CHAPEL CHURCH BAZAAR.—This bazaar closed on Wednesday night at a late hour. It was in every respect a great success, upwards of $700 having been realized during the two days it was held. REPORTED ROBBERY.—On Wednesday night or Thursday morning last the Ontario Hotel, Guelph, kept by Mr. Thomas Merihian, was broken into and a considerable sum of money and a silver watch stolen from the till. After a few moments of active dodging round the 'busses, the baggage-master interfered, and the disputants mounted their vehicles, and drove off.

MEETING OF PRESBYTERY.—A meeting of the Presbytery of Guelph was held on Wednesday in Knox Church in this town. The principal business was the receiving and taking action upon a call from the congregation of Knox Church, Galt, to the Rev. John Macpherson, of Hilltown Church, Dundee, Scotland. Mr. Ball reported that he had, according to appointment, moderated in said call on the 29th October, and it was agreed that his conduct be approved. The call, which was signed by six hundred and eight members and two hundred and eight adherents, was sustained as a regular gospel call, and the Clerk was instructed to forward it with all convenient speed to the Presbytery of Dundee. Professor Blaikie, of Edinburgh, was appointed Commissioner to prosecute the call before that Presbytery—and we understand that Dr. Kennedy, of Dingwall, at present in this country, was requested to represent the congregation. Mr. Ball intimated that the congregation of Knox Church, Galt, was prepared to pay any expenses to which members of Presbytery had been put in attending this meeting. Arrangements were made for giving supply of sermons to New Hamburg for the current quarter, and to distribute the services of the members of the deputation appointed by the Home Mission Committee to the Presbytery of Guelph.

On Tuesday afternoon last a freight train going west ran off the track at the junction of the Galt and Berlin Railway with the Grand Trunk, precipitating four cars into the ditch, two of which were badly damaged. The cars were adjusted in about five hours and traffic resumed.

WELLINGTON FALL ASSIZES.

BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HOGG. Guelph, Nov. 7th.

PLISHE V. HOGG.

This was an action brought by Mr. Archibald Filshie against Mr. John Hogg, both of Guelph, to recover the value of certain property claimed to have been purchased by Mr. Filshie from Mr. Hogg under an agreement dated 10th March, 1873, and which Mr. Hogg declines to deliver. It appears that Mr. Hogg was owner of the Guelph Malleable Iron Works under the agreement referred to, he sold to the plaintiff lots 12 and 13 on the west side of Suffolk-street, the Malleable Iron Works thereon, and all the tools and machinery about the said works connected therewith, also the same in said works. The question is whether or not certain iron pots, scales and weights were included in this agreement. The articles in dispute were 60 anamling pots, 15 tons of "scales," and 200 weights, about 23 lbs. each; total value about $400. Mr. Sinclair and Mr. Macdonald appeared for plaintiff; Mr. Guthrie for defendant.

Archibald Filshie stated that the articles in dispute were required for the purposes of the manufacture carried on in the works; that they were in the building when he made the agreement; that when he took possession about a week afterwards they were gone; and that in the interim he saw Mr. Robertson and two laborers moving them away, and protested against it. He then saw Mr. Hogg, who said that he did not mean to sell them, and refused to let plaintiff have them. Witness explained the process of the manufacture of malleable iron, stating that ordinary castings after being cleaned were put in the anamling pots with a quantity of the "scales" referred to and heated. The "scales" consist simply of the substance which peels off red-hot wrought iron under the blacksmith's hammer. Heating the castings with the "scales" has the effect of toughening the fibre of the iron, making it what is commonly known as "malleable iron." The weights are used to prevent the heated iron from expanding the moulds, which are made in what are called "trap boxes." Snap boxes cannot be used without weights. In cross-examination by Mr. Guthrie, plaintiff said that the deed (dated 13th March) was made to his wife; he did not take possession until the manufactured stock was removed. Witness got the key about a week after the agreement, and did not nail up the windows nor perform any act of possession until then. Witness agreed to leave the key until the manufactured goods were removed, when he saw Mr. Robertson, and the latter said the pots, &c., were sold to a person in Hamilton. Did not recollect giving permission for the pots to remain on the premises until cars could be got. Witness now rents the property to a man who does sewing-machine work. Witness gave Mr. Hogg, in exchange for the works, some property belonging to his wife, and the deed was executed in his presence, and that Mrs. Filshie's property covered the cost of both works and plant. Witness made a fresh purchase of "scales" and weights from Mr. Hogg about the time of removal. These were a portion of the disputed goods. A reduction of $20 was made in the amount from the weight of the iron. All the disputed goods were not taken away; that portion that witness bought were left on the premises.

