

Navy Bill Thru Committee Stage--Nationalists Stay Away and Majority is 33

MR. GERMAN STATES LIBERAL POSITION ON NAVY QUESTION

Not Opposed to Thirty-five Million Dollars For Dreadnoughts But Should Be by Annual Votes.

THE VITAL ISSUE

Would Keep the Money Under Control of Parliament—Sir Wilfrid Presents Same Contention.

By Tom King.
OTTAWA, May 9.—The Liberal position on the naval bill as stated by Mr. W. M. German of Welland, apparently brings the two parties to a single issue of constitutional practice and government. Mr. German has stated repeatedly this week that he is not opposed to a vote of $35,000,000 or to contributing three dreadnoughts to imperial defence, but he believes that the appropriation should be made in the usual way, by annual votes of parliament. Indeed, he contends that the present bill is quite unnecessary, and that everything provided for could be done under the Naval Service Act of 1910.

To this the prime minister has replied that the government bill is then the Naval Service Act, plus the appropriation of $25,000,000.

Mr. German's Contention.

Mr. German, however, takes the position that instead of parliament putting $35,000,000 at the absolute disposal of the government-in-council without check or supervision, that it should from year to year grant supplies to the crown sufficient for the construction of the dreadnoughts. Certainly the usual practice is for parliament to vote the moneys needed for public works annually; if the money is not all expended during the year it parliamentarism is at an end. If the government needs only $5,000,000 to begin work, why not take a vote for $5,000,000 at this session and then come back for more money as money is needed session after session?

The Welland canal for example, Mr. German pointed out, will be constructed by the minister of railways under the supervision of parliament. He takes a vote for two millions this year; he may ask for ten millions next year, but he does not ask, nor would he get a vote of $15,000,000 to be expended at his disposal and to be expended thru a series of years.

Clean-Cut Issue.

The gist of the argument which presents a clean cut issue, whatever its merits may be, is found in Mr. German's speech on May 6. Speaking to

First Falls Trip On Wintry Seas

Nearly Four Hundred Braved Cold Weather and Rough Water on Saturday.

Between three and four hundred people braved the storms of Saturday and sailed with the Niagara Line steamer Corona on its first trip of the season to Lewiston. It was not only the first, but was probably the roughest trip that will be experienced this year.

Montreal Fiend's Fight With Police

Jacob Iseman Handles Out Rough Treatment When Given Three Months.

(Special to Sunday World.)
MONTREAL, May 10.—A thrilling battle between six policemen and a brawny Jacob Iseman, was fought here in the recorder's court at noon today. Recorder Geoffroy had just given the prisoners three months in jail, which made him furious, and when the constable approached to lead him back to the cells, the weight broke, and the man, weighing 135 pounds, but he has the reputation of being the strongest man of his size in Canada. He made a leap for Constable Dagenais and gave him a terrific kick in the breast. Then he lunged at Constables Cregan and LaHarme. A moment later he caught a glimpse of Constable Dagenais and recognized him as the officer who had arrested him, and attacked him again. Capt. Egan then just entered the court with reinforcements and planned him fast and with the help of a dozen of the constables dragged him behind the bars. The last time Iseman was up took three policemen all their time to lead him into the wagon. He is one of the most furious fighters that Montreal policemen have to deal with.

RIOTOUS SCENES WHEN COMMITTEE REPORTED

Liberals Raised Row After the Vote on the Navy Bill When Chairman Blondin Refused to Accept New Amendment by Carroll of Cape Breton—Talked of Rights of Minority and Usurpation of Prerogative of the House by the Government.

ONTARIO CONSERVATIVES IN FORCE.

But Nearly All the Nationalists Abstained and the Majority to Report Bill Was Thirty-Three—Speaker Sproule Pleads For Order—Opinion Divided as to Action of the Senate, But Bill May Now Have Plain Sailing—Mr. Pugsley the Chief Suffragette in Final Scenes.

By Tom King.
OTTAWA, Ont., May 10.—There were many votes after the closure of the navy bill this morning, but the first division fairly showed the relative strength of the parties. The German sub-amendment to clause 2 was voted down, yeas 63, nays 98.

The vote was taken by counting the members standing in their places and the result, as announced by Deputy Speaker Blondin, was scarcely audible in the press gallery. Some press reporters therefore gave the Liberal vote as 53, instead of 63.

As a matter of fact, the government majority was only 23. This was due to the fact that nearly all the Nationalists abstained themselves from the chamber. The Ontario Conservatives were nearly all present. Hon. George E. Foster, of course, was absent upon his mission to the orient, but the County of York and the City of Toronto were represented in the government vote by Sir Edmund Osler, Hon. A. E. Kemp, Claude Macdonell, W. F. Maclean, Capt. Tom Wallace and Mr. Armstrong of North York.

NOT PREMEDITATED DISORDER.

The riotous scenes which occurred when the committee of the whole was about to rise at 3 o'clock came as a surprise. One may doubt whether the Liberals had deliberately designed any violent scenes or any prolonged obstruction. They might have easily held up the house from 2 to 6 in the afternoon upon a motion to adjourn, and could have fully occupied the hour devoted to private bills from 8 to 9 in the evening, but as a matter of fact, they permitted the house to go at once into committee and to remain in committee until 2 o'clock in orderly and decorous debate.

New Rule a Success.

The twenty minute rule has proved a success and as a prominent Conservative member remarked this morning, the era of long-winded speeches must pass away. The time limit makes a speech more snappy and to the point. Witness Hugh Guthrie's speech last night, one of the best political speeches ever heard in parliament. It was worth a carload of his old time ponderous, long-winded speeches. True, the debating yesterday was on the whole not of a high order, but a member who had anything at all to say got much better attention, because his audience knew he had to say it and come to the point.

What Will Senate Do?

What will the senate do? If common report is to be believed the Liberals will do whatever the Conservatives do. Some of these believe they would be helping the government by killing the bill, and their counsels are

TWIN CITY SYSTEM TIED UP BY STRIKE

Entire Staff of Port Arthur and Fort William Road Quits Work For More Pay and Better Conditions.

(Special to Sunday World.)
FORT WILLIAM, May 10.—Eighty-five conductors and motormen, comprising nearly the entire staff manning the Port Arthur and Fort William street cars, are out on strike today for an increase of from four to six cents an hour and new working conditions.

The strike was started at 5 o'clock this morning, when the ultimatum went out from headquarters of the local Street Railway Men's Union that cars were not to be manned.

The calling of the strike did not result in completely tying up the railway. Two cars, one with a trailer attached, were running all morning over the entire system. An early car taken out was manned by Manager M. Robinson and one of the men who refused to join the strike club. Traffic Manager Norton took charge of the car on another car, which was put on the run about 9 o'clock.

Officials express confidence that the road will be running as well as ever next week with a full staff.

The strikers behaved in an orderly fashion this morning. There were no attempts to impede traffic and, beyond yelling a few epithets at the men who took out the early cars, they made no demonstration of any sort.

Unions May Merge.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 10.—Officials and members of the executive committees of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters propose a merger of the two bodies. The brotherhood, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, has nearly 250,000 members, while the amalgamated society has about 15,000 members.

Self-Denial Week

Type of Salvation Army lassies who stood on down town corners all last week with contribution boxes for foreign missions. Last year the Army collected $400 in Toronto during self-denial week, and the average daily collection was slightly better this year. See story on page 5.

FEW INCREASES IN CITY SALARIES

Lobby For Advances May Yet Add Hundred Thousand to Estimates.

THREE MILLION MORE City Hall's Total of Expenditure Greatly Increased Over Last Year.

The board of control has issued its revision of the draft estimates for this year, but has not included the proposed increases in salaries. A strong lobby for increases in salaries has been going on for several weeks, and it may result in adding another $100,000 to the expenditures before the special meeting of the city council next Tuesday adjourns. In that case the tax rate would have to be increased.

"We have been endeavoring to adjust the salaries in the best interests of the city," says Mayor Hooken, "and if the lobby results in changing the recommendations of the board of control it will be up to the council to shoulder the responsibility of the changes. There are good men who have received little or no increase in pay for 20 years, and we have looked after them this year. With our limited resources this year, we could not consistently increase the salaries of all those who insist upon it or are lobbying."

PROUDFOOT GIVEN A WELCOME HOME

Townsmen Will Hold Big Demonstration to Mark Their Appreciation of His Services.

GODERICH, May 10.—When William Proudfoot, M.L.A., arrived here last night to spend the week-end he was met by a large number of his constituents and given a hearty welcome.

Mr. Proudfoot was asked if he would accept a demonstration in Goderich to show their appreciation of his services in the legislature during the recent enquiry, and as a mark of protest against the government's methods, and preliminary arrangements were made for this to take place on May 23 or 30.

The demonstration will take the form of either a large dinner or a mass demonstration in the skating rink, but nothing yet has been definitely decided on, although the latter suggestion is considered to be the most likely.

Montreal Man May Be Victim of Murder

William Sinclair Found Dead in His Room With Marks of Violence on Body.

MONTREAL, May 10.—William Sinclair was found dead in bed at 100 Mount Royal avenue this morning, with many marks of violence on his body.

The police were notified and they are working on the case. An arrest is likely to be made today.

How long Sinclair had been dead no one knows, but when he did not appear this morning the door of his room was broken in and he was found dead. The body is at the morgue.

High Wind in Fruit Belt Saves Crop From Cold

Slight Damage to Early Strawberries But There's Promise of Heavy Yield of All Other Kinds of Fruit—Twelve Days in Advance of Other Years.

(Special to The Sunday World.)
ST. CATHARINES, May 10.—It is estimated that six figures would be required to record the benefit in dollars to the Niagara fruit belt last night by the heavy wind which prevailed during the entire night and prevented an extremely sharp frost from injuring the embryonic tender fruit.

The entire district from the Niagara River to Burlington Bay has been a bloom for several days, in fact the fruit is fully twelve days in advance of other years.

Last night's frost was severe enough to have treated great havoc. Ice formed on various farms and in numerous cases the clover was badly nipped.

Yet beyond some damage to the early strawberries, the indications for a tremendous fruit crop in all varieties is unimpaired. It is believed that the trees will be too greatly taxed if all the healthy blossoms mature.

Leading growers do not remember a year when at this period there was such great promise of a heavy crop. "It should be an early crop," said W. B. Bunting.

TEASED CHINESE GIRL FOUND DEAD

Supposed to Have Suicided—Playmates Taunts Unbearable—No Suspicion of Foul Play.

Lying on the floor of her bedroom with a purple discoloration around her neck and a broken clothesline dangling from the ceiling, Mark Hing Hay, a 12-year-old Chinese girl, daughter of Luy Sung Sing, 670 College street, was found by her young brother early Saturday morning.

The discovery was made by the brother a little after 7 o'clock, the usual hour when the girl got up. The boy was horrified at seeing his sister's lifeless body and fled from the room to tell his parents and uncle. The girl's apparent suicide came as a shock to the parents, and no cause could they give for her rash act.

The uncle, who is studying at the university, stated that for weeks back his niece had seemed very lonely. The little girl was not born in Canada, but had lived in Toronto with her parents for a number of years. White girls were unkind to her and made fun of her, and for this reason she did not like them. For the past week she had been even more morose and sulky than before, and two nights ago she turned the gas on in her room. This attempt on her life was discovered and as a result of it was given a spanking.

Detective Wickert, who was called in to make an investigation, stated to The Sunday World that there was little suspicion of any foul play. The death of the girl, however, recalls the case of the Chinese boy who was found hanging by a rope in his uncle's laundry on West Queen street three years ago. Owing to the fact that different stories were told at the investigation into the death of the Chinese boy, the police have decided to make a thorough enquiry into the girl's death. The body was removed to the morgue and Coroner H. Cotton opened an inquest at 8 o'clock, but afterwards adjourned it so as to allow fuller investigation.

Detective Wickert states that when he arrived at the house, he discovered the end of the clothesline nowhere to be seen. On asking for it Luy Sung Sing said that he had thrown it out the window. The detective then went outside and found it beneath the window. The rope was a new one and had been tied to a water pipe which ran across the ceiling. There was a sink in the room, and it was standing upon it and jumping off that the little girl is supposed to have accomplished the deed.

Boy Scouts to Fight Caterpillar Pest

Montreal Parks in Danger of Being Stripped of Foliage by the Plague.

MONTREAL, May 10.—Montreal is threatened with the greatest caterpillar plague it ever knew. The civic authorities issued an appeal to all good citizens to join with them in a war on the pest.

The boy scouts have been enlisted, too, and a big battle is on. Mount Royal is in danger of being stripped of its beautiful foliage unless the scourge is beaten at once. Westmount, Outremont and Montreal are in the fight to save the trees. The cold snap has been a great aid in the undertaking.

French Army Not So Strong as Germany's

PARIS, May 10.—The perils of the present interior of the French army to that of Germany are to be called to the attention of the country by a placard posted in every village and town in France by the Republican Democratic party, which is represented by 76 members in the chamber of deputies.

It is affirmed by them that Germany will have on the first of October 386,000 effectives in its army on a peace footing, against the 457,000 in the French army, without counting the colonial troops.

The manifesto is signed by Charles Jonart, a former foreign minister, numerous other ex-ministers, as well as a large number of deputies and senators.

COCAINE OR CARDS CAUSE OF MURDER

MONTREAL, May 10.—Jack Desroches, who killed Louis Venne in a north end saloon a month ago, entered a plea of not guilty of the charge in court here today. He blamed the whole trouble on a game of cards that he played five years ago, when he lost $500, and ever since that time he says he "has been queer."

The police say, however, that he is a cocaine fiend and that is the reason for the shocking crime.

WHY DO DOCTORS KNOCK T. B. SERUM LACKING PROOF?

Dr. Friedmann Has Had to Bear Sneers of Physicians Who Regard Him as a Faker.

HE MAY HAVE CURE

Majority of Patients Treated in Toronto Have Improved in Subjective Symptoms, Says Expert.

The attitude of many Toronto physicians and those of Montreal, Ottawa and other places that Dr. Friedmann has visited, towards the German specialist has caused a great deal of comment regarding the medical profession as a body. So much has been said to disparage the work of Dr. Friedmann that it is difficult to gain a correct estimate of the value of his discovery.

The Sunday World has been told on several occasions by different practicing physicians that many of the professional men who have criticized Dr. Friedmann from the beginning know absolutely nothing about his tuberculosis serum and have not taken the trouble to see and examine any of the patients treated by him. One man, it is said, was invited to attend one of the two clinics held in Toronto, and he refused with the observation that he would not have anything to do with the fake.

Undoubtedly the reports that the serum is to be handled by a company for commercial exploitation has prejudiced many physicians against Friedmann. "There should be no secrets in medicine," said one doctor to The Sunday World when asked for an opinion, "and this looks like a fake to me."

The holder that has gone up because this German physician has attempted, or is believed to be attempting, to make a barrel of money out of his discovery has been heard across the continent. Fancy a doctor working for anything but love of humanity! It is shocking, is it not?

Four Toronto doctors were appointed a committee to represent the profession by watching the results of the injections given by Dr. Friedmann in his visits to Toronto. They are Dr. Caulfield, Dr. Parsons, Dr. J. H. Elliott, and Dr. Allan Adams, 335 Jarvis street. While no one is prepared to make a positive statement as to the prospects of a cure it is said that there is very good ground to hope that the serum is doing what Dr. Friedmann claims for it. Dr. Allan Adams stated to The Sunday World yesterday that the majority of the Friedmann cases have improved in their subjective symptoms, namely night sweats, expectoration, and they have improved in spite of their unsatisfactory environment. Such a case as, for instance, a man working in the dim light and bad air of an underground room would not be expected to improve under ordinary methods of treatment, and if a patient has improved without being removed from the old environment this was, in the opinion of Dr. Adams, satisfactory. The amount of expectoration has been reduced in nearly all cases coming under the observation of this physician. One man told Dr. Adams that he had night sweats like a Turkish bath and this symptom had disappeared.

"It is too early," he said, "to pronounce any cures, but Dr. Friedmann claimed for his serum that after the first injection expectoration would be lessened and night sweats would disappear."

Of the patients treated by Dr. Friedmann in Toronto, Dr. Adams selected several from his clinic in St. Michael's Hospital, and a number of cases were sent by other doctors. These were typical cases. "The treatment," said Dr. Adams "has apparently done more good than would have been done by any other treatment. It looks like a tuberculosis that is better than any other that we have."

Asked as to the success of Dr. Friedmann in London, Dr. Adams said Friedmann had a number of cases in that city which were not good test cases. In a few cases, which he considered test cases, they showed improvement in respect to night sweats and shortness of breath, and all those who did have expectoration had it lessened. All of them were sanatorium cases and the physician in charge of the institution claimed that they might have shown the same improvement if they had not got the serum.

Dr. Adams said that Dr. Friedmann was apparently in a mood to receive suggestions as to the manner in which the cure could best be made available in Canada. He said that he had received reports that the Doctor had entered into a contract with a medicine company to establish institutes at convenient points, but Friedmann denied that there was any such arrangement.

MILITANTS BURN VANCOUVER TREES

Suffragettes' Mottoes Found in Stanley Park Indicating Origin of Outbreak of Fire.

(Special to Sunday World.)
VANCOUVER, B. C., May 10.—Vancouver experienced an outbreak of militant suffragettes yesterday, when two trees in Stanley Park were burned, presumably by women.

The fire brigade, assisted by the police and a downpour of rain, coped with the outbreak in fine style, after two trees had been burned.

On the burning trees were found the inscription "Votes for women." Great excitement prevailed over this latest development of militancy, especially in the monkey-house, which was threatened.

Peace Tablets For Westminster Abbey

Hundred Years Peace Between England and America Contains No Menace to Other Peoples.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Speaking before his departure, H. S. Ferris, secretary of the British peace delegation referred to the speeches made by Secretary Bryan and others at the peace banquet of night, and said that they "brought home to all peoples of the world the fact that the celebration of one hundred years of peace between British and American peoples contains no menace to other peoples of the world. On the contrary," said Mr. Ferris, "it is an augury of other centuries of peace between these two peoples and of a steadily growing trust and cordiality among other peoples besides those immediately concerned in the celebration."

Several of the delegates, including Lord Westdale, chairman of the English delegation, went to Washington to await the arrival of the other members there on Sunday. Lord Westdale announced that among the features arranged for the celebration in England was the erection of tablets with suitable medallions in Westminster Abbey and elsewhere.

Conditions at All Great Financial Centres Show a Remarkable Similarity.

THE MARKET OUTLOOK

Some Chance of Lower Bank Rate—Alarm Over French Finances.

NEW YORK, May 10.—(Special.)—The London correspondent of The Evening Post cables the following comment on financial conditions:

Conditions of the moment, at all great financial centres of the world, show remarkable similarity. London and the continent generally, with New York, are finding it difficult to read the immediate outlook, the reason in the case of each market being that conflicting influences making for recovery or relapse, are so evenly balanced.

The one great factor making for betterment here is the approach of peace, with probable growing improvement of international relations generally, with consequent release of the continent's hoarded money, and with a gradual return to confidence. The adverse influences include the still overstrained position of many great continental money markets, the huge impending loans, and the other numerous demands on capital.

These latter considerations fully explain the slowness of the open market discount rates on the continent to fall especially at 600,000 francs, the after-financing of the war, the flotation of Turkish, Balkan, Austrian and Italian loans, is complicated by the unfavorable conditions in the money market.

Our stock markets will possibly improve during the next two months before the summer vacations, but hardly more than moderately, because of the impending capital issues. If a satisfactory solution of the Hartman railway entanglement is effected a moderate rise in the American market also is anticipated. But nothing is expected pending the settlement of the problem.

BREAD MORE DIGESTIBLE WHEN NOT KNEADED. A new way of making bread that can be claimed to be digested by the weakest stomach, has been discovered by a Philadelphia woman.

Canadian Art Club

Coming so soon after the Ontario exhibition that of the Canadian Art Club, the sixth annual show invites comparison, and there was much critical comment on Friday evening when Sir John Gibson, after addresses from the honorary president, D. R. Wilkie, and the president, Homer Watson, declared it open.

There is perhaps no cleverer picture in the gallery than Archibald Browne's "After the Shower (Crosby Bands, Liverpool)." The picture is not only a masterpiece, but to those familiar with English atmospheric effects the success of the painter is marvellous.

Mr. Browne has eight other pictures. He strikes a new note in "Summer Eve," but for the most part cannot be better than the Elysian Fields, which he so faithfully renders. A very clever sketch is "The Thames Barge," with its ghostly effect of fog and clouds. Horatio Walker's one picture is "Milking Evening." The evening atmosphere and sky are perfect. Charles P. Gruppe presents the medal picture of the Philadelphia Art Club of 1909, "The Loggers," a powerful color, skillfully reserved in color. His "November Afternoon" (45) is as fine a landscape as the gallery contains. "Going to Pasture" and "The Old Lane" are also gray day effects.

In contrast with these are the bright tropical color of Franklin Brownell's West Indian scenes. William H. Clapp's "Louisiana" is a charming head, with delicate flesh tints. Mr. Cole's "Mauve and Gold" has a brilliant success in color harmony. That winter picture, "Chateau Galliard," Ernest Nest Lawson presents a study in blue in his night piece, "Willows in Winter. The light on the water is clever. "Evening" is a light scene and living. J. Kerr Lawson has a fine piece in "Boston." The English, not the American one. His "Winter in Kent" shows a bright cool atmosphere, with appropriate definition. The blue of the winter night is faithfully given in the bright and cheering Canadian picture, "The Village." The blue of the winter night is faithfully given in the bright and cheering Canadian picture, "The Village."

The bailiffs will not be put in the homes of ratepayers who have not yet paid 1912 taxes, said Mayor Hocken, "but no one can complain if the unpaid taxes of years previous to 1912 are collected by bailiffs. All taxes shown for the years before 1912 have got to be collected, and that is all there is about it."

TORONTO THE PLACE FOR NATIONAL SHOW

Guelph Cannot Hope to Provide Accommodation For Fat Stock Exhibition.

"The big man of the fat stock interests of Canada are twining the demand for a National Winter Fat Stock Show in Toronto," said Controller Foster. "They want a plant large enough to accommodate all the stock offered from every part of Canada for exhibition, and at the same time they want plenty of hotel accommodation for buyers, exhibitors and visitors."

"At present there are two points in Canada where a winter fat stock show would be better than elsewhere. One is at Guelph, an institution with a deservedly world-wide reputation, gives a form of support that cannot be surpassed as far as the atmosphere of scientific breeding is concerned. Added to this is the fact that Guelph is a centre of a large and progressive stock breeding district. These two advantages make Guelph an ideal place for a winter fat stock show."

"There is a demand for a national show, however, and Toronto offers all the desired accommodation for it. Guelph the necessary exhibition plant and hotel accommodation there could not be better than that for a national show. Guelph could develop the required size of plant, but could not hope to provide the hotel accommodation. Therefore the stock interests of the Dominion, in their need for a national show, have been compelled to come to Toronto."

"The stock interests are bound to give consideration primarily to a show that will attract buyers in large numbers, and that means there must be the necessary accommodation to avert the necessity for a large number of strangers, occupying one bed. This is now the trouble at Guelph, and it is not only the number of exhibitors, but also the number of exhibitors and visitors."

"But Guelph has her advantages, and will continue to have a winter fat stock show of high prestige. Toronto will have the national show, and will send to Guelph a great many of the exhibits, and from that many of the exhibitors will go on to Chicago, thus establishing an international avenue for highest grade shows of the best stock on the continent. It is probable that many of the American exhibits at Chicago will be sent to the national show at Toronto."

"Since the preliminary organization for a national winter fat stock show in Toronto, I have been consulting with men who have the experience and intelligence to guide permanent organizations toward the most effective results," Controller Foster said. "We have a large number of specializing interests to be satisfied, and we must have a policy which will meet the conditions bearing upon the establishment of an exhibition of a standard desired by all the interests."

PARIS, May 10.—A curious plea for divorce was heard in the Paris court the other day. A doctor pleaded against his wife who had, he stated, done him serious injury. She had been ill, and, without notifying her husband of her intention, she had gone to consult another doctor. "This behavior," the plaintiff, "is distinctly injurious to my reputation both as a doctor and as a husband." The court found for the defendant, and the grounds of the verdict were as amusing as the case itself. The court found that if a verdict were given for the doctor litigation would ensue, and people of all classes—authors, playwrights, and even cooks—would, quoting precedent, ask for divorce on similar grounds.

MR. GERMAN STATES THE LIBERAL POSITION

his amendment which provides that the ships shall be built as directed by parliament, and under the naval act of 1910, Mr. German said in part: "The government proposes that parliament should vote $35,000,000, handing it over to the government to be used in the aid of the naval forces of the empire. There is nothing in the bill which states how that money is to be expended. Hon. gentlemen opposite, the right hon. prime minister and others have said that they will build three dreadnoughts. It is suggested that these ships will be built. But are we to hand that money over to the government to do as they please with, and after the money is placed in the hands of the government, parliament is absolutely debarred from any consideration as to the manner of its expenditure."

"If the minister of railways and canals were to come down to parliament this session and say: 'It is estimated that the new Welland ship canal will cost for construction about $40,000,000, and the work will take about five years to complete; I would like parliament to vote that amount of money for that purpose,' is there any hon. gentleman within the sound of my voice who would say that parliament should vote that money for the minister to use as he saw fit in building that canal? It would never be thought of. Hon. gentlemen opposite would not support such a proposition. This year the minister says that $2,000,000 is about all that he will spend during the present fiscal year, and consequently he proposes a vote of that amount toward the construction of the canal. Next year, when public accounts are laid, that money having been expended, and the expenditure is submitted to the investigation of the public accounts committee—if the money has been properly and judiciously spent, parliament will be prepared to vote a further sum to be handed over to the minister for the continuance of the good work for another year. That is the way parliamentary government proceeds. It does not support such a proposition. This year the minister says that $2,000,000 is about all that he will spend during the present fiscal year, and consequently he proposes a vote of that amount toward the construction of the canal. Next year, when public accounts are laid, that money having been expended, and the expenditure is submitted to the investigation of the public accounts committee—if the money has been properly and judiciously spent, parliament will be prepared to vote a further sum to be handed over to the minister for the continuance of the good work for another year. That is the way parliamentary government proceeds. It does not support such a proposition. ### LITTLE MOTHERS GIVEN A START Classes Opened in Public Schools for the Training of Little Girls in Care of Babies.

If one has any doubt as to the necessity for training the foreign mothers of our Canadian children, if one has any hesitancy about proclaiming the benefits of the "Little Mother movement," let him drop in at one of the training classes in the Victoria street, Hester How or McCaul Schools. At Victoria Street School over twenty anxious little mothers waited the introductory lesson in the management of the baby. A number of them explained to Miss Paul that their babies were too small to come out on such a cold morning, but they were quite prepared to profit by the lesson and then demonstrate at home. Half a dozen sturdy, little, dark-eyed babies walked, toddled and crawled around the floor, while their interested guardians followed directions in making a bed.

At McCaul School a real baby was put to bed and he was regally content. His little mother—aged twelve—lifted him up hastily at the end of the lesson. "You see," she told me, "he looks so filthy in that nice clean bed." Isn't that the best beginning? The girls are to be taught bathing, dressing, preparation of food and in fact everything that pertains to the modern rearing of children. They were fascinated with the blue and white saucers, the glass measuring cup, the funnel and spoon—and the baby clothes! They wanted to begin right away. Indeed many of them started hemming wash cloths and diapers, but the majority were forced to wait and wait for a day that wasn't Sunday.

Huge Death Roll in U. S. Mine Accidents

Bureau of Mines Reports that 3600 Men Were Killed in Twelve Months.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Accidents in quarries, coal mines and metal mines of the United States during 1911 resulted in loss of life to 3602 men, of the 1,095,231 men employed. The bureau of mines' report shows 188 men were killed during 1911 out of 110,954 men employed, making the death rate 1.69 per 1000. In coal mines 72,348 men were employed, of whom 2179 were killed, making the death rate 3.73; in metal mines 165,979 men employed, 695 killed, making the death rate 4.19.

Approximately one-half of the deaths in and about quarries were due to three causes, in the order named: Explosives, falls or slides of quarry material, and falls or slides of overburden.

Drowned Before Brother's Eyes. WINNIPEG, May 10.—Before his brother's eyes, Harry Pearson, 32, of Durango, Colorado, walked in the Asimboles River, swam to midstream and allowed himself to drown. He had been despondent.

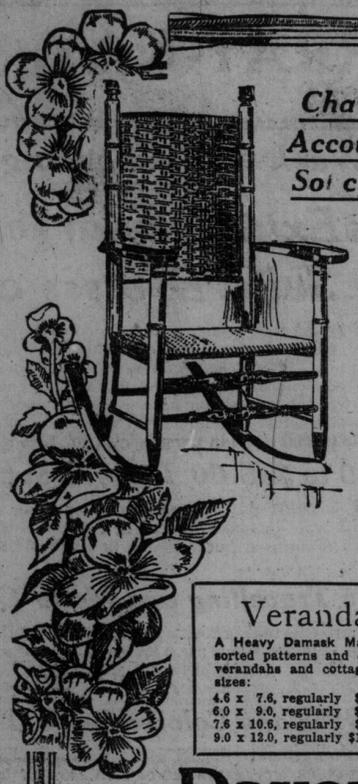

Jury Disagree. PATERSON, N. J., May 10.—The jury in the case of Patrick Quinlan, leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, indicted for inciting striking Paterson silk workers to riot, was hopelessly disagreeing this forenoon, and was discharged.

Proprietor of Alexandra Hotel, Ottawa Tells of Interesting Private Experience

People Should Bathe Internally as Well as Externally

It is not often that prominent people today lend their names for use in medicinal advertisements unless the article advertised has proved of wonderful benefit to their personal case, and it was for this reason that Mr. Babine wrote Dr. Tyrrell as follows: "I do not think I could find words explicit enough to express myself as I feel. I have used the J. B. L. Cascade two years and it has made a new man of me. In reality I feel that I would not sell it for all the money in the world if I could not buy another. Through my recommendation I know a number of my friends who have been using it with the same satisfaction. For people troubled with Constipation I think it is a God-send." (Signed) T. Babine, Proprietor, Alexandra Hotel, Ottawa.

