OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—Yesterday a new piece OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—Yesterday a new piece of documentary evidence was produced during the examination of Thomas McGreevy. Contracts entered into by the harbor commissioners of Montreal were always referred to the Department of Public Works for approval. The contract made for dredging in 1882 was awarded to Larkin, Connolly & Co. after two lower tenders had been got out of the way, one tenderer withdrawing and another being pronounced unavailable. On July 31 the Minister of Public Workswrote to the harbor commissioners ask. On July 31 the Minister of Fubication works wrote to the harbor commissioners asking whether they had any reason to believe that the persons whose tenders were thrown out were in collusion with the successful tenderers, and whether the figures of Larkin, Connolly & Co. were reasonable. This letter was produced approximation of the lying and the successful tenderers. reasonable. This letter was produced apparently with some notion of helping Thomas McGreevy. It is certainly calculated to hurt rather than help Sir Hector Langevin, who is shown at that early date to have had his suspicions aroused against Larkin, Connolly & Co., and to have got an inkling of the mode of juggling with bogus tenders which the firm afterwards carried the cases in the case of the cross-tenders which the first attendance carried out with success in the case of the cross-wall contract.

Thomas testified that his brother Robert Thomas restrict that his total recording in ten-ders in the names of other persons, and that Beaucage was one of his favorite stool ders in the names of other persons, and that Beaucage was one of his favorite stool bigeons, but it has been shown by Thomas own letters written at the time of the awarding of the cross-wall contract that he was fully aware of the object with which Beaucage's tender was made. In one of them he said: "I hope to let you know to-morrow the result of the cross-wall tenders. Have your arrangements right with Beaucage."

Thomas contradicted Murphy in several points, but the contradictions lost much of their value by the mode in which they were elicited. The modus operandi was to read to him a large block of Murphy's testimony, sometimes covering two or three different points, and ask him to state whether or not it was true. The chairman once or twice intervened and asked Mr. Fitzpatrick to divide his questions. He also led the witness freely, and was several times called to order by Mr. Geoffrion. Generally speaking, his mode of examination was conducive to speed rather than to accuracy.

One matter which was inquired into in the company were to receive. He was questioned as to where the $100,000 had gone.

Thomas says that he was unaware of his brother's interest in the cross-wall contract, but his own letters to his brother Robert haw that he was taking the keenest possible interest in the awarding of the contract to Larkin, Connolly & Co.

Thomas in the afternoon, however, made the remarkable admission that in the years between 1883 and 1888 he had recived $55,000 "for political purposes." The admission came out not during cross-examination, but under the friendly questioning of Mr. Kirkpatrick.

Thomas says he got the money not from Larkin, Connolly & Co., but from brother Robert. But as he himself says that Robert was poor and deeply in debt, it is clear that the original source of the boodle must be sought elsewhere. It is an interesting question what the political purposes were, and to whom the money went.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 6.—Thomas McGreevy has been under cross-examination all morning by Messrs. Geoffrion and Tarte, with Messrs. Davies, Mulock, Lister and Mills yet to come. Several damaging confessions have been secured already.
The story of Robert McGreevy that he paid a judgment against Thomas of $17,000
by notes was admitted by witness.
Although. Thomas had not the slightest idea at the time where the money came from, and though he knew Robert was without funds, yet he thought he was going to pay a dobt of his to the witness in this way. The next year he wanted some $15,000 "for political purposes." and Robert offered to get it for him. He told him then he could keep the money paid in the judgment for political purposes. He knew then that the notes came from Larkin, Connolly & Co. as a "donation", and he paid the money into the political fund.

Mr. Geoffrion asked Thomas what this

"How could be pay even $40,000?" persisted Mr. Geoffrion.

"Oh, he was always working at contracts and things," was the reply.

