JOGGINS RAILWAY.—On and after February next mail will be conveyed to Joggins via this road. The terminus of the mail route has heretofore been River Hotel.

FAST WORK.—Frank Read threatened for James Distant, Cookville on Saturday, 12 bushels of oats in 13 minutes, with the Little Giant machine. Who can best this!

FIRE.—The dwelling owned by Will and Hutchison, and formerly owned by Dr. French of Westcott was destroyed by fire on Thursday afternoon. Fire caught from a defective stove. Insurance $800.

RIFLE MATCH.—The Sackville Rifle Club held their monthly match at the Smith Range on Saturday last.

The weather proved favorable, attendance fair and competition was sharp. Both the Wood medal and Powell cup were carried off by Mr. John Brooks.

S. OF T.—Sackville Division No. 40, has again revived and will meet on the same evening as before, (Tuesday evening) at the Sackville Hotel.

The Div. has been apparently dead for some time and it is to be hoped that this organization will prove to be as full of life and temperance spirit as it has in years past.

EARLY FROST.—The probabilities are that the heavy frost of the past few days will do a large amount of damage to roots still in the ground. In Shediac, and along the North Shore there are many extensive fields still untouched and the warmer weather does not set in soon will be a total loss. Already it is feared the frost has ruined them. There are still large quantities of turnips in the fields.

ON TUESDAY 27th ult., Mrs. Jane Wheaton, Upper Sackville, widow of the late Thomas Wheaton, while engaged in conversation with her grandson was suddenly stricken with paralysis from which she never rallied. Up to the time of her death she was conscious of all around her, but was speechless.

On Sunday morning she passed away quietly, and on Tuesday was interred in the cemetery. Upper Sackville, a large number of friends following the remains to the grave. Mrs. Wheaton was in her 90th year.

FORECAST FOR NOVEMBER.—The United States Hydrographic office issues the following weather forecast for November: The West Indian Sea, calm, light breeze, now at an end and the gales that are encountered with increasing frequency north of the fortieth parallel are mostly from the westward and northward.

During the winter months the usual track of storm is eastward across the northern United States and Canada, and then aboutENE over the Atlantic, where they are followed by severe and long continued westerly gales. Probably no ice will be encountered south of the latitude of Cape Race. Fog will be less frequent, owing to prevailing northwesterly (off shore) winds. Strong northerly winds are likely to occur in the Gulf of Mexico.

PERSONAL.—The most fashionable event of the season was the marriage of Mr. Herbert Crosskill, deputy provincial secretary, and Miss F. W. Pickman, formerly of St. John. The ceremony took place on Thursday last at "Hawthorne Villa" the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Lynch.

The presents were numerous and costly, and the list of invited guests included some of the leading people of St. John and Halifax.

A large amount of bunting was displayed around town in honor of the event. The happy couple left by the steamer "City of Montreal" on their honeymoon trip, immediately after the ceremony, and the steamboat pier presented a lively scene of feminine glee, every eager to catch a glimpse at the bride.

They will reside in Halifax—Globe.

—Messrs. McDougall and Murray returned from their North Shore shooting trip with over 20 head of brand and game. The shooting was poor owing to the bad weather which prevailed most of the time.

—Mr. and Mrs. Crosskill spent a few days in Sackville on their wedding tour.

—Mr. and Mrs. Pearson left for their New York home on Thursday afternoon last.

SHIPPING.—Port of Sackville, arrived 27th ult., American ship, Laurie Cobb, 230, Falkenham, from Jonesport in bal.

29th ult., Am. schr. Abbie Ingalls, 178, Kelley, for New York with piling shipped by Simon Outhouse. 31st ult., Laurie Cobb, Falkenham, for New York with 275 tons Brown Stone by S. Outhouse.

Cleared coastwise, 29th Crown Prince, Estabrooks, for Port Williams in bal. Flora McLe, Tower for Rockport in bal.

—Rockport, cleared, schr. E. M. Sawyer, 184, Bagley for New York, piling by S. Outhouse.

