

WHY WOMEN WRITE LETTERS

To Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

Women who are well often ask "Are the letters which the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. are continually publishing, genuine?" "Are they truthful?" "Why do women write such letters?"

In answer we say that never have we published a fictitious letter or name. Never, knowingly, have we published an untruthful letter, or one without the full and written consent of the woman who wrote it.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and suffering.

It has relieved women from some of the worst forms of female ills, from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, nervousness, weakness, stomach troubles and from the blues.

It is impossible for any woman who is well and who has never suffered to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mexico is still a thorn in the side of the United States. Keeping the Mexicans in line without giving him a good licking, seems to be rather a difficult task.

Whatever else is accomplished in the way of terms at the end of the war, the Allies must not overlook the personal punishment of the German emperor and the other curs that follow in his train. Few persons, now, are blaming the German people. They are the unhappy victims of the monstrous system which the Allies have sworn to crush.

In May, 1914, before war was thought of, Canadian bank deposits were, on demand, $340,748,488, and on notice, $663,945,783. In May 1916, they were, on demand, $412,301,481, and on notice $765,064,041. The notice deposits are largely savings, and the increase in this class of over a hundred millions during two years of war is evidence of how remarkably Canada has stood the financial strain of the conflict.

F. B. McCurdy, member of Parliament for Queen and Shelburn, has been appointed parliamentary secretary of the Department of Militia and Defence. He assumes office immediately and will act as administrator for the Minister of Militia during the absence of General Hughes in London and on the continent. The departure is new for Canada but corresponds with the British practice where every portfolio has an under-secretary. The secretaryship carries with it the title of honorable.

continue another year. He would be nearer his base and therefore stronger. Also he would possess shorter lines to protect, and his fewer men would look stronger. But it is a grave problem whether, with all the pressure to which he is subjected on every part of the western front, he can break away from the enemy which so closely hangs upon his trenches. To go back is as bad as to go forward, and he has lost the power to choose which he will do.

Holding a Bear by the Tail

No doubt the deliberation with which the entente allies are proceeding on the western front is a perplexing factor for the Germans. The kaiser is too weak to attack and not strong enough to retreat. His efforts at counter-attack have only been possible with the assistance of troops taken from other points of the front, and the result is to weaken the German line. Wherever he attacks he loses men. Wherever he procures reinforcements his border is weakened. When the line is sufficiently reduced we may look for a general offensive from the entente allies. If the kaiser could retreat as brilliantly as he did from the Marne he may the Dominion in 1867, the number of big things she has accomplished make a long list. A few of them may be briefly enumerated: The Sault Ste. Marie Canal, with the greatest single lock in the world; an irrigation dam 7,000 feet long at Bassano, Alberta; the largest railway tunnel in America at the Rogers Pass, now nearing completion; the largest single-span bridge in the world, now building at Quebec; the new $60,000,000 Welland Canal; the great harbor works at St. John and Halifax; a railway mileage of 3,75 miles per head, ranking in total mileage after the United States, Russia, Germany and India; an area equal to thirty United Kingdoms, eighteen Germanys, or eighteen times the size of France.

The Smooth Thing

"You'll catch more flies with molasses than with vinegar" is a favorite saying with those who hunt business with a sugar stick in one hand and a lie in the other.

When you find one of these sweet fellows, with no opinions of his own, whose compliments are as thick as the blossoms in May, look out for the fly trap. When you hear a man advocating the "smooth thing" in business, politics or religion, never let him get within 20 feet of your cash box. Those who sell their principles or opinions for the sake of "keeping in with" people, will sell you body and bones, if they get a chance.

"Be 'umble, Uriah, and you'll do," was the injunction of immortal Heep's mother to her offspring, and this advice has been repeated from time to time by those advocating the smooth thing as a method of getting along in the world.

Away with such sentiments as unworthy of a being made to walk upright and look his fellow in the face. Manhood is more than money, position, honor or even friendship. To be a man is better than success, as the world takes it; to be a snivelling, smirking cipher with a big credit balance in the bank is infinitely worse than failure. Be a man.

For the swiftest photography an electrical device has been invented that ignites flash light powder and snaps a camera shutter when the light is most brilliant.

In the opinion of a French scientist the swinging motion that often breaks electric transmission lines is due as much to terrestrial magnetism as it is to wind.

All Sorts of Items

Women are being employed to fire boilers in the factories of England.

Over 5,000,000 women are employed in agricultural pursuits in Germany.

Louise Daniel Wirth, niece of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, is a moving picture actress.

Arkon (O.) girls must show age certificates before being admitted to dance halls in that city.

Women park workers in Birmingham, Eng., have proved so successful that their wages have been raised.

In Kansas women hold political jobs so well that the men have a hard time getting them out of office.

Driven by a kerosene motor, a motorcycle has been invented that carries four persons seated ahead of one another and is controlled by the man on the back seat.

