prussian army. He commanded a division in 1870-71 and afterward was appointed Governor-General of Hanover. He died in 1877 and had an infantry regiment named after him.

The new chief of staff may be described as a dark horse, and it remains to be seen whether he has inherited his father's ability, and whether he is a better man than the one he has succeeded.

The military expert of the Standard, commenting on the removal of Gen. Von Moltke, says:

"It is this is true it is news, indeed, for it will constitute evidence of serious panic in high places. Even in minor affairs of the world, it is not often that the policy known as 'swapping horses while crossing a stream' is adopted.

"There must be something very gravely wrong indeed if the Germans find it necessary to get rid of the man who originated and directed the whole of the strategy of their campaigns, and that at a vitally critical moment.

"At the same time, one can understand that dissatisfaction is felt in high quarters with Von Moltke's work, which has often been of a kind calculated to make his uncle of famous memory turn in his grave, but then we do not know how many of the mistakes were due to Von Moltke's bad judgment and how many to interference with his plans by the Emperor or his cabinet.

"One cannot, for instance, believe that Von Moltke of his own initiative and free will withdrew troops from France at a moment when they were urgently needed, to secure a decisive result in that area of war. Having withdrawn them, one cannot either imagine Von Moltke sending them on a useless errand, or East Prussia when their presence in Galicia might have saved the Austrian army from disaster.

"But if he was responsible for such a fateful policy, then supercession is not sufficient punishment. He should be sent to take a landstrum division into action."

LONDON, Oct. 6.—3.12 a.m.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily Mail says that the dismissal of Gen. Von Moltke was due to a collision with the Emperor over several important questions of strategy.

Continuing the dispatch says that the Emperor wished to subordinate sound strategy to a desire to attack England, but Gen. Von Moltke preferred to postpone the latter action, as it would have no effect upon the immediate situation.

The Emperor, adds the dispatch wished to detach a large number of airships and aeroplanes to attack England, but Gen. Von Moltke declared that all available aircraft were needed in Europe.

attack on Namur, giant howitzers which can only move at the rate of two miles an hour, drawn by 32 horses for each one, were placed in position on the rails, and firmly stationed on the rails, and firmly space was covered by which the howitzers by the removal of the asphalt. The tennis courts position gave a clear and exactly measured range to the fort of Namur, and which were smashed up in two days.

"At Maubeuge similar plans were made. Some forest and five miles away, were sold two years ago for building purposes to a firm now believed to be agents of Krupp. It built an alleged traction engine factory for which the space was covered with a deep layer of concrete and provided with rails. The Germans used this in the same way. It is suspected that similar concrete bases were prepared before the war by German agents around Antwerp, but the Germans do not appear to have found them accessible, yet, and rendered the beds useless. A work shop near Schofard, was last week labelled by the Germans "not to be burned" and German men, and the Belgians returned to it, they found it contained a complete plant and materials for making pontoon bridges.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if Kidneys feel like lead or bladder bothers.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headache, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful everbody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

EXPERT VIEW OF EVENTS IN THE FAR EAST

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Standard's military correspondent writes:

"It may safely be prophesied that this war will place Russian prestige on a pinnacle higher than it ever occupied before in the days of Suvaroff. Now we have news of a victory on the main Russian front, which shattered the German army that had advanced on to Russian soil and sent it reeling back into East Prussia.

The importance of the victory is very apparent, both from a military and a political point of view. In the latter connection it will serve to arouse serious apprehension in the minds of the German people by sending a fresh flock of fugitives from Eastern Germany flying through the land. On the military side it will go a long way to assure security of the right flank of the Russian army, which is now about to begin along a line which has Warsaw for its centre. This advance, which probably will have Berlin for its objective, will be the most striking and spectacular feature of the war.

ARE IN HUNGARY

Russians Take Important Capital of the Province Invaded.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Oct. 6.—Speaking of the Russian invasion of Hungary, a dispatch from Rome to the Exchange Telegraph Company says: "According to Budapest advices the capture of Marmaros-Sziget, capital of the Hungarian county of Marmaros, has necessitated the removal of the government of that department to Huszet, 28 miles west, northwest of Sieget. A second Russian army now threatens the latter city and reinforcements are being hurried up to check the Russian advance.