Hugh Harley, moulder, practically acquainted with the manufacture of malleable iron, said that the pots were necessary for the work; scales generally used, but not absolutely necessary. They were implements used in the manufacture. Mr. J. B. Armstrong, carriage manufacturer, said malleable iron could not be made right without the use of the pots. Would call the pots tools of the trade.

Mr. Guthrie opened the case for the defence. He took the ground that Mrs. Filshie was the proper party to sue; and second that if the articles were tools, and did pass under the agreement, then no delivery was necessary, as the title of Mr. or Mrs. Filshie, as the case might be, was perfect on March 13, and the property was in his possession; therefore there was no breach of the agreement, and the only action which could be brought was one of trover, for the recovery of the property taken away by Mr. Hogg. As to this, however, the evidence showed that the goods were received with Mr. Hogg's consent. He finally, Mr. Guthrie contended that the articles were not tools, because a tool was an instrument for manual operation, and different from a vessel to hold anything, or a bench to hold articles upon. No doubt the pots were necessary for the manufacture; but the agreement specified tools and machinery. The scales and weights could not be called tools. He took the difference between tools and utensils to be that the former was for active and the latter for passive operation.

His lordship said he held that the pots and weights were tools under the meaning of the agreement, and that the scales were not; and he should so advise the jury. The property was unmistakably from the wife's, but for the purpose of this action it would be necessary to assume that Filshie had a right to deal with the transaction on his own account, and leave the question as between Filshie and his wife to be decided in another court.

Mr. John Hogg said he went to the works after the deeds passed; saw Mr. Robertson and Mr. Filshie at the works about ten days afterwards. Mr. Robertson was then shipping the pots, scales, iron and other articles. Some conversation ensued between his lordship and Mr. Guthrie. The latter proposed to show that the goods were removed by Filshie's consent thereby disposing of the count for trover; but his lordship said that he could not receive this evidence, because Mr. Guthrie could not undertake to prove that the wife's consent was also given to the removal.

Mr. Hogg continued his evidence, that the agreement was closed on the 13th March. The property in dispute was then on the premises. Cross-examined.—Witness saw the property on the premises after giving plaintiff the key. Before making the agreement Filshie was told that the pots, scales, and weights were to be sold. They were not actually sold until after March 14.

Mr. Robertson, formerly partner with Mr. Hogg in the works, said that the day after the deed was drawn he went to the premises, and separated the articles that Mr. Filshie had sold from the other. Witness said he had sold from the outfit was there a part of the time. He said he had the key until the 11th, when he referred to, and he agreed. Spoke to him in reference to his buying some of the pots to carry on the business; he said he didn't know, he might buy some of them; he did not then say they were his. He had the key before the disputed articles were shipped, on the 25th March, and witness got it from him again. Did not consider that the pots and weights were tools.

His lordship instructed the jury to return a verdict in the plaintiff's favor for $450.22, the value of the pots and weights. Leave was given for the defendant to move to have the verdict set aside on the ground that the property belonged to the plaintiff's wife.

THE MARYBORO ASSAULT CASE.

Caspar Stratieboro was charged with wounding J. W. S. Trompaniser, with intent to do persons bodily harm, in the township of Maryboro', in June last. There were two other counts in the indictment, one charging the prisoner with assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm, and the other charging him with a common assault. Mr. Sinclair conducted the case for the prosecution, and Mr. Macdonald for the defendant.

