LOGGERS VS. SPECULATORS.

The Vancouver Saturday Sunset is displeased with the regulations imposed by the Interior Department regarding timber limits.

According to the Sunset the regulations impose a distinct hardship upon the already harassed lumber industry of British Columbia.

For the logger holding a logged-over claim, the Sunset expresses no concern, but it fears the new regulations seem to be designed to discriminate against the bona-fide logger.

This it appears to us, is exactly what the regulation does. It distinguishes very clearly between the bona-fide logger who is working his claim in a legitimate fashion and the man who is not doing so.

Discussing the sales of three Western timber limits, and after stating definitely that in every case the limit was sold to the highest bidder, the Edmonton Journal declares that "the Government was charged with these rascalities, it stubbornly denied that there were any, and deliberately refused to have an open inquiry."

Information is required on three points here: First, wherein is the "rascality" of selling an article to the highest bidder; second, when the Government was "charged" with "rascalities" in connection with the sale of these or any other timber limits; third, when the Government refused to have an open inquiry into any "charges" of "rascality" made against them by members of the Opposition.

Until this information is produced the Bulletin expresses the opinion that never since the Laurier Government came into power has any member of the Opposition "charged" that Government or any member of it with "rascalities" in connection with the sales of timber limits or any other matters; and that in consequence the Government has never "deliberately refused to have an open inquiry" into any "charges" of "rascality" made against it or any member of it.

AS TO 'CHARGES' OF 'RASCALITY.' The Edmonton Journal accuses itself for attacking the method of supplying seed grain by declaring that it did not do so, and then repeats the offense by asserting that so far as it can see there was "absolutely no justification" for distributing "unclean grain." This means either that the Government should have purchased no seed that contained any percentage of weed seeds, or that if they did so they should have removed every weed seed before distributing the grain.

THE SEED GRAIN. The Edmonton Journal attacks the seed grain distribution on the ground that the quality of the seed is inferior. The seed it declares "is for the most part bad," and "unfit for seed."

papers which have discussed the matter are equally convinced of the moral degeneracy of the raffish on the prairies and the immaculate business character of the British Columbia millmen. This is the more remarkable in the light of the findings of the Parliamentary committee that the doings of those gentlemen were of such nature as to require, at least investigation at the hands of the proper authorities.

THE MAIL'S PLAN. The proposal of the Mail and Empire that the G. T. P. should have been diverted to Montreal looks suspiciously like a masked plan to keep the traffic of the West in the hands of the C.P.R. From Montreal to the Canadian Atlantic seaboard are two lines of railway, the C.P.R. and the Intercolonial.

What was the situation which the Government sought to relieve? The farmers of the West, through unfortunate weather conditions, found themselves face to face with the problem of how to procure seed for the coming sowing.

It would have had the Government advance the seed without the notes when, of course, it would have quite properly criticized them for loaning the money of the people without equity.

It may be significant that the Journal discusses the subject in purely general terms—such terms as one might use about a subject on which he had made no inquiry and sought no information, or such as might be used by an interested party whose hopes of holding up the Government and the farmers to pay his price for his particular grain had been disappointed.

Mr. Victor S. Clark, Ph.D., of the United States Department of Commerce and Labor, has been in Alberta during the past few weeks studying the operation of the Lemieux Act for settling industrial disputes.

then built at all. History declares that if it had been built under the auspices of the Mail's friends it would have been as a privately-owned enterprise. That it is built at all, and that it is built as the perpetual possession of the Canadian people is tribute the Mail pays to the Government. A higher tribute could certainly not be paid them in the West, for whatever value the Grand Trunk Pacific may be to these Provinces, the eastern section will be infinitely more value.

The Federal Government cannot of course carry on immigration enforcement to the development of certain provinces as against the others. It is, however, the legitimate privilege of provincial, municipal and public bodies of the West to take measures to protect the advantages of the Western portion of the country, as distinguished from the Eastern Provinces, distinctively to the attention of prospective immigrants.

He had never seen an advertisement from the Canadian Pacific railway, asking for tenders for supplies. The contractor did not purchase them by tender and contract, but they had a list of persons who, being worth something in their trade, were thought competent to furnish the company's requirements. Mr. Borden had noted the manner in which the British fleet was provisioned at Halifax, but, in that case, there was no purchasing commission. The supplies were bought by a responsible officer.