Do not neglect Constipation. Do not allow the clogging of the system with terribly poisonous waste to perpetuate your illness and your whole body open to the attacks of the most serious diseases. Take steps to rid yourself of this affliction at once. Write to Dr. Tyrrell, ask him about his system of treatment. It is recommended by physicians everywhere and it has been used by over 300,000 people. See what this simple and sane method of using plain, pure water will do for you. Dr. Tyrrell will be glad to send you his free book and all particulars if you will address him, Charles A. Tyrrell, M. D., Room 421, 230 College St., Toronto, Ontario. ### What one woman does Every Tuesday during the warm weather she takes her basket of clothes, ironing board, and Electric Iron out on the verandah and sits down while she does a whole family ironing in cool comfort.

She does better work and she saves her strength for her other duties, because the iron, being always at right heat, there's no hard rubbing. "Why," said she, when she stopped to chat to the demonstrator one day, "why, there's no comparison between the old and new way of ironing. All the drudgery has gone out of it!" But imagine sitting down to an ironing! Did you ever hear of it before? That just gives you an inkling of what the Electric Iron will do for you.

Campanini Becomes Operatic Manager

Noted Conductor to Succeed Andreas Dippel as Director of Chicago Opera Company.

Andreas Dippel, general manager of the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company, has resigned, and it is announced that Cleofonte Campanini, the musical director, will be his successor. It is reported that New York interests have been withdrawn from the company, the idea being to have it a strictly Chicago organization. Mr. Dippel will henceforth devote his energies to larger schemes, and in a few weeks expects to be able to announce his plans to the public. Mr. Charles G. Dawes, vice-president, is making an effort to have Campanini's contract with Covent Garden renewed, so that he may start at once on the work of reorganization. The principal artists have already been engaged for next year, and the season will be the same length as that just closed. The company expects to visit New York and Philadelphia for short seasons, as formerly. In accepting Mr. Dippel's resignation the executive committee expressed

DISORDER DELAYS COMMITTEE REPORT TILL FOUR O'CLOCK

But Navy Bill is Safely Through Stage and Stands For Third Reading at Next Sitting.

COUP DIDN'T WORK

Mr. Borden Cuts Off Further Talk and Guillotine is Set to Work Promptly on Time.

By Tom King.
OTTAWA, May 10.—The naval bill has at last got through committee and stands for third reading "at the next sitting of the house."

It seemed to be safely thru at a quarter of three this morning, but a somewhat lively temper in a seaport—terminating in considerable disorder—delayed the report of the committee until nearly 4 o'clock.

It had been generally understood that the Liberals would attempt some coup at the last moment, to place themselves in the position of martyrs, and to embarrass the government.

One of the prominent Conservatives, who is a trained observer of men, a shrewd forecaster of events, said to your correspondent this morning that the busy bees were at work. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. William Pugsley, and others, were at the "thinking buses," all day, and there was a big conference at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's office during the dinner recess. The new rules led government and opposition alike into an unexplored country.

The evening sitting was deadly dull, except for the remarkably good speech of Hugh Guthrie, member for Wellington, and the very lively reply of Mr. Bennett, of Simcoe. Sir Wilfrid also spoke, but he was not up to his usual standard, and the prime minister delivered a strong speech in the 20 minutes to which he was limited, in reply. Ned Macdonald closed the debate, his speech running a little past the hour of 4 o'clock, and there without any serious commotion, the guillotine set to work.

The Guillotine at Work.
Dr. Neely, of Humboldt, was very vociferous, and Charlie Wilson of Leval, who contributed something to the disorder, was really having a little fun at the doctor's expense. Many other opposition members created some disorder, but not to any unusual extent. Meanwhile the knife descended, and head after head, amendment after amendment, and clause after clause, fell into the basket. At last all clauses were adopted, and all the proposed amendments defeated.

Then came the break. Mr. Borden rose to make the formal motion that the committee report the bill, and at the same time Mr. Carroll, of South Cape Breton, moved a new clause, clause seven, to the effect that all material to be used in the ships should be purchased in Canada, as far as practical, at current prices in Canada.

There is every reason to believe that Mr. Carroll was sincere in his motion, which he had tried to present several times during the day, and it ought to be a vote-getter for him in the steel city of Sydney, C. B., which he represents.

The prime minister, however, was inclined to believe that the amendment could not be offered, at least in committee stage, and Chairman Blondin was undecided. In the debate which ensued this contention was badly riddled. Even Mr. Melgheon of Portage la Prairie admitted that the motion was probably proper. He suggested, however, a way out: Mr. Borden, he said, had risen first, and his motion must, therefore, be put without debate or amendment.

Borden Has Floor.
There was a howl of rage from the opposition bench, when Chairman Blondin grasped this straw, and declared that Mr. Borden had the floor. "This simply means," Sir Wilfrid observed, "that any member can be prevented from moving an amendment on this bill by the prime minister springing from his seat."

Mr. Borden, nettled by this, said he would allow Mr. Carroll to move his amendment, as a matter of courtesy, if it could be voted upon without debate.

"We want no courtesy," said the ex-premier, tartly. Then, amid great disorder on both sides of the house, Mr. Frank Carvell proceeded to tell Chairman Blondin just what he thought of him. He bluntly declared that the chairman was acting under the orders of Mr. Melgheon, and had been constantly directed by him. All free speech was gone, he said, in a parliament where the prime minister, by ruse, controls the chairman, and stifles the discussion.

Mr. E. M. Macdonald (Pictou) said the chairman had made the ruling upon the wrong point, and when Mr. Blondin resented this, added: "I understand the English language, and you don't." Amid yells, cat-calls, hisses, and cries of "shame," Mr. Borden again made his motion. The chairman apparently put it, altho not a word could be heard in the uproar. The Conservatives stood up, and were counted. The Liberals declined to stand.

There was more confusion when Speaker Sproule took the chair to receive the report of the committee. It appeared that Mr. Pugsley had moved that the chairman leave the chair just before the committee rose, and this motion had been ignored. He, therefore, shouted to Mr. Speaker Sproule: "I desire to inform you, sir, that the report of the chairman is a false report."

"I appeal to the members of the house," said Speaker Sproule, "to uphold the dignity and prerogatives of the parliament."

"The prerogatives of parliament have been usurped," quoted the Hon. Frank Oliver. Speaker Sproule kept his head and his temper this time, and now and then obtained a semblance of order. During one of these breathing spells the prime minister moved that the house adjourn. There was a medley of yells from the opposition bench, but the speaker lost no time. Putting on his cocked hat, and marching out to the door in front of the sergeant-at-arms, but the house was adjourned, just the same.

divided. The open breach between Dr. Pugsley and Dr. Clark of Red Deer is significant. Indeed ever y third Liberal you meet thinks it would be a mistake for the senate to reject the bill, but the betting upon what will happen is even money. This morning's row was undoubtedly intended to furnish some colorable excuse to the senate should it decide to override the will of the people.

Hansard gives a somewhat meagre report of what happened after the house came out of committee. Still some indication of the lively time had may be gleaned from the record. To quote: The house having resumed with Mr. Speaker in the chair. Some hon. members: "The report is not fair."

Mr. Speaker: "Order."

Mr. Speaker: "The chairman made a false report to you, sir."

Mr. Speaker: "When shall this report be received?"

Some hon. members: "No, don't receive it."

Mr. Borden moved the adjournment of the house.

On the question being put. Some hon. members: "We won't adjourn."

Mr. Pugsley: I desire respectfully to call your attention, Mr. Speaker, to the fact that the Deputy Speaker has made a false report.

Some hon. members: "Order."

Mr. Pugsley: There was another motion before the chair when he left the chair; he ignored that motion, and the Speaker ought not to receive that report.

Some hon. members: "Hear, hear."

Mr. Speaker: "Order. I want to say that it is not the right of a member to either criticize or reflect upon the conduct of the chair in that way."

Some hon. members: "Oh."

Mr. Speaker: "Order. That can only be done by a substantive motion, and it can be done by giving notice at any time. This was the rule."

Rights of Minority.
Mr. Pugsley: Mr. Speaker, you are asking us to observe the rules, and we ask you to sustain the rights of the minority.

Some hon. members: "Hear, hear."

Mr. Speaker: In my judgment, the best way to maintain the rights of the minority is to maintain the rules.

Some hon. members: "Hear, hear."

Mr. Oliver: The rules were broken by the government.

Mr. Speaker: The rules are made for the minority as well as for the majority.

Mr. Speaker: The rules were openly violated by the chairman.

Mr. Speaker: Is it the pleasure of the house that motion be carried?

Some hon. members: "No, no."

Other hon. members: "Carried."

Mr. Speaker: I declare the motion carried.

The house adjourned at 8.40 a.m. Saturday.

It is reported that a sounding balloon sent up from the observatory of Pavia, the headquarters of upper air research in Italy, attained the unprecedented altitude of 23.4 miles. The previous record, 20.15 miles, was made at the royal observatory of Belgium, June 2, 1911. The American record, 18.94 miles, was made at Huron, S. D., September, 1910.

TORONTO'S SELF-DENIAL DOLLARS TO SUPPORT MISSIONS IN JAPAN

Forty Salvation Lads and Lassies on Street Corners Collect About $400 Every Year to Spread Christianity in Flowery Kingdom and Help Leper Colony in Java.

Every nickel and dime which have gone to make up the dollars for the self-denial fund of the Salvation Army the past week will take a long journey. And, after these same dollars have converted themselves into pounds and shillings over in the head office in London, they will see strange sights and mingle with strange peoples.

Some of them will cross the great Pacific and go to dwell in the land of the buds and cherry blossoms. The atmosphere will be rather strange there. For only one out of every two coquette inhabitants have left their ancient Buddha to follow in the footsteps of the Founder of Christianity.

Where Money Is Needed. After the pounds and shillings have been converted into Japanese yen they will be used for divers purposes. For equipping the fine hospital which was opened under the auspices of the Salvation Army not very long ago. Already forty thousand dollars has been raised for this building, some of which was donated by Japanese citizens of Tokio.

Some Toronto citizen who had slipped a ten-dollar note into the little wooden box held by a cadet on the corner of Queen and Yonge streets last week were to take a trip to far-away Japan, he would see the same uniform worn by a bright, cheery volunteer in the ranks of the most powerful army in the world. For Japan has one hundred and thirty officers, forty-three corps and outposts, which need all the money that the home office in London can spare.

That is why the bright-eyed Salvation lassies endured the heat and dust of downtown Toronto, for the whole week. It is such endurance as this which has placed so many items of good to the credit of the Salvation Army.

Self-Denial Boxes. There were 40 of them in all, men and women, who stood holding their little wooden boxes, proclaiming silently that it was a good opportunity for the citizens of Toronto to give something for the help of others less fortunate. They were cadets in the Salvation Army training school on Sherbourne street, and were all of that enthusiasm which characterized the work of the Salvation Army from the start, and made it a living, vital movement amongst the religious and charitable organizations of the world.

One noticed that the pretty girl with the blonde hair and ruddy complexion did not have the same position every day. One day she stood at the corner of Shuter and Yonge. Another, she would move down the street a bit and take her place beside a hotel.

One would think that any place on Yonge street would be advantageous for cadets collecting self-denial coins. But there was a difference. If one could use the contents of the little wooden boxes as a fair judge, the most beneficial place to stand was at the corner of King and Yonge.

The most advantageous corner, however, seems to fluctuate. Last year the most money was collected at Queen and Yonge. The year before, people who chanced to pass by College and Yonge gave the most liberally. And so it goes. It is as the spirit of self-denial seems to appeal to the citizens. If a real estate dealer around Toronto and King streets has closed a good deal, he may feel inclined to drop a fat bill into the box at King and Yonge, as he walks along that way to his club for luncheon. And so the other money that is collected.

From Japan and its cherry blossoms to Java, the colony of the lepers, seems a wide jump.

But there is what has always characterized the work of the Salvation Army. The width of its jumps, both actual and figurative.

Will Never Return. When a recruit of this great army leaves home and friends for Java, it means that he is leaving that home and these friends, not for a year, or five years, or ten. He can never come back from the leper colony. The best known of these colonies is situated at Pelantongan, Java.

For one year this colony has been under the exclusive management of the army. It is scarcely necessary to add that the poor sufferers have been greatly relieved since being under the control of this organization.

In the leper colonies, other than Java, in India, and the West Indies, the Salvation Army has 63 officers and seven hundred men.

One of the greatest wishes of the late General Booth was to establish a corps in China. The conditions in inland China are more impossible than anyone would dream of.

It is the intention of the new general to send recruits there as soon as possible, providing the necessary amount of money is raised. These efforts of the cadets, who have been working so valiantly this last self-denial week.

Toronto's money may go to the inmost depths of the land of the celestial. Who knows? Late Saturday night, when all the forty boxes were raised, their headquarters, will begin the work of counting up the collections.

So far, it is supposed that they will amount to about $400. Last year, there was just $276 more than the same time, last year. Last year the emptying of the boxes revealed five hundred Canadian dollars from a population of four hundred and fifty thousand people. Old London has denied itself over a hundred thousand this year; and it is very doubtful if the denial is felt very keenly by any who have dropped their pounds and shillings into the boxes.

About the noon hour, when the crowds were thickest in the downtown districts, the collections were the best. Perhaps one could infer with safety that it was just after the givers had lunched. For, what is it that some one has said about a satisfied stomach?

The picturesque blue bonnets and serge costumes always carry with them a great deal of respect. This makes itself apparent to all the passer-by, and insolence which, sometimes, very often, have to be tolerated by Toronto citizens, are not forthcoming when the authors of these insolences chance to catch a glimpse of a poke bonnet with a red band across the front.

It is gratifying to know that there is one badge and symbol which will silence the loudest impertinence of the Toronto street "freshies," who are becoming much too numerous.

—Margaret Bell.

Two More "Suffs" Bombs Discovered

Attempts to Wreck Liverpool Railway Station and Reading Postoffice Frustrated.

LONDON, May 10.—Two more of the now familiar bombs, with which the militant suffragettes are making an attempt to scare the British parliament into giving the parliamentary franchise to women, were discovered this morning.

One of them was found in the passengers' waiting room at the busy street railroad station in Liverpool, and the other in the sorting room of the postoffice at Reading.

The fuse of the Liverpool bomb had been lighted by the perpetrator of the outrage, but had died out before it reached the gunpowder. The instrument of intended destruction consisted of a tin tobacco box, filled with gunpowder and iron nuts, and the long fuse was laid in the centre.

The Reading bomb was wrapped in a bulky parcel to which the attention of the postoffice employees was attracted by the sound of ticking. The police were called in, and, on examination, found that the parcel contained an electric battery connected with explosives, and accompanied by quantities of suffragette literature.

The parcel was addressed to a municipal official of Reading, who is now on his vacation. The police express the belief that it was timed to explode in his residence during his absence. The clockwork arrangement was in perfect working order.

In view of the possibility of further attacks by the "wild women" on the churches, many historical edifices throughout the country, which, during the season, are usually visited by thousands of tourists, have been ordered to be closed, except during the hours of service.

CATARRH TRUTH

Told in a Simple Way

No Apparatus, Inhalers, Salves, Lotions, Harmful Drugs, Smoke or Electricity.

HEALS 24 HOURS

It is a new way. It is something absolutely different. No lotions, sprays or sticky smelling salves or creams. No atomizer, or any apparatus of any kind. Nothing to smoke or inhale. No steaming or rubbing or irritating injections. No electricity or vibration or massage. No powder; no plasters; no keeping in the house. Nothing of that kind at all. Something new and different, something delightful and healthful, something instantly successful. You do not have to wait, and linger, and pay out a lot of money. You can stop it over night—and I will gladly tell you how—FREE. I am not a doctor and this is not a so-called doctor's prescription—but I am cured and my friends are cured, and you can be cured. Your suffering will stop at once like magic.

I Am Free—You Can Be Free

My catarrh was filthy and loathsome. It made me ill. It dulled my mind. It undermined my health and was weighing my will. The hawking, coughing, spitting made me obnoxious to all, and my foul breath and disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in the past and my faculties impaired. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because every moment of the day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality.

But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it FREE. Write me promptly.

RISK JUST ONE CENT

Send no money. Just your name and address on a postal card. Say: "Dear Sam Katz, Please tell me how you cured your catarrh and how I can cure mine." That's all you need to say. I will understand, and I will write to you with complete information, FREE, at once. Do not delay. Send postal card or write me a letter today. Don't think of turning this page until you have asked for this wonderful treatment that can do for you what it has done for me.

SEEDING IN WEST IS NOW COMPLETED

Conditions For Sowing Have Been Excellent - Early Wheat Coming Up in Good Fashion.

WINNIPEG, May 10.—(Special).—Canada's grain harvest, the grain producing areas of the prairie provinces, is now practically planted and the west is optimistic, present conditions pointing to a splendid crop.

Less flax is being sown, but more barley. The planting of coarse grains is just commencing, but the next couple of weeks will see a vast amount of work in this direction.

Reports from many points in Manitoba speak of the present as an unexcelled season for the planting of grain. The past two or three weeks have been somewhat cold and not conducive to quick growth, but for all that, early sown wheat is coming up in good fashion and should make progress from this time on.

There has been little rain, but all reports say that the soil is sufficiently moist for present purposes.

Increased acreage has been the general order of things, and with continued favorable conditions, sunny Alberta will send to the world's markets the largest shipments in her brief history.

WIRE FROM FATHER TURNS BACK BRIDE AS STEAMER SAILS

Maxine Seagrave of Toronto Wedded Wealthy Costa Rican Who Cabled "Pup-pah" For His Blessing.

"NAY, NAY, TEODORA!"

Flashed Backirate Planter and Young Wife Was Left Weeping on the Pier.

(Special to The Sunday World). NEW YORK, May 10.—Half an hour before the sailing of the steamer Carillon for Central American and West Indian ports, a handsome couple was aboard. That they were bride and groom was evident. The man was Teodoro Gonzales, the bride was Maxine Seagrave, daughter of Crawford street, Toronto, Ontario.

Last January Miss Seagrave, accompanied by her mother, made a winter cruise to the West Indies on the steamer Tivives. On the return voyage Gonzales boarded the steamer at Port Limon. He fell in love with the beautiful Costa Rican girl. He proposed and she was rejected.

He told the girl his father had a great plantation outside of San Jose, Costa Rica, and that he was on his way here to spend two weeks purchasing machinery for his father, but he cast business to the winds and followed Miss Seagrave to her home in Toronto. His suit progressed so rapidly that Cupid triumphed and they were secretly married.

Gonzales attended to the neglected business of his father for several days ago, in New York. He had been receiving tempestuous letters from his father, calling for an explanation of his long absence and demanding to know why the machinery had not been shipped. But he was gay and happy with his bride. He knew that as soon as his father heard of her he would take her to his arms, and would forgive his son.

Some days ago he broke the news of his marriage to his father. He cabled him he had married the sweetest girl in the world, and that he would sail with her on the Carillon. But a few moments before the vessel sailed a steward handed Gonzales a telegram. "A message from my father," said Gonzales. He tore open the envelope, hurriedly read the message, and then cried: "My God."

"What is it, Teddy?" cried his bride, the smile gone from her face, and her hands clasped in prayer. "Oh, what's the matter, Teddy?" "Read for yourself," he said sadly, handing her the message.

"I can't read it," she exclaimed petulantly. "It's in Spanish." Translated, the message read: "Come without shame. Will meet you at Port Limon."

"It's terrible," said Gonzales, and tears filled the blue eyes of his bride. "His anger is awful. He has been known to kill servants when aroused. There will be an awful scene at Port Limon."

They talked it over by themselves. Then it was decided he must take his bride alone, that she must be returned to Canada, and he declared he would send for her in two weeks.

And so her little steamer trunk, her suitcase and bags were taken ashore. He accompanied her to the pier and there was one more wild, tearful embrace. Then the steamer slowly pulled away from the wharf, with Gonzales weeping at the rail and the brave bride trying to smile confidence and courage to him.

PALESTINE IN TORONTO.

An instructive treat for Toronto. Next Monday Sir John Gibson opens this great entertainment. The transportation building presents a busy scene, where a large band of workmen are transforming the great building into a veritable eastern scene.

Bands of stewards meet daily and lectures are delivered to them by experts on ancient Jerusalem, the tabernacle model, and the Bethany home. Many of our Toronto ladies are practicing native songs of Palestine, and the clergy are drilling their church workers into their manifold duties.

Altogether the number of workers reaches a total of 1500. Many of the models are certainly unique. The tabernacle, as being now built up, is the actual size, as made by Moses in the wilderness, and presents the court, the altar, the holy place, and holy of holies complete. The veil, and curtains, are magnificent specimens of eastern art, and the golden branches and candlesticks is a copy of the original seen in the arch of Titus, in Rome.

What will interest Jews, as well as Christians, is a fine model of the second temple, and a gigantic model of the whole of Palestine. It is difficult to realize how small a land, but, as the Rev. S. Schor explains, there is a great difference between the "holy land" and the "promised land." The latter is the actual land the Jews will occupy, and probably at a not very distant date, and is referred to in the Bible as "from the River of Egypt to the River Euphrates."

King George Sues Canadian Judge

His Majesty Charges Hon. Wm. Henry Pope Clements With Making Fraudulent Returns.

MONTREAL, May 10.—An unusual suit has been entered in the exchequer court of Canada by His Majesty the King, acting thru the Hon. Charles J. Doherty, attorney-general of Canada, against the Hon. William Henry Pope Clements. The defendant was appointed a justice of the peace in 1906, and has been a judge of the court ever since. The suit is for $4200, with interest and costs.

It is further alleged that the payment of this allowance was accompanied by a certificate each month that he was necessarily absent from his home for the days for which he claimed the money. In these applications and certificates the defendant alleged that he lived in Grand Forks, B. C., whereas it is claimed that he was a resident of Vancouver. As a consequence the attorney-general of Canada, on behalf of the King, claims that the certificates should be declared false and fraudulent, and that judgment be rendered against the defendant for $4200, costs and interest.

The defendant has four weeks in which to answer the information.

Crops Hurt by Frost. GUELPH, Ont., May 10.—The field husbandry department of the Agricultural College reports considerable damage last night by the heavy frost. LOCAL FLEET UNIT TO PROTECT PACIFIC

Col. Allen of New Zealand at Winnipeg Canadian Club - Honor For Sir Charles Tupper.

WINNIPEG, May 10.—(Special).—"What we should do—and I speak for Australia and Canada, as well as for New Zealand—is to utilize the national sentiment and local patriotism, not so much to build up a local navy—a tin-pot navy—but to build up a local fleet unit that will protect the Pacific seas, just as a local unit of the imperial navy now protects the North Sea and the Mediterranean."

This was the significant passage in a rousing speech on the navy question delivered by Hon. Col. J. Allen, minister of finance, education and defence for New Zealand. Col. Allen was the guest of the Winnipeg Canadian Club at which there was an enthusiastic company numbering about 600.

Following upon the speech of Col. Allen, an interesting ceremony was performed of conferring life membership upon the veteran statesman, Sir Charles Tupper, in whose absence the honor was accepted by his son, Stewart Tupper, who cordially thanked the Canadian Club.

A LEADER IN CANADA

No Skating Academy in the Dominion Compares With Parkdale - Is Known as a Favorite With Particular People.

Strictly high class and generally conceded to be the finest and best conducted rink in Canada is Parkdale. If you do not know how to roller skate you are missing one of the best and most delightful pastimes going. An excellent band every night and Saturday afternoon, and nowhere is there a rink that compares with this one in high class patronage.

The following statement was made by a gentleman that is acquainted with the rink business on the other side. He said that he does not know of a better skating rink in America than Parkdale.

Parkdale is far ahead of the ordinary skating rink. Here you find a non-slip floor, perfect ventilation and an excellent band every night and Saturday afternoon, and nowhere is there a rink that compares with this one in high class patronage.

KANSAS DENTIST IMPLANTS TEETH ON METAL ROOTS

Skeleton of Iridio Platinum is Inserted in Jaw and Reinforces New Bone Structure. AUDACIOUS OPERATION As Revolutionizing as Discovery of Wireless Telegraphy, Radium and the X Rays.

Dr. Greenfield of Wichita, Kas., describes in The Dental Cosmos (Philadelphia, April) an operation which he declares to be "as audacious and revolutionizing in dentistry as were the discovery and use of wireless telegraphy, radium, and X-rays in their particular field of science." Dr. Greenfield implants teeth upon artificial roots of iridio-platinum, which, he asserts, are practically permanent. The bony tissue of the jaw unites in and around the structure of the metal root, so that his artificial teeth rest on what is virtually a foundation of reinforced bone, the reinforcement consisting, just as in the case of concrete, of a metal skeleton imbedded in the bony mass of the jaw.

Speaking of the new process, Dr. Greenfield says: "The Process Described."

THE GATLIN DRUG HABIT CURE

MORPHINE, COCAINE, Etc.

The Gatlin Treatment is now generally recognized as the only satisfactory and permanent method for the cure of the Drug Habit.

The Gatlin Treatment not only suppresses the craving for drugs, but actually creates a loathing for them, and while perfectly harmless, acts as a revivifying tonic, building up the wasted tissues and invigorating the whole nervous system.

no less than the making of a few circular incisions in the jawbone, and inserting properly prepared artificial roots of iridio-platinum, and mounting on each a base or anchorage, to which can be attached a full set of permanent, natural-appearing teeth, capable of rendering as good and efficient service as those endowed by nature at her best.

Perhaps the greatest convenience to dentists in this new process is the fact that the splint is unnecessary. For filling the vacancy caused by the loss of a single tooth, why better method could be employed? No splint will be needed, and the adjacent teeth will not have to be mutilated in order to serve as anchorages or abutments; the artificial root eliminates all that. Besides, the mechanical phase of this wonderful process is so utterly simple that it will be readily understood, and proficiency in its use will be quickly acquired by all who desire to use it.

"The artificial root used for this process is a hollow, latticed cylinder of iridio-platinum, No. 24 gauge, soldered with 24-carat gold. It is impervious to acids, and does not injure the tissue which grows about it. The disk-shaped cast base with groove or slot, in which the crown attachment is inserted, is made of 22-carat gold, and is soldered to the metal frame of the root.

"Special machinery is necessary for cutting and shaping these roots. Absolute accuracy is essential, for the artificial root must fit exactly the circular incision in the socket made for it in the jawbone of the patient.

"In the course of a week or ten days after operating, sensitiveness has largely abated, and in six weeks' time—rarely longer—the bony tissues of the jaw have united thru the latticed root-structure, and a positive anchorage is provided for the attachment of the artificial denture. Solidly Embedded.

"By means of the bony core which the trephine produces in making the incision or root-socket, the artificial root, after being placed in position, will be held firmly until a sufficient deposit of bone cells has filled the spaces in the root frame. Thus the artificial root becomes solidly embedded in the jawbone.

"This bony centre of the root-socket is one of the chief factors in the success of this process of implantation. It assures the fit of the artificial root in the socket trephined for it, and an absolutely accurate and certain fit is decidedly essential to permanence and endurance.

"Without this core or centre, splints would be necessary, but with it, there are practically no limits to the prosthetic appliances available. It is this feature of the process which makes it so inviting and interesting to all members of the profession, especially when the results accomplished are compared with the results of the implantation of natural teeth. The implanted natural tooth falls because of the rarefying inflammation which occurs at the seat of implantation.

"The conditions limiting the use of these metal roots, the inventor tells us, are few. If the patient's health is bad or if the bony structure of his jaw is diseased, the method is sometimes inadvisable. The author concludes: No Fear of Infection.

"This operation must not be placed in the same class as all other implantations, nor should it be anticipated that this process comes to the same end as do all other implantations. No fear is to be entertained that infection will occur. If a solid body is inserted in the maxilla, there would be room for infection to set in around it, but in this operation a cage-like, hollow cylinder is inserted in a circular socket in the maxilla. This root is open all the way up, clear to the gum, and the circulation carries away any bacteria which might otherwise be destructive. This is one of the main features in the success of this process of artificial-root implantation. If the root were a solid body or even simply perforated, it would be thrown out, as nature would not tolerate it, and there would be room for infection. "Another factor which limits the conditions of failure is the simplicity of the operation, which is neither difficult nor complicated, and can be performed in a few minutes.

and stationary, the bony core in the centre of the socket assuring solidity. "I have implanted both natural teeth and these artificial ones, so I speak from experience when I say that the absorption which takes place after a few years and absolutely destroys implanted natural teeth is entirely avoided by this process, which provides for the absorbing in the jaw of roots of solid imperishable artificial roots."

CHARRED REMAINS FOUND IN RUINS

Fire Which Destroyed Chatham Planet Plant Most Disastrous in That City in Quarter of Century.

CHATHAM, Ont., May 10.—The charred remains of Alex. McDougall and Robert Birch, who were burned to death in the fire which destroyed the plant of The Planet Publishing Company late Friday night, were found shortly before 10.30 this morning. The bodies were covered by several feet of debris in the basement of the demolished structure.

McDougall was 54 years of age and Birch 51. They had been employed at The Planet for over a quarter of a century. Each leaves a widow and one daughter.

The fire was the most disastrous that has occurred in Chatham for a decade. The loss is estimated at $75,000 and insurance $30,000. The Planet was established in 1875 by the late Rufus Stephenson. Since his death it has been conducted by his son, Sidney Stephenson. The paper is Conservative and publishes weekly and daily issues. A large job printing establishment is also conducted in the same building, and only a few days ago the contract for printing Barnum & Bailey's posters was executed.

