ALL AGES OUT TO SEE SPARKS' CIRCUS PARADE

Streets Lined Along Route to Watch Wonders of Big Show

GLOOMY NIGHT OF FOREBODING GOES

Sun Shines Brightly After Heavy Rain—Matinee and Night Performances

It is safe to say youthful Saint John struggled off to sleep last night with as much fearful foreboding and uncertainty as upon any Christmas Eve in its young career. Gusto rain upon the windows made it appear pretty risky for the circus today and many a child, when the sun peeped under the window blind this morning, at 9 o'clock from every section of the city children strung hand-in-hand, decked in their best hats and tuckers, sprinkled the streets in a converging procession, with King Square and vicinity as the great objective.

STREET PARADE

Mounted Policeman Harry Bettle and Motor Officer Saunders escorted the parade from the baseball grounds and the triumphal march proceeded up town via City Road, Pome Mill, Dock, Charlotte, King Square and Prince Edward streets. It was a good-looking turnout with plenty of healthy animals, magnificent horses, dancing riders, prancing monkeys and super-jassy bands, to say nothing of the calico. The hundreds of busy business men who knocked off work a while just to get the kids see "parade" from their automobiles, was as remarkable as ever. Housewives too must have arranged for cold lunches in advance.

There were many visitors in town today and thousands of people lined the streets and witnessed the parade, which fulfilled every promise made. There were gaudy tableaux wagons, ten after den of wild animals, all open to the public's view, and it was noted that there was no less than fourteen Royal Bengal tigers, said to be the finest collection in the world; there were brass bands, and Sioux Indians, and funny clowns, and pretty women mounted on thoroughbred horses. And there were the elephants and camels. The afternoon performance was given before a crowded house in the big exhibition tent located at East End Ball Park and there will no doubt be another capacity house tonight, when the show begins at 8 o'clock, with doors opening an hour earlier.

Every cage-wagon stuffed in canvas and its escort of chattering youngsters. The sidewalks were lined with parents and their families.

DESERTER IS TAKEN FROM N. ZEALAND

Man Who Left Canadian Challenger at Auckland Brought to Canada

MONTREAL, July 9.—Brought half-way across the world to face trial for desertion, Louis Duquet, of Montmorency Falls, in the police court yesterday, indignantly claimed that he could not be punished again when he had already done 14 days for the offense in Auckland, New Zealand.

The court was distinctly puzzled. A certificate from the Auckland jail showed that he had served a month in prison, but it was also stated in court that conviction on a charge of desertion there would have been impossible, as the logbook and ship's articles of the S. S. Canadian Challenger, Duquet's ship, were not available to the court when Duquet was arrested, and that under British law these constituted the only proof of desertion.

Duquet stoutly maintained that he had served his term, but Joseph Cohen, counsel for the prosecution, maintained that there was no legal proof that this was so. Sentence of time in jail, eight weeks, was therefore pronounced by Judge Cusson.

The accused desisted from the Canadian Challenger at Auckland on April 8, and was brought back on the Canadian Miller as a deportee from New Zealand.

His companion on the voyage also came before Judge Cusson on the same charge. He was Andrew Murray, of Glasgow, who admitted that he had not done time before, but argued that he had never deserted. Evidence of ship's officers proved otherwise, and on counsel asking for a stiff sentence, he was sentenced to ten weeks in jail and deportation.

Murray neglected to join his ship, the Canadian Miller, at Auckland on April 13, and she sailed without him, but gathered him in again as a British distressed seaman on her next voyage there. He again left the ship against orders and was rounded up.

Operations have been continued without cessation or interruption of any kind. The receiver and manager has been able to obtain and furnish all funds required to pay wages, provide materials and meet all other expenditures incidental to the continuance of operations.

What Crane Said On Upholstery

The Lecture on Home Decoration and Furniture arrangement given at the Chautauqua by Ross Crane was the knowledge of a man connected with no particular business house, an Artist and authority employed by cities to give free advice to the public—in turn employed by wealthy people to select and lay out their Furniture and color schemes—the Founder of the Better Homes movement in America, author of books on the subject, Architect and Interior Decorator and compiler of the course adopted by the Federated Women's Clubs of America.