Mr. Geoffrion tried to break his statement that he knew nothing of Robert's connection with Larkin, Connelly & Co., by reading him letters in which he spoke of telling Larkin that he must stick to Beauage's (Robert's) tender, and other similar telling Larkin that he must stick to Beaucage's (Robert's) tender, and other similar things, but the witness could remember nothing about it, but that Larkin must have said something to him to draw out this remark. He got a return shot at Robert by pointing out that some of the OTAWA, Ang. 6.—Waiter Barwick, of Toronto, stated before the Senate Railway Committee this morning in connection with the Baie des Chaleurs Railway that $75,000 had gone to the old company and $100,000 as "tolls" for the powers the company were to receive. He was questioned as to what he meant by tolls, and as to where the $100,000 had gone. After some hesitation he said that the meney had heen paid through intervention of N. S. Pacaud. He was again pressed for a statement as to who had received the money but again he hesitated, saying that the charges were very serious. Finally the committee decided to investigate matters under oath.

One Lonergan, one of directors of committee was present and said he knew nothing of any corrupt division of money.

Millers at the Experimental Farm.
Guelph, Aug. 6.—A deputation from the Dominion Millers' Association, along with Mayor Goldie, the president, visited the Experimental Farm yesterday to get information from the samples of winter wheat grown at the farm. About ten were present, all offices and leading members of the association. The different varieties of wheat were examined, which averaged from 55 to 40 bushels per acre, and which weighed from 60 to 64½ pounds per bushel. The visitors expressed themselves as greatly surprised with the result as a whole, which they characterized as magnificent. They recommend farmers to sow Surprise, John Winter Fyfe, Cauadian Velvet Chaff and Hybrid Mediterranean. The cats will turn out about 100 bushels to the acre.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 6.—The South Bend, Grand Rapids and Indiana train, due here at 11:50, was ditched three miles north of this place yesterday. It appears that the nuts on the bolts which held the splicing bar in place had been removed, and lay by the side of the rail. Nearly all the train passed over the place, when the locomotive men saw that the rails did not meet, but being on a curve the sleeping car was thrown off, turned twice over and landed at the bottom of a forty-foot embankment, right side up. The twelve persons in the car were all more or less hurt. The coach and two baggage cars and tender were thrown down a fifteen-foot embankment on the opposite side of the track. There were about fifty people in the coach, but none were seriously injured. The wreck was the result of deliberate design. None of the passengers were dangerously injured. Those hurt were: W. S. On the experimental farms and the large annual cost of running the farms. It has a receive the large annual cost of running the farms.

Mr. McMillan said that in some there should have been a saving, because agricultural implements had become cheaper and stock as well. He asked about the item of expenditure last year at the Ottawa farm of $338 for cab hire. Insemuch as a team came from the farm to the city and returned twice each day this was a large expenditure.

Mr. Haggart explained that the amount was for cab hire for the Minister, who very frequently took parties out to visit the farm. there should have been a saving, because

Mr. McMullen said he had no doubt the Mr. Mesture said to have a congression of the farm were doing their best to advance the agricultural interests of the country, but he believed theshould be the closest attention that money terests of the country, but he believed there should be the closest attention that money be not extrawagantly spent on it.

Mr. Mara said there was a good deal of dissatisfaction in British Columbia about the lack of progress made with the work of the farm in that Province.

Mr. Daly said the experimental farms had been doing splendid work, and their work was bearing fruit a hundred fold. The farms, he believed, were being economically managed, and he did not think money spent on them was being wasted.

Mr. McMillan said the Governmentshould stop buying manure for the farm. It interfered with the farm being a pattern to farmers who could not themselves spend large sums of money for manure. He said it was a mistake to bring the entire horses into the country which the Government had bought for the experimental farms. The two horses at the Central Farm were inferior animals, and so far as the farmers about Ottawa were concerned the $1,000 each which the Government was giving for these animals might better be put into the stove. They would not breed animals for export—they were not of the right style and for horse breeding for the British market they were useless. It was most extravagant on the part of the Government to promise to pay $20,000 for five years for six horses, and it was an injustice to the farmers and to the owners of horses in the vicinity.

