SKAGWAY TOWNSITE

Matter of People Against Moore Will Have Partial Re-hearing

FOR SUBMITTING OF NEW AFFIDAVITS

Other Evidence Favorable to Moore Will Stand.

LITTLE HOPE FOR CHANGE

Mineral Value Will be Investigated, Also Claims Made by Railroad May Compromise.

Skagway, June 5.—Notice of the decision of the acting secretary of the interior to grant a rehearing in the Skagway townsite case has been received, the rehearing to take place before the register and receiver of the U. S. land office at Sitka when only new evidence in support of affidavits can be submitted. The evidence on which the decision was rendered in Moore's favor will still stand except that the decision may be modified by new evidence. The particular reasons for which a rehearing has been ordered are that further examination into the value of the land for minerals may be made, also as to the justness of certain claims made by the railroad company to a portion of the property within the townsite.

As no mineral of value has ever been found either in or near Skagway, there is very little hope for on that score. As to the claims made by the railroad company nothing is known or will be known until they are stated at the rehearing of the case.

On the whole, the decision to grant such a limited and restricted rehearing contains but little encouragement to those who are occupying the property and there is now a strong probability that some sort of compromise will be effected by the people and Moore and that the whole matter will be settled before the rehearing is held.

BREAKING THROUGH ICE

Steamer Clifford Sifton Plowing Channel in Lebarge.

Lower Lebarge, June 5.—The steamer Clifford Sifton started yesterday at noon to forge her way through Lebarge, the ice of which is becoming very soft. If she succeeds she will be the first boat of the season to reach Whitehorse from Dawson. Early this morning the steamer had accomplished six miles, breaking the ice with her bow every foot of that distance.

Islander at Skagway.

Skagway, June 5.—The steamer Islander is in port and will sail for lower points at 5 o'clock this evening.

RATE WAR CALLED OFF

After Several Weeks of Indiscriminate Cutting Former Steamer Rate Is Restored.

Skagway, June 5.—After more than a month of indiscriminate rate cutting on steamers plying between Sound and British Columbia ports and Alaskan points, the schedule for both passengers and freight have been restored temporarily, a truce for a period of 60 days having been agreed upon, during which time the Washington & Alaska Steamship Company has agreed to keep its steamers out of Vancouver. If at the end of the 60 days permanent and satisfactory terms have not been agreed upon there is a possibility that the rate war will be reopened.

SOLITUDE THE CAUSE

A. C. Co.'s Watchman at Tyoonik Travels Rope Route.

Seattle, May 31, via Skagway, June 5.—Particulars of the suicide of J. Lindquist, night watchman of the Alaska Commercial Company at Tyoonik, have just been received. The solitude of the place caused his mind to weaken and he disappeared on May 14th. Later his body was found hanging to a sapling. He had bent down the sapling with a second rope, then released it and slowly strangled to death.

Still Very Weak.

Washington, May 31, via Skagway, June 5.—The physicians in attendance on Mrs. President McKinley, after a consultation, state that she is still very weak and feeble and is far from being out of danger.

England is Irritated.

New York, May 17.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says not a little of the anti-American irritation existing in England is due to exaggerated or unfounded reports, published by the half-penny press respecting American enterprises. Englishmen breakfast and dine upon sensational stories that Americans are picking up one British interest after another, and are coming over to manage everything from underground electric railways to dock hoisting machinery. To flood the market with American notions and to drive the British flag from the seas. These fantastic fictions are accompanied by silly leaders warning England that their supremacy is challenged and their institutions and methods are chiefly remarkable for their inaptitude and inexpediency. With their press digging it into their ears that the Americans have taken pity on them and are trying to bring them up to date in their business relations, it is not strange that they frown and lose their tempers whenever America is mentioned, and especially when any comparison is made between English and American methods of financing a great war or capturing guerrillas.

A Missing Man.

U. S. Consul McCook is in receipt of an inquiry concerning the Rev. Alfred Wallace Walker of Rogersville, Tennessee. He is supposed to have left that town some time in February last while suffering from some temporary mental disarrangement. Nothing was heard from him until a letter reached his wife from Portland, Oregon. The letter was written on March 21 and stated that Walker was preparing to leave for Dawson and that if he succeeded in realizing a fortune in the Klondike he would return, otherwise he would not. As no word of him has since reached his home the presumption remains that the fortune has not been realized. If anyone knows anything of the missing man they are requested to communicate with U. S. Consul McCook.