He spoke of bringing the colors of draperies down into the room—way was to use the cretonne for both drapery and easy chair covering. He came in time to Mohair as an upholstery. The most beautiful fabric in existence, lustrous, color character, delightful plushness, and permanent. Its lasting economy proven by its long use in train seats."

Mohair upholstery was brought to Saint John in Chesterfields by J. Marcus, Ltd., whose exhibits have the reputation of wider choice and better quality.

RIGHT OF GARLAND OR FORKE TO SPEAK FOR PARTY SPURNED

Statements of 2 Reputated by Progressive From Alberta

LIBERALS ACCUSED OF CLOUDING ISSUE

Real Facts of Scandal in Customs Too Horrible For Public Debate

WINNIPEG, July 8.—Denial of the right of E. J. Garland (Bow River) or Robert Forke (Brandon) to speak for the Progressive group as a whole, was made in a signed statement today by W. T. Lucas, Progressive, Camrose, Alberta.

"I have read with interest the statements issued by E. J. Garland and Robert Forke. I take the position that neither of these gentlemen has any authority to speak for the Progressive group as a whole, and the statements referred to are simply explanations of members' conduct on certain interpretation of what took place during the last few days at Ottawa.

VIEW OF 5 UNEXPLAINED.

"These statements, I feel confident, do not explain the views of at least five members of the Progressive group, Mr. Garland and Mr. Forke both deny that the Progressive members have any assurance that they would support Mr. Meligan's speed up the work of the session and pass the legislation which had already reached the Senate and which was of such importance to the west.

"If no such promise was given when it may be asked, did Mr. Forke visit the Governor-General at all? Why was the memorandum prepared? Why was it passed unanimously by the Progressive group in conference? Furthermore, why did the members of the group sustain the Meligan administration on at least two divisions prior to the vote on the legislative question? I may be mistaken, but it would seem to me that the legislative question is simply a smoke screen created by the Liberal party and its defenders to conceal the real issue.

ISSUE IS SCANDAL.

"The issue before the public is undoubtedly that of the customs scandal. When the real facts are known this scandal will be disclosed as one of the worst that has ever besmirched the public life of this country. Indeed, the details are too horrible to permit of discussion from the public platform, but some means must be found to convey to the electors the truth with respect to the conditions as they existed prior to the action taken by the Hon. H. H. Stevens.

KENNEDY FRAISED.

"I have nothing but the most profound admiration for Mr. Kennedy, of Peace River, the Progressive representative on the committee of inquiry. Mr. Kennedy, knowing the facts, and for the cause of the government against the majority of his own group, although they had previously decided at caucus to support him against the King government. Just why they changed their minds is something that Mr. Forke and Mr. Garland have yet to explain."

LONDON PAPER HITS DRIVE ON LORD BYNG

Calls Governor-General's Tactics Natural and Proper

LONDON, July 8.—"The Weekly Outlook" in a review of the present legislative situation in Canada, says that Lord Byng's action in refusing Mackenzie King's resignation is natural and proper. The Outlook says that the Government "look" continues "that he should have been attacked with virulence by an anti-imperialist and military leader, who had degraded Canada to the position of a crown colony and so on. The explanation Mackenzie King demands dissolution of the House is a charge of corruption. His tactics are comprehensible, but not justifiable. To escape a personal charge he has chosen to raise a legislative issue. His idea of defending himself is to demand that the House be dissolved. His course is clearly unwise through so transparent a device. Meanwhile the situation is uncomfortable for everyone concerned."

Every Normal Girl Wants Dates and Beaux— If Father Forbids Boys the House, Daughter Will Meet Them on the Street— Wise are the Parents Who Make Home So Attractive That Their Girls Will Delight to Have Company in Its Shelter.

"MY FATHER will not let boys come to our house, so I meet them on the street and go with them to places of amusement. I hate to lie to my parents and deceive them, but what else can I do? A girl must have dates."

"My mother doesn't like the young man I am engaged to, so she has forbidden him the house, and we have to meet secretly. We aren't ready to marry yet and we would like to wait a year or two, but it is so uncomfortable hiding around corners that we have decided to elope."