—Dr. schr. Karnie, Capt. Harris arrived here from New York on Tuesday with 575 bbls oil and 107 tons anthracite. She was ashore while going through the lands, and in St. John where she put in for harbor had her job smashed. She sailed for a few barrels of oil.

—Arrived at Fleetwood, Oct. 11th, bark Alexander Black, from Bay Verte, 19 days. Capt. Black reports terrible gales on the Atlantic.

—Says the Transcript:—Schooner Sower had easterly winds nearly the entire passage from Brunswick, Ga., to Vineyard Haven. She had fowl and drying jib torn. She sailed from the latter place on the 24th ult. for Sackville.

Local Matters.

—The I. C. R. authorities have purchased four more heavy mogul engines, capable of hauling over 300 tons each, to be used for coal trains.

On Tuesday, Nov. 10th, a concert will be held at Shediac for the purpose of providing funds for the purchase of instruments for a brass band for that place. As Shediac is a musical centre of some note it is expected the entertainment will be of a high order.

—This has been a busy season for Parrboro. The shipments of coal have been larger than ever, and will probably exceed 80,000 tons, while lumber shipments will be fully equal to the quantity exported last year, which was 32,000,000 feet.

—Messrs. D. A. Huntley and Henry Kpps are commencing operations on the timber lands at Ilait Way River purchased by them from Mr. John Hannah. Messrs Young Bros. & Co. are putting a large force of men in the woods this winter. Several gangs have already gone into camp at Parrboro River.

—Robert Christie, of Amherst, was seriously injured last week while engaged in his saw mill at River Herbert. He was standing near the gang-way while a very heavy log was being hauled in when the chain parted flying back with great force and striking him across the chest. He was unable to speak for some time, but is now progressing favorably.

—Rev. L. M. Weeks, owing to a troublesome disease of the throat has found it necessary to resign his pastorate here and seek a more inland climate. He has accepted a call from the Baptist Church of Cornwall, Ont., and with his family is about to move there. The reverend gentleman preached his farewell sermon Sunday evening—a able and touching discourse which was listened to by an unusually large congregation.—Transcript.

—Schooner Endeavor, which drove ashore last week near Lake Brook, N. S. became a total wreck. When she struck the boat and cabin were entirely carried away. The crew took to the rigging and succeeded in throwing a line ashore, which enabled them to reach the land in safety. The schooner was bound from Joggins to Ellihobart. The Endeavor was a schooner of 65 tons, and was built at Hopewell, N. B. in 1867. She was owned by Capt. L. N. Norris, of Cornwallis, and was purchased only about three weeks ago from Bedford Cook, of Dorchester.

—To George McKean of this city belongs the honor of having shipped the first cargo of coal to the Manchester ship canal, England. A short time ago he loaded at Shediac the bark Deodada, and she was ordered to the river Mersey. The Norwegian captain insisted that the port should be named. A cable message brought the reply ordering the bark to the Manchester ship canal dock. East of a small place at the mouth of the canal and a short distance from Liverpool.—Sun.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

MEET IN MONCTON.

The Grand Division S. of T. met in Moncton last week. A large attendance from all parts of the province was present, and the resolutions passed were the following:

That whereas, there are many clubs of a social nature in the city of St. John, and elsewhere, where intoxicating liquors are sold to the members of said clubs and such other persons as by rules of said club become entitled to the privileges thereof.

And whereas clubs cannot legally sell intoxicating liquors by reason of their not being licensed for that purpose.

And whereas the sale of liquors in these clubs are particularly injurious to young people, and have a demoralizing influence generally.

Resolved that the Grand Division petition the Lieutenant-Governor and Legislative Assembly, praying them to amend the present liquor license act so as to cover the sale of intoxicating liquors in clubs.

Rev. G. M. Campbell moved the following resolution, which was seconded by H. H. Pitt:

This Grand Division is fully persuaded that the foundation of the temperance reform is total abstinence for the individual, and prohibition for the State.

And whereas this is a conspicuous by the fact that the saloon is making use of politicians and political parties in accomplishing its nefarious designs.

