GLASGOW MORE SOBER

Glasgow, Jan. 4.—(By Mail)—A remarkable diminution in the number of convictions for drunkenness has taken place in Glasgow during the past year, and the police attribute it to the scarcity of money, the prevalence of unemployment, and the high prices which are still charged for drink. One big police division, comprising typically lower grade districts, had only 1,400 prosecutions for drunkenness in 1921, while the total for the previous year was 2,600.

FIRST PREACHER SPEAKS AT 50TH ANNIVERSARY

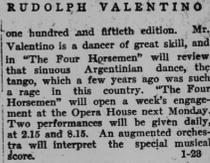

Rev. Dr. Heartz, 80 Years Old, at Golden Jubilee of Bridgetown Church—Only Three Others of First Congregation Present.

(Special to The Times) Bridgetown, N. S., Jan. 23.—The jubilee celebration of the Gordon Providence United Church opened yesterday in what was known when it was built fifty years ago as the Providence Methodist Church. Besides the first pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Heartz, there were on the platform three other former pastors, Rev. C. J. and Rev. W. H. Langille. In the absence of the present pastor, Rev. John H. Freestone, who was conducting a morning service at Benville, the service was conducted by Rev. W. H. Langille. The music was furnished by a full choir under the leadership of R. J. Messenger. Rev. Mr. Langille introduced the preacher of the morning, Rev. Dr. Heartz, now more than eighty years of age, who was the first preacher when the church was dedicated, fifty years ago. Mr. Heartz said that before commencing his sermon he would like to ask all those who were present in the congregation who were also present fifty years ago to hold up their right hand. There were only three besides Mr. Heartz himself, B. P. Parker, Mrs. W. F. Fowler and Mrs. A. R. Bishop the latter the present organist. Mr. Heartz said he thanked the Lord for the many favors which had been extended to him during his entire lifetime and particularly for the privilege of coming back to Bridgetown on the fiftieth anniversary of his first sermon in this church. He congratulated the church on its prosperity. Mr. Heartz impressed on the congregation the value of prayers. He referred to an address presented to him during his pastorate between 1870 and signed by 119 people, only six of whom are now living, John H. Hicks, Washington, W. Chesley Louise Dickie, Phineas Philmy, Oliver Chute and Henry Frederick. Mr. Langille thanked Mr. Heartz for his able and much appreciated address and benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. J. E. Armstrong, recording secretary of the church and brother of the Hon. E. H. Armstrong. At the close of this morning service, Dr. Heartz was personally introduced to many members of the congregation, many of whom had met during previous visits to Bridgetown as well as while stationed at other provincial towns. Last night's preacher in the same church was the Rev. John H. Freestone the present pastor.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

PICTURESQUE HERO OF "THE FOUR HORSEMEN"

Rudolph Valentino, who plays the chief masculine role, that of Julie Desnoyers, the young French-Argentinian in Metro's picturesque "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the sensational, epoch-making novel by Vincent Wallace, opens his appearance at the Grand Theatre on Monday night. Valentino is a dancer of great skill, and in "The Four Horsemen" will review that sinuous Argentinian dance, the tango, which a few years ago was such a rage in this country. "The Four Horsemen" will open a week's engagement at the Opera House next Monday. Two performances will be given daily, at 2:15 and 8:15. An augmented orchestra will interpret the special music score.

OUR MUTUAL FRIEND Dickens Picture Hits the Heart—A Perfect Movie. The photoplay production at the Opera House beginning today is the kind of entertainment that will make the theatre a lot of new friends. Melodrama and romance are a large part of the standard fare of the theatre, but rarely are they so beautifully presented as in "Our Mutual Friend," the screen version of Charles Dickens' last complete novel. "Our Mutual Friend" is the most perfectly acted picture of the current season. To transplant the quaint and quizzical atmosphere and the environment of Dickens' time into the realities of today requires fine capacities and understanding. The millions of persons who have revelled in the Dickens wit and fun will now be tremendously enlarged and many persons who merely tolerate screen dramas will find that their attitude has been a mistaken one. "Our Mutual Friend," as is doubtless needed, is a story of greed, of mystery and of intrigue, plotting, of greed and goodness. It is, at times, frankly melodramatic and at times is a deeply sentimental love story for lovers of all ages. The chief feminine personality in the irreproachable cast is little blonde beauty, Rosemary Marlow, with a personality all her own, yet reminiscent of Blanch Sweet, a few years hence in the unforgettable "Judith." Silas Wegg, the "literary man with a wooden leg," Mr. Venus, the frowny maker of skeletons, and Mrs. Boffin, Pa and Ma Wilfer, who are characters that always keep their places in one's memory. In "Our Mutual Friend" they step into actual existence. You'll never forget them.

