IN THE TOILS;

But Happiness Comes at Last.

CHAPTER XIII

A NOBLE TRIUMPH.

"Allow me to introduce my friend, Lord Heatherdene," said Hamilton.

Katrine held out her hand with a curiously questioning look; Charlie bent over it, and was about to speak, when Lord Hamilton uttered a cry of warning, and Katrine, turning swiftly, saw that Olive, who had drawn slightly back at the sound of Lord Charles's voice, was leaning against the door, with her hand pressed to her heart.

Katrine was at her side in a moment, but Olive would have fallen if Lord Charles had not sprang forward and caught her in his arms.

"She has fainted!" said Katrine, with compressed lips. "It is what I feared—she has been too calm throughout. Well, one of you get a little water—gentle, stay!—there is some in my room."

She opened the door as she spoke, but Lord Hamilton had darted off at the first word, and Lord Charles raised Olive in his arms and carried her into the room.

Every chair was full with the dresses which had been thrown down as they had been taken off; there was no place on which to lay her down, and he still held her while Katrine moistened her lips and forehead.

Charlie looked up from the sweet, white face that rested so trustingly on his arm, to the powdered and painted one above him. Katrine was still dressed as Madame Deschappelles and looked at least sixty.

"I'm afraid she is very ill," he said, his voice grave and anxious.

Katrine shook her head. "No, she has fainted, that is all," she said, in a low voice. "Poor child!"

"Poor child," echoed Charlie, almost unconsciously.

As he spoke a thrill seemed to run through Olive's frame; she slowly opened her eyes and looked up. As she met the anxious gaze of his handsome eyes, her own seemed over-weighted and closed again, and a warm flush stole faintly over her face.

Scientific Cure for Eczema

New Discovery—Thousands Find Relief.

No scientific discovery in recent years has attracted such wide-spread attention among physicians in this country and throughout Canada as the wonderful D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

After years of debate, medical authorities are now agreed that eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood but are caused by myriads of microscopic germs gnawing the skin just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased.

Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin. The medicine must be in liquid form in order to penetrate properly. The true remedy has been discovered in D. D. D. Prescription. The instant you wash with this cleansing, soothing liquid you will find the itch gone. Simple to use, absolutely harmless to the most sensitive skin. D. D. D. Prescription is the most scientific and efficient remedy known for Eczema in all its forms. Bad Leg, Pimples, Scalp Troubles, Open Sores and Itching Rash, Salt Rheum and Ring Worm, and all other skin troubles yield to D. D. D. The first bottle will prove it.

Stop that itch now, get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere. Recommended by T. McMurdo & Co., A. V. Kenned, M. Connors, Peter O'Mara.

DANGER TO SYSTEM UNLESS ACTION IS TAKEN

Ignorance alone can excuse neglect of the health when all indications point to kidney trouble. Everyone should know that from the hour the kidneys fail to remove the poisons from the blood stream, these poisons are accumulating ready to cause sickness, pain and suffering.

How are you to know that the system is in danger from poisoning? One or more of the following symptoms should leave no doubt in your mind. If you are the victim of backache, pains in the back or sides, or lamboago, be sure nature is calling for better kidney action. Take Gin Pills.

At the first twinges of Rheumatism, swollen ankles and joints, or any other manifestation of uric acid poisoning, take Gin Pills. Dozens of Testimonials prove Gin Pills to be the sovereign remedy.

Take the warning given by constant headaches, restless nights, dizziness when you stoop, frequent chills, bladder urinary trouble, or constipation, and turn to the remedy which is so sure that it is sold on the money-back guarantee—Gin Pills.

Gin Pills are sold by all dealers—50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. A free sample will be sent if you address your request to the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto; or to the U. S. address, Na-Dr-Co Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y.

"My sister leaves everything to me, Mr. Gossop."

"She could not be in better hands. Lord Hamilton said last night that I was to see you."

"Oh," said Katrine; "and he gave you instructions last night, Mr. Gossop, and what does he propose?"

Mr. Gossop coughed behind his hand. As a matter of course Lord Hamilton had said, "Whatever Miss Haldine proposes, I agree to—leave the matter in her hands." But Mr. Gossop was not going to admit this.

