Hamilton Public Library

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon la cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. "THE ROYAL HOTEL"

IT HAS been said, and truly, that this is Canada's growing time, and that no place shows it more than does Hamilton, with its ever enlarging factories and mills, its busy stores and its constantly employed and happy people. In no respect, however, is Hamilton's growth and development so clearly indicated as in her hotels, and how can any city hope to hold her place among her rivals unless she has the accommodation for the great and luxury-loving, travelling population. In every city there must be one hotel that is The Hotel, and in Hamilton it is the Royal Hotel. In years gone by the Royal was always Hamilton's leading hotel, but to-day the Hotel Royal gives the city its high standing throughout Canada and the United States as a city of high-class and ample hotel accommodation.

Centrally situated, and on the through route of the city's one electric car service, it is but a few minutes' ride from any of the railway stations, and passengers from any of the suburban electric lines are within easy access of the hotel.

Its main entrance on James street opens into a large, spacious and elegant rotunda, modeled somewhat after the Waldorf-Astoria, with mosaic floor, marble pillars and wainscot and mirrors of the finest plate glass. On the left hand side is the office, with the main entrance and elevator immediately in rear. The staircase is in marble and elaborate brass work, all the best hand work. To the right of the rotunda is the reading room, a picture of ease and comfort. It faces James street and is wainscoted in mahogany panels. By the reading room are the news and telegraph office, cigar stand and barber shop. The crowning feature of the modern, high-class rotunda is the palm house, with its panelled and arched ceiling, extending into the second and third storey, and enriched by the highest types of the plasterers' art. The palm room overlooks the rotunda on all sides and forms a delightful promenade where, mid flowers, birds and music, scenes of gay festivity are enacted.

Directly in rear of the rotunda are the entrances to the main and auxiliary dining halls and the hallway to the bar. It is doing no other hotel an injustice to say that there is no other dining hall in the country quite as inviting or quite as handsome as that of the Hotel Royal. It has a high, vaulted ceiling, in panels. The panels are deeply set in enriched borders, and all combine to make an elaborate arch from end to end of the room. Marble columns support the vaulted ceiling, the walls are set in the finest plate glass. The lighting is unique. It is done by the means of incandescent lights at the base of the arch and hidden from view from the floor of the hall by massive and rich art plaster work. Against the wall all around the room are pilasters, corresponding to the enriched columns, and the spaces between the pilasters are wainscoted. The woodwork throughout is selected and quartered oak. Adjoining the main dining hall, and connected with it by four large double doors, is the auxiliary dining hall, where late dinners are served and where the overflow from the main hall in times of large gatherings can be accommodated in comfort. The main hall has not the appearance of a very large room, yet, if need be, 280 to 300 can be accommodated in it at one time and half as many can be looked after in the auxiliary room. The auxiliary room is finished in quartered sycamore, and its windows overlook a well-kept garden. The rooms are laid out with a view to the very best and quickest attention to the desires of guests.

THE ROYAL CAFE.

A very decided feature of the Hotel Royal is the new Cafe recently added to the equipment, and which is situated, with external and internal entrances, immediately to the north of the office and main corridor. The Cafe is elaborately appointed and has become a very popular resort among theatre parties and others who enjoy a seasonable repast at irregular hours. The Cafe is beautifully finished in maroon and provided with expensive and tasty furniture. The tables are provided with individual incandescence lamps, equipped with vari-colored shades, the effect being to produce a soft and charming light over the whole.

A chef of rare excellence presides over the cuisine of this department, and the Cafe has already become noted for the splendor of its offerings and the magnificence of its service. The Cafe is open daily, except Sunday, between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 a.m., although special arrangements may be made for accommodation at any hour of the day or night.

The bar is finished in mahogany and the walls are set with mirrors. The sideboard is one of the finest pieces of work of this sort ever produced by skilled cabinet makers, and one of the largest in the country. Cosy wine rooms surround the room, which has its main entrance on Merrick street. Lavatories finished in marble are on the right of the hall leading to the bar from the office, and at the end of the hall is the billiard room.

In re-modeling of the Hotel Royal close attention has been paid to the laying out, finishing and furnishing of the bedrooms. The floors are all hardwood and the carpets are rich and elegant. On the second floor are twenty large elegant rooms furnished with twin beds, the latest wrinkle from England, double and single beds, and with adjustable chairs, couches, divans and all other articles of furniture that go to promote luxury. Each of these rooms has a separate bathroom with enamelled porcelain baths and syphon closets. Each room has also the latest thing in clothes closets—a large corner closet.

Brass beds and bedroom furniture in all sorts of select woods are used and all the remaining bedrooms are furnished comfortably and well, and the rooms are bright, airy and well ventilated.

On the first floor is a very snug gentlemen's reading and smoking room.

Large and well lighted sample rooms are situated in the north wing. They are easy of access and laid out with a view to the convenience of both travelers and buyers. They have polished hardwood floors, improved shelving and plenty of it, and all other conveniences.

The hotel is heated throughout by steam, having radiators in every room, and ample boiler capacity. Those who desire, however, can have rooms with grates. Electricity is used throughout the entire building for lighting, and there is a switch at every door. The hotel has a separate elevator for baggage, and is thoroughly up-to-date in every respect.