Three Mysteries Troubling London Scotland Yard Trying to Solve Three Strange Cases of Disappearance. LONDON, May 10.—Three great mysteries are being investigated in this country at the present time, two by Scotland Yard and the other by lawyers. All are concerned with persons who have disappeared. The cases are: 1. The mystery of a young German found shot in Toulon. The strange movements in London of a man answering his description, the shadowing of him by another German and enquiries made for him by a woman, make this mystery one of unusual interest. 2. The mystery of Amiyas Brigg, a barrister of the Middle Temple and nephew of Sir Forrest Fulton, recorder of the City of London. Brigg has not been seen since April 29. 3. The mystery of W. R. Lidderdale, bank manager of Bminster, Somerset, who disappeared in 1882. On Wednesday, when the case came before the probate court, Justice Baggwale decided that further enquiries were necessary before Lidderdale's death could be presumed, and the lawyers in the case are searching widely for information about a mysterious yacht, the Foresight, and for various persons mentioned in the case. Tour for Peace Delegates. NEW YORK, May 10.—Practically all of the visiting delegates of the international conference looking to a celebration of 100 years of peace among English-speaking peoples, began today their tour of the chief cities of the east as guests of the American committee.

REVIEW OF NAVY BILL FIGHT

Issue Dates From South African War When Hand of Laurier Was Forced by Conservatives — German Scare Brings on Acute Situation.

By Tom King.

OTTAWA, May 10.—A review of the naval bill, and, indeed, a resume of the general subject of naval legislation in Canada, may not be inappropriate. The present political situation, in a way, dates back to the South African war, when the hand of the Laurier government was forced by the Conservative party of that day and public opinion generally throughout Canada. With the conclusion of that war began an agitation more or less persistent for some contribution by the Dominion to imperial naval defense. The late Hon. Raymond Prefontaine had prepared a bill for the establishment of a Canadian naval militia, which was to have been introduced in parliament in 1905, but was subsequently withdrawn. His successor as minister of marine, at the imperial conference of 1907, said that Canada had taken upon herself the responsibility of establishing and maintaining training ships and naval militia on the great lakes.

As a matter of fact, nothing had been accomplished, nor was the question at all acute until the so-called German scare of 1908. There was a strong section of the Conservative party in parliament at that time which favored a contribution of dreadnoughts, and desired to force the hand of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and this section was not altogether satisfied with the compromise of March 29, 1909, as embodied in the resolution of the house of commons of that date. Although the resolution committed Canada to the policy of a separate navy, the section of the party which had favored the gift of dreadnoughts of 1909 prevailed upon Mr. Borden to materially modify his policy at the session of parliament which opened in November of that year.

Declared for Plebiscite.

The government's bill establishing a Canadian naval service was resisted by the opposition, and the present prime minister offered an amendment upon the second reading of the bill, declaring against the establishment of a Canadian navy without a direct mandate from the people, and advocated an immediate gift of dreadnoughts.

At that session of parliament the Conservatives of Nationalist leanings, under Hon. F. D. Monk, demanded a plebiscite upon the naval question, and opposed the Laurier navy and the Borden contribution alike. At one stage Mr. Borden and the bulk of the Conservatives voted with Mr. Monk and his followers upon a resolution declaring flat-footed for a plebiscite.

At the general elections of 1911, it is fair to say that reciprocity was the issue in Ontario, and in the English-speaking provinces generally. The naval issue was little discussed, or little heard of. Mr. Borden's manifesto contained but a few sentences on the subject, and these were confined to denunciation of the Laurier navy. A direct cash contribution was not proposed, but the country had Mr. Borden's declaration made in parliament, that, if returned to power, he would ask parliament to take such steps toward strengthening the imperial navy as might be found necessary, after consultation with the home government.

Committed to Repeal.

The Borden government, therefore, came to power practically committed to the repeal of the Laurier Naval Service Act, and it is not unfair to assume that Mr. Monk and other government supporters from Quebec were pledged to bring about such a repeal. The first session of parliament passed without any action upon the part of the government, and was followed by Mr. Borden's trip to England. The present naval bill resulted. This bill was introduced in the house of commons on December 5. It was not put forward as a policy, and no permanent policy upon the subject of imperial defense was postponed until the next general elections. It was justified as a voluntary gift, demanded by emergent conditions which confronted the British admiralty. In his able speech, presenting the bill, Mr. Borden was careful not to commit himself, but the general tone of his deliverance intimated a preference towards contribution as a permanent policy. One or two of his supporters, notably Mr. Ames and Mr. Cocksbutt, strongly favored continued contributions as preferable to a Canadian navy. As the debate proceeded, however, the conviction grew stronger and stronger that ultimately the Borden government would be likely to declare for a Canadian navy as a permanent policy.

Liberals' Counter Proposals.

The Liberals attacked the naval bill upon several grounds, and have made many counter proposals. Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared in favor of a Canadian navy and the immediate establishment of two fleet units. Other Liberals, especially from the west, ran away from the two-fleet-unit idea, and suggested a navy of small beginnings, to be altogether constructed in Canada. Mr. German of Welland planted himself squarely upon the doctrine that all appropriations for naval defense or contributions to imperial defense, should be made from year to year by parliament, and vehemently opposed placing the thirty-five million dollars at the disposal of the governor-in-council. Several suggestions, with a possible compromise, were made from time to time, and many amendments were held between the prime minister and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. These proving fruitless, the government was driven to amend the rules, and, by using the amendments commonly known as closure, the bill was brought within sight of the third reading, and its final passage thru the house. Even yet, the argument that the two parties to get together, have been strongly pressed upon both leaders from many quarters in Canada and throughout the empire.

Roused Party Feeling.

From a tactical standpoint, the day-and-night sittings for a fortnight ending March 15, may have been a mistake. They undoubtedly aroused party feeling, and made it impossible for the Liberals to finally allow the bill to pass without appearing to surrender. It is by no means certain but that the Liberals might have been inclined to withdraw their opposition to the bill earlier in the session, especially if an intimation had been thrown out that the government would propose the Canadian navy as a permanent policy, when it appealed to the people at the next election. The demand of the Liberals for an election has been justified, to themselves, at least, by the argument that they could not intelligently vote upon the present bill without definitely knowing whether or not it committed the country to a policy of contribution.

CARPENTERS READY TO TIE UP BUILDING

Unless Demand For Increase To Forty-Five Cents Is Conceded, Men Will Strike, Says President.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Local Organization Has Strong International Backing — May Hold Back All Local Activity.

"Unless our demands for 45 cents an hour are conceded by the employers, the carpenters of Toronto will strike," was the statement made to The Sunday World on Saturday by Mr. Moore, business agent of the Brotherhood of Carpenters.

The carpenters' union is in such fine shape that they no longer have to eat from the hand of the employers," he said. "They are now in a position to tie up the building trade of this city at a moment's notice."

This means that should the carpenters be called out over 2500 men in Toronto will be involved. Both the Amalgamated Society and Brotherhood of Carpenters have international backing as far as the financing of the possible trouble is concerned. The possible trouble is an organization of 250,000 in North America, is behind them, and the Amalgamated Society, with the headquarters of the union in London, England, will give them staunch support.

So the word may go around at any time, and should the strike occur all the building trades might be tied up as the pressure from the strikers would be tremendous and the other unions might fall into line to prevent the possibility of defeat of the two big unions, which would have a bad effect upon the whole trades union movement in the building industry.

The cabinetmakers declare they have forty shops in the city tied up completely, and that over three hundred men are out and will stay out until they get what they asked for.

The strike situation in other respects in the city is unchanged. The employers are indifferent and do not seem to care, at present, whether a settlement of the dispute is made or not.

TWO HOSPITALS ONLY ARE LARGER

None on the Continent Better Than Toronto's New General.

A FIVE - HOUR WALK

Takes Half a Working Day to Cover Completely All Buildings.

Only two hospitals on the continent, in Boston and Philadelphia, are larger than Toronto's new General, but this city's is the last word in construction, equipment and layout.

It takes five hours to walk thru all the buildings and to cover them completely, a party of newspapermen spent two hours with one of the trustees and they had to be content with seeing only one floor of each building, and with the statement that the other floors were similar.

New devices of caring for and curing the sick and maimed meet one in every room, but the hospital has been planned to remove as much of the suggestiveness of hospital life as possible. Complete equipment such as cots are not yet in, but even now with only walls and floors to gaze upon there is an air of cheerfulness. Sunlight streams into the wards and is reflected by the white enameled walls and ceilings. A tint of faintest blue, extending five feet from the floor, gives tone to the chaste walls.

Air-Charging Machines. The sunlight floods in, but not irregularly or in patches; dust from the streets will not come in with the sunshine; the air in all the buildings is brought in thru shafts, purified in a water-curtain, dried or humidified, warmed or cooled, according to necessity. Fourteen air machines, scattered at different points over the big group of buildings, make the hospital independent of outside conditions. In fact the buildings are a civilization unto themselves. Their own electrical plants supply light and power, a completely equipped laundry does all the work of that class, a big kitchen in the basement of the medical wing contains soup pots larger than barrels and other utensils on a like scale, all serving many smaller distributing stations scattered thruout the buildings. The house doctors and nurses, the female help and attendants are all provided with their own living apartments.

Self-Running Elevators. In the power house at the southeast corner of the group, at Elizabeth and Christopher streets, 1300 horse-power, for use in the buildings, for running the cold storage plant and laundry, is generated. Elevators are installed at a dozen convenient places and they respond to their own volition to the pressure of a button, provided they are not in use. The buildings have been under construction for two years. The medical and surgical departments will be opened early in June, the power-house and laundry have been running for some time; the nurses' residences has accommodated 30 students all winter and the complete unit of hospital buildings will be in operation early next fall.

Nearly Seven Hundred. Six hundred and seventy patients is the capacity of the buildings and, including the nurses, doctors and administrative staff, 1200 people will be housed.

Starting on the east on the College street front, there is the surgical building, at the middle the administration building, at the west the medical building. The middle unit has offices and room for 35 patients on the ground floor, space for 50 on the second and third floors and apartments for 25 internes at the top. Each floor of the medical building and surgical buildings will accommodate fifty patients.

Look After Big Accidents. The College street buildings are for the public patients. The private patients will have a five-story structure at the rear on Christopher street, accommodating 150 at a time. On the University street side are the emergency building, where 60 people can be handled at once and quickly distributed to the various wards; the out-patients' building, where people come for treatment and medicine and go away again; and the pathological building. On the Christopher street, or south side, are the private patients' building and the nurses' residence, both surrounded by gardens and lawns now being made. On the Elizabeth street, going north, is the power-house, the servants' building and the babies' hospital. All the patients' buildings are connected with corridors, making it possible to go from one to the other without going outside.

There are really more buildings at the rear than those seen from College street. It would have seemed better, from the point of impressiveness, if the long College street buildings had been placed in the rear as a background for the other structures. But this would have interfered with the obtaining of the best light and to assist in the work of healing, thoughts of an imposing structural arrangement were put aside. But architecturally the hospital is perfect. The buildings are dignified and admirably suited to their purposes.

Completed and equipped the new General Hospital will mean an expenditure of $3,400,000.

PRINTER OF "SUFFS" PAPER ARRESTED

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 10.—Mr. Whiteley, the secretary of the printing firm responsible for the last issue of The Suffragette, who was arrested yesterday, was brought up today at the police court and remanded by the magistrate who allowed him to be released on bail, on his giving an undertaking not to publish any further editions of the militant suffragette's new paper.

Sifton Loses Recount. MACLEOD, Alb., May 10.—The recount of the provincial election ballots in Macleod constituency by Judge McNeil resulted in the defeat of Premier Sifton and the election of Patterson, Conservative. Hon. Mr. Sifton is, however, elected in Vermilion.

"Back to the Land"

---The Only Solution for the High Cost of Living

The ever-increasing cost of living and the low wages paid in cities are making the "Back to the Land" movement more attractive every day. The bulk of our immigration is thronging to our cities and towns—young men are leaving the farms in the East, and either going to the cities or locating in the West. All this is forcing the prices of foodstuffs steadily upwards, and while these increased prices mean hardships for the wage earner in the cities, they mean automobiles for the farmer and the market gardener.

The Market Gardener Holds a Mortgage on Every City Man's Breakfast

The only absolutely independent man is the one who makes his living from his own land. He is his own employer—his own boss. No one can dictate to him. The city employe, on the contrary, is but a cog in the great wheel of commerce. If the cog breaks it is cast aside and its place filled by another. The city man is affected by every little fluctuation in the pulse of the business world. A panic, a flurry in the stock market—a strike—any of these may mean an end to his job.

Many Men Holding Good Positions in the City Have Secured an Elgin Market Garden---to Have a Few Acres of Money-Making Land at Their Back

During the past week a number of men holding good positions in this city have secured their Elgin Market Garden Plot, so as to get it at this year's exceptionally low price, and they can pay for their land while holding their positions, and be ready to move out to the "Gardens" early next spring.

farm if worked in the ordinary haphazard way, but would even make a man wealthy in a few years.

It certainly gives a salaried man a feeling of security to have a few acres of perfect garden soil at his back in case of eventualities. If he were unable to hold his position for any reason—or any misfortune forced him out of his job—he would have a place to go where the income from his few acres would more than recompense him for what he had lost in the city. Nothing gives a man a greater feeling of peace than to be independent of the position which pays him his salary, and five acres of Elgin Garden land behind you will make you absolutely secure against whatever may turn up in the future.

Go over to the Niagara and Grimsby districts and see what a few acres will do for their owners in the way of big profits.

In Wayne County, Pennsylvania, the Hull Brothers, on three and a quarter acres of celery land, averaged nearly $1,300 per acre in 1912. In six years they sold $19,870 worth of celery from their three and a quarter acre field. Their yearly average per acre during the six years prior to 1912 was $1,108.

Elgin Gardens soil is absolutely perfect for growing the best celery. It contains as much nitrogen as the famous celery fields of Kalamazoo, Michigan, and it is so rich that fertilizer will be unnecessary for years to come.

It is only lately that it has been generally known that a few acres of perfect soil, worked intensively, and planted to grow certain high-priced vegetables and small fruits, such as celery, onions, tomatoes, early table produce, and strawberries, cantaloupes, melons, etc., would not only make more money than the big

Don't you think it would give you a feeling of greater security in your present salaried position in the city if you had a few acres of such perfect soil to go to in case you were forced to give up your position?

If You Cannot Leave the City at Present, Secure Your Garden Plot Now at This Year's Low Price and Arrange to Make Your Start Early Next Spring
Send for Beautifully Illustrated Booklet

This booklet will show you what money can be made in market gardening; why the soil of Elgin Gardens is the best in Ontario for the raising of celery, onions, melons, and small fruits, and why you can get your produce to market from ten days to two weeks ahead of other fruit districts, thus securing the top price.

Just Some Remarks
—By Commentator—

While it is too early to pronounce upon the efficacy of Dr. Friedman's tuberculosis serum, it is not premature to remark that some of those Toronto physicians who have been crying "fake" are not making a very favorable impression on the lay mind. I am told, on good authority, that those doctors who have been watching the result of the serum injections, with an open mind on the subject, are saying very little; are, in fact, inclined to say nothing whatever, least the apparent progress that has been unobserved in vaccinating themselves; but they are, 'tis said, disposed to give credit to the treatment for the improvement that has so far been shown. The doctors and the sceptics among the profession, knowing nothing at all about the "cure," are keen to criticize Dr. Friedman because he has been unfortunate in vaccinating himself with gentlemen who hope to commercialize the product and reap a big pecuniary benefit therefrom. But was that not the case with Eberle and other scientists whose preparations are disposed of at so much per?

The physician who expects that a grateful country will reward his efforts on behalf of suffering humanity may find that he is leaving upon a slender reed. It would be a grand thing if the various governments would offer a substantial reward for the discovery of cures for tuberculosis, cancer and such like ills, and distribute them free, but until such inducement is offered it does not seem to me that a man should be condemned off-hand for seeking to profit by his labors, even when he happens to be a discoverer in the realm of medical science.

A small grant was made to Jenner, the discoverer of vaccination, by the British Government, after the original grant proposed was cut in two. Morton, discoverer of ether, was refused a grant by the U. S. Congress.

And speaking of physicians, it was one of them who told me that he knew another practitioner who was engaged upon a common laborer for appendicitis. When the job was finished the surgeon asked the family doctor: "How much do you charge for this man?" Being told that the patient was a laborer with a family to support, the surgeon suggested: "Would $250 be about right?"

I hope the laborer defaulted. My friends, the Liberals, are entitled to a few boomerangs for successfully staging the Laurier meeting on Monday night. The Toronto Liberals never do things by halves. They realize that the more effecting by means in the very centre of Toryism is great and they leave nothing undone to ensure success, even to the running of special trains, with all expenses paid, from outside points. Of course, it was a hand-picked gathering and the few Conservatives who were there had to use bogus tickets to get past the door-keepers.

An Englishman, recently "out," said to me next day that he could not understand why any politician should go to such trouble to talk campaign issues to his own adherents. "Why, at once," he observed, "the Liberals want to preach to the other fellows. It's the Tories that have the hand-picked gangsters." He didn't understand that the aim of the demonstration was to convey the impression to the world that Toronto, if it were to have, was seething with rebellion at the navy grant and the obnoxious "gas." What was wanted was enthusiasm, and how was enthusiasm to be got if the auditors were not to be picked over and chosen for their vocal powers? At that, it struck me that those who heard Laurier were not too hoistively excited over the closure and the $25,000,000 worth of Dreadnoughts.

After all the shouting, about the "gas" was there anything left to be said on the navy when the axe fell the other night? One would imagine that a clever speaker like Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer could compress every argument that could be adduced by his side into the space of an hour and have enough time left to roam about and tear to pieces the nebular hypothesis and account for the appearance of the Martian canals. Dr. Clark spoke probably half a dozen times at least length on the second clause of the bill, kicking up the theme after all the other leading debaters had consumed their allotted time with the weary grind. The term "gas" seems to be somewhat of a misfit when one considers the amplification of the opposition speakers and the forbearance of the government which had business to transact and was prevented by our greatly extolled rules of free speech from setting at all.

Also the Democratic tariff bill in a comparatively easy passage thru the house of representatives, it has a stormy future in store at the hands of the United States senators. The senate has long been the home of the roller and will be still more so now that senators fall to be elected by direct electoral vote. This sugar man, the cotton man and all the other special interests will line up in commercial support, and it will be surprising if the bill does not come with more of a protectionist odor. President Wilson has served intimation that any wage-lowering after tariff reform will be followed by a searching investigation into its why and wherefore, came to a dramatic ending in the civic office this morning.

The sensational alderman had just arrived at the office and was calling for more documents to sign when he walked his worship who had come post-haste from Chicago in response to a hurried-up call from his colleagues. There was a hot time in the office for a few minutes.

The mayor did not meet words and gave the alderman a clear understanding of what he thought of his sensational career at the city hall. Then both cooled off and business got down to the normal again.

RANDOM FEATURES AND NEWS OF REAL ESTATE

The realty market last week showed more solid non-speculative business than in any week for three months. Several good deals for factories, warehouses and sites were closed. Many were got under way, and an unusual amount of trading in houses and building land was evidenced by registrations. The most noteworthy feature is the utter absence of a purely speculative turnover; the money situation has frightened out the plunger and the operator in small first payments. Anything that might be considered unhealthy has been eliminated.

Money is getting easier week by week. It would be for supplies to become suddenly plentiful, for then there would be a sudden rush of borrowers that would upset all our calculations, and precipitate a vivid period of stringency," said a loan company manager. In this there is a hint that the money for legitimate building and realty enterprise is here, but will not be fed out too freely lest the impression gain ground that there is plenty of money in the country, and all the educative and corrective work of financial institutions be lost.

The volume of house construction seems to be boundless. Plans are pouring into the City Hall. Most of them for buildings on the very fringe of the city. North Toronto and the Danforth and Gerrard districts are most popular, altho quite a few permits call for streets in the district northwest of High Park.

The number of permits for houses being constructed by people for personal occupation exceeds last spring. Toronto is now easily the big building centre of the Dominion, a fact accentuated by an abatement of activity in the western cities. Toronto supplied half the Canadian increase for the first four months of the year. This month's totals, at the present outlook, will top the record figures of May, 1912—when the permits were swelled by apartment houses securing permits before the enforcing of restrictive ordinances.

Talking about apartment houses, sales of this class of property are rare these days. Owners have put prohibitive prices on them, so profitable is the apartment house. The city's present senseless system of prevention. With the rents now demanded and obtained the builder is lucky enough to hold permits can count on getting all their money back and the building free—if they wish it without mortgage—in five years. On the word of one of the most prominent apartment house architects in the city, it's a pretty poor business that doesn't return 25 per cent. Pleasant reading for the tenant, but that is what they must continue to bear as long as accommodation continues scarce, and the city does nothing but assist the landlord.

About the weirdest thing heard in realty circles for some time is the complaint from Yonge street property owners, that the new Loew Theatre should not be permitted to use a narrow passage to bring its crowds in from Yonge and let them out again. All theatre audiences sit out thru narrow passages, and so the one argument of the complaint, that congestion risks would be increased is lost. But the unaccountable part is the desire to keep people off Yonge street. Next thing Yonge street merchants will be protesting against street cars and any sort of traffic. The objections were engineered by moving picture theatre owners, and that leaves the complaint valueless, except for comment.

BUILDING ACTIVITY COMES BACK EAST

Toronto Provides Half Canada's Increase For Year So Far—Western Cities Down.

Eastern Canada is supplying all the big building increases this year. For April, from figures compiled by The Financial Post, the total of seven-teen eastern cities was $10,289,107, a gain over April last year of $2,439,351, or thirty-one per cent. For the same month sixteen western cities, including Port William and Port Arthur, had $8,575,451, a gain of $146,331, less than two per cent.

In the first four months of the year the eastern cities had permits totaling $31,177,511, a gain of $6,583,468, or forty-five per cent. Western cities in the first four months had $21,151,758, a loss of $1,553,840, or six per cent. In April Montreal gained a million, Hamilton $400,000, London $340,000, Ottawa $330,000, Toronto $300,000, Winnipeg gained $400,000, Vancouver lost $500,000.

In the first four months the only eastern loss is Sydney, $60,000. Most of the big western cities show decreases. Toronto, in the first four months of the year, provided half of Canada's increase in building activity.

MICHIES GET LIGHT RIGHTS FROM BANK

Special concessions as to light rights were secured by Michies when they completed the deal with the Dominion Bank for the east eighteen feet, eleven and three-eighths inches of their King street frontage. The bank has agreed to give light privileges to Michies on a light well about seventy feet south of King street that the bank will construct in their new building, this well to be 40 feet long by 17 feet wide, extending up from the second floor of the bank building. These rights exist as long as the present Michie warehouse stands, automatically expiring in 25 years.

If You Have Faith in Toronto's Future

YOU HAVE NOTED That immigration is doubling its last year's record. That the increase of the past three years is being sustained. That there is a marked migration to the East End of the city. That great improvements are in hand for the east, viz., Bloor Viaduct, Ashbridge's Bay reclamation for factory sites, Danforth Avenue car line, etc. That Building Permits issued to April 30th exceed last year's record by $1,000,000, and the East End records of the past are shattered.

The big operators in Real-Estate are buying East End property. They make a daily study of the influences that create value—increases of population, tendencies in migration of population, civic and other projected improvements, building activities. A sale was concluded a few days ago of acreage within 100 yards of BIRCHCLIFF HEIGHTS at a price approximating $10 per foot frontage. The purchaser is one of the big operators—one who has not yet made a mistake. THIS IS OUR PRICE IN LOTS. IF YOU HAVE FAITH IN TORONTO'S FUTURE Buy ahead. Don't wait for the improvements. They will come and make prices prohibitive. Buy at first cost, and buy where Real Estate is active. Today the City Limits extend five miles east, west and north. In five years the present population will have increased 50 per cent, and the City Limits will have expanded accordingly.

DANFORTH-BIRCHCLIFF HEIGHTS

is on the fringe of the city, on the sixth-mile circle. A splendid restricted residential property, 300 feet above the lake, on that important 86-foot street Danforth Avenue, which with Bloor Street will be the main thoroughfare east and west, and the natural line of expansion of Greater Toronto. Its physical advantages are too numerous to detail—perfect level building land, magnificent views of the lake and city and surrounding country from its elevated situation. Prices are $10 per foot up, or $1500 per half acre, with small deposit and quarterly payments of $15 per lot. COME AND SEE THE PROPERTY. WE ARE PROUD TO SHOW YOU OVER. Take Carlton, Parliament or King cars to Broadview. All Broadview cars run to Danforth, and we will motor you out from our office.

MANY FACTORS AT WORK IN STOCK MARKETS OF WORLD

Complexities of Present Situation More Numerous Than Usual—Bull and Bear Arguments in Wall Street—What of the Future?

Erickson, Perkins & Co. had the following at the week end:

NEW YORK, May 9.—The stock market is at an uncertain stage, where prices could easily advance on important good news, or recede further, pending the working out of certain problems. A cautious attitude will pay best, although there will be plenty of chances for good turns in stocks. Something may be said in favor of both bull and bear positions, while there are factors which might be changed from one side to the other, according as circumstances change them. Some of the leading arguments on both sides are:

Bull points: Promising crop conditions; possibility of currency reform, beginning and perhaps ending at the special session; stimulation of industry as a result of peace in the Balkans. The crop outlook could hardly be better. If currency legislation of the right sort could be put thru at the present session (which seems rather doubtful), it would be a great stride ahead, and with far-reaching consequences. It is calculated to put an end to the off-recurring troubles which beset us during every crop-moving period. Leading bankers assure us that when the financial needs of the belligerents in the Balkan war are provided for, an era of heavy purchases will begin, and many of them will be made in America.

Bear points: Tariff reductions and their consequences, out of necessity, have some unsettling effect. The balance of trade will obviously be reduced by receipt of much lower duties, which is borne out by belief that it will be necessary to raise some $100,000,000 by income tax. Possible money stringency a few months hence, uncertainty as to Union Pacific settlement, and probable beginning of liquidation of labor, may have an important bearing on stocks, the not at present having much influence.

Doubtful factors: Action of Interstate commerce commission on request for rate advance will affect stocks either favorably or adversely. If refused, some would doubtless sell, because fearing dividend reduction. It may be said that the railroads are pursuing a much more sensible course than they did before, when they asked for a general increase, amounting to 10 to 15 per cent. They will now be content with 5 per cent, and they are trying to win the approval of shippers.

If they secure half of what they ask for they will do well, unless compelled to accede to further demands of labor. Possible crop damage, trust suits, friction with Japan, and other doubtful matters, may play a part in influencing stocks, but they need not be reckoned with at the moment.

Looking at the situation broadly, in the light of the above suggestions, basic factors contain much that is favorable, the likely to be tempered by some slowing down of business and by tariff changes. The country is prepared for this.

Wall street knows the worst about tariff reductions. Some of them will be less than mentioned in the house measure. The future of the money market contains some perplexities. Europe is getting as much gold as we are willing to give up, and we will hardly get it back again this year. But such slowing down in trade as we are likely to see will ameliorate money market conditions. Speculators need not worry about money rates now.

PUNCTURE PROOF AUTOMOBILE TIRE

R. I. Henderson Has Invented One That Won't Allow Air to Escape.

DEMONSTRATION GIVEN

A real puncture-proof tire is the latest boon to motorists. Not only in the experimental stages is this latest development in the motoring industry; it has been thoroughly tried and tested. Cars have been fitted up with a set of the new tires and as many as forty nails holes punched in a single tire, yet not one pound of air pressure was lost. Patents are applied for and a company is already formed to place the tires on the market. R. I. Henderson of Toronto is the inventor.

The outside of the inner tube is ordinary in appearance, but inside is a quarter inch strip of soft rubber. This rubber is thickest at the very center, and tapers away at the edges. When not inflated this rubber from its resiliency will pull the tire into a hair moon shape; upon inflating the tire this naturally concave rubber is forced convex, thus maintaining a heavy pressure of pliable rubber at all points where punctures are likely to occur; a nail hole will automatically close itself from the pressure of rubber aided by the air pressure underneath the rubber.

A further advantage of the tires is pointed out by Mr. Henderson, is that while ordinary inner tubes are made from straight ten foot strips of rubber tube and vulcanized on a straight plait, his tube is molded on a circular mandrel. He points out that an ordinary light tube has to stretch approximately 20 per cent, on the outside to make the tire, and the rubber being so light, invariably blows out when a cut occurs on the outer casing. His tire, he says, although heavy enough to stand such a strain, does not have to stretch on the outside, and even the a chunk of the outer tube were cut away, the reinforced inner tube will always bring you home.

A practical test of the tire was made on Thursday afternoon by Mr. Henderson before some newspaper men. First showing them a strip of his tire and explaining the principle, he took them to his car and showed them a nail which had been driven in the tire that morning; this he intended leaving in twenty-four hours. A test of air pressure on the tire registered a little less than 70 pounds to the square inch. Taking a vicious looking three and a half inch nail, he drove it into the tire, and then drew it out again with a pair of pliers. With three previously made holes in the tire, one nail still protruding from the cover, and this last puncture, the party jumped into the car and drove six or seven miles up Yonge street over a road which Mr. Henderson pointed out was bound to show the tire which might have resulted from the unusual usage of an automobile tire.

After seeing a nail deliberately driven into your tire, he knows as the Simplex Puncture-Proof air tube, and a company has already been formed known as the Simplex Puncture-Proof Tire Co., whose office is in the Lumsden Building, Hon. P. H. Phippen, is the president of the company, Mr. D. B. Hanna is the vice-president, and Mr. R. I. Henderson, the inventor, is the third director.

Mr. Henderson says he has driven a three inch nail into the same hole three times, and every time the hole has automatically closed itself.

This air tube is known as the Simplex Puncture-Proof air tube, and a company has already been formed known as the Simplex Puncture-Proof Tire Co., whose office is in the Lumsden Building, Hon. P. H. Phippen, is the president of the company, Mr. D. B. Hanna is the vice-president, and Mr. R. I. Henderson, the inventor, is the third director.

MANIPULATION ESSENTIAL IN A FREE STOCK MARKET

Ignorant Critics of Speculative Methods Misunderstand the Proper Place of "Manipulation"—Stocks Cannot Take Care of Themselves.

