THE DUTY ON PULP WOOD.

A good deal of agitation is now going on in connection with a proposed export duty upon pulp and pulp wood. There are two sides to this question and both should meet with careful and unprejudiced consideration.

The agitation, of course, began with interested parties, the manufacturers of paper, and they have left and are leaving no stone unturned to accomplish their object. They contend that the pulp as exported is not a finished article, that it goes into the States and there gives employment to a large number of persons to be manufactured into paper and other products, and that the exportation of this pulp compels the Canadian manufacturer to pay more for the raw product than he would were it kept in Canada.

At first sight these arguments seem to be not only reasonable and justifiable, but also of a patriotic character. Let us look deeper into the matter.

Suppose that the exportation of pulp were so hampered with an export duty that it should cease altogether, would not the manufacturer in the States be compelled to charge more for his finished product? What would result? Why, the Canadian miller, ever with an eye open in competition with the States producer, would raise his price, as he does at the present moment, to that of the American, and thus compel the users of paper in the Dominion to pay an extortionate price for what they use. Would that be beneficial to the country? We think not.

Again, were the export of pulp to cease would not a vast number of laborers and workers in the woods be thrown out of work, and have to leave the country, and would this prove to be of advantage to the country at large?

The manufacturers of paper in Canada entered into a combine several years ago, and have steadily raised the price of news print, until now their price is exactly the same per pound, by the 2-ton lot, delivered in St. John, as that charged in Boston delivered on the cars or steamers. Of course, the Canadian "loyal" manufacturer just pockets the 25 per cent. duty, which excludes the American paper from our markets, and the country loses the revenue. Is it in the interests of the public of Canada, therefore, that an export duty should now be placed upon this product?

The old cry of "wolf! wolf!" has been set up as to the ruin of our forests owing to the excessive demand for the commodity, but this is only a cry. There are millions of acres of forests still untouched and the reforestation act is being vigorously prosecuted, so that there is not much danger of this cry becoming a reality.

As for the "loyalty" of these Canadian mill owners in asking the newspaper men to purchase in Canada—"Canada for Canadians" being their subterfuge motto—is all "rot," to use a common expression. How sincere they are in this motto will be developed when it is known that they are now believed to be engaged in a movement to get the proprietors of newspapers to enter into a combine, or compact, to raise the price of their news papers, in order, as they express it, to meet the increased price of paper, which is again to be raised before many moons. The Government has been asked to reduce the duty, or remove it altogether, on news print, and we believe it should be done in the interests not only of the newspaper men, but in the interests of the public generally.

On Wednesday last a deputation of the leading pulp and paper manufacturers of the Dominion had a conference with Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Ottawa, when they presented a series of resolutions setting forth the reasons why an export duty should be placed upon pulpwood. It was one of the most selfish resolutions we have ever read.

The Montreal Witness, however, adds the following to the report:

"It is only fair to add that the views submitted by these gentlemen are far from representing the unanimous wish of the pulp men of Canada on the subject in question, as was clearly shown by the Toronto Globe's recent canvass of the Canadian mills. One of those most strongly opposed to the imposition of any export duty into the prohibition idea advanced by Mr. Rolland and his colleagues, is Senator W. C. Edwards, of Rockland, himself the owner of almost unlimited areas of spruce forest. 'One would think we were living in China' was his comment on the deputation's proposal, 'when we have such ideas as these being seriously put forward.'"

MARK TWAIN ON ADVERTISING.

"It pays to advertise," said Mark Twain at a recent banquet. "When I was editing the Virginia City Enterprise, writing copy one day and minding the next, I tried to force this truth home in many ways. One day I received a letter from a subscriber saying he had found a spider pressed between the pages of his paper, and he wanted to know was this good or bad luck? I replied to him in our Answers to Correspondents column as follows:

"Old Subscriber,—The finding of a spider in your copy of the Enterprise was neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our pages to find out what merchant was not advertising, so that it could spin its web across his door and lead a free and undisturbed existence forever after."—Success.

Pennfield Fair.

The St. George, Pennfield and Lepreau agricultural society held their annual fair Thursday, Oct. 17th. The weather clerk provided a beautiful warm day which brought out throngs of people, who saw the best live stock, agricultural and other products of the three parishes. The exhibits were up to a good standard in most departments, and the judges and visitors pronounced themselves as more than pleased. The dairy exhibit was not large. The following received prizes: Mrs. Ellen Spinney, Mrs. Jessie Prescott, Mrs. Isaac Young and Mrs. A. B. Hawkins.

