The contest between employers and employed in the most strike at Chicago promises to be a parallel case with the coal strike of last year.

So long as it is a contest between organized labor and unorganized capital there may be some question as to the outcome, but when capital also becomes organized, as it undoubtedly will in the near future, labor will find itself "the under dog in the fight."

A drowning accident occurred at Digby on Saturday by which Walter Peters, aged 15, lost his life through the capsizing of a small boat.

Of the 40,000 workers concerned in the strike only 25,000 are skilled laborers. These had no grievance of their own, but joined in the strike to save the cause of their weaker brethren.

It is stated that $7.40 a week represents the average wage of these 40,000 unskilled laborers, in which they are expected to support their families, and this in the city of Chicago, where the cost of living is exceptionally high.

What unfortunately complicates the situation is the fact that the place of each of these 40,000 people, men, women and children, can be filled several times over by others in the same condition of life, and this brings us to the root of one of the gigantic evils of the times.

There is no remedy for this condition of things but education, training of hands and brains. The education of the past has been defective even within its limited application to those fortunate enough to come under its benefits.

The education of the future must train hands and brain together, and it must have no limit—it must be universal. Every child must be made the ward of town, city, county or state. None should be allowed to grow up in ignorance.

Each nation should take care of its own population, and no nation should be allowed to turn loose upon another an untrained, unskilled, uneducated labor force.

They will then learn to respect his brother man and cease to look upon him as a beast of burden to be worked till he drops in harness, while the individual will come the million.

Russia's misfortunes multiply day by day. Not only is she severely scorched in her struggle for territorial possessions, but internal disturbances and rebellion threaten an even more appalling grave disaster.

There is no doubt that the assassination of M. Von Pleve, Minister of the Interior, at St. Petersburg, last week, is the culmination of a seething unrest and dissatisfaction on the part of the people, the democratic masses.

Government Aid to Horse Breeding.

AN OUTLINE OF THE IRISH SYSTEM.

Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, July 21.

In the year 1900 the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland devised a scheme for encouraging improvement in the breed of cattle, particularly of horses and ponies, in that country.

GENERAL OBJECTS.

In formulating their live stock scheme, the Department's main object was to promote improvement in the breeds of the country by encouraging private enterprise in the breeding of purebred animals.

The horse breeding scheme as outlined by the advisory committee, approved by the Agricultural Board, provided for the registration of suitable and sound thoroughbred and agricultural sires, and the selection of a number of the best horses in each county to be bred by these sires.

HORSE BREEDING SCHEME.

The first year 410 stallions were bred for registration, and 298 were thoroughbred and 112 of the agricultural type.

Whether it will pay a man now with the high price of grain, to feed it in summer, depends on the type of cows and the ability and skill of the owner as a dairyman.

Now, I will tell you how I think is the cheapest, easiest and best way to provide summer feed for cows.

PREMIUMS FOR FEMALE STOCK.

As a further means of encouraging improvement in stock breeding, the Department adopted the principle of awarding premiums and prizes to female stock.

W. A. CLEMONS, Publication Clerk.

Summer Cow Feeding.

To make cows profitable they must have an abundance of good milk producing food the whole year round—both winter and summer.

There has never yet been a summer in Wisconsin where pasture would supply a sufficient amount of such food all the time.

100,000 families in the Maritime Provinces use Union Blend Tea and it is

Sunshine Furnace

DOUBLE FEED-DOORS

Just about the most important thing a furnace can have is a dinky little door.

Ever have one? Hit the edge as often as the hole? One has to be an expert stoker to shovel coal into some furnaces.

The Sunshine furnace is equipped with a good, big door. You can put your shovel in and drop the coal just where it is wanted—no trouble, no taking aim, no missing, no scattering, or annoyance.

Everything about the Sunshine furnace is on the same scale of thoughtfulness. Sold by all enterprising dealers. Write for booklet.

The Household.

WORK SHOULD NOT BE DRUDGERY.

"Do not scorn your present tasks, but master the way of doing them perfectly," says a writer who is giving advice to a woman who complains that she thinks she is fitted for "better things," but spends all her time in "the drudgery of housekeeping."

The advice is good, but we doubt if that woman takes it. The woman who thinks herself fitted for "better things" and yet places herself where she must have the daily care of housekeeping has committed a grave mistake, and the chances are that she is not all that she seems to be.

It is believed there are no "better things" than the making of a true home she can't be cured. If she has undertaken on her own responsibility to do work which she considers "drudgery" all the advice ever printed will be of no effect in her case.

Just why a woman will let herself get into the habit of thinking her work is drudgery is one of the mysteries part explaining. There's no work in the world that doesn't have something of the nature of drudgery in it.

The average worker who is not a specialist in anything of the daily routine other than that to attend to each detail with care and precision. The continued complaining, the continual wishing for other things, is not one of the elements from which success in any line of work may be achieved.

The housekeeper gave the same amount of time to planning her work, to the study of new methods and time saving devices, she would soon get her work systematized so that she would not need to complain. If she isn't satisfied with her work, she'd better consider how to do it in a satisfactory manner—Brockton Times.