In the ignorant criticism of the stock market, no word has been more abused and misunderstood than "manipulation." It is described as a grossly unfair practice, whereby powerful financial interests anxious to sell securities above their worth, or buy them below their value, manipulate, by means of prearranged orders, the price of stocks to suit their purpose. Manipulation really is used for that purpose once where it is used a score of times to regulate and check hysterical selling or to support stocks which would otherwise be depressed below their value by frightened liquidation.

This is the true end of manipulation, and its absence from any market, in stocks or in anything else, chills out of all proportion to the inducements to realize. The small holder for income has been hurt worse than anybody else, and his attention may fittingly be called to what reforming politicians, ignorant of the machinery they choose to meddle with, have already done for him by agitation without actual legislation. Naturally the New York Stock Exchange and all associated with it consider it politic to maintain an attitude of severe repression until such time as it may be seen worth damage will be done by short-sighted law-making. Stocks have been left to take care of themselves. Wealthy investors, conversary with true values and able to wait, have picked up bargains where they are offered, but they have done as little as may be to support prices by that kind of manipulation which is only the scientific distribution of the trading in a way to maintain a free and stable market.

There can be no free market without manipulation, but the politicians across the border are foolishly telling the public that the one can exist without the other. The two things are incompatible, and if the stock exchange is not to be allowed to conduct the business it understands with reasonable latitude, every investor in the country must suffer. This applies not merely to the workman in Pittsburg who holds a few shares of Steel common, but also to the savings bank depositor, because securities are behind his deposits, and anything which tends to take away that essential element of value—a free market—endangers his interest.

LOST MONEY BY TRADING IN "RIGHTS"

Somebody Made an Error in Calculating and New York Brokers Paid Penalty.

During the single hour Pennsylvania rights remained on the New York curb recently perhaps $100,000 was lost among the traders. They sold the rights from 5/8 up to 3/4 before they discovered a mistake had been made in computing their value. For some time past one particular firm has always been the first to commence trading in any rights to appear outside and they statisticians has become famous for the correctness of his computations, the result being that the traders invariably follow this firm's lead in either selling or buying rights. When the representatives of the firm sold Pennsylvania rights at 3/8 and 1/2 many of the outsiders followed suit. For the first time the firm had made a blunder. Later it was discovered that the firm's ready reckoner was away and somebody else in the office had made the mistake. So the "famous one" retains his laurels.

JOHN D. AND ANDY ON MYSTERY OF LIFE

NEW YORK, May 10.—John D. Rockefeller is quoted as saying: "Dr. Biggar tells me that I will live to be a hundred years old, barring accidents, of course. Dr. Biggar is usually right, and I believe him. At least I tell him so. I would not care to live on forever." Andrew Carnegie is quoted as saying: "It is heaven, right here on earth. I'm not looking forward to anything better. In fact, I'd give $100,000 to any one who could show me how to live on till I am ready to quit."

BROKE BELOW PAR.

New York Central broke below par last week in the New York market for the second time since 1908, selling at 98 1/2, off nearly two points from the close of the previous week. It also broke par on September 21, 1911, selling at 98 1/2. The lowest at which the stock has sold since 1875 was 8 1/2, in June, 1885; and the record high price, 174 1/2, was made November 25, 1901.

THE GULLIBLE PUBLIC

Every man who has sometime in his career purchased a mining stock which proved worthless, and there are millions of men in this country who have done this very thing, is convinced that they were the original "boob." A man's vanity gets a severe jolt, when in a moment of mental abstraction, he allows some smooth tongued gentleman to win on him a block of stock. He at once knows that he has acquired experience and that, perhaps, it was at a small cost.

Recent published inventories of the stock holding of the late E. H. Harriman and Senator Stephen B. Elkins, disclosed the fact that each owned stocks of a par value of many thousands of dollars, representing their share to the development of mining. None of the shares referred to had any value when the inventory was made and probably never will have any value, but when the late E. H. Harriman and Senator Elkins could be led into buying such securities what must be the toll in the whole country? It would be interesting to know the name of the individual who sold these shares to Harriman. Such a man is fitted for higher things. He should never devote his talents to selling mining shares of doubtful value, for there must be a niche somewhere for such as he.

So, poor investor, cheer up. They caught Harriman and Elkins and your case is not so bad and the shock to your vanity you can put down to the account of experience.

SIR TUPPER LAUDS BELOVED CANADA

Splendid Nonagenarian Tells London What She is Doing and Hoping to Do in Future.

LONDON, May 10.—This splendid nonagenarian, Sir Charles Tupper, arrived in London Thursday night and yesterday talked with a representative of the Daily Chronicle about his beloved Canada and all she is doing and all she is hoping to do in the future. Sir Charles is now the sole survivor of the thirty-two men who met in Quebec in 1864 and laid the foundation of the Dominion. He said:

"I have no specific for long life save one—hard work, have never known anything else. My only holidays have been in train journeys and crossing the Atlantic. This last was the thousandth time I crossed it. The first time I came to England was in 1840. I crossed the Atlantic in a brigantine of 160 tons. We were forty days getting from St. Johns, Nf., to Lough Foyle, Ireland.

"Canada's climate is one of her great advantages. It makes men. If you study the history of the world you will see that it is men from the cold north who have always ruled it. The southern races have always gone under. Then you must remember that the United States would not have had its ten million negroes were it not for the warmth of some of the southern states, and these are increasing in those states, while native American white men are decreasing. We have been saved from that great problem.

"We are becoming the great highway between East and West. We will soon have three transcontinental railway lines working, and we must remember that New York is a thousand miles nearer Asia by way of the Canadian Pacific and Vancouver than by any port in the United States.

"Seward knew this and he abrogated the Elgin treaty in order to force Canada to join the United States. I do not believe we should have been able to induce Nova Scotia to join the Dominion if this had not happened. The foundation of the Dominion saved Canada for the Empire.

"Our relations with the United States are now better than ever they were. Hundreds of thousands of people from the United States come over into Canada every year and settle down. They find the life better administered with us than with them, there is greater security for life and property."

Reps. For Wide-Open Tariff Discussion

With Aid of Some Democrats May Be Able to Override the Majority.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—With the senate in adjournment until Tuesday, the Republican fight against consideration of the tariff bill by the finance committee, without public hearings, will be continued. The Republican leaders endeavoring to win votes for the Penrose amendment to instruct the committee to open its doors.

Some Democrats are reported as disapproving the decision not to hold hearings, and upon them the opposition bases its hope to override the majority.

Senate Democrats are planning to caucus on the tariff bill in the near future to thresh out the much-disputed wool and sugar schedule and other features that have developed party opposition. There also will be settled the question of excusing senators from supporting any particular section of the bill.

Radium Discovered in Mineral Springs

United States Bureau of Mines Make Important Discovery on State Reservation.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 10.—Dissolved radium salts to an exceptional degree exist in the mineral springs of the New York State reservation in this village, according to the United States Bureau of Mines, which has submitted to the state reservation commission a report of a recent investigation in thirteen of the wells now owned by the state.

It is further stated that the springs are peculiar in carrying considerably more than a trace of barium, an element usually associated with radium.

These results were all obtained from waters taken in October, 1912. Since that time, the commission reports, the progress of recovery of the springs has been continuous, a number of new wells have begun to flow, and very substantial advances in the amount of radio-activity are likely to be discovered upon further examination.

HAITI PRESIDENT DIED FROM POISON

NEW YORK, May 10.—Poison administered in his food caused the death, on May 2, of President Auguste of Haiti, according to a despatch from Kingston, Jamaica, printed here, based on news received in Kingston by mail from Haiti. Other members of the president's family were affected and revived with difficulty, the advice stated. The death was reported at the time to be due to natural causes.

"Mayor of Chinatown" Dead

NEW YORK, May 10.—"Chuck" Connors, the picturesque character of the old Bowery, best known perhaps as the "mayor of Chinatown," died of heart disease. "Chuck" Connors was sixty-one years old. Most of his life was spent in Chinatown. Of late he had been living as guide to slight-seeking parties visiting.

Crew Saved. WELLINGTON, N.Z., May 10.—The crew of the British mail steamer In- drabahal was saved when the vessel went ashore on the Manajatu coast yesterday. A terrific storm is raging and the steamer is fast breaking up.

BURROUGHES SPRING OFFERINGS

RIGHT NOW, we're selling more gas stoves in one week than we formerly so'd in a whole month. THERE'S A REASON. When we became EXCLUSIVE agents for the famous A-B line some three years ago, we were then testing out one line after another, and none came up to our requirements. Then on the horizon appeared the faint luminous glow of the A-B New Idea. The conviction we then had, that the A-B was the only stove that met the standard of an exacting public, has grown to a belief and a realism. The tests made and the years of good service and unbounded satisfaction have brought us two-fold results, one customer brought another until to-day the name A-B stands for par excellence in the gas stove industry. Come in next week and have our demonstrators show you the new features of the A-B. The fire-enamel that is absolutely rust proof, the non-rustable oven linings, the white enamel clean-out tray, the white enamel broiling pan, the A-B new idea self starter, requires no matches, and the glass oven doors. These are only a few of the essential points that have made this gas range famous.

World Tour Is to Be The Greatest Ever

CHICAGO, May 10.—With the signatures of both President Comiskey of the White Sox, and John J. McGraw of the New York Giants now attached to the contract, M. D. Bunnell of Chicago, director of the world's tour, to be taken by the tour's organizers next winter, today began outlining the itinerary.

The two teams plan to leave Chicago Oct. 15. Probably seventy-five or eighty men will be carried, the tour out-doing the famous baseball tour of 1888.

Games will be played in the south and west for nearly a month, and the players will sail from Vancouver on Nov. 5, en route to Japan, where they will go to China, then to Manila, to Australia, and on to Cairo and Rome.

Both Comiskey and McGraw are anxious to stage a game in Rome. The tour will include a sweep thru England and Ireland, and will land the men home the middle of next March.

ENGLISH COACH FOR YALE. NEW YORK, May 10.—A. G. Queen City Outfit Play Hamilton Before a Fair Crowd at Exhibition Park.

WIND IS BOTHERSOME Backs Found Trouble Kicking Into the Gale—The Opening Ceremonies by Controller Church.

EXHIBITION GROUNDS, Toronto, May 10.—(Staff Correspondence.)—King Soccer and his enthusiastic followers were given a great send-off Saturday afternoon at Exhibition Park, when about five hundred fans assembled to see the Queen City team of Toronto and the Westinghouse team of Hamilton clash in the opening fixture of the Interprovincial Professional Football Association. Both teams had secured their players from the amateur ranks, and they composed the nucleus of the different leagues connected with the cities they represented.

Several players from the old country and outside points in Canada were also in the line up. A heavy wind was from the northeast diagonally across the field, which hindered the kicking of the backs considerably.

The line-up: Queen City: Goal, McCracken; backs, Ogilvie, Notcutt; halves, McGregor, Wright, Attwood; forwards, Curran, Walker, Worrell, Dailzell, Scott. Hamilton Westinghouse: Goal, Coombs; backs, H. Thomas, McCulloch; halves, Vee, McGowan, Graham; forwards, Wilson, Wanda, Howison, S. Wilson, Tiny Thomas.

Referee: Price of Hamilton. The teams lined up at ten minutes after three, with the Queen City's defending the western goal and the wind scatted them. Hamilton immediately began to press, and McCracken was called upon to clear repeatedly. Irving threw all the way, Hamilton missed several close chances to score and applied punishment to the Queen City's defence.

The Westinghouse team applied the combination and team play, which had before, sadly lacked that which is necessary for Queen City. The visitors, displayed some fine form, but at half time Watrell headed the ball into the Queen City's goal. Half-time: Queen City 1, Hamilton 0.

With the wind in their face Westinghouse gradually worked the ball up the field and in five minutes Thomas acted the tying goal. For the next twenty minutes McCracken had a busy time, but he saved repeatedly. The Queen City's defence was not as good as in the first half. Watrell headed the ball into the Queen City's goal. Final score—Hamilton 3, Queen City 1.

BASEBALL WAR AT INDIANAPOLIS

Federal League Promises to Outdraw the American Association Club—Talking of a Switch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 10.—With the opening of the Federal League season here and the transfer of the Louisville-Indianapolis game of the American Association to this city on account of Derby Day at Louisville, Indianapolis today probably will witness the start of a baseball war between the two leagues.

Proceeding the game the Federal League club, which meets Chicago, has arranged an automobile parade thru the downtown streets, and to their new field, where Gov. Ralston will pitch the first ball. It is generally conceded that the federal game will draw the larger crowd as baseball fans are curious to see what Manager Phillips has to offer. The Indianapolis Association team has not been playing up to expectation lately, and yesterday drew an attendance of about 300.

The denial by Sol Meyer, owner of the Indianapolis Association Club, of a rumor yesterday that he proposed to bring his Springfield (Ohio) Central Club to this city to play here when the American Association team was on the road would not suppress the report. It is reported that this was one of the moves in the baseball war. To transfer the Springfield Club to Indianapolis it would be necessary to obtain the consent of all the directors of both the American Association and the Central League. If such a move should be taken it is said this consent would readily be granted in order to combat the Independent Federal League.

RANK OUTSIDER WINS THE DERBY

Donerail Wins the Kentucky Classic and Pays Better Than Ninety-One to One.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 10.—(Special to Sunday World.)—A crowd larger even than that which witnessed English Lad's victory in the Chicago Derby journeyed to far famed Churchill Downs this afternoon to see the crown of the American three-year-olds battle for the Kentucky Derby purse.

By the time "Post" was sounded for the inaugural dash it was conservatively estimated that 50,000 people had paid admission for the course, while the free infield accommodated another 10,000, and long ere the Derby colts were sent away on their mile and a quarter-battle the management had ordered the gates closed, for not a spare inch remained from whence it would be possible to even catch a fleeting glimpse of the contest in the blue ribbon event.

It was the greatest and warmest welcome Louisville had ever tendered to the bang tale, and it is doubtful if such a tremendous crowd will ever again be seen at the downs.

Sickness and accidents had thinned the ranks of the Derby field to less than a dozen starters, but the absence of Helios, Hathon and others failed to detract interest from the classic. The proverbial ton of money was wagered on the race and lower and higher alike left the course after the race had been run, believing that victory went to the best horse.

The thirty-ninth renewal of the Kentucky Derby, worth $575 to the winner, was captured by T. P. Hayes' Donerail, with Ten Point second and Gowell a fly third. The winner moved up on even terms with Ten Point, turning for home and outgained the eastern crack when it came to a drive. Donerail carried but little of the public's money, and a result was at long shot in the setting. He was ridden by Goose, a Louisville rider.

M'CARTY A GOOD THING GONE WRONG SAYS JAMES J. CORBETT

Big White Fighter Failed to Impress New Yorkers—Willard Looks the Best and Should Soon Be on Top of the Heap—Palzer Sick When He Was Beaten by Luther.

By James J. Corbett.
 Former Heavyweight Champion of the World.

(Written for The Sunday World.)

NEW YORK, May 10.—One of the fine days—perhaps sooner than we think—some strapping young fellow will come along and make us forget such fighters as McCarty, Willard, and "Gunboat" Smith ever boasted championship pretensions. It looks as if the present "white hope" crop is a big one.

McCarty is generally accredited the best of the paleface boxers. But, if we are to pass judgment on the bunch by Luther's recent exhibition with Frank Moran, it is a case of looking for new material. Possibly Jess Willard may show a flash of form in the bout with "Gunboat" Smith at San Francisco next Saturday, which will restore confidence. I sincerely hope so, for the "Gunboat" has already been tried and found wanting. If Smith can beat Willard and follow it up with a victory over McCarty, it will be the cue to holler for a new deal all round. As a championship possibility, the "Gunboat" does not look like the goods.

Willard therefore appears to be the last resource in the ranks of the white heavies now before the public. He may be a better man than we think. Certainly he has not been extended in any of his bouts, and what little he has shown is of a higher order than that of his rivals. In his New York engagements, Willard did not seem to take his work seriously; yet he managed to outpoint McCarty and knock out the tough "Soldier" Kearns, he of the mighty wallop, in eight rounds. If Jess can be persuaded to look upon fighting as a serious proposition, his chances would appear much brighter. So far in his short career, he has not been badly hurt in a bout, and it remains to be seen how he will behave in the taking a few good punches. In Smith, he is meeting a fighter who can hit every bit as hard a blow as Kearns, and with a better general idea of where the punch is going to land after it has been started. If the "Gunboat" succeeds in putting over his justly famous right swing and Jess survives the operation, there will no longer exist a doubt of his gameness and coolness under fire.

Good Thing Gone Wrong.

Luther McCarty looks like a good thing going wrong. As a result of the experience gained during the California campaign, where he defeated Kaufman, Flynn, and Palzer, it was thought Luther would show New Yorkers a greatly improved style. But in this he is disappointed. He has picked up a little here and there in his boxing, but has lost the aggressiveness that characterized his work in the matches with Stewart and Willard last year.

Physically, this young giant is a picture of the ideal fighting machine. But the resemblance ends right there. In the Moran bout, Luther had every physical advantage, and was much the better boxer. Still, he had a fight to earn the popular verdict over a man who knows scarcely anything of the game other than to put up his hands and strike an attitude. Furthermore, Moran, a ten-pound lighter, was handicapped with a crippled hand, and forced to rely altogether on his left hand, which was unfamiliar to him. It would be unfair to condemn the Pittsburger for his failure to make a better showing. Moreover, Frank is not claiming any championship titles. He is a big, strong, and willing fellow, who is doing the best he can, and is probably cognizant of best is not very much to brag about, as gauged by championship standards of the past; still, it is enough to enable him to stick the full routes with the present head-liners whenever he makes the attempt. Frank went 20 rounds with the "Gunboat" not so very long ago, and had no trouble staying ten with McCarty, crippled as he was.

Has His Work Cut Out for Him.

"Gunboat" Smith, who was among those present, was heard to remark that he could "put either McCarty or Moran away in less than ten rounds." Talk is a cheap commodity. Smith couldn't knock Moran out in 20 rounds in California. The best he could do was to get the decision—and a close one at that. Since the "Gunboat" failed to stop the slow-moving and slow-thinking Rodel, his stock has taken a decided slump. Any boxer who can dodge his wild swings for a few rounds, stands an excellent chance of trimming Jim Buckley's candidate, "Gunboat" Willard, but he is Saturday. If there is anything in the hope, that match will decide who is to get first crack at McCarty—after marks he is hunting up Calgary way. Consequently, it behooves Honorable "Gunboat" to get himself in the best possible condition to fight his best possible fight, else he may find his name in the "has been" column Saturday evening. Willard may look like a boob—some say he acts like one—but he has so far proved fully equal to the task of protecting himself against the assaults of the "Gunboat" type of fighter.

A recent despatch from Calgary, Alberta, possibly inspired by Tommy Burns, who promoted the match, reads as follows: "By reason of his good showing against Andy Morris of Boston, Arthur Pelky looms up as a formidable opponent for Luther McCarty, etc."

When Luther's engagement to box at Calgary was first announced, it was given out that Carl Morris was to fight Pelky, and that McCarty would meet the winner. Since learning that Boston Andy, and not Oklahoma Carl, was out of the contestants, we can better understand Manager Billy McCarty's eagerness to grab the bout for Luther.

To illustrate how carefully McCarty is managed, it is only necessary to recall that a purse of $10,000 to box "Bombardier" Wells at Madison Square Garden was turned down cold.

Then came an offer of $12,500 to meet "Gunboat" Smith. That was also refused. Right on top of those offers McCarty agreed to box Frank Moran for $400, and to take the long hike to Calgary on a percentage basis. But, in the "dead ones" he is to box in Canada, there is little danger—also less money.

DUFFERINS TRIM THE PARK NINE

It Was a Clash For Tail-End Honors in the City Amateur League.

DUFFERIN PARK, May 10.—Considering the unseasonable weather and the counter attraction of the Leafs' first Saturday at home, a fine crowd turned out to see the Senior City Amateur League game this afternoon. The Park Nines and Dufferins clashed for tail-end honors in the initial contest, and in view of the fine game pitched last week by Bob Clarke, Manager Benson decided to work him again. Feast, the southpaw outfielder, has been secured, and will considerably strengthen the Park Nine's line-up. Terrill, a new find of Manager Turnbull, took up the pitching burden. Dufferins were winners, 3 to 2.

St. Mary's Easy For Crescents

Errors Had a Lot to Do With the Result in the Toronto Senior League.

STANLEY PARK, May 10.—Despite the cold weather, a fair-sized crowd was on hand when the Crescents and St. Mary's lined up for the opening game in the Toronto Senior League. After a galaxy of errors and heavy hitting, the Crescents finally won, 12 to 7, after they had scored ten runs on eight hits, including a double and triple. Rushworth retired in favor of Skane, who held the Crescents safe for the remainder of the game. Outside of the second, Kion was invincible. Home runs by Oswin and McMahon featured.

Says He'll Eat Sixty Eggs For Breakfast

Reinke Promises to Do It Every Other Morning and Keep the Hens Hustling.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Here's what William H. Reinke proposes to have every other morning for breakfast as long as the bank roll lasts and he has a good job: Fifteen scrambled eggs. Fifteen fried eggs. Fifteen soft-boiled eggs. Fifteen hard-boiled eggs. Seven coffee rings. Five cups of coffee. Reinke describes how he proposes to have his eggs cooked, and continues: "I will eat them all in less than 30 minutes. I can do it, too, because I have eaten 60 eggs three times already."

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

"Vanity on the highway" still pays a ridiculous toll for automobile travel. But two hundred thousand new Fords will this season go to buyers who prefer real service at reasonable cost rather than ostentatious display at unreasonable cost.

Our factories have produced more than a quarter of a million Model T's. Prices: Runabout, $675; Touring Car, $750; Town Car, $1000—Etc. With all equipment. For particulars get "Ford Times"—an interesting automobile magazine. It's free—from Walkerville factory, Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, 106-110 Richmond St. West, Toronto.

The Man at the Corner

Toronto to Copy London Traffic Ideas

REGULATION of street traffic in Toronto, especially at intersections of busy thoroughfares is a growing problem for the police authorities. Within the last few years the necessity of posting cool headed and observing officers at the most congested corners for the proper guidance of the ever-increasing vehicular and pedestrian traffic on such streets as Yonge, King and Queen became so evident that the step became imperative. To keep the people moving and avoid loss of time and possible accidents policemen with absolute authority are placed in charge of all traffic at all important points. These policemen have the power to cause the immediate arrest of anyone violating the traffic rules, but it is seldom necessary to more than warn an offending driver; so absolute does the man in blue dominate the situation that everyone is eager to co-operate for the public good.

When these special duty policemen were first introduced in Toronto a certain amount of ill feeling—or misunderstanding, perhaps—existed between the people and the officers, but this is gradually disappearing and people are beginning to recognize that they must obey their commands.

Before many months Toronto will have the most perfect system of traffic regulation that can be devised for a city of this size. With this end in view the chief of police has obtained permission to send a squad of special officers to London, England, to study the methods of the men in charge of London's crowded thoroughfares. The London police are recognized as the finest in the world, men who are noted for their civility to pedestrians and yet firm.

Anyone who has visited the mighty capital of the empire must have been struck with the wonderful control the Point Duty Officers have over the traffic. Outside the Bank of England and the Mansion House, where seven streets converge and the most congested centre in the whole world, thousands of both horse and motor-driven vehicles passing and repassing every hour, the constables on duty have such power that by simply raising the hand the whole of the traffic coming from one direction is stopped, while that from another direction commences to move. In the case of a fire the engines are in no way hampered in reaching the scene of the fire for immediately the bell is heard the traffic is drawn up to the side of the road until the fire engine has passed. The same thing happens when the motor ambulance passes.

Of course the City of London Police have not the street car problem to handle, which makes Toronto perhaps a more difficult proposition, but outside of the old city boundaries the tram traffic is such as would make the average visitor start; and in some places no fewer than ten street car lines cross each other at one point. Here again the traffic is handled with the same firmness as in the city limits, where they only have the motor buses and horse-drawn vehicles to contend with.

Again the "Bobbie" shows absolute impartiality. The carriage of the prime minister is stopped the same as would be the coster's donkey cart and nobody complains for it is admitted that all these regulations are for the good of the public generally.

In the case of a crowd such as is witnessed time after time on the occasion of important events the throng is handled with such system that it is very rare indeed that any injury is caused to either person or property. Take for example the recent football cup final, when 119,000 people were congregated at the Crystal Palace. The crowd was then dealt with in such a way that it is safe to say that no accident was reported.

Another thing in favor of the Point Duty Police of London is the fact that in spite of the enormous quantity of traffic being dealt with daily there is only one case on record where an officer has been killed while attending to that particular duty.

Not only the vehicle traffic is dealt with in this systematic manner, but pedestrians are handled with the same carefulness. It is no uncommon thing to see the man in blue carefully guarding the steps of an old lady, small child, or blind beggar across the dangerous roads.

Perhaps one of the most dangerous elements which the London police have to deal with and which is happily not in evidence in this city, is the terrible black fogs which sometimes envelope the town. On these occasions the police have to be even more watchful and it is mainly due to the skill of the man on duty that accidents are of such rare occurrence.

Perhaps, however, New York City is more on a par with Toronto and here the police have every kind of traffic to contend with. Street cars are running on every main thoroughfare with the exception of Fifth avenue and the police have complete control of the roads and it is a very rare sight indeed to see the traffic in any way congested.

Uncomplimentary Sketch of Britain's Home Secretary, Reginald McKenna

SOMEWHAT hostile is the opinion of The London World of the British Home Secretary, Reginald McKenna. We have reproduced so many favorable accounts of this statesman that it is only fair to our readers to present the other side of the shield.

He is the one conspicuously puny figure, the one indubitably petty mind, in a British ministry which has made more history than has been made by any other in our generation, that is the summing up of Reginald McKenna provided for us by The London World, which reflects the pessimist view of the home secretary most clearly. The chronicler of the future, we read, will shake his head over Reginald McKenna and wonder whether there can be any mistake in the authorities on English politics in the early twentieth century. What is this sawdust creature, he may ask, which sprawls so considerably over the stage? The historian finds him first, in going over the whole Reginald McKenna career, as an insignificant pleader, whose character shows no traces of the university education he is supposed to have received. As a reward, apparently, for an initial failure in an electoral contest, he was given the reversion of a safe seat in Wales. Then came ten dull years in the house of commons, during which, we are invited to believe, "not a shred of his insignificance was lost." At the end of this blank period we find Reginald McKenna appointed financial secretary to the treasury, an office notoriously on the threshold of the cabinet. In this capacity he appears to our disgruntled pessimist to have done nothing whatever.

The inactivity of Reginald McKenna was rewarded, it next appears, by promotion, for his inactivity is always of the most masterly kind. He became head of the education department at a critical moment. "The withdrawal of Mr. Birrell's education bill had come as a sharp reminder to the radical party that there were limits to the power of a majority of over three hundred, and the way was clear for compromise." The new minister brought in an education bill, which was smothered as soon as it was born. For what is the destiny of Reginald McKenna—to hover on the edge of achievement, to seem to be actually about to do something at last, and to lapse, in the end, into his inevitable nullity. It is a fascinating nullity, agreeable to contemplate, and it brings him all the glory won by other men only after hard work and much running after opportunity. It is opportunity who runs after Reginald McKenna, and he has never let her catch him yet!

The historian familiar with the ways beloved of British radicalism—still to follow the hostile interpretation, in The London World—would expect to behold a peerage bestowed upon Reginald McKenna. That is the way of radicalism with its failures, and this man is the most conspicuous of all its failures. But a surprise is in store for us still. As a result of his delightful incompetence at the education office, Reginald McKenna was put in charge of Great Britain's first and last line of defense—her navy. His record in this new office is pronounced by our wrathful contemporary "positively shameful." His tenure of it happened to coincide with a time of crisis in naval affairs. An increase in the estimates "brought the simmering patriotism of the radical party" to a head. Reginald McKenna, in his capacity as first lord of the admiralty, came down to the house of commons and made certain statements as to German naval construction which have subsequently turned out to be wrong. Even at the time they had no effect. It is too difficult to take Reginald McKenna seriously. The situation was saved by the intervention of Prime Minister Asquith. From that time of naval scares Reginald McKenna "practically ceased to exist." He is there, but that is all.

One redeeming trait in Reginald McKenna as head of any department of the British Government is that no one need pay the slightest attention to him. In effect, nobody does—not even the militant suffragettes. Not one among them would be bothered knocking his hat off—an attention bestowed so often upon Lloyd George that he appears in public bareheaded. When first lord of the admiralty, Reginald McKenna went around among the squadrons "worrying admirals who took no notice of him." It is, therefore, not surprising to our student of the man that Reginald McKenna had to go—as first lord. "Here at least, our imaginary future historian would conjecture that the end of a futile career had arrived." Not so. The politician had conducted himself with so egregious a fatuity that, some two years ago, he was promoted again—this time to the post in which he is concerned with suffragettes in prison, that of home secretary.

In all this "amazing history," one thing alone remains unchanged, we read further—the insignificance of its hero. Reginald McKenna counts for as little today as he did when he entered parliament in the nineties. Great economic upheavals have occurred during his incumbency of the home office. The government has been forced to intervene in strike after strike, in suffragist demonstrations without number, but the home secretary has not been one of the committee of three which has represented the cabinet in handling the gravest crises that ever arose in British home affairs. No one is so little concerned nowadays with home affairs as the home secretary. He has a perfect genius for never knowing what is going on. "Since he came into office, Reginald McKenna has, indeed, done nothing except reveal the vulgarity of his mind by refusing to read, on account of their objectionable character, passages from a play which has since been staged without shocking the public conscience." For, as other statesmen rise to renown by insisting upon doing things, Reginald McKenna has become famous by insisting upon doing nothing.