CLUB MANAGERS IN CONVEY LIST. New Development in Probe of Professionalism—St. John Players Reported in Number. Truro, N. S., Jan. 23.—That President A. W. Covey of the Maritime Provinces Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, preparing a "black list" of seventy athletes, including members of every sporting club in the maritime provinces and in some state club managers, is the sensational rumor which is getting credence in Truro sport circles. Players from St. John, Moncton, Amherst, Springhill, Charlottetown, New Glasgow, Cape Breton centres, and Halifax are said to be on the list. The charges against club members are said to refer to financing of players' "salaries" by them. (Halifax Chronicle). The 29th of January will be a red letter day for the amateurs of this province. The board of governors of the M. P. B. A. U. of C. has expressed its approval of the recommendation that was made to it by the meeting held in Halifax on Thursday, January 19th. What the result of the meeting was, the committee of High MacKinnon, etc., and report thereon. The committee will start operations on Jan. 30th and will start operations on Jan. 30th and will start operations on Jan. 30th. Prominent Nova Scotia people are concerned in getting the matter on a straight basis, and whose desire it is to see those who have been getting money for playing games, professionalized, state that there will be a lot of suspensions from the Amateur Rank. They claim to have absolute proof that there are many amateurs who have been paid for their services, and they will produce it. These are no idle statements; so the board of governors will be a lot of burning somewhere around the 30th of January, 1922. A former St. John athlete and hockey player, writing from Boston to A. W. Covey, says: "I want to tell you how glad I am to read in the papers that you have held up that N. B. team from coming to Boston. It would not be in the best interests of amateur sport, and they would have absolutely no chance of winning. I would be a bitter pill for local Nova Brunswickers to swallow. These Boston teams are small fish to eat. They can't have all day for devoting to hockey. They can play through, as their defeat of Dalhousie shows. You are certainly having a hard time down here but I sincerely wish you success."

FREIGHT EMBARGO. A matter which is occupying the attention of Mayor Schofield and the board of trade is that of an embargo which the C. P. R. has placed on C. N. R. freight to West St. John from competitive points. It has been in effect for some months, but did not assume any great importance until recently. On April 14 the Grand Trunk placed an embargo on C. P. R. New Brunswick district, said that their embargo had been placed because of action of the Grand Trunk. He said that it was proving more beneficial than the routing of freight here instead of by way of Portland. He said it was not working a hardship on any since any person, as all freight was accepted from maritime province points and from any non-competitive points. From competitive points freight was accepted only when routed over the C. P. R., which he said was the shortest run.

The Joy of a Well Furnished Home. Every bride begins married life with a firmly fixed idea of what her home is to be—"some day." But how many of them realize their ideal? Brides' homes are generally furnished more or less temporarily. Odd pieces of furniture are added from time to time as necessity arises. But the years go by. Other expenses come along. Habit accustoms the family to things as they are, and ideals fade. It is one of the great mistakes of married life to allow the ideals and hopeful aspirations of youth to fade away unrealized. We can aid you to "Realize Your Ideal." J. MARCUS Agency "SELLERS" Kitchen Cabinets 30-36 DOCK STREET

DECLARES CANADA SHOULD CO-OPERATE IN NAVAL AFFAIRS

Lord Lee of Fareham, First Lord of the Admiralty, Says It Would be Profound Mistake For Dominions to be Unconcerned.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Montreal, Jan. 22.—Speaking at the University Club here Saturday evening, Lord Lee of Fareham, first lord of the admiralty, and one of the members of the British delegation to the conference on the limitation of armaments at Washington, suggested that it would be a profound mistake for Canada or for any one in Canada to assume that they have no concern in the British navy, and added that the need for co-operation in the empire navy from every part of the empire still remains almost as vital as it was before the Washington conference. He pointed out that the total budget of the Dominion was within one or two millions the same as the naval estimates for which he, as lord of the admiralty, was responsible and he accordingly hoped "that the very modest contribution which was offered to imperial naval defence at the imperial conference last summer will be honored by the accredited chief cities en route may be realized when trans-Atlantic flying becomes a reality.

POPE BENEDICT XV.

The Roman Catholic church mourns the loss not merely of a great religious leader, but of a statesman whose grasp of world affairs was remarkable, and whose gifts as a diplomat were recognized in every capital in Europe and America. It was his fate to occupy the papal throne during a terrible war which saw Catholic nations arrayed against Catholic nations, and all the world in torment. Forces no human agency could control were at work, changing the world and bringing in a new era of the mankind. The church was unable to prevent the war, and equally powerless to bring it to a close until the aggressor had been brought to his knees. Pope Benedict deplored the conflict and strove to end it. He condemned the German war which marked the course of German war policy. When the war was over he entered a plea for oppressed nationalities and heartily favored the League of Nations. During and after the war his activities as a diplomat have been described as world-wide, and the Vatican attained a new eminence in international affairs. He labored to make the relations between the Vatican and the government of Italy more friendly, and lived to see relations with France restored to a more cordial basis. Important diplomatic correspondence with the president of the United States was a feature of his war-time policy. He kept himself fully informed concerning the trend of opinion and the state of affairs in all countries, and never lost an opportunity to promote the cause of peace and add to the power and prestige of the church. A man of extremely simple habits, he was a devoted worker, his sole purpose being to make the Roman Catholic church a greater power in the secular as well as the religious world. All his instincts were charitable, and many stories are told of his beneficence to the poor. A generous friend of the workers, he was prominent in his hostility to Communism, against which there is no greater bulwark in Europe than the Church of Rome. A lonely and sorrowful figure, weighed down with tremendous responsibilities, during a period when great numbers of people in their agony of soul cried out that a God of love would not permit such horrors, Pope Benedict held aloft the torch of faith, and came through the time of supreme trial strong and secure in the love and devotion of his people, and the respect of the non-Catholic world. The news of his fatal illness came as a great surprise, for he was not an old man. Short as was his occupancy of the papal throne, history will award him a high place among the men who have guided the destinies of the Roman Catholic church through the centuries past. We are told that he wept when he was elected by the Sacred College, and would have preferred a humble life, but none of his predecessors ever threw himself more earnestly and devotedly into the work or attained greater eminence in so short a period.