"Well, you see, his lordship leaves the matter to me, Miss Haldine, and I think that if we were to say a year's agreement at twenty pounds per week, that would meet the case."

He smiled nervously at Olive, and seeing what he mistook for a look of dissatisfaction on her face, whereas it was sheer amazement and incredulity, he went on earnestly:

"The expense of the theater, I assure you, Miss Adrienne, will not allow of more liberal terms; where is there another that would be so free-handed? Twenty pounds a week—a thousand as a start. It's—it's—fabulous!"

Olive rose, pale and open-eyed. "A thousand pounds a year for me, do you say? Truly—"

"I don't think his lordship ought to offer more," said Mr. Gossop, in a tone of grief and sorrow. "I fully appreciate your astounding talent, Miss Adrienne; fully, no one more so—but a thousand a year—"

"Is not half so much as they would give at the Crescent or the Royal," put in Katrine. "No, Mr. Gossop; we will say one hundred and twenty-five pounds per month for the first six months; after that we shall see! Another cup of coffee—are you quite sure?"

Mr. Gossop groaned, but was only too delighted at the terms. If Miss Haldine had demanded fifty pounds per week he would have had to yield.

Mr. Gossop got up and produced a document.

Girls! Draw A Moist Cloth Through Hair Double Its Beauty

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once.

Immediate!—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, luscious and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.

"Quite—quite—"

"Of course, it was the novelty—the novelty; but at any rate, it was an unmistakable success, and I have come on this morning to hear what terms you propose, ladies," and he bowed.

Katrine folded her hands with a smile.

Fashion Plates.

LONDON, Feb. 4th, 1918. GERMAN "STRIKES."

A great deal of space has been given in the London newspapers during the past few days to the strikes in Austria and Germany and especially of late to those in Germany. Two conflicting editorial views are expressed with regard to this labor unrest in the enemy countries. On the one side we have the "Daily Mail" leading the champions of the camouflage theory. They declare that the German and Austrian strikes are all prompted by the governments of those countries with a view to deceiving the workmen of the Entente countries. Whenever they have fulfilled that purpose the strikes will disappear as by magic. On the other hand we have the party headed by the "Daily Telegraph" which pronounces itself against the camouflage theory. This party states that the German and Austrian strikes are genuine, spontaneous outbursts on the part of the working people of those countries who want bread and peace. Towards the end of the period under review both these conflicting views have rather shaded off into a third and more or less neutral view which declares that so far as Germany is concerned the government of the Kaiser thought the time had arrived when a little blood letting on the part of its over-streuous population might be advisable. It therefore closed up all the ordinary channels of public discussion such as meetings, newspapers, etc., drove the people into the streets and then set the armed police on them at that time emissaries of the secret service were busy arresting all the

GERMAN "STRIKES."
A great deal of space has been given in the London newspapers during the past few days to the strikes in Austria and Germany and especially of late to those in Germany. Two conflicting editorial views are expressed with regard to this labor unrest in the enemy countries. On the one side we have the "Daily Mail" leading the champions of the camouflaged theory. They declare that the German and Austrian strikes are all well pulled by the governments of these countries with a view to defeating the workmen of the Entente countries. Whenever they have fulfilled that purpose the strikes will disappear as by magic. On the other hand we have the party headed by the "Daily Telegraph" which pronounces itself against the camouflage theory. This party states that the German and Austrian strikes are genuine, spontaneous outbreaks on the part of the working people of those countries who want bread and peace. Towards the end of the period under review these conflicting views have rather shaded off into a third and more neutral view which declares that so far as Germany is concerned the government of the Kaiser thought quite well to tell in detail to the world. There are many signs that official views on the subject have largely changed, and it is probable that we shall read much more about the "trenches in the North Sea" than we have been allowed to do before. The pictorial record should be very interesting. Sir John Lavery is going to paint the navy in the Medierranean. He is well accustomed to the climate and the lighting there, for he had a house in Morocco where he regularly spent part of each year. Philip Conrad will paint the light craft of the Harwich flotilla. Charles Peers, who is a well-known yachtsman, and Nelson Dawson will be on board ships. Glyn Philpot and Ambrose McEvoy will paint naval portraits.