And whereas, it is the intelligent conviction of this grand body that license, higher or low, is a failure of the reform and cannot be adopted without sin.

Therefore resolved that we will not use the hall of elected representatives who are opposed to prohibition.

Second: We will not endorse or support any party that oppose making prohibition part of the organic law of the Dominion, and are prepared to pledge our support to the party who will make total prohibition of the traffic a plank in its platform.

Church Services.

The annual Missionary meeting will be held next Sabbath at Bristol 10.30 a.m.; Baie Verte 3 p.m.; Port Elgin, 7 p.m.; Rev. F. H. W. Pickles and Rev. L. S. Johnson will deliver addresses at each meeting.

Point de Bute, Nov. 6th, 11 a.m. Rev. Mr. Stevens; 7 p.m. Rev. Mr. Stevens.—Fort Lawrence, 3 p.m., Rev. Mr. Stevens.

Methodist service, Sunday 8th, Nov., 11 a.m. F. W. Harrison; 7 p.m. Rev. A. D. McLeod; Upper Sackville, 3 p.m., Rev. Benjamin Seaboyer.

—Rev. D. C. Lawson will preach in the new Meeting House, Dorel a ter Cape next Sunday the 8th, at 10.30 a.m. and 2.45 p.m.

GOING TO BE A DANDY.

GRIP'S COMIC ALMANAC for '92 will be the thirteenth issue of that popular journal, and the publishers have determined that it shall break the record for brilliancy, humor and typographic beauty.

Among the features of it will be a double page cartoon, entitled, "The Dickens Christmas Party," in which a large number of our public men will figure in more or less appropriate characters, from the works of the great novelist. Special illustrations are being prepared for the Almanac by Mr. Wm. Bengough, Mr. S. J. West, Mr. E. S. Biabac, Mr. Chas. Broughton, Mr. B. Thompson, Mr. Chas. W. Bradley, Mr. A. H. Howard, and many other artists, and the letterpress will be as usual, of a light and amusing character. The work is to be brought out in the highest style of the printers' art, though there will be no increase in price—10 cents. Keep Grip's forthcoming ALMANAC in mind. It will be out sometime in November.

TEACHERS Association meets here today and to-morrow.

THANKS.—The Post returns thanks to Mr. W. W. Cole, for late Spokane papers.

MAMMOTH EGG.—An enterprising young farmer of Middle Sackville has a curiosity in a small hen's egg which measures 1 1/2 in. in diameter.

HALLOWEEN.—As usual the boys had their fun on Saturday Halloween. The signs of the Post office and C. W. Richardson were taken off and all the portable packing boxes about Crane's corner moved.

BAPTIST.—On Sunday Morning last, Rev. W. H. Warren baptized a young man at Middle Sackville, and gave the hand of fellowship to the candidate at the close of the morning service. A growing interest in spiritual things is manifest among the young people of this locality.

MUSIC HALL.—On Monday evening Mr. Nicholls the popular lecturer, gave an illustrated lecture on the life of Napoleon Bonaparte to a fair audience in Music Hall. With the aid of a powerful spot-light the lecturer gave a highly entertaining and descriptive account of the life of France's greatest general from the cradle to the grave. On Tuesday evening Mary Queen of Scots was the subject.

ROBERTY.—On Monday night two German peddlers stayed at Amos Patterson's, Coles Island, and while they were asleep their packs were opened and a quantity of goods amounting to about $15.00 stolen. Jas. Tower of Rockport, who is employed about the premises was accused of this theft, arrested on Thursday and brought before Stipendiary Cahill yesterday. He was remanded until Friday awaiting further evidence.

EXERCISES.—The concert given by Miss Lander's elocution class advertised in another column, promises to be an interesting one. The object of the entertainment is to exhibit the work of that department of the Nova Scotia College to the public. A small fee is charged to cover the expenses of the physical exercises so essential to a thorough elocution training.

NOT! NOT!! NOT!!!

See advertisement.