Mr. Hoover says that a strike in the bituminous coal fields of the United States on May 1 seems to be inevitable. If the strike occurs it will come at a time when an exceptionally large supply of coal is above ground, and foreign demand very small. To that extent it will favor the operators and not the men. The fight, if it comes, will be waged by the operators for the open shop, which has made large gains in the United States during the last year. It is claimed by the coal operators that thirty per cent of the bituminous mines are now non-union. Meanwhile Mr. Gompers is greatly disturbed by a union movement that is independent of the American Federation of Labor. It will be most unfortunate, at a time when the country is hoping there will be a revival of industry, if it should be plunged into a struggle between labor and capital. While the union coal workers say they will strike against a reduction in wages, the companies would make it a fight for the open shop.

Of the news and articles in today's issue, the Times would earnestly advise all to read the synopsis of a sermon delivered by Rev. Canon Armstrong of Trinity Church. In it he deals with the home life that was in other years, and compares it with conditions of today. It is a practical exposition of modern life and a powerful appeal for elevation to better things. None who read it but will be better for the reading. If only the lesson he teaches should sink into the hearts of all and bring the results sought for this city would be wonderfully beneficial.

A long life that was filled with good works ended with the passing of Mrs. John V. Ellis. Not merely as an exemplary wife and mother, revered and loved in the family circle, but as a woman whose sympathy went out to all who were in suffering or need, she rendered noble service to the community. The memory of that unselfish service and the knowledge of the universal esteem in which their mother was held, cannot be other than consolatory to the bereaved sons and daughters, whose grief at their loss is in some part shared by all their fellow citizens.

VISCOUNT BRYCE

Statesman, diplomat, traveller and author, Viscount Bryce lived to a great age and had attained great distinction abroad as well as at home. He was particularly well known and held in high esteem in the United States, where his book, "The American Commonwealth," was widely read and where his labors as an ambassador did much to draw the United States and Britain more closely together during a period when other influences seeking the very opposite were perniciously active. The career of Viscount Bryce was one of distinction from his early manhood. Scion of the profound scholar combine with scholarship such qualities as a statesman and diplomat as were combined in him. His wide travels and his close study of conditions wherever he went added constantly to the store of knowledge which made his services in any public capacity of so much value, and everywhere his name was honored and his views received with respect and earnest consideration. His life embraced a period of world history which saw remarkable changes and a wonderful growth of the democracy which fascinated him and furnished so much material for his gifted pen. The greatest tribute that could be paid to him was the trust imposed in him by the British government many times when great talents and superior wisdom were required to deal with matters of the gravest import to Britain and the world. Especially will Viscount Bryce be remembered on this side of the Atlantic for his labors in behalf of a close union of the English speaking race.

The Quebec government must again amend its liquor law, despite all the praise heaped upon that measure. The law provides that taverns may be authorized to sell beer from 8 a.m. till 10 p.m. We are told that abuse of all kinds has resulted from this system, and it must be stopped. The government will give the liquor commission control of beer as well as wines and hard liquors. A special Quebec despatch to the Toronto Globe says: "The Quebec Liquor Commissioners and the personal feelings of Premier Taschereau are upheld by the members of the Quebec Legislature at a caucus to be held next Wednesday there will be no taverns in the province of Quebec after May 1. Already some five hundred applications for licenses are before the commission. These will be rejected, the Globe was officially informed this evening."

The Unionists of the south and west of Ireland will support the new government of the Irish Free State, and it is now said that Ulster is well-disposed, although there is no immediate prospect of its coming into a union with the south. As time passes those who would block the way to a peaceful solution of Ireland's problems will doubtless find themselves less and less an influence in the country's affairs. Michael Collins and Sir James Craig are said to have arrived at an agreement which will make the relations between north and south much more cordial.

Petitions that are being circulated and very numerous signed in favor of distribution of the hydro-electric surplus are an additional proof that the people are very much interested and deeply in earnest in regard to the policy to be pursued by the city. The feeling that the people should get the full benefit of the new system grows steadily, and they will want to be shown before they consent to any arrangement with the power company affecting the city's interests for years to come.

The riding and boating of stores at New Brunswick, near Glace Bay, accompanied by attacks on the police, is a new development in these usually law-abiding provinces. If the authorities fail to take prompt action that brand of lawlessness will have a tendency to grow, in a time when there is widespread unemployment.

It is significant that politics and religion are barred from the world conference of the Irish race which opened in Paris today.

ANDREW G. SMITH.
The death of Andrew G. Smith occurred suddenly yesterday of heart disease. He was sixty-six years of age, and was born on December 7, 1855. He was a life-long resident of St. John, and was an engineer and goldsmith. He met with an accident fifteen years ago, which kept him from his work for some time. He is survived by three sons, a daughter, Mrs. G. W. Donaldson, of Victoria, and A. Chester of Yarmouth; two daughters, Mrs. J. Morse Hat of Vancouver and Mrs. G. W. Donaldson of this city; and one brother, William B. of 48 Winter street. The funeral will be held at 2:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Donaldson, 44 Durhan street. Many friends will be sorry to learn of his death.

IS VERY ILL.
Friends of W. L. McDiarmid, principal of the Albert school, West St. John, will be sorry to learn that his condition this afternoon was considered very grave. He has been ill since last July.

THE SMELL OF LEAVES.

(J. Lewis Milligan, in The Graphic)
The smell of leaves—ah! how it bears me back Over the years to early autumn days. When I was a boy I revelled 'mid the Wrack, And kicked the dancing elves along Where every season has its fitting song. None comes amiss in childhood's Eden clime. Spring rules supreme the bosom of a boy. The reasons are a song in perfect rhyme:
The passing summer brings no sad complaining, Life has a magic and exhaustless store. No counting of the seasons yet remaining. He zooms the past and grasps the prize before. O leaves of life around my pathway falling! O boyhood dreams, for every calling.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

"I don't know what the matter with my furnace, it doesn't heat the house at all."
"Does it draw all right?"
"I should say it does. It draws about a third of my salary every week."
Some men are born controversialists. Archdeacon Whaley was one who cheerfully admitted it. "One cannot argue with you," said an exasperated friend to him one day, "for you will never admit one's premises. I don't believe you would admit without argument that two and two make four."
"Certainly not!" replied the Archdeacon. "For instance, they might make 22."