The horses which were of great interest to the farmers were judged by Mr. Anderson of Ontario, Mr. James Hoff and Mr. Sheraton. Mr. Anderson displayed a great knowledge of horses, no blemishes or lack of conformation escaping his notice. Prizes for farm horses were awarded to Chas. Woodbury, 1st; M. C. Traynor, 2nd; J. A. Spinney, 3rd. Draft horses, Jas. Hatt, 1st; Simeon Tatton, 2nd; C. P. Hanson, 3rd.

Short horn bull, 1st prize, E. C. Justason.

Pure bred Jersey cow, 1st prize, Simeon Tatton.

Native cow, 1st prize, Chas. Woodbury. A yoke of oxen, a variety in these days of automobiles, bicycles and fast horses, attracted much attention. Prize awarded to Ezra Justason.

Sheep, 1st prize, Edw. Mahar and Isaac Young.

Mrs. Nelson Dick, Mrs. Stephen Dick, and Miss Mildred Dick were judges in the fancy work department, and awarded prizes to Mrs. Thomas Bothwick, 1st for silk centre piece, sofa pillow 2nd, quilt 2nd, and mat 1st. Mrs. Isaac Young 1st prize for sofa pillow and quilt. Several other prizes were awarded in this department.

In the trotting race Harold Dow, 1st prize; Arthur Frauley, 2nd; Patrick Daley, 3rd. Time 2:35, 2:35 1/2, 2:40.

Running race, Traueman Justason, 1st; Thos. Kent, 2nd; Steve Goodhill, 3rd.

The day passed off very quietly and pleasantly. Dinner and supper was furnished by the ladies of the Baptist church. Music and dancing a special feature were indulged in during the evening.

ENOS C. JUSTASON, Sec'y.

PENNFIELD INSTITUTE.

The St. George, Pennfield and Lepreau Institute meeting was held at the Orange Hall, Pennfield, Oct. 16. Meeting opened 7:30 President in chair and was well attended. Speakers were as follows:

N. S. Dow of Woodstock, Duncan Anderson, Ontario. President A. C. Poole opened the meeting by speaking on the interest of farmers which was very instructive. He then introduced N. S. Dow who spoke at some length on cooperative and home dairying which was full of interest to the hearers. A few questions was asked by some of the audience which was answered very satisfactorily.

Mr. Anderson was then introduced by the President who spoke at some length on soil cultivation and rotation of crops which was very ably handled, and a great many new ideas given to the farmers.

DAMAGE TO THE APPLE CROP.

Halifax Recorder: Owing to various reports of damage to apple crop, the Recorder wired Mr. J. W. Bigelow, president of the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association, as to the probable damage and general outlook. Mr. Bigelow replies: "By careful inquiry I estimate loss to fruit by frost and gales at over one hundred thousand dollars, yet there is a good crop of from four to five hundred thousand barrels for shipment, with prospects of good prices."

Was It Fate?

If the bicycling fever doubled the price of wedding rings, what is the roller-skating craze doing to it? What brought about Runner's wedding or Shyly's or Sour's or Little Willow's? Roller skating.

Willow loved Vera. My, how he did love that girl! He idolized, worshipped, adored her until it was almost funny. Not to Willow, but to the others. Vera and paradise; no Vera, the other thing. That was how he felt about it, though otherwise he seemed perfectly rational. Not that they held hands in public, nor did he fix his eyes soulfully on hers and sit sighing before folks—not Willow. He was a gentleman and Vera had sense and their affection was a regular gem in oils by an old master, framed, shadow-boxed and hung exactly as it should be.

With Willow the one question of the hour and all hours was how to marry and eat three meals a day on $15 a week. He spent hours gazing in at grocers' windows reading prices, though Vera had told him time and time again that she would manage it all right.

Vera was the slave of a crabbed old uncle, her only relative, who needed lots of waiting on and some one to abuse. Vera cost him less than $3 a week and never talked back. Vera talk back to uncle! Her amateur performance would have made a fine showing beside uncle's professional mugging, he having been born with a gift for that sort of thing. In these circumstances a sensitive girl or almost any other girl would say foolish things about keeping house on little or nothing. Yes, Willow and $15 looked like a reasonable proposition to her.