Wm. S. Trompaniser, aged 19, stated that he was at Wm. Bowman's store, on 6th con. line, on the evening of 17th June, when prisoner broke plaintiff's right arm by striking him several times with a stick, and he then blackened both of plaintiff's eyes with his fist. The stick was about as thick as a tumbler, and two or three feet long. Did not say anything before or afterwards to defendant to provoke him; was laid up ten weeks in consequence of the assault.

At the time prisoner struck me I had my wife down on the road, and was holding her by the wrists. She had previously assaulted me; her husband was then hid behind the store; it was dark at the time; I could not see the stick, but I had hold of it; I did not strike prisoner's face; I said she deserved to be ridden on a rail, when we were in the store previously. She struck me with a club just as I went out. I tried to get away from her, and we fell on the ground from the steps. I tried to get away from her; she held me tight, and whilst I was raising myself from the ground, her husband struck me with the club.

Michael Doherty, of the township of Maryboro', generally corroborated prosecutor's statements. No one interfered to prevent the assault. After the arm was broken, prisoner and his wife made pressure, but the former was unable to stand. At the time prisoner hit plaintiff, he had a broken pistol, and that his brother Willie told him Mrs. Stratieboro's threat was more pepper in his face.

Joseph Ansman saw Mrs. Stratieboro and her sons gathering sticks on the side of the road before the fray commenced. He agreed with the account given by the former witnesses. When the blow was struck, Trompaniser raised his arm to protect his head, and the stick smashed it. He called for help, but no one went to help him. Dr. Fell, of Hollin, who set the broken arm, said that the injury was a simple fracture, not complicated by any flesh wounds. A slight fracture would take about two months to firmly unite.

For the defence, Mr. Macdonald said that only one person was able to state what the prisoner claimed was the true state of the case; that was the prisoner's wife; and she was unfortunately unable to be present. The prisoner's statement was that the prosecutor had assaulted his wife, and he struck the prosecutor in her defence. There was a discrepancy between the present evidence of the prosecutor and that he gave before the police court.

His lordship said the first count could not be sustained, because the skin must be cut to constitute a wound in law. The wife of the prisoner appeared to be as much or more to blame than the prisoner. There was no doubt that he broke the young man's arm.

His lordship said that the prisoner's wife had not been present, and that the jury found the prisoner guilty of assaulting with intent to do grievous bodily harm; and the Judge deferred passing sentence.

NO BILL. The Grand Jury reported that they had found "no bill" against Francis Forbes, charged with larceny.

CHURCH V. MCINDLESS.—This was an undischarged action in trover; Mr. Dunbar for plaintiff. Verdict $120 damages.

SMITH V. CANADA OIL COMPANY.—Action for goods sold and delivered. Mr. Macdonald, for plaintiff, took a verdict for $200.

THE CASE OF LOT ROE. Mr. Sinclair stated that the Chief Constable had received a telegram from the woman named Frazer, stating that a man named Frazer, one of her witnesses in the charge of assault against Lot Roe was sick and could not attend. Mr. Sinclair therefore proposed to hold the case over until the Quarter Sessions.

Mr. McMillan objected, but his lordship said he could do nothing if the Crown's case was not ready. Lot Roe was then bound over in his own recognizances to appear at the Quarter Sessions on the charge of common assault—the charge of indecent assault having been thrown out by the Grand Jury.

Nov. 6. The Court opened at half past nine, his lordship having stated "at he did not wish to keep suitors and witnesses in Town over Sunday if he could avoid it, and those Jurymen who wished to attend church could do so.

LYONS V. THOMPSON.—This case was referred to arbitration.

BEATTIE V. MOORE.—Mr. Guthrie for plaintiff. Recd. withdrawn on payment of debt and costs.

MERCHANTS BANK V. GRAHAM.—HAND V. HICKS.—Records withdrawn by Mr. Macdonald, instructed by Mr. Fead.

TRUE BILL. The Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Geo. Gregg, for rescue.

MACKENZIE V. CHISHOLM. This was an action brought to recover damages for the non-delivery of railway tickets. Mr. Macdonald for plaintiff; Mr. Lane for defendant.

