The Butler Case.

When the writer of that article says that in the opinion of almost all present at the trial, the evidence established almost conclusively that the girl was a consenting party, he makes a statement entirely without foundation.

Nearly all present were satisfied the girl was a consenting party and no one could pretend to say even on her own evidence that she offered any thing like active resistance.

The charge against the prisoner was not for committing incest or an attempt to do so, as there is no such crime known to our law, but simply that he had attempted to force the girl. Now to establish a charge of this kind it must be shown conclusively that the girl offered resistance, and the relationship between the parties cannot be taken into account.

No one who heard the evidence, not even the Counsel for the Crown, would pretend to say that, irrespective of the supposed relation between the prisoner and the girl, the crime had been established.

The legal Editor of the Advertiser appears to think that the principle of our law, which gives the accused the benefit of any doubt which may exist as to his guilt, should be limited in its application to persons charged with trifling offences, but that when the crime charged is of an aggravated nature, and diabolically wicked, the accused should be punished, even though there should be a doubt of his guilt.

However, the principle could have no application to the present case, as there was no doubt that the prisoner was innocent of the charge against him.

Political Items.

It is generally considered that Sir Francis Hincks' acceptance of a nomination in Vancouver's Island indicates weakness on the part of the Government.

It is fully believed that the Government cannot but for a short time survive the meeting of Parliament.

The Reformers of Huron and Perth intend to hold a grand Reform Demonstration at Seaforth on the 17th September.

The following leading men of the party are to be invited.—Hon. George Brown, Hon. A. Mackenzie, Hon. A. McKellar, and Messrs. Young and Wood, and the local members, together with Messrs. Redford and Somerville, who though defeated made a good fight.

Advices from the Lower Provinces represent that the crushing defeats experienced by two of the members of the Government are having a most injurious effect upon the Cabinet.

The impression prevails largely in Nova Scotia and in some parts of New Brunswick, that a change in the Government is sure to take place.

Conservatives in Toronto outside of the Mail staff acknowledge that the Government will have but a small majority, which will be made up from Independent members.

TO ADVERTISERS.
 Hereafter parties who have contracted advertisements in the WEEKLY MERCURY must bring in their fresh advertisements, or give us notice of the same, on Saturday, before the first side of the next week's paper is printed. We are obliged to make this rule in order to prevent the duplicating of advertisements which is sometimes the case now, and which we cannot do in future on account of our crowded space.

Reform Demonstration in Mount Forest.

At a meeting of the Mount Forest Branch Reform Association, held on Monday evening, it was resolved to celebrate the late Reform victories in Wellington and Grey by a public dinner, to be held in that village, on Friday 20th Sept. Messrs. Brown, MacKenzie, McKellar, Young and other leading Reformers have been invited, also the Reform members lately elected for Wellington and Grey. We have no doubt the demonstration will be a great success, and will be largely attended by Reformers from both Counties. We would suggest, however, that it should be held on Thursday the 19th, instead of Friday, as the Minto Township Show will be held on that day, and no doubt some of the members elect will desire to be there. We hope our Mount Forest friends will take the hint and change the day to the 19th.

The Three Emperors.

The meeting of the Emperors of Germany, Russia and Austria at Berlin is attracting considerable attention in diplomatic circles. The event itself is of importance, for it foreshadows one of two things—either the cultivation of friendly relations between these great potentates, which may result in a prolonged peace; or a mere ceremonial visit, to the German Kaiser, with hollow pretences of friendship, which may be maintained only so long as suits the purposes of the other two emperors. Still, judging from the historical record of the past two years in Europe—the deadly struggle in which France and Germany were engaged and the results which followed that great conflict—we are led to believe and hope that the object of the present meeting is of a pacific character. Russia stood aloof during the Franco-German war. She shared in the common delusion that the issue would be a drawn battle, and that when both powers had thoroughly exhausted themselves, she could pursue her policy unmolested. She felt herself equal to cope with Turkey and Austria, and believed that Britain would abstain from interference. But the Sedan victory dissipated these calculations. The close of the war proved the incontestible military superiority of Germany, which crushed France for years, and gave to Bismarck the power of dictating to Europe. Had Russia interfered, or assisted France, her fate might have been very different, but as it now is, Germany controls the fate of Europe, and Russia has to stand by and acquiesce in her policy whether she likes it or not. The ambition of Russia is one of aggression on Central Europe and Constantinople, but whatever may be the Czar's secret aspirations, he finds it more convenient to extend his empire eastwardly, and he is at this time sending an army to the conquest of Riva. He could not encroach on the Danube without fighting Germany, Austria, and Turkey, single-handed and in the present position of Germany it would be madness to attempt any aggressive movement in that direction.