Many Had Imbibed

As unusual number of intoxicated men were seen on the streets this forenoon, evidently the result of a hilarious night. As they were not particularly boisterous they were not a menace to peace and were not, therefore, taken care of by the police. Last night had evidently been an "off" one with many who seldom overstep the proscribed limits of semi-sobriety. Best mixed drinks in town—Sideboard.

Paralyze Business of Small Dawson Dealers.

"Do you dinks peerness will pig up a feeble bid after some viles?" The above question was asked by a small merchant in the old postoffice vicinity this morning. Being a pertinent question and one deserving of thought and consideration the reporter made a few inquiries and learned that among nearly all of the very small dealers there is at present general business stagnation. Inquiry revealed the fact that the Dawson dealers who are in position to sell only in small quantities have been superseded by dealers who buy goods off scows, have them hauled up the creeks and placed in cabins for which they pay little or no rent and thus they are prepared to sell goods to the miners right at their homes just as cheaply as the same goods can be procured in Dawson, the expense of freight being offset by the enormous rent the Dawson dealer is compelled to pay for his store room.

This arrangement is a good one for the miner as he is thus enabled to supply himself with goods without undergoing the hard labor of packing them on his back for miles over bad roads, and as the miner is the boss, since and mainstay of the country, no one, unless prompted by selfish motives, can say but that the new condition is commendable. In the meantime, the small dealer who is not in position to wholesale and who has heretofore depended largely on the transient miners trade, who is the sufferer by the new order of business and about all that remains for him to do is to have his rent reduced or retire from the arena of trade.

Washington, May 29, via Skagway, June 5.—The state department has been informed that the Chinese government has at last agreed to pay an indemnity of $337,000.

The United States troops have all left China except the legation guard. Germany's proposition to withdraw General Waldersee and surrender the chief command of the European forces has been accepted by the powers, but the United States government has as yet taken no part in the selection of his successor.

China agrees to pay indemnity of $337,000.

MODERATE ACTION.

The strike now in progress among the machinists and iron workers has developed some interesting facts which show what reasonable men may accomplish, when they earnestly seek to reach an agreement.

The machinists in Seattle having joined the strike, an effort was made to draw out the skilled mechanics employed by the street railway companies of that city. Many of the strikers insisted that action be taken without delay, but wiser counsel prevailed.

It is the skilled mechanics in the employ of the street railway systems should leave their places the fact was realized that the street cars could not be operated and that great public inconvenience would ensue.

It was decided, therefore, to confer with the street railway management and ascertain if an equitable arrangement could not be reached whereby it would not be necessary for the men to join the strike. A meeting between representatives of the strikers and of the street railway companies resulted. At the conclusion of the conference an agreement had been reached whereby the street railway managers agreed to abide by the results of the strike provided their own men continued at work. In other words, if the strikers secure the concessions which they are demanding, the street railway companies will make similar concessions to the machinists in their employ and meanwhile the latter are to continue in their places. The incident serves to demonstrate the fact that the strikers have a keen and comprehensive grasp of the situation. By their moderation and fairness of action they have beyond question enlisted public sentiment in their favor, and public sentiment is an important factor in determining the result of a strike.

It is quite evident that hotheads and demagogues are not conducting the machinists' strike, and that fact alone presages success to the strikers, although there are not enough facts at hand to warrant an expression of opinion as to the merits of the case.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Minister Sifton will leave for Dawson on or about July 1. The distinguished gentlemen should be given a royal reception in this city as a mark of the fact that the community appreciates the present efforts of the Dominion government in furthering the Yukon territory's interests. At the time of the vice-regal visit last summer we had little but unfulfilled promises to acknowledge, but in the interim it must be said that the government has done very well by us. Some substantial method of recognizing that fact would be quite appropriate and undoubtedly would be greatly appreciated both by the premier and his minister who practically directs the destiny of the Yukon.

If that much talked of mid-summer carnival of sports is to take place, preparations therefor should be begun immediately. There is no time to be lost if the proposed events are to be carried out to a successful conclusion.

Dogs are almost as conspicuous on the streets by their absence as formerly they were by their numbers. The present condition is a very happy contrast to what we have been accustomed in previous summers.

The Klondike river is no longer to be used as a dumping place for garbage. The scow system was inaugurated yesterday and is a distinct improvement over the former plan. The difficulty now is that the scow is not large enough to meet the requirements. That, however, is a difficulty which may be overcome, and in the meanwhile let it give thanks for what has been done.

When thieves fall out honest men are said to receive their dues. Likewise when steamboat companies begin cutting rates, there is a chance for the public to even up old scores.

The cleanup is progressing at a very satisfactory rate.