Marmaros, the county in Hungary which the Russians have invaded, through the Carpathian passes, is in the northeast, bordering on Galicia, Bukovina and Transylvania.

THE SITUATION.

It is only the part of frankness to say that the present news from the front in France is not as satisfactory as might be wished, although there has been no serious reverse for the Allies. Some ground they have had to give, but it is evident that their front has not been broken in any one direction.

The Russians continue to do well, and their win at Suwalki was evidently an event of the first importance, opening a road for them to East Prussia.

CARE OF THE WEWE AND LAMB.

WHAT A SUBMARINE IS.

So much has been written concerning what the submarine, by a flight of imagination, may achieve, writes the naval correspondent of the London Morning Post, that most people are somewhat uncertain as to what the submarine actually is and does.

boots, sweaters and rough clothing. The submarine running away forges sullenly onwards with a heavy grinding noise, the water lifting and dripping from the gills which project on either side of her snout.

The method of the submarine is to cruise at economical speed, ten knots or less, on the surface, until she sights a hostile vessel. As she is so small, she can see another vessel before the other vessel can see her.

The process of submerging is a process in the brain of the captain. He has a mental picture of what each tank contains, and how much weight is driven forward or aft at each order, and what will be the effect upon the vessel.

Upon approaching to attack the submarine sinks lower and submerges her periscope, so that her captain, looking in the mirror, sees his little and bright picture washed out in green—the green of the water.

Mr. Cockshutt then made a strong appeal to all Canadians to enlist in the various contingents which might be asked for, for service abroad, and proceeded to deal in no uncertain manner with what he described as professional pacifists.

Mr. Cockshutt said all British subjects should do what they could to alleviate the sufferings of the poor people of Belgium and to never forget what the Belgian people by their sacrifice secured that vital two weeks of time which was necessary for the French army to get in readiness and for the British soldiers to be landed on the continent.

SITUATION IS DESPERATE SAY THE GERMANS

Description of Fighting in the Vosges Mountains is Given.

By Special Wire to The Courier LONDON, Oct. 6.—The correspondent of the Daily News at Copenhagen telegraphs the following: "Vivid accounts of the fighting appear in the German newspapers, and the writers admit that the situation is desperate."

The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, describing the frontier fighting in the Vosges region, says: "The officers and men have been fighting day and night for 37 days, and the Germans are facing a difficult strategic situation in the mountain districts, where they are rendering super-human services, chiefly in water-filled trenches and under almost indescribable conditions."

Concluding, Mr. Cockshutt made a strong appeal to all Canadians who would be obliged to remain at home to do all in their power to take care of the families of those who had gone to the front.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Wm. F. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford, who gave an eloquent address on the war, outlining the justice of the cause for Great Britain and made a strong appeal to all Canadians to do their duty for the Empire to their utmost.

AFTER THE CONFLICT

Hilaire Beloc Discusses the Attitude of Different Nations Involved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—A London cable to the Tribune says: "Addressing a meeting in London last night, Hilaire Beloc declared that the whole issue of the present war was the recodification of the smaller nations in Europe. Further historians would say that the war was fought to discover whether free nationalities would or would not continue to exist in Europe. He warned his hearers not to underestimate the German forces. But, he asked, suppose the war went in favor of the allies, what measures would be taken to produce a Europe in which local feelings would be satisfied. If we were to avoid a long series of wars, the population of the smaller nationalities would have to be consulted as to their mode of government.

Y.M.C.A. Membership Campaign Got Off To Good Start Last Night

Reason as you will, there is only one way to describe the opening scenes of the second great membership campaign of the Y. M. C. A. since they entered their new building. They were truly magnificent. From the preliminary gathering, in the Fellowship Hall to the concluding scenes of the resplendent banquet, its success was never for a moment in doubt. Pleasant, happy faces were to be seen on all sides, and these only found a mask for the grim determination to succeed, which was a feature of the evening.