Mr. Haggart said the price paid for the horses was the same as that which other Governments had paid—it was the same as that paid by the Quebee Government.

Governments had paid—it was the same as that paid by the Quebec Government. Next year he said he hoped the superintendent might make a selection better suited to the wants of the country. The arrangement the Government had made was for five years, but the horses could be changed every year. They had a choice of six horses out of a stable of 50.

Mr. Howand supported the criticisms of Mr. McMillan on the horses at the farm. They were not the kind of animals to breed horses for the British or American market.

The estimate for agriculture was adopted and the House adjourned at 11:15 o'clock.

Influences of the Driebund.

Paris, Aug. 6.—M. Lockrey yesterday said he had no doubt the handsome reception of the French fleet at Cronstadt, if not the visit itself, was due to England's support of the Driebund. While France was isolated there was a strong temptation for the masterful and capricious German Emperor to plunge Germany into war. The rapprochement between France and Russia removed that danger. France, however, had mainly herself to blame. Her obstinacy in her policy in the Egyptian and Newfoundland questions, throwing England into the arms of Germany and the Driebund. After the initial statement she ought to have accepted the situation in Egypt, and in regard to Newfoundland she ought to have modified the Utrecht treaty.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD. Camp Maple of this order was organ-ized in Douglass' Hall, Woodstock, on July 30, by Pro-visional Head Con-

James Ramplin, with a charter membership of 40 of the business men. The camp elected the following named officers for the ensuing term: Consul commander, Wm. Hayden; adviser lieutenant, T. R. Mayberry; banker, W. G. Clark; clerk, Jas. Hamilton; escort, John W. Watson; watchman, Charles S. Johnson; sentry, Rupert T. Huggart; managers, John Mitchell, Alex. J. McIntosh, John Morrison; physician, Dr. A. T. Rice; delegate, Wm. Hayden; alternate, Dr. A. T. Rice.

The Woodwen is a social secret, benevoso,000, at an average conserved and seed $1,000 insurance, at the age of 40 years. Assessments for the purpose of paying benefits are graduated according to age at the time of joining, the grading being in proportion to the average expectancy of life as given by the standard tables, special inducements being offered to young and middle-aged men.

binerin avenue, a lew total was instituted by the general secretary-treasurer. The meeting was well attended and the new directory starts out under the most favorable circumstances. It was decided to meet on every alternate Wednesday evening and as the great aim of the order is educational, every alternate meeting will be open to the public. The general secretary-treasurer before organization, stated the objects that the society had in view. An organization committee was formed to push on the work and secure desirable persons for membership, and at the next meeting it is hoped to double the number of members now enrolled on the books. The new directory will be known as No. 16. An application for another local directory is also in circulation, to be composed of working girls, and all persons interested in the condition of female labor are asked for active sympathy and support.

interested in the condition of female labor are asked for active sympathy and support. A sick fund will be instituted in this directory and it will aim to improve the condition of womankind.

The General Executive Board of the Industrial Brotherhood, as directed at the last meeting of the General Directory, have nearly completed arrangements for the issue of a neat and instructive fortnightly paper, devoted to industrial and social problems. It will be known by the title of Industry. Industry.

CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS.

An important meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Order of Foresters took place at Brantford last week. The work of organization was placed in the hands of Mr. Britten, of Gananeque, and Mr. E. W. Gartung was engaged as special organizer. He will have four others associated with him—two to work east of Toronto and two west. These appointees were: Messrs. B. H. McEwing, W. G. Strong, W. R. Clayton, J. H. McGuire. It was decided to make special deposits of $30,000 out of the endowment fund, making $150.000 in all. Bros. Towe, H. C. R., and T. White, high secretary, will go to Winnipeg to organize the district high court for Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia.

London, Friday, Aug. 7.