Fresh Supplies in Demand.—Wherever Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has been introduced increased supplies have been ordered, showing that wherever it goes this excellent Oil impresses its power on the people. No matter in what latitude it may be found its potency is never impaired. It is put up in most portable shape in bottles and can be carried without fear of breakage.

German experts after tests have decided that ivy benefits rather than injures stone or brick walls on which it grows by drawing superfluous moisture from them.

Electrical devices connected with the recently invented mirror cause advertisements to appear on its surface and obscure the features of persons looking into it.

Children and Discipline

The following hints to teachers which appeared in the "Educational Review" will be equally useful for parents.

Prevention of wrong-doing is better than punishment of the wrong-doer.

Exercise great care in taking a stand that you may have no occasion to retreat.

Fault finding is not calculated to cure a fault.

Distrust in the parent breeds deceit in the child.

A child properly employed gives no trouble.

Be firm.

Be kind.

Be patient.

Be self-contained.

Be as perfect as you ask your children to be.

And above all, make no threats.

Electrical apparatus has been invented automatically to give warning when a chimney smokes by illuminating a sign and, if this be disregarded, by ringing a bell.

It will cost Australia about $25,000,000 to open the Murray river to navigation and to construct an irrigation system that will develop 1,500,000 acres of land.

"Safety First"

Don't pour water on burning fat.

Don't throw sugar on fire.

Don't fill lamps after dark or when lighted.

Don't use gasoline in the house.

Don't start a fire with kerosene.

Don't keep matches within reach of children.

If fat takes fire, throw on flour, salt, baking powder or sand.

If a lamp takes fire toss it out of doors, cover with a rug or throw on salt, baking powder or flour.

If the chimney takes fire burn salt or sulphur in the fireplace; pour sand down the chimney.

If a fire starts in a closet beat it out with a broom and water.

If the bed takes fire push the mattress on to the floor, and beat with wet brooms.

If the curtains catch fire do not try to pull them down, remove nearby objects, and use a wet broom to smother the burning pieces as they fall.

Worms in children, if they be not attended to, cause convulsions, and often death. Other "Graves' Worm" Exterminator will protect the children from these distressing afflictions.

A horse in the Fox livery, Amherstburg, came to an untimely end on Saturday night. He had been suffering for a week with tetanus and to relieve his suffering somewhat was turned out in the back yard during the night. During a spasm of pain the animal reared and threw himself into a wagon box, entangling his front legs, one of which was broken. It took eight quarts of chloroform to put him to sleep forever.

The Best Liver Pill.—The action of the liver is easily disarranged. A sudden chill, undue exposure to the elements, over-indulgence in some favorite food, excess in drinking, are a few of the causes. But whatever may be the cause, Par-melee's Vegetable Pills can be relied upon as the best corrective that can be taken. They are the leading liver pills and they have no superiors among such preparations.

John Harman, of Delaware State had an exciting time when he was awakened at night by a noise in the barn. He went to investigate and was greeted by a new colt. A lowing attracted his attention and in the constable he found that a calf had arrived. In the woodshed was a litter of pups. On returning to his room he was astonished to find that his wife had presented him with a baby boy. We wonder what happened to the cat that she failed to have kittens.

Toronto

Toronto, August 2.—Receipts today at the Union stockyards were 458 cattle, 137 calves, 693 hogs and 219 sheep and lambs. With the cooler weather and a very light run of cattle there was a firmer tone to the market to-day and prices for good choice butcher cattle were about 10c higher. Practically everything was cleaned up early, leaving a clear slate for to-morrow's market.

Light sheep and choice lambs were a shade firmer. Calves firm. The hog situation is mixed, with a very light offering of hogs and everybody afraid to give quotation. Sales, however, were made at $12.25 for one lot and several lots sold at $12.35, off cars.

CHOP STUFF

There are thirty-one million brass bands in Camp Borden.

Miss Ella Neelands of Stratroy, has gone overseas as a nurse.

Farmers at Wabash have been selling hay out of the fields at $5 per load.

The Petrolea council will submit a petition to purchase the gas plant of that town.

Notices have been sent out by the Ontario Station Enrollment Board that grade stallions in class two are eliminated from August 1st.

The Stratroy Citizens' Committee had a surplus of $1500 from the first of July celebration, which amount was handed over to the 135th Batt.

Wyoming streets have been oiled and the dust nuisance abated. Several law suits were threatened on account of damage done by the dust.

The bylaw voted on at Petrolea on Saturday to give a grant of land and a fixed assessment to the Lambton Flax Company was carried by a large majority.

A young child of David Yardley, Petrolea, had a narrow escape from death on Friday by drinking gasoline in mistake for water. Prompt medical attendance saved its life.

James Gardhouse, a well-known farmer of Etobicoke township, York county, is dead, aged 85. He had one of the finest herds of Shorthorn cattle in Canada. One of his sons, John, was warden of York county.