All the old line of Honorary President George Wedlake returned as he gave a stirring address on the duty of every citizen towards the Y. M. C. A. Others there were and they included men such as the Mayor, Reginald Scarle, President T. L. Wood and last, but not least the popular T. F. Best, late of Hamilton Y. M. C. A. and formerly of Brantford. Enthusiasm by such speakers, spiritually and mentally and given strength temporarily, but substantially by the splendid feast provided by the Ladies' Aid, the team workers will go forward confident of success for the start of the campaign was auspicious in its brilliance.

The feast done justice to, the gathering was called to order and the evening's business was then undertaken.

Chairman Wedlake.

Geo. Wedlake in his opening remarks declared that the little boys were just as welcome as the big boys. They made the citizens of the future. He did not know of any place which was so much like home as the Y. M. C. A. The young man who came in the city, should be thankful indeed to those responsible for the erection of such an institution as Brantford Y. M. C. A. He was pleased to note the business men's section. For the business of making the man of the future. Make them physically fit, mentally fit and spiritually fit. When the older ones found hairs of grey they wanted men, real men to take their places.

Brantford has always been to the front in any work of this kind. They had responded nobly to the call of the coming generations. So important was the work that the citizens would have given $100,000 had it been asked instead of the $100,000 which was required of them.

It was only a year ago since the institution had been opened, and in- stead of a 1000 membership they had obtained 1300 and this year, he felt, as he looked round that this would be obtained. "We are making this work count for the Good." In the old building their work had been hampered by lack of facilities.

They accomplished now, great work because of the better equipment. Everything had been brought up to the standard and they were looking forward to doing more in the future than they had ever done before. He wanted the Y. M. C. A. known as a public institution. They must feel that it was their building. Years ago, misapprehensions had arisen with regard to the position of the Y. M. C. A. It was thought it was interfering with the work of the church, but now the ministers realised that in the Y. M. C. A. they had an earnest helper. It must be booked up as a friend to every home, every man, every woman, every girl. Y. M. C. A. men were better in every way for the training and moral outlook. Principle is what counts and this institution stood for principle. Britain had stood for principle and it would rebound to her honor.

The Y. M. C. A. was giving dollar for dollar. Every man got his money back in physical and moral benefits. Let alone the moral benefits which accrued. The directors had met the needs of the case and men could join for the least possible cost.

There is not a business man in Brantford who should not count it a privilege to be a member of the Business Men's Club. They should show their love of country by taking out a membership in an institution doing so much for the manhood of the country. With a word of encouragement, the speaker concluded his fine oration to cheers.

President T. L. Wood

Welcome all at the banquet. He welcomed the mass workers for a great cause. The need of members was one of necessity. Unless they had a good number of members, they could not feel as secure as they had. He could not imagine Brantford without its Y. M. C. A. and to keep it strong he would ask all to work diligently in the gaining of members.

Some would talk of the building being overmanned, but he would point out that they were by no means overmanned. They had found the office staff overworked and being hard headed business men they realized the trend of things. They were not likely to throw money away. In spite of hard times they had obtained a new and good man. The membership warranted it. For the coming winter an ambitious programme had been outlined and it would be carried out or the board would know why.

It was good to see such a cosmopolitan gathering. They were

It was heartily sung under his leadership three times.

There was no doubt, he claimed, about the success of the campaign if they only put some enthusiasm into their work. No refusal should be brooked. Talking of enthusiasm he drew an effective word picture of Val Carier camp. The valley between the Laurentian mountains with its city of white strewn tents, came vividly before his mind and the activity of Canada's greatest military camp was pictured as could only be, by one of observation and gifted verbally.

Above all the great work of the Y. M. C. A. at that great tent city was brought prominently forward.

"Seek the salvation of men," he stated. "When you go out for memberships, set your eyes off the dollar, keep first things first, and remember the first at foot the Y. M. C. A."

Thus he closed a magnificent address amid the cheers of those assembled.

From the sublime to the ridiculous went Mr. Vernon Cooper, who displayed, despite the humorous nature of his second contribution, a vast store of dramatic ability. Again his words were the cause of an encore.

The leaders of the red and green sections, H. V. Hutton of the reds, then gave brief addresses to their members and Mr. W. J. Johnston of the greens, then gave brief addresses to their members.

