"If we could have passed the Brooklyn, and I believe we could," said Admiral Cervera to Commodore Schley in the cabin of the Iowa, "I could have fire on the Brooklyn were carried out, but your ship has a charmed life, sir," and the sad-faced admiral, with tears in his eyes, added: "My career is end-

Madrid, July 12-8 a.m.-An official dispatch from Iloilo, Philippine Islands, says Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, is patrolling the coast with a squadron of merchantmen. Two bands of insurgents at Cebu have been defeated, and three insurgent leaders have been captured and shot. The official dispatch says there is no news from other parts of the island.

A Query.

HAVE THE DONS SKIPPED? Under date of June 10, the London Times correspondent telegraphs from Santiago: Either the Spanish have moved out of the city, leaving a few men to cover their retreat, or have withdrawn into the city and are waiting behind barricades. This means street-to-street fight, or a continu-

In another dispatch the correspondent says: Major-General Shafter believes that the main body of the Spanish army has abandoned Santiago, and that it is now fleeing to the westward. It is expected as I write this that the American army will be in full possession of the city by noon tomorrow. A joint attack by the army and navy was made upon the city late this afternoon, and much destruction must have been wrought by the American guns on land and sea. To this attack the Spaniards made only a feeble reply. The United States loss was insignificant. No really earnest attempt to reduce Santiago was made today. It was a plan merely to give the Spaniards an idea of what they might expect when the American land and sea forces make their final attack in the morning. During today's fighting, ook of this medicine has made a however, the dynamite gun did great damage in the city, as did the shells

DUMMY GUNS. "Bands of Cuban soldiers report the enemy, before evacuating the coast town, placed timbers over their en-trenchments to represent guns. In my dispatches yesterday the fact that the Spanish commander has authorized his men to loot Santiago was told. The news, taken in connection with Gen. Shafter's belief that the Spaniards have crossed the bay and now are retreating to the westward, causes great apprehension in the American ranks. Our troops fear that when they capture Santiago they will not take the Spanish army too, and they are keenly disappointed over the prospect of finding only an abandoned and pillaged city. At the same time the belief is general that the evacuation of the city and the escape of the Spanish army surrounded, but the line was thin, and would be the most natural tactics for Gen. Upon his arrival communication was opened with Admiral Sampson, and the two commanders were soon in conference. During the early afternoon Gen. Miles landed got away. My orders to concentrate at Playa del Este and communicated with Gen. Shafter, commanding the American forces before Santiago, by telephone. It is understood to have been Gen. Miles' purpose to proceed immediately to Gen. Miles is to supersede Gen. Shafter in command of the United States forces before Santiago. Gen. The signal corps officers, stationed on top of the corps officers, stationed on top of the ridge, reported the effect of the shots. The New York, Brooklyn and Indiana, participated in the firing at intervals of five minutes. The bombardment lasted for two hours, when Gen. Shafter falling in the bay and doing but little

CERVERA'S SHATTERED SHIPS. The board of survey, appointed to examine the wrecks of the Spanish ships, reports that only one can possibly be saved. She is the Infanta Maria Teresa, the former flagship of Admiral Cervera. The hull of the Cristobal Colon shows she was only hit six times, and then only by shells of 8-inch, 4-inch and six-pound caliber. This verifies the story that the commander of the Cristobal Colon surrendered because he saw she could not get away from the Brooklyn and the Oregon, and to continue the battle meant sacrifice of life. It was found that the brass plugs of the large guns and the bolts and locks of the small arms had been thrown overboard. The Vizcaya showed she had been riddled by the Brooklyn and Oregon. She had not been struck by projectiles larger than eight inches. Terrible Accident to a Guelph Township Farmer

His Horses Ran Away, and He Became Entangled in the Machine.

Guelph, July 12 .- A terrible accident with a mowing machine occurred on the farm of Mr. Alexander McIn-tosh, Wilson's Corners, Guelph town-On Saturday afternoon his son Alexander, aged about 17, was mowing hay with two of their heaviest horses, considered the quietest span of horses on the farm. Owing to some defect in the large wheel of the mower, it col-lapsed, and the young man was thrown off his seat and was caught on the axle. The horses ran away, dragging the unfortunate man twist-ed round the axle of the mower for fully quarter of a mile before they were stopped by coming in contact with some obstruction, when the mower was upset on top of McIntosh, and the horses on top of the mower, cutting

At this stage a neighbor, who had seen the accident, ran to the rescue, and fummed on to the horses' heads to keep them from kicking the young man to death. A woman also lent assistance by throwing her skirt over the infuriated animals' heads. Further assistance came, and the horses were removed. McIntosh was wound round in the action in such a fashion that his clothes had to be cut from his body. He was taken home in a state of collapse, and remained so for hours. He sustained a compound comminuted fracture of the left leg below the knee, both bones being shattered and exposed. The right leg, though much torn, was not frac-tured. There are minor cuts and scratches on the head, the face, and all over the body. It is hard to tell as yet whether there are any internal injuries or not, or whether the leg will have to be amputated. His recovery even is a TELEPHONE IN ENGLAND. London, July 12 .- A committee of the commons has been sitting for several weeks for the purpose of finding weeks for the purpose of finding whether it is advisable to give municipal corporations power to establish telephone exchanges and carry on a telephone business. This country is divided between the postoffice and the National Telephone Company, and as the managers of the latter are smart. the managers of the latter are smart business men they have all along got the better of the red tape bureaucrats. The result is that the government has the unprofitable work and the company most of the profitable business. To give the municipalities the power sought would hit the company's monopoly in lucrative local exchanges, and it is moving heaven and earth to prevent it. The evidence given to the committee so far favors the transfer for the entire telephone business to the

FREEMAN HALSTED London, July 12. - The parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, Mr. Geo. N. Curzon, replying in the House of Commons to a question on the subject of the arrest of the Canadian war correspondent. Freeman Halsted, who was arrested at Porto Rico and sentenced to nine years' imprisonment for taking photographs of the fortifications at that place, said that recent reports showed the conditions of Haisted's imprisonment had been altered, as they were threatening to seriously affect his health. The British ambassaror at Madrid, Sir Henry Drummond-Wolfe, had therefore been instructed to make represen-tations to Spain with the view of securing more humane treatment for the prisoner, and he had expressed the hope that the latter's sentence of nine years' imprisonment would eventually be mitigated.

At 4 p.m.-It is understood that Premier Sagasta has submitted to the queen regent a question of confidence in the cabinet. It is said that Capt. Gen. Blanco has cabled to Madrid, de-claring that the volunteer army in Cuba wishes the war to continue as the troops hope to secure victories.

SAGASTA DROPS OUT. London, July 12 .- The Madrid correspondent of the Times, telegraphing Monday, says: Senor Sagasta went to the palace today and tendered his resignation and that of the cabinet. It is said that he advised the queen to appoint a new cabinet, largely consisting of the military element, which would not necessarily mean the adoption of a warlike policy, but probably the reverse. It is generally expected that the resignation will be accepted, but the result may possibly be a mere partial reconstruction of the cabinet.