Near Port Elgin, a cow chased by a dog, ran between the headlights of a motor car coming down the road and broke her neck. The motor car, which had been brought almost to a standstill, was not very badly damaged.

Previous to 1885 ales and beers were sold on the Canadian National Exhibition grounds. The sale was abolished at an annual loss to booth rentals of $2,000, quite a sum in the early days of the big fair to pay for a principle.

Word was received Thursday night by Sarnia relatives conveying the information that Lieut. Neil Hanna, son of Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, who is with a British battery somewhere in France, had been wounded in action.

Two sons of Thomas Smith, of Westminster township, aged 5 and 14 years, corked a bottle of water, placed it over a bonfire, and sat down to await eventualities. The bottle exploded and both are in a serious condition from scalds over their heads and bodies.

While out mowing, Mr. Neil Bain of Motherwell happened with an accident which might easily have proved more serious. The double tree broke and the horses dragged him in front of the mowing machine which went over him, bruising his neck and shoulder, not cutting him seriously. He was not discovered until about half an hour later, when the stray horses were noticed.

Do Your Bit for the Fall Fair.

There is one line of work where many farmers are called upon to assist agriculture and where too often they neglect to exert themselves, and that is with the fall fair. The fair dates for Ontario are now all announced, and they should act as a signal for all directors and committee men to get busy. Some directors are energetic in assisting the secretary before the event, on fair day and after it is over. Others appear only for their badge and dinner ticket. Fortunately the majority of officers are big enough men to see the importance of fostering the local fair, and making it a success, but we are appealing to the indifferent directors who had not the manliness to decline the honors when appointed, or the spirit to help when needed. A fall fair is a local event, and every farmer, whether an officer or not, should have pride enough in it to boost it in every way. A greater effort should be made to get good stock this season, and perhaps this cannot be done without sheds or some better accommodation. Few breeders will risk trying valuable horses or cattle to a fence post. There is also, generally speaking, room for considerable improvement in the display of agricultural products. Pianos and sewing machines are useful all the time, and are alright at a fair, but the farmer must adopt some of the merchants' enthusiasm regarding the display of goods, and make the products of the old farm eclipse anything the town can bring forth. Endeavor to make a strong feature out of some class of live stock or farm products. It will help draw the crowd and help the fair for the succeeding years. Some fall fairs are noted for their show of heavy and light horses, others for their display of fruit, some again for poultry and vegetables, while still others make cattle a drawing card. The directors should work up these lines and advertise them. Go to the men who have these things to show and get them to come out, work for and boost the fall fair so that the people who are now beginning to see something in agriculture will be obliged to admit that after all there is nothing that can surpass the old farm and what it can produce.—Farmers' Advocate.

Persian Lambs in Plympton

Wyoming, Ont., July 31.—An enterprise in the nature of an experiment in Lambton County is being quietly conducted on the farm of G. W. Johnson, London road, Plympton Township, in the breeding and rearing of Karacul sheep, commercially known as "Persian" lambs. A year ago Mr. Johnson took initial steps in this new business, and this spring his fourteen Karacul ewes gave birth to fifteen lambs, all of which were covered with the glossy curl so essential from a commercial standpoint.

To secure best returns, the lamb must be slaughtered at from one to three days old, the fleece being then in small, tight curls, which loosen each day later, thereby deteriorating in value.

Desiring rather to increase his stock none of the lambs of this flock were thus sacrificed, and in addition an imported pure-bred yearling male has recently been purchased.

This imported animal is one of the celebrated flock of Dr. C. C. Young Fayette, N. Y.

Although natives of Bokhara, Central Asia, the sheep have readily adapted themselves to new surroundings, have wintered well, and are hardy and healthy.

The enterprise will be followed with a good deal of interest. In appearance the sheep differ from our other breeds in the high, sloping rump, small head, with long, drooping ears, and while the very young lambs are a glossy black or brown curl, the full-grown animals are a greyish-white, with straight, long, hairlike wool.

The young lambs are unusually large for their age, compared with our commoner strain of sheep.

At West Lorne the fire engine was brought out to sprinkle the streets and a shout of joy went up from the people.

ORGANIZE for Victory!

ONTARIO

THE THIRD YEAR OF THE WAR calls for the organized co-operation of every citizen of the Province of Ontario. ALL must help to hasten the day of final triumph. For the sake of those who have made the Great Sacrifice, and of those now overseas or in training, every citizen must give the best service possible. No one need feel "out of it" when the great day of Victory comes, but everyone must qualify now by sharing in the sacrifices which the War demands.

Suggestions for Organization

In many Municipalities there are already active patriotic organizations, such as Recruiting, Red Cross, Soldiers' Aid and Patriotic Fund Committees. In such cases, one of these, or, better still, a joint committee of these and the citizens generally, might undertake to co-operate with the Central Committee at Toronto.

Where there is no active representative organization, it is suggested that one be formed at the earliest moment. It should be non-partisan (in the broadest sense), and represent every interest affected by war conditions.