Austria is merely thrown in to make up the magic trio. She has not yet recovered from her war with Germany, and now that she is entirely bereft of her dependencies in Italy, with her finances still crippled, and the consolidation of the Empire not yet completed, she is at present powerless either for good or evil, and will per force have to acquiesce in the policy chalked out by her more powerful neighbors. It is hard to say what that policy may be, but it is quite certain that so long as Germany, Russia and Austria cordially co-operate, no nation on the continent can presume to disturb the peace, and therefore civilization will be the gainer by the proposed alliance.

DR. STEWART THE OCEANIST.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Dr. Stewart, the well-known oculist, who proposes to be in Guelph from the 10th to the 16th of September. Dr. Stewart has had much experience in the treatment of diseases of the eye and ear. Those afflicted with diseases in these organs should call and see him.

New Brunswick Letter.

Your correspondent before entering upon his duties as chronicler of every day events, has determined to give a few short sketches of the principal towns and districts in this Province, thereby preparing the minds of the readers of the MERCURY for enjoying the news items which from time to time will be contained in these our letters. Let us therefore begin with an epitomized description of the capital, hoping that, dry as our description may be, it may induce many of our Western kindred to pay a visit to the Maritime Provinces, with their cool, exhilarating breezes and healthy holiday excitements.

Few have visited New Brunswick without spending a short time in investigating the places of interest in and around Fredericton, which many of our newspapers, with a heavenly exuberance, have apostrophized as

THE CELESTIAL CITY.

Some months ago a series of exhaustive articles, well-written and interesting, appeared in the columns of the St. John's Tribune, which, if published in separate forms, would be an excellent guide to the tourist during his celestial rambles, giving him a readable and reliable account of the various institutions, buildings and factories of which this small, but highly aristocratic city, boasts. We may mention for the benefit of those who expect to visit this part of the world at some period of their lives, that the two best guide-books are EASTMAN'S and LEVING'S. The former is published monthly, and contains all the information about railroads and steamboats, with interesting notes and anecdotes of the places through which the traveller may pass, thus enabling the visitor to visit without total ignorance, any part of New Brunswick. There are two routes by which the tourist may reach Fredericton from St. John; one by railroad, the other by steamboat. The railway depot is in Carleton, which lies opposite the city proper, in communication with St. John by means of the St. John's Western Extension. The Indian town wharf is as far down as the steamboats for Fredericton town may go, the falls of the river at the Suspension Bridge preventing them from passing up and down with any certainty as to time. We advise strangers to go by rail and return by steamboat, or vice versa; for by doing so they will not miss the beautiful scenery on the river, or the interesting sight on the Fredericton Railway.

ALL ABOARD!

sung by the commander of the Western Extension by a shrill steam whistle, is the signal for the dingy rush passengers on their way across the harbour. This boat is new, being built after the model of those which ply between Brooklyn and New York, and like the big drum of the Boston jubilee, which, when built, required the side of the house to be taken down for its exit, was unable to run until its wharves were improved and the harbour deepened. Now it runs regularly, loaded with crowds of people every trip.

There is a P. P. C. behind the usual second and first-class cars on the trains leaving this station; by which, however, you cannot reach Fredericton. It goes to Bangor, and a comfortable ride, especially when that ride is more than half a day in its duration, may be looked upon as one of the many philanthropic inventions of the present age. In our trip we took the regular car, where finding most going in our direction we had the benefit of their company and conversation; but, in contradistinction to other humane correspondents, we do not intend, in our letter, to speculate on the business which carried from their homes our fellow-travellers. Neither will we describe the nobly dressed gent with the gold spectacles and eye-glass, the former, or perpetually, the latter lifted periodically and obsequiously when anything extraordinary attracted his attention; nor shall we distinguish with a laugh, the good-looking matron with her levy of noisy children, romping from one end of the carriage, and calling their mother by her Christian name. Not one word will we breathe of the sallow-faced Yankee, who, with his feet up on the opposite seat, would occasionally thrust his swan-like neck out of the open window, and audibly whisper a sneer at the wear of entree he saw everywhere, while his Washington nose plainly said: "You ain't got nothin' here kin beat us on the other side o' the line." No, these personages have all been described so truthfully, so life-like by myriads of newspaper correspondents, that were we to go over by same ground, our worthy friend, the editor of the MERCURY, might consign us to the waste-basket as plagiarists. We intend to be somewhat utilitarian in our remarks, so that a citizen of Guelph may find his way, without much trouble, to the Queen of Provincial cities, when he has pursued them.