That Occured at the Cleveland City Waterworks

No Witness lives to Tell How the Terrible Accident

The Bodies Lie 6,000 Feet Out Under

Cleveland, July 12.-The lives of eleven men were snuffed out in the twinkling of an eye last evening in the big waterworks tunnel that is being constructed under the bottom of Lake Erie, as a result of an explosion of gas. The tunnel is an immense affair being projected to extend outward from the shore for a distance of four and a half miles, and it has been under construction for more than a year The work has been attended with great difficulty. About six weeks ago there was an explosion of gas in the shore end of the big hole, which killed eight men and injured a number of others. Soon afterward a big pocket of quicksand was struck, and work was stop-per for some time. The contractors then

The explosion occurred at a few minutes before 7 o'clock last evening, but nobody will ever be able to tell what caused it, or how it happened, for EVERY WITNESS IS DEAD and the bodies of all are lying where they fell, 6,000 feet out under the lake. The only man in the tunnel who es-caped death is Con. O'Donnell, a lock tender, who was stationed 3,700 feet from the shore. He heard the explo-sion, or series of explosions. He says

TEN OF THE SHOCKS and the concussion was something terrible, for it threw him off his feet, and for four hours he was in such a dazed condition that he could scarcely remem-ber what had happened. He finally groped his way out and told what had occurred.

Two men, Patrick Varner and Martin McCauley, were the first to venture in the tunnel after the accident oc-curred. They made their way to a lock 5,200 feet from the shore, but were there OVERCOME BY THE GAS, and fell to the floor. When they failed to return a young man named James Clements, son of one of the men who was killed, and who was employed as a mule driver, went to the rescue. He found them almost unconscious, lying over a mule car, and succeeded in helping them to the well at the shore end of the tunnel. The would-be rescuers say that all the lights were out beyond the 5,000-feet lock and that they could not go any further.

A second rescuing party was made up of Patrick Gaytons, Mike McCauley, Dan Rogers, Barney Hughes and Ed Corbett. It failed utterly in accomplishing anything, as the tunnel was filled with foul gas and smoke. In an interview Ed Corbett said:

A DEATH PIT. "When we got out 5,100 feet we found the electric lights were not burning from there on out. Gas and smoke were terrible. We had wet handkerchiefs over our noses and mouths, and went 200 feet further into the pitchy dark-ness, but the gas and smoke almost overcame us and we were forced to return Nothing can be accomplished in the way of getting the bodies until the tunnel is lighted, and the sulphur gas and smoke are cleared out. It is sure death to try to reach the bodies now. As far out as we got the case of the tunnel was covered to the depth of a foot with substance resembling snow in

lesterday afternoon, the closin scepe of the late International League was enacted at the Jecumseh House when the Canadian managers assume responsibility and organized a Cana dian league, to be composed of London Hamilton, St. Thomas and Chatnam. Representatives of the late league, except Port Huron, were on hand. Geo. Black at last induced the Chatham peo-Die to take his team, and the tranchise of the Port Huron club was transferred to Chatham. Bert Sheere represented London; Messrs. Stroud and Collins, Hamilton; George Black, Saginaw; D. tered. Not until the Canadian repre-sentatives forcibly drove their argu- and piled up seven runs. Pears also sentatives forcibly drove their arguments home did the Michigan men show signs of relenting. It is plainly a fact that their object was to defeat the serving the $200 deposits of each club. When Black was confronted with a telegram sent by him last week to Cal. Davis, announcing the withdrawal of Saginaw, he finally gave in. The American men said their clubs were willing to continue, and this made their | ball by this score: purpose plainer than before. If they could secure their deposit guarantee of $200 that was all they desired. Instructions were then given Cal. Davis to pay over to Hamilton, London and St. Thomas $200 each. Before the meeting closed checks were handed the three clubs for these amounts. This ends the career of the most disastrous league London has ever entered. It has taught the Canadian clubs a lesson. Bay City, Saginaw and Port Huron will find Canadian baseball money at a premium

London lost $15, part of a game's guarantee at Port Huron, and a full guarantee of a game at Saginaw. Hamliton lost $30, the guarantee of last Friday's game at Bay City. The $200 secured by each of the Canadian clubs will partially remove their chagrin for the heavy percentages paid to the Am-

After closing up the business of the old league's affairs, Mr. M. H. Mc-Brayne, of Chatham, who was present, sanctioned the transfer of the Saginaw team to his city. Black agreed to furnsh most of the Saginaw players. Van Gieson and Doty, and Lafleur, will be the battery ends, and another pitcher will be secured. Chatham will keep their first baseman, who is a favorite Miles. Snyder and Jones will also be in their old respective positions. Black announced yesterday that he had disposed of 'Reed, the lanky center fielder, to the New York National League team for a money consideration. The following directors were elected: Bert Sheere, C. L. Robertson, Wm. Stroud, and M. C. McBrayne, with Cal Davis as president, secretary and treasurer. The expense account of the late league is in good shape, a balance being in the treasury to commence with. All fines were placed in this account and London contributed about $14. At the opening of the late season each club was assessed $15. Chatham but up its guarantee before the close of the meeting.

A schedule was easily prepared, and It was arranged to give each club ten games at home and ten away in a series, making a total of sixty games. The new schedule is as follows:

Sporting Life: Sam La Roque, manager of the Paterson Baseball Club, has handed in his resignation, to take effect when the board of directors secure another man to play first base. It had come to Sam's ears that some of the members of the club would not play ball under his man-agement; that is, they would not give their best efforts toward winning games, and Sam decided that he would not handicap the team by retaining control of the reins. The board of directors had also heard these rumors, and while unwilling to lose La Roque's services as a player were ready to go to any extreme to get a winning team if possible, and as Sam refused to play under the circumstances they decided to give him his release. La Roque has been a hard worker for the team, and has gotten together a lot of fine players, who should be up in the front No man takes the loss of a game by the locals more to heart than Sam, and only for the fact that he knew ere were men on the team who were ying to hurt him, and in doing so irt the owners of the club, caused m to decide to get out of the team. he directors are looking for a good an to fill his place as first baseman. ney having decided to do what manging there was themselves, and to point one of the players captain. Hospital Building Committee Resolve Themselves Into One.

The Object Is to Get Information About Heating and Ventilation.

An Expert Advises a $7,500 System-Private Electric Light Plant Suggested-Competition Invited.