Wm. J. Mackenzie, of Owen Sound, the plaintiff, stated that he made a contract with the defendant, Mr. John Chisholm, Owen Sound, to supply 50,000 ties, at 16 cents each, at the rate of 10,000 a month. In consequence of the failure of the defendant to fully carry out his contract, plaintiff was compelled to procure 1,842 ties from the T. G. & B. Company at an advanced rate—20c. each—which was what the Company had to pay Mr. Sianly; and they cost plaintiff $157 additional to haul them from Proton, which was the nearest point at which they could be got. There was also an extra cost of 5c per tie incurred on 11,200 ties through the lateness of delivery. Plaintiff had also a contract to furnish the company with 7,387 ties at 21c. each, and the defd. had agreed to furnish plaintiff with these at 10c each; he therefore claimed the difference of 5c. as loss of profit. The ties ought to have been piled at equal distances along the road, and were not, thus causing extra labor in distributing.

Harry Bagnall, roadmaster of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Co., said that the ties on Messrs. Mackenzie's section were short about 700 per cent on sixteen miles and it would cost at least 5c. a tie extra to put them in their places after the rails were laid. In cross-examination the witness was positive as to the cost, and made a decided hit by saying "very positively to the counsel—"If I were to take a contract from you, I would not do it for less than 5c."

Donald Ross gave evidence as to the cost of fetching the ties from Proton. J. O'Hara and James Cameron testified that the ties delivered by Chisholm were not grouped at equal distances along the road causing about two-thirds more labor in distributing them than would otherwise have been caused.

F. Symonds, representative of the late Mr. Sheehan's executors, stated the number of ties delivered.

For the defence it was contended that Mr. Chisholm delivered a larger number of ties than that stated in the plaintiff's case and that he piled the ties as nearly in regular order as the nature of the ground and the state of the work would allow, and in the manner directed by the plaintiff, although not exactly in accordance with the contract. Although the ties were not delivered within the stipulated time, it was contended that they were delivered very shortly afterwards, and the plaintiff waived the delivery at the exact time. It was shown in reference to the damages claimed for inserting the ties under the rails that from 800 to 1,000 ties were left along the rails, and that Mr. Mackenzie purposely left out the ties in order to hastily prepare the line for the running of trains over it. Mr. Lane urged that Mr. Mackenzie had to procure 1,800 ties over and above the 50,000 defendant had contracted for, and these were the 1,800 odd which he procured at an advanced rate from the T.G. & B. It was also stated Mr. Chisholm could not get the money for his ties from the plaintiff. Mr. Chisholm was the only witness for the defence.

The Jury returned a verdict for plaintiff. Damages $644.

The Crisis at Ottawa.

There is felt a general sense of relief at the altered political relations of the country. Many pronounced supporters of Sir John have given to the Reform leaders assurance of fair play and assistance. The remark is now generally made that the time for a change had come, and the sense of relief at being saved by the final action of the Government of the responsibility of having to give an indefensible vote is conveyed in many ways.

Great indignation is expressed at the conduct of the late administration in making the appointments referred to in another column. Mr. Crawford, it is admitted, was promised the Lieutenant-Governorship of Ontario two months ago. He was therefore effectually precluded from discharging the duties of a member of Parliament, if the spirit of the independence of Parliament is to be observed, as though the patent had been issued. In all probability Mr. Hugh Macdonald accepted the seat in the Privy Council he has just vacated, with the understanding that the judgeship should be open to him if an adverse vote destroyed the Administration.

A caucus of the Opposition, lately the Ministerial party, was held on Thursday, and by appointment, Sir John A. Macdonald, leader, endorsed and adopted the inquiries for which he has been so severely condemned by the House of Commons, whilst the party refused to be led to destruction by a formal vote in the House, and managed to shirk the dangerous obligation. It is said John A's policy is one of direct and bitter hostility to the new Administration, and to oppose some, if not all, of the members of the Cabinet who are compelled by the acceptance of office to seek re-election at the hands of their constituents. We do not believe for one moment such tactics will be successful. It is notorious that several of the late supporters of the Ministry refused to attend the caucus, and have openly expressed their determination to judge the Ministry by their measures, and not to offer any factious opposition in the selfish interest of a party chief who has brought disgrace upon himself, his supporters, and his country.