MAN WHO SAVED THE STOCK EXCHANGE.
Ex-Superintendent Melville, who died in London on February 1st, at the age of 70, was the most famous detective of his time. When he retired in 1903 he had been thirty-one years in the force, which he joined as a constable. In his later years at Scotland Yard (the headquarters of the detective force) Melville had charge of the special department working for the Home Office—a department responsible for the safety of monarchs and other people of high rank visiting this country. He was on occasions ordered to many European countries. He had many rings and pins presented by Queen Victoria and King Edward, and once the Shah of Persia astonished him by casually presenting him with one of the largest turquoises known. Melville once frustrated an attempt by two Italian anarchists to throw a bomb into the London Stock Exchange at its most crowded hour.
MR. BALFOUR'S DICTAPHONE.
It is a sign of the times that a dictaphone has just been placed in Mr. Balfour's private room at the Foreign Office, so that the Foreign Secretary will in future be able, by the aid of this instrument, to dictate his official correspondence for reproduction on the phonograph. This ingenious expedient is not by any means new to Whitehall, for some years ago, when at the Scottish Office, Graham Murray, M.P., now Lord Dundee, had regular recourse to this time-saving appliance between London and Edinburgh. It was the practice of the then Secretary for Scotland to dictate the replies to his correspondence while in the train going north, and on reaching his destination in Scotland the cylinders were returned to Whitehall, there to be dealt with by an expert typist.

man opera. He rode easily and shot a little, but never went to races. He was a notable figure of pre-war London of a sort that will hardly be seen again.
SUGAR REGISTRATION CLEARING-HOUSE.
Sugar rationing for a population of 48 million is naturally a work of much complexity, but a visit to the Registration Clearing-House of the Ministry of Food at the Imperial Institute, London, where there is a staff of 800 girls, revealed the existence of a smooth and effective system, which is claimed to be as near "fool and fraud proof" as possible. At the moment the activities of the department are chiefly concerned with the two million people who through one cause or another require ration papers. Over one million persons did not wake up till after the "appointed" day to the fact that they had to register. Deaths, births, alterations of names, cases of emigration and immigration, as well as removals, have all to be dealt with, involving a prodigious amount of clerical work in keeping up to date. An ingenious method of scrutiny has been devised, so that anyone applying for two ration papers must ultimately be found out. The oldest person to whom a ration paper has been issued is a lady living at Ramon, a South coast watering place, who claims to have been born in 1800. Another is aged 100. The girls are all between 16 and 18 years of age. Their comfort and welfare are being well looked after, and as many have come straight from school to what is a "dead end" occupation, it has been arranged that six hours out of a 48 hours week should be devoted to educational instruction of one kind or another.

W. C. T. U.

On Thursday afternoon last the Women's Christian Temperance Union met at 191 Gower Street for their regular meeting. Pres. Mrs. Hunter in the chair. The meeting was opened with the singing of a well known hymn, a portion of Scripture was read, and prayer offered by Mrs. Adjutant Cole. When the roll was called, and minutes read and confirmed of the former meeting, the business of the day was proceeded with. The attendance at the meeting was fairly large. The desire was expressed, that Mrs. Pippy, whose many years of self-sacrificing work in the Union's departments will not soon be forgotten, and who has just gone abroad to receive treatment, may by its means be restored once again to her wonted strength and vigour. An interesting service was held in the Penitentiary on Sunday past, when the Rev. Mr. Thomas gave an account and took lessons from the life of "Francis Willard" and Miss S. Soper contributed in beautiful voice the solo "Simply to Thy Cross I Cling." The next meeting of the Union takes place on the 14th of the present month, the second Thursday, and it is particularly desired that every member may if possible be present. The meeting will be held at the same place, Miss Neyle's residence, 191 Gower Street.—Rec. Secy.

The Florizel Inquiry.

