CHAPTER XVI.

"He knows I am at his mercy, and takes advantage accordingly!" said the frate hostess. "Dishonest, I call it," and Sydney winced. Rupert Villiers felt the minutes wasted. It was impossible to make love across a plateau of roses and jellies; with a couple of lynx-eyed waiting-maids ready to make note—for kitchen gossip—of every soft word or expressive glance. And to Sydney, comparison of this, her delicate and elegant home with Jacob Cheene's poor lodgings rich only in what were banished here—relics of her father—sight of her mother's long white jewel-necker, hands, with remembrance of John Lewis's toll, pain-wrung joints, and poverty-stricken garments—these turned her so heart-sick that each minute seemed interminable. Involuntarily she breathed a heavy sigh, as Rupert filled the glass from the glittering silver jug, and he interpreted it according to his own desire.

"A hot dining room is a bad place to shut you up in, Sydney, after six hours of railway-carriages. It's a lovely night," emptying his glass, and walking off, with a gesture of permission from Mrs. Alwyn, to the long open window at the end of the apartment. "Doesn't somebody say somewhere, 'Methinks I will go forth and scent the new-mown hay?' They've been cutting in the field opposite this afternoon. Sydney—with an effective change of note, and momentary halt upon her name—"won't you come out? It's just what you will like."

She got up, a tinge of color rising and went to the window.

"Now," he said, for her ear alone "you will come with me, Sydney? Do! I have been wanting you so long."

He put all needful pleading in his tone. It sounded marvelously true. Would he stand by her now? And if he did—

"May I get you a shawl?" he persuaded on. "You must be taken care of, you know. You are a valuable person. You are coming?"

But that stray hint, slowly, almost faintly; "I dare—I can not come now—indeed."

"Too tired?" very softly.

"Yes—too tired, Rupert."

"Then you shall not be troubled."

The young man reckoned himself chivalrously unselfish. To give him his due, when, as now, he deemed himself secure of his end, his disposition was not unkindly. "Aunt Helen, Sydney should sleep the clock round to revive her from this jaunt. I am bidding her good-night."

"Wise, I have no doubt," said Mrs.

Alwyn. "Good-night, my dear," as Sydney, returning, stooped over her. "What? Will I not come to your room by and by? Certainly not.

Gossiping at night is against my rules, and you must defer to them for a few more hours. To-morrow you are your own mistress, and I suppose we must honor the occasion by letting you talk as you like and do as you like."

So, shivering over this unusually complaisant forecast, Sydney was dismissed; and Mr. Rupert, after a few minutes star-gazing by himself, put his head in, with—

"It's too agreeable out-of-doors for anyone to stay in. Suppose you venture out, and take a turn with me, Leonora? You won't mind a cigar?"

"Would you have asked Sydney to allow it, Cousin Rupert?" said she, jutting.

"Circumstances alter cases, Cousin Norah," said he taking out his Russian case, and thinking, "She's overold to jout; but it's uncommonly becoming to her."

"Then suppose I don't come?" coquetted Leonora, attitudinizing by the window-frame.

"Take me, or leave me, as you will," said the gentleman, resignedly, striking his match and stepping out on the gravel.

"Then I'll be benevolent enough to take you," she said, "out of pity!" and tepped forth after him.

CHAPTER XVII.

Mr. Villiers was down betimes next morning.

Knowing that Sydney was generally earliest in the breakfast-room, he calculated on receiving her alone. He had something in his waist-coat pocket that he kept fingering, taking it out now and then to look at—a third gold circle, set with sapphires three he had the words ready with which to offer this and birthday greetings and—himself! He ran the little speech through mentally half a dozen times while pacing to and fro in the fresh morning air, casting a glance each turn he took past the window to see if she for whom he waited had appeared. He felt the minutes tu multuous. Once over, he could get his breakfast without that awkward sensation as of a screw-propeller working under his shirt-front. He could dash off a line to Tutter and send him a note, or he could go to the door opened. "Now for it!" thought he, and made one stride in check! It was Leonora!

Leonora in pale-blue cambric, looking, for twenty-nine, quite youthful as she stood with her back to the light, her brown locks relled away in a tight knob, bathing fashion. No hearing her cousin's step, she was bestowing all her attention on some object by Sydney's plate. It was her birthday gift, characteristic enough—a gilt-framed tinted photograph of her own fair self in sumptuous array—square bodice deep-cut, pearls on the side display of bosom, golden coils veil-nigh the only covering of the well-posed arms, face raised just enough to give the stately curve of the neck and catch the upward tilt of the eyelashes, folded hands resting on a tall vase so as to conceal no undulation of the handsome figure—it was the likeness of a very good-looking person, and the original, contemplating it with satisfaction, felt sorry she was going to part from it.

None of fashion's beauties whom she had seen could compare with it to her mind. Fashion's beauties! Ah!—with an audible "Heigh-ho!"—was the day coming when some society paper, perchance, would go forth bearing her lineaments to the upper ten thousand, her name above, not an unwed belle, her signature below, not Leonora Villiers? "Heigh-ho!" said she again, and gave a great start when her cousin, advancing, echoed her jocosely.

"What mean these plaintive sounds, Leonora mia? Are you wishing it were your twenty-first birthday over again, and you were going to have all sorts of good things given to you?"

"Indeed, no, Rupert. I am not envious of Sydney in—any respect. I suppose I sighed because I want my breakfast."

"Creditable subterfuge, if not correct answer. Well, I've been sighing here the last half hour because I want—my breakfast! Is Sydney taking my injunction literally and going to sleep the clock round before she comes down?"

If a Child Is Cross, Feverish And Sick,

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

"When she does we shall have to wait for mamma," answered Leonora, demurely. "But take comfort, dear cousin, they won't be long. I heard mamma call Sydney into her boudoir just as I came down, to give her some tea, and a lecture, I presume. This—indicating the picture—"is what I have got for her. Do you think she will like it?"

"She must," said Mr. Villiers; "that goes without saying. I do."

"Which," returned Leonora, with a droop of her red lips, "is a perplexing arrangement of sentences. Am I to infer that because you like it—or say so—Sydney must do the same? And do you expect my step-sister's opinion invariably to mold itself sweetly to yours, good cousin?"

"Oh, I've no fears on that point," replied Mr. Villiers, thinking with amusement, "Ah, charming Norah, she is disposed to be spiteful, then, are you?"

"Then I hope you may find you've no need for them," said she, dryly. "Oh! here comes mamma," looking up he hall. "Sydney reserves herself for the last to-day, to be received with united honors. Why, mamma, what is the matter?"

She might well ask. Mrs. Alwyn entered with a rapid sweep; storm or anger; extreme paleness underlying pearl powder, making her almost ghastly; the grand dame completely lost in the angry woman. She pushed to the door, cut short Mr. Villiers' salutation, and throwing herself into a chair, panted, in an abandonment of violent agitation.