SHOES AND NECKWEAR

If women are no stronger than their weakest points, they are then no stronger than their shoes and neckwear, according to one masculine observer.

"While extremely fastidious in many ways," says he, "women are most neglectful in their dress matters."

"The most stunning society girl is not so particular as to the freshness of her collar and cuffs as the plain, everyday man of business. To change the linen at least once in a day with most men is a sort of religion."

"With women it is different. They inspect their collars and cuffs after a day's hard wear and decide that they will do, not recognizing the fact that if any doubt exists on the matter they should be consigned to the laundry without demur."

"Again, a man is much more concerned as to the state of his shoes than a woman."

"The woman will go on her feet in worn or ragged shoes."

"She is willing to condone the loss of one or two buttons and the common neglect in the care of her dress."

"So much for one man's ideas—Chicago Tribune."

"An apple kept in a cake box will keep a rich cake moist and fresh for a long time. Remove the apple when it is withered."

If a mustard poultice or plaster be mixed with vinegar instead of water all risk of a chill is avoided. If the white of an egg is used in mixing the mustard, it will not blister the most delicate skin.

The cleansing water bottles and glass jars use to be washed. They clean instantly and perfectly, leaving the glass brilliant.

Hot liquids may be poured with safety into glass vessels by holding them in the hand instead of standing them upon the table.

Kerosene oil will soften boots and shoes that have long been hardened by water and will render them as pliable as new.

A just pinch of harel and three grains of borax is a simple and good remedy for a pimply skin.

Pretty throats are never yellow; they are white, firm and smooth. Let nature come to the rescue. Discard light ribbons they make wrinkles.

For thin eyebrows add three grains of musk of quinine to one teaspoonful of vasoline and one of lanoline mix thoroughly and apply with a camel's hair brush.

The thickening of the skin brought about by handling golf sticks and tennis rackets can easily be rubbed down and away with pumice stones. Afterward rub into the palms borax-vaseline and put on gloves to keep it from rubbing off.

Mothers are often worried as to what the cries of their infants mean when they seem to be sick or in pain and frequently are apt to diagnose the case wrongly. As a matter of fact, when an infant is dangerously ill it seldom cries, so that when it begins to cry a great deal during a severe illness it is usually a sign of improvement.

When a child suffers from inflammation of the lungs it means, but rarely cries. When suffering from bronchitis the cry is grief and rattling. When suffering from croup the cry is sharp and fretful. When hungry it is fretful and wailing—New York Press.

Valuable Time Saved

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without inflammation, and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. For sale by S. N. Wearo.

WILLING TO REPEAT.

The office boy to a large firm of publishers was a smart lad, and when he was sent to one of the general departments with a message he noticed at once that something was wrong with the machinery. He returned, gave the alarm and thus prevented much damage. The circumstances were reported to the head of the firm, before whom John was summoned.

"You have done me a great service, my lad," he said. "In future your wages will be increased 81 weekly."

"Thank you, sir," said the bright little fellow. "I will do my best to be worth it and to be a good servant to you."

The reply struck the chief almost as much as the lad's previous service had done.

"That's the right spirit, my lad," he said. "In all the years I have been in business no man has ever thanked me in that way. It will make the increase 82. Now, what do you say to that?"

"Well, sir," said the boy after a moment's hesitation, "would you mind if I said it again?"

THE DID NOT BITE.

There is a new London story about Charles Darwin.

"Two English boys," said Miss Lister, "being friends of Darwin, thought one day that they would play a joke on him. They caught a butterfly, a grasshopper, a beetle and a centipede, and out of these creatures they made a strange composite insect. They took the centipede's body, the butterfly's wings, the grasshopper's legs and the beetle's head, and they glued them together carefully. Then, with their new bug in a box, they knocked at Darwin's door."

"We've caught this bug in a field," they said. "Can you tell us what it is?"

"Darwin looked at the bug and then he looked at the boys. He smiled slightly."

"Did it hurt when you caught it?" he asked.

"Yes," they answered, nudging one another.

"Then," said Darwin, "it is a hum-bug."

JUGGLING WITH ACCOUNTS.

John D. Rockefeller, a director's meeting in New York, was describing certain methods of juggling with accounts—certain deceptive ledger and journal entries that firms make when they are about to fail dishonestly.

"The other day," said Mr. Rockefeller, "I heard of a woman who would have made an excellent account juggler. The woman's husband always left in her possession a number of blank signed checks. She was free to use them as she pleased, but she never did."

"You say here," he said, "that check No. 272, for $25, went for church expenses. What church expenses were these?"

"A new Easter bonnet," the woman answered."

A NEW STORY ABOUT CALLERS AND CHILD.

Archbishop Riordan, of San Francisco, called on President Roosevelt recently. Afterwards, in talking about calls generally, the archbishop said—

"A friend of mine in San Francisco, called with his wife one afternoon at the house of an estimable lady. The lady's little daughter answered the bell, and my friend said to her—

"Won't you please tell your mother that Mr. and Mrs. Smith are here?"

"Certainly," said the little girl, and she departed. In a moment she returned.

"Well, did you tell your mother?" asked my friend.

"Yes," the child answered.

"And what did your mother say?"