While we agree entirely, as we must, with our contemporaries as to the necessity of the fullest and most authoritative inquiry into the Florizel tragedy—it would be compulsory in any case, without need of urging—we should like to utter a mild protest against the tendency we have observed, though it is natural enough, to place the blame on someone or another, without considering whether any blame in fact exists, and of judging the case beforehand. The message from Ottawa bluntly charging those in authority over the Florizel with a disregard of warnings from the meteorological office is a good illustration of both these things. It would be absurd to suppose that the warnings in question were needed on Saturday night. It has yet to be shown that the storm of that night, bad as it was, has the slightest bearing on the case or was in any way responsible for the disaster. We do not say that it was not of course, but if the mere fact that a ship puts out in a storm is sufficient to charge Ottawa as to the cause of such an occurrence, it is certainly not sufficient to satisfy those who knew the Florizel and her crew.

All this, however, will be elicited with the greatest possible thoroughness at the investigation. All we have to say at this stage, is that if the investigation stops with the navigation and stranding of the Florizel and does not inquire into the truly appalling conditions revealed by the subsequent events, it will omit the most important service it can render. Fixing the responsibility, if any exists, for the loss of the ship will not restore either the ship herself or the lives lost with her; but to expose the criminal negligence which for fifty years and more has left this hideous coastline unprotected with the most elementary life-saving device may result in the preservation of no-one knows how many lives in the future. It happens in this case that all the survivors, probably, who might have been rescued on Saturday were in fact rescued the following day. For that we can only thank a merciful providence and the fine work of those who built the ship so staunch and strong. For the actual work of rescue we can only thank the ships and their crews who performed it so well, remembering that it is not their business, whatever their ability, to stand by wrecks. That is the business of persons who simply do not exist, using appliances which simply do not exist, in this country, which stands in more need of both daily than any other in the world. It is a terrible indictment, to which the whole community must, with a burning shame, plead guilty.

Court of Enquiry.

The Marine Court of Enquiry into the loss of the S. S. Florizel, we are informed, will be constituted as follows:—

James P. Blackwood, K.C., presiding with Commander McDermott (R. M. S. Briton), Captains Edward English, Sr., and Geo. Spracklin as assessors. The Crown will be represented by the Attorney General and Mr. Brian Dunfield, and the first sitting will be held in the tower room of the Court House at 2 o'clock this afternoon. This Court of Enquiry is called for under the Marine Court of Enquiry and Merchant Shipping Acts of Great Britain. In addition the Government contemplates instituting an enquiry of a larger scope.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GARDEN IN COWS.

Sensational News. Honor to Whom Honor is Due. Victims of the Florizel Tragedy.

We take exception to a portion of the news dispatch of yesterday, in which it is stated that the ill-fated liner Florizel put to sea on Saturday last ignoring the storm signals, and that consequently the disaster and its accompanying terrible loss of life must be attributed to the sailing of that ship in face of the warning of the Meteorological Service. On what authority or evidence this grave accusation is made, we are at the present moment, able to conjecture. Sufficient for our subject however that it has been advanced as a hypothesis, by some person or persons, in an obvious attempt to lay blame on either the master or owners of the unfortunate vessel, as to the superficial reader it would appear that the Florizel was literally forced out of port in the teeth of a storm. That this news comes from Ottawa in a semi-official guise does not detract from the serious nature of its contents, nor does it help to soften the sorrows of those whose dear ones were taken away. It re-opens the wounds caused by grief and again uncovers the faces of the lamented dead. Not only that, but it opens up an avenue of thought which might lead the imagination toward unpleasant things. We are steadfastly opposed to such a quality of news intelligence, and at no time will we have any hesitation in using the strongest terms in condemnation of it. Newspapers are purveyors of knowledge to their readers, but yesterday, in the light of recent events, we would not admit this portion of the dispatch to print. In the loss of the Florizel, shock has succeeded shock and the magnitude of the catastrophe has dealt the community a stunning blow from which it has not yet recovered. The real gravity of the item lies in its direct assertion that the storm warnings were deliberately ignored, thereby leaving it to be assumed that those in charge of the ship and its precious human freight were heedless of weather conditions; or that some persons interested directed that she put to sea and take the chance of weathering the storm, which, the signals announced, was then brewing. It is not within the province of any person or persons to determine the cause of the disaster until such time as proper and competent authorities sit in their official capacity and hold both an enquiry and an investigation. Then all will be revealed, but till such time as their report is issued it does not become any irresponsible person to offer any comments upon a matter which has been fraught with dire consequences. We are sure when that enquiry is completed everything will be brought to light, but for announcements to put forward any opinions, during the holding of such enquiry, is not the essence of wisdom, nor yet in the best of good taste. It is not yet a week since the sad occurrence, but numerous rumours have been set afloat, and dozens of absurd theories advanced, as to the causes, which have not the slightest basis. The Telegram supports the suggestion made in the other city dailies that the enquiry be enlarged in scope, and given opportunity to recommend (we could wish that it had power to insist) to the marine authorities the prime necessity of establishing at once further aids, to navigation on a stretch of coastline which has picked up more shipping than any other part of the Dominion. But to recommend it; to act, sometimes difficult, but the people of Newfoundland will not now be put off with vague promises. They will demand that a complete life saving system be established somewhere on the Southern Shore and an increased number of light-houses, fog alarms and automatic whistling buoys placed at other danger points. This country has been trusting too much to luck. Time and again it has been advocated that our coast guides are entirely inadequate to the demands of our shipping, but very little improvements, in certain sections, have been effected. Now that grim tragedy has been brought so closely home, everything possible should be done to obviate a recurrence. With so many R. N. R. men coming back from the Navy, the first thing to be taken in hand should be the inauguration of coastguard stations at various points, with time expired Naval Reservists in charge of each post. We do not intend to let this vital matter drop out of sight, but shall return to it again.

