

ARCHITECT WAS FIRE BUG

Bullard Also Member of New Bedford Fire Department—He Confesses

New Bedford, Aug. 31.—Egbert G. Bullard, a local architect, and a member of No. 5 Engine Company, was arrested by the local police, charged with arson in seven counts. He confessed to having set these fires, but the police are convinced that he is responsible for many other fires that have occurred in this city in the last few years.

One night recently there were two fires, the first at 12.30 a. m. in the Harrington School and the second at 4.30 in William A. Carroll's carriage factory. Both buildings are located in the West End of the city, about a quarter of a mile apart. Bullard confessed to setting the fire in the school, which he entered by an east window of a class room. With one match, he said, he started a fire in a storeroom which resulted in about $1,000 damage to books, desks and the building.

He was not seen at the building during the fire with the fire company which he is a member. He denied having anything to do with the Carroll carriage factory fire, where the firemen had a difficult task, as the structure, a three-story frame building occupying an isolated block, was a raging furnace when they arrived.

Bullard was trailed by the police until midnight, when they lost sight of him. Within thirty minutes the fire bells summoned the firemen to the Harrington School. About 9 p. m. Lieut. McLeod of the Police Department met Bullard and advised Bullard to take his automobile and go home, saw him headed that way. He reported the facts to headquarters and Sgt. Sherman on a motor cycle and Patrolman Seaville in the police touring car, located him at a local hotel. He waited for him to leave until 11 p. m. and followed his machine about the town for an hour, when another automobile got between his machine and the police motors and sight of him was lost.

The West End was searched for his automobile and Sgt. Sherman passed the Harrington School within twenty minutes of the time of the alarm but saw no machine near the building. When the alarm for the carriage factory fire was rung, the police found Bullard's machine standing in front of his house, with the engine still warm. His wife, who responded when a messenger was sent to the house, said she tried to call her husband to telephone a fireman to the alarm, but that she could not wake him.

He was taken in custody by Inspector Sylvia, and after a long talk with the inspector he confessed to setting seven fires. The first, he said, was at the Savoy Theatre Building, which was set in an alleyway outside the building and was a trivial blaze. Another was in the Winslow building, which was altered when Union street was widened, and he was the architect in charge of the work. This was set in the attic, where there were papers found for kindling and where he found the back entrance of the building open.

He said he set the fire at the Central Lumber Yard a few months ago, although he denied that this was accidental. At E. B. McLeod's building directly across from the Parker House, he went upstairs to a toilet room and dropped a match, and in Everett B. Sherman's building, in the very centre of the city, he set another fire in a similar manner.

About a week ago there was a fire in the New Odd Fellows hall, which he confessed to this. There he opened the door with a jackknife, went to the upper loft and struck a match. This building was formerly a church, and the bell tower was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived.

ALL NEGROES BARRED IN GEORGIA COUNTY

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 31.—As a result of trouble in Forsyth County and the neighboring territory between whites and blacks all negroes have been barred from entering the county.

This was brought out clearly today by the experience of Hudson Moore, one of the most prominent Atlantans, who went to Cumming on legal business and took along with him a negro nurse and negro chauffeur. While he was in the courthouse he heard a noise outside, and rushing out he found a crowd of several hundred gathered around the two negroes threatening them with dire vengeance if they did not leave the county at once.

The trouble dates back to the murder of a white girl and the lynching of two negroes and the legal hanging of another, while troops were on guard to prevent mob interference.

Further plans for the big patriotic auction which is to be held in St. John, N. B., are discussed yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the I. O. E. E., the Rotary Club, who are in charge of the arrangements. On account of his experience in exhibition work and similar matters, Horace A. Porter was asked to act as general manager for the affair, and the committee has been elected with the intention of making the auction an unequalled success.

SHE'S MARRIED NOW. "Dear Old 'Boss' of Mine—Good Morning, Mr. Smith, will you please call up Mr. Jones. He called just a few minutes ago and is very anxious to talk to you."

"You see I am trying to jolly myself along this morning. For four long months now I have been away from the office, and thousands of miles away, too. Married, and happy—yes—but now and then the awful longing for the office. How I would love to hurry in and out of there again; a pleasant lunch with the girls at noon, and back to my typewriter to transcribe lots of letters, copy a trial balance, or any of my numerous little duties to be performed before five o'clock. Then my 5.15 train and home to mother and the rest. I realize now how I loved it, and now I am out of it hopelessly, for if I should go back it would never be the same. Those days are gone never to return."

"Does my desk still stand in the same place by the window and does the new girl take good care of my dear old friend typewriter? Does she keep your desk neat and orderly and, hesitatingly, I ask, do you like her work as much as you did mine?"