BEEHIVEN HALL.—The lecture with lime-light dissolving views to be delivered on Friday evening, 6th inst., in Beehoven Hall, commencing at 8 o'clock has been highly spoken of in St. John, Halifax and other places in the Maritime provinces. Subject: Manners and customs of the Japanese. The lecturer Rev. Chas. T. Cocking is a returned missionary from Japan. The views taken from his trip by the Japanese artist cannot be surpassed. The lantern is of the best make throwing a good twenty foot picture. The lecturer will appear in native costume give an address in Japanese, will also dress as a Buddhist priest give a specimen of the Temple Service. Likewise exhibit a Japanese number of books used by the people in their daily life.

THE STONE INDUSTRY. After a very successful season the New York Free-stone Quarrying Co. has closed its heavy shipments. During the season the company shipped 2,500 tons of scabbled stone to Toronto for the New Departmental Buildings, and a large quantity to Buffalo. Sixty-five men were employed, and 4 engines and 2 steam drills were used in the works. A great deal of expense has been incurred in getting the stone ready for quarrying and there is now fully 30,000 tons of fine stone in sight, one layer of which is 20 feet thick. A local "Chambers" will be used to quarry the larger blocks into suitable sizes. The price realized is in the vicinity of $14.00 per ton.

The Atlantic Bridge Stone Co. closed their operation on Saturday last after a good season's work. During the summer about 6,000 tons were quarried, 5,500 tons of which was supplied to the Ship Railway, and the balance to parties in Philadelphia, New Haven and ports in the north in maritime. Forty men were employed and 5 saws were used to take the stone across to the Port Lawrence dock.

A FOWL CARNAGE!

PROF. CONNERY.—The entertainment given by Prof. Connery of Queens University, Kingston, assisted by the musical faculty of the Ladies College in Beehoven Hall on Friday evening was attended by a large number. The programme was as follows:

Organ Solo—Prof. Mack.

Reading, "Beachhead"—Prof. Connery.

Vocal Solo—Miss Ayer.

Reading, "Love in a Balloons"—Prof. Connery.

Vocal duet—Misses Mack & Crompton.

Reading, "Hunting a Mouse"—Prof. Connery.

Piano duet—Misses Vroom and Crompton.

Vocal Solo—Miss Mack.

Irish Sketch—Prof. Connery.

Turkish March—Misses Ayer, Vroom, and Crompton, and Prof. Mack.

Reading, "Robustion and his Piano"—Prof. Connery.

As a reader, Prof. Connery is entertaining and to a mixed audience would be highly popular, but unfortunately many of his selections of Friday evening were too old to the audience to be highly appreciated, and his gestures were more in the line of buffoonery than elocution.

WEDDING BELLS.—On Tuesday morning last the Baptist Church presented a cheerful appearance as a smiling throng of our villagers gathered in to witness the ceremony by which Mr. Ansley Ted and Miss Ella M. Barnes were united in marriage. Rev. W. H. Warren secretly tied the nuptial knot. Appropriate music and tasteful decorations added to the interest of the occasion, and the bell rang out a merry peal as the happy group left the edifice. After partaking of luncheon with their invited friends the newly married couple took the noon train for a short tour in Nova Scotia. We cordially extend our sincere congratulations.

—A similar event occurred at Westcott on Tuesday evening, at the residence of Mr. William Barnes, where a number of invited guests assembled to participate in the festivities connected with the marriage of Mr. Andrew D. Walker and Miss Carrie E. Barnes, the bride being attended by Rev. W. H. Warren. A beautiful repeat having been duly extended to the happy couple route for Minneapolis, which is henceforth to be their home. Our best wishes follow them.

THAT BLACK LACE BONNET.

Continued

Considering the words she had heard as she entered, Miss Walton thought this a somewhat extraordinary announcement. She made allowance for Miss Wilton's natural vivacity, however, and got away as quickly as she could, the bonnet-box in her hand. It was growing dark, and she made her way straight to the drawing room.

"Here it is!" she cried joyfully; "now all our troubles are over."

She had scarcely spoken when a loud peal came at the door bell, and a great altercation was heard in the hall.