THRIFT and ECONOMY, and a careful consideration and preparation for our problems are essential if we would meet the present and future needs. For further suggestions and information you are cordially requested to write at once to ALBERT H. ABBOTT, Ph.D., Secretary, Organization of Resources Committee, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

What Organizations Should Do

1. Find more men for Overseas service.
2. Help in keeping our munitions plants working to full capacity.
3. Induce every possible worker, men and women, to serve on the farm and in other essential industries.
4. Find money for the coming WAR LOAN and war funds.
5. In short, assist in the organization of Ontario's resources to meet war conditions and after-war conditions.

THE BLESSING OF A HEALTHY BODY

Has Not Had An Hour's Sickness Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES".

MR. MARRIOTT
78 Lees Ave., Ottawa, Ont.,
August 9th, 1915.

"I think it my duty to tell you what 'Fruit-a-tives' has done for me. Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 3 1/2 years past, I have taken them regularly and would not change for anything. I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives', and I know now what I haven't known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain."

A Moorish Marriage

It Took Place In Constantinople

By F. A. MITCHEL

If Constantinople is not the most interesting city in the world its situation is certainly the most beautiful. The Roman emperor Constantine built it some fourteen centuries ago and made it the capital of what was called the Eastern Roman Empire. A thousand years later it was conquered by the Turks, who have remained in possession ever since. It remains to be seen whether during the next ten or twenty years the banner of the cross will not displace the crescent, floating again after five centuries on the cathedral of St. Sophia.

In woman's struggle for a proper place in the world there is a vast difference between what she has accomplished in the western and eastern nations. Turkish women, while they have gained much, are still far behind their western sisters. Among certain Mohammedan sects they are still loaded with the customs of antiquity. This is noticeable in the union of the sexes by marriage. The Turk is not supposed to see his bride's face till he lifts her veil immediately after the wedding ceremony. But the most curious bridal among any Mohammedan people is that of the Moors.

A marriage between a Moorish girl and man having been arranged by the parents the bride is carried to her husband at night. The street through which she will pass is lined with people waiting to see the wedding procession. The bride is at home with her parents and the nurse who has had the care of her from the time of her birth. She steps into a box and it is carried out of the house to a mule standing at the door. Then to the sounds of weird music the animal with its burden is led down the street by the nurse between the lines of those looking on. On arriving at her husband's home she leaves the box and enters the house. When in the room where her husband, alone, is waiting for her she throws herself at his feet. He raises her and lifts her veil. There is no formal ceremony, no mutual pledges. The fact of their being brought together and the door, shut behind them constitutes a marriage.

In Constantinople there are Mohammedans from many quarters of the globe. There is a Moorish quarter where the denizens practice such ceremonies as are practiced on the northern coast of Africa.

There is a little stream flowing into the Bosphorus called the sweet waters of Asia. Turkish ladies in summer time make excursions to its banks in rowboats. Leaving the boats, they scatter themselves on the land, and it is a pretty sight to see them, clad as they are in their brightly colored mantles. They carry rugs and cushions with them, which they place on the ground, often at the base of trees, which furnish a convenient support. There they chatter and eat candy. Turkish men are near, but do not mingle with the women.

One afternoon a party of Moors were thus enjoying the cool breezes from the Bosphorus. There were women and children, but no men. One of the children, a little boy of four years, took it into his head to toddle away. He was followed by a young girl and found being petted by a young man sitting on the ground against a tree with a book. The girl drew back, but the young man, seeing that she had come for the child, arose, doffed his fez and led the boy to her.

Why the souls of this man and this girl should have rushed together upon this meeting which lasted but a few minutes is one of the many mysteries that pertain to the universe. The young man read his book no more that day. He arose from his seat and went where he could peer upon the girl through an opening in the foliage. He was not noticeable, and any one told that he was near would have had difficulty in finding him. Not so the girl. His face was as plain to her as the sun in heaven. On first seeing him she dropped her eyes, but in a few minutes she raised them, dropped them again, raising and dropping them till at last a responsive look of love darted from them.

When the party to which the girl belonged returned to their home in the Moorish quarter the young man followed them to see where they lived.

It was not long after this that the mother of this girl—Ahesha was her name—received a proposition for her daughter's hand. The family to which the young man belonged was an excellent one, and he would have double the amount of property that would be settled upon the girl. A contract was signed, and the young persons were betrothed.

Had this betrothal taken place before the meeting by the sweet waters of Asia Ahesha would likely have received it with indifference. All Mohammedan maidens expect to be married, and they are aware of the fact that they have nothing to say in the choice of a husband. But the announcement made her by her mother, since love had stolen unbidden into her heart, had a crushing effect. She received it without comment, but its blighting effect showed itself in the pallor that overspread her countenance. Her mother saw it and wondered. She had no idea that her daughter had ever met any young man to whom she had given her heart and could only attribute her daughter's emotion to the fact of changing her state from maidenhood to wifehood.