Whenever Vera had a bean, uncle had a convulsion. Willow was pretty busy most of the time covering his tracks as he knew that excitement was bad for uncle. They managed things rather nicely, so that uncle's weak heart would get no jolts. Then the roller-sink fever broke out.

Willow, a clever ice skater, had very little to learn. But Vera! Honest, it looked as if she just never would learn. Willow presented to her a pair of skates and she began home practice, guided by Willow's instructions and some printed rules. It was easy enough. In fact, there was very little to it. "See that skates are fastened securely, stand firmly, advance right foot, throw full weight upon it, bend well forward to get 'send,' and glide away." It sounded easy, but it did not seem to work in practice.

Vera never glided. Instead, she would wave and wobble frantically here and there, and then zigzag helplessly to the exact place she did not want to go. There invariably was nothing to grab, so down she would go with such force that everything in the room would jump, her skates always striking last. But she persevered.

At last there came a time when she consented to attend a masked carnival at the roller rink. They wore hired cheesecloth garments. In a dinky peasant dress Vera surely did look all right to Willow.

As Willow secured Vera's skates he looked up with a start and asked: "Say, have you come away and forgotten to hang your other hat and jacket where your uncle can see them?"

"Do I look as if I would forget?" tittered Vera. "He'll see 'em, all right enough, and think I've gone up to bed."

The skates adjusted, Vera arose, eager to do all that was expected of her. With knitted brows she endeavored to stand firm, advance her right foot, throw her full weight upon it, bend well forward to get "send" and glide away. Trying not to look scared, she poised herself, took a long breath, lessened her hold on Willow and the furniture, concentrated herself on "send" and started.

She was considerable of a girl to begin with, brimming with energy. Before she knew it she had torn herself from Willow's bashful and respectful hold and was whizzing across the mammoth rink with power enough to carry a loaded freight four miles uphill on a wet day. She had lost all control of herself and that diabolical momentum increased with every second.

At the opposite end of the rink, luffing up out of the distance and the disturbance he was causing, careened a huge, red, ungainly, masked Santa Clause whisksers straining, his four extremities doing everything but the right ones.

Plainly the man was determined to cut some particular caper that he had set his mind on if he had to kill everyone on the floor. Singles and couples sprawled in his wake, some able to sit up and send maledictions after him, while others had only life enough to wave a skate-laden foot in useless protest. A trolley car would have been as sensible of attack.

The rollers on Willow seemed rived to the floor with horror. He saw that at a point near the centre of the rink it was foredoomed that Santa Claus and Vera should collide with the impulsion got from new skates well oiled, a floor that cost $4000 to lay and polish, 140 pounds of uncontrolled girl and nearly twice that weight of man resolutely sending himself in the direction he was determined to go.

As if in a dream, Willow heard an attendant say: "Pal, you shouldn't have shoved your lady out that way when old reapih' and thrashin' machine is operatin' hisself. We don't dare say a word, for he is one of the main ropes here and can order us out of our jobs any time he likes. Gee! It looks like he was goin' to need a doctor or a hearse or somethin'."

Willow should have dashed out and shown himself a hero, but he only groaned and closed his eyes and waited.

They struck with a frightful impact and then fell apart and spun about. One of Vera's skates came down on Santa's head kerwhack. His wig and beard had fallen off and, ere she fainted, Vera saw that it was uncle! Talk about poetic justice!

The attendant had almost to carry Willow across the floor. He was nearly dead with anguish. He thought Vera was dead and, oh, how he wished uncle was also! Willow's wishes never did come true.

Uncle dead? Before the doctor got there he was sitting up staunching the trickle of blood from his head and telling the crowd how he had seen Vera coming and by skillful manoeuvring had managed to save her life by heroically sacrificing himself. Further, he told Vera and Willow that skating was the first sensible thing he had ever known either of them to do. Then, after he had seen what a skater Willow was, he made Willow manager of the rink at more than $5 a week.—Chicago News.

Murray Stephens, the Wabash engineer who ran his train into the C. P. R. special at Diamond crossing, St. Thomas was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

Wise Thoughts.

Do not be so unreasonable as to expect more from life in the world than life in the world is capable of giving.

Politeness is to goodness what words are to thought. It tells not only on the manners, but on the mind and heart; it renders the feelings, the opinions, the words, temperate and gentle.