"Aunt Helen," exclaimed Rupert Villiers, while Leonora ran to the well-sal volatile must be wanted—are you ill? Or what on earth has happened?"

"Ah! what, indeed? Why," cried Mrs. Alwyn, turning on him with an almost ferocity that made him fall back a step—"why, what never would have happened, at all, Rupert, don't ring, Leonora; Phillips is not to come in—never at all, if you had let me follow my own senses and stop Sydney from going on that crazy journey! Now you'll see what you have done for yourself—for Sydney—for all of us. Oh, it's enough to drive a woman wild!"

"My dear aunt," Rupert began, soothingly, but she flung a snarl at him with "Don't Mr. Villiers! Don't speak to me. Not to me! If you've any persuasion in you, any reason, any influence, go and exert them on Sydney. Tell her I shall never forgive her; not—with a tempest-clap of ironical laughter—"that she will mind that! Tell her she'll break your heart, Rupert—invent any plea you choose, but, for mercy's sake, put an end to this mad idea, or I can't tell what will come to us all. Go to her, pray! I said I should send you, Leonora, my poor darling, get me some water!"

Profoundly puzzled, Mr. Villiers went, as he was hidden, to the boudoir. Not too quickly, for he wanted to arm himself with some clue to this sudden turmoil before entering. What was the mad idea that was to be the undoing of them all? Another love? Another engagement? Something beneath her? Not likely, with Sydney's temperament, but women are ungainly cattle, he thought, with a sudden spice of savageness, in affairs of the heart. Once Mrs. Alwyn had said something of a man called Drayton. Was he at the bottom of this hullabaloo? Had not he, Rupert, been hot enough in his siege? At any rate he vowed, with the peach so near his lips he wouldn't lose it now for want of warm wooling! So with the hot front of impatient fervor he prepared to fight, tooth and nail for his own interests—and thus entered Sydney's presence.

She seemed waiting for him, and met his first gaze of questioning entreaty with a bearing incomprehensible in its blending of womanly firmness with girlish tremor.

"My dear, dearest Sydney," he exclaimed, offering to grasp both her hands—he was ready to take her to his arms even—the bolder the attack the better now!—but she repulsed him with a blush that was not unkind, and asked, looking up most wistfully.

"Have you heard, Rupert? And do you—"

"I have heard," he interrupted, "only that you have been frightening Aunt Helen with some fancy that is to upset us all. But I can't have that, you know!" (with a masterly softening of tone. She could never keep her eyes on him like this if there were another man in the case.)

Boomerang Dislikes.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A man's likes and dislikes are an excellent index to his character.

When you say, "I dislike So-and-So," remember that you are telling your auditors something about yourself, as well as about So-and-So.

I heard a young man express himself in regard to an older man the other day. He said that he didn't like him. And he said it in no qualified terms. Moreover he expressed contempt as well as dislike. He said the older man was as credulous and easily fooled as a child, had absurdly quixotic ideas of honor, and ought to have a guardian.

Now I happen to know the older man quite as well. I consider him one of the sweetest, finest, most unselfish men the Lord ever made, and I know that is the general estimate of him.

As to the younger man,—well, I have been trying to decide what to think of him for some time. And now I know. His estimate of the other man was like a searchlight turned in upon himself and lighting up ugly depths of envy and meanness and selfishness, which a thin veneer of surface charm had hitherto covered.

His condemnation of the other man was a boomerang condemnation of himself.

He thinks his senior childishly credulous because he, himself, has so little trust in human nature that he cannot understand the other's fine faith.

He thinks his ideas of honor absurdly quixotic because his own are the exact opposite of quixotic.

He says scornfully that he "needs a guardian," because the other man's altruistic point of view is utterly incomprehensible to his selfishness.

We like people whom we are enabled by our likeness to them to understand.

We dislike people whose mental and spiritual vibrations are so different from our own that they awaken no answer within us.

Sometimes our dislike is a tribute to our own worth. Sometimes it is a betrayal of our lack and littleness.

Envy is the cause of a good many dislikes. We often cleverly deceive ourselves into thinking we have some justifiable reason for antagonism when, after all, there is nothing but some form of envy or jealousy at the bottom of it.

The man who has failed cannot forgive the man who has succeeded.

The man who has wasted his talents cannot forgive him who has used his to good advantage.

The man who meant to be good and somehow failed, always hates the man who has kept the faith, with that bitter kind of hatred which they tell us Satan feels for God.

"Why do I dislike So-and-So?" is a good question to ask oneself whenever one becomes conscious of a dislike.

The answer may prevent you from publishing the dislike broadcast to act as a boomerang.

Or it may even produce the greater benefit of shaming us into overcoming the dislike.

Bowling.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old St. John's."

When Englishmen come to this country, the wonder, out loud, what Americans do for Exercise during the long, cold winter months. And unless they get a chance to hang on a street car strap or visit a bowling alley, they never find out.

Bowling is the great American winter game, next to discussing baseball averages, the game consists of trying to knock down ten wooden pins with a large ball. The pins are set in a flock at the end of an alley which looks as long as the sidewalk to the New Jerusalem to the man who tries to roll a sixteen pound ball down its middle for the first time. The ball is of wood or hard rubber and is of about the same size and consistency as the head of an old-fashioned railroad magnet.

Bowling appears to be a trifling game to the man who has not tried it. The pins look as thick and as large as a pine forest. However, the man who stands up at the end of the tenth frame with a full count to get in order to win for his team and only a single pin standing frequently feels that he is shooting at a knitting needle in the next county. It is possible to make a score of 300 with twelve shots. This latter is much more frequently done. There are only a few 300 men in this country and they are usually pointed out to visitors by their admiring friends.

Bowling is full of strikes like baseball, but they bring joy and peace to bowler and sweet his score instead of causing him to gnash his teeth wildly and attempt to assassinate the umpire with a cruel word. Bowling is also full of "spares," "spiffs," "railroads," "turkeys," "poodles" and good nature. It is most noted for the latter product.

Bowling is the best matured game in the world. Only a few men are able to get mad at their fellow beings while bowling and these ought to be quarantined for hydrophobia. The good nature in bowling comes from the fact that there is nothing to dispute over. The game doesn't even need an umpire. After a man has bowled ten games with a total stranger, the two are life-long friends. If bowling could only be introduced into politics in some manner like the primary and other improvements, it would take away much of the hard feeling now existing.

Bowling is said to be a cure for appendicitis and other diseases of the digestion. If this is true the bowling ball is the largest pill now in medical use.

Confession of Chinese Servant Who Murdered Mrs. Millard.

