POETRY.

From the Olive Branch. WHEN'S THE GOOD TIME COMING?

When's the good time coming, boys ! When's the good time coming? Long we've looked for it vain, Though they sing the poet's strain, About the good time coming. 1 In the future still it stays. Guilt and wo grow'stronger; It will never bless our days, If we wait much longer !

When's the good time coming boys! When's the good time coming? Would that we could see to-day Drawing near, the shining ray Of the good time coming. Every link in misery's chain Darker seems and thronger, While it doth on earth remain, Waiting here still longer.

When's the good time coming, boys! When's the good time coming ! Let us strive to bring the time Speedily in all its prime, If it's ever coming! Much our country needs the ray Of the truth still stronger;

Let us hasten on the day, And not wait much longer,

When's the good time coming, boys? When's the good time coming ? Let us strive with giant will, All the earth with touth so fill, For the good time coming. Then our land may truly boast That she's growing stronger: Who will aid the cause the most?

That are a sit no longer !
