SNEAK THIEF ROBS FOUR PASSENGERS ON BOSTON TRAIN

Chatham, Charlottetown, Halifax and Sydney Men the Victims--Report Their Loss to I. C. R. Policeman Who is Watching for the Thief--Their Stories of the Affair.

Four passengers on the Boston train that arrived at St. John at noon on Saturday were the victims of a sneak thief, between Boston and St. John, who relieved them of their watches, tickets, and money. The thief is said to be a young, respectable looking man. The persons who were robbed and their destinations are as follows: Joseph McKenzie, Chatham, N. B.; J. A. Messervy, Charlottetown, P. E. I.; Joseph Lavigne, Halifax, N. S.; and James McDade, Sydney, C. B.

Mr. McKenzie, who was going from Boston to Chatham, lost his ticket and $33. Speaking to I. C. R. Policeman Collins on Saturday, he said that he thought he would know the thief again, and that he was robbed in the Boston station. He said that while waiting for the St. John train in Boston Friday night, he thought he would have something to eat, and inquired of a young man standing by where he might procure a lunch. The stranger said he would show him, and took him to a restaurant where he had a light lunch. On coming out of the restaurant again, the stranger asked him where he was going. McKenzie replied that he was going to Chatham. The stranger said that he, too, was going that way, and followed him to the train, and sat down in the same seat with him. As they were getting into the seat, McKenzie thinks that the thief reached his money and ticket, which were in his vest pocket.

Mr. McKenzie is an elderly man and belongs to Chatham. He met a friend on the train, who paid his fare as far as St. John.

J. A. Messervy, a middle aged man, was minus his watch when he arrived here, and immediately notified Policeman Collins. He told Collins that the watch was a very valuable one, and that he would not sell it for any money.

Joseph Lavigne, another victim, said that he lost $44, and that judging by the description given of the thief by McKenzie, he believed he was the same man that robbed him. Lavigne was going to Halifax, where he belongs. He notified the conductor of the theft, but the conductor could not locate the thief.

James McDade told Policeman Collins that he was bound for Sydney, and that he was relieved of about $20 by the slick stranger. He said he had two $5 bills, and one $10 in American money, along with some change.

The four men felt their losses keenly and told their stories one after another to I. C. R. Policeman Collins, who is now looking for the thief, although Collins says there is but a slight chance of finding him among all the people that pass through the depot in the course of a day.

HARRY THAW MUST GO BACK

Extradition Petition Granted the Representative of New York State

Concord, N. H., Nov. 8.—The extradition of Thaw has been ordered. The Governor based his decision on the indictment returned against Thaw in New York County, and which charged him with conspiracy to escape from the insane asylum at Matteawan, N. Y., to which he was committed following his trial for the killing of Stanford White. Thaw made his spectacular flight on August 17, and a few days later was arrested near Coaticook, Quebec.

Thaw's attorneys announced that they would file immediately an amendment to their petition for a writ of habeas corpus, application for which was made soon after Thaw was arrested in this State, following his deportation from Canada. The original petition was based upon the allegation that Thaw had been indicted for conspiracy by the Duchesne County Grand Jury, and it was suspended pending the Governor's decision on the matter of extradition.

Because the extradition has not been granted on the strength of a New York County indictment, it would be necessary to amend the petition accordingly.

Thaw was not present when Governor Felker announced his decision to the attorneys representing the fugitive. He will remain here in the custody of United States Marshal Nute and Sheriff Drew, pending the Federal proceedings.

Preparations Rapidly Going Forward for Hazen-Rogers Banquet This Evening

A large attendance is expected at the informal dinner this evening at St. John, at which Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will speak. The price of the tickets is one dollar. They may be obtained from the ward chairman or from L. P. D. Tilley, chairman of ticket committee, or W. H. Harrison, secretary. It is requested that applications for tickets be made at once so that suitable arrangements can be made with the caterers. The dinner will be at the Nickel Theatre, down stairs, at 7 o'clock. Dress, informal.

CHEAP FOOD NEED OF ALL CANADA

W. S. Loggie Says That Smelt Shippers Gained by Tariff Change

"Cheap food for the masses, especially as regards natural products, is the great and pressing need of this country at the present time," said W. S. Loggie, M. P. for Northumberland County, to a representative of the Montreal Daily Mail recently.

"The action of the American Government in taking off the duties on fish has been a decided boon to the Maritime Provinces. This benefit would have been given us with the enactment of the reciprocity trade treaty, upon which Sir Wilfrid Laurier appealed to the country in 1911, but the recent action of the United States leaves the markets of their country open to the whole world, not alone to Canada.

"On the north shore of New Brunswick there are prepared about 200 car loads of smelts. Canada will consume about ten per cent. of this, while the other one hundred and eighty car loads will go to the United States the duty heretofore imposed will go into the pockets of the New Brunswick shippers. We have no other market for this fish, but at the same time we cannot send enough of them to the United States to create any lower prices on that market."

In Halifax and St. John everything looks rosy, according to Mr. Loggie, but trade in the other parts of the province, he says, is slow enough.

[The above statement is not in line with what Mr. Loggie told the Miramichi fishermen during the reciprocity campaign, as at that time he announced the savings in duty, if reciprocity carried would go into their (the fishermen's) pockets.]—Commercial.

Preparations are being made to have the money found on Andrew Robichuk, the Russian who was killed by a work train on the Gibson and Minto Railway a short time ago, returned to his wife in Russia. Besides the money found on Robichuk when he was killed, there is some money due him for labor on the railroad and when it is collected there will be about $100 to send to his wife. Since Robichuk's death his wife has given birth to a baby girl.

Mr. Guy B. Whitehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whitehead of Fredericton, is now on his way to Shusland, Alaska, near which place a big gold strike was lately reported. He left Seattle in August for the north and when he completes the trip some time this month he will have walked over 1,000 miles.

HARKINS ACADEMY RECEIVES $1000 GIFT

A Prize of $250 and one $100 Will be Awarded This Year for Matriculation Exams.

Things are coming Newcastle's way for sure. We have hardly grown accustomed to the idea of having the most powerful wireless station in the world, when it is announced we are to get $1000 a year for the graduates of Harkins Academy, and in this respect makes our school ahead of any High School in Canada. Of course, it is not necessary to say the generous donor was Sir Maxwell Aitken.

For this year there is to be a prize of $250 and one of $100, awarded as a result of the Matriculation examinations. This fund is to be controlled by Messrs. A. A. Davidson, E. A. McCurdy and W. A. Park. Sir Maxwell has requested Principal L. R. Hetherington to work out a basis for awarding the scholarships in future years. Harkins Academy this year has a larger money prize list than the U. N. B.

In addition to Sir Maxwell's $1000 there is $25, donated by a friend, in all $1025, while the U. N. B. has $1010.

DARING HOLD-UP ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Gold Watch and Money Taken from Burt's Corner Man at Midnight

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 11.—In a daring hold-up on the Highway Bridge about midnight on Sunday night two highwaymen secured a gold watch and a considerable amount of money in loose change.

The victim of the hold-up was Walter Bird, of Burt's Corner, who was on route at the time to the York Hotel in this city where he was a guest. The incident was reported to the police, but Mr. Bird was able to give little information which would be of service to the police in learning the identity of the highwaymen.

On account of the intense darkness and probably due to some extent to the excitement of the situation, Mr. Bird doesn't know whether the hold-up men were foreigners or not. All he knows is that they put a revolver close to his head and he accepted their invitation to hand over his gold watch and his money.