"To all these questions I will have no reply, for I will never mail this to you, dear old 'boss' of mine, but it has relieved a little of my longing to write this."

"Farewell to the happiest days of all—the days at the office."

"Your now married stenographer," "J. N."

THE WAR NEWS

Last night's cables express the hope that the autumn storms will check the German advance in the east. Let us hope we shall presently arrive at a condition of affairs when the weather will not have to win our victories for us.

On the western front there is no change. Whatever the British and French may have been preparing to do in the matter of an advance movement still remains undone.

The military correspondent of the London Times very sharply criticizes the British conduct of the war from the beginning. The miners' strike has caused much uneasiness in England. There is said to be a split in the cabinet on the question of conscription.

The most careful reading of the news does not lead to encouragement to the hope for speedy success by the Allies. It is to be a long, hard and costly struggle with another winter in the trenches. The winter will force the Allies time to mobilize their men and materials, and prepare for the campaign of next spring and summer. There is still no satisfactory news from the Balkans, and operations in the Dardanelles have not yet produced anything like the desired result. The wearing down process must be depended on all along the line, and the assurance of final victory lies in the ability of the Allies to keep up the pressure the longest, because of their great superiority in men and resources upon which to draw continually until the enemy is overwhelmed.

THE FEDERAL ELECTIONS

The Standard intimates this morning that when Sir Robert Borden returns the government will make a proposition to Sir Wilfrid Laurier relative to the political situation and the elections. All that Sir Robert needs to do is to announce that there will be no elections till after the war. If the elections are held before the war is over, the people will understand that the government is afraid to wait, and regards its own safety as of greater importance than the safety of the Empire. Its term does not expire for more than a year, and there is no need of discussing the matter at all, but for the fear of the government that the longer it waits the worse its defeat will be. Sir Wilfrid Laurier made a fair and statesmanlike proposal to Sir Robert Borden, but the latter has not replied, either one way or the other. If he or the Standard thinks that the government can jockey the Liberals into giving it an extended lease of power after the war is over, without an appeal to the people, they are greatly mistaken. Canada's present duty is to prosecute the war, with the least possible partisan discussion. After the war the people will want an opportunity to express their views on certain matters of home government which have been brought to their attention by Royal Commissions and in other ways. The Standard appears to think that the fate of Canada depends upon the continuance of the Borden government in power. That view is not shared by the majority of the people. An arrangement satisfactory to both political parties should be made, however, along the lines suggested by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and it is up to Sir Robert Borden, if he is a patriotic statesman, to take the initiative.

LAST WEEK'S CONVENTION

The convention of the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities last week was notable for the attention given to subjects relating to social welfare. The Union declared itself in favor of schools for industrial training, and of evening schools for technical workers. Prof. Sexton's address on this subject was a fitting introduction to the discussion, and the example of Nova Scotia is an inspiration to New Brunswick. Dr. Melvin's recommendations, that the province be divided into a relatively small number of health districts, with a health officer for each, and a provincial health officer at the head, with proper provision for an accurate registration of vital statistics and a co-ordination of public health work in all parts of the province appealed so strongly to the Union that the matter was referred to a special committee, from which we may expect a comprehensive and valuable report at next year's convention, even if no more definite action should be taken in the meantime. The existing conditions in regard to public health matters, and especially the registration of vital statistics, are not creditable to the province, which is far behind other provinces in this respect.

Dr. Mullin's paper on medical inspection in the schools might well have been followed by a resolution of the Union strongly urging the universal adoption of the system, but there was not time for full discussion, and it may have been felt that a further campaign of education is needed before a satisfactory response can be hoped for. When the people realize how greatly even small physical defects, which could easily be remedied when taken in time, interfere with the mental development and training of children, they will not merely assent to but insist upon medical inspection, which is also of the greatest value in preventing the spread of communicable diseases through the medium of the schools. The Union adopted resolutions favoring the appointment of a provincial superintendent of neglected and dependent children, as necessary in connection with the administration of the Children's Protection Act. They have such an officer in Nova Scotia, and his annual report is a human document of absorbing interest. They have had such an official in Ontario for many years, and the name of Mr. J. J. Kelso is known from one end of Canada to the other. They have also in Ontario a department which has the care of feeble-minded children. Nova Scotia is likely soon to have proper provision for the care of these unfortunate, who, if not cared for, will certainly increase the burdens laid upon the community at large.

