HAVE always given proof of anything that I claimed for my Electric Belt, because I know that there are people who claim a great deal more for their remedies than the truth would justify. If you want a remedy which will cure you, it seems wise for you to take the one that has cured others. I have published thousands of testimonials from cured patients, and I will pay $1,000 in gold for evidence showing that I have ever used a testimonial which was not true and honest.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt Cures Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches in any part of the Body, Weakness in any part of the Body, Tired Feelings, Sleeplessness, Premature Old Age, Weak Stomach, Weak Kidneys, Loss of Yim, Ambition and Youthful Fire.

I don't ask any man to buy my appliance on a speculation. I know that it will cure these troubles and I want my pay only when the cure is complete. I don't ask you to try it one month, nor two months, but long enough to cure you, and when I have cured you you can pay me. If I fail in my task it's my loss, not yours. All you lose is your time, and if my Belt fails to cure you you will have the satisfaction of knowing that the best, strongest, and finest electric body appliance in the world—one with 50,000 cures to its credit—has failed, and that there is no cure for you in electricity. Judging from the reports in circula- | western district comprising London, ion about the various athletic clubs n Ontario, the coming summer promises to be the most active in the history of sports. It is proposed to draw up the schedule so as to provide home and home games with each club, and a third game either on neutral grounds, or on grounds agreed upon by the competing clubs. This scheme has been suggested by Fred Westbrook, formerly of Brantford, but now connected with the Teeumseh lacrossse club, of Toronto. It provides a good list of games for each club. The third game will be a success from a financial standpoint to all the clubs, and this part of the game cannot be overlooked. It will work out like this: Brantford and St. Catharines will undoubtedly play their third game on neutral grounds, and run a big ex-cursion. The Tecumsehs and London can meet at Brantford or Paris, or by guaranteeing expenses, either club might play the game on its own grounds. Weak clubs will be sure of expenses by playing at the grounds of a strong club and evenly matched teams will draw a crowd on neutral grounds. The schedule will be drawn about May 1.

The first annual meeting of the Ontario Association Football League was held in Toronto this week. This organization was formed last May and has had a prosperous career. It aims at the bringing together of the champion teams of the various affiliated leagues in order to determine the championship of Ontario in the senior, intermediate and junior series. Yachting will have a prominent place in the calendar of sports this summer. All the Toronto yacht clubs are preparing for an active season, and with the big regatta which is to be held on Toronto Bay, June 28, 30, and and July 1, there will be plenty of P. Q. racing. There is also a prospect of an nternational race for the Fisher cup, which is now held by the Rochester Yacht Club. The Invader, the winner of the Canada's cup last year at Chicago, will likely be the challenger.

At a recent meeting of the Ontario Rugby Football Union executive, it vas decided to take active steps to form unior districts next fall. The age imit has been abolished, and many

Exposure for a number of years has told on my system, settled in my back and kidneys, and I did not think that I would ever enjoy good health again. FIRING GUNS TO SAVE VINES

Method of Fighting Hailstorms in Europe.

Experiments Made Lately in the Wine grains of ice-hail, in fact. Country Along the Danube.

It is eight years since the first experiments in protecting vineyards and fields against hall by firing cannon were undertaken on a scientific basis.

In olden times all the church bells were rung before a storm and cannon fired The people believed the noise prevented hail clouds from bursting. Experiments with cannon were made lately in the wine country along the Danube, near Krems, on a new system invented in St. Katharine, Styria, by G. Susching, the engineer of the Carl Greinitz iron works. The cannon were fired in two ways-up into the air to a height varying between 1,500 and 2,000 meters, to prevent the forming of ice in the clouds, and horizontally, when a whirling air ring is formed which prevents frost from

A medical student of Toronto University, who has proved the good quali-ties of Ferrozone, says: "On my study table there is always a place for Ferrozone. I find by keeping my digestion in perfect order, and mantaining a splendid appetite, it enables me to accomplish a great deal of hard work.

I consider Ferrozone at the same time food for the brain, the blood and the nerves, and can highly recommend it."

Too Much Adam Smith?

The Toronto Telegram thinks there has been too much Adam Smith in Canadian political discussions.

That the dead hand of Adam Smith is still a shaping force in the fiscal policies of the world is a tremendous tribute to "The Wealth of Nations."

