The Governor General, who has been visiting Toronto, will be given a handsome reception on his return to Ottawa to-morrow. He will be met at the station by the Mayor, City Council and citizen's committee, six bands, a mounted escort of two hundred citizens in plain clothes, and the citizens generally. The procession will be formed at the station and will proceed to Cartier Square, where a platform is erected to accommodate 2000 epidem of the while school.

Mr. O'Brien said to those nearest to him in the street: "Don't make any noise boys; we are only going for a little stroll." The three then walked up York street to King, the crowd following them, walking east along King street. Before they had gone a hundred feet they were slosely pressed by the citizens in plain clothes, and the citizens generally. Tom Gardner married a Miss Wright by whom he had no issue and upon whose death, the subject of our sketch accompany. whose death, the subject of our aketch accom-panied by the Fullers, moved to Upper Can-ada about the year 1828. Upon casual view no one weuld imagine that Gardner possessed the marvellous strength which made him

FAMOUS THROUGHOUT THESE PROVINCES for half a century. He was a good-natured, unascuming, fair-haired young man, five feet ten-and-a-half inches in height and usually weighed 175 to 1180 pounds. When stripped, however, his wonderful power could be accounted for, his chest being finely developed and the muceles of his legs, arms and thighs standing out like coils of knotted rope. It was a common ballef among the river raftswas a common belief among the river rafts-men that instead of ordinary ribe this New Brunswick Hercules possessed solid bony walls on either side of his chest. Probably this impression was created by the abnormal development of the intercostal sinews. Your correspondent has fortunately been able to interview a man who knew him intimately and who saw many of his astonishing feats performed—an old St. John river raftsman and lumberman, Mr. John Camber of Fredericton. Mr. Camber relates a number of incidents which he saw with his own eyes. At Grafton, opposite Woodstock, he saw A MOLASSES PUNCHEON FULL OF CORN,

(said to contain 14 bushels) from the bottom of a towboat to the gunwale and then down on to the beach stones, He was of opinion that Gardner was born about 1788, and that this feat was performed in the year 1818, but your correspondent is disposed to think, in view of other testimony, that it must have happened shout 10 years later. Mrs. Gardner, Mr. C. stated, died that same year in the spring and he attended the funeral. She was a sister of the late Nebeniah Wright. who lived in the same neighborhood as Gardner on what was known as the Dykeman place.

"I saw Gardner do one thing," continued in Mr. C., "which I am satisfied no man in the province now could begin to do. This happened at Grafton also. He took a rum puncheon which had in it at the time five gallons of rum, lifted it from the ground without the alightest effort, and drank from the bunghole. The puncheon was a heavy, ironbound affair, weighing probably 120 lbs. without its contents. I remember of him coming from a "piling frolic" one night, all hands pretty well fixed and carrying on, and handing up by the roots an apple tree four inches thick and lugging it all the way home. A great deal of driving was indulged in during the day, and some went fishing, but had indifferent luck, the water being too high. The Mother Goose entertainment in the City Hall in the evening, furnished amusement for a large number of people, and altogether the day was pleasantly spent.

flood. It said "The city of Fredericton is in a terrible condition. It is entirely submerged, the water being up to the second story in many houses. There is no light and food is getting scarce. The loss alone here is estimated at $200,000." The telegraphic iter must have been abroad when the above paragraph was penned. It is no wonder that after reading reports like this that an insurance manager aushorised a $200 subscription to the sufferers of Fredericton.

Two young men, one a University student, and neither of whom desire their names mentioned, while out sailing Saturday evening a straight arm lift, accomplished without a straight arm lift, accomplished without either of these advantages.

The late Charles Long, of Eredericton, who was famed far and wide as a picturesque narrator, used to say that he had seen Gardner lift a puncheon of corn, containing (he thought) twelve bushels, from a towboat swinging it over the side denseit it on the swinging it over the side, deposit it on the hore, and that in so doing he TORE OF THE HEEL OF HIS BOOT.