But from the day of the announcement Ahesha grew thin and lost the lovely color in her cheeks for which she had been distinguished. In vain her mother tried to discover what was the matter with her. Doctors were called upon to diagnose her case, but could not find any organic disease. And still the girl pined, and as her wedding day approached there was a blighted look upon her that greatly troubled those who loved her.

Shortly before her wedding something happened which threw a gloom over the Moors of Constantinople. A young bride who had gone to her husband in the box used for the purpose was found on its being opened before the door of the groom's house dead with a dagger in her heart. She had committed suicide. The cause was unknown, but it was assumed that she had loved and preferred death to being married to one not the man who possessed her heart.

Ahesha's parents endeavored to keep this tragedy from her, but it was impossible. From the time she heard it she was changed. Her gloom settled into a look of resolve. Only her mother feared the cause. She dreaded lest her daughter had some intention by which to escape the marriage arranged for her. Indeed, so great was the woman's solicitude that she begged her daughter to tell her if there was any reason why marriage was repulsive to her and if so what it was. Then Ahesha confessed her love for the young man she had met by the sweet waters of Asia.

The mother at once went to her husband and told him the secret, proposing to abrogate the marriage contract for their daughter.

"What!" said the infuriated Moor. "Go back on the word of a follower of Mohammed! Allah forbid!"

The poor woman, realizing that it would be impossible to move her bigoted husband, gave up the struggle and prepared her daughter for her bridal.

At last the wedding day arrived. Ahesha stood like a statue while her mother and her nurse arrayed her for the bridal. The box stood ready, and she stepped into it. Her mother kissed her, then closed the door of her cramped conveyance. The nurse took up her load, carried it to the street and, placing it on the back of the mule, fastened it with thongs. Then the concealed bride, the beast bearing her led by her nurse, passed down the street between the lines of spectators convened to see a wedding procession. Those who had an acquaintance with the bride waved to her and shouted messages. Slowly the hidden burden moved from maidenhood to wifehood—or to death? The few who feared a repetition of the recent tragedy held their breaths till the box should be opened.

But there was one who knew. The nurse, who loved Ahesha as well as if she had been her own daughter, could have told them whether the box contained a living being or a corpse. But Asiatics have great self control. The features of the bronzed face were rigid and inexpressive. No one could read them.

Perhaps it was because this was the first wedding since the tragedy; perhaps a rumor had been circulated that the bride in the box had a lover other than her betrothed, whatever the cause, as the little procession approached the groom's house a hush came over the spectators standing near. The waving ceased, the congratulatory shouts died down. The mule was led up before the house, the nurse opened the door. For a moment no descending bride was visible. A chill came over the onlookers.

Then the bride appeared, moving slowly as if scarcely able to drag herself from her hiding place. Her features were concealed by her veil. Supported by her nurse, she entered the house, the door was closed behind her and a sigh of relief came from the spectators.

Ahesha found a wedding party within. They rose as she entered, but spoke no word. Passing through the room she came to a door, which was opened, and in another moment she was alone with her husband. Advancing, he raised her veil, she looked into the face of the young man she had met on the bank of the sweet waters of Asia.

Abdul Aekbar, the groom, having learned the home of the girl he had met, and being his own master, made an application for her hand. He said nothing of having seen her, fearing that the custom of a man not being permitted to meet his bride before marriage might stand in his way of possessing her. He knew nothing of her pining at being intended for another. If he had been aware of her condition he might have surreptitiously conveyed to her a message revealing the fact that they were to be united.

One day Ahesha's nurse had seen her charge engaged upon her wedding costume. The woman watched her and saw that she was making a pocket in her vest. When it was finished she slipped a knife into it. The nurse said nothing, but when she arrayed the bride for her wedding she took out the knife without Ahesha's knowledge.

Great was the rejoicing among those nearest the bride when the great change in her on her reappearance was observed. Meanwhile the nurse had told the mother of the knife that she had removed. The mother told the father. When the old Moor heard it he was silent for a moment, then said: "Allah be praised!" That was his only comment.

SUFFERED FROM BACKACHE RHEUMATISM, DROPSY.

Dear Mr. Editor—I wish to tell you of a recent experience I had when suffering from backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, and congestion of the kidneys. I tried a new medicine called "Anuric," which has recently been discovered by Dr. Pierce, of whose medicines and Surgical Institution in Buffalo, N. Y., you have no doubt heard for years. This medicine acted upon me in a wonderful manner. I never have taken any medicine so helpful in such quick time. I do wish anyone in need of such a remedy would give it a trial. (Signed) G. H. HERR.