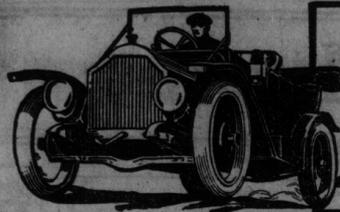

How can we explain the remarkable advancement of this singularly little man? Our London contemporary asks the question many times in varied forms. Yet the explanation, it avers, is simple. "Reginald McKenna represents the pure spirit of modern radicalism. He has all its spitefulness, all its false modesty, all its tactlessness, all its meanness, all its vindictiveness." There is nothing more thoroughly radical than the scheme for "the spoliation of the Welsh church," a Godless work to the conservative organ. Reginald McKenna, it tells us, was precisely the man to champion the plan. He despoiled the church with enthusiasm because he has no reverence. He has no insight into anything, no imagination, no fancy. His mind is a desert, dull, level, monotonous. Those who doubt it may read his speeches. "They are speeches containing nothing that has not been said and better said a thousand times. They are unredeemed by one single flash of genuine passion, undignified by one single sentence of polished rhetoric." They serve the need, to be sure, they work out the details of some bit of spitefulness to which a nobler mind would never descend. He is perfect in little business, an artist of the petty, most himself when stooping to the spoiled imbecility of a child. One might call him womanish were it not, our contemporary insists, that he is too narrow and too mean to be called that. "It would be unreasonable to suggest that we should not despise Reginald McKenna." Yet, it is admitted, he must not be underrated as an influence. No man is more useful in keeping the Asquith ministry in touch with the party, no other man in that party is so well able to express the party's thoughts. The harmony between this minister and his audiences is often amazing. The outsider—and the pessimist we follow—is a rank outsider—wonders what all these people can possibly see in such a nonentity, how they can listen to him, much less cheer him. But they do. "The key to the riddle lies in the fact that he can set forth in language naked and unabashed the cupidities of their hearts."

New Regulations Governing Chauffeurs

Motorists Should Report to Ontario Motor League Names of Drivers Who Have Acted Badly.

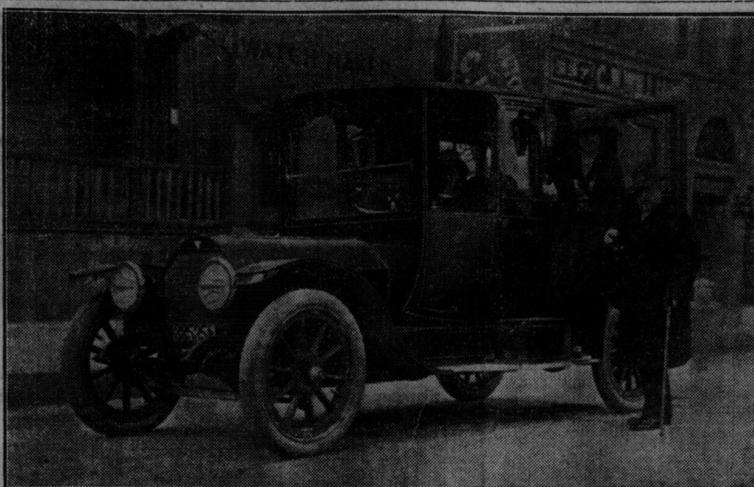

With the passing of Mr. Goodwin's bill for amendments to the Motor Vehicles Act it becomes necessary for every applicant for a chauffeur's license to pass an examination designed to show that he is a fit and proper person to be licensed to drive a motor vehicle, having regard to his character, physical fitness, ability to drive and knowledge of the rules of the road. By the amendment to the act the Ontario Motor League is constituted the official examining body. After the new regulations have come into effect, no chauffeur's license will be issued by the provincial secretary's department, unless the applicant presents a certificate of examination endorsed by two members of the Ontario Motor League, appointed to act as examiners by the Lieutenant-governor-in-council, and residing in the municipality in which the applicant for license resides, and also by the chief constable of that municipality. In this way the license is issued on the responsibility of two members of the Ontario Motor League and the local chief constable or his deputy. For this examination no fee will be charged the applicant for a driver's license, nor will the examiners receive any remuneration. Before the new regulations take effect, details of the new scheme will have to be worked out in conference between the provincial secretary's department and the Ontario Motor League.

An influx of bad chauffeurs. Hitherto there has been no examination of men making application for drivers' licenses. The result has been that scores who have lost their licenses in the States or in Europe for repeated or serious offences have found in Ontario a place where they can secure a license by observing the merest formalities. It is hoped that the new scheme will put an end to this influx of undesirable immigrant chauffeurs. It will also surely result in much closer check being kept on all who hold drivers' licenses.

In the meantime, in the interest of its members, the Ontario Motor League keeps a list of competent chauffeurs, and also a black list, on which are placed the names of men against whom members of the league have registered serious complaints. The extension of the operations of this drivers' bureau would be greatly to the advantage of the 3000 members in Ontario. All members are therefore urged to give to the league what accurate information they possess concerning men whom they have found necessary to dismiss for improper conduct. This should be done without delay, by phoning the league office or otherwise. Also it would be advisable for any motorist, in view of this special advice, before engaging a chauffeur to consult the records in the league office to ascertain whether any unfavorable information has been lodged against the man applying for a position as driver.

The new government regulations should, when complied with by all chauffeurs, prove a good safeguard to employers. But all drivers will not be licensed under the new regulations until next year. In the meantime the motor league office will endeavor, without charge, to provide its members with competent chauffeurs—W. G. Robertson, Secretary, O. M. L.

The Popular Knight

That the Knight motor is being used in ever-increasing numbers is borne out by the fact that now 26 firms are either manufacturing slide valve engines of the Knight type, or equipping with that motor.

In a book recently issued by the owners of the Knight engine patents it was shown that of these 26 firms three are British, four American, one Canadian, two Austrian, two Belgian, nine French, four German, and one Swiss. This would show that the Knight motor is popular in all countries that have done anything in the way of manufacturing motor cars.

WHITE ACCESSIBILITY.

Accessibility is carried to its highest point in the motors of White cars. The cylinders being cast in block and the intake and exhaust passages being formed within the cylinder casting, the motor is not encumbered nor obstructed with pipes, wires and fittings. With its compactness and clean design, adjustment of one part is made without hindrance by another part.

TRANSPORT CONFERENCE

Big London Gathering Has Famous Men on its Executive.

LONDON, May 9.—The Rt. Hon. Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, has consented to become vice-president of the Imperial Motor Transport Conference, sharing this position with the high commissioners for the self-governing dominions. Recent additions to the executive committee of the conference include Col. The Hon. Sir N. J. Moore, K. C. M. G., agent-general for Western Australia; the Hon. J. H. Turner, agent-general for British Columbia; and John Howard, Esq., agent-general for Nova Scotia. The war department evidently regards the conference as a very important event, since the army council has nominated to serve on the executive committee, General F. W. B. Landon, C. B., director of transport at the war office, and the chairman and secretary of the mechanical transport technical committee.

It has now been definitely decided that the exhibition of industrial motor vehicles at Olympia shall open on Friday, July 18, and the visit of the conference delegates to the exhibition is conveniently timed for the morning of Saturday, July 19, by which day the whole of the exhibits will no doubt be properly staged.

Careless Pedestrians

The newspaper account runs: "He attempted to cut across Fifth avenue at Forty-fourth street thru heavy automobile traffic. He narrowly escaped being run down by a south-bound machine, and dodged directly in front of one going north. A wheel passed over his neck, killing him instantly."

No street in the world is more amply or efficiently policed than Fifth avenue; nowhere is a dense vehicular traffic better handled. You can walk there for hours without seeing a driver disobey the policeman's signal; but you will see impatient pedestrians cut thru the stream of cars and carriages rather than wait a minute or two until the officer clears the way. This is true of the crowded streets in nearly all cities. In Chicago they have made a brave attempt to subjugate the foot traffic at the busiest corners to the crossings policeman; but many pedestrians take unkindly to the minute's delay.

The automobile's innocent and even inviting appearance deceives many with which it runs, and its familiarity to the eye deceives many as to its mortal probabilities when in contact with the human body. On crowded streets foot passengers should not be permitted to cut across the stream of traffic. Fair warning and a few arrests would probably break them of the dangerous habit.

A REO TRUCK.

A. P. Foss, of Lakeside, California, is a fruit grower with a love for touring—and a novel way of satisfying it. Incidentally, he has set what is no doubt a record for motor trucks. This little story is best told in an enthusiastic letter written by Mr. Foss to the Reo Motor Truck Company.

"We want to repeat some of the good things about your Model H Reo Truck. We bought the truck the latter part of July, used it to haul fruit to station and perform other work until the sixth day of September, when we left for Orville, Butte County. We got back on October 7, having traveled 1400 miles and paid out only 10 cents for repairs. We have never as yet been stuck on the road, thru any fault of the machine. Having had this 1500 pound Reo Truck for ten months now, our only wonder is how we ever got along without it before."

MR. NORTHAM RETURNS.

W. B. Northam, sales manager Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Co., Limited, has just returned from an extensive trip in the west. He visited the company's branch at Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, and Victoria.

Everywhere Mr. Northam met with a tremendous demand for Dunlop Traction Tread Tires. Dealers and motorists were most enthusiastic in their praise of this tire, which has done so much towards making automobile driving not only safe but enjoyable.

FOSDICK LEAVES HUPP.

Position of Director of Sales Abolished by Company.

DETROIT, May 10.—The Hupp Motor Car Company announces the resignation of Harry Fosdick as director of sales.

According to Frederick A. Harris, assistant general manager, who has active supervision over the field policies of the company, the above position has been abolished. Mr. Harris said yesterday: "The abandonment of the position of director of sales in connection with the policy of this company will entail no further changes or additions to the sales department. Mr. R. G. Neighbors, the present sales manager, will continue in charge with his present force. Mr. Neighbors is now returning from a three months' trip to the coast, during which he visited all of the distributing cities and many of the smaller towns, and also interviewed hundreds of owners throughout the west.

He reports that he has not met a single dissatisfied owner on the en-the trip, and his statements of Hupp mobile enthusiasm thruout the country are verified by the fact that last month's sales nearly doubled the best previous record of any month in the history of the Hupp Motor Car Company.

"OVERDONE" OR "UNDERDONE" VS. "JUST RIGHT."

It was because of the tremendous shortcomings of the old-fashioned stuck-on-tread tire—costing motorists 30 per cent. of the life—that the Dunlop Company, the pioneer idea-maker, as well as pioneer tire-makers of Canada, investigate and investigated until they found how to save that 30 per cent. for motorists. The result is: Dunlop Traction Tread. This is the one tire in Canada which never can have loosening of the tread, because the tread is built-in, not stuck-on, as is the case with ordinary tires.

"Double-cure" manufacturers are on the run, because all over the country evidence is piling up that you cannot make a successful anti-skid by the stuck-on-strip-of-rubber process. Dunlop Traction Tread is not made that way. That's why it is "the most envied tire in all America."

The Tires That Won

No-Rim-Cut Tires brought about the biggest single saving ever made in car upkeep. At one stroke they did away with the enormous waste of rim-cutting. They provided for overloading and that feature added 25% to tire mileage.

For 14 years we worked, studied, experimented, tested—always seeking and adopting ways to increase mileage. Point by point we perfected these tires. Some of the things we accomplished you can see—the unstretchable base with 126 braided wires. The 10 per cent oversize—the No-Rim-Cut construction. These features cut Tire cost practically in two. They won the Tire market in the United States and Canada. But there are other things just as important that are revealed only in service. Here are two things that helped sell 2,000,000 No-Rim-Cut Tires to the shrewdest class of buyers in two countries.

A Casing Without a Weak Spot

Maximum mileage demands a casing of uniform strength over every inch of surface. Each layer of fabric must be stretched and laid on under unvarying tension.

Every Goodyear Tire is machine built—that means absolute accuracy—that means a casing that bears the strain equally over every part of every layer of fabric—a casing without a weak spot.

The Goodyear Tire building machine was invented by us, to overcome the uncertainty of hand-stretching. It is controlled by our patents.

Uniform Toughness Clear Through

Goodyear Tires are, we believe, the only Tires cured under the actual strain they will bear in service. The finished Goodyear Tire is mounted on a rim inflated and cured under air pressure. But that is not all. Before the tread is added to Goodyear Tires, both the fabric casing and the tread are partly cured. This first or partial cure insures thorough curing and uniform toughness through the thick tread, without overcuring the side walls.

This double curing is an expensive provision for extra wear in the finished Tire. The final cure on the air-bag is costly too, but it is more than justified by the increased mileage of No-Rim-Cut Tires.

Hundreds of Preston Garages have been sold because people sent for our booklet and learned what a Preston Metal Garage will do.

You will find these Garages in the most select districts of the city.

This proves Preston Garages are not unsightly buildings.

The cost of a Preston Garage is less than public garage rent for a year.

The first cost is the only cost.

An illustrated booklet shows views of Preston Garages in many parts of Canada and gives full information with prices. It is worth money to you, if you are a motor owner, to clip out this coupon and mail it now—a stamp may save you $120 to $150 each year.—Do it now!

Motorcycle Gossip

Conducted By A. N. B.

Cut Out the Rough Stuff.

County constables in districts surrounding Toronto are severely criticizing the rowdiness of local riders. Last Sunday a party of motorcyclists passed thru the smaller towns on Yonge street at a terrific rate of speed, and with their license numbers so bent as to be unreadable. This kind of sport by a few riders places the ordinary law-abiding motorists in a bad position, and so antagonizes the constables and farmers that strong measures are taken, and will ultimately end in the county constables being supplied with motorcycles fast enough to catch the offenders, when they will be punished as they well deserve. The rural officers, up to the present, have always been very reasonable about speeding, and as long as riders acted fairly well they were not molested, but if this kind of thing continues it will go hard with the careful rider as well as the rowdy.

Long Tour Finished.
J. Leo Sauer, chairman of the F. A. M. Legal Action Committee, and a director of that body, has just completed a lecture tour thru the United States, on "The Motorcycle and the F. A. M.," which covered 13,000 miles, and included thirty-eight cities. As a result of this tour a better understanding of the objects and purposes of the F. A. M. has been obtained by scores of clubs, and thousands of individual riders. Mr. Sauer reports an almost universal disposition to cooperate with the F. A. M., and is well satisfied with the result of his long trip.

Entry Blank Ready.

The entry blanks for the Toronto Motorcycle Club's first race meet of the season, to be held at Exhibition Park on May 24, are now ready. Judging from present indications this ought to be one of the biggest meets in the history of motorcycling in this city. Following are the events:—
First event—Three miles, novice (30-50 c.l.) stock.
Second event—Five miles, C., 1.30 class (30-50, c.l.) stock.
Third event—Ten miles, professional (30-50 c.l.).
Fourth event—Three miles, single cylinder, and side car, with male passenger, weight 125 or over.
Fifth event—Five miles, c.c. 1.2c class, twins (35, c.c.) stock.
Sixth event—Two miles, bicycle handicap.
Seventh event—Five miles, twin and side car, with male passenger, weight 135 lbs. or over, car to be on right-hand side.
Eighth event—Five miles, professional (30-50 c.l.).
Ninth event—Five miles E. 1.12 class (30-50 c.l.) stock.
Tenth event—Three miles D. 1.2c class (30-50 c.l.) stock.
All races allow chain or belt drive and dropped handle bars.

Four-Year-Old Motorcyclist.

Perhaps the youngest motorcyclist enthusiast in the world is Walter Baldwin of Milwaukee, Wis., whose father is having a specially built motorcycle made for him to use this summer. Master Baldwin is just four years old, and is already quite an accomplished bicyclist.

When Gasoline is Worth at Least One Dollar a Gallon.

Two local motorcyclists have learned that at certain times gasoline at 30 cents a gallon is dirt cheap. After touring for some distance last Sunday one of the riders ran out of gasoline, and the other not having enough to supply both, volunteered to go to town and bring the necessary supply for his brother. But, alas, he also ran out of "gas" before reaching home, and was forced to push his machine about three miles before he could get a tank full. Then, he, of course, returned to his patiently-waiting companion, with a supply for him. It is only when you run out of gas that you realize how valuable the elusive spirit is.

T. M. C. Regular Meeting.

Toronto Motorcycle Club (Incorporated), will hold a business meeting on Wednesday, May 14, at 8 p.m. sharp. Members are requested to be on hand early, as there is considerable business.

The membership is still growing, as the riders who have reported, have up-to-date 38 new candidates for the next meeting, leaving 12 only required to reach the 500 mark. As there are only about 800 riders in Toronto eligible to belong to clubs, this will give the T. M. C. 25 per cent. over the half, as members of this club. On Wednesday, President Johnston and H. A. Marshall of the racing committee spent the afternoon with the representatives of the parks department out at the track, and after showing what was required, work was started on Thursday morning, to have same put in condition immediately.

The entry blanks for the first race meet will be distributed, and the money value of the prizes for all the events totals $100.00. The club's new button will be ready for this meeting, and the design is an engine placed within a wheel with the wings of a bird and the initials T. M. C. set in enamel. The balance of emblem being Roman gold. All members in good standing on May 14, will receive the emblem, and will also be entitled to free admission to the race meets.

Lost His Nerve.

Bruce Jackson had an unpleasant experience at the outset of his motorcycle riding. While learning to ride on Spadina avenue, he lost control of the machine, and, swerving across the street, crashed into a store doorway and tore the door from its hinges. The rider received some nasty cuts from the falling glass, but was soon patched up by a near-by physician. The machine was not badly damaged.

Perks of Country Home.

The motorcycle is becoming very popular with the man who desires to live in the suburbs, but whose business necessitates his being in the heart of the city every day. When his day's work is finished it is not necessary for the owner of a motorcycle to waste a half hour or more waiting for the frequent suburban cars. He just climbs aboard his machine and is always home in time for dinner.

Speed Boys Are Training.

Prospective riders for the first race meet of the season at Exhibition Park are now out every evening, testing their machines and training for the big event. Although the track is still in rather poor condition, it is expected that the city authorities will soon get busy and put the track in proper shape.

Take Your Time.

Every motorcyclist at this time of year is in the attitude of one about to start out on a tour; it matters not whether it be one or two thousand miles to be made in consecutive days, or by instalments throughout the summer. The rider who sets out with the fullest speed capacity of his machine can figure as sure as fate that his riding career is going to be a hard and unsatisfactory one. The least that he will find in Storming Lane is big repair bills, and the ever-imminent contingency is that he will get a bump that will give him his fill of the Hurry-Skurry Route.

P. S. Redding, of Spokane, Wash., superintendent of county charities, has been supplied with a motorcycle on which to make his tours of investigation.

An Answer to "New Motorcyclist Association Formed."

Motor Editor, Sunday World: In The Toronto Daily Star, of Saturday, May 3, there appeared an article headed "New Motorcyclist Association Formed," which had been given to that paper by some one who does not know all the facts.

First, the writer stated that the fight is now on. In this he is mistaken, as we do not need to fight, being very much alive; but, possibly, the other association will have to fight to keep alive for a little while. We are far from starving. He states that we are applying today, May 3, for a charter. We wish to say that we have had our government charter for nearly a month. He further says that the Toronto Motorcycle Club is under suspension; but they are not, having resigned from the old body and joined the new C. M. A. To prove that he is wrong regarding their suspension, we wish to say that we have evidence from one of the officers of the old Canadian Motorcyclists' Association, that the attempt of the president of that old body to suspend the Toronto Motorcycle Club was a mis-step, and not legal. The officer explained to us that, at the last meeting of the board of directors, it was found in the minutes of the meeting of January 13, 1913, that C. O. Johnston, president of the Toronto Motorcycle Club, offered to hand over the cups upon a satisfactory bond being given to the T. M. C. This offer was accepted by the directors, who left it entirely to the T. M. C. to name whatever bond they saw fit. Had Mr. Johnston stated that the club was to hand over the cups upon the bond being satisfactory to the Canadian Motorcyclists' Association, it would then have been up to them to state the amount of the bond; but, as it was, they were all asleep, and did not see the "joker."

This officer also admitted that the annual meeting was illegal, as far as the elections were concerned, as he stated that Mr. Spencer had no right to transfer the proxies, and, more so, when he had handed them to men who were not members of any club recognized by the governing body, and so were not in good standing with the C. M. A.

K. R. Spencer, president C. M. A., recently admitted that it was not legal for a member of parliament to handle his proxy to any one on the street, but when it came to sporting associations, it did not matter. How can Spencer clear himself, when he admits that, in one place, it is wrong and in the other it does not matter? Should there not be honesty in sporting associations, as well as in parliamentary procedure? It was stated in The Star that the new association comprises only the T. M. C., and that the old body has about 2000 members. Both these statements are false, and we challenge the writer to prove them by publishing in these columns the names of the clubs in Canada affiliated with them, and their bona fide membership. We are willing to put up $50 if they can prove their statements to be correct. We say that their membership is only about 300, which is about three-fifths the total of the Toronto Motorcycle membership. Mention is made of their affiliation with the F. A. M., but to show what that organization thinks of the Canadian Motorcyclists' Association, the following was clipped from "a motorcycle journal":

Not many weeks ago, the former editor of Motorcycle Journal of Canada, W. M. Gladish, of Chicago, ran across National Secretary Gibson of the Federation of American Motorcyclists, and naturally the conversation turned towards the Canadian motorcycle field. Dr. Gibson did not hesitate to express several opinions concerning the Canadian Motorcyclists' Association's officers. The F. A. M. official, who, as everyone knows, is an industrious man, could not comprehend just why the officials of the Dominion governing body should be so apparently indifferent to the welfare of the Canadian riders.

This is the way Dr. Gibson expressed his opinion of the Canadian situation so far as the association was concerned: "When I was compiling my 1913 edition of registered repair shops, I wrote to officials of the C. M. A. to the effect that I had a couple of pages in the booklet which I would like as industrial material to make use of. I knew that a large number of our riders would be touring in Canada this summer and I thought it would be nice for them to be concerned if a list of the Canadian dealers were printed in the F. A. M. book."

"I did not write only once about this list. I wrote several times. In every case, I did not even receive an acknowledgment of the receipt of my letter. It appeared to me that the Canadian officers did not want to take advantage of my offer, which would not have entailed the expenditure of a single penny on their part, yet would have done the Canadian trade considerably good."

"Judging by this experience, it looks very much as if the association's leaders had gone to sleep on the job. I can't see why this should be so as the association is still young and should be accordingly, alive to the situation."

Dr. Gibson further hinted at "internal disorders" and expressed regret that such a promising body as the C. M. A. should so soon become disrupted.

"I gave the C. M. A. a chance to help themselves," continued the F. A. M. secretary, "and I have been puzzled that the association did not see fit to take advantage of the offer, or at least notify me that the proposition could not be accepted, which is all that would have been necessary."

These few statements prove that the Toronto club were wise in resigning from the old body, as their aim is to conduct their sport honestly, and at all times be fully awake to the interests of motorcyclists, and it is now appearing that the T. M. C. was not the only one who had a kick against the methods of the old one man association.

ENTRY LIST CLOSED FOR INDIANAPOLIS SPEED EVENT

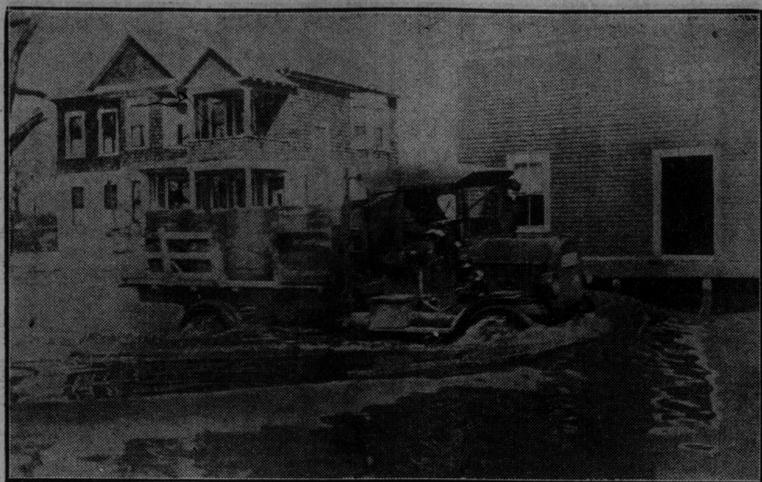

Thirty-one Machines Will Start in Five Hundred Mile Race For Big Purse—Many Continental Cars to Compete.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 10.—The entry lists for the third annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes Race, which will be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, have closed and thirty-one cars, representative of the best of the United States and Europe have to offer, are now registered for this event. The entries to date with the drivers, are as follows: Stutz, Anderson; Stutz, Metz; Nyberg, H. Endicott; Keeton, Burman; Mason, Evans; Mason, Tower; Wishart; Mercedes-Knight (Ger.); Pilette; Special-Knight, Pennebaker; Tulsa, Clark; Mercedes (German); Mulford; Isotta (Italian); Grant; Isotta (Italian); Tetzlaff; Isotta (Italian), not nominated; Case, Disbrow; Case, B. Endicott; Case, Nkrent; Unknown, not nominated; Mason, Haupt.

Interest Growing.
This list of entries is proof of the fact that racing interest is steadily growing, and that this year's event will be the greatest speed contest ever held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, if not in the world. Seven more cars are entered this year than were entered last, and twelve more will line up for the Indianapolis race than will participate in the French Grand Prix, which is the greatest race held in Europe. The fact that the Indianapolis Motor Speedway has steadily gained in popularity until today it is the centre of the world's motor interest, is probably the reason why the European races have lost much of their lustre, while the manufacturers and drivers have turned their eyes towards America. All of the foreign cars entered for the Indianapolis race have been Grand Prix favorites, and the drivers who are coming to this country rank as the best in Europe. The last minute entries poured into the office of the Speedway management, some of them being pleasant surprises. Entries for the three-car Case team were mailed from Taylor, Texas, where the team is at present. It has been thought for some time that the Case cars would be entered, as Louis Disbrow, old-time race pilot, and head of the Case team, was more than anxious to compete. The team has been making the rounds of the dirt tracks, and the showing made is said to be so satisfactory that entry in the 500-mile race was held advisable. This season Disbrow is going after the bacon. His partners will be Bill Endicott and Joe Nkrent, who have been driving space-eaters for years. The team is one of the strongest in the field, and if the cars are as fast and as light as reports say they should be well up in front when the checkered flag falls.

Three Isottas, the big Italian speed creations which have figured prominently among the world's record-breakers, have also been entered, and it is assumed that Harry Grant and Teddy Tetzlaff will be at the wheels of two of these cars, while the driver for the third has not been nominated. Owing to a strike in the Isotta factory at Milan, Italy, there has been more or less misunderstanding regarding these entries. It was the original intention that three Isottas should be entered, and Tetzlaff, Grant, R. C. Gilhooley, and Trucos, an Italian, were among the possibilities as drivers. Then it was learned that owing to the Milan strike it would be almost impossible for the Isotta factory to ship but two cars in time for the Indianapolis race. Tetzlaff and Grant were nominated as drivers, while Gilhooley, who tried out an Isotta at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway several weeks ago, and who has been in Europe arranging for the shipment of the cars, was named as driver. This information was considered definite and was made public, but at the last moment advice were received which said that three entries would be made after all, but the question of the driver for the third car was not settled.

Mulford With Mercedes.
Another foreign entry which is filling the hearts of the motor enthusiasts with joy is that of a Mercedes, to be driven by Ralph Mulford. This is the same car which Ralph DePalma drove last year, and with which he came so near winning the 500-mile race. It has been rebuilt to suit the requirements laid down to govern this year's event, and in its new form has a piston displacement of 450 cubic inches, which is larger than that of any other car entered. The entry was made by E. J. Schroeder, of Jersey City, a millionaire sportsman who owns the car. With Mulford in the race in a car which has already demonstrated its ability to travel with the fastest in the game, the smiling pilot who earned the name of 1910 champion should set a fast pace for the field. George Clark, the veteran who made a good finish in the Vanderbilt at Milwaukee last year, has been nominated to drive the specially built Tulsa, entered by Carden Green of Broken Arrow, Oklahoma. The car has made a remarkably good showing on the dirt tracks of the west, and its owner is confident that it will be able to hold its own on the big brick speedway. With a man of Clark's ability at the wheel the car will have every chance to prove its worth. The entry of a third Mason-Special adds spice to the list, and with a driver no less known than William Haupt in charge, the list of American veteran wheelmen takes on added significance. Two Mason cars were entered shortly after the lists were opened, but the drivers have just been nominated, in addition to Haupt, Bob Evans and Jack Tower will compose the Mercer team. These men are widely known thru their association with the racing game. They participated in the first 500-mile race held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Evans acting as Tower's mechanic on a Jackson car. Evans set a record on the Speedway for time trials in the fall of 1911, driving a Flanders car. Both Evans and Tower drove in the races at Savannah in 1911, finishing first and second respectively in the light car class.

TAKING CARE OF FLOOD WATER.

Among the schemes for taking care of surplus water in floods, that of turning it into pits excavated in dry, porous sub-soil, seems to have been tried with some success. After the Paris floods of 1910, however, this plan is said to have been abandoned on geological advice, but it is brought forward again as a result of new experiments in the tributary valleys of the Seine. M. Dienert, chief inspector of the Paris water supply, recommends using the sub-soil as a storage reservoir. The basin of the Seine is found to have large areas of soil suitable for this purpose, and it is asserted that suitable pits in the valley of the Marne would have lessened the height of the Seine flood of 1910 a yard or more.

Motoring Fashions and Fancies

Pointers for Fair Autoists

Quite an unusual garment is the automobile habit or coat dress. It goes on like an artist's apron. The belts cross at the back and snap in place at each side, and three buttons confine it at the back of the neck. It is in the pretty mohairs, piped with silk colors, but can be made to order in any material desired. It is beautifully tailored and becoming to all figures.

A new "Beauty Comfort Case" is square and contains one tray. It is fitted with creams, lotions, powders, cotton puffs and soft cloths. An eye wash and eye cup are welcomed additions.

One of the pretty new limousine cases has a triple mirror of good size that folds out from the cover, and also has two concealed jewel drawers at the bottom. The enamel frame holds the toilet articles and may be used on the dresser separately if desired.

Simply furnished Victoria cases have flat and narrower brushes and fewer bottles and jars. The fittings are of gilt and are very pretty.

