You believe that only statement. But you only realize in part the obligations implied by it. Do you keep that temple of the body clean? If not, the defilement attaches to every service of the temple. I cannot half express the bad feelings I had when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took nine bottles of the 'Discovery.' I commenced feeling better with the first bottle and kept on improving. Now I am so greatly improved in health my friends often speak of it."	I' sl fo m an

(Special to the Times.) Nanaimo, Nov. 6 .- Mr. Sloan's meeting last night was remarkable for an extraordinary onslaught by Mr. McInnes on Mr. Smith. An incident occurred at William Head vesterday morning which would justify slight amendation of a couple of the mmortal Longfellow's lines to show that the Heart is nature's lubricator and 'there is no flock, however, watched or

Arming himself with a heavy piece of lead pipe, he decided to commence his operations at the main sleeping quarters. One of the seamen was sleeping peacefully in the washroom of this structure, wholly oblivious of the fact that a desperado with a lead pipe was creeping stealthily toward his apartment for the purpose of robbery or violence. Suddenly the C. ep. g man was roused by a sharp blow tin head, and felt a couple of knees on his chest and a pair of bands clutching his throat. He struggled desperately, and the noise of the scuffle aroused some of the other occupants of the building, who hurried to the scene. Perceiving his danger the ruffian rushed from the room and managed to effect his escape. Fortunately, before he did so, he was recognized and followed. but owing to the indistinct light was not apprehended until later in the morning. He was immediately placed in durance vile, it being the intention of Capt. Connell to hand his prisoner over to the Victoria authorities upon the expiration of the term of detention.

CREMONAS MADE IN GERMANY.

Account of the Place and Manner in Which the World's Violins Are

In the village of Mittenwald, in the heart of the Bavarian highlands, live the men who manufacture the greater part of the world's supply of violins. Mittenwald has taken the place of Cremona, although it may take another 200 years before its violins can be mentioned in the same breath with those of the famous Italian town. Of the 1,800 inhabitants of the village, over 800 are exclusively occupied with the manufacture of violins, and the output reaches the incredible figure of 50. 000 violins per annum. They are exported to all countries in the world, the better instruments going to England and Ameriports 15,000. Each family of violin makers has its own particular trade secret, a sor of trick of the trade, handed down from rival makers, are not permitted into a workshop that is not theirs. The people of Mittenwald have an interesting violin school where the village boys are instructed in the general technical departments of violin building. In the hall of this building is an inscription to the following effect: "The object of this school is to inture of stringed instruments, and to educate them as capable violin makers.' The course lasts three years and embraces, in addition, the arts of drawing, singing, and playing on the violin. In the building of a violin much is left to the individuality of the builder. It is seldom that two violins are exactly alike in every particular. The villagers of Mittenwald are generally of opinion that the varnish with which an instrument is covered is of the first importance, and attribute the fine tone of the violins made by Stradivarius, Guarnerius, and others to a secret of varnish which has evidently been lost forever. Mittenwald uses maple wood for its violins, brought from the distant forests of Dalmatia and Bosnia, and pine wood of a looking violins seen in many a music shop es, the Italian names of makers inside, and the picturesque date-let us say of fiddle makers of this remote idyllic village in Bavaria. The soldier has always exercised a great effect upon Parisian fashions. During the Boulanger crists everything from boots to bonnets bore the name of the brave Gemeral; while, quite recently, the Dreyfus blouse of blue and gold, with military braiding, was openly worn by every fair sympathizer with the prisoner of the He du Diable.

To Italy we owe the celebrated "Garibaldi" blouse, which has completely revolutionized the every-day dress of modern womanhood, and the comfortable sleevebell, of Spokane. The 40-foot shaft has less Garibaldi vest. To Kossuth, the great Hungarian patriot, our grandparents were indebted for the curious hats and jackets worn by them at the time of the Crimean war. This last war, with its thrilling charge of Balaklava, was destined to give yet another war fashion to the world. Lord Cardigan, who led that glorious charge, was an exceedingly delicate man for a soldier. The terrible cold of the Russian winter so pinched that he procured a warm knitted waistcoat of Shetland wool, with sleeves to match, which he wore under his uniform. Hence the comfortable "Cardigan" jacket which has survived to this day.