The Union also endorsed the industrial or prison farm for that class of adult delinquents which crowds the jails, and which, evading actual arrest, should, in the public interest, and the interest of the families concerned, be compelled to mend its ways or go to the industrial farm. In connection with the treatment of delinquents, not guilty of serious crimes, the Union also expressed approval of the indeterminate sentence, which holds the penalty over the head of the culprit and places a continuous premium on good conduct.

All these matters concern the welfare of the municipality, and are proper subjects of discussion along with those relating to roads, taxes, water supply, fire protection, sanitation and others which generally take up most of the time at such conventions as that of last week in Fredericton. Some members complained there were too many papers, but the truth was that the hospitable people of Fredericton provided too many pleasant excursions for the limited time at the disposal of the Union.

The Italians continue to make steady if slow progress against the Austrians. Today's cables tell of important successes.

In American parlance "the con has come down." Germany is reported to be ready to punish the submarine commander who sank the Arabic. Hereafter the submarines will do less damage, for they will be afraid of hitting the wrong ship. But what of the Lusitania? President Wilson will surely have a deliverance from Germany relative to that crime also.

How far-flung is St. John's participation in the war is instanced in letters to Commissioner H. R. McLellan from his son, who is with the British fighting force in Africa. Two very interesting letters from him, published today, give an insight into the nature of the combat there. St. John friends will regret, with himself, that he is temporarily off the firing line, and will hope for his speedy restoration to full strength.

Commissioner Chandler declines to investigate charges concerning the patriotic potatoes and intimates that he is about to retire from the office of commissioner. Who will take his place? Will the government appoint another commissioner or refuse to permit an investigation? The correspondence between Mr. E. S. Carter and Commissioner Chandler, published today, makes interesting reading.

The recruiting campaign is the most important matter at present engaging attention in this city and province. New Brunswick, which should have filled the ranks of the 84th Battalion, is making but a small contribution, while the ranks of the 85th are still unfilled. Moreover, we are told that another 40,000 to 50,000 men must be mobilized in Canada and this province must do its share. Every citizen should lend hearty support to the general committee in its work.

RED CROSS NOTES

The International committee of the Red Cross at Geneva publishes an order issued from the German War Office with reference to the correspondence of prisoners of war interned in Germany. Prisoners are to be allowed to write two letters a month, not exceeding four pages and six pages of ordinary size in the case of soldiers and officers respectively. In addition one post card a week is allowed. Exceptions to the rule are permitted in the case of family affairs or urgent private business. Prisoners are required to impress on their families the desirability of not writing too often, of restricting the length of their letters, and of writing clearly and legibly. Inquiries with regard to wounded or missing Canadian soldiers should be addressed to the information department, Canadian Red Cross Society, Cockspur Street, London. This work is being done in connection with the Canadian Record Office. The importance of this department can hardly be exaggerated. It also attempts as far as is possible to identify the graves of Canadians who have been buried in France. An interesting "War Exhibition" is being conducted by the Red Cross in London. The upper part of the walls of the hall has been covered with small physical defects, which could easily be remedied when taken in time, interfere with the mental development and training of children, they will not merely assent to but insist upon medical inspection, which is also of the greatest value

Not His Fault. His father (answering a request for further funds)—"Why, when I was your age I didn't have as much money to spend in a month as you have in a week."

"Gertrude," asked the teacher, "what were the causes of the Revolutionary War?" "I had something to do with automobiles, but I did not understand just what," answered Gertrude.

"No, no," said the teacher, "that was before the day of automobiles." "Well, it was said it was on account of unjust taxes," said Gertrude, brimful of indignation.

"The evening was on," continued the man who was telling the story. "Excuse me," interrupted the would-be wit, "but you tell us what the evening wore on that occasion?" "I don't know that it is important," replied the story-teller. "But if you must know, I believe it was the close of a summer day."

"Uncle Joe" Cannon has a way of speaking his mind that is sometimes embarrassing to others. On one occasion an inexperienced young fellow was called upon to make a speech at a banquet at which ex-Speaker Cannon was also present.

"Gentlemen," began the young fellow, "my opinion is that the generalities of mankind in general is disposed to take advantage of the generalities of..." "Sit down, son," interrupted "Uncle Joe." "You are coming out of the same hole you went in at!"

First bomb dropped on Southern may be seen. Some small pictures saved from Termonde, the painters of which are now in German prisons, have been gathered together, and near them have been displayed German proclamations issued in Flanders and Belgium during the war "news" officially placarded there.

A feature of the exhibition is a miniature munition factory, the serial section includes relics of machines with interesting associations attaching to them—part of the machine, for instance, piloted by the first English officer who lost his life on service, Lieutenant Cameron.