THEY DO NOT "ALL DO IT." It has been alleged that members of the Quebec Government took money which they obtained for paying off charges on the Baie Chaleurs Railway, and spent it in the last Provincial elections. No evidence has been had on the subject, but the allegation was made by a lawyer in the Dominion Senate op Tuesday. It need scarcely be said that the Advertiser will be glad to see this case probed to the bottom, and the guilty ones, if such there be, duly punished.

The proper stand to take, whether the proper stand to take the proper stand to ta the ADVERTISER will be glad to see this servatives, is to demand that no guilty man escape. Too long have the populace allowed themselves to be swindled through the peculation of money for boodling purposes. The example set from Ottawa has been most prejudical to the public morals. Men have come to regard stealing of public funds or property as something different possible and had resulted in the loss o from ordinary larceny, and the declaration | hundreds of thousands of dollars to the of a late Conservative leader that he had public, was all wrong. It declared that the bribed the people with their own money has been regarded as not only in accordance with fact, but as a necesing. At the command of the Conservative sary corollary of popular government. leaders, who seem to be as auxious to con It is all wrong. We care not whether the tinue the manipulation of the public re offenders rule at Ottawa, at Quebec, or at sources for party purposes as they are to nent, the people stand in their own light if they treat breach of trust or criminal carelessness as some-thing to be condoned because undertaken for the benefit of Ministers or for what is known as "party purposes." Let punishment be meted out to offenders wherever found: but let us hear no more of those miserable excuses for wrongdoing which are summarized in the words, "They all do it." It is a falsehood. There are pure Governments. There are honerable public men, as we in Ontario know. If one set of men are not honest, or if they wink at wrongdoing because they profit by it, let the people keep kicking them out till men are secured that will rule righteously. That is the British way; it is a good enough rule to apply in Canada.

WHAT IS A CANADIAN?

The ADVERTISER recently pointed out that Lord Mountstephen, who has just been called to the House of Lords, is not a "native colonist," as has been stated by eable companies and many newspapers. A "native" of a country is a man who is born therein. That is a simple fact. But a man may become a Canadian by adoption, and so long as he is a resident of this country and aids in its development he is just as much entitled to be regarded as a Canadian as those of us who have the distinction of being natives of this fair Dominion. The Hamilton Spectator, let us hope unwittingly, represents us as preaching a different doctrine-as looking upon a man torn outside the Dominion as the lives in Canada. By no reasonable construction of words used by us can this charge be laid at our door. The Advertiser is Canadian to the back-bone. It pelieves in putting the interests of the Dominion first and all the time, and will con inue to do so even though its advocacy of trade reforms may not meet with the approval of the apologists for rings, and monopolies. Loyalty to Canada does not necessarily call for loyalty to the numerous schemes for plundering the Canadian people.

THE German Kaiserin plays lawn tennis, Canadians. It is an invigorating home

The United States Government is going right ahead arranging reciprocity treaties with foreign countries that will be of immense benefit to the people in every branch of business. The latest treaty is with Spain. It gives the United States immense advantage in the markets of Cubs, from which Canadian trade will be departed. What a contrast the viceorus proble. The moment you remove the duties from which Canadian trade will be de-barred. What a contrast the vigorous largest and nearest market of all, because the monopolies that rule from the red parlor so decree, and yet they are so dominated by influences at work over the border that they are unable to carry out the proposed reciprocity treaty between Jamaica and Canada. It is time that they gave way to