CLOSING SESSION OF RED DEER CONVENTION

Butter and Cheese Men of Province—Highly Profitable Conference—Prize-Winners in Contests—Interesting Discussions.

Red Deer, April 12.—The second afternoon session of the Red Deer L.O.O.F. Hall, called to order at 7 o'clock. Each of these sessions grew in interest and best of all, attendance. Quite a number of the farmers were in today to the judging school and a great many stayed for the meeting in the afternoon.

There were two lines in stock of Red Deer. The first line was a pure bred line, and the second line was a mixed line. The pure bred line was a very good one, and the mixed line was also very good.

There was a lot of interest in the judging school, and the prize-winners were very good. The contests were very interesting, and the discussions were very profitable.

The speaker next dealt with the question of feeding. He said, "Feed is one of the most important factors in the success of a dairy herd. It is not only the quantity of feed, but the quality of feed that counts."

FOSTER'S PROPOSAL

Ottawa, Mar. 31.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster proposed in the House of Commons Monday the creation of a commission, appointed for life, to buy supplies required for government work, as this would be a breach of the principle of ministerial responsibility for public expenditure, the government would be carrying an amendment favoring public tender and contract wherever feasible.

Mr. Foster condemned the existing system as unbusinesslike. Modern business methods must be applied, he said; and a commission, vested in mercantile affairs and following each of the movements in prices, would place the government more in line with the times. There was great disparity in the prices paid by the government for the same thing. How was it, for instance, the militia could be fed for very much less than the men on government steamers? He moved that "all supplies, purchased for the use of the various departments, should be procured on the basis of public tender and contract, under the direction of a competent purchasing commission and with regard primarily to quality and price."

Through the Yellowhead Pass. Montreal Herald—It takes only a few lines in a newspaper to tell that contractors have been let for the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific for 120 miles west of Edmonton, and that tenders have been invited for another 129 miles beyond that. But it is something to see the government doing this latter section is completed the road will be fifty miles beyond the head of the Yellowhead Pass. This is a great national project from many points. They are working out from Prince Rupert, they are working west from Edmonton. They are spanning the prairie as fast as the rails can be put in place. They are cutting rock and filling mudways to the west of Lake Superior. They are at work along the height of land between the mountains and the prairie. Mr. Klipping does well to speak of "drive" as the characteristic note of present day Canadian existence. "Drive" there certainly is, all the way across a continent, to get the Grand Trunk Pacific finished and ready for business.

It is worthy of note that the expenditure on the project comes at a very acceptable time, a time when other impulses to business have taken part of their force. Mr. Fielder's calculation that thirty million dollars will be spent by the government this year upon its part of the time, and that the Grand Trunk's expenditure in other parts of it besides. Thirty millions dollars means a hundred thousand dollars for every working day in the year, and practically the whole of that finds its way into the channels of commerce and industry in one way and another. At a time when the check to industry and commerce is only moderate and temporary, so large an addition to the ordinary working capital ought to be the means of carrying the country unscathed through whatever difficulties supervene. As to the more permanent utility of this expenditure, most Canadians will cordially agree with Mr. Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury in the United States, that "the development throughout Western Canada in the next ten years will probably exceed that of any other country in the world's history," and are equally convinced that the railways must play the most important part in that development.

THE SUPERINTENDENT REVIEWED THE WORK

C. Marker, Superintendent of Provincial Creameries, Gives Red Deer Convention a Statement of Year's Work—Other Interesting Addresses.

Red Deer, April 8.—The second session of the convention of Alberta Butter and Cheese makers held last evening in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Mr. Marker, in closing the discussion asked the Creamery men to try to get their best butter by a more judicious use of salt.

Mr. Marker next introduced the subject of Cold Storage and said that it gave him great pleasure to meet his fellow workers and discuss with them the subject of cold storage.

It was important that Cold Storage should be well managed and good butter well preserved. Some good butter makers considered their responsibility ended there but he thought that they ought to see their product on the shelves.

Three days were necessary in cold storage, cold atmosphere, dry atmosphere and pure atmosphere. To get pure atmosphere the tubes should be cleaned out of the spring, and two or three times during the summer.