The Thermos flask in pint size is new and has a screw cup on the top. There are also some nickel cups in an adjustable frame that may be used with the flask.

Very English is the black and white box coat for women's wear. It is full skirted, with coat sleeves, and buttons up to the throat. Black and white horn buttons finish the front.

A very attractive bonnet is made of shirred blue and green changeable silk. It is rather a poke in shape and is faced with soft green silk and finished at the side with a bunch of tiny scarlet berries. The veil is of shaded green and blue chiffon.

One of the new envelope purses has a battery concealed in an inside pocket, and when the catch at the front is pushed aside it lights so that one may count change at night. It may be had in all of the popular leathers.

The "Quickcatch" automobile veil, which fastens about the neck so that it acts as a perfect dust protector, seems to be winning in popularity. A short veil on the same style is also on the market.

Wrist watch straps have a new wrinkle this season in the raised rim which protects the watch case from scratching. They are in suede and in all popular leathers.

Leather shells in the light colors, with the caps to match, promise to be quite widely used this season by women driving their own cars.

Testing For a Miss

"A motor will often fire regularly on three cylinders and continually miss on the fourth, when the spark shows strong on a test," says William H. Stewart, Jr., president of the Stewart Automobile Academy. "The reason for this may be a sandhole in the intake manifold or a leak in the gasket where the manifold is attached to the cylinder, or a sticky valve in a cylinder will often cause trouble."

"When cranking a motor over all the valves will seat themselves, but as soon as the motor attains a certain speed one of the valves may stick slightly in the guide. Again, note if there is a clearance between the end of the valve stem and the valve lift-er at all times. If all the cylinders have equal compression and the ignition system is perfect, there is no reason why all cylinders should not fire alike, except in the cases mentioned."

"It is possible that the porcelain in the spark plug is defective and short circuits when the engine is running. When a spark plug is laid on top of the cylinder the current will jump the spark gap at atmospheric pressure, and apparently the plug will be perfect, but when the plug is put back in the cylinder the current is obliged to jump this same gap under the resistance of compression."

"At this time the current will seek the line of least resistance, which, of course, will be thru the upper part of the plug, where the porcelain is porous or cracked. If there is any doubt about the plug a quick method of testing is to change the plugs around. If the trouble shifts with the changing of the plugs it will immediately show where the trouble lies."

ENLARGE HUDSON PLANT.

Announcement is made by A. E. Ranney that the Hudson Motor Car Company is erecting a new building at Detroit.

The new structure is to be 575 feet in length by 90 feet in width and will supplant the section of the factory grounds which resembled a tent-city. The latter existed because contractors could not complete buildings fast enough to take care of the increasing output of the cars. Mr. Ranney declares that sales this year are twice as large as at the corresponding time in 1912.

The "54" HUDSON is all that any automobile at any price can be in performance, luxury, comfort and value. Backed by our own service you will find in it as near an approach to ideal motor satisfaction as is known.

The "54" HUDSON is the answer to a question that has long concerned all automobile builders: "What will Howard E. Coffin do when he builds a Six?"

When he built this car he had as his associates experts from 97 leading American and European factories—48 all told.

Thus all guess work was eliminated—all experiment made unnecessary. With so many viewpoints and so much experience, errors that others had made were eliminated—advancements that others found impossible were easily accomplished.

The "54" HUDSON has electric lights. It is electrically self-cranked. The famous Delco system, patented, is used. Every luxury is included, speedometer, clock, top, curtains, rain-vision windshield, demountable rims, 12-inch upholstery, etc. Equipped with a five-passenger Phaeton body at $3200, f.o.b. Detroit, duty paid.

At $2425 you can obtain the HUDSON "37"—designed by the same engineers that built the "54"—and pointed to as the "Four-cylinder masterpiece."

you buy any car consider the dealer who sells it quite as much as you would the car itself.

See that he is well established and that he has a reputation for giving service. Be sure he is prosperous. Service is not possible if he cuts prices or if he makes unreasonable allowances for second-hand cars and thus ties up all his capital in worthless assets.

It is the part of good business to buy only of successful business men, whether it be motor cars or any other line of merchandise. The dealer must be a good business man or no matter what car he sells, you risk losing all the motor satisfaction you should have.

New Comedy Drama At Princess Theatre

"The Reckless Age" by Lee Wilson Dodd to Be the Attraction This Week.

"The Reckless Age," the new comedy-drama by Lee Wilson Dodd, will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre, all this week, under the direction of Cecil B. De Mille.

The story of "The Reckless Age" has to do with a young society girl who has been brought up in uncomfortable surroundings by her stern father. After his death, she starts in to enjoy life, and is soon the harum-scarum head of the local social set, which is more or less noted for the gaiety of their parties and the recklessness in which they dash about in their automobiles.

The girl, Claudia, is engaged to marry the prosecuting attorney of the city, but breaks the engagement in a fit of pique, when he insults one of her young men friends. To celebrate the breaking of the engagement and relieve her emotions, she starts on a wild "joy ride" one night on an outlying road-house with two young men. She drives the car at top speed along the road all the way out.

While the trio are celebrating at the road-house a mounted policeman is brought in by a mounted policeman accused of having murdered his friend, whose dead body is found by the roadside. The accused man protests that the dead man had been struck by the mud-guard of one or two automobiles that flashed past; but, as the two are known to have quarreled, the story is not believed.

The prosecuting attorney, who has been summoned to the road-house by Claudia, for a grand jury, and further complicates matters. Gradually the happy, young girl begins to realize that she may have been the cause of the man's death. That the car she had driven so recklessly may have hit the man in the dark. She insists on appearing at the inquest. How matters are finally adjusted and affairs patched up between the young couple, are said to make both an exciting and entertaining play. The author, Mr. Dodd, is said to have so constructed his play that it contains a number of smart comedy situations as well as dramatic scenes. The whole work sparkles with brilliant dialog. The cast includes Frederick Burton, Miss Sydney Shields, Alan Brooks, Osbourne Searle, Robert Ober, Agnes Marc, Fane Bourke, Mrs. Lewis McCord and ten others.

MAKING A MINE OF BELMONT.

Vigorous development work is going on at the Belmont mine in Cobalt, and good results are being achieved. It is understood that a strong combination of capitalists have taken an interest in this company, and that work will be pushed until the property has been placed in the list of shippers.

William Hodge in "Road to Happiness"

New Comedy Drama by Lawrence Whitman at the Royal Theatre This Week.

William Hodge will appear at the Royal Alexandra this week in "The Road to Happiness," a new play written for him by Lawrence Whitman of Chicago. In his new play, Mr. Hodge is determined to give to his public the same earnest and sincere effort as he did in "The Man From Home," and in that determination he is seconded by Mr. Lee Shubert under whose personal direction the presentation is given. Mr. Hodge's new vehicle is a comedy-drama and its scenes are laid in a rural village of Northern New York. The central figure of the story is Jim Whitman, a young man of the village, poor in a worldly sense but rich in the possession of high ideals and a spirit of cheerfulness and optimism. The story opens in the home of Benjamin Hardcastle, who is a petulant tyrant in his own household and would-be censor of the morals and actions of his fellow townspeople. Whitman and Eve Hardcastle, daughter of Benjamin, are sweethearts, but their association is opposed by the father, who designs to bring about the marriage of his daughter to James Fortie, the town's rich man and banker. The banker, however, really seeks to win the hand of Viola, daughter of Mrs. Hardcastle by a former marriage, and who is the special victim of the stepfather's stern and cruel treatment. One of the stirring incidents of the play is a scene in Hardcastle's barn to which Whitman has been decoyed and where Hardcastle and a group of his associates design to treat the young villager to a coat of tar and feathers. Whitman, however, outwits the conspirators in a way that gives humor to a serious situation. Mr. Hodge has in Jim Whitman a character quite

Phillips-Shaw in "The Grey Hawk"

Two Popular Artists Coming to the Grand in a New Play of Politics.

With an abundance of clever epigrams, flashing bits of repartee, with that sparkle and humor that is really good and with strong dramatic situations scattered thru "The Grey Hawk" comes to the Grand this week with matinee on Wednesday and Saturday. The play is the product of the pen of Edward E. Ross and is a story of love and politics. The principal roles are handled by Leila Shaw and her co-star, Albert Phillips, two popular artists who are well known to Toronto theatregoers.

The plot is well laid, strongly dramatic in parts, but with sufficient humor to brighten it and give it an added interest. It deals with the efforts of Paul Standish, a reform candidate for governor of a state which has reached almost complete political decay thru the many manipulations of grafting politicians in power. At the last moment, the night before election, a coup is planned by Standish's millioaire opponents to destroy the chances of his election. The plot is thwarted solely by the perception and keen foresight of the Grey Hawk, a woman secret service operative of international fame.

As the Grey Hawk, Miss Shaw handles her witty and her stronger lines with equal brilliancy, while her biting sarcasm wins appreciation. Mr. Phillips, as the gubernatorial candidate, interprets a character whose speeches might be dragging if it were not for his personality and the force he lends to them.

Support of the two stars is well given by Harrison J. Terry as a political boss, whose efforts are concentrated to defeat Standish. He is assisted by Walter Armin, who plays the part of Jean Savrell, active in the band of grafters. Miss Edna Roland, as the supposed daughter of the boss, who is in love with Standish, but is compelled by Savrell to remain in the rooms of her lover in order to implicate him is good. The comedy character of John Larcher, friend to Standish, is portrayed by the genial Orin T. Burke, whose lines are replete with broad humor that amuses.

The Grey Hawk will probably be used by Miss Shaw and Mr. Phillips for their joint starring tour next season.

"The Deerslayer" By the Vitagraph

Thrilling Tale by Fenimore Cooper to Be Presented at the Strand This Week.

At the Strand this week the Vitagraph will show "The Deerslayer," from J. Fenimore Cooper's thrilling tale of the adventures of the pioneers of America. The story is as follows: Wah-Ta-Wah, or Hist, the lady-love of Chingachgook, a Delaware chief, has been captured by the Hurons. Chingachgook asks the aid of Deerslayer, a white man brought up among the Indians, in rescuing her, and the two men arrange to meet at Lake Otsego, then called Glimmerglass. Deerslayer sets out for the meeting place accompanied by Hurry Harry March, a trapper, who acts as his guide. Hurry takes him to meet Hutter, another hunter. With his daughters, Judith and Hetty, Hutter lives in a fortress, set on pines in the middle of the lake, and also spends much of the time on a strange vessel called the Ark. It is on this vessel, that they are found by Deerslayer and Hurry Harry. The two men receive a hearty welcome from Judith, who is betrothed to Harry.

News arrive that the Hurons are on the war-path, and all hasten to get the Ark into the lake. Hurry Harry, Hutter and Deerslayer takes the canoe and land on shore. The others wish to go on a scalping expedition to the now unprotected Indian encampment, but Deerslayer will not accompany them. When the camp is attacked, both men are captured and Deerslayer is obliged to return with them, Hutter having charged him with the care of his daughters in case harm should befall him. The next day Deerslayer goes to the foot of the lake, where he meets his friend, Chingachgook, and brings him to the Ark.

Hetty, the simple-minded daughter of Hutter, secretly takes the canoe and goes off to shore to plead for her father and Harry, whom she loves greatly. She is treated kindly by the Indians, and given the freedom of the camp. While there Hetty meets Hist, and having told her that Chingachgook is at the Ark, she is given a message for him. She is brought back the next day to the Ark by one of the Indians, who is given a present for his chief by Deerslayer, who offers a ransom for his friends. Harry and Hutter are exchanged for a pair of ivory chess-men, castles mounted on elephants, and are soon back again with Deerslayer and the anxious girls.

Hist had sent a message saying that she would be awaiting her lover at sunset, and accordingly, Chingachgook and Deerslayer set off to fetch her. By heading off the Indians in another direction, Deerslayer makes good the escape of Hist and Chingachgook but is himself captured. Rivenoak, the Huron chief, promises Deerslayer his life if he will join the tribe and marry Sunac, wife of a brave he had killed in the struggle, but he will not accept the offer.

Hutter has not been near the castle for some days and goes there with Hurry Harry, notwithstanding the warning they receive from Chingachgook. They are ambushed by the Hurons, who scalp Hutter. Harry gets away and brings the dreadful news to Hutter's daughters at the Ark. He proposes that Judith, long betrothed to him, now marry him, that he may have the right to protect her and her sister. She refuses because of the secret love she had conceived for Deerslayer.

Hurry then leaves the two girls in the care of Chingachgook and Hist and goes to the British fort, where he tells of the death of Hutter and the capture of Deerslayer, and asks for aid. While he is gone, Judith, who would give her life for the man she loves, goes to the camp masquerading as a queen, seeking the release of Deerslayer. The Indians, who have never seen her before, are at first taken in, but her identity is unwittingly betrayed by Hetty to Chief Rivenoak. The chief tells Judith that at sunset the brave Deerslayer must die.

Meanwhile, Hurry Harry March is bringing the soldiers towards the Indian camp. They arrive just in time to prevent the death of Deerslayer and rout the Indians after a short but sharp skirmish. When all fighting is over it is found that Hetty has been hit by a stray bullet and is dying. In her last words she confesses her love for Hurry Harry, and, asking a kiss from him, dies in his arms.

Judith is offered a home by the captain of the soldiers. She asks time to consider. She goes with Deerslayer a little apart from the camp and there confesses her love for him, telling him that if he cannot return her love she will understand by his silence. Deerslayer listens to her gravely, but answers not a word.

Singer's Company At Gayety Theatre

One of the Strongest Burlesque Companies Coming Here This Week.

"Get up, Jack—John, Sit Down, is the title of one of dear old dead and gone Ned Harrigan's songs. It's the truest saying of all. And can be applied to every class and condition of man, in almost any walk of life. Especially to the modern burlesque. The old pioneers have about all retired. Their methods were out-of-date and they had outlived their usefulness. If they did not realize the fact, they were told so.

A younger and more progressive set of men have taken their places, which accounts for the marvelous growth of burlesque. None have proven more progressive or successful than Mr. Jack Singer, whose name is almost a household word among theatregoers. Nothing is too massive or expensive for Jack Singer, if he makes up his mind to have it. Where others engage one or two stars, Singer wants five. He aims to have the greatest show in the circuit this season, and it looks very much as tho he has attained his ambition. The most conspicuous comedian in burlesque today is Lew Kelly, whose peculiar characterization is absolutely unapproachable by imitators.

He and the famous Watson Sisters form a combination that is simply a revelation in entertaining qualities. In addition to whom Singer has to offer Fred Wyckoff, the funniest "Rube Actor" on the American stage. Also Lon Hascall, the artistic purveyor of "elite" slang phrases; Vic Casmore and Amelia Pynes, and an entrancing chorus of petite feminine beauty. The new and greater "Behman Show" comes to the Gayety Theatre Monday for a week's engagement. There's none better coming. So get in line for reserved seats on Monday morning.

BLANCHE BAIRD IN STAR STOCK COMPANY

One of the most pretentious stock organizations ever attempted in burlesque will make its initial bow to the Toronto burlesque patrons when Miss Blanche Baird, the tailor-made girl, and her all-star burlesque stock company, opens at the Star Theatre on Monday matinee.

Two funny and original burlesques will be presented, and Miss Baird will render another spasm of her popular songs. Establishing a precedent, Miss Baird will change the full set of scenery each week.

First Steps Toward Social Regeneration Of People of England Were Taken by Tories

People Have Forgotten That Benjamin Disraeli Was a Great Social Reformer—Conservatives First Gave Legal Recognition to Trade Union and Provided for Compensation for Injured Workmen.

(By John Foster Fraser.)

LONDON, May 10.—Whether the Prime Minister is Disraeli's favorite flower or not does not matter. The founding of the Primrose League was an inspiration. Not the least of its uses is that once a year the hurried man is reminded of Benjamin Disraeli. Critics of the league are disposed to be playfully sarcastic about the high-flown titles given to officials of the organization, and the chief political work, which seems to be the arrangement of what drives. It is true the league pays attention to the social side of politics, and rightly so, and its success in drawing together folk in different classes of society has had the compliment of being imitated by its opponents, who, all over the country, have Liberal social evenings.

I have often thought, however, that the Unionist party, and many members of the Primrose League, have sometimes been inclined to forget what kind of statesman Disraeli was. More than thirty years have gone since he was laid to rest. As it is not the habit in these days to study political history, there are not a few members of the Unionist party who have little knowledge of Disraeli's political career, except that he was a Conservative, a statesman with a brilliant and a bitter tongue, a man who brought something of the glow of the Orient into our drab politics, a man who achieved peace with honor at Berlin, and who was responsible for having Queen Victoria proclaimed Empress of India.

All that is true enough. But what seems often to be forgotten—Disraeli has been forgotten—is that Disraeli was a great social reformer. It surprises a Liberal who does not know, and it irritates a Liberal who does, when it is pointed out that the first steps toward the social regeneration of the people of England—factory laws, laws to protect women and children—were pressed forward by Conservatives of half a century ago. In more and more, in spite of the fierce and bitter opposition of Liberals in those days, particularly those who belonged to what was called the Manchester school, who resented what they considered to be interference with economic progress. It was the Conservative party which gave legal recognition to trade unions, and provided that workmen injured in their employment were entitled to compensation. It was the Liberal who fought against the state interfering with the hours of labor and the relationship between employer and employee. It was the Conservative party which took up the attitude that the state stood in a position of "parent to the people," Disraeli, with all his gilded imperialism, never lost sight of the fact that the duty of government was to improve the condition of the masses.

Did More for Democracy. I am the last to deny that, since then, the Liberals have done much toward making the lot of the worker less hard than it was. If, however, one drew up a table of the social legislation passed by the Conservative and Liberal parties since, say the reform bill, it would be seen that the Conservatives have more to their credit than have their opponents. Besides, it is often overlooked that what the Conservatives did originally in the way of social legislation was, before the franchise was extended to the working class, and therefore it cannot be said that the various statutes which the Conservatives passed were for vote-catching purposes. It is a historical fact that the Liberals did not take up questions of social amelioration until they were dependent for office and power upon the millions of workers who had been given the vote. The ordinary workman has little opportunity to study political history, and as there is a good deal of truth in the statement that in politics retention is argument, the constant hammering by Liberal speakers that they are the only people who have the welfare of the workers at heart, and that it is the Tories who want to crush them and keep them down, has had its effect.

Nor am I going to deny that the Unionist party have been largely to blame for this state of things. For a long period, much time was spent in criticizing the social legislation of the Liberals, with the consequence that the public mind, being chiefly influenced by cries, rather than by politics, did get hold of the idea that the Unionists were opposed to social legislation. For most of the last quarter of a century the Unionist party has held office, notwithstanding what I have just pointed out. But I frankly admit that, since the time of Disraeli's death until ten years ago, the Unionists were returned to power not because the country disapproved of the Liberal government, but because the country disliked the Liberal. In these columns I have for a long time urged that, when the general election comes, the Unionist party should not rely upon the misdeeds of the Liberals, but work to be returned on the merits of their own program. And that can only be accomplished by adherence to the Disraelian tradition.

The Disraelian Tradition. There are many of my political friends who may say in reply to that last sentence that the Unionist party has never left the Disraelian tradition, or that if it has there has been a return to it during the last half-dozen years. Well, I am disposed to concede that in great measure the latter point is true. There is a body of men on the Unionist side of the political house, who, although they are wearing a political label, in no way allow this to interfere with their looking at the world as it is, and recognizing the evils in our industrial and social system, and who are eagerly, zealously searching for remedies and carrying very far the program for existing evils, Socialism, or Liberalism, or Unionism, or tariff reform.

I have heard every great industrial debate there has been in the house of commons since the present government came into office seven years ago. The question of wages, industrial unrest, recurrent strikes, increase in the cost of living, the feeding of children, the condition of the submerged tenth, are subjects which have often been discussed. Put aside for the moment the great cleavage between the parties on such matters as home rule, Welsh disestablishment, tariff reform. We all recognize that there is something wrong with our social system. It is not enough to quarrel at purely party successes; manœuvring to dash each other does not lead very far; scandals about ministers assist in no way toward lowering the price of food.

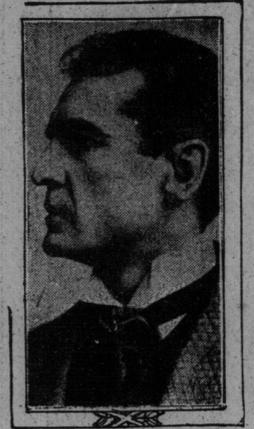

There is one thing which has repeatedly impressed me when listening to the debates. The government and its supporters have been sympathetic, have admitted that the questions must be attended to, have even promised that something shall immediately be done, and they have done nothing at all, and the subject has been allowed to rest until a new debate comes along. The men who have tried to grip the evils and find a remedy have invariably been found on the Liberal benches and on the Unionist benches.

Snowden and Bonar Law. Occasionally there is a clash between the Liberal and the Unionist members. But generally, there is more sympathy with the workers on those benches, and more desire to discover a remedy for existing evils than you will find on the Liberal benches. Listen to speeches of men like Mr. Philip Snowden and Mr. Bonar Law, and you are struck with the innumerable points of agreement. I have watched and listened to both these men since they came into parliament. I am quite sure there is more agreement between Mr. Snowden and Mr. Bonar Law than there is between Mr. Snowden and Mr. Asquith. If Disraeli had been alive he would have been in closer touch with the needs of labor than any members of the present ministry, and I feel sure he would have gone a long way toward convincing the workingmen, who have a hankering after Socialism, that Socialism without a sense of nationality, is futile. In fact, the Liberal who would preach the gospel of the Socialism that begins at home, instead of the vapid, love-the-whole-world Socialism, which is the Socialism of the Kell-Hardie-Ramsay MacDonald brigades. It would be rash to assert that all the Unionist members are animated by the spirit of Disraelian democratic principles, just as it would be untrue to declare that all members of the Liberal party favor social legislation. Politics just now, however, are in a state of flux, and, although the party system under which we live draws a sharp line, there is the remarkable fact that in free, open debate it is often difficult to tell to what party a man belongs, when we live drawn and judged by his speech. I could name a dozen Unionists who hold far more advanced opinions than the great majority of the Liberal members.

On Right Lines. The tendency on the opposition side is in the right direction. The ablest men among the Unionists appreciate the program for existing evils, and men as Mr. Bonar Law, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Lord Robert Cecil, Mr. Hills, Mr. Waldorf Astor, and others, who belong to the condition of our people and earnestly seek a remedy, we know we are on the right lines. Primrose Day is not merely an occasion to wear a posy on our buttonhole and to recall a great statesman. It should be a reminder that if the Unionist party is going to carry forward the Disraelian policy, it must, as a whole, and not in sections, direct its energies toward bettering the conditions of life, as well as maintaining the true imperial spirit.

William Gillett Arrives in London

LONDON, May 10.—William Gillett, the famous American actor, has arrived in London for social purposes only, and has begun his famous round of entertaining of "just the right people." Gillett is probably the best known American actor in the world. He is the founder of the exclusive "Bachelor's Club," and his list of guests whom he has entertained during the season includes about everyone who is anybody in Europe. He is partial to Americans, however, and his closest friend is Frederick Townsend Martin.

BEGINNING OF MILITANT TACTICS FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE IN BRITAIN

"Freedom Does Not Descend Like Manna From Heaven; It Has Been Won Step by Step by Fighting Enemies" the Authority For Campaign For Vote.

By Allan Ross Macdougall, late assistant secretary Men's Political Union, London.

There are many of those who are loudly denouncing the tactics of the suffragettes at this time, and who would loudly adjuring them to use constitutional methods, whose knowledge of the whole history is small. If the whole history were told to them of how those women struggled for forty long, weary years, petitioning, pleading, praying, for the parliamentary franchise, they would, I am sure, be milder and more just in their criticisms. Says Lloyd George, in the peroration of one of his speeches: "Freedom does not descend like manna from heaven; it has been won step by step, by tramping the wilderness, by fighting enemies, crossing Jordan, and clearing the Jebusites out of the land. I do not regret that we cannot obtain these blessings except by fighting. The common people have taken no step worth taking without effort, sacrifice and suffering." If ever any body of people realized wholly and fully that political "freedom does not descend like manna from heaven," it is that body of women working for the franchise in Great Britain.

Constitutional Agitation. In the year 1866, when the household franchise bill was before the House of Commons, John Stuart Mill moved an amendment to it, deleting the word "male," and substituting the word "person" in its place. The amendment was defeated. Outside the house who were interested in the question, Dr. Pankhurst, Lydia Becker, Josephine Butler, and others, immediately decided to start an agitation throughout the country. Enormous petitions were presented to parliament. Great meetings were held.

Petitions. In the year 1878, there were 919 petitions, with 323,206 signatures, presented to parliament. In 1874 there were 1404, with 430,548 signatures. In 1875 there were 1273 petitions presented, with 415,822 signatures. In all, between the years 1873-79 there were presented to parliament 9568 petitions, with over three million signatures inscribed thereon. Great meetings were held in the largest halls of all the great cities of the country. By all the earnest petitioning, and all the earnest pleading, and all the fervent prayer, recorded nothing. Woman suffrage never got within the region of practical politics. When Miss Becker, the leader, died, interest began to wane and enthusiasm cool, until at the opening of the new century there was scarcely any movement left.

Founding of the W. S. P. U. In October of the year 1903 Mrs. Pankhurst, the widow of Dr. Pankhurst, the great lawyer, succeeded from the Independent Labor Party, and with her young daughter Christabel founded the National Women's Social and Political Union. For the first two years they did constitutional work, and might be doing so even now had not a small incident happened which changed the whole affair. From out of darkness the movement was brought into the light.

BETTER THAN SPANKING. Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional remedy for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 565, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother a successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

FRANCE TO BUILD ENGLISH SHIPS

Three Large Steamers Costing Half a Million Pounds to be Laid Down by French Company.

WORKMEN TO BLAME

Ships Are Wanted Immediately and Men Will Not Work Overtime—Would Rather See Football Games.

LONDON, May 10.—Like a bombshell in the British industrial camp has come the news that three large English steamers, costing together half a million sterling, are to be built in France. England builds more ships than all the countries in the world, and builds for many foreign nations; but this, it is stated, is the first time that a big British contract has been placed abroad. The vessels, which are to be of 10,000 tons, are required by the British navy for trade between this country and the colonies, and they will be built at Dunkirk by the Societe des Ateliers et Chantiers de France. A fourth vessel is to be constructed on the northeast coast, so we shall be able to compare the shipbuilding powers of our cousins across the streak with those of our own countrymen.

Why has this big order gone to France? It is frankly and bluntly stated by those "in the know," that the British workmen are to be blamed. The vessels are all required in the course of next year, and the difficulty of securing delivery from British yards has been given to the reasons for giving the work to France. "The French firm is a builder of engines," says The Times, "rough time is being built in the country. The French ships will be built in the country, and on these castings French import duties will have to be paid. Yet the contract for the vessels has been given to the Dunkirk firm, partly because the total cost will be less than if they were to be built in this country, and partly because the French firm is a builder of engines, and the order is a high compliment to them, by government authorities." One reason why British shipyards cannot do more work at the present time is that the men not only refuse to work overtime, but also are not accustomed to working full time. Sunderland, for instance, is practically a strike town, owing to the fact that the men are not used to working full time. The order is a high compliment to them, by government authorities.

Fifth of Time Lost. The employers complained that the men were attending football matches and were losing a fifth of their time, and asserted that they could get 18.8 per cent. on their wages without an advance if they would work full time. There were scores of union members in many of the yards averaging $1500 per annum, lost time included in the wages. "Every man who has been given your time has been abused by your ill-conduct and bad time-keeping."

The First Imprisonments. Out of their box they were both dragged, past Sir Edward Grey on the platform, and then into the street where they were arrested. They were arrested on a fabricated charge of assault, and next day sentenced, Christabel Pankhurst to one week, and Annie Kenny to three weeks imprisonment. The attitude of Sir Edward Grey to those two girls at his meeting was symptomatic of the attitude of the Liberal party to the movement in general. Out of the refusal to listen to the reasonable demands of the women; out of their smiling indifference; out of their treachery and chicanery, has sprung this militant movement, which now they seek to repress by torture, imprisonment, and methods of coercion. Because they listened to it to reason, the girls went to prison and a thousand men and women have followed.

And Reason, that old man, said to her: "Silence! What do you hear?" And she listened intently, and she said: "I hear a sound of feet, a thousand times ten thousand, and they beat this way."

And he said: "They are the feet of those that shall follow you. Lead on!"

Gerald Mandell, the three-year-old son of Matthew Mandell of Fountain Springs, Pa., was the sixth member of the Mandell family, including the mother, to submit to an operation for appendicitis in two months.

HEARTS OF OAK AND MAUSOLUS ARE KING'S PLATE FAVORITES

These Two Colts Have Worked About the Same and Are Considered to Have an Equal Chance—Fillies Not Dangerous.

The feature race of the Canadian racing season, the historic King's Plate, is but two short weeks away and while it may be a little premature to predict a great race for the guinea this year, the chances are that the patrons of the Ontario Jockey Club will see a number of province-bred colts paraded for the event on Saturday, May 24, that do credit to the breeders of thoroughbreds in this country.

Among the probable starters are the Giddings trio, Hearts of Oak, Ondramida and Widow Wase, three from the Seagram stable, Vol Vode, Battle Song and Maid of Frome, the Davie pair, Gold Bud and Meter, the Brookdale Stable's entry, Chrystlawoga, E. L. Bain, Bewickova, and Stanislawa; Aurora Rahy, from the Gorman Stable; Johnny Flynn's Auster and Mausolus from Ed. Gleason's Stable and of these there are several three-year-olds that would be hard to beat in point of conformation leaving out entirely their merits as race-horses.

Hearts of Oak, the bay colt by Bassetlaw-Lady Lightfoot II, was regarded the best looking of province-bred colts and while his department would hardly qualify him for a showing, he is daily improving in manners and takes very kindly to racing than he did last year.