It is understood that Mr. James McDonald, M.P. for Picton, leaves immediately for the Maritime Provinces, to stir up any mischief in his power.

FATAL GUN ACCIDENT.—A boy about 12 years old, named Squires, had been out shooting, contrary to his parents' wishes, near the river, in the township of Elkfrid, about Tuesday last, and had brought home his gun loaded. While endeavouring to conceal it by placing the gun under the house, the trigger went off and the contents of the gun penetrated the unfortunate boy's groin. He lingered three days and then died, having suffered great agony.

On Saturday evening, the 25th ult., Mr. M.S. Begg, of Mount Forest, was made the recipient of a complimentary address and a purse containing ten dollars, as a tribute of esteem from the teachers and scholars of the Sabbath School in South Arthur.

The Waterloo Chronicle complains that Judge Miller only passed sentence of 30 days upon the party who wantonly and mischievously uprooted and destroyed several valuable trees in the grounds of Mr. George Randall some weeks ago.

The New Reform Ministry.

Mr. Mackenzie has been able to form his Ministry in a much shorter time than any one expected. As regards its personnel, we think it will meet the approval of the country. Its members are men of experience and integrity, influenced by principles who will not countenance wrong doing, and who, we believe will inaugurate a broad and liberal policy in carrying on the government, and endeavour to effect many much needed reforms in all departments. The Globe says:—"Some changes in the distribution of offices may be made, and there is a vacancy in the Quebec representation, but the Cabinet may safely be said to be formed. It will be observed that Mr. Blake takes a seat in the Cabinet without a portfolio, and that the place thus left vacant has been given to Mr. Laird, Prince Edward Island being considered entitled, by its large population, to representation in the Government. Mr. Blake yielded to the desire of his friends that he should take office with great reluctance, and the sacrifice he has made will be duly appreciated by the Reformers of Ontario.

Resignation of the Macdonald Government.

While the whole country was waiting with breathless expectation for the vote on Wednesday night, came the news that the Government had anticipated the verdict of the House, and had laid down the seals of office. At first men were credulous about the report, but later information confirmed it. Every one believed that the Government, having maintained the battle so long, would fight it out to the bitter end, and go down with the harness on their back. But Sir John Macdonald, astute and cunning to the last, disappointed all expectations: though in handing in the resignation of his Ministry he virtually acknowledged his and their guilt in the transactions for which they were being tried by the people's representatives, and for which they would have been most unequivocally condemned had they dared to face a vote, and allowed the trial to go on to its final issue. As it now is the Premier has the doubtful advantage of having shirked a vote which would have fastened a stain upon his public character for ever, and he has saved some of his followers the degradation of giving a vote which, in their consciences, they knew was wrong and indefensible.

The Ministry and their friends were pretty confident of victory up till Tuesday; but Mr. Blake's magnificent speech the previous evening, and the avowal made by two of the Prince Edward Island members, and by Mr. D. A. Smith, that they would support Mr. Mackenzie's amendment, opened their eyes to the real situation. It was at last reluctantly forced on them that their sinking cause was irrevocably lost—that all the base and corrupt means employed to buy and influence votes had signally failed—and that there were men enough in the Ministerial ranks, who had the integrity and dignity of the nation, and the purity of its politics, more at heart than the mere allegiance due to a party or to a leader.

There is everywhere a sensible relief felt at the downfall of a minister, who for twenty years has been the supreme mover in all manner of corrupt acts in connection with the government of the country. It has at last come to an end, and he has fallen a disgraced man—the charge being brought home and proved that he had bartered away a great national

WHAT TO WEAR.

This is a question which in all probability occupies to a certain extent the attention of every lady in the town of Guelph at the present time. A. O. BUCHAM has great pleasure in intimating that all his efforts are directed towards a satisfactory solution of this problem. THE PLOTTERS AND THEIR VICTIMS—IAN SPURNED BY FLORA—CAMERON JUBILANT—SURPRISED!

"Oh, heaven—yes, yes," moaned the poor girl, as the associations which their words called up burst upon her with their full force, and in all their hideousness.