There are two good rules which ought to be written on every heart—never to believe anything had about anybody unless you positively know it to be true; never to tell even that unless you feel that it is absolutely necessary.

To be cheerful, to be happy, to make one's self a stimulating, gladdening influence in the world, is the supreme duty of every human being. Whoever fails to achieve this falls short of true success in this life. Not only this, but he neglects a moral obligation.

Frugality is good if liberality be joined with it. The first is leaving off superfluous expenses; the last is bestowing them to the benefit of others that need. The first without the last begets covetousness; the last without the first begets profligacy. The two united make an excellent temper.

As soon as we divorce love from the occupations of life we find that labor degenerates into drudgery.

Let us never forget that an act of goodness is of itself an act of happiness. No reward coming after the event can compare with the sweet reward that went with it.

Let the winds and waves of adversity blow and dash around you if they will; but keep on the path of rectitude, and you will be as firm as a rock. Plant yourself upon principle, and bid defiance to misfortune.

The time to use truth and principle is now. Life has three phases. It was, it is, and it will be. But we are concerned with only one of these. Life is. What it will be depends on what it is! Hence the importance of the present.

Don't fear too much the enemy you make by saying "No," or trust too much the friend you make by saying "Yes." The young man or woman who wants to please all the influential people possible, and desires to agree with everybody, is not the one who comes out with the most friends or the most success in the end.

Hon. G. P. Graham will start on a tour of inspection of the government railways.

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

BROUGHT CONVICT BACK

Michigan City, Ind., October 24—A man walked to the doors of the Indiana State prison here this afternoon.

"What do you want?" asked the guard.

"I have come back to serve out my sentence," was the answer.

The warden was called and recognized in the visitor Allan J. Lawrence, of La Porte, Ind., who was sent to the state prison in July 1906, on an indeterminate sentence of from two to fourteen years. The charge was attacking a young woman.

"Where have you been Lawrence?" asked the warden.

"Oh, I've been pretty nearly all over the country," was the reply. You see when I came here I was a sinner and I planned to escape. I served scarcely three months before I succeeded in getting away. I went to Nebraska and Kansas and worked in the fields. I became converted and then I held meetings all over Nebraska and Kansas and converted hundreds and even thousands.

"But suddenly the power left me. I could make no more converts. I could not even speak to a congregation.

"The inner conscience told me that it was because this sentence was hanging over me, and I have made my way back and ask that you make me a prisoner again and allow me to serve out my term even though it is a long one."

Lawrence will serve out his sentence with the extra time for the escape.

To Clean Spectacles.

Unclean spectacles, eyeglasses and such like not only look far from comely but they are a source of possible danger to the eye. Sometimes the lenses become greasy, and no amount of ordinary rubbing will get them bright. A piece of tissue paper, dipped in a weak solution of washing soda, will prove most effectual. A lens occasionally acquires a brown, rusty stain on the surface, which nothing but a paste composed of very fine romme and water can remove. This must be used by rubbing briskly, with either the point of the finger or the side of the hand, and every spot of rust or stain will disappear in a few minutes. This applies also to photographic or other lenses, except the object-glass of a telescope, which would be irreparably damaged by such treatment.

POLITICS AND MORALITY.

We are hearing a great deal about party in politics, and charges and denials of corruption. Keep it up gentlemen. Good will come. Such activity will result in strength and health. The better morality the better politics.

What is politics? It is the science and art of government. What is morality? It is that quality in conduct which marks it as good and not bad, right and not wrong.

Social life, business or economical life, have the "morality" side so that the necessities of social life and the rights of business are safeguarded by the moral sense of the people.

In politics the one sphere where moral distinctions are not recognized or moral obligations respected? That can be the opinion only of such men as those whose political corruption is so complete as that the moral sense is completely destroyed. Witness the Pennsylvania revelations—the Key-stone crime.

Canada under democratic rule cannot allow, in the affairs of politics, any playing fast and loose with the absolute distinction between right and wrong. Let the cry of "purity" be real, and not merely for political purposes. Waken this sense of political morality and our democracy will be as a building placed on the sinking sands.

Canada's explorer, in his ambition to reach the North Pole, may discover and add islands to our already large territory, but what Canada needs is not more islands or lands, but men, public men, with a large and deep sense of the absolute difference between right and wrong, and a strengthening of the supreme obligation resting on individual and political party to do the right and not the wrong. Give us men of strong moral character to represent us in Federal and Provincial political life, and we have a strong and prosperous nation.