Mausolus, the Stanhope II—Reading colt, is another one that has a high-class appearance. He is a brown in color, with a good head and is put together like a good horse. Vol Vode, the best looking of the Seagram candidates, is a gelding, much the same in color as Mausolus, also somewhat lighter in construction, but nevertheless a classy looking youngster.

The four-year-old gelding, Rockspring, by Martinus Springswells, is a solid dark chestnut in color and stoutly made horse of real good looks and several of the other entrants look good enough to have a chance if the race were decided on looks.

On the work of the different candidates to-date, the race looks to be between Hearts of Oak and Mausolus, but that is not to be forgotten that the Seagram, Brookdale Farm, and Davie representatives have not been asked to show anything over a distance of ground and unless they are "searched" it is well to withhold an expression of opinion as to the ultimate result of the race.

Hearts of Oak and Mausolus have been asked to do more than any of the others and there is not much between them in what we have seen them do in their work. On the strength of last year's racing experience, Hearts of Oak naturally has the call but the other colt has done fully as much as the Giddings crack so far this spring and until further news comes for a thorough searching at the Plate distance, one mile and a quarter, one ranks as high as the other.

Mausolus was bought a yearling at the sale of the Pontiac Farm yearlings at the Woodbine in 1911, and was not broken until well along last summer, consequently he was not started as a two-year-old.

In the hands of Ed Gleason he is being prepared for the big event by one of the very best of Canadian trainers and he will be trained to the best of the colt's best work was done on Monday morning last long before the rail-birds assembly at the track, and in fairness to Gleason it should be said that early hour with any intention of deceiving the public but that the trainer had other work which required his attention later on in the day and for that reason his horses were all worked early.

It is not so very many years ago that the lantern trials were quite common and several of the present-day "clockers" have experienced the unpleasantness of being ready for a midnight trial but those days are gone and unlikely to return. Fast trials do not win races but they do give a history of racing would be greatly changed in its wording. Many a horse has worked like a Sysonby or Colin in the morning only to run like a truck-horse with silks up but the trials are valuable nevertheless. Valuable if only to get the rabid enthusiasts out of bed early in the morning to get the benefit of the good fresh air that is usually found at Woodbine Park.

The work of Mausolus on Monday was a mile in 1:42-5, but as the "dogs" were on all around the track, that would be equivalent to about 1:44, under proper conditions. On Thursday, in broad daylight, and before a big crowd of visitors, he worked a mile in 1:46-5, comfortably and with plenty of "weight" up. This colt is absolutely sound, a good feeder and he was ready to go on after running his good trial so it is but reasonable to suppose he will equal himself creditably when trialed at the longer distance.

Mr. Giddings, the owner of Hearts of Oak, lives at Cedar Grove Farm, a few miles east of Oakville, and he does not usually arrive at the track until after nine o'clock o'clock in the morning and for that reason his colts are not worked until later, so that he may see him run. The experts are all on the side when the Giddings horses work and no one is in the dark as far as the actual trials are concerned.

Hearts of Oak has worked satisfactorily and while some of the critics entertain the opinion that he will subside when looked in the big race, it will take a mighty good one to be in his neighborhood after a mile has been run. Thursday morning, with an exercise boy up, he worked a mile in 1:44-5, which is the best training mile of the season heretofore. And Hearts of Oak is not the only good representative that will carry the Giddings colors. The filly, Ondramida, can run some on her own account and it will take better than an ordinary horse to beat her. And the same may be said of Widow Wase, the filly out of My Maryland.

However, the history of the King's Plate and also other big classics, reveals the fact that fillies do not class with colts in the spring as a rule, but there have been exceptions, notably, the cases of Laddie in 1902, and Shimonee, in 1905. The former was owned by the late William Hendrie, and the latter by his sons, who were the proprietors of the Valley Farm Stable.

Shimonee had to make the second attempt before she was successful as the Havoc colt, Selsmo, owned by President Seagram took her measure as a three-year-old in 1908. A filly may win again this year, but from this distance it does not look as if any one of them is capable of beating Hearts of Oak or Mausolus.

Cragmour, a bay colt by Desmond-Veneration II, bred by Major Eustace Loder, and bought at Doncaster sales by Mr. Bower Ismay for $200 guineas. One of the favorites for the English Derby.

FREE-FOR-ALL PACE AT CLEVELAND, O. ROCK SAND'S FEE WILL BE $3525.00

Six Crack Pacers Are Entered, Including Joe Patchen II., Braden Direct and Evelyn W. Enormous Earning Capacity of Famous Thoroughbred Stallion in France—Tracery Best of His Get.

The first free-for-all pace of the year on the Grand Circuit will take place during the Cleveland meeting, which will be held on the North Randall track, July 7-12, and already the prospect of such a race has stirred up a unusual amount of enthusiasm, particularly on account of the prospect of it bringing together the crack low-record pacers.

The entries for this event include the names of but six pacers, but they will form a select field, and, if they all start, widespread interest will be taken in it. The horses entered are Braden Direct, 4, 2:02 1/2, b. h., by Baron Direct; J. H. Elspass, Denver, Col.; Don Desmore, 2:03 1/2, b. h., by Factious; E. F. ### Sydney Shields on A Becoming Dress

Leading Lady in "The Reckless Age" Gives a Few Hints on a Woman's Attire.

A few weeks ago I was coming from a rehearsal just at the hour when the shops were closing. It was a cold, damp, rainy day—one of those days when women neglect their appearance on the plea of bad weather. The stream of disheveled femininity which poured forth from the stores gave evidence of this dismal fact. Every one that passed was dressed with a greater or less degree of carelessness.

Just as I stepped into my motor a young girl passed. She was incredibly pretty and incredibly gowned. One would hardly call it a gown. The garment she had on was a faded blue serge, shabby and ill-fitting without a semblance of style to the whole thing. But the lovely, wind-blown color in her cheeks, the soft, damp curls falling around her face, and the wide, lustrous eyes, made me forget everything else in the contemplation of her beauty. All the carelessness of her attire would have furnished a thousand hints to a model, and yet she defeated their theories by her undeniable prettiness.

As I paused in the rain to look after the girl, the thought came to me, how few women these days are the world who can disregard their heels and their hosiery and forget to mend their gloves, without fatally injuring whatever looks they may have. It is only the very young—and the very pretty—that can do this.

A witty Frenchman once said to me that only the very rich can afford to dress badly. Perhaps this is true; perhaps it is not; but in any case, it has always seemed to me that, in these democratic days, we are not taken very much at our own valuation, and it rests entirely with us whether the impression made is a prepossessing one or not. Every woman, of course, wants to be valued highly, and every woman has it within her power to gratify this desire, if she will look to her clothes for help. Dress, then, regarded as an expression of the woman herself, should be chosen with the best of taste.

But, what is good taste in clothes? Its ideal is an elegance that is unobtrusiveness best expressed by an irreproachable cut and a distinction in style that is almost indescribable. It is an elegance that leaves the onlooker with an impression of charm and with an utter inability to give the details that went to make up this general effect. Of course, anything even slightly suggesting a display in clothes is considered vulgar by many women, with any distinction in the quiet tone of dress I have observed here.

And it is their general preference for the dark, sober, and even the black, that encourages me to ask you once more, my readers, to choose a subdued tone when selecting an afternoon gown. For the afternoon gown of many women must serve many purposes. Therefore, let it be of blue, green, gray, or purple, no matter what the shade, as long as the tone of the gown is subdued.

Bright colors are all very well in themselves, and in the right places, but they do not belong to the wardrobe of the woman of limited means. A subdued color, on the other hand, is always restful and in good taste. Its sobriety may be brightened by a clever arrangement of trimming, and there is no reason in the world why it should not be as smart as, and even more so, than a gown that attracts considerable attention because of its brilliant color.

Gertrude Hitz With William Hodge Co.

Leading Lady in "Road to Happiness" Relates Her Stage Career.

Miss Gertrude Hitz, the young and charming leading woman with Mr. William Hodge's company, playing at the Royal Alexandra this week in "The Road to Happiness," has evidently become imbued with the optimistic spirit suggested by the title of the new comedy. "My real ambition," she said, "is to be an actress like Miss Maude Adams and if I'm married to be like Mrs. Hodge, whom I just adore."

Miss Hitz is very young to be so far on the way to dramatic success. "I first began my career at the age of 7," she said, "when I was studying at the piano and going to the Convent of Notre Dame Academy at Cleveland. I was always appearing in private performances and once I won the gold medal in the Glenville High School by reciting 'The Orphan's Prayer' in an oratorical contest. Contrary to the ways of most parents when a daughter contemplates 'going on the stage,' Miss Hitz's father and mother offered her every encouragement and advantage. 'I began by studying fancy dancing,' continued Miss Hitz. 'I also studied Shakespeare for three years in Cleveland. Then one day when I was 15 years old I ran away from school and went to Cleveland to see Tully Marshall, who was playing in 'The City' in the Laura Nelson Hall Stock Company. The following summer I went to New York where I spent three anxious months interviewing agencies and managers before I was finally engaged to play the leading role in 'The Blue House,' when I stepped into Mabel Barrison's clothes as well as her part. The next summer I was leading woman with Edwin Arden in Cleveland and last summer played with Margaret Anglo in 'Green Stockings.' Then I was engaged to play the leading feminine part in 'The Man From Home,' with Mr. Hodge, who gave me the chance to take the 'lead' in his new play."

"We have in this new play the nicest company that ever was, and it is a very great privilege to be associated with Miss Ida Vernon, who has so much to tell of her wonderful life on the stage years ago. You know," concluded Miss Hitz, "that Miss Vernon was engaged to be married to Edwin Booth at the time of his death."

Princess Patricia At Her Mother's Side

LONDON, May 10.—The illness of the Duchess of Connaught, mother of the beautiful Princess Patricia, has caused the friends of the latter to postpone the notable welcome they had planned to give her on her return to London. The devotion of Princess Patricia to her mother is one of the most beautiful revelations of her lovely character.

Before and since the duchess' operation for appendicitis, her daughter has been constantly at her side, cheering her with a lively verbal recital of the news of the day, and reading to her.

While Princess Patricia has remained in semi-retirement since her arrival in London, she has received almost daily visits from her American chums. These include Mrs. Montague Elliot, who was Miss Nellie Post, and Lady Malldstone, who was Miss Marguerite Drexel.

Despite the fact that Princess Patricia has been the subject of more romantic gossip than any charming young person of her rank in Europe, she is still unattached.

Crime Against Criminals

By Mrs. Flora MacD. Denison.

The whole trend of modern prison reform is against punishment as punishment. The history of the race, especially of the Dark Ages, reeks with the tragic tales of thumb screw and rack and torture.

The whole gamut of vindictive cruelty has been run and the consensus of scientific thought is that punishment does not reform.

No longer are dungeons, and solitary confinement cells thought wise or human.

The Ballad of Reading gale has put flowers in many prisons and made gardens of prison yards.

The thought of capital punishment is repulsive to advanced reformers for a government not only murders a murderer but it imposes torture on judge, jury, wardens, clerks, doctors, often causing such nervous strain on the carriers-out of the law, "Extreme penalty of the law," that many innocent persons are injured for life.

As for the hangman—the name causes a shudder and what decent man or woman wants to associate with a hangman? It is typical of all we consider degraded and low.

All that may be and is said against capital punishment can be said against flogging—and yet in 1912 in Canada The National Council of Women of Canada in congress in London placed itself on record as advising our government to institute "Flogging for Men."

I am a member of the National Council as president of the Canadian Suffrage Association and am very proud that I protested against this clause apart from the immoral aspect of degradation by the government of the flogger. Think of the illogical position of women fighting for equal rights for themselves, placing themselves on record as discriminating against men in the matter of punishment.

I had received so many letters from Mrs. Denison's letter re flogging of men since the matter was finally and decisively dealt with at last year's annual meeting following full discussion and vote at two executive meetings.

This letter of protest was endorsed by the Canadian Suffrage Association, by the Medical Alumnae, and by the Peace and Arbitration Society. The resolution passed in connection with my letter was:

"Resolved—That no further action be taken in connection with Mrs. Denison's letter re flogging of men since the matter was finally and decisively dealt with at last year's annual meeting following full discussion and vote at two executive meetings."

And this resolution from a national council of women standing for political equality and peace and arbitration! "Finally dealt with." Is this the sentiment of British fair play or justice? "Finally dealt with" in an age of progress and social betterment.

"Finally dealt with." Is this the serious blot on the escutcheon of the National Council of Women.

No question is settled until it is settled right, nor will the best thoughts and brains of the world rest till flogging and hanging and all cruel vindictive and barbarian laws are abolished.

Crime and disease are synonymous and we must treat cases to cure them rather than demoralize the guiltless by cruelly treating diseased wretches.

Vera Barstow Plays With Boston Symphony

A von Kunits Pupil Appears With Famous Orchestra in First Year of Concert Work.

Seldom does it fall to the lot of an artist to win the coveted prize of appearing as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra after one short year before the public, but such an honor belongs to Vera Barstow, the gifted young American violinist.

On Thursday evening, April 24, in Sanders Theatre (Harvard College), in Cambridge, Mass., Miss Barstow was the enthusiastically received and applauded soloist at the eighth and final concert of the season by the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Cambridge.

Miss Barstow chose the concerto in B minor by Saint-Saens, to which she brought a luminous reading and a display of violin mastery that immediately established her firmly in the favor of the conservative audience. The intricate figures abounding in this lovely Saint-Saens concerto were negotiated with the abandon of a seasoned virtuosa, while the cantabile passages were sung on the strings in bewitching fashion. It is almost needless to record here the fact that Miss Barstow was magnificently supported by the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Dr. Karl Muck.

Last year marked Miss Barstow's first season on the concert platform, and the extent of her phenomenal rise in her chosen career within one short year before the public is best judged by her having already made a solo appearance with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Vera Barstow studied with Luigi von Kunits, both in this country and in Vienna, and she certainly reflects great credit upon that master. Seldom has a Cambridge Boston Symphony audience bestowed such salutes of applause upon an assisting violinist as Miss Barstow was made the recipient of on that evening in Sanders Theatre.

M. K. Maxwell of Auburn, Wash., but Richard Martin of Seattle that he could eat fifty eggs within one hour; Vienna, and she certainly reflects great credit upon that master. Seldom has a Cambridge Boston Symphony audience bestowed such salutes of applause upon an assisting violinist as Miss Barstow was made the recipient of on that evening in Sanders Theatre.

Maxwell's cook boiled fresh eggs one minute. He ate them at the rate of five a minute until thirty had disappeared. He took twelve minutes' recess and then disposed of the remaining twenty. He won the wager in thirty instead of sixty minutes.

CANOE AND FOOLS.

It is not too early to talk about the canoe fool. He emerges from hibernation as soon as the ice is out of the rivers, and begins to get himself drowned at once. He keeps it up all summer, and compels the newspapers to record obituaries of his achievements.

All canoeists are not canoe fools. The man who knows how to canoe, and also knows how to swim, is by no means a fool. He can enjoy one of the most delightful of sports, and grow brown and healthy and add years to his life.

The fool is the fellow who takes out a canoe because it looks like an easy way to show off. He is doubly a fool if he does not know how to swim. And he is worse than a fool if he imposes on others his inexperience and egotism. He is a dangerous fellow, who deserves abatement.

There are two good canoeing don'ts. Don't try to paddle a canoe unless you have been thoroughly instructed and unless you are a good swimmer. Disregard of this don't leads to involuntary suicide. And don't coax a friend to place trust in your inexperience. This means homicide, and places you beyond human sympathy after you are yourself well drowned.

In brief, have a little commonsense. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Personal Paragraphs.

A Protestant Prince of Rome.

Lord Churchill represents the curious anomaly of a peer who is at once a Protestant and a Prince of the Holy Roman Empire. He has been a courtier for the best part of his life. Queen Victoria was his godmother, and he subsequently became her page of honor and lord in waiting. He served in the latter capacity to King Edward from 1901 to 1905, having acted as lord chamberlain at the late sovereign's coronation. He was created Viscount Churchill in 1902, having succeeded to the barony in 1888. There is an association between Lord Churchill and the Duke of Marlboro, for the viscount's grandfather, who became Baron Churchill of Wychwood a couple of months after Waterloo, was the son of a Duke of Marlboro.

Lord Loreburn's Precious Brian.

Lord Loreburn, who had a birthday last week, is a great smoker, and this fact was once the cause of an amusing incident in parliament. In the course of a most important speech he was pulling out of his pocket a bundle of notes when a much-smoked briar-root pipe rolled on the floor. Flinging his memorandum on the seat behind him he made a dart for the pipe, and amid the breathless interest of the house, examined it carefully to see if it had been damaged. With an air of relief, which told the onlookers that there was no cause for anxiety, he restored the precious object to his pocket—and the house cheered sympathetically.

CANADIAN DELEGATES TO BUDAPEST CONGRESS

MRS. FLORA MacD. DENISON.

Mrs. Flora MacDonald Denison, president of the Canadian Suffrage Association, and her son, Merrill, a member of the Canadian Men's League of Woman Suffrage, leave next Thursday for Holland by the Holland liner Rydam.

They will attend the world's international suffrage meetings at Berlin, Dresden, Prague, and Vienna, preliminary to the biennial congress of woman suffrage at Budapest, June 15 to 20, when Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt will preside.

Mr. Merrill Denison is a second-year student at the Toronto University, art editor of "Toronto Notes" and cartoonist of "Varsity." He will probably be the youngest speaker at the men's international meeting.

The women of Toronto will give a fitting send-off to the two Toronto delegates at the Union Station on Thursday, at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Denison, whose articles on social betterment problems, have interested Sunday World readers from time to time, will represent this paper at the congress.

The brilliant success which has been achieved by former congresses and the indefatigable work of the Hungarian executive committee are a sufficient guarantee that the Budapest congress will engage the interest of all persons occupied with the woman suffrage movement, or in any other question of culture, the settlement of which is closely connected with the enfranchisement of women.

Women such as Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and other prominent persons of all ranks and classes will, as they have done at previous congresses, take part in the proceedings. Not only women from those countries already affiliated, Australia, Belgium, Bohemia, Bulgaria, Canada, Denmark, Germany,

MR. MERRILL DENISON.

Finland, Galicia, Great Britain, Iceland, Italy, the Netherlands, Norway, Austria, Portugal, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland, Serbia, South Africa, Hungary, the United States, but also those from other countries, China, India, Persia, Spain, and others, are to be present. They will include a female superintendent of the Colorado Board of Education, female members of parliament, from China, town councillors, and mayors; men and women whose names are highly appreciated in the world of art and literature, earnest promoters of anti-alcoholism, the peace movement, education reform, protection of mother and child, care of youth, workingwomen's rights, abolition, household reform, the white slave traffic, sick nursing, etc., furnishing sufficient evidence that the success of these movements depends solely on the enfranchisement of women.

Besides the official delegates of the affiliated alliances and the government representatives, the representatives of all such organizations sympathizing with the woman suffrage movement are admitted to the congress, as well as women and men applying for membership.

Every care will be taken to provide opportunities of becoming familiar with the land of Petofo, Jokay, Munkacsy, Liezt, Kossuth, etc. Its wonderful natural beauties, picturesque costumes, and, above all, its capital, Budapest, which is admitted to be one of the finest cities in the world.

The fact that, in connection with the International Women Suffrage Congress, the International Men's League for Woman Suffrage, under the presidency of Sir John Cockburn, K. C. M. G., will also hold its second congress, greatly increases the interest of both.

DELACOUR

A City in the Building

The Fourth Stage of Development
Nowhere Else In The World Do Cities Grow So Fast As In Western Canada.

Have you ever realized that our great Canadian West is the last West? That in a few years the West, with all its possibilities for money making, will be no more?

Canada's West is rapidly passing. Everywhere the country is settling. Three giant transcontinental railways are carrying civilization past the last frontier. Towns are springing up and growing into cities. Townsites that were put on the market last year are busy towns today.

Long ago towns were built slowly. They were founded by pioneers and it was many years before the railroads spied them out and built into them, bringing progress and a new life. Nowadays the railroad builds along and stakes out the choicest and best-located spots along its right-of-way for townsites of these townsites are placed on the market they are snapped up by shrewd investors—and in a few months another town has sprung up and is rapidly growing into a city, incidentally making fortunes for the buyers of the original townsite lots.

Delacour is such a townsite—situated on the G and Trunk Pacific Railway only twenty miles from Calgary. It is right in the heart of the richest agricultural and most thickly settled section of the Province of Alberta.

"The Forest's Beloved," a Charming Example of Miss French's Fairy Pictures, Showing Her Extraordinary Working Out of Minute Detail.

"A Primeval Scouting Party," One of Miss French's Finished Pictures "Seen Through Her Peep Hole Into the Future."

SHE PAINTS DREAMS

Unusual Art of a Glasgow Girl - The Newest Painter of Fantasy Who Believes in Fairies and Sketches Visions through a Peep Hole into the Past ~

ANNIE FRENCH is a Glasgow girl who has just won great honors in Paris and Berlin with her extraordinary paintings. On this page are reproduced for the first time in this country three of her peculiar but delicately beautiful pictures.

Most of Miss French's inspirations come from dreams—real dreams. She is called in Paris the Painter of Dreams. Her dreams are of fairies, of goblins, fantastic creatures that live wherever the world is still young, and also of happenings in a world of thousands of years ago. She dreams and then next morning puts down her memories quickly in the form of a sketch. After that she works out the painting in most elaborate detail. She believes in the actual existence of fairies, and thinks she has a peep hole into the past through which in sleep she sees the visions she later fastens upon her canvases.

Of this class is the picture on this page called "A Primeval Scouting Party." Miss French believes she saw this little earnest picnic of early man, and recalls the rather harrowing sequel to it. In this as well as the fairy picture at the top of the page—"The Forest's Beloved"—the originality and infinite detail of her art is plain. Here is the cobweb of the forest, each leaf and each flower carefully worked out; the lace on the veil of the Beloved, the dust on the butterfly's wings—there is no limit to the minuteness of her work.

In the "Kind Neighbors" she proves, however, that she can use simple lines as well as the complex backgrounds.

In her technique Annie French has gotten part of her inspiration at least from the great masses and wonderful details of the Flemish tapestries. Her pictures are, indeed, tapestry paintings. Of the Glasgow school she admits indebtedness to Newberry and Delville. But she has gone far beyond them, and has evolved a distinctly original art. There is a fine nervousness in her lines and a glow of imagination in every picture.

She is young, and Celtic blood flows in her veins. In Paris they believe that she has only made a beginning, and that her best is still to come.

In this artist's mind the fairies, the pixies and leprachans, who peopled the woods of Britain in ancient times, live again.

"The Kind Neighbors," an Exquisite Example of Miss French's Less Complex Technique.

Kit's Column

A Weekly Letter of Comment and Opinion.

Copyrighted. Since reading the account of the Pankhursts in Truth, and in fact long before, the writer of this column came to the conclusion that the whole militant movement is a mad movement. That it is a graft movement did not occur to me until I read The Truth argument. Anyway, I am dead tired of the women who try to take the places of men. We have so much the quieter, if not easier place that we are a bit foolish—to my thinking—to try to usurp the whole of the work. I shall be happily dead before the women rule the world. And the thought is a God-send. Not then men are not brutal. Few women, I take it, there are who have not known the left of a man's fist. And we never forget it. All his after sweetness or gentleness will never blind the wife as to his former brutality. The blow remains, it is indelible. Memory is sometimes an awful thing.

The Suffragettes

I believe that these militant women dislike the "ette" ending. But what are they if not women—of a sort—the Lord knows—and why then the feminine ending to a title they themselves made? I detest the fighting female no matter what her cause; and yet I sincerely deplore the line of action taken by young men, and boys in regard to the unfortunate suffragette. It always hurts the other woman when she hears or reads of a man hitting or insulting a woman no matter what the unfortunate creature has done. A man is so much stronger than any of us. Moreover, we are the mothers of the race, and at times it occurs to me—speaking broadly and honestly—which to a column written by a woman who has seen many phases of life, must be permitted—that if any man would but think for a moment of the intensely dull, the painful, the patient life of so many women, he would be, perhaps, a little more decent in his thoughts or his treatment towards her. God knows, to bear children, to bring them up somehow, to prepare the food, to wash and scrub does not mean much of the "joy" of life. My wonder is that these poor house-bound women do not commit suicide oftener than they do.

A very great clergyman once preached a sermon on the text—not in the Bible, where Woman, barring the exceptional Ruths, Judiths, et al., Biblical suffragettes in fact—has small space—that on the Day of our Judging—if such ever occurs—the wrongs of the women will damn every man who stands there. Perhaps I may be permitted to be there.

If You Are Reckless

If you are reckless you may find it better to be a widow.

The bride: January: A prudent housekeeper and very good tempered. February: Not too intelligent; not too good looking.

March: Sweet, amiable, capable. April: Pretty, inconsistent, agreeable to others (not to her man).

May: She will shed many tears. June: The June bride will be generous and jealous.

August: But the August bride will be a kind; the August son, will probably supply the bottle.

September: She will be an old maid and passe.

October: An old maid warranted Scottish.

November: She will think she is a great person and try to prove it—but she will wake up.

December: The December bride—a failure.

Are We Hypocrites?

"Dear," we write with a heart either bursting with hatred or shrunken with dislike. Yours sincerely, when we are not sincere at all—when, in fact, we do not care a—dam. (Put d for the c if you like.) The ironies of life are really excruciatingly funny.

Keene once had a funny sketch in Punch. The guests were seated; the host was prattling the usual lise. We've all heard this. "So sorry you are going—now, can't we persuade you to stay?—how time has flown! Hope we shall soon see you again!"

Comes the coachman—Irish to boot—whispering in the hall behind his hand: "Will I make them too late for the throne, your honor? Shure, I can, me Jork, if you say the word."

To which the host, his master, replied, in dumb show: "Well out of sight of the carriage window; if you dare, sir! Drive like the—"

You know the old chief, he means: ah, yes, 'tis well you know him. An old acquaintance.

Woman's Little Ways

I do not want to appear opposed to woman and her ways, but I cannot pass up some of the strikingly malicious things they do and say against a—shall we say fellow-woman? For instance, take such conversation as I hear as Mrs. Printer. Didn't she look a fright! Hair ayeed a new shade and a purple make-up."

"Dirty, if she's a day, and the way she frisks about!"

And yet these are sometimes the people we like. Women know by some unknown and unconsidered sense what each thinks of the other. Again men are unfair to us. If the house-keeper or the servant (I detest all who makes mistakes it is the man of the house who details the dismissing, or the scolding, to his wife. You will always hear "the help" exclaiming: "I could live forever with HIM (give him cash, please, Mr. Printer), but Her I could never abide. Poor HER. The Lord knows what with bringing up the children—hushing them of a night, feeding and cooling

"WITCHCRAFT"

By Nell Brinkley

A common enough court trial, even in these, our enlightened times. The robed justice, a much injured, woeful and wrathful young man whom anybody can see has been conjured "scandalous"; bewitched into lightheadedness; circled into following will-o'-the-wisps; spellbound by an enchanting eye. The offender, a soft, sweet creature—perhaps the saving, busy girl who hikes out gallantly to a shop or an office desk every morning, blue-skied or rainy—perhaps the little aristocrat who labors at riding in Central Park o' mornings and serving tea afternoons in a boudoir whose amphora vases three peach trees were stayed of their pinky blossoms to fill. Anyway, it's a creature that anybody can see is a witch from the last feathery curl on the crown of her head to the strap of her brodered slipper. The counsel for the defense, a small fat person with a powerful tongue and eloquent eyes; with white wings that are found sometimes to be slightly singed, who always wins his case. He never proves that his client isn't a witch—that isn't it—but he always gets a light sentence—Oh! kisses or something like that. A thousand or so!

to them by day, and the rest—YOU know, life is not all beans and bacon. Believe it from me, the men will have something coming to them—hot and not sweet—when the counting up comes.

Men

Men, when they engage in the traffic of tearing up women, do it most thoroughly. Witness the men at suffragette meetings. Hold no brief for militant women, but I must complain—as a woman—of the ruffianly treatment by certain men and boys—While we women are generally of the cat order, there are some perfectly lovely cats. But these are generally Tommies—which cuts my argument in half. Yet, all considered, the men are harder on women than we are on one another. In fact the men are Tommies, and they bite and claw. Neither rags nor reputation are left when a man of the cat breed goes about it.

And yet—we women fall for the men because—to keep the world going—we MUST

The Masquerades of 'Steevie'

It is quite an undertaking to introduce an atmosphere of Bohemian London into conservative Toronto. Bohemianism as Toronto understands the term, includes many things which the London conception does not include. There's the difficulty.

When Dorothy Stevens was studying at the Slade School in London, she had one particular hobby which she still not deems that they were to spend the whole of their days in the endeavor to keep the existence pot on the boil. There is a fascinating atmosphere of goodfellowship in Miss Stevens' studio. There always was such an atmosphere. That is why her masquerades were such a success. One can always feel sure of a "glad hand" and a cup of tea in her studio—providing the tea caddie is not empty. In which case, the visitor is despatched, with all haste, down the two flights of stairs, to the nearest grocery shop. For the hostess may be in the middle of a picture, and cannot be disturbed.

Of her patronesses for all her masquerades in London was the Duchess of Sutherland. So there was always a pleasant intermixture of conventional society and unconventional. Too much of a sameness is often likely to produce a blasé boredom, she thought. And then, of course, there had to be chaperones!

For the very same reason, several of her patrons here in Toronto are women whose names appear in the society columns of every newspaper, many times during the week. So that one may say, to use the vernacular of social expressions, "She goes everywhere, and everybody goes to her affairs."

By the way, Miss Dorothy Stevens resolves itself into "Steevie," amongst the masquerade set.

Some of her friends went up to her studio, the other day, to plan for a large affair, which she was contemplating. Despite the fact that it was pouring rain, "Steevie" had come down to the studio, and was busy at work. A pretty, dimpled young girl, with the shade of dew-tipped cornflowers, leaned back in a Roman chair,—"the only antique in the place," Steevie had said. Most decidedly, there was excellent taste displayed as to the choice of a model.