"Then why do you think it should now interpose? Merely because it happens to be Hector M'Leod who is likely to be the victim? Why should Heaven interpose when you refuse to sacrifice yourself for one who is more dear to you than any other?"

"Gense, man, and do not pain me more than I can bear. You are a tempter and a mocker." An eloquent light shone in Flora's eyes as she continued—"God knows, hard as the struggle might be, I would not hesitate to give myself a sacrifice for Hector M'Leod if that were necessary and I thought it would please him; but I should ever look upon the man who caused me to do so as a villain, and would hate and loathe him with my whole soul. I tell you, Ian M'Kenzie, I cannot be yours. I do not believe such an issue is before me, so press me no more. I wish to be left to my own thoughts; although they be far from pleasant, I prefer them to your company."

A look of intense malignity shot across the face of Ian as he heard these latter words, and he trembled with the passion which was raging within him as he exclaimed—

"Flora Macgregor, it is useless longer to conceal our true relationship. Your uncle has sworn to me that you shall be compelled to be my wife. That oath I too have sworn shall be fulfilled. Hector M'Leod is helpless and cannot reach you, and you shall be forced to be mine, if you will not voluntarily consent to do the will of your uncle."

For a few seconds our heroine was silent; then she looked up, tears standing in her eyes, and a deep flush softening her features, and said—

"Ian M'Kenzie, why should you so desire to wed me? You surely know that I am but a penniless girl, whose parentage may cover my birth with disgrace, although for the sake of my dear mother's memory I try to banish the thought of such a thing being possible; and when I tell you fairly and honestly that I can bear no love to you, why at all could you persist in forcing on a union which could be productive of no happiness?"

Poor girl! little did she dream that Ian M'Kenzie knew more of her parentage than she did; and that it was simply because he did know that she was far from penniless—if she had her rights—that he cared to possess her. The wealth would bring him the happiness he desired, and he cared for nothing more.

"You are mistaken," he exclaimed, with feigned affection. "I love you warmly. That love would one day melt your heart, and make you regard me with affection. Besides, you would feel grateful that I had been the means of saving M'Leod from an early death."

"Gense, villain, and leave me," returned Flora, excitedly. "Your language is unbearable. If you had loved me, you would not have addressed me as you have already done. I throw the foul lie back into your teeth. And suppose I am forced into this union, which I shall resist to the utmost of my strength, I have already told you with what feelings I shall regard you—with loathing and hatred. And why should I do otherwise? Think ye that I should be grateful to you for rescuing Hector M'Leod from the danger you prepared for him? No, Ian M'Kenzie; my sense of justice is more true than you suppose it. Again I tell you I desire this conversation to be prolonged no farther. It has been from the first distasteful to me, and I would rather be alone to commune with God and my own soul in my affliction."

Ian's breath came hard and fast, and his muscles twitched nervously as he listened to these stinging words. He was angry, and, had a man spoken to him in the manner in which this heroic girl had just addressed him, the fiery youth would have on the instant struck him. But as it was, he contented himself with hissing out—

"Flora Macgregor, do you think Donald Cameron will be pleased when I communicate to him the result of this interview?"

"If I have the approval of Heaven and of my own conscience, I care not what Donald Cameron may think," replied the brave girl, firmly. Then she added, with a scornful laugh, "And is Ian M'Kenzie a boy that he has to recite his love passages to his elders? It is only men who know their own thoughts and their own minds who should offer their love."

Ian looked abashed for an instant. Then, with a sneer, he said—

"Perhaps you may one day learn whether I am a man or a boy. I have a man's resolution and a man's will, to which you shall be subjected."

"Then you will learn what it is to conquer a determined woman trained in the school of adversity," was the reply. "Again, are you to leave me?"

"I am done with you for the present, Miss Macgregor, but we shall meet again." Picking up the lantern, he moved towards the door. Turning just before going out, he said—

"Am I to have no other answer, then?"

There was no reply.

Harriston Correspondence.
The great comic actor, James Taylor, gave one of his very popular exhibitions in Collison's Hall here on Thursday, the 30th, to a crowded house. The performance was throughout superior to anything before attempted here. The songs in character were most amusing; and the representation of the New York Police Court, changing himself from Police Magistrate to the prisoner can scarcely be excelled.