Of the 31 lives saved by these men, No. 1 dory has 23 to the credit of its crew. In addition this boat also rescued one of the crew of the s.s. Gordon C., when that ship's boat upset, and brought him to shore, at a place where he was treated by the doctor. The crew of No. 1, Cloutier, Penny and Murphy were right to the fore, and it is due to their heroism, skill and courage that the tale of lives saved was so great. The crew of No. 2 dory, Shanahan, Gallagher and Westcott, is to be highly commended. These accounted for eight souls from the wreck and only gave up the rescue work when their boat was swamped. No. 3 dory containing Dan, Moore and Murphy, filled with water while attempting to get alongside the wreck. They afterwards went on board a s.s. where Murphy who had swallowed some salt water and was ill from the effects, was replaced by another R.N.R. man, Ash. This boat, notwithstanding the efforts made did not save any life, but the conduct of the crew was evidence of their determination to do their duty to the end. This was a most unusual occasion on which the body of a girl or woman ever rested within the walls of the Masonic Temple, St. John's.

GIVEN MASONIC FUNERAL.

A most impressive and unique ceremony was witnessed at the Masonic Temple this morning when a large number of Masons assembled in the main Lodge Room to pay tribute and attend the funeral of the late George Massie and his little 11 year old daughter, Catherine, both victims of last Sunday's great marine tragedy. The remains of father and daughter were enclosed in beautiful caskets with brown and white plush corduroy velvet coverings respectively and silver mountings and rested on trestles in the centre of the Lodge Room. On the top of the caskets were beautiful floral tributes presented by Ladies of the Lodges mentioned above, and St. Andrew's of the Masonic Order, also one from the St. Andrew's Society. At 10.30 the officers and brethren of the Lodges mentioned assembled in the Temple where a short funeral service was conducted by Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, to which faith the deceased belonged. Rev. Canon Bolt, Chaplain, and Rev. Dr. Fenwick read the lessons. Following the service of the Lodges, the remains of the deceased were placed on the various Masonic Lodges, in full regalia, and by the remains, the St. Andrew's Society, a large number of citizens, left the Masonic Temple and proceeded to the railway station where the last respects due the sacred dead were solemnly given. The caskets and floral offerings were then enclosed in hermetically sealed coffins and placed on board the outgoing express en route for Chicago, the former home of Mr. Massie. Mr. P. E. O'Herlihy, representative of the St. Andrew's Society, Co. Chicago, of which Mr. Massie was one of the principals, acted as chief mourner and also arranged for the sending of the bodies to Chicago. Undertaker A. Carnell attended to the funeral arrangements.