New Steamer Spokane.
The sailing date for the initial voyage of the excursion steamer Spokane to Alaska has been changed to the 24th of this month by the Seattle office of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. This will bring the ship here about the first of July. She will sail from Seattle.

It is probable many excursionists will come north on this new floating palace on the trip. The home office has received a great many inquiries about when the steamer was to leave and for information as to the scenic properties of the trip from the states of middle and eastern portion of the nation and quite a number of berths have been engaged. The officials expect to fill her on her maiden trip.

The Spokane is now having the finishing touches put on her in the yards of the Union Iron Works at San Francisco. She will sail for Seattle the fore part of June. The palatial appointments of the boat and her general construction have been written up in these columns. Agent Kelly will arrange for a chance to have Skagwayans inspect her when she is in port and Capt. Wallace, who is to command her, will hold an informal reception aboard for his many friends here. The owners of the steamer claim that the Spokane will be absolutely the finest boat on this run and if the elaborate accounts of her fittings are true she will undoubtedly be entitled to this distinction. Besides being handsomely equipped, the vessel has been constructed to meet all the requirements of the Alaska trade. She is provided with a double bottom, divided into water tight compartments, is of steel hull and supplied with the necessary machinery to handle freight expeditiously.—Alaskan.

An Outspoken Mayor.
Zanesville, Ohio, May 13.—Mayor James L. Hold, newly elected chief magistrate of Zanesville, sees no harm in wide open saloons or in the nickel-in-the-slot gambling and says so. He says it so plainly that some of his constituents are aghast and the good government league which insured his election by running a candidate of its own at the election and thus drawing votes from ex-Mayor Brelstord, is agitating for the impeachment of the new mayor, but isn't receiving much support. Most of the citizens of Zanesville are willing to give the new mayor a chance to see if his liberal policy isn't a good one after all. These are the views of Mayor Hold, as tersely given by him to the newspapers to the honor of many of the church folks of Zanesville.

"I don't believe that an open saloon on Sunday is as harmful as the alleged closed saloon. If a man goes to a saloon on Sunday when it is supposed to be closed, he is in constant fear of the police and he proceeds to drink all he can hold, as he dares not run the risk of returning again. In this way he becomes beastly drunk and goes out on the streets and annoys citizens."

"Now as to the slot machines. They are here and everybody knows it. Whether they are detrimental to the best interests of the city remains to be seen. I don't believe that they will do much harm but of this I cannot be sure yet."

"Of one thing I am sure. There is a certain class of fanatics who have a spite against the nickel slot machines. Slot machines, poker joints and crap games have been run in this town before and there is a certain class of people who want these things. I believe it is right to live and let live and I mean to conduct the affairs of the city in a manner which will satisfy the greatest number of people."

"These people who regard Sunday saloons and slot machines with horror are too good to live in a city. They ought to go to the country. A village is what they want and they should go there or change their views."

Pickled Railroad Ties.
Pickled railroad ties are now being used to a great extent all over the country. A number of railroads, including the Burlington, the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific, have plants of their own in which the ties are pickled. How to preserve the ties and add to their life and durability has been a serious problem for railroad operatives ever since the early days of transportation by rail. The constant wear and tear of ties has necessitated their replacement as soon as they were perceptibly worn. A solution of chloride of zinc is applied by a specially arranged process. The ties are put in large air-tight cylinders, the air is pumped out and the ties are heated by steam. The chemicals are then pumped in and the ties kept in the solution under high pressure until they are saturated.—Philadelphia Record.

TO MAKE SURVEYS.

U. S. Geological Survey Party in Dawson.

An expedition of the U. S. geologic survey under charge of Walther C. Mendenhall arrived on the steamer Bailey Tuesday morning. The party consists besides Mr. Mendenhall of the following gentlemen, all of whom are experienced in survey work: D. L. Reaburn, W. B. Reaburn, R. C. Applegate, Geo. C. Revine, W. L. Poto, W. W. Von Canon. The party go directly from Dawson to Fort Yukon from which point a line will be run to Fort Hamlin. Thence a course will be taken overland to Bergman on the Koyukuk. This route as outlined takes them up the Alashuk river where a portage will be made to the headwaters of the Koyuk. They will descend the last named stream a distance of 500 miles to the point where it empties into Kotzebue sound.

Complete surveys will be made of the entire route, particular attention being given to geological formations which is Mr. Mendenhall's special line of work. The geographical and topographical features of the country will be closely observed and exhaustive reports thereon made to the department at Washington. The party is direct from that city where they left on May 6. They came by canoe around the shores of Lake Lebarge.