The hospital committee met last night and resolved itself into a deputation to visit Detroit and other places to gather information that will assist them in deciding upon a system of heating the Victoria Hospital. The members wrestled with the heating question till twenty minutes before midnight, and then decided to give it further consideration. An expert from Detroit engaged by Architect McBride heaped advice and suggestions on the aldermen, and presented certain slaborate plans and specifications, which were not in any way found fault with. The expert is a man of reputation, does no contracting, and if his suggestions pe adopted, will supervise the work at Mr. McBride's expense. Those present were Ald. Carrothers (chairman), Ald. Gerry, Wilkey, McPhillips, and Jolly, the and Roome, Architect McBride, Mr. W. S. Huyette, the Detroit expert, and Secretary Bell.

Mr. Huyette explained his plan of heating the hospital. The hot blast system of heating was not advisable, he said, owing to the number of small rooms which had to be heated, and on the other hand there was a difficulty to be met with in the matter of ventilation in using the direct steam thod. He therefore recommended direct steam radiators in each room to break the downward descent of the cold air and an individual ventilating plant, in all but the administration building and nurses' quarters, for supplying mechanical ventilation. The system he advised would make intercommunication between the rooms impossible, a a the entire plant would be easily controllable, yet individualized. One boiler would heat the whole building, he said. Dr. Campbell raised the question of the risk that would be incurred by not having more than one boiler.

Mr. Huyette admitted that there was a risk, but it was slight. Numbers of such plants were run continuously with only one boiler. To put in an extra would probably not be necessary to use it once in three or five years. The two small boilers taken from the old buildsufficient to heat about half of the new hospital.

Dr. Hodge thought that in view of the fact that there were fireplaces in each of the rooms the risk would not be worth considering. Ald. Carrothers wanted to be assured that the system advised by Mr.Huyette would be thoroughly modern and in keeping with the other up-to-date equipment of the hospital. Mr. Huyette said they could find no better in the country. He was putting it in the new county building at Detroit—a building which would cost $1,-500,000, and of which the heating system alone would cost $40,000 or $50,000. As to the cost of the system for the hospital, complete he said, it would be close to $7,500. If the children's pavilion were left out the total would be $500 less. It would be no experiment, he said. The ordinary system in vogue was direct steam in 90 per cent of the large buildings in the country. For the Victoria Hospital, such a system would cost $4,000, and by adding about $3,000 positive ventilation would be supplied. The ducts for the ventilation scheme would cost about $800, and should be put in while the hospital is being built; the fans could be put in any time.

The committee considered the plans and specifications in detail for a long of England, lowered the mile, flying time, and in the course of the discusstart, cinder track record, his time for sion Mr. Huyette was asked how many tons of coal would be required to heat the building. He replied that for 100 days in the year it would take about 2.000 pounds, and for another 100 days from 1.000 to 1.500 pounds a day, thus making the yearly average from 150 to 200 tons. This estimate caused considerable surprise.

"It takes more than that to heat the old building," said the mayor, and one J. D. McCulloch, of Prospect of the aldermen stated that the amount used now was 300 tons a year. Mr. Huyette did not see where the coal was going to in the case. He did not understand it, he said. He was satisfied that with a mechanical stoker they would not require 200 tons of coal a year to heat the entire new hospital. More discussion followed, and finally Ald. McPhillips moved that the matter be laid on the table for future consideration, and that the committee, the architect and the city engineer form a deputation to visit Detroit, where the above plan is in operation, for the purpose of inspecting the same and such other places for the inspection of other systems, as in their discretion is necessary. The motion was carried unan-

Ald. Jolly moved that in the meantime competitive plans, accompanied by specifications and estimates of the cost, for the heating of the hospital, be invited, to be in Monday, July 23. Car-

Mr. Huyette advised the committee, if they had the money to spend, to adopt a separate light plant, which he roughly estimated would cost $4,000. Such a plant would also supply power for the elevators, laundry machines, etc. The committee figured on the matter for awhile and concluded the plant would pay for itself in about five years. The suggestion seemed to meet with general favor. but no action was taken. The question of plumbing was dis-cussed and the architects said that no immediate action was necessary. This work is estimated at $3,500.

London Adbertiser. [ESTABLISHED BY JOHN CAMERON IN 1863.]

fanaging Director John Cameron London, Tuesday, July 12, 1898,

The British Columbia Elections. The British Columbia elections have resulted in a deadlock for the time be ivg, though the Opposition may claim moral victory in wiping out the Govgnment's majority. Premier Turner and most of his colleagues are Conservatives, but political lines were not drawn tightly as in other provinces. The issues were pure ly local, and hinged chiefly on the Ad ministration's financial policy, which the Opposition denounced as vicious growing debt as a menace to the futhe Province. Bribery works was also charged Government raised the that British Columbia was not obtaining its due proportion of federal funds, and was very vociferous in asserting the province's rights so called. The natural rivalry between couver Island and the mainland was projected into the contest. The Premier was accused of partiality for Victoria, as the capital, and it is probably due more to sectional feeling than any thing else that the island went solidly for Turner, while Vancouver city and most of the mainland ridings went against him.

Personalities were rife, and were flung about with true western vigor. Hon. Joseph Martin ex-M.P., formerly of Winnipeg, was one of the Opposition leaders, and was vehemently attacked by the Government press. Among other things he was stigmatized as an annexationist, though without sufficient He was one of the four Oncandidates elected for Van Premier Turner was also assailed in the canvass for alleged complicity in some doubtful deal, which is now before the courts.

As our fellow-countrymen in the Gold Province appear to like their politics hot, the prospect of being kept on the gridiron for a while may console both victory.

Health on the Bicycle.

Much has been written about the bicycle in an entertaining strain. It is usually treated in its social aspect, and it is literally the vehicle of a good deal of cheap wit, but it has a hygienic and physiological side, which must not be overlooked. It is interesting to find it discussed seriously from this standpoint by an authority in the Contemporary Review, Dr. E. B. Turner. He is friendly to the bicycle. There are few exercises, he says, more healthful to the ordinary individual than bicycling in a moderate and discreet fashion. It combines the maximum of fresh air and change of scene with the minimum of injurious effort. He goes on to point out some of the pitfalls which bicyclists should avoid.

The writer says that seven years is the earliest age at which a boy or girl may be allowed to mount a wheel, and even then great care is necessary to see that the machine is in every way fitted to the child. The reach must be carefully adjusted to the length of the leg; the saddle must be accurately adapted to the rider; the crank should not be too long-four to five inches is sufficient; and the gear should not exceed 52 inches. Young growing tissues are easily distorted, and it is important that the handle-bar be raised to such a height that the rider can easfly sit upright; otherwise a permanently humped spine may be the result. Excessive distance is bad, excessive speed is worse, and excessive hill-riding is worst. If after a ride a child is found to refuse his food, and to be feverish, restless and sleepless at night, it is a oure sign that he has done too much.

There are some instances, says the writer, where men who have passed the allotted three-score years and ten have learned to cycle, and are living instances of the benefit of it, but any veteran who has passed a sedentary existence should count well the cost before he risks the over-strain which might easily result from a new and unaccustomed pastime. This applies with double force to women of a mature age in whose youth the only exercises considered "ladylike" were dancing or a mild walk. No old man or elderly woman should, therefore, begin to cycle unless pronounced sound. Those who are already expert cyclers, however, may look forward to a continuance of their cycling through a green old age.