Her Father—Can you support my daughter in the title to which she has been accustomed?
Cheeky Squire—In better style, I think I can get her to give up that title. I'll do it for her.

Many a man gets a good recommendation because his former employer is willing to strain the truth to get rid of him.

FIVE CONVICTS GET THE LASH

Corporal Punishment Inflicted in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary.

(Montreal Gazette.)
Five convicts were lashed with the cat-o-nine-tails in the special punishment room at the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary yesterday afternoon, four of them receiving the first half of their corporal punishment sentence, the fifth suffering his final quantity of lashes. Altogether he received seven strokes. Officers of the penitentiary, and the medical officer, witnessed the lashing. Lieutenant de la Bruere, Governor of St. Vincent de Paul, stating that everything had proceeded like clockwork, not one of the prisoners having fainted under the punishment.

The convicts were Albert Slade, Sam Kerendempter, J. S. Swan, and Beauchamp, all convicted for robbery with violence, and recently sentenced by Chief Justice Decarie in the Court of Sessions to various terms in the penitentiary and the lash.

Slade, who had a stroke of the cat-o-nine-tails fall across the naked back of Albert Slade, bank robber and hop man, he received seven strokes yesterday, and will receive another seven before he completes his term of seven years in the penitentiary. Slade, together with Patrick O'Hara, attempted to hold up a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on Park avenue a few months ago, and they were both given the same sentence, proceedings however, being stayed in the case of O'Hara on account of legal steps being taken for a reserved trial.

The second prisoner to be whipped was Dewitt, desperado and gunman, who was sentenced on December 27 to seven years in the penitentiary and to receive seven strokes of the lash after beginning his term and seven more before it expires.

Sam Kerendempter, sentenced on June 5 last to two years in the penitentiary and ten lashes, received the first part of the corporal punishment after Dewitt had been lashed.

The fourth to feel the lash was Swan, the only man to receive his full amount of lashes. The press, however, was not invited to send representatives to the penitentiary, Chief Justice Decarie has declared from the bench that every man convicted of robbery with violence will be punished with the lash.

MODERATE MEN NEEDED TO LEAD

Premier Drury of Ontario Says Practical Men are Required in Social Work.

At a meeting of the Men's Association of St. Giles' church, Hamilton, last week, the work and aims of the Social Service Council were outlined by Hon. E. C. Drury, Premier of Ontario, and Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon of Bloor Street Presbyterian church, Toronto, president of the Ontario Council. The meeting was addressed by representatives of all churches in the city, including the Roman Catholic, and it was explained that the aim was to have a great service council in this city representing all creeds to carry on this work.

Pidgeon outlined the functions of the Social Service Council and told of some of its accomplishments. The great object was to get representative men from all the classes in the community. The trouble with volunteer organizations was that men who took strongly on a certain subject stepped to the front, and they were led by extremists, whereas it was desired in this work to have men chosen whose views were moderate, but steadfast.

As an illustration of one reform that had been brought about, he said the lash had been added to the punishment for white slavery, and as a result of it there was a great decrease in this traffic. It was work of this kind that the Social Service Council was endeavoring to do.

Government's Scope Limited.
Premier Drury said the work appealed to him as a moderate and efficient expression of a basic principle of Christianity—the caring for one's neighbor. The great problem of a government was to place a human being where he could develop normally in the community. There was a school of thought, which fortunately was not large, which in effect said, "Let George do it," or, in other words, the government. Governments were very finite, and their activities were very small compared with those of a community. Individualism had been developed in a community. It was not the duty of the government to provide wages, houses, and perhaps even domestic help, but to create conditions which would make it possible for men to do so.

The Social Service Council could not try to provide a cure-all, and should not try to. There were too many localities, and it was practical to do what was needed. He expressed himself as glad to see a broadening-out in the work of the Council. His first plan was chiefly to suppress everything. Prohibition was necessary in certain parts of the country. The Social Service Council was aiming to get.

Prices cannot be controlled by government legislation, they can be lowered only by competition. The public must be educated to appreciate and value the constructive element growing in its work, and it was practical to do what was needed. He expressed himself as glad to see a broadening-out in the work of the Council. His first plan was chiefly to suppress everything. Prohibition was necessary in certain parts of the country. The Social Service Council was aiming to get.

WOMEN KEEP UP PRICES OF SHOES
Montreal Sales Manager Says Crazy Styles are Responsible for High Values—The Retailer's Position.

(Montreal Gazette.)
"Prices of shoes will never be lowered while women insist upon wearing the crazy styles which are the fashion at the present time," said F. A. Dykeman, sales manager of the Treatliss Shoe Manufacturing Co. in an address which he delivered to members of the Local Council of Women at their meeting held yesterday in the Y. W. C. A. on Dorchester street. "The various styles," he said, "which are being worn now change more or less overnight, so that it is obvious that if the retailer is to make any profit at all he is obliged to charge high prices on the first demand. The continual introduction of a new style of footwear is constantly leaving the retailers with large stocks of shoes for which there is no demand, owing to some new style becoming the fashion."