NOTE: Folks in town and adjoining counties are delighted with the results they have obtained by using "ANURIC," the newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, who is head of the INVALIDS' HOTEL and SURGICAL INSTITUTE, in Buffalo, N. Y. Those who started the day with a backache, stiff legs, arms and muscles, and an aching head (worn out before the day began because they were in and out of bed half a dozen times at night) are appreciating the perfect rest, comfort and new strength they obtained from Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. To prove that this is a certain uric acid solvent and conquers headache, kidney and bladder diseases and rheumatism, if you've never used the "Anuric," cut this out and send ten cents to Doctor Pierce for a large sample package. This will prove to you that "Anuric" is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid—and the most perfect kidney and bladder corrector. If you are a sufferer, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "Anuric." You run no risk for Dr. Pierce's good name stands behind this wonderful new discovery as it has for the past half century for his "Golden Medical Discovery" which makes the blood pure, his "Favorite Prescription" for weak women and "Pleasant Pellets" for liver ills.

JAPANESE GARDENS.

Their Aim is Always to Represent Nature in Miniature.

Every Japanese house of any pretensions must have a garden. The cost of one is invariably reckoned with the estimates for house building, being usually estimated at one-tenth the cost of the house. The Japan Magazine tells of the procedure:

When the niwashi (landscape gardener) gets the contract for a garden he first makes a model—that is, a miniature garden embodying every feature that the final product will have. The first thing to be done in laying out the garden is to select the place for the lake or pond and excavate it. The earth thus obtained is utilized for the construction of an artificial hill and also for a small island, both of these features being considered necessities. Next in importance is the placing of the stone lantern; then comes an artistic bridge to the island. Next comes the placing of trees, rocks and stones with due consideration for the appearance of the garden as a whole.

Japanese do not place much value on a new garden, age being of far greater importance. It is not until a few years have passed that the garden is considered at its best, for the stones and tree trunks must be moss covered and the whole must give the appearance of nature's rather than man's work.

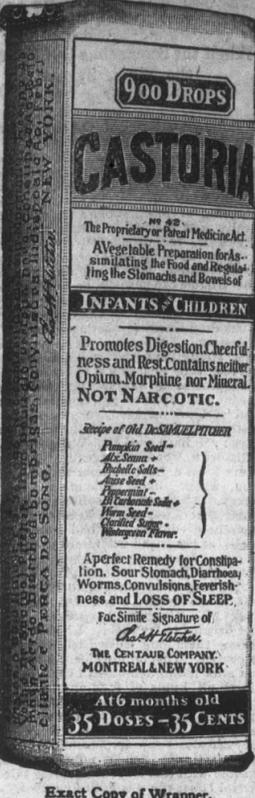

The garden is not laid out according to any scientific plan. It is rather a matter of instinct and experience, the aim of the artist being to represent nature in miniature.

Splendor of Venus.

Venus is the most brilliant of all the planets. When east of the sun she appears in the west after sunset, but when near the western elongation she gives only matinee performances before sunrise. Through the telescope she presents much the appearance of burnished silver without spot or blemish. So dazzling is she that astronomers have been able to discover little concerning our neighbor, except that she is surrounded by an atmosphere filled with clouds, making it doubtful whether any view of the solid body of the planet can ever be obtained. Even through that veil she is sometimes so bright as to cast a distinct shadow.—London Telegraph.

Italian Staff of Life.

To those who know the Italian staff of life only in one or two forms it will come as a surprise that there are some forty-four varieties, all carefully differentiated. Neapolitan macaroni is usually made simply of household flour, well mixed, rolled flat and then shaped by various machines, but the paste may be mixed with other ingredients. Thus tagliatelli is produced by the addition of eggs, and into the composition of gnocci potatoes, butter and cheese enter. Italian children may learn their letters and numerals from edible copies, and leaves and shells are some of the many forms which macaroni takes as biscuits do with us.—London Chronicle.

CHILDREN'S CLOTHES.
What Small Folks Are Wearing Closely Resemble Their Mothers'.

Suits for little girls are after the models shown for women. The skirts have considerable fullness, and the coats are inclined to ripple below the waist line. Some very attractive suits for children are made with skirts of broken checks and coats of serge in solid color. They have suspenders attached to the skirt or are finished with a belt. The coats, as a rule, are loose and belted and of hip length. Belts which encircle the waist or belted back styles with pockets on either the skirt or coat, and buttons fastening the front of the skirt, are especially good looking.

Children's skirts are usually cut circular and have considerable flare at the foot, fitting fairly close over the hips. The coats are finished with a coat collar and lapels, and some are made in Norfolk styles.

There are many variations in trimmings. Buttons are used profusely and in novel ways. A number of suits in solid color have collar and cuffs of blue and white polka dotted silk or of green satin piped with white.

Coats of shepherd checks are sometimes trimmed with black satin in bands at the foot, and the collars and cuffs are also of satin. Little coats of light blue silk poplin are smocked on either side of the front and in the center of the back. The blue collar and cuffs are embroidered in white. Coats have girdles of ribbon tied loosely around the waist, ending in a loose knot on the side. A little coat of two toned corduroy in brown and white is made with a flared skirt, piped at the waist line and on the collar and cuffs. Black and white and blue and white corduroy coats are also seen.