TIGHTENING THE COIL Thomas McGreevy, M. P., Sir Hector Langevin's boon companion, has been making his confessions at Ottawa during the past two days. For an unwilling witness his story is strongly corroborative of the tale told by his brother. In so far as it is defective, the public may judge of its reliability by recalling the sworn declarations of Uncle Thomas in the House of Commons last year, which he is now compelled to admit were wholly false. Perhaps if we could adjourn this inquiry till next year the memories of Sir Hector and his Fidus Achates might be sufficiently re freshed to insure a complete confession as to their remarkable sleeping partnership. As it is, the fact is unassailed that McGreevy was the go-between employed by Larkin, Connolly & Co. to reach the department and to work it in their interests. This man says that in five years he received from the firm $55,000 "for political purposes." No one will believe that a greedy fellow like Sir Hector, who in the same period kept importuning contractor Peters and others for money, failed to secure a portion of Sir Hector may say that he did not, but is not the evidence of Robert Mc-Greevy and Mr. Peters as reliable as either that of the Minister or of his Man Friday

THE TIMBER LIMITS. Last night's debate upon the manner in which the present Administration at Ottawa has parceled out timber and other limits to its favorites brings out in bold relief another of the methods adopted by the adventurers to retain power by corrupt means. Sir John Thompson's defense of the system took the form of an appeal to the members not to be uncharitable in construing the objects which members of that method of defense, shallow though it appears, it can sately be affirmed that the Liberal position that public property should not be disposed of by private tender, but by public auction, is the correct one. The resolution proposed in Parlia-ment affirmed that the contrary policy which had rendered Rykert's rascality only proper method was to sell all such defend the jockeying of tenders for publ works, for the benefit of boodling tractors, this motion was voted down. The majority was 19; in 1886 a similar motion was defeated by a majority of 56. The enormous drop is a sure indication that the change foreshadowed in the defeated resolution will become law soon. The men who opposed it in Parliament do not represent public opinion on this subject.

TOPICS OF THE DAY. In view of the developments at Ottawa, Grip thinks that when next the National Anthem is sung by the Conservatives in Parliament it should be altered to the following:

God save our gracious Queen,
Long live our noble Queen,
God save the Queen!
Save the Red Parlor, too,
Succor the boodling crew,
Help us to cheek it through,
These hands are clean!

In its timber and land policy, the presen Administration is fast losing ground in Parliament and out of it. The following is the result on the motions arraigning it proposed in 1886 and again last (Wednes

The demoralization goes on. It is in the interests of the country that there should be a change as soon as possible. ###

THE Canadian Nation, the organ of the "Third Party," has now for some months been under the god. It ran its business in Toronto, and its capital has been virtually swallowed up. Rev. THE MEMBER FOR LONDON.

THE MEMBER FOR LONDON.

[Berlin Telegraph.]

Mr. Hyman, the member for the city of London, made his maiden speech in the House of Commons a few days ago on the budget, and acquitted himself in an admirable manner. The able way in which he handled the coal oil industry showed that he was quite at home on that question. He was quite as ready in discussing the reciprocity question. The electors of tion. He was quite as ready in discussing the reciprocity question. The electors of London have reason to feel proud of their member, as no doubt they are. While we have no harsh word to say against their late member, Mr. Carling, for personally he is deservedly esteemed by his political opponents, yet it was felt that it was time that the city should be represented by new and younger blood, and in electing Mr. Hyman they have made a highly creditable selection.

ENGLAND AND THE STATES.

[Harper's Weekly.]

The English race is the chief historic political race, because it comprehends the conditions of progressive liberty. Its politics are those of experience, not of theory. It deals with facts and the actual situation, and when the critic complains that a course is not logical, the reply is that human nature is not logical. English tenacity of ancient form while the spirit changes, its fondness for the crown when it has abolished the king, its preference for repairing the old building rather than tearing it whelly down to build anew, move the gibes of the political doctrinaire. But take England from history, and politically the United States disappear. Take away England, and constitutional liberty is not easily conceivable. So long as the true English impulse which settled the United States remains, so long they will prosper and adremains, so long they will prosper and ad

[Lyman Abbott in Christian Union.]
So long as the old reciprocity treaty lasted, both countries were enriched by it. Only the bad feeling engendered by the Civil War prevented its renewal. To-day it ought to be renewed in the interests of both nations. There are, it is true, many Canadians and a few Americans who suggest vague alarms as to the evils which free trade between the two countries might bring. Yet, as Mr. Goldwin Smith suggests, these alarms are almost identical with those which were raised when the union between England and Scotland was contemplated. Then the English were told that their wealth would be devoured by the hungry Scotch, while the Scotch were told that they would become commercial slaves to the wealthy English, and "with their grains spoiling on their hands, stand ONLY A BOGEY.