The meeting yesterday was held under the slogan "Canadian Goods for Canadian People" and Mr. Dykeman stated that Canadian women are not very patriotic when they purchase goods, so many were under the delusion that Canadian goods were inferior to those of foreign manufacture. The speaker gave an example of how some leather was stamped, as being prepared in the U.S.A., and was offered to a customer, together with the present leather which went on the market as Canadian. The customer would not think of buying the Canadian leather, and although both pieces were Canadian and were exactly the same, the seller proceeded to demonstrate the great superiority of the leather which was made in America.

The Canadian goods are just as good as those which can be bought over the border. No matter where you go, you are always informed that English goods are the best in the world. That is true. If you go anywhere in America you see notices advertising English goods. Go into any of the stores on Fifth avenue and ask for an article and they will say, "Yes, we have some real English ones." British superiority has been founded on honest goods, and if Canadian goods are handled likewise there is no reason why we should not equal the quality of any goods in the world.

During the months of January, February and March our stores will close at one o'clock on Saturday.

Uses For Stale Ends of Bread:
In spite of all our care, stale bread does collect. Of course, there are lots of ways in which to use ends of loaves. A delicious dessert which comes to state bread in one-quarter inch slices. Butter the bread and arrange it in a bowl with the buttered side down so that the bowl is completely lined. Fill the centre with apple sauce, well sweetened and seasoned with cinnamon. Lay slices of buttered bread on the top and bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes. When done the pudding should come out of the bowl in a mould. It will be browned a delicate shade and is very good. It can be served with cream or with hard sauce.

This change will be appreciated by any one who is on a soft diet. Children like this occasionally instead of cereal in the morning. Nearly every one likes griddle cakes. To one and one-half cups of stale, fine bread crumbs add one and one-half cups of scalded milk and allow to soak until the bread is soft. To this add two beaten eggs, one-half cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Fry on a griddle in a moderate oven for ten minutes. This makes a milk toast which has flavor and character and will be a variety from the regulation milk toast. It is in the oven with a roast of beef or pork? Prepare the crumbs, and salt, pepper, celery, onion, and melted butter to taste. Place in a deep pan and bake basting occasionally with the meat drippings. This makes a good addition to the Sunday dinner and is a little trouble and it will give you a satisfied feeling when on Monday you can start the week fresh as far as the bread box is concerned.

ABOUT BEANS
For good rich baked beans use plenty of clear fat pork and always bake in the OLD FASHIONED BEAN POT made by THE FOLEY POTTERY, LTD., St. John, N. B.

When a Bean Pot is cold it should not be placed immediately on the hot part of the stove. It is safer to put it at first on the shelf at the back and to move it forward a little at a time as it heats.

Baking the beans in the oven gives the pot a better chance, as in that case the sides are heated as well as the bottom.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. J. V. Ellis
In the passing of Mrs. Mary Caroline Ellis, widow of the Hon. John V. Ellis, Canadian senator and editor of the St. John Globe for many years, this city loses one who was long identified with movements having for their object the welfare of the community and the uplift of many persons residing here and elsewhere in the province. Mrs. Ellis died at her home, 219 Princess street, on Saturday evening, after a short illness. She was in the eighty-second year of her age.
Mrs. Ellis was born in Fredericton, the daughter of the late S. W. Babbitt, of that city, but had resided in St. John nearly all her life. Long ago she became interested in community life and was a member and official of various organizations. She was past president of the Woman's Council, past president of the Natural History Society, Ladies' Auxiliary and organizer of the Band of Hope of St. Jude's Anglican church. The latter organization erected the fountain on Union street, West St. John. She was a former member of the board of the Home for Incubables and for years had been president of the Associated Charities and of the Victorian Order of Nurses' boards. She retained membership on the latter two boards up to the time of her death and was actively identified with them until a short time ago. Outside of the various organizations, in which she was active for many years, she was responsible for many other good works, quietly but effectively accomplished.
Mrs. Ellis is survived by seven sons and daughters, a brother and two sisters. Her distinguished husband passed away in 1918. The surviving children are Mrs. Margaret E. Lawrence, of St. John; Mrs. E. R. Taylor, of this city; Frank D. Ellis, editor of the St. John Globe; Dr. W. L. and George D. Ellis, also of this city; J. V. Ellis, Jr., editor of the Morning Herald of Yakima (Wash.), formerly connected with newspapers in St. John and Moncton, and Joseph N. Ellis, barrister, of Vancouver. The brother is D. Lee Babbitt, of Fredericton. Miss Isabel Babbitt, of Fredericton, and Mrs. George Lee, of St. John, who made her home with Mrs. Ellis, are the sisters.
The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon with service at Trinity church at 2:30 o'clock.
Child of Everett McKay.
The death of Elizabeth, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett McKay, following an illness of spinal meningitis, occurred at the home of her parents on Friday morning. The little one was about twelve months old. The heartfelt sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved parents in their sorrow. Interment took place on Saturday.
Mrs. Catherine McGlone.
The death occurred early on Sunday morning at the Mater Misericordiae Home of Catherine, widow of Daniel McGlone. Mrs. McGlone belonged to Sussex, at which place she had resided

DISASTROUS FIRE AT FAIR VALE

The all-year-round residence of Leo J. Gallagher, situated near Fair Vale in the Gondola Point road, with its contents, was completely destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon, the loss being in the vicinity of $15,000, with $6,500 in insurance. The fire spread so rapidly that Mr. Gallagher barely had time to escape with his five children who were in the house at the time. Mrs. Gallagher being absent in the city. The building was a two-story wooden house, metal sheathed, and was built and formerly owned by John E. Wilson.
The neighbors did everything possible to aid the victims of the fire and Mr. Gallagher spoke in high terms of the treatment received from William McEIL, Rev. Muller, I. E. Tapley, William Long and Mr. McAllister and A. Seaton. Three of the children are at Mr. Tangle's house and one at the residence of Mr. McElwaine, while Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher, with the fifth child, have taken apartments at the LaTour.