"Whatever is the matter?" cried Mrs. Aubrey. "John is out. What shall we do?"

"M. la Tour!" said the maid, opening the door with a very white face. "Oh, ma'am, he is so angry!"

"I will speak to him," said Miss Walton, and, taking the box, she rushed out and thrust it into his arms.

M. la Tour was mollified in a moment.

"Mille pardons!" he exclaimed, holding the box in one arm and waving the other wildly to express his contrition.

Miss Walton apologized in voluble English, he replied in as voluble French, and the interview ended in the warmest terms of respectful affection on both sides.

"There, that is over," said Miss Walton as she returned to the drawing room; "and we have heard the last of the black lace bonnet."

Col. Aubrey, as we have said, was a man of regular habits, and having walked one way in the morning, he always went the other way in the afternoon, returning home in time for dinner. He was sauntering home now in the gathering twilight, swinging his cane and humming a few base notes. As he unlocked his garden gate he saw a figure looming in the twilight. It was M. la Tour.

"What does he want here?" muttered the colonel, remembering their passage of arms in the morning. As he spoke he noticed that M. la Tour tried to avoid him, and that he carried a bundle under his arm. Instantly an idea flashed over him.

"It is not madness; it is crime!" he exclaimed, and running forward, he raised his bamboo. "Thief yourself," he cried. "Give me that moment."

He tried to snatch the box away, but M. la Tour held it fiercely. "Villain," he cried, "ah! I detest you; you have all wronged me!"

The colonel took no notice of his remarks. "Give me that!" he shouted again. The box fell from the prisoner's hand, his foot slipped and the two men rolled over and over each other on the gravel path.

"There seems to be a great noise going on," said Mrs. Aubrey presently opening the window. "What can be the matter? Oh, Hester! look there!"

The noise of shouts and cries rose through the still evening air, and the two ladies could dimly see dark forms struggling on the ground. Little Toby rushed out to lend his loud barking to the general confusion, and for some time they stood trembling with fright, unable to distinguish a word. Soon, however, a piercing cry came to their ears: "Ah, villain! the bonnet is to me!"

"It is M. la Tour!" screamed Miss Walton.

"And John!" added Mrs. Aubrey, as the colonel's voice exclaimed: "Skulking thief! I'll teach you—take that!"

The two ladies flew to the combatants, and tried to drag them apart.

"Oh, John, it's all right, I gave it to him!" cried Mrs. Aubrey, while Miss Walton reiterated: "He didn't know; it was a secret, a secret! Oh, why won't they listen to me!"

The colonel rose to his feet at last. "That'll teach him a lesson!" he said grimly.

"Oh, John!" sobbed his wife, who by this time was in hysterics—"oh, what shall I do, what shall I do! He bought the bonnet, he bought the bonnet!" Her voice died away in a passion of tears.

"What!" said the colonel, and said no more.

Toby meanwhile was dancing a dance of triumph round the prostrate form of M. la Tour, who lay groaning and moaning as though he had been mortally wounded.

"Oh, John, you've killed him!" said Miss Walton, distracted; "he's dead!"

"Dead rubbish!" said the colonel; "do him good! What you all mean, I don't know. What's he doing here, what's he carrying away?"

M. la Tour dragged himself up at this point. "Good evening, monsieur!" he said, "we will see the law now," and he began to walk away, limping very much as he went.

"Come back!" cried Miss Walton wildly; "it's all a mistake. Oh, Toby, do he quiet!"

"What's a mistake?" said the colonel, gruffly. "If Julia would stop blubbering, and Toby would stop barking, and La Tour would stop that ridiculous groaning, I might be able to make out what the row is about."

"I'st about a black lace bonnet," said Miss Walton desperately; "he bought it and we thought you would be angry, and we tried to sell it, and Mme. la Tour bought it, and—and—" she stopped, unable to say more.

The colonel, to do him justice, was a man of sense. The first thing he did was to rush after his treacherous foe and seize him by the hand.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "you are right, I was wrong."

No Englishman could have made a sinier apology.