It was hard to get a dry atmosphere as the butter contracts and expands the moisture, which soaks through the floor, and wets the insulating material.

It was most important that the butter should be well looked after in storage. Good butter will deteriorate very quickly in poor storage.

Mr. Marker, in speaking on this topic said its importance is not appreciated. The storage should be used for butter alone and not for a lumber storehouse.

Mr. Scott next addressed the meeting in composite sampling. This subject is representative of the average percentage of cream delivered during the time that composite sample is taken.

ALBERTA OBSERVES THE LORD'S DAY ACT

Better Than Any Other Province in the Dominion, Says Rev. T. Albert Moore—He Declares People of Province Behind Act in Giving Attorney-General Credit in Giving People Right to Rest Day.

Toronto, April 8.—"Today in Winnipeg the Lord's Day Act is very much better understood, and is generally recognized as a reasonable measure to preserve the right to rest from labor on Sunday, and the Lord's Day Alliance was never more popular in the interview on his return from the west."

Mr. Moore stated that he has been examined and tested by half a dozen experts. Mr. Simpson, interviewed by the Westminster Gazette, correspondent, said: "Yes, there is no mistake about it. My weapon is quite a misnomer to call it a gun—it will throw a shell quite 200 miles. In fact, it will throw very good shells."

It is quite easy for my weapon to project fifty shells of 500 yards. In fact, the distance is practically no object. Again, it makes no difference how far you throw it. A heavy one can follow a light one and a long one can follow a short one. The distance is not a factor. The distance is not a factor. The distance is not a factor.

This plea is entirely destroyed by the example of Essex, in which this municipality has been taken from a smaller and added to a larger riding.

As the time draws near the closing of entries in the Alberta musical festival to be held on May 5th, and 6th, at the University Institute, the affair will assume even greater proportions than at first anticipated. The entries for the festival are now in full swing, and the old days of the past mining seems gone, and the population of the district is not likely to be that it once was. The work of the great gold trust in the district is being carried out on a large scale, and it is not unlikely possible that there will be 2,500 men employed when everything is in full swing.

Mr. Dever declared himself very favorably impressed with the surrounding country, and believed that what he had seen in his brief visit to Edmonton was indicative of the future of the province to become a large center of population. Both left to proceed to Okanagan.

CAMROSE APPEAL CASE

(From Saturday's Bulletin.)
An interesting appeal case in which a large number of Camrose farmers are interested, was argued before the full court yesterday. This was an appeal by the defendants in the case of Eben Gladst, August Link, et al. vs. John Lineham, Grisham, O'Connor & Allison, appeal for the plaintiffs, and W. J. Logie, et al. vs. the defendants. In this case the plaintiffs were 87 farmers residing near Camrose, and the defendants were R. C. Corey, of Leavins, an organizer, John Lineham, of Okotoks, a capitalist and the Merchants Bank at Camrose.

In June 1935, according to the statement of claim, the defendant R. L. Corey, induced the plaintiffs to sign and deliver to him certain promissory notes in his favor for $30 each, payable $10 per year with interest at 4 per cent. The plaintiffs had been induced to do so by Corey's representations that the notes were for the purchase of land, and that Corey would see to it that the plaintiffs would have the privilege of storing grain in the elevator one month free of charge. The plaintiffs had been induced to do so by Corey's representations that the notes were for the purchase of land, and that Corey would see to it that the plaintiffs would have the privilege of storing grain in the elevator one month free of charge.

It is claimed that the plaintiffs have only recently come to Canada and cannot speak or understand English and they believe the representations of the defendant Corey, and signed the notes. They now claim that Corey was not a government agent nor under bond. That he refused to give the elevator and building contracts for the notes, and that he has placed these notes in the Merchants Bank for collection. They claim that John E. Lineham, the holder of the notes, has instructed the Merchants Bank to deliver these notes. They therefore claim the notes and $100,000 in interest.

The defendants say the notes were not fraudulently obtained. They claim the agreement they made with Corey was not a loan, and that Lineham is not a government agent. They claim Corey is not a government agent and that Corey is not a government agent.

The case was tried before a jury and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs. The judge set aside the verdict and ordered a new trial.