A Poor Advertisement

The Germanic assumption to all the virtues in a superlative degree is as amusing as the bombastic wording of certain advertisers or the frothy outpourings of cheap political spellbinders.

Yet were we simply to say that we are showing a complete line of Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Diamonds and other Precious Stones that we are Opticians, Watch and Jewelry Repairers, that we have a very fine selection of Sterling Silver, Electro Plate and Cut Glass, while it would be all within the truth, it would be a poorly written ad.

HAS HAD ENOUGH OF INQUIRIES. Mr. Chandler Finds He Has No More Time

REFUSAL TO INVESTIGATE. Correspondence Between Commissioner and E. S. Carter—Serious Charges Repeated

At the last session of Royal Commissioner Chandler's court of inquiry E. S. Carter, the opposition organizer, laid certain facts with respect to the purchase of the patriotic potatoes and the expenditure of $150,000 before him and said that he would make the charges formally before his next meeting.

A few days later he was notified by the commissioner that he would be unable to investigate this matter because of other business engagements. Mr. Carter's reply and Mr. Chandler's letter place the matter fairly before the public.

One fact must, however, stand out plainly, Mr. Chandler is retiring from the business of investigation. Under these circumstances I shall not be able to take up any new matters for investigation and therefore cannot do anything with respect to the matter which you lately called my attention.

Yours truly, W. B. CHANDLER. Mr. Carter's Reply. Fair Vale, Kings Co., N. B., August 28, 1915. Mr. W. B. Chandler, Esq., K. C., Royal Commissioner, Moncton, N. B.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 26th inst. and to note the reasons you give why you will be unable to investigate the expenditure of about $150,000 given to the purchase of patriotic potatoes, to which your attention at the last session of your court.

I am much surprised and disappointed for your acceptance of the appointment of royal commissioner led me to believe that you would continue the work which was completed. I have asked you to investigate serious charges and you have only consented to inquire into one of them—the Dalhousie Lumber Company stamp payment—and even that you at first refused.

One charge that the former superintendent of scolders was bribed by luminous lenses by the government to sell liquor was asked or compelled to pay large sums of money by close friends of the government, while legislation affecting their interests was under consideration, you refused to consider, and this charge—most important of all—that the large sum of $150,000 given to use Governor Wood's own words, "as a token of the loyalty of the people of this province to the motherland," was improperly expended and largely wasted and directed for the profit of men friendly to the government, say you will not be able to take up because of other engagements.

Some say they sold at loss. New Phase in Horse Inquiry in Nova Scotia—Others Made Profit on Aged Animals

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 30.—At the afternoon session of the Royal Commission evidence was given by several witnesses, including Wm. Robinson, who had sold four of the soundest horses that ever walked on iron to the government for $400.

Mr. Thompson stated that he gave Gough $200 for a horse which he had heard some talk. Mr. Thompson said that seventy horses were purchased here.

Witness said he was afraid it had been destroyed, and Mr. Thompson testified Gough to bring his brother's cash books to court.

Mr. Robinson testified that he had sold a horse to the government for $100, and that he had sold another for $150, and that he had sold a third for $200, and that he had sold a fourth for $300.

Common Council Will Be Asked to Provide $1,000 For Expenses—The Need of More Men Frankly Told.

The first round was fired in the new recruiting campaign to be conducted in the city last night when a meeting of the general committee having the matter in hand, was held with a good attendance.

The chairman, Mayor Frank Sturges, chairman of the committee, outlined the campaign as carried on so successfully at Halifax. He said that out of the citizens' committee of about twenty an executive committee of three was selected.

MORNING WAR SUMMARY

London, Aug. 30, 9:50 p. m.—While the reports from the eastern war theatre, embracing the region from Courland to Southeastern Galicia, indicate that the Germans and Austrians are still pressing the Russians hard in combat, or tenaciously following them in retreat, military observers here are hoping that the approaching equinoctial season will limit the further forward movement of the Teutons, and force them to content with the fruits of their past successes as the winter season falls upon them.

Both Berlin and Vienna lay emphasis on the statement that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's forces along the Dvina river, in Courland, have renewed their activities, which were brought to a sudden halt recently with the success of the Russians in holding Riga as a menace to Von Hindenburg's rear. In Southwestern Russia, in the Best-Litovsk region, the Austrians and Germans are chiefly concerned in driving Grand Duke Nicholas' armies further into the Priepet marshes evidently with the purpose of repeating the early success of the Germans in the Mazurian Lake region of East Prussia.

To the northwest, in the sector lying only a short distance to the east of the East Prussian frontier, Berlin reports an advance of the Teutons and the capture of the town of Lipsk, lying just to the west of the fortress of Grodno, upon which the aims of the Germans now are evidently centered.