TO BRIDGE THE ST. CROIX.

A dispatch from Ottawa informs us that the N. B. Southern Railway has given notice that it will ask parliament for authority to build a bridge over the St. Croix river near Milltown at such point as Governor-in-Council may approve. The ground on which the request is made is, that the Railway and works of the Company are for the general advantage of Canada.

This is not the first time such a request has been made, but whenever made it has met with strong opposition from our friends in the western part of the county. Why, it is hard to tell. It would surely be in the public interest, if the line were extended. Without doubt the C. P. R., if it has not taken over the N. B. Southern, has at least a controlling interest in the line, and if extended to cross the St. Croix this strong corporation would have direct connection with the Washington Co. Railway, and a second and much shorter route would be opened up between St. John and Boston.

When this matter of bridging the St. Croix was last before Parliament, delegations from our sister town on the St. Croix were sent to Ottawa to oppose the project.

Now St. George is deeply interested in the welfare of the N. B. Southern. The town's prosperity largely depends on the success of its line of railway. Let it become efficient, as it certainly would be, should it become a through line, and it would mean much to us.

Here is where a Board of Trade could put in some effective work. It is no use, the town must wake up and have something to do in working out its own destiny. Should there be delays on the line as we now have it, there are the many ready to talk—this costs nothing. Now there may be the need of doing something. Let the town be ready to do it. It may cost a few dollars to send a delegation to Ottawa, but it may be money well expended. Working together we can make a pull that will tell.

If it comes to be a party issue, then let us, for once at least, stand for ourselves. We missed our opportunity once, let us see that we do not do so again.

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative action upon the controlling nerves of the Stomach, etc.

The Dominion follows the lead of the United States and appoints an envoy to Japan to take up the immigration problem with the Japanese government, and another to Vancouver to assess and pay the damages to Japanese citizens who suffered in the recent riots. The interesting part will come when the city of Vancouver is asked to make good the expense.

New Brunswick will provide the land and the Salvation Army the men for extensive settlements along the Intercolonial railway. This sort of colonization is both good business and sound philanthropy. Good soil now idle goes to a man willing and able to till it.

To check a cold quickly, get from your druggist some little Candy cold Tablets called Preventics. Druggists everywhere are now dispensing Preventics, for they are not only safe, but decidedly certain and prompt. Preventics contain no Quine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Taken at the "snicee-stage" Preventics will prevent Pneumonia, Bronchitis, LaGrippe, etc. Hence the name, Preventics. Good for feverish children. 48 Preventics 25 cents. Trial Boxes 5 cts. Sold by All Dealers.

Mr. Edward McGrattan is taking a much needed rest. He will visit Boston and some other points of interest during his vacation.

Mr. R. T. Wetmore will probably locate at Lepreau where he will have an important position in the development of the iron mines, in which his brother C. V. Wetmore has a large interest.

Engineer Stabb, with two assistants, is taking measurements on the N. B. Southern Railway. It is reported that the many sharp curves on the road are to be taken out and the road straightened.

Senator and Mrs. Gillmor arrived in town Saturday. The improvements on their beautiful town residence are about completed. They will take up their residence here at the close of next session of parliament.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are provided to the people—without a penny's cost.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a powerful medicine for all ailments of the Stomach, etc.

BY THE WAY

More people, more dogs.

Old King Coal is a dear old soul.

The rights of the majority cannot be trampled on.

Skillful anglers, in political waters, are scarce in St. George.

The deer seem to be wise, they have evidently moved into safer quarters than St. George and vicinity.

To make Penfield Fair a success next year, engage some of the aspiring politicians as the chief attraction.

The intelligent voter will renounce the grandstand plays of selfish politicians, and it will be a rebuke that will be remembered.

Adjust yourself to circumstances, and if you cannot have electric lights, water works, sewers, concrete sidewalks, etc., take the next best.

It will be safer and wiser to do a certain amount of thinking before obstinacy sets in. The motive power is not one man, but the people.

It is hard to account for the many changes of base in politicians now-a-days. We have fallen upon evil days when sincerity has ceased to be a virtue.

Nature has generously endowed beautiful Lake Utopia. Some advertising scheme should be worked out to have this spot brought more prominently before the public.