Mississippi, written in April, 1890, ust after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the Cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since." PETER J. BRIALS, Jr., Cayuga, Hines

The Building Trade Troubles in London and Omaha—Sailors Want More Wages.

Wages.

The strike in the London building trade, involving the idleness of 3,500 men, has entered upon its fourteenth week, and both employers and employed express a determination to continue the struggle.

The Cleveland Vessel Owners' Association adopted a new schedule of wages on Wednesday for the rest of the season. In every particular the card is higher than the one adopted March 9.

At Omaha the labor trouble is spread.

one adopted March 9.

At Omaha the labor trouble is spreading. More bricklayers went out on Wednesday morning for a seven-hour day on Saturday, with eight hours' pay. The carpenters also threatened to walk out unloss granted eight hours, and the demand is now being considered. The probabilities are that 1,000 bricklayers will, on Saturday, demand eight hours. All the horseshoers in the city are out for eight hours. There is no change in the strike of the smelters and printers.

WITHOUT AWAKING .

Quiet Close of a Hamilton Woman's Sad and Eventrul Career.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 6.—A most peculiar history has just been brought to light by the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Kate Fawkes, King atreet west. When but a light girl Mrs. Fawkes, at that time Miss Skinner, came to Canada, leaving in England a sweetheart named Alford. After some years she married in Hamilton a druggist named Fawkes. Her old sweetheart also married in England. Mr. Fawkes soon afterwards died and his widow became melancholy and reserved in her actions. In some way she imagined she had committed the unpardonable sin of blasphemy against the Holy Ghost. This idea grew upon her until she was committed to the Toronto Insane Asylum. She was there two years and was then discharged as cured. From that time—twenty years ago—until 1889 she kept house for her brother on King street. Three years ago her old lover, Alford, whose wife had died, commenced writing to her, and the result was that Mrs. Fawkes left Hamilton on Monday, April 29, 1889, for Liverpool, where she was to meet her old love and be married. At Liverpool Alford did not appear, and it was four days before he came. Then the marriage certificate was faulty, and at the altar the ceremony was postponed. These delays told on the poor woman's mind, and three weeks after her marriage she became insane a second time. Until April last she was kept in an asylum, and then her husband brought her to Canada, but the change did no good and Mrs. Alford never ceased to blame herself for having married her old love and, as she said, blasted his life. This trouble developed into insommia, for which she took opiates. Alford left for England, his presence being distasteful to her. On Sunday week she took a treble dose of chloral fluid and for 48 hours slept, finally breathing outher strange, eventful life without awaking to consciousness. She was 60 years of age.

Death of Mr. Alfred Richardson.

Death of Mr. Alfred Richardson.

The community will hear with profound regret of the death of Mr. Alfred Richardson, the esteemed teller of the Huron and Erie Loan and Savings Company. His demise occurred at the family residence, Wharncliffe road, South London, Thursday morning and was the result of a shoft illness during which the deceased suffered from a paralytic stroke. Nr. Richardson was sixty-seven years old, he was born in London, Eng., and came to this city 25 years ago, the last eighteen of which he had been connected with the Huron and Erie Company. He was a trusted employe, a man of connected with the fluron and Erre com-pany. He was a trusted employe, a man of thorough business ability and one whose amiable deportment made for him many friends. Customers of the loan company will miss his cheerful presence and familiar face from his post at the office. His widow, three sous—two of whom live in the city— wad a daughter mour, his departure, and nd a daughter mourn his departure, and a daughter mourn his departure, and ave the sincere sympathy of the community their affliction.