There isn't a day that I don't get half a dozen letters like these, and as I read them I marvel at the criminal stupidity of parents who are depriving their daughters of the protection of a home at the very time that they need it most, and who throw them out upon the street to meet alone its dangers and temptations.

Some do wonder at the lack of intelligence that makes parents believe that they can issue a command that will change the whole trend of the times, and after a girl's entire nature—that because they forbid a girl to think about boys she will cease to take any interest in youthful sheiks and drugstore cow-boys; that because they do not wish her to go to parties and have good times that she will be content to sit at home of an evening and read improving books.

WHY, doty old King Canute, sitting in his chair on the seashore forbidding the tide to rise, was not more powerless to stay the waves than are parents able, by their command, to check the desires, the emotions, the passion for personal liberty in their children's breasts.

So, the father and mother who refuse to let their daughters have their beaux visit them in their own homes befool themselves if they think that they have thereby eliminated the boy proposition from their girls' lives, and that their daughters never see or talk or play around with young men.

On the contrary, since girls are human beings and share the natural human hankering after forbidden fruit, all that they have done is to throw a halo of romance over every commonplace youth and make meeting him in stolen rendezvous have a spice of adventure that appeals to every drop of sporting blood in them.

Therefore, the fathers and mothers of today had just as well accept the fact that every girl between 15 and 25 is more or less boy-crazy and that she is going to have beaux if she can possibly get them. She will have them decently and respectfully and innocently at home if the parents will co-operate with her. But if they don't, if they shut the door in the faces of the young men who want to come to see her, she will meet God knows who, God knows where.

COURSE, parents justify themselves in refusing to let their girls have their company at home by saying that Mary and Sally are too young to have dates. Perhaps this is true, but when boys begin hanging around Mary and Sally and coming to the door with them, the problem has passed from the academic stage to the practical. It is no longer a question of whether it is best for Mary and Sally to have beaux, but of how and where they are to have them. And wise are the parents who ask the youngsters into the house and give them a cordial welcome.

Mary and Sally are going to meet Tom and Harry if they want to, no matter how much father and mother forbid it, and it is far better and safer for them to meet in Mary's and Sally's homes, under their mother's eyes, than at some corner drug store with no one to chaperon them. For a girl has no other such protection as a home. It is like a guardian angel stretching its sheltering arms above her head.

The men who are wolves in sheep's clothing need upon the stray little lambs without any shepherd who are wandering about without any one to protect them. It is very seldom that one of these beasts is bold enough to invade the household.

THE girl who has a home, has a background that gives her a dignity that makes men respect her. A man will treat a girl who entertains him in her own parlor, with father and mother parked in a nearby room, very differently from the way he treats the one who slips out of a window and keeps forbidden trysts with him.

The very knowledge that a girl has deceived her parents, that she has lied to them in order to get out and that nobody knows where she is, destroys the aura of innocence that should surround maidenhood and makes a man feel that a girl is as the phrase goes, a sport, and that he does not have to be too particular about where he takes her or what he says to her.

AND, on her part, the girl, knowing that she has defied her parents and that there will be a pretty row if she is found out, feels that she might as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb, and so she is her limit.

The wildest of the wild women are the girls with the parents who clamp the lid down tightest.

THE parents who will not let their daughters receive their company at home, not only force them out on the streets to meet men and have the skylarking and philandering that youth will have at any cost, but they are also responsible for many of the foolish and unsuitable marriages that take place.

Nine-tenths of the undesirable marriages could be nipped in the bud by a wise mother or father who palled with Mary and Susie's beaux and kept a wary eye out for youths who showed a slack moral fiber.

BUT this cannot be done if no young men have been permitted to cross the threshold, and if mother and father are unacquainted with the youths with whom their daughters associate, and are only introduced to a future son-in-law after it is too late to raise any objection to him. The parents who will not let their girls have company at home are trying to protect them, but they are taking the wrong method.

You can't lock a girl up nowadays. The only thing you can do is to open the door wide and throw away the key and make home so agreeable that she will take her pleasures in its shelter.

SEE-SAWING ON BROADWAY

TO MOST visitors, and New Yorkers as well, Greenwich Village, means arty artists, garrets, free love, radicalism and general unconventionality. The searches are more likely to be for "atmosphere" than anything else. To the uninitiated, "atmosphere" may be found in every nook and corner.