As a broad rule it may be laid down that those of any age who are unsound or delicate should not commence to ride except under the advice of a competent physician. There are some ailments in which, cycling, properly regutated, acts like a charm in restoring health. It does most good in functional diseases, and in such as arise from insufficient exercise. It prevents and assists in the cure of such diseases as gout and rheumatism, and few regular cyclists are troubled with indigestion. In the bloodlessness of young girls it cometimes does more good than pints of iron drops, though in such cases moderation is most essential antil the heart is well drilled in its new work, and very few instances of pure "nervousness" survive a regular course of bicycle rides. No person, however, with any organic disease, especially if the heart be affected, should attempt to cycle, except under the direct orders of his physician.

With regard to the saddle, each person must suit himself or herself. "One man's saddle is another man's blisters." It is most necessary to be careful about the adjustment and position. It should be placed just so high that when the rider is sitting at ease he can touch the pedal with his heel when it is at its lowest point. This will give him perfect command over the wheel and allow him to use his ankles in pedaling to the best advantage. If the saddle be too low it is impossible to use the full power of the muscles of the leg, as the knee must always be kept bent. If the saddle be too high the danger of losing control of the machine in an emergency is doubled, as the guiding power of the feet on the pedals is lost for about half a stroke. Some are able to do better with the saddle well forward, and some with it in a backward position; but extremes should be avoided. If a plumb line be dropped from the peak and fall about four or five inches behind the crank axle, the most suitable place will have been discovered. The saddle should be sufficiently broad at the back to allow of the rider sitting fairly and squarely upon it and using the bones intended by nature to support the weight of the body. The peak should cause no undue pressure anywhere. The springs should be adapted to the weight of the rider.

All underclothing should be of wool, with a thickness regulated according to the temperature; shoes always; boots never should be worn; and no garment should be at all tight. For women skirt should be well cut and not too large round the hem; three yards will be found sufficient, and it should clear the ground by about four inches when the wearer is not on her machine. Knickerbockers should take the place of the petticoat, and thin woolen stockings should be worn by those who mean to ride more than a mile or two. The writer agrees that "rational dress" and the diamond frame wheel are safer and more convenient for women, but beyond the proto-martyrs and pioneers of the movement it does not seem that many, in America at least, will adopt the new fashion. The ooking-glass forbids.

As for food, a mixed diet and regular meals are the best. It is unwise for anyone to start riding directly after food, and stimulants between meals, even in the case of fatigue must be bad. Their effect soon passes off, and the reaction leaves the rider worse than he was before. Bicycle racing and violent athletics should be subject to two stringent One, that no person should other, that no person organically unsound should, under any circumstances, be allowed to commence train-

Ald. Greenlees will have public support if he brings in a reasonable bicycle bylaw. No one will indorse it more heartily than sensible cyclists, who need as much protection against the reckless bicycle element as do pedes-The bylaw should entitle wheelmen to the right side of the road when passing rigs in opposite direc tions. Some drivers are boorish enough to refuse them this. A local judge has decreed that a bicycle has no privileges on the highway, but the city council will doubtless show more justice and

We observe that some of our contemporaries have been commenting on a eport that Mr. George E. Casey, M.P., was likely to be selected at an early date as Deputy Minister of Agriculture. We have no doubt that Mr. Casey would prove a very competent person for that position, but we are not aware that Mr. Scarth is about to be retired. The Minister of Agriculture is away in England at the present time, and it is hardly likely that the subject of the appointment of his deputy would be taken up by his colleagues in his absence. Mr. Casey has been a member of Parliament since 1872. He is a graduate in arts of Toronto University, and s possessed of good abilities, but it may well be that neither Mr. Casey nor the Minister of Agriculture desire the present Parliament.

How Uncle Sam Feeds His Soldiers

The meals that the government provides for the army and navy, known in the services as rations, are really scientific combinations of food and drinks. They are not hastily impo-vised affairs, like many busy-day dinners at home, but are the result of experimenting with staples, condiments and other articles, extending over many years. They have been thoroughly tested in peace and war, in the POSSIBILITY OF PEACE. Madrid, July 12-9 a.m.-The possibility of peace with the United States is being widely discussed in the newspapers and by the public. The Conservative papers declare Spain is preparing to accept peace, provided it implies only the loss of Cuba. But, they add. Spain would prefer war a l'outrance if the United States claims Porto Rico, the Philippine Islands, or an immense indemnity, which would be impossible for Spain to pay. The Correspondencia asserts that Gen.

Red Cross Flag.

NOT RESPECTED BY SPANIARDS. 'Atlanta, Ga., July 12.-Two hundred and thirty-five sick and wounded soldiers reached the general hospital at Fort. McPherson yesterday from Tampa. Among them are several of the Rough Riders, and many of the Seventy-first 'New York, The most seriously wounded are Captain Ducat and Lieut Lyons, of the Twenty-fourth Infantry to 44c do: and common arrivals at 2½c whose families are now at Salt Lake to 3½c per lb. Good calves sold at $5.50 Utah. The doctors are much encourage. to $9 each: common ones at $2 to $5 ed by the condition of the men, and wounded give thrilling accounts of the great fight of July 1, and from several sources comes the information; Spaniards use explosives and brass bullets.'

Dwight Galloupe, chaplain of the Twenty-fourth Infantry, of Newark, N. J., is suffering from internal hemorrhage, but he will recover. He told a story of the utter disregard of the Spaniards for the Red Cross flag.

"On the afternoon of the 3rd," said the chaplain, "I was visiting the wounded in a hospital tent near the place where the fight was the hottest. A lieutenant, whose name I do not know, was in the other end of the tent look-ing after some of his men. Suddenly a shell came through the tent and exploded. That officer was torn into shreds. I was hurled 50 feet and injured as you see, and every man in the tent thrown from his cot. "The Spaniards took especial delight in firing upon our field hospital. We had to move it seven times on that account. One of the surgeons was killed while dressing the wounds of a soldier. In the hasty retreat which the enemy's fire made necessary from the first hospital, a lot of our wounded were left behind and all of them were killed." Several of the new arrivals say the reported suffering of Spanish soldiers is greatly exaggerated. "The Spanish soldiers get better food than ours do," said on of the men. "The children of Santiago are suffering, but the soldiers are getting the fat of the land. They are hard fighters, but very treacherous. Once during the early part of the battle a white flag was thrown up on one of their batteries, Our men approached it, as a matter of course, but were shot down when they drew near." CAMERAS ON KITES. In the trenches before Santiago, July 12.-Lieut. Wise, of the Ninth Infantry, has been ordered to report at headquarters with kites, with which he wil endeavor to take photographs of the hidden defenses of the city. The balloon that was brought for this purpose is now useless, having been riddled with bullets. Perhaps it is lucky that it cannot be used, owing to its fatal reit was rushed ahead of our advance, drawing the fire of the Spanish line before the presence of our troops was ac scended it still towered above the trees and brought showers of bullets and shrapnel into the infantry reserves, who were forced to advance slowly down a narrow track beside it.