Vancouver, April 6.—Jack Kong, the 17-year-old Chinese boy, who murdered Mrs. Millard, made the following confession:

He says that on Wednesday morning last his mistress complained to him that the porridge was burned and ordered him to prepare another dish. He refused to obey and she told him that she would have to cut his ear off to make him be good. In a flash, the youth says, he swung a chair over his head and knocked her apparently dead. Then he got the family carving knife, he says, and cut off the legs and arms and fed them into the furnace. He then dragged the body downstairs and he used there a cleaver to assist the carving knife in the dissection. He attempted to clean up the stains both up and downstairs, but a strict examination since made by the police showed many small specks of blood still about.

He took off Mrs. Millard's rings and watch, and these, together with some other trinkets he had stolen a fortnight ago, were found on Saturday afternoon hidden in a corner of the basement.

When Mr. Millard came in late from Victoria, he thought the house looked slightly upset, but he accepted the Chinese boy's explanation that Mrs.

Millard had gone out to spend the day with one of her four sisters who live in different suburbs. That night the Chinese boy crept down stairs and carried into the corner of the attic Mrs. Millard's hat and street clothing and veil, which she would have used had she gone out, and which would have excited her husband's suspicions had he seen them in the house.

Next morning the boy refused to go to school because he had washed his trousers the day before and they were not dry, for he had got them covered with blood while carrying out the murder. Somewhat dissatisfied by the lad's conduct, but suspecting nothing serious, Mr. Millard went down to his office, and from there began to telephone his sisters-in-law, attempting to locate his wife.

When he failed to find her he returned to his home and found the Chinese servant still cleaning up.

The lad had a big fire in the furnace and was much agitated at Millard's appearance. Thoroughly aroused by this time, Millard telephoned to the police.

When the fire finally died down, the Chinese boy, in his confession, said he took out the skull and some of the bones. He did not get them all, however, and it was this fact which gave the police their first definite clue. A couple of handfuls of whitened bones still remained in the furnace. The skull and large leg bones the Chinese and stuffed into the fire below the drawing-room grate, where they were found yesterday.

Jack Kong is rather a pleasant looking fellow who was getting along rapidly at Lord Roberts' public school. On the way to attend the inquest he whistled a popular tune. He made his confession to Mr. Millard in the presence of the police.

Chickens.

Now man goes forth and makes his garden, a hard and painful grind; and then the crime beyond all pardon destroys his peace of mind. His neighbor keeps a string of chickens, and they, inflamed with greed, come o'er and scratch to beat the chickens, and dig up all the seed. And then the man whose wasted labor has set him seeling red, whisks o'er to see that henish neighbor and manures his head. This village feud is often started, and people raise the deuce, and men and dames are broken hearted because some hens ran loose. In any town where leggy chickens run loose, in scorn of law, you may be sure that trouble thickens, and hearts are sore and raw. Old hens and roosters have created more trouble, caused more tears, than could in seven weeks be stated by seven aviators. If you must keep a herd of Dorkings or other brands of fowls, oh, take them where their frantic workings won't stir up grief and howls. To some lone wilderness escort them, some desert far away; there you may cuddle them and sort them, and watch the blamed fowls lay.

Shocking Accident.

MAN FIRING JOY GUNS IN HONOR OF WEDDING MEETS WITH MISHAP.
Abraham Butcher, who was a participant in the festivities of a wedding, which took place at Mussel Harbour, Placentia Bay, on Wednesday night last, figured in a gunning accident that nearly cost him his life. As it is the victim is badly injured and he arrived in the city by a special freight train for treatment. Butcher was engaged firing off guns. On this occasion he overcharged a large sealing rifle that he used with powder. The firearm exploded with the result that Butcher's joy was converted into sorrow and that his face and right hand were badly shattered, two fingers being completely blown off. His wound were temporarily dressed, after which he was ordered to hospital, where he now is. It is not unlikely that the remaining fingers of the right hand will be amputated.

Fatal Burning Accident.

Little Florence Eddy, Aged Fourteen Months, Terribly Burned, Died from Injuries.
Yesterday afternoon at 5.40, Florence Julia Eddy, the fourteen months old child of Herbert and Eliza Eddy of 190 New Gover Street, received serious burns which terminated fatally at the General Hospital a few hours afterwards. Mr. Eddy, the child's father, informed the Telegram to-day, that the child was playing in the kitchen, yesterday afternoon, while her mother was preparing the evening meal. Mrs. Eddy made some remark about the fire being out, whereupon the little child took a poker and put it in between the front bars of the grate to help her mother make the fire burn. The child shortly afterwards left the stove, but upon the mother's absence from the room must have removed the poker, which had become red hot, the mother was only absent from the room for a short time, having only gone down stairs to another room to put away a flour sifter that she had been using. On her return she beheld her darling child lying on a mat in front of the stove with the upper portion of her clothing all aflame and her head and neck terribly burned. Medical aid was immediately summoned, and Dr. Fraser ordered the little sufferer to the hospital, where she was taken in a cab. In the meantime the burned parts were saturated with oil, but it was quite apparent from the nature of the burns about the head and neck of child that there was very little hope of recovery.
Upon arrival at the hospital everything possible was done for the little one, but at 8 p.m. she was barely breathing. She died at 11.15 p.m. The parents are nearly distracted with grief over the loss of their little one, who was idolized by them and the other members of the family. She was a bright robust child, and was just beginning to talk. To Mr. and Mrs. Eddy the Telegram unites in extending sincerest sympathy in their bereavement.

Last Night's Alarm.

An alarm of fire from Box 32 was sent in shortly after 11 o'clock last night, summoning the Central and Western Companies to the house occupied by Thomas Alcock, of Burke's Place, just off Stephen Street. The fire was caused by an accumulation of soot in the chimney whence a few sparks were issuing when the firemen arrived. The hose was not called into requisition; in fact nothing was used saved the energies of the firemen who appeared on the scene "all-out" signal sounded at 11.15 p.m.

The Prophet Engineer.

"If Colonel Goethals had been an Englishman and had built the Panama Canal and governed the Zone for England, he would have been made a peer of the realm. A title for him has indeed been suggested—Lord Culebra," says the Outlook.
"At the presentation to him of the Civic Forum medal, a poem, written for the occasion, was read by its author, Percy MacKaye. It is not only a fine example of occasional verse, but a stirring description of Colonel Goethals' task, and of the spirit in which he accomplished it, as the following stanzas show:
"A man went down to Panama
Where many a man had died
To salt the sliding mountains
And lift the eternal tide;
A man stood up in Panama,
And the mountains stood aside.
For a poet wrought in Panama
With a continent for his theme,
And he wrote with flood and fire
To forge a planet's dream,
And the derricks rang his ditty rambles
And his stanzas roared in steam.
Where old Balboa bent his gaze
He leads the liners through,
And the Horn that tossed Magellan
Bellows a far halloo,
For where the navies never sailed
Steamed Goethals and his crew.
So nevertmore the tropic routes
Need poleward warp and veer,
But on through the Gates of Goethals
The steady keels shall steer,
Where the tribes of man are led to ward peace
By the prophet-engineer."