But somehow the historical significance of the "village" gets lost in the shrubs.

The "square" was originally an Indian village. Here ventured the hardy Dutch waterfront dwellers when they went "into the woods." As time went

THE movies are not going to man that particular lack of beauty that marks "Gumboat" Smith. Jack Dempsey may have his nose lifted and other heroes of the squared circle may turn snick, but if "Gumboat" so much as removes a wrinkle his contract takes the count.

Bright yellow seems to have taken its place unchanged as one of summer's leading colors. Specialty shops feature window displays all in yellow and clients flock to buy.

Another smart appearance of yellow crepe is made in the V-necked, short-sleeved tennis frock, a copy of the model worn by a famous tennis professional.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

INCO AND FLOPS GET THEIR WISH

"Nancy picked up Inco, the china elephant, in her arms, and Nick picked up Flops, the toy clown.

Then they followed the bandman out of Shut-Eye Town, and down the road of Drowsy Lane to the tall blue gate. Smoolesnugglers, the queer little moon man, opened the gate with a large key and let them out. Then he shut it again and locked it.

Right outside of the blue gate a bright moonbeam slanted down toward the earth like a sliding board.

"Come on," called the bandman, sitting down and straddling it, his legs of sleepy sand slung over his shoulder. "Wrap your legs around it so you won't fall off—like I do."

So the Twins sat down, and scarcely had they touched it when whizz! Inco and Flops, in about six seconds they had reached the arch.

Just in time, too, for a big black cloud went over the moon at that minute and the moonbeam disappeared.

MERRY MAKERS HAVE GOOD TIME AT TWO PICNICS

One Outing at Lake Robinson; Other at Grand Bay

Silver Falls United church, of which Rev. Hugh Miller is the pastor, held its annual Sunday school and congregational picnic yesterday afternoon on the beautiful grounds of Herbert Key's beside Robinson Lake on the Loch Lomond road. Automobiles conveyed the picnicers to and from the grounds. There was a good attendance, including several visitors from the city. The latter part of the day was marked by a few showers which became heavy just about half an hour before it was time to leave the grounds.

Fred Snodgrass, superintendent of the school, supervised the arrangements. Ice cream and candy were in charge of Mrs. A. E. Josselyn, who was assisted by Mrs. Frank Butlin, Mrs. William Arthurs, Mrs. Hugh Miller, Mrs. S. Armstrong, Mrs. Sydney Wyatt, Mrs. E. J. Young, Mrs. B. Morrow, Mrs. Thomas Alexander, Mrs. Wesley Sullington and Miss Mila Morrow.

SPORTS ENJOYED

A ball game, tug-of-war and quilts were featured among the amusements. The ladies' bean board was in charge of Allie Butlin and the men's bean board was in charge of Elwood Dickson. Boxes of chocolates were given to the winners in a series of contests at the bean boards. A rifle range was in charge of LeBaron Jordan, E. J. Young and William Arthurs.

AT GRAND BAY

The annual Sunday school and congregational picnic of Carleton United church was held at Grand Bay yesterday and was a decided success. From a financial standpoint it was the best in several years. The weather was ideal until after the tea hour, when a rain started. About 400 were in attendance. LeBaron Jordan, superintendent of the Sunday school, and Charles Stevens, assistant superintendent, took a prominent part in all the activities and were assisted by an able committee.

Three months ago Mr. Stubbs offered a prize for the class making the best attendance in a three months period in the Sunday school. Miss Abbie Nason's class of eight girls was announced to have won the prize. Enoch Thompson, on behalf of Mr. Stubbs, presented to each of the girls a beaded bag and to Miss Nason a Testament in a handsome red leather binding. The games and races were conducted

Fifty Babies Are Brought To Clinic

The weather very kindly did not start to "heat up" yesterday until late in the afternoon and so enabled many mothers to transport their babies to the well baby clinic of the Sub-district Board of Health at the Health Centre. There were almost 60 babies who called during the afternoon and all were weighed and many were specially examined by Dr. W. E. Lunney. The hoodoo of bad Thursdays for some time reduced the attendance at the weekly clinic at the Health Centre to a very small number, but yesterday the attendance was very near a record.