The little middy dresses, the Russian blouse, the one piece dress joined with a belt, the coat and Norfolk styles and the little suspender dresses worn with gumpes, as well as the short waisted effects, are all seen in attractive assortments. Some dresses hang in loose lines from the shoulders and are trimmed with smocking.

The majority of sleeves are made in the set in effect, but there are also sleeves with a low shoulder, the bishop sleeve and also those with a flare effect.

Ginghams, percales, linens, reps and lawns are the prominent wash materials. Plain and fancy materials are frequently combined in the making. Colored dresses are often trimmed with collars and cuffs of white. Sashes and belts of leather, self material or silk are used. White dresses, with sashes of color, with the waist line low, normal or slightly raised, are in many attractive styles. The little skirts are very full.

plexion, sparkling eyes, a sweet breath, grace of carriage, will follow as surely as sunrise follows the night.

Covering the Neck.
Soon we shall be thinking about pretty ways of decorating the uncovered neck and shall no doubt revive the old time lace hemmed net ruche fastened by a rose or a ribbon bow, which in the portraits of young French beauties, of the eighteenth century looks so fascinating. Devices of this and other kinds the collarless blouses which are arriving will make possible and desirable. There is a decided leaning toward the decollete blouses, with a choice of chokers.

Delicate Instruments.
Though the man in the street might easily mistake a slight seismic disturbance for the rumbling of a traction engine or an explosion, the marvelously delicate instruments which record earthquake shocks are immune from such deceptions. Sunk in the earth on solid foundations, the recording pen of the seismometer ignores any local tremblings which have not a seismic origin, but the faintest real earth quakings, though they have traveled thousands of miles through the earth, set the pen tracing the telltale graph by means of which the seismologist calculates the place, time and magnitude of the happening.—London Chronicle.

One dose of Miller's Worm Powders will clear the stomach and bowels for worms, so that the child will no more be troubled by their ravages. The powders are sweet to the taste and no child will object to taking them. They are non-injurious in their composition, and while in some cases they may cause vomiting, that must not be taken as a sign that they are nauseating, but as an indication of their effective work.

CURIOUS MEALS.

Elephants Are Gormandizers, and Giraffes Have Queer Tastes.

Elephants, at least captive elephants, have queer tastes, says Pearson's Weekly in an entertaining article about the peculiarities of four legged gourmets. One memorable day in 1908 Sufia Cull, the mighty and popular Indian elephant at the zoo, ate his bed. A thirty-six pound truss of straw had been put down on the floor for his comfort, and when the keeper went round in the morning not even the bands of the truss remained.

Sufia Cull followed it up during the day by eating three trusses of hay, weighing 150 pounds. Finally some one brought a number of Christmas puddings into the elephant house. Sufia Cull swallowed his pudding without even opening the cardboard box that contained it.

A zoo keeper once kept a tally of the number of hot cross buns an elephant took down. For six hours on end one fine Good Friday it swallowed buns at the rate of 400 an hour!

The average giraffe loves nothing better in the world than a good square meal of flowers. It has not the slightest idea, however, of the difference between artificial and real flowers.

Some years ago when "garden hats" were all the rage the giraffe at the zoo made a day of it. In that glorious twelve hours it accounted for no fewer than seventeen hats, the majority of which were chewed beyond recognition before they could be rescued.

One of the funniest mistakes a giraffe ever made—funny for lookers-on, that is to say—was when a peacock strolled into its paddock. The peacock's tail caught the giraffe's eye, and evidently the animal mistook it for a gigantic and luxuriant species of flower. At any rate, before any one could interfere down came the giraffe's long neck, and, seizing the peacock by the tail, he hoisted it in midair. It was not long before bird and tail said goodbye to each other, and the peacock fluttered away, screaming with indignation. Although a trifle astonished at the proceedings of the newly discovered flower, the giraffe chewed the tail with great gusto.

Don't Rush Through Life.
How many women are there who rush through their day's and their evening engagements without a moment's relaxation? A bath before dressing for the evening is substituted for the rest which the body needs. If pallor of the face offends the ever handy cosmetic is drawn upon and the "bloom of youth" applied. But no artificial coloring ever hid successfully for any length of time baggy eyes, sunken cheeks and other marks which worn out nerves register upon the face.