The entire summer will be consumed in this work.

Remedy for Smallpox.

I herewith append a recipe which has been used to my knowledge in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure the smallpox, though the pittings are filling. When Jenner discovered cowpox in England the world of science bursted an avalanche of fame upon his head, but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world—that of Paris—published the recipe as a panacea for smallpox it passed unheeded. It is unfailing as fate and conquers in every instance. It is harmless when taken by a well person. It will cure scarlet fever. Here is the recipe as I have used it to cure smallpox, when learned physicians said the patient must die if cured: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove (digitalis), one grain; half a teaspoonful hot water. When thoroughly mixed add four ounces of water; a teaspoonful is a dose. Either disease will disappear in 12 hours. For a child, smaller doses according to age. If countries would compel their physicians to use this there would be no need of pest houses. If you value advice and experience use this for that terrible disease.—Stockton (Cal.) Herald.

Webster and the Trout.

With each increase of Webster's fame as a lawyer and an orator, writes Prof. McMaster in the Century, friends and admirers grow more and more urgent that he should once more return to public life. He did indeed consent to serve as a presidential elector and for ten days sat in the Massachusetts legislature. Many years afterward in the course of a speech Webster referred to this service and told his hearers a story quite characteristic of the man. "It so happens," said he, "that all the public services which I have rendered in this world in my day and generation have been connected with the general government. I think I ought to make one exception. I was ten days a member of the Massachusetts legislature, and I turned my thoughts to the search for some good object in which I could be useful in that position, and after much reflection I introduced a bill which, with the general consent of both houses of the Massachusetts legislature, passed into a law and is now a law of the state which enacts that no man in the state shall catch trout in any other manner than in the old way, with an ordinary hook and line."

Not Above His Business.

Young Brodhead, scion of a wealthy family, cherished journalistic ambitions and, like a sensible youth, had resolved to begin at the beginning. He had applied for and obtained a position as a reporter on a daily paper at a moderate salary, where he was treated precisely like any other reporter, shirking no assignment that came in his way and putting on no airs on account of his wealth or social standing.

He had not thought it worth while, however, to acquaint the family servants with the nature of his daily occupation, and when a fellow reporter came to the house one day with a message from the city editor the flunky in attendance at the front door took him around the house and brought him up to the young man's room by a back stairway.

"Why didn't you show Mr. Craig up by way of the front hall?" demanded young Brodhead.

"He's only a reporter," whispered the butler. Imagine the dignified flunky's horror when his master responded in an audible voice: "I'm only a reporter myself, you donkey!"—Youth's Companion.

WANTED:--A NAPOLEON OF PLEASURE!

There is an opportunity at the present moment for some bright fellow to make a fortune in the next few months. All that is needed to accomplish that result is a scheme to amuse the people. Dawson is now thirsting for pleasure. You will notice it by the aimless, dejected manner which is now characteristic of the throng on our principal streets. The people are suffering from the want of fun. They come in from the creeks after many months of ceaseless labor, anxious to spend their gold dust, but without opportunity to spend it in any legitimate amusement. Of course there are the theaters, but a man gets tired of that alone. Something with a touch of danger, an element of chance is what is needed and the town will go wild over it. Who has the scheme? All we ask for the above pointer is that the man who works out the problem will help it to a successful issue by wearing the apparel of a gentleman. A well dressed man can more effectively float a new enterprise than a shabby looking individual. We have some elegant clothing waiting to embrace the form of the lucky man.

Collector Smith Hot on Trail of Property Owners.

Tax Collector Ward Smith is hot on the trail of delinquent tax payers these days. With a note book in his hands and a constable by his side he may be seen going into places of business who have not as yet paid their taxes and making a formal demand on them. If their inclination is good but their funds are a little short a certain length of time is given them in which to secure the necessary amount.

When it has been demonstrated to his satisfaction that an effort is being made on the part of the payee to escape his just dues to the government his goods are seized and held for the amount. This morning Mr. Smith was around giving one hour's notice to delinquents to pay or have their goods seized and many of them were seen flocking to the collector's office before noon today. The next assessment will soon be made up and it is the intention to have all last year's taxes paid before the new assessment is made.

The Lieutenant's Brother.

It may not be generally known that it is considered a serious offense for a German soldier, no matter what may be his rank, to appear in public except in uniform, even though he be on furlough. The army regulations strictly enjoin that he must always wear his uniform. A certain Lieutenant Schmidt, who was engaged in some lively adventure or other, dressed up as a civilian and was having altogether an enjoyable time until, on turning a corner, he unexpectedly met his colonel.