WILL HISTORY REPEAT ITSELF?

With the opening of the autumn months the military observers are directing attention to the fact that the Russian equinoctial storms are soon due to begin. They assert that they are the danger limit to military operations in the eastern field. It is recalled by some of these observers that the autumnal equinox marked the turning point in the Napoleonic campaign. The first warning was a light snowfall, preceding the equinox, but soon afterwards heavy snows fell and with them came disaster to Napoleon.

Desperate fighting continues in the Dardanelles, in the vicinity of the spot where the British recently made their landing. The Turkish reports claim the capture by the Ottoman forces of allied trenches with heavy allied casualties. These claims, however, have not been conceded by Great Britain.

The military operations in the western field have been confined to trench fighting. On the Austro-Italian frontier the Italians claim that their forces are slowly advancing northward.

DUMA TO SEND FIVE TO RUSSIAN CABINET

London, Aug. 31, 3:30 a. m.—The engagement of the Russian cabinet by ten members, five of them to be chosen from the Duma and five from the council of the empire, has been tentatively agreed in as a means of making the government more truly representative of the people, according to the Daily Telegraph, Petrograd correspondent.

NEW PLANS TO GET CARS ACROSS

Should Be Running Over Bridge From West Side to C. P. R. Crossing by October 1

(Daily Telegraph)

An inspection of the western approach to the new bridge at the falls was made by Attorney-General J. R. M. Baxter, Manager H. M. Hopper, of the St. John street railway; Provincial Engineer Wetmore and G. G. Murdoch, county engineer, yesterday afternoon, in the matter of facilitating the completion of a through service between the east and west sides of the city.

It was found that the line at the western approach could be extended to the new bridge by cutting away a corner of the southern anchorage of the Suspension bridge at that side. The removal of the corner, it was decided, will not affect the cables which are attached to the anchors there.

This, if carried out, will mean that the cars can cross the new bridge and come as far as the C. P. R. tracks at the end of Douglas avenue. The crossing of the C. P. R. tracks is also being arranged.

"Work will be done right away in the laying out of a bridge service," said Dr. Baxter last night.

"Railway officials said today that the southern line from west to east up to the C. P. R. tracks would be in operation on October 1 and that the line across the C. P. R. would be linked as soon as the question of the diamond at the railway tracks was decided.

Engineers representing the provincial government and the railway company will settle the position of the lines today. Manager Hopper, of the street railway, said yesterday that the curved rails for the approaches will be on hand within a fortnight.

The papers having to do with the diamond crossing are expected this week from C. P. R. headquarters at Montreal and the information will be forwarded to the railway commission for approval as soon as possible.

Suspension Bridge Removal. The announcement was made last night at Fredericton that Joseph McVey & Son had been awarded the contract for removing the old Suspension bridge. The McVey tender is said to be $2,800. The work of removing the wooden structure must be finished on Nov. 1.

Messrs. McVey are the contractors who created the approaches to the new bridge and they are now engaged in supplying granite for the new Moncton bridge.

That the contract for the removal of the Suspension bridge has been let will be learned with satisfaction by the large number of residents in the city and county who are interested and concerned in the matter of a rapid transit connection over the new steel structure at the falls.

THREE CONFIDENCE MEN SECURE $140 Boston, Aug. 30.—Three confidence men obtained $140 from Andrew Modrycki, 22 Desmond st., Roxbury, by pretending to furnish him with a job as manager of a South End hotel. The men traveled about the city in an automobile and its number was obtained by the police. Three times during the night the police held up the automobile, but the confidence men were not in it. The chauffeur explained that they hired him for the job and then left without giving him any idea as to their identity.

The police have learned that the confidence men called at the victim's home and told him about the job they had for him and then induced him to meet them at the hotel where he was introduced to two men who posed as the owners of the hotel. They told the victim that he must deposit $140 as security for his honesty.

They then got into a taxicab and went with Modrycki to the Five Cent Savings Bank where the victim drew the money from the bank. In the street the money was passed to the confidence men and then all drove back to the hotel. Modrycki, was then told he was in charge of the hotel. He hung up his hat and started in to boss the employes but about that time the real owner appeared and ordered him into the street. The three confidence men, however had made their escape with the money before this happened.

The victim then told his story to the wince at the East Dedham street station

HIS ENVY IS FOR THE MAN WHO VOLUNTEERS

Mr. Adams Points Out What The Stay-at-Homes Miss — Town Planning For Belgium

A new conception of the sacrifice involved in the war was given the members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon at Bond's yesterday, by Thomas D. Adams, the town planning expert. Instead of it being the man who went to the front who made the real sacrifice, he thought it was the man who refused to enlist, and had won distinction and honor in the war. He told in touching words of the man who, as told already in The Telegraph, had been released from prison to enlist, and had won distinction and honor. This man, he said, is not making a sacrifice at the front and if his name should be on the roll of honor it will bring tears of joy not of sorrow to his mother's eyes.