In the granite cutting business the best that is in a man is taken out before he is forty years of age. It behooves the young men learning the business to earn the highest wages at the earliest possible moment.

Flour seven dollars a barrel. There seems to be a desire among manufacturers to get all possible out of the consumer. Is Canada following the example of our American cousins, in the combine and trust business?

On a street leading out of town, one of the most undesirable citizens of the woods is roaming round. A punishment long to be remembered will be inflicted on some of our young men some fine evening, when they meet his majesty. It won't be pleasant nor profitable to bury your clothes.

Defendants should not be allowed to wear secret society badges and pins in a trial by jury. To protect one another is one of the prime motives of most of our most prominent societies, and a jurymen probably feels in duty bound to acquit a prisoner who wears the same fraternity badge that he does himself.--Ex.

Wink the other eye.

A weak stomach, causing dyspepsia, a weak heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse, always means weak Stomach nerves or weak Heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by All Dealers.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25.--John Gert, habitual drunkard, but under parole to Judge McKenzie, Cleveland, on a promise not to touch liquor again, failed to answer the roll call in Cleveland's court. Instead, Parole Officer Joseph Snijska handed to the judge a typewritten report of Gert's battle to keep his pledge—a promise that it cost his life to keep.

Gert's record in the court showed three arrests for drunkenness. He then gave the judge his word the last time never to touch another drop. He went home to keep it.

At last he became ill and for an entire month raved on his bed, conscious of but two things—that he wanted whiskey and that he had promised not to touch it.

Finally his agony became so intense that his wife brought in some whiskey.

He raised himself in bed, but just as he put it to his lips he remembered his pledge and dashed the glass across the room. Then he lapsed into a semi-delirium and Mrs. Gert offered him more whiskey, but again he threw the glass across the room.

The last act of his life, according to the report, was to cast a glass of liquor from him just as he was seized by the final stroke of heart disease.

Just his Luck.

(From the Tattler.)

"Well, old fellow, I hear that your aunt is dead."

"Yes, she died yesterday," replied the old fellow somewhat sadly.

"It is the way of the world. We must all die sometime, and the old lady was well advanced in years. She left a last will and testament, of course? I hope understood she was wealthy."

O. Yes, she left a will and testament more so.

The Best Clothing Made in Canada

This is written for men who have never worn Broadway Clothing. Every man who reads newspapers has read or skipped hundreds of clothing advertisements.

Now Don't Skip This One

We think every man should wear Broadway Clothing because we know, as the public cannot know, how splendidly it is made. But this is certain, every man should know about this clothing whether he decides to buy or not.

Because it has more hand work than other clothing of equal cost.

Because interlinings, as well as wools are double shrunken.

Because the styles are designed by leading experts in fashions for men.

Because we are never satisfied—always seeking betterment in quality, style and finish; and making every season reach a higher standard of achievement than the season that preceded it.

Don't You Want to Wear Such Clothing as That?

The Broadway staff of designers, cutters and tailors represent an evolution of the highest skill—a concentration of effort—a harmony of production—the resulting output of which justifies us in commending these garments to men of critical tastes.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

A large bear was shot by Wm. Freeman at Edgeworth Ridge, Friday.

James McGarrigle, who was badly injured six weeks ago is rapidly recovering.

The potato crop of New Brunswick is 5,000,000 bushels, or about one half the regular crop.

Three families of Indians have moved into town. The men are employed by the pulp company.

A vessel with apples, of the "so forth" variety, has been at the wharf for some days.

Mr. Arthur Frauley has been out in search of big game. In spite of bad weather the trip was enjoyable. That's all.

A slow load of black granite for H. McGrattan & Sons arrived on Wednesday, being towed from Boabec by a gasoline boat.

Grant & Morin are selling the Jewel triple heater—the largest, most economical and most powerful wood heater ever manufactured.

Lumbering operations will soon commence on the Woodbury block, under the direction of Thos. Sullivan. A mill will be erected and the lumber manufactured there.

Owing to the scarcity of laborers the building of the Portage street sewer has been delayed. If men can be secured Com. Mealey says it will take but a short time to complete the work.

Several schooners engaged in smelt fishing have been in the "basin" for some days, and report good catches of this delicious little fish. They are shipped to the Boston market and bring forty cents a pound.