Three weeks ago the attendance at a Thursday clinic totaled 46. The clinic plays a big part in the child welfare program of the Board of Health, which is now being carried out by the two special nurses, Miss L. Richardson and Miss A. MacPhail.

JUNE BUSY MONTH IN VICTORIAN WORK

Reports on Nursing Activities—Free Milk List is Reduced

The Victorian Order of Nurses during June had a total of 298 cases under their care for nursing attention, and of these cases 194 were new that month. The grand total of nursing visits made was 945 and many of these visits occupied long periods of time, and were at remote sections of the city taking still more time in traveling. The total of all visits made, including those for educational work in the month of June, were 48 new infants given care. The nurses attended no less than 93 confinements during June, Miss H. B. MacKay, the superintendent, said yesterday.

During the last few days the number of clients receiving milk through the free milk fund of the Saint John Women's Council has been appreciably reduced. Yesterday there were 28 names on the list and notice had been given that several of these would be dropped from the list next week. This is the season of the year when it is expected that there will be the smallest number of babies dependent on the free milk fund.

The Victorian Order Nurses administer the fund and decide which babies shall receive its benefits. It is sometimes a very hard thing to say that the supply of milk for any special baby will have to be cut off and every circumstance is taken into consideration before such a step is taken. The nurses also have to exercise care to see that there is no attempt to make unnecessary calls on the fund which is at a fairly low ebb at the present time and much in need of replenishment.

CHILDREN'S AID HOME MATRONS RESIGNED

Committee to Choose Successor to Mrs. Leith—Twenty-Six on Roll

At the monthly meeting of the children's aid society, last night, with the first vice-president, J. E. Quinn, in the chair, a letter of resignation was received from the matron, Mrs. Leith. This was regretfully accepted and a committee was appointed with power to add to choose a lady to succeed her as head of the home.

The agent read a letter he had received from a little girl in Kings county placed in a home by the society. She had secured the prize for general standing in her school last year and had done the same this year.

Commenting on this case Rev. H. A. Goodwin recalled that when the society intervened in this case all sorts of things were being said. She had been brought from an institution in an outside province. It developed, however, that she was a misfit in the home. She was forced, besides being unable to learn in school, to do an abnormal amount of work.

He congratulated the agent on the very efficient manner in which he had handled the case and was of opinion that if the society had done nothing else they had amply justified their existence.

Miss McPhail, of the Health Centre child welfare department and by permission of the chairman, addressed the meeting. She outlined the work the centre was trying to do and pointed out some of the difficulties they had to face.

She pleaded for closer co-operation between the department she represented and the children's aid society. In thanking her for her remarks the chairman assured her that at all times the agent of the society would be ready and willing to do all in his power to help them in any way.

It was reported that 26 children are now in the home. None were taken in and none discharged during the month. One girl had been in the General Public Hospital for two weeks, having an operation performed on her nose.

20,000-Year-Old Skull Discovered

LONDON, July 9.—The portions of a skull, including the frontal bone, found near Devil's Tower, Gibraltar, by Miss D. A. E. Garrod, of the Institute of Paleontology, Hurlingham, Paris, and of Oxford University, are estimated to be not less than 20,000 years old. The remains were embedded 10 feet deep and are similar as regards age and type to the Gibraltar skull discovered in 1848. In addition to the portions of the skull, Mousterian implements were found. The work at this spot was due to a visit some time ago by Albe Breuil, the French anthropologist who, attached to the French Intelligence Bureau during the war, visited Gibraltar bearing despatches.

DISARMAMENT

From the point of view of those who wish for peace, the results of the Geneva deliberations are no doubt pretty meagre. But there is at least one result achieved which must make a difference: the discussion on disarmament is at last opened and nobody will be able to make the machine go backward. Though progress may be slow, we have this consolation: the history of all human progress shows us that it has ever been thus.