Celebrated Norwegian Jigger!

Fishermen should use these Jiggers and rig them with swivels same style as in Norway, then the Jigger acts like a minnow and when spinning attracts the fish, so that instead of jiggering they really snap the Jigger and in this manner you never fail to catch them. Ordinary leads can be used but the Norwegian style seems more simple and easily made. Our fishermen should try this great Norwegian fish killer.

Capt. Dennis to Sail Vanitie.

AT A VERY HIGH SALARY.
Boston, Mass., April 15.—Captain W. W. Dennis, who has been selected by A. C. Cochran, of New York, to sail his yacht, the Vanitie, in the triangular race for the privilege of defending the America's cup, will receive the highest salary ever paid to the skipper of a racing yacht.

For the four months that the Vanitie will be in commission, the Yonkers carpet manufacturer will pay Dennis at least $10,000, and there will be perquisites that many skippers would consider a good salary. A bonus of $1,000 has been promised, if the Vanitie wins the triangular race.
Mr. Cochran admitted that he will pay Captain Harry Haff, the mate, $5,000, and, according to yachting authorities, the skipper's stipend will be no less than twice that of the mate. Mr. Cochran is making a total outlay of over $400,000 in his venture in yachting. He has told friends that Captain Dennis's success with Morton F. Plant's Elena last year makes him well worth the money he will get next summer.

New features of one of the Vanitie's rivals, the Herreshoff yacht Resolute, were revealed to-day. The Resolute will have two masts stepped, instead of one, and will have the biggest mainsail spread ever on a 75-footer. There will be two rigs, one a big mainsail, with small head sails, and the other the conventional peaked head sloop rig, like the New York 50-footers.

25,000,000 Debt to be Paid

American Conscience Money For Colombia.
A telegram from Bogota announces that the treaty between Colombia and the United States, settling the controversy arising out of it that United States gaining control of the Panama Canal zone, has been signed.
The United States will pay an indemnity of $25,000,000 in six months, and will grant certain privileges for Colombian commerce via the Panama Canal.
A Colombian-Panama boundary will be fixed, and the United States will lend its good offices for the settlement now pending questions between Colombia and Panama.—Reuter.

This ends the long quarrel between the United States and Colombia over the acquisition of the Panama Canal zone. The United States was unable to obtain the zone from Colombia, and instigated the secession of the State of Panama, which it set up as an independent republic, and from which it obtained the territory desired.

Dreaming of Home and Mother.

Dreaming of home, dear old home!
Home of my childhood and mother;
Oft when I wake 'tis sweet to find I've been dreaming of home and mother.
Home, dear home, childhood's happy home,
When I play'd with sister and with brother;
'Twas the sweetest joy when we did roam
Over hill and thro' dale with mother.

Chorus:

Dreaming of home, dear old home,
Home of my childhood and mother,
Oft when I wake, it's sweet to find I've been dreaming of home and mother.
Sleep, balmy sleep, close mine eyes,
Keep me still thinking of mother;
Hark! 'tis her voice of home and mother.
Angels come, soothing me to rest,
I can feel their presence 'as none other;
For they sweetly say I shall be blest
With bright visions of home and mother.

Childhood has come, come again,
Sleeping, I see my dear mother;
See her lov'd form beside me kneel,
While I'm dreaming of home and mother.
Mother, dear, whisper to me now,
Tell me of my sister and my brother,
Now I feel thy hand upon my brow,
Yes, I'm dreaming of home and mother.
Sir John Murden Sanderson was notoriously absent-minded. Of the cycle of anecdotes that gathered around him much was fabricated. The story of his boiling his watch while holding an egg in his hand, often related also of Newton, is in La Bruyere's "Caracteres." But there seems to be some foundation for the suspicion that in his laboratory he once lunched on a frog and was afterward found deeply contemplating a sandwich.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD YESTERDAY.

The annual meeting of the Importers' Association took place in the Board of Trade Rooms yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. In the absence of the President and Vice-President, the chair was occupied by Mr. J. S. Munn. The following are the officers elected for the coming year: Hon. Geo. Knowling, President; Mr. F. W. Ayre, Vice-Pres.; Mr. R. A. Tompston, Secretary-Treasurer. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to observe the general or whole holidays on Mondays, during the coming season, though the half holidays will be continued on Wednesdays. The Association discussed the observance of an annual Thanksgiving Day for some date in January, which will likely be set for the last Monday in that month. During the past year four members joined the Association: E. O. Steele, J. J. Strang, W. P. Shortall and Dicks & Co. It was decided that the stores be opened at nights on May 4th, but not for the full until Oct. 12th, being a week later than last year.

Obituary.

MRS. THOMAS MOTT, OF DARTMOUTH.

Yesterday morning, Mrs. Thomas Mott, of Dartmouth, N.S., mother of Mr. Henry Y. Mott, of this city, passed away, after a brief illness. The venerable lady who was a "Mother in Israel," loved and respected by all her neighbours, had reached the ripe age of four-score years and three. She was known to many in this city, where she spent some months in the year of the fire, 1892. Last year Mr. and Mrs. Mott celebrated the Diamond anniversary of their wedding. To her aged partner, her son, and grand-children the Telegram extends sympathy in their bereavement. Of Mrs. Mott, it may truly be said that a well-spent life has been crowned by a peaceful and triumphant passing. "She, being dead, yet speaketh."

Dawe and pupils S. A. College, clerks and messengers of Postal Telegraph office who sent flowers and wreaths to adorn the casket of their beloved son.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferers and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is seasonally and sufficiently protected by an insurance policy with Pacific Mutual would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. National Thanksgiving.

The Government has been considering the matter of the observance of a National Thanksgiving Day for Newfoundland. We believe that such a proposal will meet with general approval. Yesterday the Importers' Association had before them a letter from the Government as to the annual observance of such a day in January. The Importers were asked to suggest the most suitable day in January, and they recommended the last Monday in January, and it is not improbable that this date will be decided on, and a Proclamation to that effect issued. It might be well for the Government to embody their proposal in a bill which could be laid before the Legislature. After the passage of such a bill, Thanksgiving day would become a statutory holiday.

We observe also that the Importers have decided to retain the half-holidays on Wednesdays, but they have placed the whole holidays on Mondays. Many were in favor of Saturday. Others, however, were opposed to this as it is the chief business day of the week in retail stores.

The chief advantages of Saturday or Monday is that it allows a holiday seeker to spend a couple of days out of town. Under the arrangement decided on, such a man can leave town on Saturday night and return to town on Monday night, ready for business on Tuesday. There is however no particular advantage to those who stay in town, and they lose the break in the week which the Wednesday holiday affords.