The lieutenant did not, however, lose his presence of mind. He pretended that he had never seen his colonel before and in a changed voice asked: "Can you tell me, sir, where Lieutenant Schmidt lives. I am his brother from the country and am paying him a little visit, but I happen just now to have lost my way."

The colonel quietly gave the desired information, and Lieutenant Schmidt, congratulating himself on his lucky escape, hurried home and put on his uniform with all possible speed.

He thought, of course, that he had taken in his superior officer, but such an idea was rudely dispelled when on the next day he met his colonel and the latter said:

"Lieutenant Schmidt, if your brother from the country pays you another visit I'll have him placed in close confinement for 30 days."—Ex.

Given Alaska Jobs.

Portland, May 15.—It was announced yesterday that Collector of Customs J. W. Ivey, of Alaska, had through the influence of Senator Mitchell, appointed the following Portland men to deputyships in Alaska: Capt. William Patterson, Teller City. A. Powell, Nome. F. Otto Burkgardt, Unalaska.

It is also understood that a brother of Dr. Andrew C. Smith is appointed to a Nome deputyship. All of the gentlemen appointed have either been active for Senator Mitchell or have had friends and relative who were.

Collector Ivey was in town last night but could not be found to verify the report that the men in question had been appointed. Mr. Ivey's friends stated yesterday that his own troubles have been settled and that he will remain in the Alaska collectorship.

The Only Thing.

A man once wrote to a western lawyer for information in regard to a person who had owed him a considerable sum of money for a long time.

"What property has he which I could attach?" he asked. The lawyer's reply was brief and to the point: "The man died six months ago. He has left nothing subject to attachment save a widow."—Youth's Companion.

EXPERIENCE ON NONESUCH.

Bad Luck Followed Her From Date of Sailing

And Until She Picked a Dozen Escaped Convicts at Command of Captain's Wife.

It was a queer chapter of accidents that overtook the bark Nonesuch on the South American coast in the year of 1890. We were bound from Philadelphia to Pernambuco, being a well known craft and a willing crew, and we lost a man overboard before we had been out 24 hours. Off the Bahamas the second mate and two men pulled away in the dingy to inspect the wreckage which seemed to prove the loss of a steamer, and as they were returning a small whale rose under the boat and smashed her to match wood, and then two sailors were drowned. This left us three men short, and we put in at the Windward Islands to replace them. After much trouble we got two men, but as we were leaving port the captain was bit on the cheek and the first mate on the hand by a flying insect somewhat resembling the so-called "darning needles" to be found in the United States. Within an hour they were suffering as much as if they had been stung by an asp.

The captain's wife was aboard, and of course she did all in her power, but it was three or four days before the men could move about again, and then only the mate could return to duty. The captain had what seemed to be a carbuncle appear under his right eye, and for ten days he suffered so acutely that at times he was out of his senses. We should have run into Demerara had he not begun to improve, but it would have been better had we done so anyhow. The two fellows we picked up at the Windward Islands proved to be worthless sailors and bad men, and they worked the bark an evil turn. One night as we lay becalmed, with the captain and mate still suffering from the poisonous bites, they overpowered and bound the second mate, provisioned and lowered a boat and induced four of the original crew to embark with them. We afterward came to know that they had been talking a great deal about a treasure buried on the Dutch Guiana coast, from which we were distant about 75 miles. We were thus left with only three able hands aboard, and the captain's wife had to take her trick at the wheel while we headed for Cayenne to get relief. We had crawled along to within 30 miles of the French gulf port when the wind headed us and we could do no better than drift all to the eastward and wait for a change.

After 30 hours of drifting the wind changed in our favor, and one morning at sunrise we were making shift to get on our course again when we espied a raft with 12 men on it close at hand. With the naked eye one could make out that they were clothed in convict garb, and of course the deduction was that they had escaped from the coast. There were two rude sails on the raft, and the clumsy structure had had a fair breeze behind her for a day and a half. As the raft was not easily managed, we could have ended it by putting up our helm. We were for doing this at once, all but the captain's wife. She knew they were convicts and desperate men and that once aboard of us we should be at their mercy, but she nevertheless insisted that we should pick them up. They were 50 miles off the coast, and she declared that it would be a good act to leave them to perish. I was of a mind to lock her up in her stateroom and dodge the raft, but the other two men were against me, and ten minutes later the boat was alongside and the convicts were climbing aboard. I expecting not less than an immediate attack from them, for 12 rough looking men I never set eyes on, but, to my surprise, they halted at the rail while their leader advanced, pulled his cap, with a scrape of his boot, and in passable English inquired for the captain. He was told of the captain's illness and of our being short-handed, and he bowed and scraped again and said to the woman:

"Madam, have no fears. You probably know that we are escaped convicts from Cayenne, but no man will offer us harm or murder us, but we are also gentlemen in a way. There is bad weather coming on. We have arrived at an opportune moment. Most of us are sailors, and all of us are at your command."