MOVIE EXTRAS GET TOO REALISTIC

Pagan Tribesmen in Nigeria Attack Actor With Spears During Filming

LONDON, July 9.—An exciting story of British pluck and endurance in Nigeria of Geoffrey Barkas, producer, Miss Natalie Webb, assistant, and Stanley Rodwell, cinematographer, after utilizing members of primitive pagan tribes as film extras in the heart of the Northern Nigeria bush and spending five and a half months among cannibals. "Many times we were up against it," said Mr. Barkas recently. "We hired 400 pagans to appear in the film and the greatest thrill we experienced was during a scene when 200 of them were told to rush to a given point and attack Haddon Mason—who filled the role of a District Officer—with spears. They almost killed him, one of the poisoned spears piercing his leg. Only by the continual firing of our revolvers filled with 'blanks' could we bring the men back to reason. By the time they had rushed 100 yards and were almost up to the line where they were instructed to stop they were shrieking war cries and their fighting spirit was worn to such an extent that they were in grave danger. The attackers threw spears all around him."

He still shaves himself, takes daily walks, sometimes goes to London, writes his own letters, has unimpeded hearing, attends church regularly, and presides at the meetings of the local waterworks company. Predicts Cancer From Use of Lip-Stick

LONDON, July 9.—"The continuous use of the lip-stick by women will undoubtedly be the cause of thousands of cases of cancer of the mouth in the near future."

This theory, put forward by a prominent member of the medical profession, was supported by Professor A. Low, recently.

"Although I know nothing of medicine," he said, "there are scientific reasons for believing that certain kinds of cosmetics are injurious to the health. This applies particularly to the lip-stick, which is composed of grease and finely-ground coloring matter."

These Motorists Know About Balloon Tires!

THE important part of this advertisement was written by people who have used Goodyear Balloon Tires. Read what they say—and remember, this is but a tiny echo of a countrywide chorus of approval. Please note that every desirable feature of tire performance is represented in their testimony. And ask yourself, in the light of these facts, if Goodyear Balloon Tires are not the tires you want. What a fine tribute, too, these letters are to the celebrated Goodyear SUPERTWIST Cord! Most of the superior service qualities mentioned here can be traced to this extra-elastic, extra-durable material. An exclusive Goodyear development, SUPERTWIST is now used in all Goodyear Cord Tires—balloon sizes and high-pressure sizes. And they are sold by Goodyear Selected Dealers everywhere. Goodyear means Good Wear.

Moncton, N.B. In 1924 I equipped my car with Goodyear Balloons and have since gone 11,000 miles. The tires show very little sign of wear and have given me perfect satisfaction. F. P. Forbes. Ottawa, Ont. The set of Goodyear Balloons which I bought two years ago is still going strong. They show a mileage of between 28,000 and 30,000 and look good for 10,000 more. I use my car to demonstrate Loveloy Shock Absorbers and I have cut our overhead by reducing tire cost per mile and the extra cushioning has materially lowered our car depreciation, while the comfort afforded by Goodyear Balloons has increased our patronage. Ernest Rankin. Toronto, Ont. We have been operating two Star Sedans on Goodyear Balloons and the original ten tires have delivered over 27,000 miles, are still on and look good. We have cut our overhead by reducing tire cost per mile and the extra cushioning has materially lowered our car depreciation, while the comfort afforded by Goodyear Balloons has increased our patronage. Ernest Rankin. Kitchener, Ont. It has been decided to use Goodyear Tires on the fleet of cars operated by this company. Naturally, on this commodity, as well as on other supplies purchased, we try to get the best value for our money. Our records show that we have less trouble and get more mileage out of Goodyears than any other tires and for this reason the decision was made. Geo. S. Alcorn, The L. McBrine Co., Limited. St. Georges Est., Beauce, Que. On the 14th of July, 1924, I bought a Dodge Coupe which was equipped with five Goodyear Tires. To date I have received more than 22,000 miles and of the five, three seem to be good for 4,000 to 5,000 additional miles. J. W. Marcotte. Winnipeg, Man. In 1924 I equipped a Ford coupe with Goodyear Balloons bought from M. A. Cory of Medicine Hat. The car was driven through snow, ice and all kinds of roads in my regular work as traveling superintendent of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. I sold the car in February of this year and when I last heard of it the same tires were on it. I cannot swear to the mileage, but the point-to-point distance I drove them is between 27,000 and 31,000 miles. W. M. Mathison. Milner, B.C. I have driven the Goodyear Balloons on my Dodge Touring over 20,000 miles and two of them have never been changed. All are in good condition and they are certainly a great saving in car depreciation. Dr. Jarvis. Nanaimo, B.C. In 1923 I equipped my Oldsmobile Sedan with Goodyear 32 x 4.95 Balloons. I drove them over the worst of the Island roads and got an average of 22,000 miles from them. The car rides splendidly and over the worst roads I never once used chains. Devo W. Thom. Scott Junction, Que. For your reference I can advise you that I have been more than pleased with your Balloons. I have travelled over 14,000 miles with the same set without any trouble. These tires are still on my car and I expect to make from two to three thousand miles more with them. R. Lebel. Montreal, Man. I have travelled over 15,000 miles on the first set of Goodyear Balloons purchased in this town and I have had no trouble. The tires have been used three years and when they are to be replaced, I can assure you that Goodyear Tires will be used. Ed. Comeault.