The surest way for a woman to maintain her attractive appearance—to be "easy to look at," as one of our famous humorists said—is to keep the body up to its highest standard of efficiency. If this be done rosy cheeks, a clear com-

The Hot Spell

Some interesting readings of the thermometer during the recent hot spell will be found herewith. The figures are taken from the London Observatory reports. The dates when the mercury went above 90 are:—

July 7	92
July 11	94
July 12	93.5
July 15	91.5
July 19	91.5
July 20	95
July 22	91.5
July 23	94
July 24	97.5
July 25	94
July 26	95
July 27	91
July 29	94.5
July 30	100

In the above list have been recorded those days when it was over 90. The days when it was almost that number five, and were 89.5, just half a degree off, on the 13th, 14th and 16th of the month; 89 on Friday and 88.5 on the 19th. The lowest "high" reading of the month was that recorded on the 2nd, when it was but .69. That is the only day so far this month when the temperature has been below the 70 mark, and indeed there are but few other days when it went under 80. Those were the 3rd, when it was 72, and the 9th, when it was 79. Outside of these three days the temperature has ranged from 83 to 97.5. It was the hottest July on record.

The Late Peter McPhedran

After several months illness Mr. Peter McPhedran, 2nd line Plympton, passed to the great beyond on Monday morning July 24th. Mr. McPhedran has been a resident of Plympton for a number of years and will be greatly missed by his friends and neighbors. He was an elder of the South Plympton Presbyterian church. Besides a sorrowing wife he is survived by one daughter, Mary, at home, and five sons Leslie and Bruce of Petrolia, Harry, medical doctor, who is at present with the Medical Corps in France and Neil and Roy at home, one sister, "Fennie" Mrs David Alexander, of Saskatoon, and two brothers, John, 2nd line Plympton and Dr. Alex McPhedran of Toronto. The funeral was conducted from the family residence Wednesday afternoon to the Wyoming cemetery.

Scrap paper, boxes, etc., are being baled instead of burned on Bois Blanc this year, as it is in great demand and a good price is paid for it.

Moffatt—Acton

A pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. John Acton, 6th Ave., on Wednesday last, when his daughter, Margaret, became the wife of Mr. Gordon Moffatt, son of Mrs. James Moffatt. The bride, who looked charming in a gown of white crepe-de-chine was unattended and the wedding march was played by Miss Alena Parker. Rev. J. Albert Snell performed the ceremony. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. After doing justice to the dainty luncheon, the happy couple left for a trip to Sarnia and Port Huron amidst showers of confetti and bet wishes of their friends.

A Letter from France

Some time ago the Watford Women's Institute sent a number of parcels to the Red Cross for distribution at the front, enclosing a note with the name of the sender. The other day Mrs. Ferguson received an answer to the note enclosed in her parcel. It was written in French, and being translated reads as follows:—

The Army, Saturday, July 1st, 1916
Madame: I have had the honor to receive a little note from you; it was in a package which was sent to me by the ladies of the French Red Cross of Villeneuve. I have the honor to write you this letter to thank you for your kindness to me. According to your wish in your little note, I wish to speak to you of my family, which is unfortunately not numerous. I am without family. I have no longer any parents. I lost my dear father 18 years ago, and my mother 8 years ago. I am alone in the world. I have only a sister younger than myself. I am 24 years old. I have been a soldier since the beginning of this terrible war. I have been laid up once with sickness and wounds. I have since returned to duty. We are awaiting with courage the complete victory of all the allies over the common enemy. Please pardon me, Madame, for taking the liberty of writing to you. I beg you Madame, to receive my sincere thanks and best wishes.

Yours most faithfully,
Henri Olivier.

GOOD INDIGESTION A SOURCE OF HEALTH

When the Stomach is Out of Order the Whole System Suffers.

Indigestion is one of the most distressing maladies afflicting mankind. When the stomach is unable to perform the work nature calls for, the result is severe pain after eating, nausea, heartburn, fluttering of the heart, sick headache, and often a loathing for food, though the sufferer is really half starved. People with poor digestion, too, frequently try all sorts of experiments to aid the process of digestion, but there is only one way in which the trouble can actually be cured, that is through the blood. That is why the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cures even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. They make rich, red blood that strengthens the stomach and the nerves, thus enabling it to do its work. The process is simple, but the result means good appetite and increased health and pleasure in life. In proof of these statements, Mrs. Albert Hall, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with wonderful results. For two years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which almost made me a physical wreck. At times my sufferings were so great that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I had smothering spells at times and was afraid to lie down to rest. After every meal, no matter how sparingly I ate, I suffered great distress. I tried several doctors but their medicine was of no avail. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised to cure this trouble and decided to try them. I had not been taking them long when I felt somewhat improved. This improvement continued and after taking ten boxes I could eat and digest all kinds of food and felt better than I had done for years. You may be sure I am very grateful for the wonderful relief these pills have given me. I know they are also a cure for anemic sufferers, as an intimate friend of mine was badly affected with this trouble and after taking several boxes she was entirely cured." You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

James Henderson, an old and respected resident of Adelaide Twp., met with a severe accident lately, when assisting his son, Maitland Henderson, in hauling in hay from the field. It appears that the team became unmanageable and ran away, causing the wagon to upset, when Mr. Henderson was thrown on the ground with great force. Medical assistance was at once procured and although badly bruised and shaken up, he is doing as well as could be expected.