The heavy baptism of fire of the Seventy-first New York Volunteers, hidden as they were by the thick foliage, was solely due to this cause.

Engineer Horetzky Says the City Council Is Doing So

In Discussing the International System of Sewage Disposal-His Explanation of the Process.

Toronto, July 11, 1898. To the Editor of The Advertiser: Judging from the occasional paragraphs I see in your local papers, it appears to me that much time is consumed by your council in useless discussion of the merits and demerits of the International System of Sewage Disposal versus land treatment. Mr. McDougall, agent of the International Company, is reported as having stated that the cost of a sewage disposal plant on the International plan would be about one-half less at London, Ont., than in England, with labor in this country 20 per cent higher. Allow me to give you a few facts regarding the International scheme which means simply the precipitation of a portion of the organic matter contained in the sewage, followed by fil-tration of the partially clarified effluent through artificial filters of polarite, sand and gravel. The material used for precipitation, styled "ferozone," is a mixture of ferrous sulphate, alumina, magnesia and oxide of iron. This mixture contains a large percentage of water, say 45 per cent, upon which freight and duty have to be paid. Ferozone has also been found to be variable in its action, and has been proved to be not ! one whit better than a combination of lime and alum, the latter being cheaper than ferozone.

Regarding the polarite filters, the International Company claim that one square yard of filter will successfully pass 1,000 gallons of sewage effluent per day of 24 hours. They certainly are rapid at first, but after a time, when brought into proper working order by the formation of the "schmutzdecke" on the surface of the top layer of sand, they cannot pass more than from 350 to 400 gallons per square yard per day. These filters also require, if properly attended to, as much surface cleansing and attention as city water filters of plain sand as used in European countries, and their primary cost, exclusive of everything but the actual polarite sand, gravel and underdrains, would be if properly constructed (and with polarite at $37 per long ton, delivered at London), $10 per square yard. usually inclosed by brickwork, and have cement floors, but in your case, the mere excavation necessary to hold the filtering materials might answer on a

I have constructed such filters at a cost of $10 75 per square yard by day's labor for material alone.

Assuming that one million gallons of sewage have to be treated daily at London, and estimating the working capacity of the filters to be 500 gallons per squard yard per day (a very liberal estimate), the area of the filters would need to be 2,000 square yards, and this would cost, upon the foregoing basis, $20,000.

It may be said, further, that by experiment the effluent from polarite filters, under the most careful manipulation, is much inferior to that from suitable and properly made sand fil-ters or natural soil. As a matter of fact, polarite without the sand would be entirely useless, the formation of the "schmutzdecke" or film of organic matter on the surface being absolutely essential to the process of filtration. It is needless for me to enter into details regarding the cost of preparing land for the reception of your sewage. as my report of Dec. 30, 1895, if properly understood, has dealt with this matter very fully, and, I trust, intelligibly as well. Yours truly, C. G. HORETZKY.

LONDON'S OLD BOYS

Arranging for a Great Reunion on Saturday, August 6.

Toronto, July 12.—A large number of London, Ont., old boys in Toronto held a meeting in the Queen's Hotel last night to arrange for the annual return of the exiles to their native city. Mr. J. W. Davis presided. Last year the former Londoners of this city returned to their home of other days in a body and had a magnificent time, but this year they purpose eclipsing that event, and to that end will issue a circular letter to former London men the world over wherever they can be reached. The day was fixed for the Saturday before Toronto's civic holiday. They will take two bands with them, the Q. O. R. or Highlanders' and the Uniformed I. O. F. musical aggregation. A long programme is being arranged, including baseball, cricket, bowling and all kinds of athletics.

A letter was received from London stating great preparations were being made there for their reception and entertainment. That committee and the committee here will co-operate to complete the arrangements. The meeting adjourned to assemble again next

Monday evening. TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS

The war hurts the Canadian lumber Judge Lister is taking a trip to the Mrs. John Holtzhauser, of Preston, drowned herself in a cistern. Albert Chandler, a Chatham bicycle thief, was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary. Rev. Dr. Warden, financial agent of the Canadian Presbyterian Church, has been ordered not to indulge in overwork any more. There was a good deal of frost Sunday night. Fortunately, wheat escaped injury, though there was some damage to vegetables.

Sir Oliver Mowat will lay the corner stone of a new Methodist church in Jarvis, Haldimand county, on Wednesday, July 20. There is an unconfirmed report of the drowning of Rev. Walter L. Lyon, the First Church of England missionary to the Klondike. An Ottawa dispatch says the D. R. A. matches are to be held on the date originally fixed, namely, Aug. 29, at the new ranges at Rockliffe.

Mrs. George M. Pullman, in accordance with her intention expressed some time since, filed in the probate court her formal renunciation of benefits under her late husband's will. This is preliminary to making claim to her share of the estate under dowry rights.

Chronic Eczema Cured.

One of the most chronic cases of Eczema ever cured is the case of Miss Gracie Ella Aiton, of Hartland, N. B. On a sworn statement Mr. Aiton said: "I hereby certify that my daughter Gracie Ella, was cured of Eczema of long standing by using four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment." Wm. Thistle, druggist, of Hartland, also certifies that he sold four boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment which cured Gracie Ella.

Chicago Papers Have More Than They

Chicago, July 12.-The situation in the stereotypers' strike here today is substantially as follows: The papers here are all running smoothly, and will resume their full size at once. The only embarrassment in the situation is the over-supply of stereotypers who have gathered in here from all parts of the country. The publishers wish it known that all positions are filled, and that further applications cannot be considered.

MIDDLESEX.

The First of July festival in connection with the Methodist Church, Centralia, was a great success. The proceeds amounted to $180. The games were a great attraction, and the singing of Mr. H. R. McDonald, of London, a decided hit. Centralia is still in need of a doctor. Dr. Shaw, of Lucan, drives there nine miles three times a week. It is surprising no doctor takes up his residence

LONDON PRESBYTERY

Scheme of French Evangelization Presented.

Rev. Mr. McGillivray Received Into the Presbyterian Church of hall of the First Church at 10:30 this morning. In the absence of the moderator, Mr. Kelso, Mr. Sawers was appointed to act as moderator.