The lumber for the public wharf has arrived, and is pronounced by inspector Milliken to be of the very best quality. Operations on the wharf will commence as soon as the loading of the schooner Sequin is completed.

A very handsome gasoline motor boat has been built by Arthur Brown. The engine will be installed in the spring and the boat will be used by Mr. Brown for pleasure purposes. Several offers have been made by parties wishing to buy this fine craft, but the young owner has declined to sell.

Frauley Bros. are making a very attractive display of furs. Our readers attention is called to their ads. in this issue. Prices being so reasonable everyone can keep themselves warm by calling on this enterprising firm and selecting anything in the fur line from the case stock shown.

Several items appeared in our last issue, in L'Etang correspondence, which were not furnished by our regular correspondent. We deeply regret any reflection that may have been made on any person mentioned, and would advise a little discretion when far-fetched jokes are to be perpetrated.

The Weymouth, N. S., Gazette says: More than $2,000 was paid out by the Weymouth branch of the Royal Bank of Canada to the fishermen of Tiverton last week—more than $100 for every man, woman and child in the village. This amount is for sale of fish made in Halifax during the past few weeks.

What will probably be the last load of pulp to be shipped from here this season is now being put on board the schr. Sequin. An immense amount has been shipped this season and preparations are being made to increase the shipments when navigation opens next spring. The Co. will have their own vessels, which will be engaged in this business only.

In the Postmaster General's report for nine months ending March 31st, 1907, St. George office is reported as follows:

The I. O. F. speaks of insurance in this issue. It would take much space to tell of the good work done by this order. The Society is flourishing and its special offer for next two months will undoubtedly increase the membership.

John M. Duffins who worked here when the granite industry was first established died recently in Palo Alto, Cal. The Montpelier Journal, in an extended notice of his death speaks of him "As a man of much intelligence and of many fine qualities. As an employer he was highly esteemed, and among his fellow craftsmen he was thoroughly respected and beloved. Honest, kindly, gentlemanly, frank, he could hardly fail to have the sincere good will and respect of his fellow citizens. He leaves a wife, two sons and a daughter. His sons are students at the Leland Stanford University."

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Baptist church here, on Thursday, Oct. 24th, when Miss Phoebe Lavina, second daughter of the late Edw. O'Brien became the bride of Mr. Almah Canfield Toy, of Sandy Hill, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. B. Buchanan. The bride, who was unattended, was gowned in a beautiful white silk dress, hand embroidered with hatterburg trimmings, and bridal veil, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was escorted by her uncle, Mr. James O'Brien. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with potted plants and evergreen. The ushers were Misses Fannie and Edna O'Brien, Helen Clark, and Carrie Gilmor. After the ceremony luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, after which, amid showers of rice, the young couple left by the N. B. Southern for a short wedding trip. The bride's travelling suit was of brown broadcloth with hat to match. Many beautiful and costly presents received, showed the popularity of both.

From a Woman's Point of View.

If good Hannah More had lived in these latter days of high pressure, it is altogether probable that her celebrated axiom, "The world contains but two evils: sin and bile," would have been extended to three, "the last item being 'frazzled' nerves."

If housekeepers could only differentiate between essentials and non-essentials, could tell when to labor and when it is the part of wisdom to stay our hands and "invite our souls to loaf," it would be a good thing for our friends and family.

Extreme weariness begets worry. With worry comes insomnia, neurosthenia and nervous breakdown, and we are anything but "pleasant to live with."

The vicar of a large country town in England visited a parishioner, a widow, 75 years old, who had had 10 children, all of whom except one daughter had married and left her. Now this daughter also was about to be married. The old lady would then be left quite alone, and the clergyman endeavored to sympathize with her. "You must feel lonely now, after having had so large a family."

"Yes, sir," she said, "I do feel it lonesome. I've brought up a large family, and here I am living alone. An' I misses 'em an' I wants 'em; but I misses 'em more than I wants 'em."

A good story is told of a disconcerting interruption which Mr. Gladstone once experienced when addressing a woman suffrage meeting in Leeds. In the course of his speech he paid a graceful compliment to the eloquence of the ladies who had previously spoken, and further gallantly remarked on the great pleasure which it gives the other sex to listen to women talking. Pausing for a moment after this observation, Mr. Gladstone, like his audience, was thrown into an unexpected state of merriment by a male voice, which proceeded from the back of the hall and proclaimed in the broadest Yorkshire dialect: "Eh, lad, thou'st noan wed yet, I see'st."