When I looked into their vicious faces, I could not help but suspect that they had a game to play and were only waiting for a chance to take it. As soon as the captain and mate heard of the arrival of the gang, they became almost panic-stricken and advised this and that, and the wife was the only one who had the confidence in the promises made. It was well that she had and that her decision to trust them was followed by all of us. We could not have kept them from coming aboard with our feeble crew, and to have shown our distrust afterward would have angered them. They took hold with us at once after being given food, and before night we had cause to rejoice that they were with us. We got dirty weather, which lasted three days, and but for their aid the Nonesuch would have become a helpless wreck or gone to the bottom. We had to run off to the east during this spell, and it was only when the weather cleared that the leader of the convicts had a conference with the captain and his wife and asked that his gang be set ashore in Brazilian territory. This was promised him, and I must say that I never worked with a more cheerful and willing crew aboard of any craft. Seven of the 12 had been convicted of murder, and all were desperate men, but they were as obedient as children and as good natured as you please. They were careful of their language, respectful in their demeanor, and not once did I hear one of them grumble or complain. We ran into the Amazon and up that river for 40 miles to set them ashore. In his gratitude to them the captain gave them sailcloth for two tents, a musket, a lot of clothes from the slop chest and all the provisions we could spare. With cooking utensils, fishhooks and a few carpenter's tools they were fairly well rigged out for a life on the banks of the stream for half a year to come, and at parting there were as much handshakings and as many farewells as if a band of old friends was breaking up. Their escape from the colony was a desperate one and the authorities made an exhaustive search; but, so far as I have been able to learn, not one of the dozen has ever been retaken.

ARE GONE GLIMMERING

Days of Big Profits in Gaudy Female Attire.

Ever since Dawson was a town and until within the past few months there have been enormous profits made on such grades of female attire as are worn by the women of the lower classes, loud colored, gaudy apparel. But merchants who have been on the ground all the time say that class of goods is not the big money maker it once was, being now sold at only a nominal profit. This fact is due in a great measure to the large amount of it lately shipped in from the outside and to the further fact that money is not coming so easily now to the women as it did when miners came down from the creeks seemingly for no other purpose than to drink, dance and carouse. The miner has taken a tumble to himself and does not spend his hard-earned dust with the lavish hand that formerly characterized him.

For these reasons dealers in loud colored female attire must henceforth be content with legitimate profits as their patrons have been forced to reach the same as though they earned their money honorably and by legitimate effort.

Space All Contracted.

During the past few days the traffic department of the White Pass & Yukon Route has contracted in advance for all the cold storage space on its rail and steamer lines from Skagway to Dawson for the entire season. The contracts held amount in the aggregate to 1000 tons of freight. This will be chiefly fruits, fresh eggs, poultry, fresh meats and vegetables.

This is an entirely new business in Alaska transportation annals. The construction of three new steamers on the upper Yukon by the White Pass company, equipped with cold storage apparatus, was the last step taken in the matter of arranging for cold storage shipments this year by the traffic department. The steamers equipped in this manner are the Ogilvie, McConnell and Dawson. Each will have a capacity of 20 tons.—Skagway News.

EX-MAYOR WOOD OF SEATTLE

And President of Seattle-Yukon Transportation Co.

Late Arrival in Dawson—Believes Consolidation of Dawson Companies Will Benefit Consumer.

Among the arrivals on the steamer Bailey was Judge Wm. D. Wood, president of the Seattle-Yukon Transportation Company, the interests of which concern were recently purchased by the Northern Commercial and Northern Navigation companies. Judge Wood comes to Dawson to complete the final arrangements pending the formal transfer of the S.-Y. T. Co.'s interests. The sale so far as Dawson is concerned affects only the transportation and commercial interests of the company, the store buildings not being included in the transfer. In referring to the fact that the S.-Y. T. Co. is no longer in the field for the Klondike trade, Judge Wood expressed himself as being highly gratified at the treatment which his company had been accorded while in business in Dawson. "For some reasons," said he "I regret the fact that we have withdrawn from business. The S.-Y. T. Co. was securing its full share of business and particularly during the past year we have done surprisingly well.