THE RAILWAY ARRANGEMENTS.

from St John to Fredericton Junction are on the most improved plan; comfortable cars, ice water, interesting reading matter, gentlemanly conductors, &c. The buildings at the Junction, belonging to the Railway Company, are neat and commodious; those situated around them are for the most part mere shanties; and if the internal arrangements of the various places of refreshment partake of their outward architectural beauty, those who take their luncheon in them will lose nothing by taking it standing. A little drop of something must be gulped down, however, or the passenger will be choked before he reaches Fredericton, with the wood cinders which fly in at the doors and windows, from the smoke stack of an old wheezy engine, which puffs and blows like an old broken-winded horse. When Fredericton is reached the passenger may congratulate himself if he has escaped with a soiled countenance. We hear that new engines and new cars have been ordered by the managers of this line; the sooner they arrive the better for the credit of New Brunswick and white men. Negroes might revel in the dust with impunity, but the Yankee tourist detests a swarthy skin, and more so when that swarthinness is produced on himself within a period of two hours.

The city, according to the various guide books and our own observations, is built on a level track of land on the right bank of the river. The streets are regular and judiciously laid off, and, from the nature of the soil, are during summer dry and dusty, and shaded with trees on either side. From the opposite shore the whole place presents an imposing appearance, with its numerous residences enshrined with trees, and its many public buildings, spires and flag-poles. Along the river are many wharves leading up to the principal street, on one side of which are the chief hotels, and most important stores, and on the other side the City Hall, the Training School, the Barracks and Court House.

The City Hall is a large, square, brick building, with three flats: the lower a market place; the second, the rendezvous for the city officers; and the highest a hall capable of seating a thousand persons.

The Training School is a large stone building, with a wide commodious playground. When we visited the institution the Model Schools were dismissed for their holidays, and the usual monthly written examinations were being held with the students, of whom there was a large class. All the arrangements seemed admirable; while the examination papers showed the high standard to which the students were expected to attain before becoming graduates. The Principal of the institution, William Crockett, Esq., A. M., has, through his energy and ability, raised the school to a high position; and with more suitable buildings it will, in time, become one of the most important Normal Colleges in the Dominion.

FALL ADVERTISING.—The London Advertiser has a word in season on this subject. Our merchants in all lines of trade are brightening up their stores, sorting up their stock and re-marking goods—all on the look out to secure a share of the "fall business." Nearly all the successful dealers in this city and throughout the Dominion have become thorough believers in newspaper advertising. They have found out that nothing pays so well if judiciously done. Some old drones we have seen, who purchase heavy and varied stock, mark their price and then contentedly sit down to wait for customers! Why not let the people know all about it? Unlike the past decade the newspaper is read in almost every family, the home without being a rare exception. . . . No merchant can afford to do without advertising. There is no other direct way of attracting the attention of the public; new people are moving here every day, and the merchant who keeps his name most prominent is the man who gets the first call. The great secret of advertising is to always live up to it. Never announce the arrival of goods you haven't got, and don't say you intend to sell cheaper than your neighbor, unless you can do it.

Many people will assent heartily to the principle that the best possible cure for a sheep-dog is to kill him at the earliest practicable moment, but there may be exceptional cases. A correspondent of the London Field, seems to think so at least, and relates an instance where, after other attempts had failed, a fine Newfoundland dog was cured by tying him to two old Scotch rams, and left to such amusement as he could extract from their society. The result was an extensive ramble over hill and dale, hedges and ditches, and diversified of course by the discordant views each ram and the dog entertained as to the route for enjoying the best scenery. When all three were very tired they were loosed, and nothing thereafter was so extremely offensive to that dog's tastes as the society of sheep.

The Edinburgh Court of Session has decided that the women students at the University in that city are enabled to complete their curriculum as medical students, and to be graduated on the usual conditions. The ladies thus obtain as a right what they have long sought as a favor. The decision will put some of the professors in an awkward position, as they have declared all along that they would resign rather than teach women.

A Chemical Food and Nutrient Tonic.
Without Phosphorus no thought, say the Germans, and they might add, no action; since Phosphorus and the Compounds are known to be the motive power of the nervous and muscular system. They constitute more than half the material of the human body, being found in every tissue, and their presence is absolutely essential to nutrition, as they promote the conversion of albumen in the food into fibrine, which is the vitalizing agent of pure, healthy blood. They are now coming into universal use in Europe and America in the treatment of Scrophulous, Consumptive and Venereal diseases, which are caused by impoverished or poisoned blood; and in diseases of women suffering from irregularities, obstructions and exhausting discharges, in pale, puny children, and that condition of nervous and physical prostration resulting from bad habits, excessive use of stimulants and tobacco, and all that train of evils known as fast life. The great reliability and promptness in its effects in immediately and permanently restoring the debilitated constitution has made DR. WHELAN'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA a great favorite with the Physicians and Public. Sold at $1.00.