THE EXPRESS.—The incoming express was delayed by the snowstorm and is not expected to arrive until about 10 o'clock to-night.

NEW LIFE

After one suffers for months from acid dyspepsia, sour stomach, and then finds the remedy is in getting the right kind of food, it is something to speak about.

An Eastern lady and her young son had such an experience and she wants others to know how to get relief. She writes:

"For about fifteen months my little boy and myself had suffered with sour stomach. We were unable to retain much of anything we ate.

"After suffering in this way for so long I decided to consult a specialist in stomach diseases. Instead of prescribing drugs, he put us both on Grape-Nuts and we began to improve immediately.

"It was the key to a new life. I found we had been eating too much heavy food which we could not digest. In a few weeks after commencing Grape-Nuts, I was able to do my housework. I wake in the morning with a clear head and feel rested and have no sour stomach. My boy sleeps well and wakes with a laugh.

"We have regained our lost weight and continue to eat Grape-Nuts for both the morning and evening meals. We are well and happy, and owe it to Grape-Nuts."

"Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

The Passing of Mr. D. M. Browning

To-day we record with sincere regret the demise of Mr. Donald Browning, K.C., Registrar and Chief Clerk of the Supreme Court, and Secretary-Treasurer of the Law Society. Death occurred suddenly between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning from heart failure. Yesterday he was at his office at a quarter to ten in the morning, and went home about 1 p.m. and as the weather was bad did not leave the house again. He spent the night looking through examination papers and about his usual hour, 11 p.m., retired to rest. He had not been complaining of any illness. Some time after midnight his sisters, Misses Mary and Elizabeth heard a noise and went to him to find out what was wrong, and found that he was sick. Almost immediately afterwards, and before medical aid could be obtained he expired. Last week he attended the opera, and afterwards caught a chill, and was attended by his physician, who told him on Tuesday he had staved off an attack of pneumonia, but that then he was all right. About two and a half years ago, in November, 1911, he was prostrated by heart disease and was ill at home till towards the end of January, and did not resume his work until February, 1912. He was, however, much shaken by his illness and obtained leave of absence in May and went to England where he put himself under the care of a physician until September, when he returned home apparently a new man. Since that time he directed himself most carefully and abstained from any physical exertion which might put a strain on the heart. He kept in apparent good health until the attack of last week to which he succumbed. The deceased was a son of the late Gilbert Browning, and was born some fifty-four years ago. He was educated at Toronto and subsequently attended classes at Glasgow University from which he graduated as a Master of Arts. He was articled to Whiteway & Johnson and called to the Bar in 1887. He practiced in partnership at various times with the present Chief Justice, Mr. M. W. Furlong, K.C., and Mr. C. O'N. Conroy, K.C. He also took part in the political life of the Colony, contesting St. John's for the House of Assembly in 1893, and Twillingate successfully in 1897 as a colleague of Sir Robert Bond. In November, 1899, he was appointed Chief Clerk and Registrar of the Supreme Court. This office he held at the time of his death. He was an ideal official and highly respected by both Bench and Bar. As Secretary-Treasurer of the Law Society, he took great interest in the Law Library and the education of legal students. He also interested himself in educational matters and was a Director of Bishop Fuld College, a member of the C. E. School Board for St. John's and of the Council of Higher Education. Deceased was unmarried and is survived by three brothers, John, Louis and Thomas, and two sisters Elizabeth and Mary. The sisters lived at "Richmond," with him, the parental home. To these we offer our deepest sympathy.

A TRIBUTE.

The Central District Court proceedings were adjourned by Judge Knight, this morning, as a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Donald M. Browning, K.C., of the Supreme Court. His Honor referred briefly though touchingly on the life of the deceased who had so prominently identified himself with and displayed great interest in the legal profession and that to Mr. Browning was largely due the present efficiency and high standing of the younger generation who had been admitted to the legal practice. Realizing all that he had done from personal knowledge, the Judge observed no one in our community deserved more respect or regard than did the deceased.

Famous British Admiral

Tells What Zam-Buk Did For Him.

Many famous persons have testified to the great value of Zam-Buk, and amongst the most recent is Admiral Rodney M. Lloyd. Writing from the Royal Naval Club, Portsmouth, England, Admiral Lloyd says:

"I have found Zam-Buk most reliable for healing cuts and abrasions; while for the relief of skin irritation it is invaluable."

Another famous user of Zam-Buk is Mr. Frank Scudamore, the War Correspondent, who supplied Canadian papers with their dispatches during the Boer War. Mr. Scudamore says: "Some poisonous dye on my under-clothing came in contact with a small ulcer on my leg and blood poisoning set in. Inflammation, pain and swelling followed. My medical man's treatment did not seem to do any good, as ulcer after ulcer broke out, until my left leg from knee to foot was one mass of sores. I had seventeen deep ulcers at one time. I could not put my foot to the ground, and was really in a pitiful state. A friend advised Zam-Buk, and I applied this herbal balm. It was really wonderful how it soothed the pain and healing and gave me ease.

"I continued with it, leaving off all other treatment, and at the end of a week's treatment my leg was not like the same. A few boxes of Zam-Buk healed all the sores, and bit by bit now, healthy skin covered the places which had been so deeply pitted and scarred by ulceration and blood poisoning. The limb is now perfectly healthy."

Zam-Buk is a cure for piles, zema, cold cracks or chaps, ulcers, ringworm, cuts, abscesses, burns, children's rashes, and for all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 72c. price. Refuse imitations.

Train Notes.

Yesterday's outgoing express left Arnold's Cove at 2.05 a.m. to-day.

The incoming express was detained at Alexander Bay by last night's storm and did not get away from there until 9 a.m. to-day. She should reach the city about 10 p.m.

The express that left Port aux Basques yesterday afternoon with the Bruce passengers left Galt Topsails at 10.30 a.m. to-day, and as the line is now practically clear, she will arrive here early to-morrow afternoon.

The Lintrose express left Port aux Basques at 8.10 a.m. to-day.

The Tropassey train went out on regular time to-day.

Boston Sympathy.

LETTER TO BOSTON POST.

To the Editor of the Post:

Sir.—The appalling catastrophe which has brought sorrow and devastation into so many households in Newfoundland is not fully understood by the casual reader. One must have lived among these humble folk, as I have done, to realize in the faintest degree the awful misery that such a catastrophe entails. The dreadful sufferings endured by the dead and the maimed and frozen survivors pale into insignificance before the misery in store for their wretched and destitute families. The rule and sudden wrenching of domestic ties is sad enough, but the aftermath is yet to come. As the poet Kingsley says:

"The fishers went sailing away to the west,
Awa' to the west when the sun went down;
Each thought of the woman that loved him best,
And the children stood watching them out of the town;
For men must work and woman must weep,
And there's little to earn, and many to keep,
Though the harbor bar be moaning."