To-Day's Messages. AMERICANS AGAIN VICTORS. With the American Armies in France, To-day—American troops captured a strong German attack to the north of Toul. There were many American casualties, one of those killed being a captain who graduated from Westpoint in 1917. The raid was a complete failure, and three German prisoners were captured by the Americans. The ground in front of the American trenches was strewn with German dead. Germans had been preparing for this raid for three weeks and troops engaged belonged to the 78th Reserve Division of Hanover. Prisoners had Russian coats in their possession and came into the trenches opposite us just before the Americans took over this sector. The Americans lost many killed and wounded, including some officers. The greatest American display of courage and energy throughout the engagement, and in the instant contact was established. During the bombardment a town behind the American line was heavily shelled and there were some casualties.

PARIS, To-day. Five arrests have been made on charges of maintaining relations with the enemy. These who are held, are Henri Gay, dealer in antiques, of Dijon; Marie Tremblay, bank employee who had been a representative of the Austrian, Rosenberg, (who was prominent in Paris Bourse before the war, and who attempted to come to market just before the outbreak of hostilities); Louis Brodier, accountant, Emile Guiller, former druggist and recently price limit promoter, and Guiller's wife, Simey Depsey, a minor actress at Sarah Bernhardt's theatre.

OTTAWA, To-day. The Naval Department has received a telegram from Vikhamar, Stefan-son, Arctic explorer, which was probably conveyed from his winter quarters to Dawson City by a Royal Northwest Mounted patrol. The telegram contains information that Stefan-son's ship, Polar Bear, will come south as soon as navigation opens, but that he will not come until it. He intends taking an ice trip along with four other members of his party. How long he proposes to remain away is not stated. The message which was despatched from Dawson City by wire doesn't give date on which the explorer set out.

VIENNA, To-day. The interior of Russia, following the example of Moscow, declares strongly against separate peace with Germany. Workmen's and Soldiers' Councils in many provincial centres are issuing mobilization orders proclaiming a fight to the finish in behalf of the revolution.

BELFAST, To-day. The Belfast Branch of the British Empire League has adopted the following resolution: Owing to the sinking of the steamer Lusitania with American troops on board, urgent steps should be taken to have all enemy aliens nationalized or not, removed at once from every coast town and seaport, and prohibited from approaching within ten miles of the coast. The resolution asks all important civic bodies in Belfast to take similar action and to forward their resolutions to the Premier.

WHOLESALE SURRENDER. TEN THOUSAND. VIENNA, To-day. Ten thousand soldiers have laid down their arms and surrendered to the Allies.

The Reason Why. Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—Can you expect men to volunteer when they see the treatment accorded to some of our returned men after being wounded and incapacitated from doing further service for Empire, paid off and the miserly dole of eight dollars per month allowed them in some instances as a pension, and this to support a wife and children. A returned wounded soldier told me a month ago that he had to support a wife on that amount. That he was not strong enough to do any hard work. Some of our returned men amongst the first batch when they received that paltry amount left here for Canada or the States. The public would not mind being taxed to support any movement for providing a better pension for honourably discharged soldiers who have received wounds or sickness in serving their country. ### Seeing Different People.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

I wonder if it is true that we often see people not as they are, but as they used to be when we first knew them, when they first impressed themselves upon our consciousness. Someone was a telling me about a young-to-be middle-aged married woman who (in a perfectly permissible way) who is so attractive to men that they are always thronging her house and doing all sorts of kind things for her whole family. It seemed incomprehensible to me. "Why on earth is it?" I asked. "Why she's so bright and then she's so pretty," said my informant. "Pretty!" I echoed in surprise, "why she is so fat and red and blowsy."

She Sees Her As She Was When She First Knew Her. My informant laughed. "Yes, I suppose she does look that way to you," she said, "but I guess I see her as she was when I first knew her ten years ago. She wasn't fat then, just aptly plump and she had a lovely skin. She's changed so slowly that I don't really notice it."

It's often so, isn't it? If you lose sight of an old acquaintance and do not see him again for a long time, you may see him in a new light. But if you see him day in day out, the little changes come so gradually that you do not notice them and still see the face of your earlier impressions. Fathers and Mothers Remain of A Stationary Age.