The proprietors, Mr. Robert R. Simpson and Mr. Harry Melutye, are gentlemen of long and thorough experience, and it is their aim to leave nothing undone towards the comfort and entertainment of the guests that honor the Hotel Royal. They are surrounded by an able staff. One visit to the Hotel Royal will prove that in every respect it is the finest hotel in the Province of Ontario, and is second to none of its size on the continent.

HAMILTON THE BEAUTIFUL

Brief Sketch of the Ambitious and Flourishing City. Information for the Traveller and Pleasure Seeker.

THE beautiful and flourishing City of Hamilton, called the Ambitious City, is situated on the south shore of Hamilton Bay, the western extremity of Lake Ontario. For scenery it is unsurpassed by any city in Ontario, perhaps Canada, lying in a valley between the bay and the mountain, which forms a part of the Niagara escarpment. A beautiful view can be obtained from the mountain. Below lies the city with its many fine buildings, and well laid out streets and avenues, and to the north-east is Lake Ontario. The country can be seen for miles around.

Up to the year 1669 no white man had ever set foot on the ground upon which Hamilton now stands. The mountain was crowned by a forest of magnificent pines, maples, beeches, elms, and other stately trees, indigenous to the country. The mountain side was covered by a tangled mass of growing and fallen trees, shrubs, vines and brambles so closely interwoven that but little of the rocky face of the escarpment was exposed to view. Where the city now stands the rich soil was thickly studded with gigantic trees, in the shade of which grew a jungle of underbrush, which kept the ground moist and marshy throughout the driest summer. The bay was then called Macassa (beautiful water) by the Indians. One day in September, 1869 some Indians who were encamped at the Burlington end of the Beach saw a strange sight. Coming over the lake from the direction of the great river that plunges over the mountain was seen a great ship of the pale face, with its sails spread to the gentle breeze. The great ship glided along parallel to the shore, then steered into the natural canal near the northern end of the Beach, and which then connected the bay with the lake. On over the surface of the Macassa water went the great ship, until it finally stopped under the bluff on the south shore now known as Point Hill. The Indians noticed that the men in the great canoe wore strange costumes, carried strange arms, and their faces were pale. It was Sieur de la Salle, and his adventurous company of explorers, and the great Frenchman's was the first white man's foot that ever trod upon the site of the Ambitious City. La Salle had started from Lachine with the avowed purpose of following the lakes and rivers until he reached the Pacific Ocean. He coasted along the southern shore of Lake Ontario, passed the Niagara river, came on west to the beautiful Macassa bay, and found that there was no thoroughfare to the Pacific in this particular direction. La Salle and his party landed at the spot upon which the Grand Trunk Station now stands, encamped upon the bluffs above, and proceeded to their enjoyment of the hunt. Game was very plentiful, and the adventurous Frenchman revelled for days on venison, grouse, duck and goose. La Salle was not favorably impressed with the soil. The mountain springs made it marshy, and the Indian grass grew tall and rank. Rattlesnakes swarmed everywhere, and the September mosquito—the smallest and most noiseless and active of its species, caused much discomfort. During his stay La Salle followed up the course of a mountain torrent and found himself on the mountain top near the spot upon which the Mountain View Hotel now stands, and from which outlook he enjoyed the most glorious view the new world had afforded him. The French party's visit to Hamilton Bay resulted in nothing of consequence. La Salle made a remarkably inaccurate map, which was subsequently published by Father Galinee. La Salle and his voyageurs sailed away, and for nearly a hundred years the site of Hamilton saw white man no more.

The first white settler was Robert Land, a U. E. Loyalist, who came from Pennsylvania. He cleared and broke up a small patch of land and built for himself a homestead near the Land homestead on the east side of Wentworth street, north of Barton street. In 1813 George Hamilton, member of Parliament for the Gore District, laid out the nucleus of the present city in town lots, and the place was called after him. Ever since then Hamilton has been growing steadily, the present population being over 90,000. The area of the city is 7,500 acres, and the assessment is almost $60,000,000. It became a city in 1847, Colln C. Ferrie being the first Mayor.

Hamilton is known as the 'Birmingham of Canada,' because of the large number of manufacturing establishments, employing thousands of men. The civic Government consists of a mayor, board of control, and sixteen aldermen. The city is represented by two members in the Dominion Government and two in the Legislature. The total debt is about 6,000,000, but the City has many valuable assets, owning and operating its own water system and having fine public buildings and schools. Recently the new Collegiate Institute, Technical School and Ontario Normal College were built. It was the first city in Canada to establish a system of sewage disposal, and frequently deputations come here to see how Hamilton has solved the vexed problem. Hamilton has also taken the lead in the building of radial railways, four lines of electric railways running to neighboring towns. The building of these railways has been a great boom to business, the merchants benefiting to a great extent. Other lines are projected, and when they are completed Hamilton will have a network of radial railways stretching in all directions. Hamilton has direct connection with the Grand Trunk, C. P. R., T., H. & B. and M. C. Railways. In addition there is a steamship service between Hamilton and Toronto and Montreal. Lake Navigation has increased wonderfully in recent years, a large trade being done. Hamilton is the home of the Inland Lines, operating a fleet of lake steamers.