There are numbers of Newfoundlanders in the New England States, and we all know by experience of the proverbial generosity of the American people in circumstances such as these. Will you please publish this letter, and I am sure that your appeal to the public will meet with a generous response?

Thanking you in anticipation, I remain, yours very respectfully,
THOMAS J. FARRELL.

P. S.—I enclose herewith my check for $25.
Station street, Titicut Depot.

Help for Newfoundlanders.

(Boston Post, April 8th.)

The sympathetic letter from Thomas J. Farrell, of Titicut, which is published elsewhere in the Post to-day, and which was accompanied by a generous contribution, should arouse the community to the dire needs of the survivors of the recent disasters to the crews of the Newfoundland sealing vessels and the families of those who perished. If ever there was a case for kindly charity toward fellow creatures it is this.

If the Boston Chamber of Commerce or some association of the natives of Newfoundland hereabout will become sponsors for a fund for the relief of the unfortunate victims of the calamity, the Post will give every assistance in its power, feeling sure that the people of Boston and vicinity will respond with their traditional promptness and liberality to an appeal of such direct and powerful call to humanity.

ABOUT HOSPITAL PATIENTS.
Department of Public Works,
St. John's, Newfoundland,
April 3rd, 1914.

Sir—There exists at present a very serious state of affairs in relation to the arrival at various times, on all trains and steamers, of patients for the General Hospital from the outports. These people come on without giving proper notice and without any authority from anyone here. The seriousness of the position may be realized from the fact that though the Hospital is overcrowded, as many as twenty-five patients at a time are waiting around town for an opportunity to enter. Not only is great expense incurred, but also great inconvenience and risk to sick people who render themselves subject to conditions that it is quite possible may have fatal effects in some cases and that are, undoubtedly, detrimental to their condition. It has been decided to put an end to this serious condition of affairs. You will please, therefore, take care that no cases shall be sent henceforth, unless a Doctor has seen the patient and has certified that such case is fit for the Hospital. Where no doctor can be procured, then you (as Magistrate or J. P., as the case may be), must limit the cases sent on as far as possible to those which, in your judgment, require IMMEDIATE hospital treatment. The Department, therefore, in issuing this warning, desires to impress strongly upon all concerned that NO PATIENTS SHALL BE SENT FORWARD AT ANY TIME WITHOUT FIRST COMMUNICATING WITH MR. ELI WHITEWAY at the Public Health Office, and receiving his answer that the patient may proceed to town. Mr. Whiteway has been instructed to ATTEND ONLY TO SUCH PATIENTS AS SHALL HAVE RECEIVED THIS AUTHORITY, and will not be responsible, nor will he make provision for any persons arriving without such permission. This decision will be rigidly enforced henceforth. Further, you will please give public notification of the foregoing in the localities under your jurisdiction and do your utmost to spread broadcast the information contained in this communication. I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant,

JAMES HARRIS,
Secretary.

The Young Kitchener.

Telling the story of the spy mania which broke out very badly in Paris during the siege, Mr. Vizetelly, in "My Days of Adventure," he says: "We handed the safe-conduct to one party of the National Guards. . . . That occurred outside the hospital where at that moment I little imagined that a young Englishman—a volunteer in the Sixth Battalion of the Cotes-du-Nord Mobile Guards—was lying in bed, validated by a chit, which he had caught during an ascent in our army balloon. Since then that young Englishman has become famous as Field-Marshal Viscount Kitchener of Khartoum."

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office—its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands at loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of an important paper. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICK CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessary this equipment can surely be of use to you. J. Percie Johnson represents this well known firm in Newfoundland and St. John's.

Divorced Life
By Helen Hessong Fuesle

Concentration

Marian awoke one morning with a touch of tonsillitis. She sent at once for Doctor Graham, who for several years had been both her friend and her medical adviser. An elderly man of impressive personality, he had won her confidence and respect in a way that few men had ever appealed to her. She welcomed this opportunity to see him again.

The genial presence of the big-bodied, big-hearted physician filled the room as he entered and made an examination of the afflicted tonsils. He pronounced the trouble but trifling, and wrote a prescription, then instructed her how to care for her throat.

"What are your plans?" he asked later, with the blunt and inoffensive kindness for which she liked him.

"I don't know," she answered, soberly. "Now that I have my freedom, I'm frank to say that I don't know what to do with it. I must find work, but I don't seem able to find a place to fit in. I never knew there were so many women hunting work in this town."

"You have charm, education, and personality," spoke the other. "You ought to have no trouble making your way."

"But in what? I've rushed around from pillar to post. Everywhere they demand experience."

"Why shouldn't they?" demanded the doctor with a smile. "You must find out, first of all, what you are best fitted for and most strongly drawn to. Then keep forging straight in that direction. I'm afraid you're just a little flighty."

"Yes, I think I am," admitted Marian. "It makes me hate myself. Why was I born such a dummy?"

"Nonsense," he objected. "It's merely up to you. That's one of the cardinal facts of existence. I have no doubt whatever that there are a dozen or more callings, in any one of which you could make marked and profitable headway. But whatever you decide upon, whether it is to be a seamstress or an actress, you must first master the fundamentals. This country is seething with competition. The only prizes are for the experts, the masters. You can be one. I envy you your youth."

"If I only could make a success at something!" she murmured.

"You not only can, but you must. You owe that to yourself. I find that the universal trouble these days with young women is that they expect to get something for nothing. They expect to have things fall into their laps simply because they're women. We men are largely to blame. Our absurd idea of chivalry has robbed our women of self-reliance. Take that away from a high spirited woman, and it's no wonder she grows restless, nervous, and discontented. A thoroughbred type of woman can't and won't stand it. It's this that's at the bottom of most divorces.

"You mustn't brood over what has happened," he added, as he made ready to go. "Be glad that you've got a fresh, clean start. Pick your career, concentrate upon all its details, and you'll win."

Illustrated Lecture.
A rare treat was afforded the large number who attended the lecture given last night at the Seamen's Institute by Mr. W. H. Jones, under the auspices of the W.C.T.U. The subject was "Devonshire," and Mr. Jones treated it in an able manner. He held the closest attention of all for over two hours, and in turn dealt with Stonehouse, Totnes, Exeter, Exmouth, Torquay, Dartmouth and various other towns, describing in detail their historic associations and referring to the famous men who had been born in one or the other, such as Drake, Hawkins, Raleigh, Monk and a host more, including Buller, of the later day. The famous buildings were described and excellent views shown to illustrate the speaker's remarks. During the evening two choruses by a selected choir, solos by Mr. Adams, Mr. Ruggles and Mrs. Penman, with flute obligato by Mr. Penman, a piano selection by Miss Windeler, and the White Ribbon rally song, were given. Mrs. Jos. Pippy arranged the musical programme. At the close of the lecture a vote of thanks proposed by the Recording Secretary of the W.C.T.U., Mrs. W. Fraser, and seconded by the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. B. Mitchell, was put by Mrs. Benedict and heartily tendered Mr. Jones. The proceeds amounted to a large sum, and will be devoted to the Marine Disasters' Fund.