It is quite true that epoch-making book is no longer holy writ, even in England, the land of classic economy. Free trade, as propounded by Smith and developed by the Manchester school is not the key to an economic paradise, as some of its early prophets fondly believed. While free trade has brought a tremendous accession of wealth to Great Britain, the beauties of unrestricted competition and laissez faire are not as apparent as they were half a century ago. The trend is more and more toward state interference in the relations between capital and labor and in the operations of commerce. One feature of the former is the factory legislation which has been enacted so liberally, noticeably in Britain, from motives of humanity and social necessity. Such legislation hardly squares with unadulterated Cobdenism which regards it as an abridgement of freedom of contract_

The Canadian point of view is more elastic. Few in this country will dispute that judicious state aid may do much for material development. The table: iron industry has been bonused with good results, and intelligent Government direction has greatly promoted the dairy interest.

The tariff policy of Canada has likewise gone a long way from theoretical free trade. But it has not gone to the extreme where the beneficiaries of protection can take the country by the now a factor. If this is too much Adam Smith, then the more of Smith

A Chance for Mr. Whitney.

"It's un-British" is the burden of Mr. Whitney's lament on the referendum, though his arguments on that bowled over completely by of authorities marshaled by the Premier and Attorney-General.

Mr. Whitney might choose a better vantage ground for an attack. If he will look closely enough he will find some genuinely un-British features in the Ontario Legislature. To begin with, the Speaker at Toronto wears no wig, whereas, anyone knows that at Westminster, Mr Speaker's peruke is one of the foundation principles of the British constitution. At Westminster they put the ladies behind a wire screen; at Toronto it is scandalous and un-British that the members are not safeguarded from the fair sex, any one of whom is at liberty to throw a bomb from the gallery. The House of Commons Chamber at Westminster is far 'too small for the membership. This is another precedent violated at Toronto where every man has a reserved of good deeds. seat. At Toronto they also fly in the face of good British custom by giving every member a desk. A stranger is the British House of Commons, but no such divinity hedges in the Provincial legislators at Toronto. At Westminster the members walk out of the chamber when they vote. At Toronto they are counted in their seats while Capt. Robson, of East Middlesex, sings a ballad-the only ocasion, by the way, on which that rising young statesman Is ever heard in the House.

features in our parliamentary procedure upon which Mr. Whitney might train his guns and wave the old flag. Too small an issue? Not after the piggery, the tuberculous calf or the kitchen politics, with which the Opposition deluged the Province in 1894.

Great Britain's Drink Bill.

In his annual letter to the London Times, Dr. Dawson Burns shows the amount spent by the people of the United Kingdom on strong drink. Compared with the previous year, there months to the extent of $13,685,575. But it is a very small increase indeed, as this year the total amount spent on intoxicants by the people of Great Britain was $790,773,025. The reduction in consumption compared with the previous year was-on spirits, 678,718 gallons; wine, 599,808 gallons; and beer, 568,037 gallons. Consequent upon the diminished expenditure and an increase of the population (which stood in the middle of 1901 at 41,454,621), the average expenditure per head, which was $19.66 in 1900, fell to $19.71/2 in 1901, or $99.631/2 per family of five persons. The expenditure per head varied between the three kingdoms, being $20.171/2 in England. $15.611/2 in Scotland and $14.461/2 in Ireland. The consumption of alcohol in each division of the United Kingdom is shown by the following

[From the London Express.] The wonders of the "Arabian Nights" live again in three large nalls which compose the great treasury of the Sultan of Turkey. Priceless jewels gleam on every side, rare and costly curios, coins from all lands, and furniture studded with precious stones. It is very rarely that any but royal eyes are permitted to look upon the magnificence. At the entrance of the first hall stands a throne, which was captured from the Persians; it is nearly covered with pearls and precious stones. An enormous emerald adorns the center of another jewel-studded throne. A dressing table studded all over with pearls is among the furniture. In this room is also a marvelous collection of gold and silver cups plates and dishes, jeweled daggers and knives, suits of armor and cases containing hundreds of necklaces, rings, and brooches. In the midst of all this splendor, ancient and modern, are very up-to-date dressing bags, cameras, te escopes, and even a case of razors, all with fine silver mountings, but seeming rather out of place among such regal surroundings. Gold and silver ornaments and bric-a-brac are some of the contents of the second hall, including a collection of quaint little toys made of precious metals and stones carefully arranged.