Buildings.—John Wedge is building a residence on Arthur-street; W. Wait has completed a handsome residence just west of the railway track; S. Teeple has completed his residence on Arthur-street. In addition to those there are a great many other buildings in course of completion too numerous to particularize.

Quite a heavy fall of snow fell here on Friday, also on Sunday. Sleighs were running on Monday, and we are brought in mind of winter by the ringing of the sleigh bells.

THE FAIR.—Considering the state of the roads and the unpropitious weather the fair last Friday was well attended by both buyers and sellers, but the cattle in many cases were not in good order, and consequently did not command high prices, so that farmers preferred talking them over again. The following are a few of the sales:—Roderick McLeod 1 steer, $25; John Corbet 1 cow, $25; John McLean 1 heifer, $14; Alex. Meikiejohn 1 cow, $25; Donald Smith 4 head $65; William Horrocks 3 head, $65; John Johnston 3 head, $61; Murdoch McLeod 1 steer, $22; Robert Johnston yoke of oxen, $80; Hugh Wright 1 cow, $20; Thos. Lemon 2 steers, $66.50.

STEAMER BAVARIAN BURNED.
Fourteen Persons Lost.
THREE WOMEN BURNED.

Oshawa, Nov. 6.—The steamer Bavarian took fire last night about eight o'clock, when opposite Oshawa. She was a mass of flames in an instant, and only two boats were lowered, both of which reached land, containing twenty-two persons altogether. There were fourteen remaining who are almost, without a doubt, lost. Amongst the fourteen are the Captain, Carmichael of Toronto, the chief engineer, Wm. Finucane, of Prescott; the steward, Wm. Spence, of Lachine; also, three lady passengers, Mrs. Sibbald and daughter, of Brockville, and Miss Ireland, of Kingston, and Mr. Hilliard Wear, of Chatham.

LATER.
Oshawa, Nov. 6.—When the steamer Bavarian was nearly opposite Oshawa harbour going east, last night she was notified to be on fire. The first intimation the passengers had was that the disaster they heard two reports, and the steamer was enveloped in flames in an instant. There were four lifeboats on her, but the flames prevented more than two being launched. They only succeeded in saving 22 persons. The pursuer was lost. Amongst the missing is Capt. Carmichael; the chief engineer, Mr. Finucane, of Prescott; the steward, Wm. Spence of Lachine; also, three lady passengers, Mrs. Sibbald and daughter, of Brockville; Miss Ireland, of Kingston; and Mr. Hilliard Wear, of Chatham, at present. Those that were saved arrived at this port about twelve o'clock, and received every attention which lay in the power of Mr. J. O. Guy, the Harbour-master.

The pursuer, Mr. L. A. McPherson, gives the following statement with respect to the catastrophe:—
"We left Toronto on Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock. When off Oshawa and about fifteen miles from shore a fire broke out amidships and the boat was almost immediately in a mass of flames. Three boats were lowered, one of which drifted away before any one got into it. It was not blowing hard at the time. The other two boats reached land in safety about one o'clock this morning. One of them was commanded by the first mate, John Henderson, of Charlottetown, Y., and contained thirteen persons, two of whom were passengers and the rest members of the crew. The passengers were J. J. Parmenter, Toronto, and Master James Clare, of Manitoba; the others were Chas. Bradley, second mate; James Finucane, the watchman, two firemen, J. Leocot, wheelman, Wm. Marchant and John Bevere, waiters, a mess room boy, a deck hand, whose name I do not know, and Henderson and myself. The other boat was commanded by the pilot, a Frenchman, whose first name is Napoleon, and contained nine persons, all belonging to the crew. Amongst them were the ladies' maid, Ann Geraghty, and John McGowan, fireman. The names of the others I do not know.