Messrs. Cooper, Anderson and Mc-Gillivray were invited to act as corresponding members.

were sustained. The committee appointed to look into the matter of what constituted pres byterial expenses was continued. Dr. Sutherland reported in regard to Mr. Munro's resignation at Kintore. The report submitted dealt very appreciatively with Mr. Munro's character and services, and prayed for the blessing of God upon him and his family. Mr. D. R. Drummond, in accordance with appointment, presented the scheme of French evangelization. He showed what a great movement is taking place among the French-Canadians forward, and the necessity of this church being alive to the importance of its missio work among the French people. Dr. Preudfoot carried on the discussion and was followed by Mr. Gilmour. Mr. Sawers presented the scheme of the assembly fund. There are only five congregations in the presbytery which have not contributed to this fund. Messrs. Little. Lawrence, Drummond, Wilson, Scott, Johnson and Sawers, ministers, and Messrs, Grieve, Robb, El liott, Ferguson, elders, were reported as having given due attendance at the general assembly in Montreal. It was moved after papers in the case were read that the presbytery receive with pleasure the Rev. Mr. McGillivray in the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in accordance with the permission of the general assembly. This was heartily carried, and Mr. McGillivray given the right hand of fellowship by the moderator in behalf of the presbytery. Arch Stewart reported on behalf of the treasurer, and, on motion the report was received. Mr. Clark presented a communication from Dr. Campbell, convener of the assembly's committee on augmenta-tion. It was stated that $6,000 more were needed this ensuing year, and a strong effort is needed on the part of the presbytery and the church at.large. It was moved that the communication be received and hearty sympathy expressed with its spirit, and that the augmentation rund be the scheme to be discussed at the September meeting. The following appointments were made for the visitation of augmented congregations, as follows: Aylmer and Springfield, Mr. Currie and elder; Port Stanley, Mr. Drummond and elder: Hyde Park and Komoka, Mr. Clark and elder; Delaware and Caradoc, Mr. Ross and elder; Chalmers Church, Mr. Sawers and elder.

It was decided to recommend that if possible an exchange should be made, and the matter presented on a Sabbath day's service, and if possible to have a thorough canvass of the congregation. Mr. Drummond was appointed also to visit South Delaware and

LIVING AND DYING NATIONS

[From Lord Salisbury's Recent Speech

in London.]

You may roughly divide the nations of the world as the living and the dying. On one side you have great countries of enormous power, growing in power every year, growing in wealth, growing in dominion, growing in the perfection of their organization; railways have given to them the power to concentrate upon any one point the whole military force of their population, and to assemble armies of a nitude and power never dreamed of in the generations that have gone by; and science has placed in the hands of those armies weapons ever growing in introduced for dysentery, diarrhea, portunity of using them. By the side of these splendid organizations, of which Christianity and united with the Salapplies to them, of course, in very difare advancing almost as fast as con centration and increasing power are advancing in the living nations that stand opposite them. Decade after decade they are weaker, poorer, and less provided with leading men or institutions in whom they can trust, apparently drawing nearer and nearer to their fate, and yet clinging with strange tenacity to the life which they have got. In them misgovernment is not only not cured, but is constantly on the increase. The society-and official society-the administration, is a mass of corruption, so that there is no firm ground on which any hope of reform or restoration could be based, and in their various degrees they are presenting a terrible picture to the more enlightened portion of the world, a picture which unfortunately the increase coast of Macedonia, known as the in the means of our information and "Mountain of the Monks" because there communication draws with brighter—I are no fewer than twenty magnificent should say darker-and more conspicumonasteries scattered in the sheltered ous lineaments, in the face of the eyes recesses or on the tops of the lofty of all nations, and appeals to their feelings, as well as to their interests, callall the inhabitants are men, says the ing upon them to bring forward a remedy. How long this state of things is likely to go on, of course I do not attempt to prophesy. All I can indicate is that that process is proceeding, that the weak nerves are becoming weaker, and the strong states are becoming stronger. It needs me to enter into no detail, and to attempt no specialty of prophecy to point out to you what the inevitable result of that combined process must be. For one reason or for another-from the necessities of politics or under the pretense of philanthropy for one reason or another the living nations will gradually encroach on the territory of the dying, and the seeds and causes of conflict among civilized nations will speedily appear. Of course, it is not to be supposed that any one nation of the living nations will be allowed to have the profitable monopoly of curing or cutting up these unfortu-nate patients, and the controversy as to who shall have the privilege of doing so, and in what maner he shall do it these things may introduce causes of fatal differences between the great nations whose armies stand opposite each other. These are the dangers, I think, which threaten us in the period that is coming on. It is a period which will tax our resolution, our tenacity, and imperial instincts to the utmost Indoubtedly we shall not allow England to be at a disadvantage in any rearrangement that may take place. On the other hand, we shall not be jealous if desolation and sterility is removed by the aggrandizement of a rival in regions to which our arms cannot ex-

He heard a step, and again fear came looked stealthily out. It was the old woman of the cabin, and she came down between the two rows of vines you ran. That is all you know. But from her door to the path. She held something in one hand with her apron thrown over it; she looked neither to the right nor left, but upward, and her lips were moving and tears dropped down her face. She was but a com old woman in a faded skirt, and patched corsets, and a cotton neckerchief, with gold rings in her ears, and a silver dagger stuck through her gray hair, but she reminded him of a picture he had seen on the wall of some church, he had forgotten where. He had never thought of the picture since the mo ment when his careless eyes glanced over it; but now he seemed to see it again, not lacking the nimbus.

The cool dark vines and the yellow stubble were lifted behind her; and as she came nearer he could hear the words that trembled over her lips. She was praying in the words of the "Salve "To thee we cry, poor ban-Regina," ished children of Eve. To thee we lift up our sighs, mourning and weeping in this valley of tears"; and her tears dropped down. She reached the tree behind which he was hidden, and with her eyes still uplifted and her lips still moving, hastily drew her apron from what she held, set something down under the tree and pushed it into the screening vine leaves. Then she rose quickly and went back toward the cabin.

A rude, dark man came to the door and called her. She answered, stopped an instant in the stubble, picked up a few wheat-stalks, furtively wiped her eyes and went in.

When she had disappeared Brung looked among the weeks, and found there, folded in a large grape leaf, two slices of gray wheaten bread spread with a ricotta of goat's milk, and in another leaf a little flask of white wine. Only then he knew that he was fainting with hunger and thirst.

his red right hand and ate and drank. It was the saint of the fresco who had fed him, he thought. He could not know that all day long she had watched his progress by the moving wheatheads, and that she had given him her own supper, and would go hungry that night. He ate and drank, and did not inquire how she had known, sure now that she would not tell. Then he sat without thinking, his mind as dim as the twilight air about him; till again his heart swelled sudgenly, something rose in his throat, and he wept outright, with his face to the earth. The sound of the Ave Maria bells came down from the town, all their voices at once, with a faint tinkle from the mountain-top, floating like a bubble over all. Mingling with these bells he heard a man's whistling. It seemed to be someone coming down from San Rocco, slowly sauntering and whistling fitfully.

With his first start of renewed terror came a something of surprise and attention that did not dare to be hope, but was a piercing doubt. There was something peculiar in this whistling. It was like the call of a bird, followed by a little strain that spoke of safety, not fully played, but in fragments, with short silences. It told of safety, while enjoining caution.