TOWN MANAGER.
(Amherst News).
The News, while not advocating the creation of further civic officials, would draw the attention of its readers to the fact that the town of Woodstock, N. B., has a town manager, who has done his fiscal year with a credit balance of $8,421.00. That the favorable financial showing of the year is somewhat due to the system of town management might be inferred from the words of Mayor Mair, who states:
"I spent two years at this board under the old conditions—I have followed the affairs of the town very closely this year, and I am thoroughly convinced that the town of Woodstock has been losing annually from $2,500 to $4,000 in uncollected taxes and water rates. It was no uncommon thing to carry over a defaulter's list of $3,500 to $4,000 and re-assess the second time the man that had already paid. Year after year bonds

VIRGUS CARE AGAINST FLU

Quebec Doctor Recalls Rapidity of Spread of Epidemic from Europe in 1918.

Quebec, Jan. 23.—That there is a decided uneasiness in the Civic Health Department at the present time with regard to contagious disease and influenza in the city of Quebec, was affirmed by Dr. C. R. Paquin, chief city medical officer, in a statement which he made to the Quebec Chronicle.

Dr. Paquin said that he noted with certain alarm that scarlatina, which was manifest practically all last year and had abated somewhat in December, was now increasing, and since the children had returned to school after the Christmas holidays there was more disease, especially scarlatina and whooping cough.

The doctor condemned neglect on the part of physicians and parents in not reporting all contagious maladies. In many cases, he said, the parents persisted in sending children to school in spite of the fact that other members of the family were ill.

All precautions should be taken, Dr. Paquin said, to guard against influenza. He understood, he said, that Spanish influenza was raging in London and in Paris, and he recalled that in 1918 when the dread disease had manifested itself in London and Paris it had not taken long to reach Quebec.

He urged all the citizens to take every precaution and to exercise prudence. A physician should be consulted at the least sign of illness, and the public, he said, should avoid all places where crowds assembled, and should likewise avoid all excesses. Care should be taken not to overheat the home, but an even heat should be maintained so as to permit proper ventilation.

Dr. Paquin deplored the fact that convents, colleges and schools failed to cooperate with his department. He said that they were obliged by law to supply the Health Department with the names of all absentees. The teaching institutions were far from doing their duty in that respect, he said, and the Health Department had no other practical means of controlling disease.

CANADA NOT ALIVE TO OPPORTUNITIES

Must Wake Up to Do Business With Britain, Manufacturer Says.

Hamilton, Jan. 23.—Addressing the Canadian manufacturers, S. R. Parsons, ex-president, speaking of trade conditions in Europe, said:

"I don't know what's going to become of Great Britain. I don't want to be pessimistic, but when you realize the high cost of living, the high cost and short hours of labor, and labor's inefficiency, it is not surprising that things have come to be as they are.

He said there are several millions out of employment in Britain, and many of them were unemployed. Belgium gets nearly the whole of the Chinese railway orders, Britain and the United States getting but small parts.

EUROPE WILL NEED HUGE FOOD IMPORTS U. S. Investigators Send Report on Conditions for Coming Year.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Europe this year will require huge imports of foodstuffs from the American continent, according to a public announcement made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Excellent yields of wheat and rye were obtained before the severe drought of last spring developed, the investigators reported, but barley, oats, corn, potatoes, sugar beets and fodder crops were extensively damaged.

Despite the increase in 1921 wheat and rye crops, over those of 1920, the investigators reported, consumption of the new crop began about a month earlier than usual and the country's fall sown wheat and rye is not said to be

POPE BENEDICT PASSES AWAY

THE PAPAL THRONE

In the Vatican, Rome which is occupied by the Pope.

Rome, Jan. 22—Arrived in full canonicals, with golden mitre, gloves and ring, the body of Benedict XV, lies in state in the throne room on the floor immediately below the apartment in which he died.

For many hours today to the room where the pontiff had made his fight for life came a continuous stream of officials, the representatives of foreign nations, high prelates and others.

The official and semi-official Vatican organs give 6 o'clock as the time of the Pope's death and the Rome newspapers do likewise.

Cardinal Fiszardo, in describing the last moment, said to the Associated Press correspondent, who was the only United States newspaper representative admitted to the anti-chamber: "When the end was near I was called from my chamber and hurried quickly to the pontiff's bedroom."

"That was a few minutes before 6 o'clock. I saw the holy father breathe his last, and as the other prelates knelt beside the silent and lifeless form I asked that I might tell the news to the press."

He hurried to the anti-chamber, where several newspaper men were awaiting events, and informed them that the Pope had just died.

"The cardinal was asked at what hour death had occurred and he replied: "Exactly at this minute."

At this identical moment the bells of St. Peter's struck the first stroke of 6 o'clock.

The end came after a long night of intense agony and suffering, the pontiff now and then lapsing into delirium throughout the long, anxious night.

Shortly before midnight he took a little nap, but the end was approaching that already his hands and nose felt cold.

"He will live only three or four hours at the maximum," said the physician.

Near the End.

From that period on the Pope neared the end of his life. Breathing became a tragic, agonizing task, as the supreme pontiff, who had resisted the severe lung and throat congestion, was now finally too weak to overcome the overwhelming attack any longer.