There were fourteen persons left aboard the steamer who could not get off. The flames spread so quickly that it was almost impossible to do anything. One of the small boats was scorched, and one of the mates got his face burnt. Amongst those lost are the captain, Charles Carmichael, of Toronto; the chief engineer, William Finucane, of Prescott; the steward, William Spence, of Lachine, formerly of Kingston; Mrs. Sibbald and daughter, of Brockville; Miss Ireland, of Kingston, who was returning home from Chatham, where she had been seeing her brother, and Mr. Hilliard Wear, of Chatham, who had been travelling with her. There was very little screaming or anything of that sort, but when we were leaving the steamer I heard something like moaning. Some one said that they saw two women standing on her stern. The last I saw of Capt. Carmichael he was in the water holding on to a plank. He called out "Charley, Charley, Charley," to the second mate, and we went over to him; a boy who was near him then got hold of the boat, and while we were pulling him in the captain seemed to paddle away from us, and we lost him. Some one said that he had a life preserver, but it is not likely he lived long, the water was so cold. Amongst those leaving the hall of the steamer into Whitty this morning when I left. She had on board about 1,300 barrels of apples, about 50 tons of bacon, and a small quantity of other freight when she was burned.

The Bavarian was the old steamer Kingston rebuilt. The Kingston, it will be recalled, was burned in the St. Lawrence a year ago last June, and her hull being of iron it was used in the construction of the Bavarian. The latter was put on the lake and river route on the first of last July. She was a very fine boat, valued at about $250,000. She was insured against fire to the amount of about $40,000 or $45,000.

Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.
St. John Macdonald, in answer to a question by Mr. Jones, thought as Ald. Heney, accused of attempting to bribe Mr. Cunningham, was suffering no great wrong, his case could be over for a day or two. He had to announce that the Ministry had resigned. Till last night they believed they had the support of this House; that the House would not give them a vote of confidence, but sufficient support to enable them to carry on satisfactorily the affairs of the Government. However, from certain things stated in this House, and from certain communications more or less formal outside of the House, they had reason to believe—in fact they knew—that they had not at this moment a good working majority. The consequence was that he felt it his duty to-day to go to His Excellency and respectfully tender him the resignation of the Government, and His Excellency's authority. He had then resigned from His Excellency to state that he had accepted the resignation of the Administration, and sent for Mr. Macdonald, the leader of the Opposition, to form a Government. Under these circumstances he thought that, unless his best friend from Leeds and Grenville was of opinion that Mr. Heney was suffering no great wrong, that matter might stand over, and he would move the adjournment of the House. The House immediately adjourned.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.
The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock. Several of the members had changed seats, Messrs. Hinck, Blanchet, Savary, and other Ministerialists sitting on the Opposition side. It was noted that the seats of Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake, Holt, Donion, Coffin, A. J. Smith, and others were vacant.

Sir John A. Macdonald said—I presume it is in accordance with the ordinary practice under the circumstances, the Government having resigned, and

Mr. Mackenzie having been sent for, that some communication would be made to this House from that side of the House, and we wait for that communication.
Mr. Geoffrion—I have to state to the House that I have been requested by Mr. Mackenzie to state to the House that the formation of a new Ministry is in a state of progress, and to ask that the House adjourn. I therefore move the adjournment of the House.
Sir John A. Macdonald seconded the motion, which was agreed to.
The House adjourned till three o'clock to-morrow.

IMPROVE NUTRITION.—The central idea in the treatment of all Chronic Wasting Diseases, resulting in Nervous Prostration and General Debility, is to improve the Digestion and Assimilation of Food and the Formation of Healthy Blood. Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of Phosphates and Cellulose contains the elements known that act directly as excitants of nutrition, by imparting tone to the Stomach, Liver and Pancreas, the great triad that prepares nourishment for building up the organs and tissues of the body. The action of this remarkable preparation is extraordinary in strength and vitalizing the constitution, whether impaired by age, exhausted by excesses and habits, or run down by old complaints that have resisted all ordinary methods of treatment. Being a delicious cordial to take and perfectly harmless under all circumstances, it is eminently adapted to prostrate anemic women and delicate children.

Iron in the Blood
PERUVIAN SYRUP
MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Proven solution of the Iron in the Blood, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the Blood, and cures "an thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damage, and waste, searching out and driving out all morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of its wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its enervating effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.
See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. Pamphlets Free.