FRENCH-CANUCK REPORTED TO BE IN FINE SHAPE

Bout Has Developed Into Greatest Betting Classic in Years

NEW YORK, July 9—Jack Delaney was the target for the professional eyes of Dr. William H. Walker and Dr. Joseph A. Baldwin at his training camp in Bridgeport yesterday.

As the date of the big bout approaches, the chorus of those who favor the challenger grows louder and louder.

Delaney yesterday yielded host to a number of boxing writers who visited the challenger's training camp in Bridgeport, Conn., and were impressed with the form of the French-Canadian as he went through the routine of skipping the rope, working the pads, punching the light and heavy bags and sparring with his camp mates.

SOLARIO IS WORTH MILLION DOLLARS

Sir John Rutherford, Owner, Once Rejected $500,000 For Horse

Sir John Rutherford, owner of Solario, which is regarded as worth $1,000,000 since it recently added the Ascot Gold Cup to its victory in the St. Leger last fall, has only one other horse in training, according to an interview he recently gave to "The Scout," a notable English turf writer. The horse of the century, may be regarded as enough of a possession, but it is not frequent that such an outstanding thoroughbred constitutes practically a whole stable.

Sir John is a wealthy bachelor and the horse, he told "The Scout," means everything to him while money means nothing. Although popularly valued at $1,000,000, no such offer has been made to Sir John, even if the Aga Khan actually did offer $800,000 after Solario had won the St. Leger. In many quarters then it was regarded as a wise business move to reject the sum because as a stallion Solario could earn between $27,000 and $30,000 each year with every chance of being sold for anywhere from four to 14 years.

Sir John, in his interview, said: "I have been seen on horses all my life and many years ago I used to show hacks and win cups with myself in the saddle. I once had to go in the Grand national but Solario is the first great horse I have ever owned. In fact I have only one other horse in training."

PLAN BALTIC-BLACK SEA LINK

The rivers of Poland may serve to unite the Black and Baltic Seas if a project now under consideration by a special committee of the League of Nations materializes. Poland feels that Great Britain may be willing to finance the enterprise, which will necessitate the construction of several canals, in view of the fact that thereby Polish coal could be shipped directly southward and no longer compete with England in the northern markets. The map indicates the extent and significance of the project.

HELPFUL HINTS —BY— GOLFING STARS

JOE NOVAK—VALUE OF INSTRUCTION

If one is really anxious to master some of the finer points of golf, it is surprising how many valuable tips are received during a thorough course of instruction. If these are heeded and remembered they will be of great assistance to the ambitious golfer. After learning to drive well it is necessary to develop a consistent short game, because it is here the strokes are saved, and the player who concentrates on being dead to the pin has made an important step in the right direction.

Of course, the importance of consistently good putting must not be overlooked. Many matches go to the player who puts well and runs them down with consistent regularity. So to play good golf there are three important things to master, driving, approaching and putting.

One final suggestion on approaching should prove valuable. The whole thought is this: In approaching it is the speed and not the length of the swing that determines the distance the ball is to go.

(Copyright, 1925.)