M. la Tour was not to be appeased at all. He talked very big about vengeance, and pistols, and honor; but gradually, as he took in the situation, his ill humor relaxed, and he joined the colonel in a hearty laugh.

"Come in and have some dinner with us," said the colonel. "Dinner is the national peace offering, and says a Frenchman, M. la Tour understood the overture. He bowed politely, and accepted the terms of peace.

"I will never deceive you again," sobbed Mrs. Aubrey, as she threw her arms round her husband's neck. "Not till next time, I suppose," said the colonel; "well, let us go in and wash the dust off."

They all turned toward the house in a rupture of reconciliation, but Miss Walton was always practical, even in the most romantic moment. "I think we had better take in the bonnet," she said.

"Oh! of course," said the colonel, and his wife went to fetch it.

"What has Toby got?" said Mrs. Aubrey.

Ah! what had Toby got? Once more Toby was dancing a war dance of triumph, but this time it was over no vanquished foe, the ground was strewn with the fragments of the crushed and battered bonnet box, and Toby was rushing hither and thither shaking between his teeth the ruined remains of the black lace bonnet!

Time will efface even the deepest impressions. In time M. la Tour got his offended dignity, and Madame Wilton condescended to bow to Mrs. Aubrey and Miss Walton when she met them in the street; but the two consins cannot forget that sad episode in their career, nor pass without a difference that dark corner of the garden, where the colonel has erected a tiny stone over a little mound, which bears the strange but suggestive words: "To the Memory of a Black Lace Bonnet."

Some Interesting Facts About Tides.

(Telegraph)

A Telegraph reporter had the pleasure, at the Royal Hotel, last evening, of interviewing Mr. Charles Carmichael, M. A., director of the dominion meteorological service, Toronto. Mr. Carmichael, who arrived Sunday morning here for the purpose of selecting a suitable spot for the establishment of a tide-gauge station, and he kindly gave the reporter a few facts in connexion with that object. The British admiralty record of tidal observations, to which the reporter refers, shows the tides in the Bay of Fundy to be among the highest in the world. St. John being well up in the front with an average of 27 feet, spring tide. In some points of Ungava Bay the tides register over 50 feet; Noel Bay, N. S., has a mean tidal elevation of 50 feet; Moncton, 47; Folley Point, 45; Cumberland Basin, 45; Hankow, China, 38 to 50; and Frobiisher Bay, 45. In the vicinity of Bristol, Eng., the tides rise to the height of 31 to 38 feet, and in some parts of South America from 35 to 46 feet. These are some of the highest tides on the globe. The tide gauge which will be placed here gives the times of high and low water, and the height of every tide during the year. It consists of a float which, by means of a wire or rope, rotated a wheel whose motion is transmitted to a series of pens, by gearing. A pencil is worked backwards and forwards as the tide rises and falls; a clock is fitted round the latter, the tide fluctuations are recorded automatically. Well in which the float rises and falls has an aperture sufficiently small to prevent the fluctuations due to wave motion from perceptibly affecting the pencil, but large enough to ensure the water's rising to the same height inside as on the outside of the wall. It is a very delicately constructed machine, and will record the tides with positive accuracy. Heretofore this work has been done by a series of laborious calculations, which, however carefully made, have always been subject to error. The tide gauge comes from Glasgow and is the property of the Indian government.

ONE PROBLEM SOLVED.

(Detroit Free Press.)

The professor of natural science at Ann Harbor was discussing process of fertilizing plants by means of insects carrying the pollen from one plant to another, and to amuse them told them how the old maids were the ultimate cause of it all. The humble bees carry the pollen; the field mice eat the humble bees; therefore the more field mice the fewer humble bees and the less pollen and variation of plants. But cats devour the field mice and the old maids protect cats. Therefore the more old maids the more cats, the fewer field mice, the more bees. Hence old maids are the cause of variety in plants.

Thereupon, a sophomore with a single eyeglass, an English umbrella, a box coat, with his trousers rolled up at the bottom, arose and asked:

"I am a-y, professor, what is the cause—ah—of old maids, don't you know?"