His eyes were half closed as he lapsed into unconsciousness, while the terrible mantry which pneumonia had won over the holy father dogged resistance, a resistance which staggered the members of the pontifical household and made them marvel at the Pope's nerve stamina, now began its rapid, inexorable extinction of his slender hold on life.

His heart rapidly weakened and at 6 o'clock in the morning it was certain that the end was near.

STRIKING SERMON ON HOME LIFE

A Powerful Address by Rev. Canon Armstrong.

Conditions of Other Years Contrasted With Present Time in Strong Appeal for Betterment in the Community.

On account of the striking features and facts contained in a sermon delivered by Rev. Canon Armstrong in Trinity Church, on Sunday, January 15, the attention of the Times was called to it and it is here given almost in its entirety.

Canon Armstrong made very clever illustrations of various points during his delivery and ended with some, sweet words.

The gospel for today is the marriage in Cana in Galilee, and I thought the time opportune to say a few words about our homes and our home life.

There is no doubt that home life is deteriorating in our day. There is no longer the old spirit of home, which was the glory of our fathers.

We do not say a single word against any young person enjoying a walk or a spell of fresh air after the day's work, but we certainly say there is something unquestionably wrong when, night after night, throngs of young people do nothing but parade the streets to late hours.

All this is not for the good of the country, but for the good of the individual. The conveyance of the body there to time, remained there until the body was removed to the Sistine chapel.

The entire papal court today was in full dress. The Swiss Guards, who always are dressed in medieval costumes of yellow and blue with their helmets surmounted by a plume, have added a white ruff to their collars.

His friend, by far the best moving picture you can see is the moving picture in your own home.

My friend, by far the best moving picture you can see is the moving picture in your own home.

Speaking on the death of His Holiness, Pope Benedict XV, in the Cathedral yesterday morning, His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc said that the death of the beloved pontiff had cast a gloom over the whole Catholic church.

The passing of Pope Benedict had been quite sudden, Bishop LeBlanc said. It had been only a few days ago that the first announcement of his illness had been made and there had been no idea that the end was so near.

In paying a tribute to the remarkable qualities of the late Holy Father, the bishop said that he would go down in history as a great pope, admired by all the faithful for his noble qualities and his gracious personality.

He had a great capacity for work and a truly remarkable memory, Bishop LeBlanc said. Although his pontificate had been of comparatively short duration, nevertheless Pope Benedict had been able to accomplish much in a few years.

Pope Benedict, the bishop said, showed impartiality and great sympathy for all peoples and particularly for the poor and the suffering.

He proposed and had accepted by the belligerents an agreement providing for the exchange of prisoners and civilians.

Pope Benedict was elected on September 3, 1914, shortly afterwards he issued his encyclical to the heads of the nations, and in December of the same year he published his plan for the exchange of prisoners and civilians.

In the following month, January, 1915, the Pope launched another plan providing for the repatriation of women and children of boys under seventeen and of men over fifty-five years of age who had been taken by the enemy in occupied territory.

As a result of the acceptance of this plan 20,000 French people were able to come back from the occupied regions to the territory being held by their compatriots.

One of the last acts of the Pope had been to order a collection taken up in the Catholic church for the relief of the starving children of Europe.

STORM SEVERE AT QUEENSTOWN; SHIPS AFFECTED

Queenstown, Ireland, Jan. 22.—A violent storm which raged on Saturday has made entrance into the harbor extremely dangerous.

The liner America sent a wireless message that she was proceeding direct for New York without calling. Several small craft in the harbor have foundered or been badly damaged.

It is the home life that made our nation great in days gone by, and it is home life that will keep any nation great.

Here is a young man who marries a nice girl. Before the marriage he cannot see enough of her.

This brings us to speak of another and most painful evidence of a breakdown in our home life, the large number of cases in the divorce court.

The remedies to stop this decay of home life are three. The first instance would be to think a little more seriously.

And lastly, we must learn to pray more frequently. The solution of this problem of our home life is just the solution of every other problem.

Those of you who live in parents' homes do not realize the sacrifices that are made for you—your mothers that go down through the valley of the shadow of death that you may have the gift of life; your fathers, toiling day in and day out, deny themselves in countless ways.

CITY COUNCIL'S AID TO A NEW LOCAL INDUSTRY

Recommend the Purchase of Water Pipe Manufactured in St. John by T. McAvity & Sons—Increase in West Side Insurance—Claim for Damages from Explosion.

The city council this morning decided to encourage the creation of a new industry in St. John by recommending the granting of a contract to T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd., for the purchase of some new six and eight-inch water pipe, to be manufactured in the city and delivered before June.

Commissioner Jones, in making the motion said that the firm had sent a delegation to the council, in which they said they would start the industry here, employing twenty-five to thirty men, and eventually adding to this number as their business increased. He said that although the price quoted was $1.50 a ton higher than the lowest tender, he thought that the firm should be encouraged to manufacture locally in order to increase the industry of the city.

Asked regarding the proposal for the establishment of a new fish industry on the west side, Commissioner Bullock said that he expected the city solicitor to be present to give his opinion on the request for reduced taxation. The matter was not dealt with, however. Commissioner Frink said he understood that the project was to be opposed by Leonard Brice, John Sealy and other fish dealers.

It was decided to take up discussion of the 1922 estimates at the weekly meeting tomorrow afternoon.

West Side Insurance.

Commissioner Bullock referred to the recommendation of the board of trade regarding the placing of more insurance on the west side sheds. According to a survey made by the city engineer, No. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 sheds, he put the replacement value at $275,000, and insurance now carried was $175,000. Commissioner Bullock said that it was advisable to carry insurance to eighty per cent. of the value, which would increase the amount carried by $100,000, and he had made allowance for an additional premium of $2,166.80 in his estimates for 1922.