WOMAN CONDEMNED TO DIE ON GALLOWS

Will be the First Execution of a Woman Since Colonial Days

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—Today, November 4, will go down in criminal annals in Connecticut as one of the most remarkable days in the history of the State, if not the most remarkable, for on that day a woman, Mrs. Bessie Wakefield, was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of her husband, William O. Wakefield. Mrs. Wakefield being the first woman to hear the death sentence pronounced since the constitution of the State was granted. Several women, including Sophie Kriehemann, of Naugatuck, known as Kate Cobb, and Mrs. John Rathban, of this city, all now serving life sentences in the State prison at Wetherfield, were tried for murder in the first degree, but in each case the jury brought in a verdict of second degree murder.

The fact that Mrs. Wakefield got the death sentence at the hands of Judge Burpee was not the only feature today, for James Plew, an accomplice of Mrs. Wakefield, the man who shot his victim down after luring him to the Cheshire woods from Bristol June 22 last, and Joseph F. Bergeron, who killed Mrs. Elizabeth Dowsette in a jealous rage in this city on June 4, also were sentenced to be hanged for their crimes. Mrs. Wakefield and Plew will die on March 4, 1914, unless the State Board of Pardons interferes. Bergeron will be put to death on February 4.

Pressure has been brought to bear upon the State authorities by several women's organizations to have the sentence of Mrs. Wakefield commuted to life imprisonment. The sentiment in the State is against capital punishment in the case of a woman.

If Mrs. Wakefield is put to death it will be the first execution of a woman since Colonial days.

Small vices are sometimes useful in leading people off the trail of big ones.

BOY KILLED WHILE PLAYING

Fourteen Year Old Joseph Caples Shot Through Temple and Instantly Killed

Imitating, it is said, what they had seen in moving pictures, Arthur Donovan, the twelve year old son of ex-Councillor Jeremiah Donovan, of Silver Falls, and Joseph Caples, aged 14 years, son of Michael Caples, of the old Westmoreland road, near St. John, were participating in a skirmish with an imaginary enemy Sunday afternoon in the field in the rear of the Donovan home, when the Caples lad was shot in the right temple and almost instantly killed by a bullet from young Donovan's 22-calibre rifle, which he was using in play to protect his comrade from the enemy.

As in the picture, which, it is said, the boys had seen, the Caples boy had fallen from "make believe wounds." The other boy was kneeling behind him with leveled rifle to protect him. The trigger was pulled, and at the same time Caples raised his head and received the bullet in the right temple. He died before anyone could reach him.

Terror stricken, the Donovan boy did not know what to do. He hurried to his home and told them excitedly what had happened. Persons in the house rushed into the field, but when they arrived the boy was dead. Rev. Father O'Neill, of St. Joachim's church, Silver Falls, was summoned.

The body was carried into the Donovan home and was later taken to the home of the lad's parents. Needless to say, they were overcome by the calamity and the lad's sister became hysterical. Little less was the grief of the Donovan family.

Dr. Roberts was called about 6:30 o'clock and went out in his automobile. He viewed the body, and on learning the particulars from the Donovan boy, announced that an inquest would be necessary.

Much indignation is being expressed on account of the fact that a twelve year old boy was able to purchase a rifle in a hardware store in this city.

The Caples lad is survived by his father, mother, brothers and sisters. His father is employed on the Bishop farm at Silver Falls, and the unfortunate boy had also been working there.

SCOTT PARTY ARMED FOR SUICIDE

Official Story Expedition Tel of Tragic Decision of Leader

London, Nov. 5.—"Captain Scott's Last Expedition," published Thursday, contains Captain Scott's diary, in which he wrote on March 11, "I practically ordered Wilson to had over the means of ending our troubles, so that any one of us may know how to do so. Wilson had no choice between going and our ransacking his medicine case.

"We have thirty opium tablets, apiece, and Wilson is left with a tube of morphine."

This tragic decision was revoked, for in the last entry but one in his diary Scott wrote:

"We must be near the end. I have decided it shall be natural. We shall march for the depot with or without our effects and die in our tracks."

IN MEMORY OF FRANCES WILLARD

The Closing Session of W. C. T. U. National Convention

Asbury Park, N. J., Nov. 6.—A glowing tribute to the memory of Frances E. Willard, founder of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and messages from all parts of the country by national lecturers working in the interest of nationwide prohibition, marked the closing session yesterday of the national convention of the Union.

Miss Cora Seabury, of New York, in speaking of the work accomplished by Miss Willard, told that the mother's instinct does not need the actual creation; it is in every true woman, and no greater mother ever lived than Frances Willard, for she mothered the world.

The women of Illinois delegation were urged by Mrs. Margaret Ellis, of New Jersey, to use their influence with Representative Mann in the interest of a national prohibition bill, in his capacity as minority leader in the house of Representatives.

During the time allotted for short addresses by past State Presidents, Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, of Georgia, told of the fight in that State that resulted in prohibition, giving the credit for the success of the campaign to Mrs. Mary Libbey, former State President, who she said, "had the ice melted and the water hot, so it wasn't hard to help get up steam to make Georgia dry."

Mrs. Armour and other past State Presidents urged the necessity of united action for a general prohibition law if the cause for which the Union was founded were not to fail.

Bruce Eyttinge has aroused the hope at New York that some day every man may be his own automobile. Eyttinge appeared at the electrical show on roller skates. Suspended from his shoulders were storage batteries, connected with small motors on the skates. Eyttinge turned a switch and the skates started. He said the outfit cost him about $50.

TREADING ON DANGEROUS GROUND

Brings Carquet Man to Grief--Sued for Alienation of Wife's Affection

An interesting trial was held at Bathurst a few days ago. The case was against John Boussett, St. Isidore, who was charged with the theft of $700 to $800 from Jos. Doiron, of Carquet. This is the lure part of it, but there is a love episode that will be unfolded at another impending trial between the same persons. Boussett is an old man, and his wife is young and pretty. Doiron, who used to visit them occasionally, persuaded Boussett to remove to Carquet, accept a half interest in his saloon business, and live with him. Doiron had no wife. The arrangement worked well for a time, and Boussett-Doiron household was a happy family. But the green eyed monster, like the serpent in Eden, crept into the happy home. The aged husband got jealous of the younger man and began to make trouble. The result was a big row, a division in the household, and two lawsuits. Boussett is suing Doiron for $4,000 for alienating his wife's affections, and Doiron is prosecuting Boussett for theft, alleging that he stole money from the till and hid it in the pig-pen. Mr. Tweedie and Mr. Lawlor for the defence claim that this is a trumped up charge against Boussett for the purpose of trying to coerce him into accepting an offer of $500 for the loss of his wife and her affections.

MILITIA CHANGES OF IMPORTANCE

The Intention is to Increase Number of Generals in the Canadian Militia

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Important changes in the divisional staffs of the Dominion are likely to be made in the near future according to an Ottawa rumor reaching here. The alterations will include the gazettement of all divisional commanders as generals and the abolition of office of either assistant adjutant general, or the combined office of deputy assistant adjutant and quartermaster general. There are at present only about five generals in the staff of Canadian militia, and it is to be part of the plans of department to increase this number considerably.

Apart from the comparatively few generals at present in office, it is felt that the divisional commanders said to have this rank as they have in England, thus giving them more power. In addition to this, the retirement of General Cotton, Inspector General of the Dominion is rumored and may take place next year.

Prof. Stephen M. Dixon, formerly professor of civil engineering at the University of New Brunswick, has received an appointment in a similar capacity at the Imperial College of Science and Technology, London. Prof. Dixon while connected with the U. N. B. was largely instrumental in having the New Science building erected.

Levite A. Gagnon, High Sheriff of Madawaska, has tendered his resignation to accept appointment as manager of the branch of a Quebec bank, which is to open an agency in Edmundston. His successor will probably be appointed at the meeting of the provincial government next week.

ITALIAN ATTACKED BY GANG AND WILL PROBABLY DIE.