ABE MITCHELL—WETHERED'S LONG BALL

Mr. Wethered hits the ball very cleanly, and not often does he hit it into the sky, a point which is due to his club head traveling well after the ball before the head begins to come up. Put another way, here is a long, flat bit in the swing which is seen immediately before the club head reaches the ball, and also just after the ball has gone. This is just as it should be, and the onlooker, who is out to see those things, will notice that his

Modern Sport Originated In Religious Ceremonies Says English Professor

LONDON, July 8.—Modern sport, particularly games played with a ball, are a survival of religious rituals, according to Professor G. Elliot Smith, professor of anatomy in the University of London.

"The particular forms games have assumed," he said, "are the result of historical circumstances. The earliest games that had any staying powers and have survived into modern times were not simply sports but the serious and sacred occupations of primitive men. Like the drama, they formed part of religious ceremonies that aimed at life-giving."

Professor Smith said that ball games are as old as civilization and possibly as man himself. He attributed man's most distinctive attributes to his skill of hand and eye.

"The natural impulse of the human child to play with a stick and ball is prompted by an instinct as irresistible as that which impels the lion's kitten to acquire by play the skill that is so vital to its existence," he explained.

"The earliest European references to games that were the ancestors of hockey and football (cricket) are found in an Irish epic, probably written early in the seventeenth century. But many centuries earlier games akin to these were played in the East. In his description of London during the twelfth century, Ptolemy says that at Shrovetide schoolboys devoted the morning to cockfights under the control of their masters, while in the afternoon all the young men of the city engaged in football, various schools and crafts opposing each other. In 1469 a proclamation was issued in London forbidding the levy of money for 'football' and 'cocktreshing,' or cock-fighting.

"Tug-of-war was a type of ritual conflict to promote the welfare of the gods and the prosperity of the community that was observed more than thirty centuries ago in the East. At one time ball games used to be played in churches at Easter. They are supposed to represent survivals of the

GULFOIL CASE FOR DAMAGES IS DISMISSED

Judge LeBlanc Decides It Unnecessary to Call on Defence

SUM OF $30,000 WAS CLAIMED IN ACTION

Evidence Given in Matter of Accident in McAvity Building

At the close of the plaintiff's case in the suit of H. A. Guilfoill against T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd., in the Circuit Court, Mr. Justice LaBlanc dismissed the action on the ground that there had not been sufficient evidence adduced to make it necessary to call on the defence to present their side of the case.

At the proceedings, the plaintiff gave evidence in which he described his actions in the accident which he claimed the plaintiff fell, and said that it was of ordinary construction and that more than the usual safeguards existed. The court, in dismissing the action, held that the nature of the evidence was such as to indicate that the accident was due to the negligence of the plaintiff and not to any fault on the part of the defendant company.

SUED FOR $30,000.

The suit was one for $30,000 damages arising out of an accident last year when the plaintiff, while cleaning the office windows on the defendant's premises, fell down a staircase well and sustained severe injuries.

Daniel Mullin, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff and Dr. F. R. Taylor, K.C., H. A. Forster, acted as counsel for the defendant. Court adjourned this morning until next Wednesday.

BRINGS LARGE 'BUS HERE FROM MONTREAL

Thomas Enwright, manager of the local bus company with headquarters in the Imperial Theatre building, King Square arrived early this morning from Montreal with a new Sedan type God-fredson autobus having a capacity of 35. It has a baggage carrier on top and a distinctive feature is the opening of a series of doors on the unloading side instead of one door at the end. Mr. Enwright says this type of 'bus will be used for tourist sight-seeing purposes chiefly.

The trip from Montreal to Saint John, which was unique in local bus history, was uneventful. The route taken was via Quebec City and Edmundston. Mr. Enwright reports the roadway in excellent condition. Naturally such a big car proceeding unannounced through the rural sections of Lower Quebec and New Brunswick created considerable curiosity and interest.

Dry Cleaning Renews Suits

Keep your clothes shipshape—keep them in their original condition. Every stain taken out, every grain of the dust and grime that settles into the fabric, dimming its color and freshness—out comes every bit of dinginess when processed by New System Dry Cleaning. What's a couple of dollars now and again? A new Suit is worth keeping new, an old suit is worth restoring. Phone or call our depot at 89 Charlotte Street.