At indiscriminate intervals of the room, were brass bowls in cups, granite basins and saucepans, anything which would act as a receptacle for the rain, which drip dripped in thru numerous cracks in the roof. Someone suggested opening an umbrella, but another member of the party, being slightly tarred with the superstition brush, said she preferred to walk around the studio, in the hope of finding one spot where the rain did not leak in. Needless to say, the promenades was of indefinite duration.

The masquerade was to be a Turkish affair. Nearly all of Steevie's friends, being of her tastes, had something in their homes which would serve as an Oriental costume. It would be held in the studio. And everyone there assembled, stood up solemnly and breathed the hope that the rain man would not turn his face studio-wards, on the night of the Turkish affair.

Following is a description of the masquerade given by Steevie at Birneval, France, last summer, like which also plans are on foot for a Toronto masquerade.

From the stairs leading to the studio came weird sounds, such as one is accustomed to hear on the Midway at the Exhibition, or in front of some spot where the rain is displayed in bizarre costumes and multi-colored rugs. The stairs were in semi-darkness, from the semi-light of half a dozen variegated lanterns, hung at intervals along the walls. Apart from this, not a soul in sight. Nothing but the monotonous sing-song of the hidden voices and muffled instruments, undoubtedly the copper kettles and pans which usually reposed in every corner of the studio.

The inside of the studio was even more mysterious. Silent, sandal-footed fellows greeted each guest, with a sweeping Salam, and conducted him or her to the dressing room—that part of the studio, by the way, which we were accustomed to associate with the tea caddie, gas stove and piles of unwashed dishes.

Every bit of oriental rag and rug which originally occupied humble positions on the floor, now hung from the walls. And every available bit of pottery, copper and brass stood conspicuously around on the floor. The chairs seemed to have disappeared. Cushions arranged themselves in little piles, at irregular intervals, and on two or three of these, furious-looking Turks sat smoking long pipes.

At a certain hour, when most of the guests had arrived, arrayed in their couch covers, curtains or hangings, as the case might be, more monotonous were struck up from somewhere. Two or three girls appeared from behind some heavy curtains, and began a weird circling of the room. The furious-looking Turks who had sat stolidly smoking their long pipes, looked a bit more interested and forgot their Turkish tobacco for the time.

The noise of the tom tom became more riotous, and more girls joined the dancers. At a given signal, all the stolid Turks rose from their cushions and began the same weird circling, only more awkward, and infinitely more self-conscious. And all the while, not one word had been spoken!

When everyone seemed to become tired from the indefinite circling and salaaming, when the monotonous of the tom toms had monotoned themselves unendurable, someone in a more gorgeous costume than any of the others appeared from somewhere and began an entirely different dance.

The tom toms took second place, and the piano, which had been moved behind some curtains, displayed its Y.

presence by a most un-Turkish rendering of that well-known ballad, "Everybody's Doing It."

When the elaborately clad figure was forced to disclose her identity, she was found to be none other than Steevie, giving her guests her conception of the ultra-modern Turkey Trot!

"Well, what would you? It was a Turkish masquerade, wasn't it?"

"It's in an unsettled part of the country like our Far West that grows the valuable Nerviline is in the home," writes Mr. Patrick M. Debaney, from Fort Saskatchewan, "Chills are frequent—a hot drink of Nerviline sends life circulating through the body in three minutes. Cramps or sudden illness at night is one of our terrors. No druggist or doctor is near, but if Nerviline is handy you can get relief. The worst cramps Nerviline has cured in my children in half a minute. I don't think any farmer's wife has any right to be without the protection of Nerviline. In our family we use it for a hundred ills, and it cures them all. One night one of my kiddies had earache and another toothache. Without Nerviline no one could have slept—I applied it as directed, and the children's pains disappeared. My husband uses Nerviline for lame back, rheumatism, aching joints and all sorts of muscular pains. It is as good inside as outside, and is as much a part of my home as my kitchen stove."

You find a thousand uses for a good family remedy like Nerviline. Get the 60c. family size bottle; it's more economical than the 25c. trial size. Sold by all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarthozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

WOMEN'S LABOR EXCHANGE IN HOLLAND.

The growing number of women who enter trade occupations in Amsterdam caused the municipality to establish a women's labor exchange in 1909. In the three years that it has been operating it has increased in importance until now the director and her nine assistants, also women, can scarcely cope with its business.

The bureau is divided into different departments, such as shoemakers, servants, extra helpers, and various other occupations. Recently a department has been organized for office personnel—stenographers, typewriters, clerks, etc.

To give an idea of the extensiveness of the operations of this bureau and its growing popularity, 1182 girls found employment thru its mediation in the month of January, 1912. While 1755 were so placed in the same month this year. Last year a total of 18,231 women found employment thru this bureau.

No fee is charged for service rendered by the bureau in this connection, while advice and assistance to working women in general is freely given at all times.

Annual Meeting Closes Ten Years of Splendid Work by Popular Conductor.

A pronounced feeling of enthusiasm characterized the annual meeting of the National Chorus of Toronto held on Tuesday evening last when the close of ten years of self-sacrificing labor on the part of Dr. Albert Ham was marked by a full measure of appreciation from the 225 singers now under his baton.

The election of officers was accompanied with great interest and much satisfaction was expressed with the acceptance by Col. Sir Henry Pellatt, C. V. O., A. D. C., of the position of chairman of the executive committee.

Dr. James Dickinson, who recently left Toronto to accept the chair of music in the University of Washington, has just been appointed to the important position of organist in St. Paul's Church, in that city.

One of the most artistic pupils' recitals of the season was that given by Mr. Henry J. Lutz, at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, on April 30.

A PAGE OF THE BEST HUMOR OF THE WEEK

A Sad Case.
"There's a sad case," said Mrs. Jones, as she laid the paper on her knees and wiped her spectacles. "A bride struck dumb after leaving the altar, and by last accounts she hasn't recovered her speech."
"It's the way of the world, my dear," said old Mr. Jones, with a sigh. "It's the way of the world. Some men have all the luck."—Penny Illustrated.

Presence of Mind.
Wife (in alarm).—John, I have just discovered a fire in the cellar! What shall be done to get the guests out of the house in safety?
Husband.—I'll call the fire-department, while you announce to the guest that Charley Sniffkins is going to give his celebrated imitation of the mocking-bird!—Puck.

She Had Her Way.
"I don't like that disagreeable Mrs. Parker."
"I thought she was very pleasant. What happened?"
"We lunched together downtown today. She said she'd pay, and, of course, I mumbled, 'Let me'—and she said 'Very well.'—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"John, I hear pussy mewing to get in."
"Hang it, Mary! I just let the brute in."
"Well, then, she's mewing to get out."—Life.

Which One.
"Don't you think it would be a good thing if our legislators were limited to one term?"
"It would depend on where the term was to be served."—Record-Herald.

A Broadway Catastrophe.
Policeman.—Do you know this sick man?
Interested Bystander.—No. I only just met him. He seemed a nice sort of a feller; he shook my hand and we chatted a while, and I told 'im I was Seth Pinewood from Pennsylvania, and that I'd come on with one thousand in cash to see this here town. I ast him if he knew of some young feller as could show me around; and then he threw up his hands and fell down!

Breaking It Gently.
Maid.—Thieves got into a house in this street last night and stole all the silver.
Mistress.—What stupid people to leave things unlocked! Whose house was it?
Maid.—It was number seven.
Mistress.—Why, that is our house!
Maid.—Yes, ma'am, but I did not want to frighten you.—Judge.

Double Blow.
Young Man.—I should like to ask your advice, sir, as to whether you think your daughter would make a suitable wife.
Lawyer.—No, I don't think she would. Five dollars, please!—New York Mail.

AFTER THE SPRING SALES.
The Woman: "What about a brisk walk home across the park, dear?"
—London Mail.

What She Got.
The Queen of Italy, of whose kindness to the poor many stories are told, one day, it is said, noticed a pleasant-faced little girl and spoke to her. The queen asked what the child could do in the way of needlework.
"I can knit stockings, signora," said the girl.
"Do you know who I am?" continued the queen.
"Yes, signora; you are the queen."
"Well, then, make me a pair of stockings and send them to the palace."
A few days later the articles arrived, and, in return for the gift, the queen sent a beautiful pair of silk stockings, one filled with sweets and the other containing money. The next day her majesty received a letter which read, "Signora, your gift has caused me many tears. My father took the money, my big brother took the sweets, and the stockings mother took for herself!"—Farm and Home (London).

During the Family Grouch.
Mr. Snapperly (reading): "Man commits suicide by jumping off ferryboat."
Mrs. Snapperly: "Just like a man! Why didn't he jump off a dock and save two cents?"—Puck.

Wisdom.
Inquiring Son: "Papa, what is reason?"
Fond Parent: "Reason, my boy, is that which enables a man to determine what is right."
Inquiring Son: "And what is instinct?"
Fond Parent: "Instinct is that which tells a woman she is right, whether she is or not."—Tit-Bits.

Mr. McDonald's Success.
The Times, Peterboro, referring to the singing of Mr. Ruthven McDonald in "The Messiah," given by the St. George's Choral Society of that city on the 9th ult., says: "Mr. Ruthven McDonald is a superb baritone. All his numbers found demonstrative favor with his audience, while his rendition of 'Why Do the Nations?' was irresistibly magnificent."

A STRONG PULL.
Careful Conductor: Wait till the car stops, madam. I have rung the bell.
—Puck.

An Expensive Drop.
Hiram Jones had just returned from a tour of Europe.
"I suppose," said a friend, "that when you were in England you did as the English do, and dropped your H's."
"No," moodily responded the returned traveler, "I didn't. I did as the Americans do. I dropped my V's and X's."—Lippincott's.

A Protracted Stay.
Belle Passay.—I'm tired of being pursued for my money! I'm going to the country and pose as a poor girl, and wait for the first man who offers himself.
Blanche Innit.—Well, you can stand the country in summer well enough, but you'll find the winters just horrid!—Puck.

His Job.
"How are the plans for your new house coming along?"
"Splendidly. My wife has finally laid out all the subplots she wants, and now all the architect's got to do is to build the house around them."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Untested.
"Our product is thoroughly tested before leaving the factory. No man can sell stuff today that has not been tested."
"We manage to sell our product without testing it."
"That's odd. What do you sell?"
"Dynamite."—Washington Herald.

TRYING TO DODGE.
"Well, ma, I'm ready for the party. Shall I wash my hands or put on my gloves?"
—Judge.

One Hundred Dollars Fee.
Young Doctor: "What are you doing with that Latin dictionary?"
Old Doctor: "Mr. Gotrocks has a cold, and I'm looking for a name."—Stanford Chapparral.

An Exception.
Parke: "Bildat is certainly tied to his wife's apron strings."
Lane: "Well, in these days he is lucky if he has a wife with apron strings."—Life.

A CRUEL KINDNESS.
Hostess: Do try this chair. It's really quite comfortable for an antique.
—Judge.

Grandpa: "Are you getting along nicely at school, Freddy?"
Freddy: "Yes, grandpa, I got the best place in class."
Grandpa: "And what is that—at the top?"
Freddy: "No; near the fire."
—London Opinion.

Placing the Blame.
When Shimmerpate arrived home an hour later than usual, he was nibbling a clove.
"I stopped in a concert hall for a few moments," he observed. "The music was intoxicating."
"That's right," exclaimed his better half. "Blame it on the music!"—Youngstown Telegram.

Before Her Time.
Little Alice came in the house at luncheon time with a pair of very dirty hands. Her mother looked at the little girl's hands and said: "You never say my hands as dirty as yours."
"No, mother," replied the child, "but grandmother did."—Harper's Magazine.

Willing to Work.
"Now," said the warden to the forger who had just arrived at the prison, "we'll set you to work. What can you do best?"
"Well, if you'll give me a week's practice on your signature, I'll sign your official papers for you," said the prisoner.—Puck.

Sympathy.
An actor was one time playing in a provincial town, and observed in the front row an old lady moved to tears. Highly flattered, he sent an attendant to say he would like to see her after the performance. When they met he was graciousness itself.
"Madam," he said, "I perceive that my acting touched you."
"It did that, sir," said the old woman. "You see, sir, I've got a son myself play-actin' somewhere, who I ain't seen for a long time; and it broke me all up to think that maybe he warn't no better at it than you are!"

Giving Himself Away.
The detective was reminiscient. He said: "To the good detective every slightest action speaks volumes."
"I, for example, was once looking for a widower. But the man I had under surveillance stoutly declared himself to be a bachelor. One morning however, I saw him pay a bill, and in doing so he turned his back to everybody in the room before taking out his pocketbook.
"Instantly I laid my hand on his shoulder.
"Come with me," I said. "You are no bachelor. You are a widower or a married man."—London Opinion.

Teething Times.
"You look sleepy, Jones. You must have been up with the sun this morning."
"Yes; I was up with him all night."—Judge.

"Oh, George!"
George was caught napping. A pair of soft little hands covered his eyes and a sweet voice commanded: "Guess who it is!"
Nothing very dreadful for George in this, you think; but then, you don't know that George has two sweethearts, and for the life of him couldn't decide whose voice it was, which made it a very embarrassing situation for him. A wrong guess would lead to complications awful to think of. But a happy thought inspired George, and he announced:
"It's the dearest, sweetest little girl in all the world."
"Oh, you lovely boy!" gurgled the satisfied one as she removed her hands.
And now George thinks of applying for a diplomatic post, feeling that his talents would be wasted in any other field.—Tit-Bits.

Teething Times.
"You look sleepy, Jones. You must have been up with the sun this morning."
"Yes; I was up with him all night."—Judge.

Creditor: "I should like to know when you are going to pay this bill?"
Debtor: "Every day in the week."
Creditor: "What day would suit you best?"
Debtor: "Saturday."
Creditor: "Very well; then you can call every Saturday."

Preserves Relics of Distinguished Ancestors; Plays Politics and is Active Charity Worker

Interesting Sketch of Miss Marie Macdonell, Member of a Prominent Toronto Catholic Family, Who "Does All the Good She Can in All the Ways She Can."

There are but very few men or women who can talk of the days when grandfather or grandmother came to Toronto, at the period when our now beautiful Queen City was in embryo.

Yet there are some who can thus turn back the hands of time, and among these is Miss Marie Macdonell, one of Toronto's amiable and popular women, who says of herself that she does not believe that she has any particular hobby unless it be to try and assist any whom she finds to be in need of assistance.

In spite of this assertion one discovered in the course of conversation that the lady has at least a particular liking which some would even term a hobby, the liking for collecting old family relics.

These are all very interesting and one at least is very beautiful. This last is a hand-carved ivory fan, the workmanship of the finest, and the fan itself of the small, dainty order which one associates with the days of powdered wigs and graceful minuets.

And so indeed was the period of the precious souvenir. "This was carried in a dressing-case for sixty years," said Miss Macdonell; "it belonged to an aunt who died when a girl, and her brother carried it in a dressing-case ever afterwards."

MISS MARIE MACDONELL.

"Hamlet," the other "The Orphans," and this latter did not at all meet the approval of the visitor from Canada. The Macdonells came from Fort Augustus, Inverness, Scotland, and it was to the United States that they first went after crossing the Atlantic in 1774. Two years later they came with the United Empire Loyalists to Canada. Many tales of hardship are related round the family hearth of those venturesome and hardy times.

and the modern military representation of the family, was on duty in England, he determined to make a flying visit to the land of his forefathers to see the graves of the Macdonells of bygone years. Fort Augustus is now the seat of a Benedictine Monastery, and when the tall soldier presented himself and told the reason of his visit to the Monk who opened the door, he was met with the firm, but courteous, answer that it would be impossible for him to do as he wished. The land, including the old graveyard was now all private property and the grounds of the monastery were under no condition open to the public. Some-what dismayed but not yet altogether daunted, Major Macdonell asked to see the superior, and on relating his story a second time, the tables were completely changed. Placing his hands on the shoulders of the young officer, the Abbot gave him cordial welcome. "Come in," he said, "you are one of us," make your home with us just as long as you like to remain, and a three days' visit with pleasant memories that will last a life time were the result.

But with all this we are surely getting away from Miss Marie Macdonell who was to be the subject of this sketch. It has already been said that to make others happy and to assist where possible is her chief delight. "Somewhere and some time," I found this motto or verse, she tells you smilingly, "Do all the good you can, in all the ways you can, to as many as you can, as long as you can," and this just seems to be an exemplification of the spirit of the speaker.

When the Children's Aid in connection with St. Vincent de Paul Society started eighteen years ago Miss Macdonell was put on the executive and has been connected with it ever since. She is a vice-president of the hospital social service organization, and president of Rosary Hall. In this latter connection she has done exceptional work, being one of those who, with Mrs. Day, the first president, made a personal canvass for funds to finance this home for working girls. As head of the executive of this still infant institution Miss Macdonell finds much food for her activities, an example of which was seen in the big "Euchre and Bridge," the largest ever held in Toronto, and which was engineered by the committee of the institution of which Miss Macdonell is president. The spirit of patriotism is another of the motive powers, and so we find the Daughters of the Empire has Miss Macdonell as its standard bearer. She is a patroness of the Centre and South Conservative Association, and, following her English sisters, in the matter of politics, we are not surprised to learn that Miss Macdonell made a house-to-house canvass in the interest of her brother, Claude Macdonell, M. P., a canvass that probably had its share in securing his election. Miss Macdonell is opposed to woman suffrage. And just at this point, one cannot help noting the exceptionally fine women who are taking part, both for and against, this movement, and the equally fine arguments presented by the opposing forces. It would take a Portia and a Daniel, and

Is Your Back Full of Aches All Day Long?

That Stab-like Pain in the Back is Sure Indication of Kidney Trouble

Mrs. Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia: "For a long time I suffered with falling strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was slow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut." No greater medicine exists than Dr. Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver, bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid by the Cattaraugus Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingstons, Canada.

Our Embroidery Design

Design for Waist.

If the dress is of pink or blue cambric use white floss, two threads to each needleful on all heavy parts. This does the work more rapidly and gives a slightly raised effect. In making the punch work portions, shown in the dotted interior, select a short, blunt needle, rather thick at the eye, or use a three-cornered carpet needle. Thread with a single thread of the floss. In the process of the work it carries two threads over each portion. Aim to make the holes quite large as this will impart a lace-like appearance. Should you wish the pattern to be all white lay the design on a fragile material, outline the leaves and tendrils or finish them in cross-stitch shadow work.

To Transfer. Put a cake of soap in a pint of hot water, stir vigorously; remove soap. Saturate the design with the mixture, then remove the excess moisture. Place the fabric to which the design is to be transferred on a hard, flat surface and lay the design face down on the material. Cover with a dry sheet of thick paper and with the bowl of a table-spoon rub hard till the design is transferred, being careful to rub from rather than toward you. Do not wet the material or rub the face of the design with damp fingers. To remove the design after the article is complete wash in warm water with soap.

even a Solomon, to see the thing just at the proper perspective, when the strong light from both sides is thrown upon it. While known to many thruout the city, it is to the west end that Miss Macdonell's activities are largely confined. The Macdonell home is one of the old landmarks of Dundas street. Years ago there was much more land attached to the house than now. Some having been sold, while other parts have been deeded as gifts. The land on which St. Anne's Church is built was given by Mr. Angus Macdonell, father of Miss Macdonell, and his brother, in memory of their mother, and the site of old St. Helen's was given by the same benefactors in remembrance of their mother. Helen McNab, all of which makes charming history. Another interest has just cropped up, and is occupying some of the thought and time of the subject of our sketch. The new community of Carmelite Sisters, lately arrived in Toronto, is to do work among the foreigners, in need of plotting in many directions, and Miss Macdonell is among the ladies who are taking part in the most estimable work of making the strangers feel at home, and introducing them to the various channels which will form their new field of labor in Toronto.

"A CITY IN THE MAKING"

C. P. R. YARDS AND ROUNDHOUSE, ELEVATOR IN BACKGROUND.

SOME OF THE C. P. R. BOATS.

Port McNicoll Situated on the Georgian Bay, one hundred miles north of Toronto, is named after Vice-President David McNicoll, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and is one of the most promising inland ports of the world.

Castling about for a suitable home for its magnificent fleet, the Canadian Pacific Railway selected Port McNicoll on account of its natural topographical advantages—a land-locked harbor and easy grades, allowing cheap and convenient access; and also on account of its favorable geographical situation—requiring, as it does, but a short railway journey to the great centres of distribution, and making possible the shortest and most direct route between Fort William and Toronto or Montreal.

The Harbor The harbor is equalled by few and surpassed by none in natural advantages. In it has been constructed a concrete basin 600 feet wide and 450 feet long, with a water depth of 26 feet, which is sufficiently large to enable the whole of the C. P. R. fleet to line up at the freight sheds and dock on one side, while grain freighters unload at the elevator on the other side.

Freight Sheds Along one side of this basin are situated two 850-foot freight sheds, one for flour and the other for general merchandise, each with two tracks running through, under cover. In the summer months these sheds are beehives of energy and activity.

Figures Talk Last year the Canadian Pacific Railway handled 127,812 tons of west-bound freight, while the east-bound cargoes amounted to 165,625 tons. In the same season, the C. P. R. steamers and tramp boats brought to this port 10,217,249 bushels of grain, an increase over 1911 of 642,000 bushels. In this connection, it is interesting to know that 30,000 tons of steamship coal were received last year for the exclusive use of the C. P. R. fleet.

The Elevator On the other side of the basin is situated the massive fire-proof elevator, constructed of steel and concrete, and equipped with the most modern machinery for handling grain. It is composed of two units, with a capacity of over 2,000,000 bushels each, and provision has been made for increasing this, when required, to five units, with a total capacity of over 10,000,000 bushels. The elevator, which last year handled over 10,000,000 bushels of grain, now contains only about half a million bushels, and is being put in readiness to handle a record quantity this year.

Population The permanent residential population of Port McNicoll is estimated at about 700. This, of course, does not include the 600 men now employed by the C. P. R. in their freight sheds, nor does it include other transient laborers, who, in large numbers, locate here for the season of navigation only.

Wages Besides the crews on the boats, the C. P. R. employ some 600 men loading and unloading freight at Port McNicoll. The pay envelope of the C. P. R. here amounted to about $45,000 last year. This year navigation opened two weeks earlier, which will mean at least ten extra trips, with a corresponding increase in the quantity of freight handled and the amount of wages paid. It is also expected that the C. P. R. will, in the near future, increase the number of their boats plying on the upper lakes.

Houses Needed Perhaps the most urgent need at Port McNicoll is the need for homes. The demand for houses that will rent for $10, $12 or $15 a month far exceeds the supply. The spring building has already commenced, and hammers and saws may be heard on all sides; but in most cases the houses are being erected by men for themselves in their spare time, and they will, later, occupy them with their families. On a conservative estimate, at least fifty houses are required without delay to supply the present most urgent demand. The C. P. R. freight handlers are housed in three bunk-houses, while the officials are located in comfortable homes on the Main street.

Has a Future Port McNicoll has a future. The town has been carefully planned, surveyed, and laid out in lots, according to the most approved, modern, scientific methods of city building. The streets are being graded, and gravelled, and sidewalks are being laid as fast as possible. Through the town are situated the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Quebec Bank, 2 hardware stores, 3 general stores, 1 drug store, 2 barber shops, a billiard parlor, 8 C. P. R. homes for officials, a theatre, and dance hall, 2 millinery parlors, a planing mill, school, a tailor shop, a stone quarry, 2 laundries, a local telephone exchange, a postoffice, an express office, customs house, 2 restaurants, 2 churches, a ladies' tailoring establishment, 1 butcher shop, 2 bake shops, and the C. P. R. hotel. A physician is also located in town.

New Industries Port McNicoll, like every other new and growing city, requires industries. An energetic board of trade, selected from among the progressive business men, is actively engaged in investigating and promoting this phase of city building. The board is publishing literature pointing out the many advantages Port McNicoll offers as a location for manufacturers—cheap sites, power, and labor, with unexcelled shipping facilities. They will be pleased to furnish information along these lines to any who may desire it.

Steady Growth No one who considers the recent origin of the town can fail to be impressed with its marvelous development. The desire of the business men is to build up a community along staple, substantial lines. Manufacturers and wholesale distributors will find it in their interest to investigate the possibilities of Port McNicoll, and get into close relation with the business men there. Any information will be cheerfully furnished upon application to THE SECRETARY, Port McNicoll Board of Trade.

Rest Home, a nature study.

The "Otonabee," which makes daily trips to Lake Simcoe and Kempfenfeldt Bay.

TO VISIT Lake Simcoe once, is to develop a longing to live there every summer of one's life. None of the famous lake districts of the continent has so much to commend it in the way of natural beauty and every facility for outdoor recreation combined with convenience of location and access. Lake Simcoe is about 40 miles long and about 20 miles at its greatest width. On the banks of Lake Simcoe and Kempfenfeldt Bay are located the beautiful estates of Simcoe Heights, Cedar Harbor, Sandy Cove, Crescent Harbor, Maple Grove, Bear Point, Bayview, Quinlan Park, Ross Grove, Rest Home, etc., within easy motoring distance of Barrie, Orillia and Toronto, and just across from Roache's Point and Jackson's Point. Local telephones connecting with the Bell Long Distance System and efficient daily mail delivery service put this secluded district in touch with all the world.

Lake Simcoe is two hours from Toronto by three steam railroads and by the proposed T. B. & O. Electric Line can be reached from Buffalo in six hours, New York in fourteen hours, Chicago eighteen hours and Montreal twelve hours. This makes it an ideal summering district and convenient for families. Supplies and camping outfits can be shipped easily and quickly.

Nowhere in Canada can better bass and trout fishing be found. Yachting, rowing and canoeing are probably more indulged in on Lake Simcoe than any other of the Northern Lakes. Annual regattas are held at different points by the Lake Simcoe Association and are attended by the whole summer district. The bathing at all points is excellent and conditions of water and beach ideal.

Up to the present time it has been difficult to secure an estate or enough land for a summer home in this locality, because there was none suitably developed offered for sale. The Kempfenfeldt Land Company, Limited, have succeeded in securing large holdings on the western shore of this charming lake and are now in a position to sell these beauty spots in acreage or subdivided lots. Single lots range in price from $50 up, while several beautiful tracts of five acres, twenty-five, fifty-seven, sixty-four, ninety-four acres and so on, can be secured by those wishing to purchase jointly or for those desirous of establishing a summer estate on Lake Simcoe.

This company controls the choicest summer resort subdivisions on the lake. These properties afford an excellent opportunity for the man who wants to make a small investment and build a modern summer home or for the man who wishes to invest more largely. If you have been contemplating a summer home somewhere—you would do well to talk it over with M. S. Boehm & Co., who are thoroughly conversant with values and the attractive locations on Lake Simcoe.

The following cottage owners have already located on the South Shore of Kempfenfeldt Bay and Lake Simcoe.

"THE GREY HAWK"

NEXT WEEK—THE PLAY YOU KNOW AND WANT TO SEE AGAIN "THE THIRD DEGREE" WITH A METROPOLITAN CAST AND NEW YORK PRODUCTION—NEXT WEEK

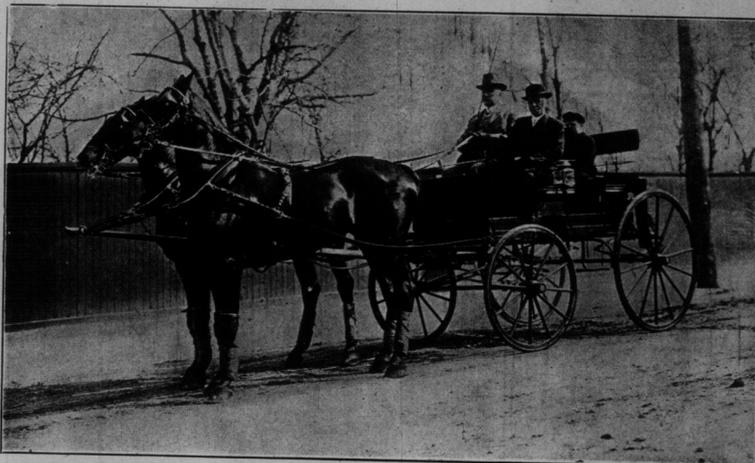

THE BEAUTIFUL RESIDENCE OF MR. WM. LONG, 25 HIGH PARK GARDENS.

"THE GREY HAWK."

"The Grey Hawk," Edward E. Rose's latest and strongest drama, based upon a plot which during its unfolding portrays the conditions which exist where bossism and corrupt politicians control the state offices. The chief character, Paul Standish, characterized by Albert Phillips, is a candidate for the office of governor of the state, running on the independent ticket with ideals to cleanse the state of a ring of grafters. Miss Leila Shaw will give the characterization of the title role, "The Grey Hawk," an international spy, a great friend of Paul Standish, who thru her cleverness and sense of intuition is enabled to detect the plans of the bosses in their attempts to scandalize and blackmail Standish, and thus prevent his election. There are many sensational and thrilling scenes, entwined with two very pretty love stories with satisfactory endings. The closing scene brings about Standish's success at the polls and the routing of the grafters. The patrons of the Grand will no doubt be pleased to hear of the coming engagement of Phillips-Shaw, and nothing can be said to add to their present popularity. Edward E. Rose, conceded as one of the foremost authors and play-wrights of the present day is also well known to local theatre-goers for the many successes that he has given to the lovers of drama during the last few seasons, viz:—"The Prisoner of Zenda," "The Rosary," "Eben Holden," "Rock of Ages," and "The Adventures of Lady Ursula." So that the announcement of his new and latest play should appeal strongly to those who love all that is pure, true and noble.

USES MOTORCYCLE TO DRIVE NEWSPAPER PRESS.

A motorcycle played an important part in furnishing power for the printing of a newspaper in Elgin, Ill., when a sleet storm threw the electric-power service of that city out of commission. The motorcycle was first harnessed up to a trimmer, shaver and router for the finishing of the plates. Then the motorcycle, along with a small portable gas engine, was belted to the shaft of the big press. The combined power grunted and chug-chugged, giving off much smoke, but turned out 100 eight-page papers per minute, which was about half the speed the press usually makes.