Tony Rose Found Unconscious in Pool of Blood With Face Shattered--Rushed to Hospital But Physicians Have Little Hope for His Recovery--Reason for Attack is Not Known.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 11.—With his face terribly mangled, and a large stone bearing blood stains, lying by his side, Tony Rose, an Italian, about 32 years of age, was found unconscious in a pool of blood at the corner of North and George streets about 10:30 o'clock last evening. He was rushed in the ambulance to the hospital soon after he was picked up. When he had arrived there he regained consciousness for a moment or two, and told a disconnected story of being assaulted by five men who stood at the corner of George and North streets. One of them hurled a boulder at him, he said, and that was the last he could remember. Before anyone had time to ask any more questions he lapsed into unconsciousness. Physicians at the hospital last night said there was little chance for recovery.

Rose was employed with Geo. Moses, excavator. For the last two years he has been boarding with Thomas Murphy at the corner of North and George streets, near where the assault occurred. During his brief period of consciousness at the hospital he said he could give no reason for the attack, nor could he give an idea who his assailant was. All he could remember was that he walked up North street about 10:15 o'clock and at Starr's barn at the corner of George street, where there is no electric light, he saw five men standing. He had just reached them when he was conscious of a quick action on the part of one of the gang and at the same time he felt an "awful sensation" in his head, and he knew no more.

About 10:20 o'clock Thomas Murphy, with whom the Italian boarded, informed Policeman William Gibbs at the corner of Peid and Mill streets that a man was lying unconscious in George street. One of his boarders, he said, found him there, having been attracted by the moaning.

Policeman Gibbs went to the scene and found the Italian lying in a pool of blood. He was almost unrecognizable. There was a deep gash across his face from the right cheek diagonally toward the left eye. The nasal bone was shattered, leaving an open gash in the face. The frontal bone was also fractured. Close beside the wounded man, who was unconscious, was a heavy stone, weighing about a pound and a half. This was covered with blood, and gave sufficient evidence to bear out the statement Rose later made in the hospital.

Rose was carried into Murphy's house and the ambulance was called. Policeman Gibbs accompanied the man to the hospital. Soon after he arrived there he regained consciousness, but only long enough to tell briefly what had happened. He was then subjected to an operation and twelve stitches were necessary to close the rash. Portions of the nasal bone had to be removed. Physicians say that it is doubtful if he will recover.

It is not known what the motive of the assault was. According to Thomas Murphy, Rose was a hard-working man and very seldom drank. About half an hour before he was assaulted, Policeman Gibbs met him starting up North street from Mill street. According to Gibbs, he had been drinking, but it was not very noticeable on him. The policeman had been around the corner of George and North streets about 10 o'clock and there was no one standing there. When he arrived there at 10:20 to look after the wounded man, he found no one standing there either, excepting those who were assisting to carry the body into Murphy's house.

Robbery may have been the motive, but the police are inclined to think that it was not. It is their opinion that there was a personal grudge against Rose. The man is unmarried.

SUPREME COURT OF CANADA

Local Case Argued in Supreme Court on Friday Last--Judgment Reserved

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—The first case argued in the Supreme Court today was the appeal from the Supreme Court of New Brunswick in Rundle vs. Miller. The action was brought by the respondents, the Millers, for trespass to land claimed by them and resulted in a verdict in their favor. On an appeal the court below was equally divided in opinion on the motion to set aside the verdict and enter judgment for the defendants or for a new trial. The predecessor in the title of the defendants had reclaimed most of the land in dispute, which had been marsh land subject to the flow of tide from the Miramichi river. Plaintiffs claimed title by occupation for more than twenty years. The defendants contended in answer that such occupation was by their license. Judgment was reserved.

Teed, K. C., for the appellants; Lawlor, K. C., for respondents.

SUPREME COURT ORDERED HEARING

The Protest in Richelieu By-Election of 1911 Must Proceed

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—The opening of MacDonald's attorney through the acknowledgment of corrupt practices through agents by Alex. Morrison, leaves two by-elections pending. The other is South Lanark. It is almost certain that there will be a third contest in Richelieu.

After successfully blocking the hearing of the protest against the return of J. E. Cardin, in the Richelieu by-election, for over a year, the Supreme Court has now decided that the protest must be heard.

The trial will come very shortly, and it is understood that Cardin, the successful Liberal member, will for the second time admit corrupt practices and resign his seat. Cardin was elected at the general election of 1911 by a majority of 724. This seat was protested and so strong was the evidence that he admitted corruption and resigned. A by-election was called and Cardin was again a candidate. His majority was cut in half. There was another protest, and the Liberals, by technicalities which they carried to the Supreme Court, prevented its hearing. The Supreme Court have brushed the technicalities aside and ordered the hearing.

Nothing was known of the girl's whereabouts by her relatives, and efforts had been begun to find her when she read in the papers that the money was awaiting her. Miss Michael said that while living with her grandfather in Kiev, Russia, she married a soldier named Pasha, who went away to war a few hours after the ceremony and never came back. She came to America in 1908, and after an unsuccessful venture in the restaurant business went to work as a cook and afterward as housekeeper.

Effect of Alfalfa on Soil

The unqualified recommendation as a soil improver that is continually being given alfalfa, is responsible for the very common belief that this crop is one which should be grown extensively on poor or unproductive soils. No greater mistake could be made than to sow alfalfa on land which is not in a good condition of fertility.

It is true that, being a legume, it benefits the soil through the addition of nitrogen fixed by organisms forming nodules on its roots, and through its root it not only supplies considerable quantity of humus but greatly improves the mechanical condition of the soil.

In producing profitable yields of hay alfalfa utilizes large quantities of phosphorus and potassium, which must be obtained either directly from the soil or from added fertilizer.

Whether alfalfa is a soil improver is a question which cannot be answered without some explanation. In the sense in which the term is commonly used, alfalfa is not a soil improving crop, since it cannot be utilized in the same manner as cowpeas, soy beans, crimson clover or hairy vetch for the building up of worn out or depleted lands. On the other hand, it enriches the good soils through the nitrogen and humus added to the soil by its roots and crowns when the old field of alfalfa is broken up and also by the mechanical action of its roots upon the soil. Furthermore, the preparation of the land prior to seeding the alfalfa and the treatment in the way of top dressing and fertilizing which follow during the few years of its existence doubtless have a very beneficial effect on the crops succeeding it.

In actual practice then, alfalfa improves good land, but cannot be considered in connection with poor land, as it is not a profitable crop to grow on unproductive soils.

The Run-Down Farm

Was there ever a more dispirited prospect than a weedy, delapidated, run-down farm? As one drives through the country and passes by such a place, his estimate of the value of that locality suffers a decided slump.

On such a farm the owner is usually as many looking as the land he calls his home. The farmer is sure that farming is not what it used to be. In that last statement is wrapped up the whole of such a farmer's philosophy. "He is sure farming is not what it used to be." No, it certainly is not for him. The world has moved forward while he has slept. He has no part in the present day thought about farming.

He keeps a scrub bull, the bull may have a pedigree but is a scrub nevertheless. His cows lack quality and type. His fields are weedy and his fences look tired. Just such a farm was seen a few days ago. The herd of cows were worth only as much as they would bring as canners, and yet this farmer had the ancestors of that herd on the place for many, many years. The cows on this farm a generation ago could not have been any poorer than the present herd, they were fit all probability better.

The house was hid away in a thicket of brush and weeds and had not known paint for years. The barns were decrepit and the place strewn with relics of the past. The farmer couldn't keep help. His idea was that hired men had degenerated and were wholly untrustworthy.

The evidence of this man's philosophy, that things were not what they used to be, was shown on every hand. The farm was a picture of the man's mental process, and yet he was absolutely impotent to understand his condition. To him his dairy was good his barns and premises good enough. The trouble from his standpoint was in the times, the hired men, the high

Specialist Could Not Remove Stone in The Bladder

GIN PILLS PASSED IT

JOLIMONT, P. Q.