The Man Who Fights Stegomyia.

Surgeon-General Gorgas, the distinguished man who made the Panama Canal possible (thanks to the pioneer work of Manson and Ross), has been in London this week and was given a dinner of honour by the medical profession.

"He has just returned from South Africa, where he has been inspecting the sanitary conditions of the mines as the invitation of the Rand Chamber of Mines.

"It was the Surgeon-General's experience in Havana which made Panama possible. By a series of courageous experiments the Commission of United States medical officers in 1900-1 had proved that yellow fever was transmitted by the 'stegomyia' mosquito," says the Daily Chronicle.

It Does Not Fly.

"Armed with this knowledge, Surgeon-General Gorgas began his attack on Yellow Jack, which for 200 years had terrified every ship entering the Atlantic and Gulf ports of the United States. His success was phenomenal, the disease being practically abolished, and by special Act of Congress he was made Colonel for his services.

"The mosquito lays its eggs," said Surgeon-General Gorgas to the Chronicle, "on the surface of still water, so that proper drainage was our main weapon of destruction. There are 400 species of mosquito, some being 'greyhounds' for speed and others 'terriers'. Fortunately, the 'anopheles', which conveys malaria, is a 'terrier'; it does not fly generally more than 200 yards from its breeding-place so by getting rid of all puddles and standing water within a 200-yard radius of any dwelling we made a start."

"The 'stegomyia' which conveys yellow fever breeds near human dwellings. It," said Surgeon-General Gorgas, "the 'stegomyia' could fly South America would have been depopulated. The territory for which he was responsible at Panama and Colon amounted to some 500 square miles, and he had frequently as many as 40,000 men under his supervision.

"In 1908 he supervised 43,000 with only 45 deaths, and the mortality rate of the canal for March of that year was less than that of the city of New York. He installed sewage systems, divided the towns of the zone into districts to facilitate the extermination of the mosquitoes, had medical inspections daily from house to house, had the doors and windows of hospitals screened, all portable water examined, and segregated suspected cases. His methods for destroying the 'anopheles', which breeds in fields and waterways, were equally thorough and successful."

Surgeon-General Gorgas to the Times said he and his two companions, Major Noble and Dr. Darling, have examined the sanitary conditions under which the 200,000 negroes employed in the Transvaal mines live.

"Pneumonia is the disease by which they are principally troubled.

"In Panama they had exactly the same trouble with pneumonia among the negroes. For the first two or three years the death-rate from pneumonia in Panama was just as heavy as that from the same disease in South Africa, and no doubt this was due to the same causes. On the other hand, tuberculosis was more prevalent in South Africa than in Panama. Surgeon-General Gorgas and his companions remained three months in Johannesburg, and made suggestions which they hoped would prove advantageous, especially in regard to the housing of the natives."

Obviously the task in South Africa is to prevent those stegomyia from even walking.

White Men in the Tropics.

"Surgeon-General Gorgas said that he thought the fact of their having kept a large white force of 10,000 or 12,000 people for 10 years in one of the most unhealthy localities known was an evidence that the white man could live in health anywhere else in the tropics where the same methods were adopted. He looked forward to a time, though not indeed in the immediate future, when a large white population would exist in the tropics, the return from labour being so much greater there than in temperate countries."

The Surgeon-General is 60 years of age, and goes back to Panama this week.

The Situation in Vera Cruz.

Special to Evening Telegram.

WASHINGTON, April 23. Señor Algara, Mexican Charge d'Affaires here, received his passports to-day.

WASHINGTON, April 23. Word reached the War Department here to-day that the Constitutionalists and Huertistas at Tampico have united to oppose American operations.

WASHINGTON, April 23. After two days' fighting, the American naval forces hold the entire city of Vera Cruz. Carranza has addressed a note to the American Government, resenting the seizure which he characterizes as a hostile act against the Mexican nation, in violation of the National sovereignty. He invites the United States to withdraw.

WASHINGTON, April 23. It was learned to-day that the Navy and War Departments have made plans for the seizure of the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City. A reconnoitring force is reported in touch with two bridges, one 10, and one 18 miles from Vera Cruz. Their officers reported that these bridges must be protected if Vera Cruz is to be the base of further operations, because they could not be readily rebuilt, if destroyed.

ROME, April 23. The Pope has sent a cable despatch to the Apostolic Delegate in Mexico instructing him to ask Huerta to yield to the United States in order to avert further bloodshed. It is understood that similar messages have been cabled to Huerta by several foreign rulers, including one from King Victor who has offered his services as mediator. The Foreign Office has exchanged views in the Mexican situation with representatives of Austria-Hungary, Germany and Britain. Italy's attitude does not differ from that of the other Powers.

WASHINGTON, April 23. Advice from Mexico City say that Americans there are in danger. These have been communicated to the Government, and are of unquestionable trustworthiness. They bear to-day's date and set forth that mobs of Mexicans are forming for anti-American demonstrations. The Americans had been so menaced and threatened with violence, that they were concentrating on the embassy for mutual protection. Many of the American sailors and marines who were killed or wounded at Vera Cruz were shot down while under the protection of a flag of truce, according to advices which reached the Navy department.

VERA CRUZ, April 23. All was quiet early to-day, with armed forces of the United States preserving discipline among city officials, as well as private citizens, but the marines and bluejackets who have faced the bullets of the snipers for two days do not believe that their work is very near completion. The city was quiet last night, but in view of developments in Mexico City, and an attack on this important seaport, in an effort to drive the Americans out would not surprise the men here. Huerta is reported to have said that he will have 400,000 men in the field within twenty days. He is quoted as having declared that Mexico is not only defending her national sovereignty, but that of all Latin-America. The Stars and Stripes are waving over Vera Cruz to-day, but only after considerable loss of life by the attacking force and the defenders. From 250 to 500 Mexicans were shot down while resisting the advance, whilst more than 200 were taken prisoners and lodged in the cruiser San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, April 23. Troops are being moved to-night to reinforce the navy at Vera Cruz, and the embargo on arms into Mexico has been formally restored. Troops have also been ordered to the Mexican border to relieve uneasiness among border residents, and also as a precaution against hostile and military operations along the international line. Secretary Garrison has announced that a brigade of infantry has been given orders to embark on four army transports at Galveston for Vera Cruz to support the forces of marines and bluejackets now there. The chance that General Maas might make a return attack on Vera Cruz with reinforcements and the possible necessity of a forward movement to Mexico City to protect fleeing Americans and the Vera Cruz railroad are the underlying reasons for this military movement. The restoration of the embargo was officially announced after Carranza's note that he regarded the seizure of Vera Cruz as a violation of Mexican sovereignty had been considered by the Administration. Both O'Shaughnessy and Señor Algara of the Mexican embassy here have been given their passports; but this is not regarded at Washington as presaging war, though a declaration of war by Huerta would not be unexpected.