He consulted physician after physiand followed their treatment patiently and carefully. Some of them afforded him a little temporary relief (which was in itself a great blessing), but the pain always came back to torture him even worse than before. Rheumatism added its terrors to his already great burden of misery and his life was a succession of spasms of the most violent pains it has ever been the lot of any mortal man to endure. The story, as told by Mr. Barrette himself, is in part as follows:

For more than fifteen years I suf-fered with a severe Malady of the Back and Kidneys which caused me horrible pains in the back. "I tried many doctors, but the relief I got was only temporary and the Malady always returned. My suffering was so great at times that it was almost beyond endurance. "I had rheumatism as well as the pains in my back, and between them I was sorely tried. I would rather die than suffer again the way I did, but now life is very pleasant for me and I am anxious to live.

You ask me how I was cured? "Well, after trying in vain doctors" treatments and almost everything else, I began to use what has been to me the greatest medicine in the world, Dodd's Kidney Pills, and very soon the pains all left me. They acted almost like magic. I am now in perfect health and work every day."

FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

An exceedingly small attendance of farmers at the market here this forenoon. The storm through the night, and the sloppy roads, doubtless prevented many from attending. There was no change in prices of any note in the small products, very little being offered for sale.

Hay and Straw-Ten loads of hay sold at $8 50 to $9 per ton, mostly at the latter figure; the demand is good. Straw sold at $3 50 per load and $6 per ton. Dressed Hogs-Not over a score on sale, at $7.75 to $8 per cwt, nearly all selling at the last-named figure. Poultry-Only a few offered, principally by hucksters, at Saturday's prices. Live Hogs-Mr. D. McIntyre secured nearly 100 live hogs yesterday, paying $6 per cwt in the majority of cases. Meats-The offerings in this line were principally beef and veal; the latter sold at 5c to 61/2c per lb, according to quality. DAIRY PRODUCE.

Nothing But Pride Over Valor of the Canadian Soldiers

And Sorrow for Their Losses-The Fourth Contingent—Discussion Re an $80,000,000 Canal.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Ont., April 8 .- The story that there is trouble between Lord Minto and his colleagues over his excellency telegraphing his congratulations to Col. Evans, without consulting the ministers, is ridiculed here. Dr. Borden cabled off his "own bat" just as well as Lord Minto. There is but one opinion here, and that is pride over the valor of the Canadians and sorrow over the losses.

THE FOURTH CONTINGENT. Now that it has been decided to increase the fourth contingent to four regiments, four colonels will be required. The minister of militia says there will be no difficulty in getting all the officers and men that are required. There are any number of applications.

READY IN THREE WEEKS. If the first British troopship arrives at Halifax on time, the fourth contingent will start for the front in three weeks. At any rate the department of militia will have the contingent outfit-ted, equipped and ready to go on board the steamer in three weeks. The next troopship will leave a week later. All the contracts for clothing and equipment have been given out. TO TEACH THE BOERS.

One-half of the Canadian teachers who go to teach the Boer concentration camps will leave by the Corinthian at Halifax on April 14, and the other half under consideration a bill which was practically the granting of a charter for a trans-continental line to the Canadian Northern. The company asks power to build a number of lines and branches which would bring it from the St. Lawrence seaports to the Pacific coast.

The minister of railways says that the government look with favor on a second trans-continental railway to the Pacific coast, and anything they could do or ask parliament to do to aid in the promotion of that undertaking they proposed to do so. There were subsidiary matters which required more consideration. He did not feel at present like putting any one company in unlimited possession of such a great extent of country as the Canadian Northern would cover with two parallel lines across the Pacific. The charter which they were asking practically gave them two lines, and would be time enough to give them the second when they made the first large maple leaf—the national emblem a success. The bill was discussed at of Canada. length, and all the sections were passed except the one relating to capital.

NEW YORK ADVICES. [Special from Haight & Freese Company, 13 Masonic Temple. F. P. Rae, local manager.]