Passing on, Mr. Adams referred to the relation of town planning to the war, especially in regard to the rehabilitation of Belgium. He said that the Commission of Conservation of Canada was being copied by a similar body proposed for Belgium, but there would also be a committee of restoration.

Mr. Adams thought that town planning had already had the effect of sending to the war a better and healthier body of men who had been brought up through better housing brought about by the local government board in Great Britain. He spoke also of the German methods of town planning, and said they would only need to copy German strength, for while Germany placed great stress on the intellectual quality of her people she missed the humanitarian aspect of life and it was notorious that she had failed to originate anything of value, and was the copyist of other nations.

Captain H. H. Smith, a former resident of the city, who has served at the front, who was present, was greeted with ringing cheers, but spoke only briefly. Major Weyman spoke of the life of the 55th battalion at Valenciennes, and said that they expected to be called across the ocean in about a month. They would want more men even if the 250 men of the second draft were retained as appeared likely now that the battalion was taken, however, they would have to make up the number. Already more recruits were coming in since it had been announced that the battalion was about to sail.

Mayor Frink also spoke, bringing to the club the greetings of the city. He spoke of the importance of town planning in the community life.

THIS DUTY IS EVERY ONE'S

If we cannot always so control our moods as to be really happy, we can at least appear cheerful. This is a duty we owe ourselves and society. It is a sin to go about radiating mental poison, the poison of discouragement, of gloom, the poison of worry and anxiety. It is weak to go about the world wearing mourning in our expression. It is a sin to peddle this gloom, and dependency. We owe it to the world and to ourselves to scatter sunshine, to appear at our best and not at our worst.

RESCUERS TELL OF DROWNING

Question Whether Birmingham Boy Could Have Been Saved is Raised at Inquest—Value of Pulmotor

The incidents of the sad drowning of George Albert Birmingham at Courtenay Bay last Friday were reviewed last night at the inquest being conducted by Governor W. F. Roberts, M. D. The coroner commended very highly the heroic action of Leo Holland, James O. Nixon and Fred McCann, who attempted a rescue, and said that they were just as deserving of public praise as men who made sacrifices and risked their lives in the war.

Each of the witnesses who testified believed that something more could have been done if the means had been at hand. There was no boat near and no life belt. Dr. D. C. Malcolm, of the hospital, was asked by the coroner regarding the value of the service of a pulmotor. He replied that, while in this particular instance it would have proved futile, he had no doubt it would be of much value in similar cases.

With reference to the drowning it would seem from all the evidence that young Birmingham was in the water some time before assistance arrived. Leo Holland said that, when he arrived, he plunged into the water as soon as the boy was pointed out to him. When he arrived there Fred, McCann and James Nixon were with the boy. He was apparently unconscious and the men were having difficulty in sustaining his weight. Holland relieved them of the burden and swam about ten strokes in the direction of the shore when he sank.

When he came to the surface he asked Nixon to help him, as he was "all in." Nixon then took hold and started for shore, and Holland accompanied him, lifting and pushing the burden from time to time. Several times, Holland said, he shouted for help, but no one came out to assist him. McCann, he said, was fatigued.

When near the shore, Holland continued, Norman Lightford came out and met them. He helped to bring the boy to shore. Nixon and Lightford on the stand practically repeated the same story.

Dr. Malcolm told of the treatment that was administered at the hospital. He said that warm blankets and hot water bottles were placed about the body and for nearly an hour the physicians worked over him in an effort to restore respiration. He said that Dr. J. M. Barry and Dr. J. T. Dunlop, who were at the shore when the boy was brought in, felt that life was extinct then, but nevertheless, they worked over him. On the way to the hospital, Dr. Dunlop continued the effort. Several doctors at the hospital pronounced that the heart had ceased to beat long before attempts at resuscitation were given up.

Mrs. Harry Bartlett and John V. Holland also testified. The latter felt that something more could have been done, and believed that others on shore should have responded to calls for help. He has a witness to the rescue in which his son figured prominently. He thought at one time that the man—who proved to be his son—was going down. He was thrilled, but not for hours afterward did he know who this man really was. The inquiry is being continued this evening at the court house.

but because the money transaction—the passing of the $140—took place downtown he was sent to the Court square station where the investigation was begun.