The Emperor of Germany in England The State banquet at Windsor was an airably served, and the menu had wise mirably served, and the menu had wisely been reduced to reasonable proportions. The Emperor appeared most to enjoy the Bisque d'Ecrevisses aux Quenelles, the haunch of venison, the roast beef and the Charlotte Russe aux Fraises. His Majesty drank Rhine wine at dinner and Apollinaris Water, and afterwards he took a bumper of the Queen's famous Madeira, finishing up with a glass of Tokay, like his grandfather, the Prince Consort, who always concluded his dinner with Tokay, of which her Majesty possesses a unique cellar.—[The World, London, 15th July, 1891.

rected his stand, and broke into a clatter of sweet Spanish sounds.

This constantly varying procession had been going on for some time, when a tall, broad-shouldered young man, with an aspect unmistakably American, advanced in a leisurely manner down one of the avenues, caught sight of the quiet figure in the flickering shadow, and quickened his pace as he approached it.

"Well met, Derwent!" he said. "I was on my way to the Iturbide to look you up. But I see you have found your way to the right place, only you are rather early." He glanced at his watch as he sat down. "Elevon o'clock; not so early as I thought. It will not be long now before all the world will be here."

"A good deal of the world seems to be here at present," said Derwent. "I have been watching for some time the remark-bly varied character of the people passive."

"Oh, that can be seen at any time," answered the other. "But Sunday morning fer mans the fashionable world has a ress-parade in the Alameda. Everybody on Mexico-especially everybody wno is anybody-comes here, and it is a very brilliant scene for an hour or two. There goes the first sign of it."

He indicated an Indian who trotted by with a dozen or two chairs skillfully bound together and arranged in a pyramid on his back. These he conveyed to the chief arenue leading from San Francisco street into the very neart of the park, where a woman removed the 1 from his back and placed them in a line on the side of the avenue, putting a narrow strip of carpet before them. Others were engaged in the same manner on the opposite side; and soon two rows of chairs faced each other along the length of the beautiful shaded way.

CHRIST'S AUTHORITY.

What is the relation of Christ to us?

for he is the same yesterday, to-day and forever.

His voice is the last great trump—Why should we dread it? The psalmist did not. Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof; The world and they that dwell therein. Let the floods clap their hands, Let the hills be joyful together before the Lord. For he cometh to judge the earth. With righteousness will he judge the world, And the people with equity.

What word did this gentle judge ever utter on earth that should make souls that desire truth and the beauty of holiness to feat his coming? Shall the seed dread the coming of the spring? The Saviour is Judge; the Judge is Saviour. His judgment seat is the Mount of Beatitudes. And he will have, hereafter, no other fan in his hand than the one he carried when on the earth he separated the chaff from the wheat.

Even so, Lord Jesus, come quickly.

—The greunds of St. James' Church, South London, presented an unusually gay appearance Wednesday night, when the Young Men's Association gave a lazm social in aid of the Sunday school. A large crowd gathered to the spot and spent an enjoyable evening. The Seventh Band added materially to the pleasure of those present. Refreshments were sold in abundance during the evening. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated by Chinese lanterns. The following gentlemen had charge of the affair: Messrs. Wallace, White, W. Bart, Peacock, Loverick and Plastow. The proceeds amounted to about $50.

attack so cacted by the to streets and fired into a detachment of the desperad bors, pillaging and burning their houses They then returned to their associates, and together they made a rush to the home of Judge Gauna. They met with but little opposition from the occupants, and soon two beroic young men were slaughtered and their mother and sister were taken captives. The Union Congregational Church has bought a new building on Horton street, a little west of Matiland. It will form, when fitted up, a most suitable meeting place. There will be easy seating accommodation for 200. When opened, a few weeks from now, the new church will no doubt be well attended, as there is no church in the immediate neighborhood, and a field of promise is thus presented. In the meantime the old place of meeting will be occupied.