Hamilton boasts of its fire department, the best in Canada for its size; the police department, and its public buildings. It has a good trolley service. The city is well lighted by electricity supplied by the Cataract Power Company, and in the majority of the manufacturing establishments electric power has taken the place of steam. There are three live newspapers, besides several weekly editions.

CHURCHES.

There are 13 Anglican churches, Christ Church Cathedral, Church of Ascension, St. Thomas' Church, All Saints, St. Mark's, St. Luke's, St. Matthew's, St. John the Evangelist, St. George's, St. Peter's, St. James', St. Stephen's and St. Philip's. The Roman Catholics have five churches, St. Mary's, which is the cathedral church, St. Patrick's, St. Lawrence, St. Joseph's and St. Ann's. The Presbyterians number 12 churches, designated the Central Church, Macnab Street Church, St. Paul's, Knox Church, St. John, Erskine, St. Andrew's, St. James, Westmount, St. Giles, Cumberland, and Laidlaw Mission. The Methodists have 10 churches, called the Centenary, Central, First Methodist, Zion Tabernacle, Simcoe Street, Emerald Street, Barton Street, Charlton Avenue, and Ryerson. The Baptists have 7 churches and other religious bodies have their places of worship.

Hamilton is justly proud of its military corps. The Thirteenth Royal Regiment is considered to be the crack regiment of Canada. The famous Thirteenth Band is known all over Canada and the United States. The Ninety-first Highlanders, popularly known as "the Killies," in the picturesque and attractive uniform, adds diversity to the military corps of the city, while the guns are well represented by the Fourth Field Battery. In addition there is a cavalry corps known as the Second Dragoons. A magnificent new armory was recently completed, the old building being totally inadequate for its requirements.

Hamilton's financial and banking institutions are sound and are managed by shrewd and careful financiers. The Bank of Hamilton has a number of agencies throughout the Dominion.

Hamilton is distant 40 miles from Toronto; St. Catharines, 31; London, 75; Detroit,

In the world of sport Hamilton is prominent, having baseball, football, lacrosse and rowing clubs, a jockey club, trotting association, yacht clubs, two cricket clubs, besides other sporting organizations. It is also the home of the road race, originating the well known runners, Bobby Kerr, Caffrey, Sherring, Longboat, LeBarre Bennett and Davis.

SCHOOLS.

The school system of Hamilton comprises the Public Schools, Collegiate Institute, Technical School and the Normal College. In the Public Schools there is an average attendance of 8 000 pupils and over 200 teachers. The schools are managed by a Board of Education, consisting of twenty members, fourteen of whom are elected by the people and six appointed by the Board of Aldermen. In addition to the Public Schools there are also eight Separate Roman Catholic Schools in Hamilton. The average number of pupils attending these schools is 2,000. A Ladies' School of high grade is also conducted by the Sisters of Loretto, and is held in high esteem. Besides the public schools of the City there are private institutions for commercial and business training, for art tuition, a Public Art School was founded in 1865, and to-day occupies premises in the Technical School which, for their equipment, are scarcely surpassed by any art school in America.

THE FUTURE OF HAMILTON.

The foregoing article deals only in a general way in a description of the City of Hamilton, and it remains now to add a few words concerning the future of the place which has, appropriately enough, been named the "Electric Hub of the Universe." It was some years ago that the transmitting of electric energy from Niagara Falls to this city, a distance of about thirty-five miles, first came to the mind of gentlemen who have been prominently identified with many enterprises of a sort beneficial to Hamilton in the past several years. The result of this idea was the formation of the Cataract Power Company, the erection of an immense plant for the generation of electricity at DeCew Falls, and the transmission of this power to the City of Hamilton, the latter object having been accomplished in the fall of 1898. The result of this enterprise has been to supply the city with an almost inexhaustible supply of electric power that could not fail to attract the attention of large manufacturers throughout the world. Already a number of important manufacturers have sprung up, and preparations are being made for the erection of some of the most extensive plants—wherein the question of power is regarded as an important factor—on this continent. The Cataract Power Company has absorbed the several electric lighting and railway plants in and around the city, and has contracted to supply the necessary power for the operation of numerous industries doing business in the city. The presence of this important factor in Hamilton has also led to the establishment of the works of the International Harvester Co., which has erected an immense plant in the northeastern portion of the city, and which directly and indirectly, furnishes employment for not less than five thousand persons. The establishment of these works has been followed by the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, the Canadian Otis Elevator Co., the Oliver Chilled Plow Co., the National Fire Proofing Company of Canada, the Grassell Chemical Co., the National Steel Car Co. and others. The wonderful advantages possessed by Hamilton in the matter of cheap electric power is conceded by Toronto, Montreal and other Canadian manufacturing centres, and it is a foregone conclusion that it cannot but attract the attention of many a locating manufacturer. The city has already commenced to feel the effects of this great commercial blessing, and the prediction is freely made that the city's population will easily be doubled within the next five years. Surely Hamilton is the home of the hustler.