"Perhaps Miss Jones can tell you," suggested the professor.

"Dudes!" said Miss Jones sharply, and without a moment's hesitation.

There was silence in the room for the space of thirty seconds, after which the lecture was resumed.

THE LADIES INTERESTED

In the Distribution of $1,500.00!

Spirit of Friendly Rivalry Stirred Up.

The Ladies Alleviate to the Great Importance of the Undertaking.

The ladies of Canada are delighted; husbands note with pleasure the smiling faces of wives and daughters; indeed, the whole country is stirred up with a pleasurable excitement.

It simply amounts to this,—that the manufacturers of the celebrated and universally used Diamond Dyes have inaugurated a grand competition scheme known as the "Diamond Dye Competition," which is freely thrown open to every mother, wife and daughter of our broad Dominion.

No less a sum than $1,500.00 will be distributed to the mothers, wives and daughters of Canada, in first, second and third prizes. This sum is really being turned to the consumers of Diamond Dyes. Every lady in Canada can afford to come a competitor, and has sufficient intelligence and ability to make up some of the articles mentioned in the long and varied list. Ample time is afforded to all for experimenting and becoming perfect as competitors for the large cash prizes offered.

It is an unprecedented act of liberality on the part of the wealthy manufacturers of Diamond Dyes, and never before attempted by any similar institution in the world; and the public have the most ample opportunity for every promise will be faithfully carried out.

During the season the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes have contributed liberally to country fairs, in order to encourage Household Economy and Art. Small and almost unknown concerns have tried to stimulate the character of work, by the offering of insignificant sums of from one to three dollars, that would not in any instance defray cost of dyeing and the making up of goods called for. We fear these small imitations have not yet discovered the fact that the ladies value too highly their time and materials, to be lured by such trifling and miserly prizes.

The fairs of our country having closed for the season, the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes mean to keep the ladies busy during the long autumn and winter evenings, by offering large and substantial prizes in keeping with the character of work asked for.

The production of every competitor will form an exhibit in the large and well-equipped Diamond Dye establishment in Montreal, and three of the largest and best known Dry Goods firms in Canada have promised experts to award the prizes. These well-known houses are: Henry Morgan & Co., Henry & N. E. Hamilton, and John Murphy & Co. Graham & Co., proprietors of the Montreal "Daily Star," have signified their willingness to act as judges on the various Essays sent forward for competition.

Young and old, rich and poor, have an equal chance in this magnificent and novel competition scheme; therefore all should willingly enter. If you have not yet received a book giving full particulars of the scheme, write at once to the Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, who will send it post free.

We are asked to remind our readers of the fact that all intending competitors should at once signify their intentions of becoming competitors, by sending in the form, properly filled up, which is found on page 15 of the book referred to. We wish to impress upon our people the fact that this contest is absolutely free to all. There is no cost for books, no entrance fee, no money to be sent forward; it is as free to all as the air we breathe. We trust our people will do what they can in this competition, and thus sustain the reputation of our women and girls as adepts in household work and art.

The Cause of the Unpleasantness in Chile.

Chile had for more than half a century enjoyed peace and tranquillity within her borders, and her citizens, realizing that the uninterrupted progress and prosperity of their country were owing to this fact, were determined to maintain peace at any cost. They had before their eyes the example of their late fortunate sister republic in South America, whose slow development had been due to the industrial caused by their frequent revolutions. Mr. Balmaceda, who bore the Chilean citizen's inborn abhorrence of revolution, took advantage of it, to abuse the powers conferred on him, and attacked the most cherished rights of the people, such as their right of public meeting, the liberty of the press, and their electoral right. All our administration under the rule of honest presidents had been free from corruption that we believed in "sincerity" in the honesty and good faith of our magistrature; and it was not till we became convinced that Mr. Balmaceda was determined to name his own successor, in case he could not, even against constitutional provisions, that he should name his successor was what led the different parties to unite against the President in order to insure to the people the free choice of their candidates. — North American Review.