"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in the Bladder.

He decided to operate but said the stone was too large to remove and too hard to crush. I returned home and was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS.

They relieved the pain. I took two boxes and went back to the specialist. He said the stone was smaller but he could not remove it although he tried for two hours and a half. I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS, and to my great surprise and joy, I passed the stone.

GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did me so much good, I will recommend them to the rest of my life."

Do not Neglect the Dry Cow

One of the greatest mistakes made in the dairy generally is that of neglecting the cow while dry. Often it seems that this animal is expected to simply exist, without feed, throughout this period, though, of course, she is entirely to blame if her offspring is born weakly and does not develop rapidly, says Farmer's Digest. Both the production of milk and the production of the offspring must be considered as work, and anyone who has tried working continuously on poor or insufficient food will agree that it is unpleasant to say the least.

The period during which the animal is dry should not only be considered a rest period for her, as is generally held, but also should be considered a building-up period. She must not only develop a strong and useful offspring, but should also build up her own body in strength, and, to a certain extent, fat, as this will be needed in the heavy production period after calving.

Fattening feeds are not of special value to the animal at this time and would prove expensive if fed in large quantities, as a large percentage of the feed would probably be wasted. Bone and muscle producing feeds are of especial value in that they aid in the production of the strong and healthy offspring. For this purpose, alfalfa is of especial value as it is strong in both muscle and bone building material. Cowpeas or other leguminous plants are also valuable in this respect.

The cow neglected while dry cannot come to her best when she freshens. The good dairy animal is deserving of attention from the first of January to the thirty-first of December. Give the dry animal plenty of cooling and muscle and bone building feeds and you will get your way in the milk pail.

Milk Must be Kept Cold

It is no news that milk will sour unless it is kept cold, but probably few persons realize the necessity of keeping its temperature low during all the processes of handling between dairy and consumer. Milk may be on the point of souring, and may swarm with germs, when it is still fairly sweet to the taste, and consumers who are in daily receipt of this "sweet" milk must exercise treble caution to prevent the processes of deterioration from proceeding further. This is clearly indicated by simple tests reported in the thirty-first annual report of the Health Department of Springfield, Mass., just issued in pamphlet form.

Two quarts of milk purchased from different dealers were examined. The milk was about twenty-seven hours old when purchased. The bacterial content of the samples was found to be No. 1, 289,600 colonies and No. 2, 16,800 colonies per cubic centimeter. The small content of the second sample indicated immediate cooling after milking and subsequent careful handling. Each sample was divided into four parts and maintained at temperatures of 100 degrees F., 75 degrees F., 55 degrees F., and 40 degrees F. The increase in the bacterial content of milk between the time it leaves the farm and the time it reaches the consumer was also made the subject of experiment. It was found that on an average there were about 20,000 bacteria to the quart at the farm, 53,000 at the dealers, and 360,000 at the consumers; the temperatures varying at the farm 47 degrees, at the dealers, 44 degrees, and at the consumers, 58 degrees. These figures show how small an increase in temperature may be responsible for very great increase in the bacterial content. All this indicates that milk should be kept ice-cold during the process of delivery, as well as before delivery.

Taking the whole season as a whole an unheated room in a dwelling is not conducive for good quality in eggs.

During the hot summer months the conditions surrounding the weed nest, the nest in the straw stack, or under the corn crib, and the stolen nest, as well as the keeping of eggs in the house, favor the production of spots, blood rings and rots.

Two-thirds of the total loss in fertile and infertile eggs takes place on the farm. The basic factors responsible for this condition are the hazardous methods of poultry management on the farm.

The results of all the experimental work point to the fact that the production of the infertile egg is the greatest asset in the attempt to produce high-quality market eggs during hot weather.

To assure a high quality of product and prevent in a large measure the loss now experienced in the value of the country's egg production producers are urged to observe the following five simple rules:

A Living From Poultry

A correspondent wrote James Dryden, Professor of Poultry Husbandry at the Oregon Agricultural College, as follows: "Please send facts about the seven acre and three-acre successes. We are beginners and want to succeed." Prof. Dryden replied as follows:

"It is possible to make a living or money on a small tract of that size under favorable conditions. I do not recommend the place as small as 3 or even 5 acres for poultry keeping, if the purpose is to make a living for a family by selling the product at so much a dozen for the eggs, and so much a pound for the chickens, but if the poultryman can work up some special live in breeding stock, that is if he can get more than market prices for the product, he can make a living on a few acres with fowls alone. Where you sell the eggs by the dozen you can hardly keep enough chickens on 3 acres, or even 5, to make a permanent success of it.

"That is, you can, probably, on most kinds of soils, keep 100 hens to the acre, and they will bring in a profit, with good management, of about $1.50 a hen above the cost of feed. That is, after paying for all the feed they eat there should be about $1.50 left to pay for labor, etc.

"If the soil is of light nature, that is rather porous and light, you can keep more than 100 to the acre. The trouble in over-crowding the ground is, in a few years the soil becomes contaminated with the droppings, and it sooner or later results in unhealthy stock, decrease in vitality and greater difficulty in hatching and raising the chickens.

By keeping 100 hens to the acre and then growing other stuff with the chickens, using half the ground each year for growing some kind of crop and rotating the chickens and crop, it is possible to keep the ground in a better sanitary condition and to continue the business successfully. The 3 acre place I mentioned from which I saw $6,000 worth of poultry and eggs were sold in a year, had very light soil and was in a climate where there wasn't as much rain as here. The owner made additional revenue by selling brood stock and eggs for hatching.

Why Eggs Don't Keep

The United States department of agriculture has issued a bulletin telling the world why there are so many rotten eggs. The department conducted a series of tests in Kansas in which eggs were kept in very comfortable place from the ice box to a stolen nest under the barn. The tests emphasized the fact that infertile eggs keep better than fertile. One-third of the annual loss in eggs is due to "blood rings." A blood ring is caused by the development and subsequent death of the embryo of the fertile egg subjected to heat. No embryo can develop in an infertile egg, no matter how long it may be subjected to heat. Unless cooled at once, a hot weather almost as quickly as raw milk.

Among the results of the tests it was found that:

Eggs kept in the cyclone cage proved much better in quality than those kept under other conditions.

You never see anybody painting an Amatite Roof!
It has a mineral surface that needs no painting.
Roofs that need painting are out of date. In four years ago everybody painted their roofs as a matter of course.
Then came Amatite with its revolutionary surface—practically a pitch concrete. This mineral surface is durable and permanent.
It comes in rolls ready to lay, with liquid cement for the laps and large-headed nails packed in the center of each roll, so that there is nothing else to buy. Anybody can lay it.
And remember—it needs no painting.

Chickens Forced by Electricity

The following is published by the Butchers' Advocate:

A long succession of ingenious experiments has recently been privately made in regard to the effect of electricity upon the growth of plants and animals, and, according to the Daily Mail it is now possible to say that startling results have been reached in one direction.

Beyond all question young poultry respond to electric stimulus applied in a particular way with astonishing rapidity. They surpass the best on record in speed of growth. They keep their health in crowded conditions, and become almost independent of season.

In the South of England on the biggest poultry farm in the world, experiments of this nature have just been completed. Eight hundred chickens in two equal groups were nurtured on the intensive system—that is, in flats about trays, one above the other. One group of 400 was treated by the electric system, and so charged were the chickens with electricity that a shock could be distinctly felt if the finger were put to the beak of a chicken.

The chickens in this 400 grow to marketable size—that is, as "petite poussins"—in five weeks, and of the 400 only six, and those weaklings in the beginning died.

Of the other 400 nearly half died, it being late in the year for healthy growth, and the survivors took three months to reach marketable size.