"We are sorry to terminate our pleasant relationship with our representatives and employes at our stations and upon our boats. Our success has been largely due to their ability and fidelity.

"When the consolidation idea was broached we agreed to sell our interests, not because we were dissatisfied with the outlook for business or that we were doubtful as to the future of the country. We disposed of our holdings because we did not desire to oppose a movement the prime object of which is to decrease the cost of living in this northern country.

"I am convinced that the ultimate result of the consolidation will be a material saving to the consumer which means, of course, a reduction in the cost, and an increase in the extent of mining operations. The new company has a splendid opportunity to foster the growth and development of the country and I expect to see the utmost advantage taken of the situation."

"Judge Wood will remain in Dawson for a period of about two weeks when he will leave for down river points, inspecting all S.-Y. T. posts and making the final transfers of the same to the new company. It has been nearly two years since he visited Dawson, and naturally he is greatly surprised and highly pleased with the progress which the town has made along metropolitan lines.

As to his personal plans for the future Judge Wood has not as yet reached any definite determination. When he has completed the business upon which he is now engaged he will avail himself of the opportunity presented of taking a long needed rest.

HAD BETTER TURN BACK.

Bad Crowd at Skagway En Route to Dawson.

The Skagway Daily Alaskan of May 23st says editorially:

"The first evil fruitage of the influx of an undesirable element in consequence of the prevailing cheap rates manifested itself Sunday night in two burglaries. While the booty obtained by the thieves was inconsiderable, the event should serve to convince everybody of the danger which the citizens of this place will be subjected to if fares are kept at the low figure. We should interpret these tricks as harbingers of a grand carnival of crime which is sure to follow unless stern measures are adopted at the outset to let the lawlessly inclined know that they cannot operate here without imminent danger of being apprehended and severely punished.

"We have had occasion heretofore to refer to quite a number of ex-convicts who have arrived since the rate war commenced. They are still in our midst. Other criminals will undoubtedly come—no doubt are here now. Probably most of the crooks come here with Dawson as an ultimate destination, but they have very little money any they will be our unwelcome guests all summer if we do not impress upon them that they are not wanted and they may go back to the States.

"While there is no cause for alarm, it would be the part of prudence for everyone to exercise every precaution they can, such as having doors and windows securely fastened at night and during the absence of occupants at day time."

J. G. Hunter, G. W. Fraser, J. T. Yeager and Dr. R. Cabbage, of the Parks, are registered at the McDonald hotel.

Skagway friends, go to Goetzman's.

Savoy to Reopen.

The Savoy theater is to be remodeled and refurnished and made into an attractive legitimate playhouse where first-class plays will be produced. The partition is to be moved back about 10 feet and an extension of the balcony is to be made. Six hundred opera chairs for the parquet have been ordered by wire and will arrive here in about three weeks.

Four new people for the legitimate plays and eight vaudeville artists are now at Whitehorse awaiting the departure of the boat and it is expected to have a troupe come in during the summer.

Plan With a Jag Prevents Arctic Queen From Sailing.

The steamer Arctic Queen will sail sometime today for the Stewart river. That is, she will sail if harmony can be brought to prevail among the epauletted officers of that noble craft. The Arctic Queen last season sailed under the plebian name of the Emma Not, but this year things are different. Her passenger accommodations are now greatly in excess of her last year's capacity as a new stateroom was added last night to the craft while she was held to the dock by an inebriated creditor who demanded payment of money claimed to be due him.

A lengthy and excited argument followed the demand and a cordon of police gathered around her during the progress of hostilities, but the boat sailed nevertheless, she casting off from the scow to which she was tied, which proceeding met with the disapproval of the gent with the jag, who as a mark of his antagonism to the contemplated voyage, boarded the craft and wound his arms around the captain who was seated on the capstan, he thinking by that means, in all probability that the boat was effectively blocked from any further progress. However, he reckoned without his host for the doughty captain shouted an order to the crew (the man in the stern) who put the vessel in motion and steered her out to the stream. With his arms entwined around the captain the creditor and the Arctic Queen sailed up stream as far as the Aurora dock where, by this time the captain, nearly strangled, gave an order to land, and the boat was again tied to the dock. It is understood that an amicable settlement has been made with the inebriated creditor and that the Arctic Queen will continue today on her journey.

DEEP SHAFT ON FIFTH TIER

Opposite Number Seven Below on Bonanza

Is One of the Best in Entire District—Shaft Runs Down to Depth of 154 Feet.