The successes of Wellington brought the usual crop of fashionable mementoes, chief among them being the Wellington military cloak of dark blue Melton cloth, such as the mounted policemen still wear; the much-braided Wellington frock coats, beloved of the mid-century Dundrearys: and the knee-high Wellington boots.

Our Highland regiments have been responsible for more than one change in the fashions. During the Indian mutiny the splendid daring of Sir Colin Campbell's men so won the hearts of the British pub lie that little Britishers were immediately arrayed in all the glory of kilts. Their elders, however, drew the line at such ab breviated decency, and contented them selves by annexing the Highlander's spats.

We still wear them. At the present moment there is a dis tinct feeling of soreness in certain branches of the clothing trade anent the frost in khaki. The boom has not yet arrived, and beyond a few khaki riding breeches, and a few slouch hats sold to patriotic costers, there has been literally no business doing. khaki is not becoming.-London Mail.

Ald. Williams thought that an important omission had been made in the report in not drawing attention to the government buildings here situated and available for the purpose.

Ald. Cameron, as one of the committee, approved of the suggestion. Aid. Brydon was of cpinion that such a clause would be better left out. The government ought to put up a new building for the purpose. The report was received and adopted. The park committee reported that they had arranged for the trimming of the broom on Fernwood road and recommended that the five year contract for cutting of the hay on Beacon Hill park, which has previously been referred to, after considering the railroad by-law it be let to Robert Mason, who offered to was almost 11 o'clock. City Clerk Dow- cut and haul it to any part of the city for $6 per ton, and to remove the stone from the park; also that the sum of $350 be expended on the park roads, which, it was explained, were now in very bad repair. The first clause was adopted but the latter two were referred to the streets, bridges and sewers committee.

The finance committee reported accounts to the amount of $4,700. A supplementary report showing a number of refunds to property holders on Yates and Broad streets, amounting to $492.58, was also submitted, both passing.

The council then resolved itself into a committee of the whole, with the mayor in the chair, for the consideration of the by-law. Clauses 16 and 17 had been laid over for a number of suggestions to be offered by Mr. Bodwell, who was pre-

Ald. Williams wanted to have the provision apply to all crossings in the city, but to this Mr. Bodwell took exception. He considered, at any rate, that there was an act covering the matter.

Ald. Williams moved that clause 18 providing for the speed of the railway be limited to four instead of six miles inside the city, but this suggestion was voted down.

Then arose the question of the terminal facilities mentioned in Mr. Wilson's letter. Mr. Bodwell was not opposed to the market hall being made union depot in so far as its capacity went, but would not agree to further concessions in this respect, as such would possibly lead to interference or interrup-

After some discussion it was decided to leave the clause over for the next meet ing, which is to be held this evening. Ald. Williams wanted to have some thing in the by-aw which would protect the city in the matter of the market hall. He wanted to prevent the company from re-letting or abandoning the building d ing its lease of 25 years. Mr. Bodwell, however, met this provision. Ald. Yates said that too much publicity could not be given the fact that C. P. R. cars were only allowed as far as Shawnigan. He understood that flour could cans than in Victoria. He wanted to have provision made that all things being equal the company should purchase its supplies and build its ferry in this city.

Mr. Bodwell, however, pointed out that tenders were to be invited for the ferry. While a number of the aldermen thought the merchants had the matter of supplies pretty much in their own hands.

of the railway, but this, with other clauses, was left over for discussion at to-night's meeting.

Mr. Bodwell said, regarding the Chinese, that an act of the legislature passounced that permission has been granted ed at the last meeting fully covered the matter, but the mayor was of opinion that if the matter was in the contract it would be in the hards of the council if the Dominion government should at

Mr. Bodwell, however, could not see why his company should be bound down to more rigid restrictions than any other company. The committee then rose, reported pro-