The little wisps of hair which cause so much annoyance on windy days can be kept in place with invisible hairpins. But few women know how to keep in the pins. Push the locks in place, slip in the pin, then turn back one point of the pin until the end touches the top. They are easily taken out, but will keep firmly even in the roughest wind.

It is a curious fact that most of the principal kings of Europe are shorter than their consorts.

King Edward is six inches shorter than Queen Alexandra. The carina is quite a head taller than the car. The Emperor of Germany is of medium height, but the empress is tall, and that is why the kaiser will never consent to be photographed beside his wife unless she sits while he stands, says Home Chat.

The King of Italy hardly comes up to the shoulders of Queen Helena; the King of Portugal, though by no means a little man, is certainly shorter than his wife, and the Queen of Denmark simply towers above her husband.

To keep so young that you cannot guess within 50 years of her age a woman must have these qualities:

She must have a young profile.
Her back must be young in its curves and its outline.
Her hair must be young in color and in arrangement.
Her hands and her feet must be young.
She must not let herself grow fat.
She must not let her complexion get yellow.

She must not let her voice get high and cracked, and she must be able to control her temper.

A perfect plague of hairpins is raging on some of the metropolitan greens where ladies are allowed to play over the men's course. It is really time that the Ladies' Golf Union Club took some steps to abate the nuisance. The bankers, especially, are full of them, and the danger to players and spectators alike from living hairpins is too apparent to need pointing out.

The Japanese vogue has as yet by no means died out, but is principally dominant in wraps for afternoon and theatre wear; also in bodicoor gowns and certain dress accessories, such as embroideries and umbrella handles. Many of the latter are made of costly carved ivory, a group of heads being the leading novelty. Cloisonne work is used for the same purpose and grotesque animal and birds' heads make up a number of the more expensive umbrella handles, others being composed of jade, amethyst and onyx elaborated with gold work.

News of the World

The post office department has completed its statistics of the British mails coming into Canada by the Canadian liners for the months of July and August, and the figures show a phenomenal increase. The total increase in the number of bags coming into Canada from Great Britain during the months of July and August, 1906, is 162 per cent. The number for the months of July and August, 1906, being 2,120 bags, while for the same months in 1907 there were 3,569 bags.

The C. P. R. has granted the men all over the system an increase of 12 1/2 per cent., with extra pay for Sunday work, effective Oct. 1. The union demanded a 20 per cent. increase. The new arrangement cuts out the vacations.

The Salvation Army has brought sixteen thousand immigrants to Canada this year and would have brought more only the steamship accommodation was lacking.

The afternoon express train from Boston to Montreal, which runs over the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine railroad, ran into the rear end of a freight train in North Leominster Wednesday. The engineer and fireman of the express were seriously hurt and five of the passengers were cut and bruised.

Frank B. Kellogg says out of the maze of figures developed in a voluminous mass from the company's books and from testimony given by Clarence G. Fay, assistant auditor of the Standard, called as a witness, he believes he has proved the federal allegation that the Standard is an illegal corporation that by devious devices has maintained its entirety and that it is under the same ownership as when it was formed.

Members of the church defense committee of England are pledged to make church and school the foremost consideration in voting at elections.

The Crown Prince of Japan, Admiral Togo and a number of nobles will make a tour of Corea.

The Hague Arbitration Commission has adopted Gen. Porter's resolution that a Government shall not adopt coercive measures to secure repayment of contractual debts until the case has been referred to The Hague court. Thirty-eight voted in favor of this, six of them, Venezuela and Argentina included, stated that they did so under reserve. Six abstained from voting. There were no negative votes.

English capitalists are said to be behind a $4,000,000 locomotive works to be built at Lachine. A site has been purchased and the promoters are asking a $50,000 bonus and exemption from taxes from the municipality.

Dr. Pozzi, the celebrated surgeon, Saturday at Bayonne, France, operated upon Edmond Rostand, the poet and playwright, for appendicitis. The operation was pronounced to be successful, and the condition of the patient is said to be satisfactory.

The German Government has given orders for the deportation of thirty-seven Mormons, who are now on their way to Bremen, where they will take passage for New York on a North German Lloyd steamship. In this the Government is continuing the policy of five years ago, when Berlin was cleared of 400 Mormons at short notice.