The Spell.

A TWO REEL DRAMA.

The present week has been a remarkable one for pictures at the Crescent Picture Palace, Pellicus and Melinda, three reels, and Macbeth in two reels, were big successes. To-day and to-morrow another big two-reeler will be a feature. The Spell is acted by the Powers Company, a fact which is sufficient guarantee for its success. The Indian Martyr is a love story in a class all by itself. The Girl Rancher supplies the bright side of life, it shows how a widow who with her five daughters undertook to run the ranch when the cow punchers went on strike. The singer, Mr. Sydney Earnshaw, will render the comic success. Don't leave your wife alone. Miss Louise Arkandy, violinist, and Miss Bradley, are the accompanists. A special matinee with extra picture to-morrow afternoon. On Monday and Tuesday the two reel feature: Brain versus Brawn. The Crescent is the House of Features and the home of comfort, safety and refinement.

Stowaways

On The Red Cross Liner Florizel.

Last evening Messrs. Harvey & Co. received the following wireless message from Capt. Smith, of the S. S. Florizel:—

"Have on board seven stowaways, young boys from fourteen to seventeen years of age. Following are their names: Jack Humby, Patrick Hayes, Walter Detson, Thos. Ryan, Wm. Walsh, Mike Kate (Kean probably) and Wesley Watts."

The lads will be held in custody by the authorities at Halifax, as instructed by the agents.

The Florizel is due at Halifax this evening while the "Talisman" was expected to arrive there from New York about noon. The seven stowaways will be brought back to St. John's by the latter ship.

THE GREATER QUESTION

At this season of the year for Farmers with up-to-date ideas is, what are the best means to use to get the best returns from the land.

Fertilizers must be used liberally if large returns are looked for. There are several good chemical fertilizers which may be recommended, but Sulphate of Ammonia has been proved to give the best returns, and is the most valuable and economical source of Nitrogen for agricultural purposes.

For vegetables, grass, and all leafy crops, about one and a half cwt. per acre is the best quantity to use, and this should be applied when the plant is making its growth, as well as before sowing the seed.

If a liquid manure is preferred, a 1/4 oz. of Sulphate to one gallon of water should be used, and applied once a week for a month. This quantity should not be exceeded.

It is a good plan to reduce the Sulphate to a fine powder, and mix with four or more times its own bulk, for the purpose of diluting the manure, which is very powerful.

For potatoes the following mixture is strongly recommended:—

40 lbs. Superphosphate.
26 lbs. Fine bone meal.
10 lbs. Carbonate of Magnesia.
15 lbs. Sulphate of Potash.
21 lbs. SULPHATE OF AMMONIA.

1 cwt. Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to 48 square yards.

The use of Carbonate of Magnesia, in conjunction with Sulphate of Ammonia, is of great importance in potato culture.

For turnips use the following:—

66 lbs. Superphosphate.
18 lbs. Fine bone meal.
13 lbs. Sulphate of Potash.
20 lbs. Sulphate of Ammonia.

1 cwt. at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to square yards.

Sulphate of Ammonia of excellent quality is now made by the St. John's Gas Light Company, and may be obtained on very reasonable terms.

Full particulars may be obtained at the Gas Works, or at the Board of Trade Building. Ask for special booklet on the use of Sulphate, it will be found of great value in securing the heaviest crops.

Difference in Shares.

Wedding Bells.
Yesterday, April 22, at the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist a very pretty wedding was solemnized, the contracting parties being Miss Lillian Emma Reid, second daughter of Mr. W. H. Reid, of this city, and Mr. Ernest Roy Pippy, son of the late W. G. Pippy, Rev. Canon Bolt being the officiating clergyman. The bride was daintily gowned in white satin trimmed with lace and embroidered in true-lovers knots, entered the church leaning on her father's arm and was attended by Miss May Reid, sister of the bride and Miss Pearl Pippy, sister of the groom, while little Miss Gertrude Reid filled the office of flower girl to perfection. The bridesmaids were gowned in steel pink satin with overdresses of grey unison with white caps, while the flower girl's costume was of soft white silk, with mob cap to match. The groom was ably assisted by Mr. Wm. Ehsary, while the duties of ushering were performed by Mr. Harold Pippy and Mr. E. Maudslayi. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Smithville where Rev. Canon Bolt proposed the health of the happy pair. About 80 guests attended. The newly wedded couple left by the express last evening for Holyrood, where the honeymoon will be spent. Mr. and Mrs. Pippy were the recipients of many handsome and costly presents. The gift of the groom to the bride was diamond and emerald ear-rings, to the bridesmaids gold and pearl ear-rings, to the flower girl a gold bracelet and to the groomsmen a ruby tie-pin.

EL PASO, To-day.
Foreigners are flocking to railroads in Mexico on the way to the States. Carranza's reply to Secretary Bryan caused greater excitement here than did the taking of Vera Cruz, for it was interpreted to mean war between Mexico and the States. Villa, it is understood was influential in shaping Carranza's reply. The conqueror of Torreon with fifteen thousand victory-torn veterans, according to reports from Chihuahua, declared he could fight twelve thousand men in 24 hours in forty-eight hours and that might be wise to teach the Gringos a lesson at the start. Secretary Bryan asked the Brazilian Government if it would act for the States in Mexico. After a conference with the Ambassador, Dugama announced that complete arrangements have been made. The choice of Brazil instead of a European Power, is regarded as very significant; not only has Brazil, like Argentina and Chile, refused to recognize the Huerta Government, but the fact that the States considered its friends in the crisis a South American nation, emphasized Pan American solidarity. It is the first time the South American country, ever has been asked to act in such a capacity for the States and it was announced the affairs of the Mexican Embassy have been entrusted to the French Ambassador.

LONDON, To-day.
The Mexico city correspondent of the Daily Telegraph cables that a telegram from Sir Cecil Spring Rice, British Ambassador at Washington was received at the British Legation to-day, as a result of which the British charge Thomas Fletcher, to enter into negotiations with him regarding the possible attempt to solve Mexican difficulty through the intervention of British diplomacy. However surprising this news may seem, it is not regarded at the United States Legation as being without foundation. It is believed that the United States cannot wish to repel any suggestion for honorable solution.