The experiment was followed by other experiments in which similar, though not as striking results were obtained. Trials on a yet larger scale are being prepared, and there is at any rate a reasonable hope that an instrument of real value in the intensive production of food has been found.

When you feel in a scrappy mood don't try to take a fall out of an airship.

When bathing and drying the face always rub and make the strokes upward as the muscles of the face relax downward.

But even if a man has no axe to grind, he can usually get a job turning the grindstone for some woman who has.

We must change our slipshod grain farming methods, and begin to farm for profits, or not at all.

Of the serious parasitic diseases affecting sheep, stomach worms probably cause the heaviest losses to sheepraisers.

Those who have poultry should raise shadfers. They serve to furnish shade for fowl and growing chicks during the hot days of summer.

Feed the draft colts this coming winter to develop size, bone and muscle, three essentials in all breeds of draft animals.

Eggs should be sold by weight rather than by the dozen. They vary so widely as to size and weight that the seller or the buyer is sure to lose when sold by the count.

Where a farmer has succeeded by years of careful treatment in eliminating, or practically eliminating the smut diseases from his farm, the use of a smut-infected machine will undo the work of years during one single process of threshing.

SIR MAXWELL'S DONATION

Another striking instance of the generous interest of Sir Maxwell Aitken in his native town is shown by his most generous donation of $1,000 a year to the Harkins Academy High School, to be used as a scholarship for the Academy.

This splendid institution, which was also the gift of a native of Newcastle, will now have a prize list much greater in monetary value than any other preparatory school in the Maritime Provinces, and this last gift will instill into the hearts of the students of the Academy a loving memory of the donor which will go down through generations to come.

The magnificent proportions of the scholarships will be realized when it is noted that the money prizes and scholarships—including the county scholarships open to the students of the University of New Brunswick—scarcely equal the amount to be annually distributed to the pupils of Harkins Academy High School.

Newcastle is both proud and lucky to have such a splendid institution, a seat of knowledge which will be an everlasting monument to the town and which is a credit, and to be envied, to its principal and teachers.

In making this announcement, Sir Maxwell made the fact known to his Newcastle attorney, Mr. A. A. Davidson, K. C., and to Principal L. R. Hetherington. He also names Messrs. A. A. Davidson, E. A. McCurdy and W. A. Park to control the fund and allot the scholarships.

NOT SO BAD FOR CANADA

In speaking to a Montreal financial man the attention of the Financial News Bureau was called to the fact that, notwithstanding all that was said about the situation in Canada, the net debt of the Dominion is actually less than it was a year ago to the extent of $12,211,131, being now $299,587,275 as compared with $311,798,406 last November. Said the financier:

"Quite a number of comparisons of this character result very favorably indeed to Canada, thus disposing of many of the statements which have been made recently concerning the unfavorable situation here. Candidly, it seems to me that Canada is in a better position than any other country I know of just now, and I think this will be more and more demonstrated as time goes by. During the next six months Canada will, I am thoroughly convinced, attract more attention than ever to herself as a field for investment simply because of the excellent comparison she will make with other countries."—Mackintosh's Investment News.

TOO MUCH FREEDOM

The Halifax Echo says: "It seems to be generally conceded in all cities now that something must be done to keep children off the streets at night, and in Halifax the need of movement in that direction is just as plain as in other cities of similar population. There is a movement in favor of a girl's home, an institution that is needed, but such a home cannot altogether meet the whole situation so far as young girls in the street at night are concerned."

While we are pleased to state Newcastle cannot complain of young girls being on the streets at night, we cannot say the same for young boys. It is a fact that too many of the young fry are allowed out late at night, especially those who hang around the Opera House begging nickels of those passing in, and otherwise creating a disturbance. It would be more to the future welfare of these boys if they were compelled by their parents to return home earlier at nights.

MAPLE SUGAR INDUSTRY

We have just received a very attractive booklet on the "Maple Sugar Industry in Canada," published by Minister of Agriculture, J. B. Spencer, B. S. A., is the author. This very interesting publication contains valuable information on maple sugar industry in Canada, its process and progress, its importance and extent. It is profusely illustrated with half-tone engravings, showing a sugar grove, a sugar-making plant and how to operate it, and many other illustrations of interest.

There are about 55,000 growers in Canada, confined to Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. In the Maritime Provinces the yearly output is about half a million pounds, while Quebec turns out about 14,500,000 pounds, and Ontario 5,000,000 pounds.

In a future issue we may give a more complete idea of this industry, taken from this publication.

ENFORCE THE LAW

The sad tragedy at St. John the other day, whereby Joseph Caples, a lad of only twelve years of age lost his life by being accidentally shot with a rifle in the hands of his chum, Arthur Donovan, while imitating Indian warfare, seen at a moving picture show, again shows the danger in juvenile handling of firearms.

While this case is sad in the extreme, there also seems to be a lack on the part of parents to allow boys of tender years, when Indian warfare and wild west scenes have such an effect on their impressionable minds, to make use of the Sabbath day for such amusement.

The snapping off of this young life has cast a gloom over the neighborhood where both families are well known and popular, and it shows only too plainly that a rigid enforcement of the law regarding the sale of firearms to boys should be carried out.

ELECTION TO BE PROTESTED

Liberals Said to Have Laid Out An Enormous Corruption Fund There

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—The Conservatives will likely protest the South Bruce bye-election. Information received at Ottawa goes to show that the Liberals, in a desperate effort to retrieve their fallen fortunes and win at least one bye-election, spent an enormous sum of money in the constituency. Evidence has not yet been received. It is understood that there were attempts at corruption on a most extensive scale. Misrepresentation, however, was a large factor in the election. Hon. Chas. Murphy made a most violent appeal to the Catholic vote, while Hon. Mackenzie King made a racial appeal to the Germans.

WEDDING TOUR TO POLICE COURT

Curious Incident in Connection With Morton Case

A wedding tour from the bride's home to the police court is something unusual even in Moncton police circles which have experienced almost every thrill known to the ingenuity of man says the Transcript. But that is what is going to take place to-morrow when the adjourned case against Eph Morton of New Scotland, gets a continuation of its preliminary hearing.

The case came up this morning and everything was ready for business, when the star witness sent in word that she had made arrangements to get married to-morrow and did not like to upset her arrangements for the mere sake of a police court case and had the judge please excuse her. His Honor took the humanitarian view of the matter and bad, the marriage bells ring out, meanwhile remanding Eph to the Bastille, until such time as the wedding ceremonies shall be over and the fair witness ready to proceed with the case which will be at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The bride will come down with her husband from North, and will thus literally commence her wedding tour by a trip to a police court.

1913 REVENUE NEARLY $1,500,000

Gratifying Statement Made Before Executive Council.

Fredericton, Nov. 11.—While a complete statement of the provincial finances for the fiscal year ending on October 31st has not yet been prepared, the books having been finally closed only yesterday, Hon. Mr. McLeod, as Provincial Secretary, submitted a fairly complete memorandum to the Executive Council to-day.

The Provincial Secretary's statement was a most gratifying one to Premier Flemming and his colleagues and reflects the excellent administration of public business which the province has been enjoying. The estimated receipts in nearly every department were exceeded, and while the expenditures, of course, were also large a surplus of not less than $1,000,000, and perhaps more, will be shown in the year's consolidated revenue fund.

The Crown Lands have produced more money during the past year than any time in history, the amount exceeding three-quarters of a million of dollars. In cash bonuses in connection with the new Crown Timber Lands licenses about $252,000 has already been received, but this goes into a special fund and not into the Consolidated Revenue fund. Between $16,000 and $17,000 has been received during the year for the Crown Lands sinking fund.

The territorial revenue receipts will exceed the $500,000 mark, notwithstanding the fact that there was a small lumber cut and that there was a falling off in the receipts from game licenses. The decrease in the sale of game licenses is explained by the fact that with this election year in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and other States and business conditions in the American Republic in their present state conditions were not such that a large number of non-resident sportsmen would visit this province during the early portion of the present season.