Chalmers Six-40 $1850 Duty Paid. First Quality Car at $1850. 40-Horsepower, 7-Passenger Touring Car, Weight 3075 lbs. Valve-in-Head Motor with Overhead Camshaft

The battle of the giants is on. It is a battle royal for the supremacy of the medium priced motor car field. It is the battle of that type of motor which smashed all speed and endurance records at Indianapolis and Chicago—against old style motors. It is the battle of the principles of construction that went 90 miles an hour, for 500 miles at Indianapolis, and 100 miles an hour for 600 miles at Chicago—against out-dated principles of motor construction. It is the battle of the manufacturer against the middleman, the producer against the assembler, of buying for cash, against buying on time, of new efficiency in methods of manufacture and administration against inexperienced methods. It is the battle of Quality and lower profits against higher profits and lack of quality.

New Motor—New Car—New Price—New Service to Owners. Increased Factory Facilities—Greatly Increased Production for 1916

TWO years ago we saw three things. First was that the tendency of the public demand in both Europe and America was to a compact high speed motor that was more efficient, would get away quicker, run more smoothly, have greater flexibility, show greater economy and last longer under hard service. Second was that a public temporarily diverted to cars that only looked well and rode nicely for a while, would swing back to demand quality manufacture and the ability to "stay put." Third was that only those manufacturers who built their own cars in large volume and bought their own materials for spot cash at the advantage of the market could survive.

Motor Designed in Europe. So we sent our engineers to Europe to design a new motor and began to lay our plans for a greatly increased production this season.

We are now building two big new factory additions to handle the work. We added machines that cost $90,000.00 apiece to do work in our factory in order to give this remarkable quality car to you at $1850. Here is the result. No one dreamed that such a car could be built for $1850. It is equal to cars that sold for $4000 three years ago. It isn't a made-over model, reduced in size, or certain things eliminated to fit the price—it is a brand new car, designed specially as a Quality car at a low price.

The Quality Car at Small Profit. We are marketing this QUALITY car on the lowest profit per cent in the motor car business.

ST. JOHN SOLDIER IS FIGHTING IN LAND OF BLACKS

The attack, or rather the landing, was made in the early hours of June 23, (I need not write the first bill and establish our guns in a commanding position. The fire also from our ships was very effective, and the heavy artillery of the enemy, for the time being, was silenced.

We took up our formation on Karwai Hill and for ten minutes or so had a breathing spell and rest. Then the order for advance came and taking every advantage of cover, we went on. At 9 p.m. the fighting was at its fiercest, the heavy artillery of the enemy having again opened fire and sending its big shells whistling around us.

At 12:30 a.m. June 23, the enemy retreated to the townsite and we were in complete command of the surrounding hills. Posting our pickets, etc., we were allowed to sleep and we surely needed it.

The troops on board included the 8th Battalion, which is classed as a Toronto unit. Members of this battalion were in the command of the surrounding hills.

At 12:30 a.m. June 23, the enemy retreated to the townsite and we were in complete command of the surrounding hills. Posting our pickets, etc., we were allowed to sleep and we surely needed it.

A Newer, Better Buttermilk Fresh-Clean-Safe

Few there are who seem to realize that Buttermilk is not only delightfully cooling and refreshing, but healthful and nourishing as well, forming an ideal beverage at any season.

To have any idea, though, how really delicious Buttermilk can be, just try a quart of PRIMECREST SPECIAL BUTTERMILK and you'll find at once that it is quite different from any you've ever known.

The distinctive flavor is due to the fact that the milk, which is strictly fresh, is separated, clarified, pasteurized, then the butter is made from the rich, sweet cream.

COBURG STREET PROPERTY MATTER IN POLICE COURT

Commissioner Potts and J. S. MacLaren interested but not in agreement.

An interesting case was under discussion in the police court this morning. It arose over a charge made by Commissioner Potts against J. S. MacLaren for tearing up a portion of the sidewalk in Coburg street without obtaining permission.

Fred R. Taylor appeared on behalf of Mr. MacLaren and explained that there was an old fence torn down on the property owned by Mr. MacLaren in Coburg street, and before a new one had been erected Engineer G. B. Murdoch had been consulted and lines were marked out. Later, he said, his client interviewed City Engineer Murdoch and he acknowledged that the lines were correct, but that Commissioner Potts claimed the property for the city by possession.

Commissioner Potts said that the defendant had torn up the sidewalk in Coburg street and erected a fence across it for about seven feet. He said the public had been using the sidewalk for the last thirty years and he considered the property the city's through possession. He said it was only a corner of a lot and he did not consider it of much value.