New York, April 8-10 a.m.-The reactionary movement in the market promises to be carried further today. Someone familiar with the pigeon coop belonging to Richard Watson, of 90 Wellington street, paid it a visit last night while the owner was fast asleep, and first pulling the staple which held the paddock in place, opened the door, struck a light and proceeded to help himself. With fine discrimination he stole seven pouters and two fantails, all choice birds, a selection which would seem to indicate that it was not his first visit to that particular place. Copenhagen, April 8.-King Christian (who was born April 8, 1818), today celebrated his 84th birthday, surrounded by his children and grandchildren. The octogenarian monarch, who is well preserved in mind and body, entered keenly into all the festivities. Sixty members of royal families were present at the palace for the occasion, and took part in the gaieties, which included a reception at noon by the king, a family dinner, and in the evening an entertainment, with a concert by the singers of the Royal Theater. After an absence of 40 years, Thomas Brenton, of 188 Bruce street, South London, father of T. G. Brenton, manager of the Gurney-Oxford Company here, is visiting his old home in Bugle, Cornwall, where many friends and relatives reside. Mr. Brenton has interested himself in bringing forward the attractions of Canada as a good place to live in, and a couple of weeks since delivered a lecture on "The Great Resources of Canada" before a large audience in the Bible Christian Church in Bugle. The Cornish Guardian, a paper of wide circulation in Cornwall, publishes a good report of Mr. Brenton's speech which, it says, was a revelation to many of those present. The Guardian says it was never thought by any that Canada was anything like he painted it. Mr. Brenton spoke again to another big audience on Good Friday, and on each occasion was tendered a warm vote of thanks for the pleasure he had afforded so many.

Presently, however, he followed her, more to get a last word and smile from her than for anything else.

"You did not tell me what I should do for you," he said, a tell-tale tenderness in his tone, as he went to her side.

She was standing by a window quite near the door, and she was looking parwrapper of plain blue challie, confined at the waist by a massive silken cord of the same color, from which depended two massive tassels.

For a moment a feeling of dismay came over Agnes.

His old-fashioned apparel would cerminly be very conspicuous in Mrs. Remington's elegant rooms, and among the bon ton of Chicago.

The next instant she looked bravely and steadfastly into his eyes.

"I do not think I could be ashamed of a friend under any circumstances," she said, with an earnestness that left no room for doubt of her sincerity.

"Do you consider me a friend?" he asked.

Why, certainly I do, Mr. Archibald, and a very good one, too."

"Well-then—I believe I'll come," he said, but still watching her closely to see if the would shrink in the least from the ordeal to which he was subjecting her. She did not. She simply said:

"Then I may take your acceptance to Mrs. Remington?"

"I reckon so; I'm not accustomed to rackets of that kind, and I'm afraid I'll teel like a cat in a strange garret; but I've some curiosity to see a little of upper-tendom for once in my life, and so I'll be on hand next Tuesday night."

"I am sure Mrs. Remington will give you a cordial greeting, and I will try to make you enjoy yourself, sir," Agnes responded, smiling, and wondering what fastidious Miss Pomeroy would say to see such a specimen and antediluvianism in Mrs. Remington's elegant drawingroom, or what that lady herself would bay to having her fashionable reception termed a "racket."

CHAPTER XV.

Agnes settled the perplexing question of dress long before Max returned. Her graduating dress, which was a white cashmere very simply made, had never been worn since that occasion. It was, therefore quite fresh, and both she and her mother concluded that, with a little alteration and some additions in the way of trimmings, it would do very nicely for the forthcoming reception, although they were well aware that it would not compare with the elegant costumes that would doubtless do honor to the occasion. CHAPTER XV.

With this important matter decided,
Agnes threw it entirely off her mind, and was prepared to thoroughly enjoy the spin with Max along the lake road.

He brought her back to his mother about noon with a color in her cheeks and a light in her eyes which told Mrs.
Remington that fear had had no place in her thoughts; while Max's manner betrayed more than he was aware of;
there was a happy confidence about him there was a happy confidence about hi which showed that some sweet hope for the future had taken root in his heart. Laura marked it instantly, and a deeper hatred of her fair rival took possession of her, while the look of sweet content that shone in Agnes' dark blue eyes galled her almost beyond endurance.
"Our white-faced saint doubtless imagines that she is playing her cards very skillfully," she sneered to herself. "She probably contemplates shining in Chicago society at no distant day as Mrs. Max Remington; but"—a cruel gleam leaping "she will find herself mis-

I should just like to peep inside their rooms to see how they are fixed. I'll warrant everything is as stiff and old-fashioned as the man himself."

The next few days passed quickly and very pleasantly. There was some place to go every day—the theater or opera to attend, or callers to entertain, every evening and the eventful Tuesday came

THE WOODBINE TRACK. Toronto, April 8 .- Woodbine track was in almost continuous use by the horsemen yesterday. The course is in grand condition, and the horses are already being galloped pretty close to a two-minute clip. A communication to Secretary Fraser, of the O. J. C., received today from Emil Lawrence, clerk of the scales at Memphis, states that three carloads of horses will come here direct from that track, when the Memphis meeting is over. Mr. Lawrence states that the horsemen are well pleased with the Toronto programme.