Bruno crept forward and peeped out. A man stood farther up in the path, gazing at the vines and trees, as if he were a stranger, his hands in his pockets; and as Bruno looked out, he whistled again and glanced about with seeming carelessness.

The fugitive's heart gave a bound. He half rose, and, still stooping, ran through the wheat till he came opposite the spot where his comrade stood, gazing in another direction, but with his head intent on the rustling of the grain

Bruno whistled softly. It was like the distressed chirping of a little bird, so well imitated that one might have believed that a nest had been disturbed, or that the mother-bird had had a dream of cats and serpents, and had wakened with that little cry. The man in the path, without looking his way, drew nearer to the spot whence the sounds proceeded, and stood, still with his back to it, looking up into a tree. "For God's sake, get me out of this!"

whispered Bruno. "Is anybody watch-keep out of sight all you can. If I cough, stop. So saying, he sauntered up the path to the gate, Bruno following in the wheat till it ceased, then gliding from tree to tree. At the gate his leader paused. There was no person in sight. A little open city carriage that had been waiting farther along the road came slowly by. There was a woman in it. It did not stop; but the two menran out and got into it while it was in

For a while nothing was said. They passed San Rocco and the wine shop opposite, and took the road to Rome. Then the woman put her hand on Bruno's arm and said: "What a fool you were to run away! Don't you know that you are always safe with us?" "Marco was after me?" he said, shaking. "Where is he now?"

"He started off to Albano. He didn't seem to know where he was going. Some people said that they thought he was crazy. I shouldn't wonder if he would kill himself. He was always a

You were sorry; and while you were trying nobody will ever ask you." Bruno breathed freer. He had certainly been a great fool to run out of the city. Slowly, like water filtering into an empty reservoir, courage came back to his heart. Life grew secure, then bright, and his crime excusable. Tomorrow he would smile, the day after he would laugh, and in a week his nerves would have regained their Another time he would show more prudence, and would depend more on his friends. Moreover his friends could now de pend more securely on him, for he was in their power.

CHAPTER XXIII

Marco had gone to Albano, as Bruno's friend had informed him, and he had gone unconsciously, or nearly so. He was, in fact, so sunk in gloomy perplexity and silent, bitter grief, as to have no consciousness of any present save the terrible event of the past With a sort of instinct or returning home, he had gone to the station: but he could not be aware that the habit to which he resigned himself for guidance was not the habit of later As in old age, delirium, or vears. death, the soul sometimes strips itself of later years, as of a garment, and goes wandering back amid the scenes of its childhood, so he, convulsed by a more ruinous blow than any which had vet fallen upon him, gave himself up to a habit of his early youth. He was a native of Nettuno, and had been gardener first in the Villa Borghese, by the sea; and to Nettuno he bent his when he thought to go home. If he had been a vounger man, or a less clear-sighted one, he would have been frenzied by what had happened. As It was, he was paralyzed.

His head hanging forward, his face haggard and vacant, he had gone to the ticket office because the others went, without looking to see what train was advertised, and when the man at the window asked him if he wanted third-class, he answered yes. He would have answered the same if he had been offered first-class. He looked out of the car window as they rolled over the campagna, but saw nothing; or rather he saw on'y scenes of the past night. To the present scenes his eyes were sightless. If some faint scense of familiarity was touched, it only helped him to go on.

Leaving the station at Albano, he took the old familiar western road to the sea. A cart came along presently, and he accepted the driver's invitation to ride. He rode almost to Porto d'Anzio. The driver thought that he was sleepy, and after the first few minutes did not urge him to talk. Marco shut his eyes, dropped his head, and let his mind wander about. It wandered calmly enough, for its passions were benumbed. It reasoned clearly enough, too, and told him that he could do nothing. Of course he could kill Bruno, and meant to the first time they met, or that he chose to seek the fellow. That was a matter of course and a trifle. But how could he reach the power behind Bruno, and for whom that insignificant fellow acted? He had an impulse in the night, and again in the early morning, to rush into the palace and kill all that he met therenot the servants, but the family. But what would he have gained? They would have killed him, perhaps, before he had succeeded in doing anything: and his class and his cause would have been the worse for his violence. If he could have died at the head of a conquering army doing battle for the poor.

then he would have gone to death with

CUPID AND DEATH. It is a pitiful truth that in a tremendous percentage of cases love and death claim a young woman at the same moment. If a young woman's mother does not feel competent to give her daughter the right advice about how to keep herself well an in a maidenly way, she should seek the advice of some physician of years of wide experience, and of substantial reputation. A young woman naturally does not like to be a subject of discussion, examination and the horrible local treatment of a home doctor. Moreover, obscure physicians make the mistake of attributing her ills to indi-gestion, or heart or liver trouble, when the real cause is weakness or disease of the delicate organs concerned in wifehood and

Good Reports From Canadian Trade Centers.

Values Generally Firm-Farmers in a Better Finance Position Than for Years-Bradstreet's Review.

Toronto, July 12 .- After the three holidays of last week, trade in wholesale circles at Montreal showed a good deal of activity. Orders have been quite numerous this week. The trade in drygoods has been very satisfactory for this time of year. The warm weather has kept up the demand for sorting parcels of all sorts of light wearing apparel, and the fall trade has been increasing, and in the next few weeks a good deal of activity is looked for in the last mentioned department of trade, the excellent crop prospects throughout the country having a good effect on country merchants who are expected to buy largely for the coming season's trade. Large imports of continental goods are being made at Montreal in order to discount the change in the triff next month. Imports of British goods at Montreal are being posponed wherever practical until after August 1 in order to obtain the reduction in the duties. A review of the markets shows weakness in butter cheese, flour, hides and turpentine, and teas and glass are firmer, the latter at an advance of 10c to 20c per 100 feet. At Toronto trade is very satisfactory for this season of the year. Values are generally firm, the exception being in butter, flour and grain. The state of the crops all through the province and the reports of the condition of the growth in Manitoba and the Northwest point to a very large yield. The prices are now very satisfactory for cereals compared with the past few years, although they are considerably lower than the top prices reached during the past crop year, and all indications promise a large increase in the business of the wholesale trade during the coming fall and winter months. The farmers of the country are in better financial position generally now than they have been for years and their purchasing power has been greatly increased as a result of good crops and high prices that prevailed during last year. With a repetition of these favorable conditions for the present season they will be in a position to largely augment the general prosperity of the Dominion. Wools are dull and there is less disposition among buyers to make purchases on speculation at current prices. Hides are firm. Leathers are steady although the manufacturers are not yet buying very freely. There is more sugar selling, but dealers are disappointed over the prospects for the crop of plums and peaches. Canned vegetables are unsettled and canners appear to think that higher prices will have to be obtained for the new pack. There is an active demand for seasonable lines in drygoods and values are firm. Advices from the French markets report an advance in the prices of woolen dress goods for the fall trade. and in Canada staple goods are firm, and leading Canadian mills are advising their clients that they are so filled up with orders for bleached cottons that if prompt delivery is expected orders should be placed without delay. The demand for Canadian securities is less active, but values are generally well maintained.