Secretary Goodwin.

The scenes of the night stirred the heart of Secretary Geo. L. Goodwin. From his address, the concluding feature of the evening was an appeal which came from the heart and went to the heart. He looked over the progress of the year and pictured the splendid, impressive and solemn opening of the institution of just one year ago. He came to the present with the Y. M. C. A. membership of today. A renewal of the good work of yesterday was asked for to-morrow.

Charles Thomson, the recording secretary to the board of membership, outlined the propaganda of the campaign, after giving the gathering dispersed, having given the campaign an auspicious start on its way to success.

COL. HUGHES TO REST

...OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, to-day announced that he will leave to-morrow for a period of rest in the woods of Haliburton county, and will be away perhaps for two weeks. "We will take that up when the problem arises," was the minister's non-committal reply to a query as to whether Canada would organize a second contingent. He expressed his satisfaction that things had gone so smoothly at Valcartier. In England, he said, their longest troop haul is 200 miles, and it required a month to mobilize the regular army in Canada we had to bring volunteers 3,000 miles, organize a new camp, clothe and equip the force, and we got them away in six weeks.

CHATHAM, Ont., April 3rd, 1913.

"Some two years ago, I was a great sufferer from Indigestion. One day my eye caught a billboard of "Fruit-a-Tives" and I said to myself, "If Fruit-a-Tives will build me up like that, it is good enough for me". I bought some. After taking these wonderful tablets for only three weeks, I found myself wonderfully improved. In a short time longer, I cured myself entirely. My case was no light one either, Gas would often form in my stomach and I was in daily fear that it would get around my heart and kill me. "Fruit-a-Tives" is the only remedy for Indigestion."

Y.M.C.A. Membership Campaign Got Off To Good Start Last Night

Reason as you will, there is only one way to describe the opening scenes of the second great membership campaign of the Y. M. C. A. since they entered their new building. They were truly magnificent.

All the old fire of Honorary President George Wedlake returned as he gave a stirring address on the duty of every citizen towards the Y. M. C. A. Others there were and they included men such as the Mayor, Reginald Scarfe, President T. L. Wood and last but not least the popular T. F. Best, late of Hamilton Y. M. C. A. and formerly of Brantford. Enthused by such speakers, spiritually and mentally and given strength temporarily but substantially by the splendid feast provided by the Ladies' Aid, the team workers will go forward confident of success for the start of the campaign was auspicious in its brilliance.

The feast done justice to, the gathering was called to order and the evening's business was then undertaken.

Chairman Wedlake. Geo. Wedlake in his opening remarks declared that the little boys were just as welcome as the big boys. They made the citizens of the future. He did not know of any place which was so much like home as the Y. M. C. A. The young man who came into the city, should be thankful indeed to those responsible for the erection of such an institution as Brantford Y. M. C. A. He was pleased to note the business men's section. For the business of the Y. M. C. A. was the business of making the man of the future. Make them physically fit, mentally fit and spiritually fit. When the older ones found hairs of grey they wanted men, real men to take their places. Brantford has always been to the front in any work of this kind. They had responded nobly to the call of the coming generations. So important was the work, that the citizens would have given $150,000 had it been asked instead of the $100,000 which was required of them.

It was only a year ago since the institution had been opened, and instead of a 1000 membership they had obtained 1300 and this year, he felt, as he looked round that this would be obtained. "We are making this work count for the Good." In the old building their work had been hampered by lack of facilities. They accomplished now, great work because of the better equipment. Everything had been brought up to the standard and they were looking forward to doing more in the future than they had ever done before. He wanted the Y. M. C. A. known as a public institution. They must feel that it was their building. Years ago, misapprehensions had arisen with regard to the position of the Y. M. C. A. It was thought it was interfering with the work of the church, but now the ministers realized that in the Y. M. C. A. they had an earnest helper. It must be booked up as a friend to every home, every man, every woman, every girl. Y. M. C. A. men were better in every way for the training and moral outlook. Principle is what counts and this institution stood for principle and it would remain bound to her honor.