The ordinary revenue of the Province of New Brunswick for the past fiscal year nearly reached the $1,500,000 mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Strang left on the local express for Boston and Montreal, and they carry with them the best wishes of many friends for every happiness.—Monday's Gazette.

BRIDGEPORT GIVEN UP AS LOST

Montreal, Nov. 11.—All hopes for the safety of the Dominion Coal Company's collier Bridgeport, which is now ten days overdue, have been practically given up by shipping men of Montreal, who are of the opinion that the vessel was so heavily loaded she has split in half, and foundered with all on board, eight officers and a Chinese crew of thirty-three.

One Chiamaan in Montreal, Hum Lung, was to have sailed on board the vessel, but was imprisoned for deserting his ship.

The Bridgeport sailed from Sydney and was due to arrive at Montreal last week. It is now quite evident that the collier never entered the River St. Lawrence, after sailing from Sydney. Until Saturday morning it was hoped that a two-masted steamer, inward bound, reported from Cape Rosier might be the Bridgeport, but this hope was dispelled when the signal service identified that steamer as the Kamouraska.

"There is going to be a tragedy here," is said to have been the statement made by a young fellow named Randolph Edwards, aged 16, belonging to Halifax, just a moment or two before a shot was fired from a revolver in the boy's hands early Friday evening in the railway station at Truro, N. A DECALOGUE FOR GIRLS

Advice to girls in relation to matrimony is plentiful, whether it is ever acted upon or not. Here are some more "lon'ts," very sensible ones, formulated by a clergyman:

"Don't marry a man about whom you know nothing. If you do, the bliss of your ignorance is apt to be painfully dispelled.

"Don't forget that married happiness depends more on what your husband is than what he has.

"Don't depend a minute on any reforming influence you will have on your husband after marriage. It would likely be no greater than it is now, if as great.

"Don't marry a man whose clothes are better than his habits. His clothes he will wear out; his habits never; yes, they are apt to wear him out.

"Don't marry principally for a home. If you do you will likely live all your married life in a house instead of a home.

"Don't marry a young man who as a son or a brother, is faithless or inconsiderate. As your husband, he would doubtless be true to his nature.

"Don't engage yourself to one whose business or social life could not stand the light of investigation. Neither could his matrimonial career stand the test. Demand a clear record, physically, mentally and morally.

"Don't become engaged, much less marry, before you are 21. Most domestic shipwrecks are due to immature choosing.

"Don't be in a hurry. There's plenty of time, and it's a long way ahead, with turning places few and wide apart. Until you see the coast clear—wait."

LIBERALS WIN TWO ELECTIONS

Quebec Bye-Election Returns Two Liberals to Legislature

Montreal, Nov. 10—St. John's county and Huntingdon county, Quebec, in bye-elections to-day both returned Liberal candidates to the legislature, though in the first named it was an independent Liberal that secured the seat, the nominee of the administration convention going down to defeat in a four-cornered contest, in which three of the candidates were Liberals and one independent.

HOME RULE GETS SET-BACK; RESULT OF BRITISH ELECTIONS

The Reading Election Fought Solely on The Home Rule Issue and Insurance Act by the Unionists—Ulster Jubilant Over the Results.

London, Nov. 10—The results of the parliamentary bye-elections held in Linlithgow, Scotland, and Reading, England, are greeted with the wildest enthusiasm in all Unionist quarters and particularly in Ulster. All the Unionist papers, in the editorials, declare that after two such staggering blows it would be impossible for the Government to persist in disregarding the demands for a fresh appeal to the county on the Home Rule bill.

The Reading election was fought by the Unionists solely on the Home Rule issue and the Insurance Act. The Liberal candidate sought to defend the policy of the present administration from every standpoint. Neither side made any reference to the fiscal policy.

The excitement was intense when the poll was declared. Captain Wilson had a clear majority over both his opponents, and he declared that the verdict of Reading was particularly directed against the Home Rule bill.

Mr. Gooch said the result was due to the Government's policy of social reform treading on the toes of individual members of the community. The militant suffragettes supported Capt. Wilson. Just before the polls a large squad of militants arrived. The town hall where the counting took place was strongly guarded by a double force of policemen, while the polling places were carefully watched throughout the day, as an attack on the ballot boxes were feared.

The Liberal candidate, Mr. Gooch, was formerly a member for Bath. He entered the constituency only on the eve of the election. Three other elections are still pending, namely, South Lanark, Jeighley and Wickburys.

The Sunday Observer, Unionist, says that if Mr. Asquith and his colleagues keep "full steam ahead" against Saturday's double danger signal, "they proclaim themselves as madmen, whom it would be right to stop at any hazard."

The Daily News, Liberal, says the Reading result was brought about by the socialist intervention and the women's opposition to the Liberal candidate.

The Chronicle, Liberal, says that Reading figures, quickly analyzed, need cause no alarm. The deceased majority in Linlithgow is more serious.

London, Nov. 11—The Manchester Guardian, in explaining the electoral events of last week, refers to the grave harm done the Liberal candidates in both Reading and Linlithgow, owing to the workingmen's indignation at the imprisonment of Larkin, the Dublin labor leader, and says that so long as Larkin is in prison, and the Ulster incendiaries not, the labor voters will continue to be incensed. Another cause for the loss of Liberal votes was undoubtedly the continued unpopularity of the Insurance Act.

The paper points out that taking the two constituencies together, there is shown an actual majority of 453 votes in favor of home rule.

WORK OF THE NEW BRUNSWICK FRUIT GROWERS' ASS'N

Procures High Grade Fruit Trees and Spraying Materials for its Members at Minimum Prices

The Association continues to do good work for the fruit growers and is creating a steady interest and increase in co-operative effort. During 1912 and 1913 the Association supplied its members with nearly 30,000 fruit trees, most of which were sold at 22c, 23c, 24c and 25c per tree, and also with several thousand small fruits. The nurseries in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have been supplied by the Association with scions and buds taken from good bearing trees of the varieties most in demand in the province and consequently the supply of maritime grown trees of the best varieties true to name available for planting in New Brunswick in the spring of 1914, is practically twice as large as three years ago. As the bulk of the trees placed throughout the province annually by agents are sold at prices ranging from 30c to 45c, and even to 50c, per tree, it is easy to see that the Association is saving its members hundreds of dollars in the purchase of their fruit trees. By ordering nursery stock in large quantities, the Association gets the very best the nurseryman has to offer and gets it at wholesale or the lowest possible price, as the agent's commission and expenses are omitted. In a similar manner, a large quantity of spraying materials consisting of lime-sulphur and lead arsenate were purchased from Nova Scotia by the Association and distributed to its members at cost price. Other supplies such as pruning tools and packing appliances and materials, etc., are secured at cost price on request.

For full particulars and Annual Reports, write to: The Secretary, New Brunswick Fruit Growers' Association, Fredericton.

At the opening session of the mock parliament, conducted by the law students at Dalhousie University, George M. McDade, formerly public utility commissioner for Fredericton, moved the adoption of the speech from the throne. The Halifax Herald, speaking of Mr. McDade's address, has the following: "The honorable member from St. John, Mr. McDade, moved the adoption of the speech from the throne in a short but very effective maiden address." The papers also state that the mock parliament is the best in years.

STRONGLY ADVISES "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

Because They Cured Him, And They Will Cure You

MR. ALEX. McCARTER

WALKERTON, ONT., MAY 9th, 1911.
"I have been in Walkerton in business for a good many years and many of my townsmen know that my health, for long periods was precarious. My trouble was extreme Nervousness, brought on by indigestion and Dyspepsia, from which I suffered in the most severe form. It was so bad that I could not sleep before about four in the morning. I noticed one of your published testimonials of how someone had used "Fruit-a-lives" for similar trouble and asked Mr. Hunter, my druggist, his opinion on the matter and he advised their use. I immediately procured several boxes and I am pleased to say that I now enjoy splendid health and could not possibly feel better. I can eat with every degree of satisfaction and sleep without an effort. I strongly advise anyone suffering from like complaints, to commence using "Fruit-a-lives". ALEX. McCARTER.