The Jockey Clubs have already informed the Jockey Club that hereafter at the got up and walked out of the ring. meetings at Sheepshead Bay and Gravesend the smallest purse to be offered at those tracks will be at least $1,000. The Westchester Racing Association, which conducts racing at Morris Park, will get off a little lighter, but the minimum purses at that track cannot be less than $700 hereafter. The annual meeting of the directors of the Brighton Beach Racing Association left the room, without deigning to be-stow either a look or a word upon Agnes, who was still standing by the window, her cheeks crimson, her chest will not be held until next month. Nothing has been done as yet regarding the meeting to be held at Saratoga heaving over the remembrance of that one impassioned word, "darling." She suspected at once that Agnes was in August, but it is understood that Saratoga will also increase its purses, probably in the same ratio as at Morris Carter was able to stand up, so weak had he become from the severe drubbing he had been subjected to. Collars and Character.

[Pall Mall Gazette.] In the frequent proclamation of the man by his apparel, a man's shirt collar takes a very decided part. A man does not clothe his neck with a collar of a particular shape merely because that particular shape suits the conformation of his neck. You see men with long necks who affect collars turned down to their shoulder blades. You also see men of apoplectic diathesis, and with no necks at all to speak of, who strangle themselves in tight all-rounders. Why should the one cultivate an uncalled-for decollete appearance, and the other exhibit equally uncalled-for "collar-head"? It is their individual way of proclaiming themselves, I take it. You could hardly imagine Mr. Balfour, for instance, in an all-rounder; and Mr. Chamberlain would be unrecognizable in the latest phase of neckwear known as the Toby collar. This is an adaptation for children of a larger growth, of the more expansive collar you see displayed over the jacket of a lower form boy. It is much in favor, I observe, with undergraduate youth, and may be taken to proclaim them. M. Rostand and a certain school of French playwrights affect the collar of their grandfathers, who turned down its points over the cascade of a tremendous black satin cravat. For advertisement purposes, the Rostand collar may be recommendno doubt, but it is a difficult to conceive that anyone would mount it for any other purpose. Still the ways of collar wearers are not always to be thus explained. At least, when you behold a man seated opposite opposite you at dinner in a collar with the points carefully arranged so as to catch the angle of his jaw whenever he moves his head a hair's breadth out of the straight line, and to bring tears into his eyes, should he happen to disremember, you can hardly suppose that that he wears that collar for the purpose of proclaiming himself of weak

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Reaches the Root of Every Female Trouble and Makes Our Women Strong and Vigorous.

It is a most regretable fact, and a calamity, too, that our women, young and old, are numbered amongst the most unhealthy of females in the civilized world. For delicacy of beauty, intellectual capacity, and for all graces that adorn the sex,they stand peerless; but it is doubtful if one in ten can be found who is functionally and organically well.

This absence of feminine health and vigorous vitality is due to a neglect of nature's unerring laws. Immediate reformation is necessary if our nation would have women who will become true wives and mothers with an offspring that will prove a strength to the country.

For the special weakness to which women are now victor surest and Compound is the surest wonderful women are now victims, Paine's Celery safest remedy. The wonderful strengthening and building up properties of this marvelous prescription devised by that eminent medical expert, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D. and its specific action in correcting disorders of the female organism, are well known to the medical profession and to the tens of thousands of women who have been raised from weakness and disease to health and physical happiness.

Paine's Celery Compound quickly gives the true health tint to sallow and bloodless faces; it gives life and light to the eyes: it gives pure, clean blood to course through the body; it gives natural appetite, sweet sleep and that blessed cheerfulness which is the delight of men. Try a bottle or two of Paine's Celery Compound, dear, suffering and run-down sister. Your condition, your family interests and the welfare of society demand this effort on your part.

Ald. Dreaney wanted to see Queen's avenue opened through to Dorinda street Ald. Beattie moved that the estimates having been submitted, the rate for the year be struck at 23 mills. Ald. Campbell said he did not see how the year could be got through without an overdraft if the rate is 23 of mills. For instance, the board health's application for $5,000 had been reduced to $3,000. The board's ordinary expenditure amounts to $2,600, and the remaining $400 will not maintain the isolation hospital. Dr. Campbell also contended that the market basement should be given its new floor, as the place at present is positively filthy and a probable source of disease. He moved that provision be made in the estimates for a new floor. Ald. Campbell's amendment carried by a vote of 6 to 5. Ald. Beattie's motion to strike the rate at 23 mills was lost by a vote of A motion of Ald. Jolly's, that further action on the striking of the rate be deferred till the consideration of the bylaw, carried by the same division.