The Y. M. C. A. was giving dollar for dollar. Every man got his money back in physical and moral benefits, let alone the moral benefits which accrued. The directors had met the needs of the case and men could join for the least possible cost.

There is not a business man in Brantford who should not count it a privilege to be a member of the Business Men's Club. They should show their love of country by taking out a membership in an institution doing so much for the manhood of the country. With a word of encouragement, the speaker concluded his fine oration to cheers.

President T. L. Wood. Welcomed all at the banquet. He welcomed the mass workers for a great cause. The need of members was one of necessity. Unless they had a good number of members, they could not feel as secure as they had. He could not imagine Brantford without its Y. M. C. A. and to keep it strong he would ask all to work diligently in the gaining of members. Some would talk of the building being overmanned, but he would point out that they were by no means overmanned. They had found the office staff overworked and being hard headed business men they realized the trend of things. They were not likely to throw money away. In spite of hard times they had obtained a new and good man. The membership warranted it. For the coming winter an ambitious programme had been outlined and it would be carried out or the board would know why. It was good to see such a cosmopolitan gathering. They were fighting for a good cause and it was good to be united instead of divided for once. It had been the aim of the board to make the Y. M. C. A. the centre of many public activities. It was their desire to make it publicly recognized as the centre of all good organizations. He moved a hearty vote of thanks to the team workers for their past endeavors. The teams were given an incentive to work as they had never done before, as the President reminded them that members must be had at any cost. Mr. Vernon Cooper was heard in splendid voice and rarely had the Y. M. C. A. held captive a finer voice. His encore was never for a moment doubted.

A telegram was handed up to the honorary president announcing the best wishes of the National Council. Mayor Spence. The Y. M. C. A. as a civic institution was the theme of Mayor Spence's address to those gathered. He referred to Brantford volunteers of the Canadian contingent. In the work of aiding the dependants of the city the Y. M. C. A. board had been a most important and decisive factor. They had offered their best and to them was due much of the success of the War Fund campaign. So to-night he and Mr. Scarfe offered themselves at the service of the Y. M. C. A. for their membership campaign. From a civic aspect the Y. M. C. A. should be supported as it helped to train the young men of the city, thereby making them worthy of their city. It kept them out of the streets. From the standpoint of law and order it was worthy of a civic grant and he believed that a little energetic work in this direction might result in a civic grant. He saw no reason why it shouldn't.

The building was here, it was a public institution and it should be supported for it did a great work. He asked all to work hard, for if they did not win out they could have the satisfaction of knowing that they had helped in their own small way in a great and worthy cause.

Reginald Scarfe. Mr. Reginald Scarfe congratulated the members of the institution upon their excellent officers, who had brought about excellent results, which was shown in the attainments of that building.

T. F. Best. In his usual happy vein T. F. Best, who years ago was the secretary of the Brantford Y. M. C. A., addressed the gathering.

Beginning with the Valcartier camp he brought an inspiring message of hope. He had also a verse upon the popular military chorus, "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary." It was as follows: It's a short way to Queen and Darling. It's a short way to go. It's a short way to join the Y. M. C. And to meet true friends you know. Good-bye all you Movies, Farewell Market Square. It's a short, short way to self improvement, And my heart's right there.

It was heartily sung under his leadership three times. There was no doubt, he claimed, about the success of the campaign if they only put some enthusiasm into their work. No refusal should be brooked. Talking of enthusiasm he drew an effective word picture of Valcartier camp. The valley between the Laurentian mountains with its city of white strewn tents, came vividly before his mind and the activity of Canada's greatest military camp was pictured as could only be, by one of observation and gifted verbally. Above all the great work of the Y. M. C. A. at that great tent city was brought prominently forward. "Seek the salvation of men," he stated. "When you go out for memberships, get your eyes off the dollar, the first things first, and remember the first is not the Y. M. C. A."

Thus he closed a magnificent address amid the cheers of those assembled. From the sublime to the ridiculous went Mr. Vernon Cooper, who displayed, despite the humorous nature of his second contribution, a vast store of dramatic ability. Again his songs were the cause of an encore.