Two cases of theft are reported which show the depth some people can stoop to. One case is that of a man who has been working at the bridge during the summer, and who left, for parts unknown one day last week, taking with him what sums of money he could borrow from his friends, besides clothing. Another case is of a young man, who has been working in town during the summer, leaving suddenly with a new overcoat belonging to a Newcastle young man.

ANXIOUS TIMES FOR PARENTS

Children Often Seem Pining Away and Ordinary Medicine Does Not Help Them

The health of children between the ages of twelve and eighteen years, particularly in the case of girls, is a source of serious worry to nearly every mother. The growth and development takes so much of their strength that in many cases they actually seem to be going into a decline. The appetite is weak, brightness gives way to depression, there are often serious headaches, fits of dizziness, or occasional fainting and a complaint of weariness at the slightest exertion. Ordinary medicines will not bring relief. The blood has become thin and watery, and the child must have something that will bring the blood back to its normal condition. At this stage no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their whole mission is to make new blood, which reaches every part of the body, bringing back health, strength and energy. Mrs. James Harris, Port Rowan, Ont., says: "At the age of thirteen my daughter began to look very pale, and seemed listless and always tired. She did not take interest in her school work or in those amusements of girlhood. In fact she just seemed to drag herself about, complaining of always being tired, did not eat well, and did not sleep well at night. I took her to our doctor who said she was anemic, and advised me to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She took the Pills for nearly two months, when she was as well and lively as any girl could be gained nicely in weight, and has since enjoyed perfect health. I am quite sure that what the Pills did for my daughter they will do for other pale, weak girls. I have also used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills myself with the best results and can only speak of them in terms of greatest praise."
Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The marriage will shortly take place of Cyril Kingstone Floyd, second son of the Rev. J. P. Andrews, rector of Benchurch, Isle of Wight, to Gertrude Mary, second daughter of Sir William and Lady MacKenzie of Toronto.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, denies the rumor that he is to resign and succeed Sir Charles Fitzpatrick as Chief Justice. A bit of villainy that has been going on lately has just been brought to the attention of the proper authorities, and if those responsible can be apprehended, the law will deal justly with them. When Chas. McGowan took the mail from the mail box at Hennessy's corner on Tuesday of last week he found the contents of the box partly burned, where either a lighted match had been put in the box or a piece of burned paper had been inserted causing the damage to the inside mail. Bits of sticks and stones, and it is stated a dead mouse, were also taken out of the box. In another box in town a piece of bogra was found. The matter was at once reported to Postmaster Troy, who reported same to the Postoffice Inspector, and an investigation will follow.

THE Union Advocate

ESTABLISHED 1867

Issued Wednesday. $1.00 Per Year

The Union Advocate, the second oldest paper in the Maritime Provinces, is fast becoming the leading paper on the North Shore. We are constantly in receipt of letters from subscribers at a distance, showing their appreciation of our efforts to publish a real live up-to-date paper. Our subscription lists are increasing daily, new subscriptions coming in unsolicited.

As an advertising medium, The Advocate is firmly taking its place among the best. If you, Mr. Merchant, are not among the number who are using its columns, why not talk the matter over with our representative and select a good space while you have a chance. We are at your service any time you wish to consult us, and would only be too glad to quote you rates. You will probably want to use a space for the Christmas season, so now is your opportunity. A telephone call will bring our representative to your store in ten minutes.

Our Job Printing Department

There is a difference between plain Job Printing and the kind of Printing that draws business. At one time any kind of a printed letter-head or envelope would do so long as the work was done by a printer. Good paper and high priced ink, the customer did not know enough about to be fussy. It is not so now. The customer today figures these items into his contract for printing the same as he does the quality of the goods he purchases to carry on his business.

This is the class of customers who have their printing done at The Advocate Job Dept. Only the best lines of writing paper are kept in stock and the highest grade of inks used for all work. There is not a CHEAP line in our office, for experience has taught us to carry only the best and the most serviceable.

People who leave their order for printing with this office, have that inward feeling of assurance that they are going to get just the kind of a job they want. They do not speculate—they know, and they are never disappointed. We spare no pains to give our customers just what they want, and that is one reason why this office has gained the reputation it has for turning out the highest class of Job Printing only.

If you are not yet a customer, join our list and have your letter heads and envelopes, or whatever nature your work may be, printed in an artistic manner. It does not cost any more for good printing than it does for the cheaper kind, and a small order is given as good care as a large one.

We are now in a position to handle all kinds of

and would be pleased to quote prices for this class of work at any time. We guarantee strict satisfaction in all cases.

Remember that this office is in better shape to handle your Printing than it has ever been before, due to the fact that only competent printers are employed and the most modern machinery used.

WOMAN AND MOSES

George Farquharson, very agitated, hat in hand, he demanded admittance.
"I can't stop. The manager will be furious. How good of you to come. How do I look?" Doreen picked up her skirt.
"Stop, stop Dor—Mrs. Tre—stop. You mustn't go on the stage. I have come to tell you. Lancaster is dead and has left you an enormous fortune. Look." He handed her a telegram.
"But the people, they are waiting. I must play this once. I have signed a contract. Listen, they are shouting for me—Mr. Brandon!"
"Doreen!" George Farquharson laid his arm on hers. "Doreen, for my sake, for the child's, don't go. Let it never be said that you were once on the stage."
Even at this moment all the bitterness of his life rolled from her heart to her lips.
"What can it matter to anyone what I do?" she said.
"It matters to me," the young man answered, passionately, while an infuriated vision of a maddened manager stood in the doorway, swearing he would never engage a society lady again.
"This lady cannot go on the stage, she has heard of a death," said George Farquharson.
"What the devil do you bring the news here for now? Madam, you are ruining me. I beg of you. Please, we are a quarter of an hour late already; I must insist; I'm very sorry, but I must insist."
"This lady is not to appear to-night," said George Farquharson, with a decision that surprised himself as much as it did Doreen. He made a movement towards the door.
"Never mind this once," she whispered. But George Farquharson was firm, all the firmer, perhaps, that her beauty seemed to dazzle him, to tinkle as it were in his face.
"You are not to go, Doreen." The manager imagined that he was her husband.
"I have the lady's contract," he urged desperately.
"How much will you take to cancel it?"
"Cancel it? Cancel it?" Mr. Brandon went nearly mad. "Cancel it with the house waiting?"
"Return them their money," said George Farquharson. Then he added, as Mr. Brandon looked as if he was about to tear him to pieces, "Any loss you shall incur shall be paid you tomorrow morning," and he handed his card to the manager, who was sitting up and down Doreen's dressing-room, shaking his head from sheer inability to express what he felt.
A few minutes later Doreen was in a cab with George Farquharson, and the manager was informing the public that Mrs. Trefusis had received bad news and was unable to appear.
"I should never have got over it if I had been too late," was George Farquharson's first remark. And now Doreen composed herself in a corner of the hansom to listen to the story of how Captain Lancaster had died in America, and during a few hours' death-bed repentance, had left her the whole of the "Grobner Mine."
"The Grobner Mine!" Doreen's eyes were round with horror as they gazed close to a gas lamp. "The Grobner Mine, and you have made me cancel my engagement. Oh, George, how could you? Mr. Farquharson, what have you done?"
"How could she take the money of the Grobner Mine? How could she have been so intensely dull as to think that she could keep the money? Into her hand there leaped a great gladness. It would be something to be able to give them back. Yes, it was kind of Herbert Lancaster to have left them to her, albeit it they were not his to leave.
"I am glad anyhow I have done my training. I shall be able to get any other engagement, or I must try to make it up with Mr. Brandon. How could you think that the Grobner Mine would make any difference to me?" She spoke almost angrily, and George, Farquharson flushed with regret at his own impulsiveness. Yet he felt sure that Arthur Trefusis would not accept the money.
"I believe it is something like a million," he went on triumphantly.
"A million!" Doreen did not wonder to herself now that Trefusis should have been angry at the loss of the papers. A million! A million! A millionaire. It never occurred to her that it was she who was a rich woman.
She took a little persuading, but she yielded to George Farquharson's request that she should go to a quiet little place he knew of and have supper.
"After all, it doesn't matter what I do now," she said to herself, and for the rest of the drive she was silent, wondering what Arthur Trefusis would say when he heard of his good fortune.
"What a lucky woman Avril is," she thought. "Everything seems to prosper with her." Yet it was with mixed pleasure that Avril heard the news.
"By George!" The exclamation was uttered in a tone that might mean anything. Then he read her his solicitors' letter.
"What a pity you divorced her! Avril meant to be funny, but Arthur