If you are close to your mother and father, for instance, you do not realize that they are growing older. You know there are a few more grey hairs, but on the whole they are static personalities to you. And then perhaps some of your mother's or father's old friends come to see them, people of their own age and generation; you see that they are old and it is brought home to you that your mother and father have changed, too. Or more likely, her married brother or sister come home on a visit and forcibly opens your eyes for you. I do not think a husband or wife (who still loves) ever sees his mate quite as old as he or she looks to other people. No Mother Knows Her Son Is Old. And I am sure no mother ever realizes that her son has become a grey haired man. Queer, isn't it how people can look at the same face and see something quite different. In everything we see, there is something of us as well as something of the person or thing we see. Wouldn't you just love, for a few days, to get behind someone else's eyes and see through them, as they see? And wouldn't it be the best fun of all to turn them on yourself!

Masonville, June 27, '13. Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Yarmouth, N.S. Gentlemen,—It affords me great pleasure and must be gratifying to you to know that after using 36 bottles of your Liniment on a case of paralysis which my father was afflicted with, I was able to restore him to normal condition. Hoping other sufferers may be benefited by the use of your Liniment, I am, Sincerely yours, GEO. H. HOLMES.

To-day's Tabloid Tale.

By Joe Blair.
HEINIE'S SERVICE FLAG.

Undulating gracefully in the breeze outside the shop of Heinie Wiesbaden, taller for men, young men and gentlemen, waved a service flag with nine stars.

"That's what I call patriotism!" he murmured heartily.

And, being a man with an action to suit every word, he strode inside the shop and clasped the rough but honest hand of Heinie Wiesbaden.

"Sir, you are a patriot!" said Brelstorf Persiflage.

"Chess sir," replied Wiesbaden modestly.

"You, sir, a man so obviously of German birth, with Teuton lineaments but an ally's heart—why, bless my soul, it's splendid. Nine stars! Your case should go down in history! How the clarion call of democracy must have rung in your ears, how the mighty spirit of world freedom must have stirred your blood, how the distant appeal of the oppressed and down-trodden must have touched your heart, how the divine voice of justice must have echoed in your soul, for you to have made such a sacrifice!"

His eloquence filled his own eyes with tears, and Heinie Wiesbaden wept with sympathy.

"Chess sir," he snivelled brokenly, "dey—dey vass my nine best customers."

Snatching up three pairs of trousers that were awaiting patiently to be pressed, Brelstorf Persiflage strode out.

Milady's Boudoir.

ANKLE EXERCISE.

There used to be a time when our dresses, or at least the dresses of our mothers, reached to the floor, or so nearly so that a brush braid of coarse binding on the bottom hem was necessary to preserve the fabric. In those days if the tiniest bit of ankle showed it was the cue for a woman to blush. Now we have become quite accustomed to showing our ankles and woman's right to them has been fully recognized, consequently pretty ankles are greatly to be desired and add much to our beauty.

To improve the shapeliness of ankles, exercise and massage will do wonders. It will be found that most ankles that are unattractive, or not quite as shapely as the possessor might wish, either lack sufficient flesh or are too fleshy. If your ankles are a little too stout you may reduce them within a month by means of a little exercise, morning and night, for ten minutes.

Remove the shoes and stockings and cross the knee so the support is removed from one ankle. Thrust out the foot and move it around from the ankle in a twisting motion, then bend it up and down, making sure that all this is done with the ankle bone. When one foot becomes tired shift positions and exercise the other ankle.

For the thin maid who wishes to be plump, there is nothing so good as rest. Take ten minutes every little while and in a loose lounging robe, sink into a chair and let our every ounce of energy. Relax the fingers, wrist, arms, feet, ankles and legs. Drop the head heavily to the right, left and down and try to be as limp as the proverbial dishrag.

WINTER WEARINESS.

I'm tired of snow, I'm tired of sleet, I'm tired of blizzards together; I'm tired of storms that save the wheat, I'm sick of wintry weather. I try to be a cheerful guy, I strive to chirp and chortle, and hand some glee, as I pass by, to mortal. To find some joy in everything is always my endeavour; but how can one rear up and sing, when winter last forever? How can a minstrel swat his lyre to glad and pleasing numbers, when he has naught to feed the fire, and freezes while he slumbers? Each day I think the cold will break, the winter be exhausted; and every morning when I wake I find my whiskers frosted. Each day I see some hopeful sign that spring at last is coming; and in the night, at half past nine, I hear a blizzard humming. I'm tired of every wind that blows from back of the McKenzie. I'm tired of ice in sheets and peaks, of asphalt blizzards that shriek from up around Alberta. I'm tired of grates and easy chairs, when I'd be out choo-chooing; this climate's built for polar bears, and hence my loud boo-hooing.