The leaders of the red and green sections, H. V. Hutton of the greens and Alec Lockington of the reds, then gave brief addresses to the progress of the year and pictured the splendid, impressive and solemn opening of the institution of just one year ago. He came to the present with the Y. M. C. A. membership of today. A renewal of the good work of yesterday was asked for to-morrow.

Charles Thomson, the recording secretary to the board of membership, then outlined the propaganda of the campaign, after which the gathering dispersed, having given the campaign an auspicious start on its way to success.

Toronto Council refused to sanction more than $1,000,000 for Hydro extension.

COL. HUGHES TO REST

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, to-day announced that he will leave to-morrow for a period of rest in the woods of Haliburton county, and will be away perhaps for two weeks.

"We will take that up when the problem arises," was the minister's non-committal reply to a query as to whether Canada would organize a second contingent. He expressed his satisfaction that things had gone so smoothly at Valcartier.

In England, he said, their longest troop haul is 200 miles, and it required a month to mobilize the regular army in Canada we had to bring volunteers 3,000 miles, organize a new camp, clothe and equip the force, and we got them away in six weeks.

Premier Hearst, in announcing Ontario's gift of $15,000 toward the Belgian Relief fund, intimated that Ontario would seek Belgian settlers.

AN EXPERT ON BRIDGE

Mr. H. T. Butler, of Warwickshire, England, who has been a visitor in Brantford, the past summer, is a very enthusiastic and sound bridge whist player. He not only knows how to play the game well, but he knows how to write about it well. A third edition revised and amplified of his "Action Bridge in a Nut Shell," has just been issued by Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent & Co. Ltd., of London. In this edition, the new call of Nullo is treated in a very clever manner. Mr. Butler is a great admirer of this new American call. He thinks it greatly adds to the skill of the game and predicts it will be taken up with avidity by the clubs and good players in England.

"Action Bridge in a Nut Shell" is a very unique and clever contribution to the literature of this ever increasing popular and scientific game of cards. The calls and declarations trick values and suit and the play of the unique but thoroughly sound manner, and the book should be in the possession of every bridge whist player. A player, no matter how skillful he may be, can get all sorts of valuable ideas and suggestions from Mr. Butler's clever little work.

Epworth Leagues In Convention

The Twentieth Annual convention of the Brantford District Epworth League opened its morning session at the Colborne street Methodist church today under the chairmanship of Rev. J. W. Shepperson. It was a representative gathering and the business of the morning was carried through expeditiously.

The devotional exercises were reviewed and discussed by the Rev. C. W. Legge and a Bible Study was given by Rev. A. E. Marshall which was greatly appreciated by all. The registration and election of nominating and other committees followed, after which a social hour intervened. Excellent refreshments were served to the delegates and a pleasant time socially was spent.

The afternoon exercises opened with devotional exercises conducted by the Rev. E. Frey. The Rev. R. D. Hamilton was heard in splendid vein when he gave a reminiscent address, "Echoes of the International Convention." The roll call was then responded to by those assembled, by reports of the various leagues.

The programme will be continued during the evening, after which the convention comes to a conclusion.

MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE

Public Prayer Service Will be Held in the City on Thanksgiving Day.

The Brantford Ministerial Alliance held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. Rev. Matthew Kelly, the president, occupied the chair. Business of importance was transacted. It was decided to hold a public prayer service on Thanksgiving Day, 10:30 a.m., in Zion Presbyterian Church. Rev. Mr. Hamilton will address the meeting, and the public is cordially invited. Adjutant Hargrove of the Salvation Army addressed the Alliance on the subject of the proposed Industrial Work about to be undertaken under his leadership for the relief of the unemployed. The movement was promised support by the alliance and Secretary, Rev. W. E. Bowyer was instructed to represent the alliance at the opening of the work this morning at 59 Duke street.

Rev. Dr. Lyle of Hamilton, was the speaker of the afternoon and was heartily received. His subject was "The Trinity as Viewed in the Light of Modern Thought." The address was a scholarly and masterly one, in which, logically and eloquently the subject was presented from the scientific as well as from the scriptural standpoint. The discussion which followed indicated that the address had deeply impressed the members of the Alliance and a return visit from Dr. Lyle would be welcomed.