On another occasion he saw him handspike a stick of timber, which no other man in the crowd could stir, besides lifting the weight of four men whom he requested to sit upon the handspike. Mr. McKeen said he had frequently seen Gardner carrying a barrel of pork under each arm and once saw him shoulder a barrel of pork while standing in an ordinary brandy-box. Gardner, as already stated, left home when about 30 years of age and never returned to this Province. He lived in Upper Canada four or five years. Fifteen years after he left here his brother John stated to my informant that he had no ides as to his whereabouts. The last heard of him was that he had gone to the far west beyond Salt Lake city. to the veracity of this statement, as he had it upon the authority of his (Gardner's) brother, who was alongside of him at the time the unfortunate event occurred. Mr. Camber further remarked that the only man he had ever met who could at all compare with Garduer was the late Benja-min Tibbits, father of James Tibbits, of this city. "What he couldn't lift," said Mr. C.,
"it was no use trying to lift, especially with a handspike. He would never exhibit his strength merely to entertain the people. I worked with him on the drive one spring.
We were canting a five ton atick of timber off the rocks below the Arcostook falla.
When it came down my fingers were jammed in under it. Tibbets sprang to the rescue and without any assistance, or the use of a handspike lifted the end of the stick from the ground, He could handle barrels of pork or flour easier than most men would handle a keg of nails.'

It is an accompaniment of discord to the enthusiasm displayed by the teachers and younger pupils of the public schools, in celebrating Arbor Day, by the planting of ornamental trees, that Mr. E. H. Wilmot has been compelled to withdraw his permission to the older boys of the schools, to use his sports ground for practice and match games of base ball and cricket, owing to the ruthor base ban and cricace, owing to the real-less destruction of young trees, by some idle boys drawn thither to witness the sports. One such boy possessed of a pocket knife and an evil propensity, will, by a few moments work of his hands, destroy the growth of WONDERFUL! DETWEEN eight and ten years ago, a medicine was introduced to the public, and suffering humanity was invited to try the same.

The proprietor knew from experience, that success was certain, but the human breast—so imputed with prejudice that it forms one of the strongest barriers to break down and the greatest enemy to overcome before any headway can be made towards the mansion of success. Truth has often proved itself to be "stranger than fiction," and it is a fact as solid as truth that SMITH'S CHAMOMILE PILLS have now become one of the leading Patent Medicines of the present day, from north to south, and from east to west, they are to be found in the homes of the rich and poor. All classes of society use them, and they are by thousands declared to be Worth their Weight in Gold For a Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, and all disorders of the Liver, they act like "MAGIO," and a few doses will be found to work wonders on the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the long-lost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse into action, with the rose-bud of health, the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are "facts" admitted by thousands, embracing all classes of society; and one of the best quaranties to the nervous and debilitated is, Smith's Chamemile Pills have the largest sale of any Patent Medicine in the Dominion.

These are only a few taken from the hundreds in mypossession, and are the names of prominent business and professional men, well known, Directions for taking Smith's Chamomile Pills, If the bowels are costive, the countenance sallow and the tongue furred, take 3 or 4 pills on going to bed; if they do not operate in ten hours, then take two more afterwards. Take one pill every (or every other night), just enough to keep the bowels gently moved. For ordinary Hillious Complaints one or two doess are sufficient. These pills act on the system very similar to bine pills, or blue Mass, but do not contain the least particle of mercury or calomel.

The First Sign Of failing health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weariness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Aver's effective for giving tone and strength and vitalizing the blood. Failing Health.

Ten years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Norvous-ness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but became so weak that I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest. My friends recommended me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and I mm now as healthy and strong as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alexandria, Minn.

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for Scrotula, and know, if it is taken faithfully, that it will thoroughly eradicate this terrible disease. I have also prescribed it as a tonic, as well as an alterative, and must say that I houestly believe it to be the best blood medicine ever compounded.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. S., M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

Dyspepsia Cured. It would be impossible for me to de-scribe what I suffered from Indigestion and Hendache up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was under the care of various physicians and tried a great many kinds of medicines, but never obtained more than temporary re-lief. After taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for a short time, my headache disappeared, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. To-day my health is com-pletely restored. — Mary Harley, Spring-field, Mass.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It tones and invigorates the system, regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, and vitalizes the blood. It is, without doubt, the most reliable blood purifier yet discovered.—H. D. Johnson, 383 Atlantic ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