Reports from Winnipeg show a fair movement for this season in drygoods, groceries, hardware, paints and lumber and for building supplies of all kinds. The grain trade is dull and will likely continue quiet till the new crop begins The weather has continued to move. favorable for the crops, which have improved much since the middle of last month. The early wheat is heading out well and a fairly early harvest is, with continued favorable weather conditions, promised this year.

Business on the coast is quite active in many lines. There has been a large increase in the crop area this year, and with favorable weather it has made good progress, and the yield is promising. The reports from jobbers continue to show a fair demand for general lines in wholesale trade. Large consignments of butter, cheese and eggs from Manitoba and Ontario have weakened the market for those products. Flour and meal are lower.

Estimated Output of Dawson-Miners Washed Away by the Flood.

San Francisco, July 12.-Twenty miners from the Yukon placer mines at Manock, Circle City and Dawson, arrived here yesterday on the schooner Hattie Phillips, from St. Michael's. The returning prospectors bring about $70,000 with them. The passengers from Dawson are confident that the output of Dawson will run over $25,-000,000. Manock will produce not less than $300,000. The Yukon River is said to be higher than has been known for years, and overflowed its banks at Manock, where a number of miners were washed away by the flood.

A London Man Charged With Smuggling in a Wheel From Detroit.

Chief Wills left Windsor last evening and came to London to take back Sam Wolford, a resident of this city, who was arrested on Sunday on a charge of smuggling a bicycle into Canada from Detroit. It appears that Wolford purchased a bicycle in Detroit on the installment plan, and, it is alleged, afterward brought it to London without paying the duty. He is said to have disposed of it to another person in London and refused to settle with the owner of the wheel. Then the Canadian customs collector was informed of the act, and at once Inspector Stunden came to London to investigate. He secured information that warrantswearing out a warrant against Wolford, who was taken back this morning, and will be brought before the Windsor magistrate today.

Conclusion of the Inquest Re the Death of P. C. Toohey.

Misapprehension Regarding the Post-Mortem and Inquest-The Police Recommended to Carry Revolvers in the Day Time.

The adjourned inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of P. C. Toohey, who was killed on the night of June 24 by an unknown tramp, was concluded before Coroner Flock at the police station last night. John Pike, 898 Elias street, the first witness, knew nothing about the murder until he was informed of the occurrence by young MoIndoe, who came to witness' house and said: "There is a policeman after a tramp. He fired two shots and wants help." The boy then ran away. Witness went in the direction the policeman had gone and found the body, lying face down. He then had the police informed. To all appearances Toohey was dead when witness arrived there; did not hear the shots fired, and would not know the hat or revolver picked up on the night of the murder again. William McKerricker, 931 Lorne avenue, was at camp that night, and when coming home went by way of Ontario street. At the north end witness saw of his hesitating to strike the tramp some distance before he met the policeshots. Witness heard someone say: then started back, and before he got saw the white object until the shots a soft black felt hat. Q.—How were you assaulted? A.—I told him he could not go up the track. He came back two steps and said: "What's that you say?" I told him he could not go down nor up; the tramp replied: "Well, — it, I'll go up anyway." I put the hand-flag in front of him to stop him, when he struck me in the face, but with what I don't know, and knocked me over. Witness said the train the tramp came off had just pulled in from the tunnel. He walked up the yard at a pretty brisk gait for a peg-leg.

Q.-Do you think you would know him again? A .- Yes, I think I would. Mr. McGillivray-Which leg was off? Witness-Well, now, I can't say

Dr. Edwin Seaborne deposed to having been called to the scene by tele-phone. When he turned the body over it was 9:50. He saw no revolver when the body was moved, but one was is spending her vacation with friends handed him by a man a minute or two afterward. The policeman's clothing was not disarranged before witness Iting her sister, Miss Todd, of Stanley opened the tunic. He discovered a street, South London. smell of powder on the policeman's clothes. Detective Nickle picked up the bullet that had smashed the watch in the breast pocket of the tunic. The condition of the dead policeman and the vomited matter near by were indicative that death was not instantaneous. Witness, with Dr. McLaren, had made the postmortem examination at Ferguson's rooms, and found several marks of violence. There were one or two punctures of the skin on the forehead, and also a slight contusion on the left arm between the elbow and shoulder. In the abdomen was found a large quantity of bloody fluid and blood clots. The ball had entered the left side just above the nirth rib, coursed a little downward and backward through the right lobe of the liver, and then through the cartilaginous portion of the ninth right rib, and passed nearly to the outer skin. The immediate cause of death was hemorrhage, caused by the bullet from a 44-calibre revolver or gun. The wound was such that there was no possibility of recovery. Dr. McLaren corroborated the evidence in every particular.

Juryman Pocock asked the doctors the great delay had ensued by which the post-mortem was not begun until 5:20 the following evening. Coroner Flock offered a full explanation, stating that the confusion which followed the murder, the police having all gone on the hunt after the criminal, was in a measure respon-sible. Another delay had been caused in locating some of the dead man's relatives, so that Mrs. Toohey might be informed, and again, in procuring witnesses. There was abroad a general misapprehension concerning the case. If, however, any of them felt aggrieved, there was a way open to them to have an investigation.

Chief Williams gave a similar explanation, and thought Dr. Flock was not to blame. Israel Dowdy was called to prove that the revolver had been picked up, as he had handed it to Dr. Seaborn.

Cyrus Edy, recalled, would not be positive that it was not a pair of handcuffs Toohey had in his right hand, instead of a revolver, as he had stated one week ago. P. C. Hobbins gave evidence regarding the revolver and hat, and P. C. Campbell to the finding of the handcuffs in Toohey's pocket. Chief Williams was called, and explained that the revolver found was Toohey's, that it was loaded in the regular way, one empty and four full chambers. Detective Nickle was called to testify to the untorn condition of Toohey's tunic before the deceased went on duty. Dr. Flock gave a most exhaustive address to the fury, in which he said

The policemen did not ward found it to be a man in his shirt have the support and good-will of the sleeves. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

> Mrs. Knight, 17 Hanover Place, Toronto, makes the following statement :--

Y mother, Mrs. Wright, who lives at Norval, near Doncaster, suffered a summer and winter with Eczema in her feet. She could not walk, and very seldom got any sleep. It became so bad that she was perfectly raw from the toes to the knees. After trying every available remedy without receiving any benefit, and almost hopeless of relief, she was advised to try Dr. Chase's Ointment. She has altogether used 8 boxes since commencing, but with the happiest results, for she is now completely cured. There is but one scar on one of her feet, a memento of her fearful suffering condition. Any person desiring further testimony in this case is at liberty to communi-