On his motion, it was decided to recommend to council the addition of $80,000 to the amount now carried.

Passed.

The mayor reported that Commissioner Thornton was still confined to his bed through illness.

Claims for Damages.

Commissioner Jones reported on the matter of the claim of Charles A. Donald for damage done to his house in Adelaide street by an explosion of dynamite last summer. He said he submitted the facts to the solicitor and asked for his opinion.

The explosion occurred while excavation operations were being carried on by A. George Moses, who had been using dynamite stored close to his house, lost his life. The concussion caused considerable damage to the buildings in the neighborhood. Mr. Moses, the contractor, got into communication with those whose properties suffered damage and rectified them.

The solicitor wrote to the effect that there could be no liability without negligence, and it was his opinion that it was that of the contractor, not of the city. The explosion was not a part of the operation of deepening Newmarket Brook, but consisted in the discharge of explosives stored in a building near the scene of operations. Under the circumstances he did not consider the city was in any way liable for anything that happened to the dynamite the contractor had stored.

Mr. Jones therefore moved that Mr. Belyea be so advised. Carried.

Pipe Purchase Authorized.

On motion of Commissioner Jones it was decided to purchase from Frank Garson 1,000 feet (45 tons) of twelve inch cast iron water pipe, slightly used, at $88 a ton, subject to the inspection and approval of the city engineer on arrival here. Mr. Jones explained that the department required 8,000 feet of pipe (187 tons) at a cost of $7,200, for water main renewals. He said that the city was $15 a ton less than new pipe and it was guaranteed as good as the original article. He said that the city could not be compelled to take it if it did not pass the test of the engineer. Under these conditions the motion was carried.

Support Local Industry.

Commissioner Jones said that it had frequently occurred to him since he became commissioner of the water department, that he should make an effort to ascertain from industrial firms if it would not be possible for them to engage in the manufacture of cast iron pipe in the city, instead of following the practice of sending orders for this material to outside firms and corporations. Last summer the department was obliged to take from stock quantities of pipe. It would be necessary now to restore this material and to do this he had invited tenders from dealers handling these goods. A number of bids were received including one from a well known local manufacturer. There was a difference of $1.50 a ton between the highest and lowest figures. Tenders were asked for about 187 tons at an estimated cost of $7,200.

The local firm referred to was T. McAvity & Sons whose bid was next to the lowest. He said he was assured by a member of this firm that, if given this contract, they would within a period of three months, be in a position to turn out from their own establishment a portion of the order to enable the department to continue operations without interruption until the order was completed.

He therefore moved that the city purchase from T. McAvity & Sons 1,000 feet of 6-inch and 8-inch pipe, to be of their own manufacture in the city of St. John, delivery to be made not later than June, to be paid for out of unexpended balances. He said that their price was $1.50 a ton higher than the lowest tender.

Commissioner Frink said he was supporting the project on account of the possibility of the birth of a new indus-

AWAIT COMPLETE RETURNS.

All the returns were not in at a meeting of the Local Council of Women this morning in the Board of Trade rooms about the matter of the badges sold for the two days' skating at Lily Lake last week. It is understood that another meeting will be held in the near future.

EMPLOYMENT.

There were no registrations this morning at the St. John registration and employment office. Five applications for workers were received, and three positions, two permanent and one temporary, were filled. It is expected that two more will be filled this afternoon.

A PLEASANT TIME.

On Saturday evening those living in Ten Eyck Hall and their friends enjoyed a delightful sleigh drive to Torryburn. Between thirty and forty bundled into the big sleigh, and spent two hours in singing, racing at the stars, "and everything." On the return to the hall, a delicious turkey dinner was served, and after the merry repast, gramme was carried out. Before the company broke up, votes of thanks were extended to the committee in charge, and to the host and hostess.

POLICE COURT

Two men pleaded guilty today to a charge of being drunk and were remanded. One of them was the same man who gave a speech on the disadvantages of the capitalist system last week. After he had been taken below the magistracy remarked that he hadn't said anything this morning and suggested that he thought he wasn't remembered.

Joseph Boudreau pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a coat, the property of Frank Bisby, from the Dufferin Hotel. Detective Bidcombe said that as a result of a complaint received from Mr. Bisby who was staying at the Dufferin, he had gone to several second hand stores and in Williams' store in Dock street, had found the coat in court. He received a phone call and on going to the store he was informed by Max Williams that a man leaving against the counter was the one who had brought in the coat. This man was the defendant and he had with him two bottles, one of which had contained wood alcohol and one was half full of turpentine. He arrested the man who said his name was Boudreau. He said he had not stolen the coat but could remember selling it to Williams. He could not remember where he got it because he had been drinking just before that. He said the drinking accounted for his signing the wrong name on the second store book. When the defendant was searched they found on him two letters, addressed to Bisby, four small books, a pair of glasses, a pair of scissors, a key which the defendant said belonged to the Dufferin Hotel, and $2.10 in cash. The case was postponed until other witnesses could be present.

The magistracy spoke of people being out late last night in spite of the storm. He also said he thought the city must be going crazy about dancing because the other day a little girl was arrested for being out early on Sunday morning and said she had been to a dance hall and later into a restaurant for a meal. He also mentioned a case where three young fellows said they had just come from a dance at between three and four o'clock in the morning.

The firm should be encouraged as it was a reputable firm with a long record of good business. He said, however, if the firm proposed to import the pipe, he was opposed to the proposition.

It was pointed out by the mayor that the resolution protected this feature. The motion was