In those days Doreen and Avril rarely wrote to each other. Once only Doreen had written to Avril about the money.
"I wish you could persuade him to take it," she wrote, and towards the end of the letter:
"Of course, all the children must share it with Mouché when we are dead and gone."
"Dead and gone!" Avril repeated the words to herself and wondered which would die first, and whether, if she died, Arthur would marry Doreen again. "In the Resurrection whose wife shall she be?" she repeated to herself, and she was glad to think that in heaven there was neither marriage nor giving in marriage. But once she had been fearful, lest in heaven Arthur Trefusis should not recognize her.
What astonished Arthur Trefusis more than anything was, how it was that he had not discovered what a noble character Doreen's was. Yet may be, had he not been separated from her, this nobility would never have been developed.
"If I die, will you go back to Doreen?" Avril had asked him the night before her child was born.
"I don't think so," Arthur had answered absently, looking dreamily into the fire; then he had remembered and added hastily:
"What nonsense, you are not going to die. You are as fit as a fiddle. And he had taken her this white hand and kissed it, but Avril had drawn it away and turned her face to the wall that he might not see the great tears that welled to her eyes and sparkled in the fierce fire-light."
CHAPTER XVIII
Doreen was very disturbed as she laid down the morning paper and sent Rosalie for a telegraph form. The paper recorded the failure of a bank the solidity of which had been looked upon as only second to that of the Bank of England. She knew that the failure meant the complete ruin of George Farquharson's father. She saw a great deal of him in those days and knew all about his affairs.
"I don't believe they've a penny left," she said to herself as she wrote:
"Seen news, come and see me at once."
Rosalie was amazed at the rapidity with which she made her toilet, with the visible excitement and joy depicted in her mistress's face.
"Ce que c'est que l'argent tout de même," she philosophized, as she crossed a pair of silk stockings and lovingly prepared the toes for Doreen's pretty feet. It was delightful to finger that soft plant footgear after the "hiss thread" Doreen had been obliged to have recourse to during the spell of poverty which, in Rosalie's estimation, belonged exclusively to Estbon, and were to be thrust like that piece into the gruesome reminiscences of the past.
"How thankful I am that I am rich; what a mercy Arthur wouldn't take the money."
An hour later she was in her pretty boudoir throwing a shawl over the cages of brilliant birds that she might speak more clearly to George Farquharson.
"It's too unkind of you. I would never have thought you would have behaved so disgracefully to me." Her voice was loud and there was a suspicion of sob in it.
"How can I accept? Surely you must see that it is out of the question."
"I don't see it at all I think it is most unkind of you. The first thing I have really asked you to do for me. Talk of affection—"
George Farquharson came close to her.
"If you put it that way, well, I accept—only on one condition" (as Doreen looked up radiant).
"Well?"
"Surely you know what that is?"
"Oh, no, that, that, that, tempt me."
She buried her face in her hands. "Was it for his sake only that she must refuse him?" she asked herself. Quickly there flashed through her brain a picture, a picture of peace, companionship after the long, lonely, loneliness of self-respect restored, for she knew that under the circumstances George Farquharson's people would take her up and be kind to her, and the world would forget her.
But without an absolutely usual presentment in her mind she felt that the world held an image to which she belonged, that while it lived she could never be wholly George Farquharson's, and that as far as George Farquharson was concerned she cared for him too much to spoil his life.
"It is cruel to put it like that," she said presently.
"It is the only way." Once more she wondered how it was that George Farquharson had grown so firm in his ways. He seemed to her so different in the old days.
Naturally enough, when George told his father of her offer, the old man replied:
"I suppose she thinks she'll hook you by that."
George flushed up!

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas. "I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time."
"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham Remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Says the Summerside Pioneer:—On Thursday we were shown by Mr. John Dickson, of Summerside, a parsnip grown by him which measured exactly 3 feet and 5 1/2 inches from the crown to the end of the root. Audrey Fraser, aged 19 years, was arrested on Saturday night by Detective Fred Lucas, on the request of Colonel Maltby, magistrate at Newcastle, who says he holds a warrant against the young man, charging him with the theft of an overcoat. A telegram was received from Colonel Maltby by Chief Clark on Saturday, requesting that Fraser be held. Lucas arrested him soon after. When informed of the charge of theft against him, Fraser said it must be a mistake. He had borrowed a coat in Newcastle, he said, and he was under the impression that there was a misunderstanding somewhere. He will possibly be taken to Newcastle to-night or to-morrow morning.—Telegraph.

WANTED—A SMART BOY

A good opportunity is being offered by The Advocate to any smart boy, about 14 years of age, to learn a good trade. The boy who has ambition is the boy who will work himself up in the world but his ambition should not be wholly the earning of good pay at hard labor. It is a mistake for any young boy to wear out his life trying to do a man's work because he can get a man's pay. It is much better to learn a trade that will stand by him the year round and when in very few months he can earn more pay at easier and cleaner work, and be better off both socially and financially, than he otherwise would be by working at hard labor. This office wants a boy to learn the printing business, and will push along any smart boy who will take up the work. Better wages can be commanded in a few years than a boy could ever hope to get by day's labor. Call at the office and talk it over.

BRITISH LUMBER FIRM IN TROUBLE

Frank Harrison & Co., of Liverpool Shipped $80,000, 000 Feet From Miramichi

Chatham, Nov. 10.—It is understood here that the firm of Frank Harrison & Co., of Liverpool, England, are in financial difficulties, but to what extent it cannot at the moment be ascertained. It is thought that it may only be a temporary embarrassment as the losses which have occasioned these difficulties are not in connection with their large lumber operations but through such speculations. No one in the lumber business on this side is directly affected, as this firm have always paid cash on shipments for every deal they have bought. Their shipments from Miramichi and Campbellton amounted to eighty million superficial feet.

HOCKEY NEWS

St. Thomas College rink at Chatham, is having some additions added and when completed, will be the largest and most up-to-date rink in New Brunswick. The ice surface is 70x165 feet, which makes it a capital rink for hockey. According to reports Chatham will have a stronger hockey team this winter than ever.

Although Newcastle may not be able to produce as strong a team as Chatham, there is talk of organizing just the same, and some interesting games may be played here before the close of the season. Preparations will be made in good time for the making of ice, and the usual interest in this winter sport will be worked up.

Curling will also have its share of attention, and the prospects are good for new members joining.

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

The season for colds is at hand and unless the mother keeps a continual watch over her little ones cold will seize them and often more serious results follow. An occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets will prevent colds, or if they do come on suddenly the Tablets will clear the stomach and bowels and instantly relieve the baby from cold. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