Mr. Taylor said his client had no desire to inconvenience the public and was quite willing that the piece of ground be retained as a sidewalk, but he wanted his rights established.

Commissioner Potts considered that the case to be dealt with was for tearing up the city's sidewalk; so far as the owner of the property was concerned he considered that it belonged to another court. He said that he would consult the attorney-general regarding the matter. He was of the opinion that the piece of ground had been given to the city by a former owner.

Magistrate Ritchie said he was quite willing that the case go on and asked the commissioner to call his witnesses. He said if the defendant was found guilty he would strike a fine. He considered that the defendant had given a good explanation, when he had been told by the city's engineers that the lines marked by another engineer were correct, but that the commissioner was claiming the ground by possession. He said it was a new thing for the king of a corporation to claim property by possession. He was quite willing that the case go right on or he would fix a time convenient for all parties concerned. The commissioner said he thought it strange if people could do what they liked to city property. He would consult the attorney-general before he decided what he would do about the matter.

SOLDIERS' COMFORTS

The Soldiers' Comforts Association will meet in Centenary Church parlors at half past three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Arnold of the Canadian Soldiers' Comforts Association will address a public meeting in St. John's (Stone) church at eight o'clock on Wednesday evening. Members of out of town circles of the association are asked to attend the meeting and hear Miss Arnold.

DR. SIMON REPORTED ILL

Reference in Letter From Lieut. W. J. Brown—Heavy Work Preparatory to Movement to Front

Writing from Dilgate Camp, Aug. 17, Lieut. W. J. Brown said he was still without a single letter from home, and had not yet got his trunk, which went over with him on the Hesperian. The mail service appears to be very poor, as there are many complaints. In the course of his letter, Lieut. Brown says: "I understand that Dr. William Simon, veterinary with the Army Service Corps, is ill with pneumonia. Charlie Knowlton was over to see me the other night. He is well and was going the next day to take a machine gun course at Ross Barracks. The Cycle Corps struck tents today. They did not know of it yesterday, so you see we get short notices here."

There was another raid on the east coast the other day. A number of people are said to have been killed. The newspapers only said: "An air raid took place on the coast." Last night a north coast village was shelled by German submarines. You should see the airships and aeroplanes rushing overhead here to-day, looking for—don't know what.

"We are getting it heavy now. Yesterday morning we were reviewed by General St. Hughes and General McDougall, and yesterday afternoon we walked a mile straight up hill and stood for an hour in the pouring rain to be reviewed by Prince Alexander of Teck. General Hughes told us we would shortly go to the front. As a matter of fact, the corps are in good shape and nobody knows whether we shall go in one month or three."

We got up at 6:30 o'clock this morning, a half hour's drill at 6, four hours from 8:30 to 12:30, and now at 1:30 until 4:30, and tonight, night work from 8 to 9. We increase the night work each night. I have seen on duty practically three days now, and had to take my troop out to the review before the new bridge this morning, and the sight of an engineer again on the ground taking measurements encouraged the pedestrians occupying the chair. It was a matter of fact, the only means of transportation during the winter.

THE BRIDGE SERVICE

The report that street railway connections over the new bridge from the western side, at least as far as the C. P. tracks, were likely to be ready by October, took precedence over every other matter among those crossing the new bridge this morning, and the sight of an engineer again on the ground taking measurements encouraged the pedestrians occupying the chair. It was a matter of fact, the only means of transportation during the winter.

LANCASTER RED CROSS

The monthly meeting of the Lancaster branch of the Red Cross Society was held last evening in the Provincial Hospital, Mrs. Cecil B. McKel, vice-president, occupying the chair. It was announced that the total receipts from the old colonial tea served by the ladies at the patriotic fair at Seaside Park, amounted to $184.75, which means that 700 persons were fed in the pavilion by workers from this energetic society.

POLICE COURT.

In the police court this morning Leslie Vickery was remanded on a charge of assaulting his wife in their home in St. Patrick street. He pleaded not guilty.

MEETING ON FRIDAY.

Members of the general committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, the Knights of Columbus, the board of trade, the Rotary Club and the Automobile Association are requested to meet at the board of trade rooms on Friday, Sept. 3, at 4 o'clock, for the purpose of arranging a campaign for augmenting the funds of the Canadian Patriotic Association.

Put Newspapers First

"Results are obtained by quality first and then the use of the daily newspapers." This is the explanation given by a large producer of a food product for the success of his brand. It is a brand known and sold by name the continent over. The man behind it has tried every kind of advertising plan there ever was, and has given up about everything except newspapers. Year after year his advertising keeps up and his sales grow. The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, will gladly give any manufacturer further information on this campaign.