Everyday Etiquette. "Jack carried my suitcase from the train and I didn't know quite what I ought to say," remarked Alice.

"Oh, you should have simply thanked him to show your appreciation of his kindness," said her sister.

Your Boys and Girls.

Too often is serious skin trouble traced to an infected bath tub, a wash cloth that is not entirely clean and diapers that are not properly laundered.

The tub should be carefully scrubbed and used for baby alone. Do not put soiled diapers in it to soak. The wash cloths of surgeons lint should be boiled and his towels used only once between boilings. The soiled diapers can be kept in a bucket, half filled with water and covered. They should be washed each day in warm water with a good soap. Frequently boil them and dry in the sun when possible.

You should be very careful of the food given baby after weaning. Between ten and twelve months it should have some simple, soft food, such as junket and the gruel from oatmeal and other soft cereals. Baked potato is very good if properly prepared. Butter and cream should be added. The juice from a piece of boiled, beef is excellent. Broths made from beef, mutton or chicken should be given with toasted, stale bread. About three ounces at a time is about the correct amount for a baby over twelve months old.

McCoubrey, members of the Board, the Council particularly wishes to place on record its full recognition of the great loss which has befallen the Board, and the Dominion as a whole.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council place on record their admiration of the courage and seamanship displayed by those brave men, who at the grave risk of their lives, succeeded in rescuing the survivors from the wreck, and the Council recommends that same public recognition should be made of their splendid services.

The growing American merchant marine was increased by 399 seagoing vessels in the last six months of 1917, Government officials said today, or on an average more than two a day.

TORPEDOED BUT REMAINED AFLOAT.
AN ATLANTIC PORT, March 1.
The British freight steamer Manhattan, 8,000 tons gross was torpedoed, but remained afloat while in company of warships and other Entente and American merchantmen, a few weeks ago it was said to-day by the owners of the Atlantic Transport Co. The Manhattan, it was stated, put back to a British port and discharged her cargo, and is being repaired. An American tank steamer which arrived here to-day reported that the Manhattan sank after being attacked by a U-boat which wasn't seen by the other vessels in the convoy. Details of the incident occurred some days after the vessel left port.

BRITISH SHIPPING INTERESTS.
NEW YORK, March 1.
Additional evidence that British shipping interests are not idle in plans to regain the world trade after the war was seen in maritime circles to-day in the announcement by the Royal Steam Packet Co., that new headquarters had been opened in Buenos Aires. The opening of the building was made the occasion of brilliant ceremonies at which Sir Reginald Tower, British Minister to the Argentine expressed his satisfaction that the British company have been able to record such noteworthy progress amidst the stress of war. "We are justly proud," he said, "of this achievement. The new home of the Steamship Company is said to be one of the finest structures in the Argentine capital."

STEFANSSON HEARD FROM.
DAWSON CITY, March 1.
Capt. M. Tupper, who arrived from the Arctic Coast yesterday with the Royal Northwest Mounted Police Expedition, left Herschel Island Jan. 12 where they met Stefansson. Stefansson was en route outside last fall on the whaler Polar Bear when that ship went ashore at Barter Island and couldn't get off in time to reach the Behring Sea. During the season when Tupper left, Stefansson was sick with a severe cold and fever. After Tupper arrived at Fort McPherson a letter was received saying that Stefansson was still at Herschel Island and his pulse was fifty-five above normal and the explorer was delirious. Tupper said the explorer's health was far from good, but notwithstanding poor health, Stefansson decided on getting back to Herschel Island last fall from the stranded whaler Polar Bear to make a new before it becomes summer and the ice breaks up. Tupper brings word that news was received at Fort McPherson by an Indian runner from the Hudson region saying that Captain French in charge of the Mounted Police expedition trip this year into the Arctic Ocean to study currents and intended route follows the Karlik Drift northward of Siberia. He plans travelling all the way from Herschel