The most successful deep shaft mine which is being worked in this country is located on the fifth tier of benches on the left limit of Bonanza creek opposite 7 below discovery. This location brings the claim on top of Adams Hill where a shaft of 154 feet was sunk before bedrock was reached. When bedrock was finally reached the white channel pay streak was discovered which upon drifting was found to cover nearly the whole claim making it a very rich property. Immediately upon proving the value of the ground Mr. James E. Lewis and those associated with him in the ownership of the claim, ordered and put into operation a large and complete thawing and hoisting plant which will carry 1000 buckets from the bottom of the shaft and put it on the dump every 24 hours, so that an immense amount of dirt all of which is said to contain pay is being taken out.

The elevation of the claim above Bonanza creek is 450 feet and water for sluicing purposes is pumped by Reed & Newman's pumping plant which has an immense pressure and throws the water clear over the dump.

This claim is said to be the first claim to be successfully operated at such a great depth and it is also claimed that only one other shaft has ever been sunk which is deeper and that put down on the left limit opposite 86 below on Bonanza by Clark and others. The depth of their shaft was 210 feet, but it could not be worked successfully and was abandoned.

COMING AND GOING.

The river is still falling. C. P. Reilly, of 26 Eldorado, was in Dawson yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Johnson are guests at the Regina today.

R. E. Misener, of Grand Forks, is a guest at the Yukon hotel.

Frank P. Slavin returned to Dawson after a visit to his claim on Sulphur creek.

A. L. Brown and wife, of Dago Hill, who have been spending a few days in Dawson returned to their claim yesterday.

Mr. J. Langstedt, who has been confined to the hospital for some time past leaves today for the outside where he hopes to recoup his health.

Senator Lynch, the Chechako Hill magnate returned to Dawson yesterday on the steamer Bailey from a trip to his home in San Francisco.

David A. McFarlane, Ed. Vannart of Gold Run, A. J. Nelson, of Gold Run and Peter O. Ksoig, of 17 above on Bonanza are registered at the McDouald hotel.

Mr. J. R. Gandolfo is considering the advisability of erecting a handsome two story building on his lot, the southwest corner of Third avenue and First street.

Mr. Ed. Lilly, of Lilly Bros., who is now in Dawson for the first time, is so pleased with the outlook that he has decided to remain for some time instead of for only a few days as was his intention on arriving.

Police Court.

For having lingered long with the flowing bowl when its contents stood straight and were red, Thos. Palmer paid $5 and costs in police court this morning.

Fred Clauson had also cultivated a hilarious, the aftermaths of which were, first a dark, brown taste, and second a fine of $5 and costs.

Local Sports.

The lacrosse team will have to suspend operations for a while owing to having lost the only lacrosse balls in the country in the slough last night, while playing a practice game. New balls have been ordered and will be here on the first boats and then the public may look for some interesting games.

The cricket team is getting in some good hard practice these days and it is expected that a match game will be forthcoming in a short time.

It is announced that a return match game between the Eastern and Western Canada association football teams will be played next Saturday.

Just Like Home.

Mrs. M. C. Noble, who for nearly three years presided over the destinies of the Nugget messhouse with great credit to herself and to the greatest satisfaction of all the boarders, has now started a private boarding house; which she will have fitted up ready for the reception of guests by next Monday. She has just built a house on Second avenue near Fifth street, where her business will be conducted and that she will meet with deserved success in her new venture is the wish of her many friends.

Juneau Wins.

Skagway will not become the home of the United States land office if the recommendations of the special agent for the interior department who recently investigated, as to the advisability of the proposed change are followed by the officials at Washington City and it is very likely they will be. That individual has reported in favor of moving that office to Juneau, as its location there would be of greater convenience to miners and others having business with it.

Juneau, however, makes greater pretensions to being a city than Sitka and office rents are higher there, so high in fact, that the change will not be made now and may never be unless cheaper rates for quarters can be obtained than those quoted.

The matter has been again referred to the special agent and he will see what can be done in the way of obtaining suitable rooms and then report back to the interior department.

On the question of taking the office of surveyor general to Juneau the special agent reported adversely. He believed Sitka, the present home of it, the better place. This action will no doubt be final.—Alaskan.

His Earthly Possessions.

"I am taking this up to my room to pack therein all the property I have accumulated during the past 20 years," said a well-known and well-liked sporting man who will leave for St. Michael en route to Nome tonight, and as he spoke he held up a small telescope grip that would probably hold a shirt and two pairs of socks. However, his heart was as light and airy as a "furnished front room to let," and there is no denying that a much worse man than he may take his place in Dawson.