THE TAX RATE STRUCK. Later, on the reading of the bylaw to levy taxes for 1902, Ald. Jolly moved that the rate be fixed at 2234 mills, the 14-mill to be taken from No. 2 commit-tee's appropriation for the repairing of streets. Ald. Winnett moved in amendment that the rate be fixed at 23 mills. It would be unsafe to cut the rate another quarter of a mill, as it would mean an overdraft. Ald, Winnett's amendment carried on the vote, but on the yeas and nays being called there was a tie vote, as follows: Yeas - Beattle, Greenlees, Abram, Winnett, McMechan-6.

Nays—Gerry, Jolly, Douglass, Cooper, Dreaney—5.

The mayor voted for the amendment and the rate became 23 mills.

The bylaw was then passed. PAY FOR THEIR OWN ROADS. 'Ald. Jolly moved that hereafter all new roadways be constructed under the local improvement act, and that the whole frontage be charged against the property abutting thereon.

Ald. Winnett and Ald. McMechan objected that the proposed system would be a hardship to the citizens of the outlying portions of the city, who have been paying for other people's improvements while receiving none themselves. Ald. McMechan produced a petition signed by over 100 King street ratepayers, praying for a gravel road to be constructed at the city's expense. This, he contended, showed that all the citizens did not desire the local improvement system. He moved in amendment that the matter be left over till the end of the year. The motion carried by a vote of 7

On the yeas and nays being called, the motion lost by a vote of 6 to 5.
Objection was made that Ald. Cooper was not entitled to vote, as he was seated in the door of the ante-chamber. The mayor sustained the objection, and then he himself voted for the motion, carrying it. Ald. Campbell gave notice of motion that section 1 (a) of clause 5 of No. 2 committee's report, quoted in full above, be adopted. The bylaw to raise $34,000 by debenof closing for billiard rooms was given its first reading. Council adjourned at 11:40 p.m.

The chief of police received a letter yesterday afternoon from Henry Williams, of Nelson, B. The writer has reason to believe Nichols came from London. He asked that the foling the Springbank route, the proposed South street belt, and the proposed South London extension.

SCULPTOR'S IDEA OF THE SAVIOR

the Holy Land.

William Ordway Partridge, the eminent sculptor, who spent several years in the Holy Land gathering information and inspiration for a group in which the Savior will be the central figure, writes interestingly in a recent number of success on Christ as an ideal, successful man. The following is an extract from Mr. Partridge's ar-

"In regard to personal appearance, we find him commanding in figure, slight of build, of serious mien, with eyes that were as tender as a fawn's and yet able to flash fire as he drove the money changers down the portico of Herod. A man makes an impression in the east either by his great train of followers and the splendor of his accourtrements, or by his personal appearance; and, when the Master stood on the shore of Gallilee and called to the apostles, who were then but simple fishermen, there was something in the voice so unusual that these rough fishermen cast their nets aside and followed him unhesitatingly. Therefore, we must think of him not only as the ideal of man in point of scholarship, but also in physical aspect. It is interesting to stand on the spot where most of his ministry was spent and watch, as the writer has done, the fisherman gather in his net, as a vaquero gathers his lasso, and throw its quivering line far out into the lake. The scene has changed but little, except for the lack of fertility, and the absence of the noble Roman porticoes and basilica which stood at Capernum in Herod's reign.

"Beyond scholarship and personal appearance, we must look for some more important feature to understand the influence which the carpenter's son exerted throughout Palestine. We do not realize, until we are in Jerusalem, on the site of the temple, how greatly that influence was felt, and how it shook old traditions to their foundations. Not only a few stragglers, but also thousands upon thousands of people followed him from place to place. To the very last he had an opportunity to claim the temporal sovereignty of the land at will, but what makes his character stand out in strangest contrast with that of Mohammed and other prophets is that his kingdom was one of spirit and not one built with hands. From the time one enters Jerusalem, during the hour in which the traveler passes Mount Hermon, the personality of the Master is ever present in the surroundings of the Jordan River, and, indeed, in the Syrian desert."
