Only 21 Bodies Recovered from the Wreck of the Roumania.

Ten Persons Fatally Poisoned by Eating the Flesh of a Diseased Cow—Chinese Dying of Cholera by Thousands—A Great Financial Crash.

To Shut Out Canadian Cattle.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The demand for the exclusion of Canadian live stock owing to the alleged cases of pleuro-pneumonia in Scotland grows stronger, and will probably find emphatic expression at the various meetings of farmers' societies to be held during the ensuing week. The position of the trade is very critical. The Board of Agriculture has not yet definitely reported the actual nature of the disease. Should any further suspicious cases arise the Government will certainly schedule Canada. Meanwhile all possible evidence should be cabled showing freedom from disease in the districts whence the Dundee cattle were sent. There were no Canadians at Islington to-day. The trade is unchanged.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Board of Agriculture has ordered all cattle landed at Dundee from Canada by the steamers Herona and Monkseaton to be slaughtered, owing to the discovery of pleuro-pneumonia among them. The steamers landed 1,200 head.

Death of Prof. Grant.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The death of Robert Grant, professor of astronomy in the University of Glasgow, at the age of 78, is announced.

Will Attend the Banquet.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Lord Rosebery, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, John Morley and Sir George Trevelyan, members of the Cabinet, have decided to attend the inaugural banquet of Lord Mayor Knill.

Twenty-Five Persons Trampled to Death.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A panic occurred in the church of the village Vinagora upon the raising of a false alarm that the tower was collapsing. In the mad struggle to get out 25 persons were trampled to death.

Mr. Gladstone Will Not Be There.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Mr. Gladstone will not be at the inaugural banquet of Lord Mayor-elect Stuart Knill. It has been the custom in past years for the Prime Minister in his response to a toast at this banquet, to review the work of the Government and indicate its plans.

The Cholera Record.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The cholera record for to-day for the whole of Holland is now 2 new cases and 4 deaths.

There were 136 deaths from cholera in Calcutta during October.

At Buda-Pesth 22 new cases and 6 deaths were reported to-day.

Neill Cream's End is Near.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Under Sheriff Metcalf states that he has been informed that Neill will certainly be executed on Tuesday next The condemned man maintains a dogged silence. When asked to-day by one of his keepers if he had anything to say he replied with a curt "no."

Ten Deaths from Eating Diseased Beef.

WARSAW, Nov. 1.—Persons living on a farm at Groitsy, a village of Poland, have been poisoned by eating the flesh of a cow that had suffered with cattle plague. Ten of the persons who partook of the meat have died after suffering great agony and the physicians state that some of the others will not recover.

Victims of the Roumania Disaster.

PENICHE, Nov. 1.—The bodies of five men, nine women and seven children have thus far been recovered from the wreck of the Roumania. It is believed that a great number of the bodies of those who were lost will never be recovered, the currents having carried them out to sea. The Anchor Line people say that the steamship Roumania carried out 46 passengers and 66 men in her crew. Eight of the passengers were children.

Six Hundred Lives in Peril.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 1.—In a fog to-day a Birkenhead ferryboat, having 600 people on board, came into collision on the Mersey with the British ship Eurydice. The bowsprit of the Eurydice swept the upper deck of the ferryboat from stem to stern, and a fearful disaster was narrowly averted. One passenger was carried overboard and drowned. Several were injured.

The Gay Duchess of Devonshire.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Duchess of Devonshire has invited a large party to Chatsworth for the 14th of November, and from the composition of the house list it is evident that the party is destined to be an extremely gay one. Of course, her behavior in the matter is now arousing a good deal of comment, and people do not hesitate to denounce her as lacking in maternal affection, seeing that her eldest son died only a month or two ago. It is only fair, however, to say that during the latter years of his life the Duke of Manchester has relegated himself as obnoxious to his mother as he had to his wife, and that he has become a perfect stranger to her.

A Horrible Crime!

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—A horrible crime was committed last night in the Royal Irish constabulary barracks at Ballinadrina county Kildare. Constable Pilkington, seized, it is supposed with a sudden fit of insanity, entered the bedroom where Sergeant Logan and his wife were sleeping and shot them with revolver, killing them instantly. The madman then turned to the sleeping room of Logan's children, and attacking them, left them all for dead. Two were found to be dead, with their heads crushed in, three fatally injured and the remaining two seriously injured. Pilkington then tried to burn the barracks, but the alarm spread, and finding himself discovered he committed suicide. The murderer had served 6 years in the constabulary and had a very high character.

A Great Financial Collapse.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The collapse of the Liberator Building Society simultaneously with the downfall of the London and General Bank is likely to prove one of the most gigantic financial sensations of the generation. The official figures presented yesterday by the receiver show that there are absolutely no assets, while the liabilities are very heavy. The directors of both establishments are accused of lining their own pockets at the expense of the shareholders, and threats of criminal prosecutions are freely made. The Liberator Society owed the shareholders £3,313,000, while the reserve fund was only £90,000 and the assets are probably valueless, as £3,188,286 had been lent to three companies which are now in liquidation. There are virtually no free assets, there being only £50,000 in sight with which to meet a deficiency of £3,000,000. There is reason to believe that Mr. J. Spencer Balfour, M.P., the vice-president and real head of the concern, together with the several directors, have pocketed hundreds of thousands of pounds in the shape of commissions, which are now alleged to be illegal.

A sad sequel to the failures was the attempted suicide of one of the directors of the London and General Bank, Mr. James Blewitt, who was found lying in Epping Forest with his throat cut, having been led by excitement and worry to seek his own destruction. Mr. Blewitt stood very high in the community at Wanstead, his residence. He had lost heavily, it is understood, by the operations of his fellow-directors, less honest than himself.

An Important Test.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Government trial of an American parveysed plate took place on board the Admiralty's proving hulk Nettie yesterday in Portsmouth harbor. The plate, which was affixed to the stern of the vessel, was eight feet high by six feet wide, and ten and a half inches thick. It was attacked by a six-inch breech-loading rifle, firing three holtzer and two palliser armor-piercing projectiles weighing 100 pounds each, with the usual velocity adopted in all the Admirality tests, namely 2,020 feet a second. All the projectiles were completely destroyed, being broken into small fragments. Not a single crack was developed in the plate. The trial is considered by experts to be the most important that has ever taken place in England, and may result in the adoption of the American process for making armor for British ironclads.

Scene in Spurgeon's Tabernacle.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Rev. Dr. Pierson, of Philadelphia, presided over an uproarious prayer meeting at Spurgeon's Tabernacle the other evening. It was Dr. Pierson's first appearance in his pastoral capacity since his return from the States. No sooner was the hymn finished than an adherent of of Thomas Spurgeon called out: "Mr. Pierson, like many other members, I would like to know whether you are a believer in baptism by immersion?" A scene of great confusion followed. Two men seized the disturber by the arms, and half a dozen more pushed and pulled until they got him into the aisle. There the immersionist made a stand and partially freed himself with a violent struggle, in which two members were thrown on their knees and three seats were upset. Finally the immersionist was thrust out.

Hay from Canada.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A week or two since Sir Charles Tupper addressed a circular letter from the high commissioner's office to a carefully selected list of firms dealing in hay, in which, in view of the high price likely to prevail during the next few months, he asked whether a ready market existed for Canadian hay, and for any suggestions as to the lines upon which such a trade might be developed.

In reply Messrs. Henderson, of Westminster, write that, in their judgment, Canadian hay of good quality is worth 80 shillings a ton, and that there is practically an unlimited demand for goods of best character.

Messrs. Caston, of Smithfield, state that if Canadian hay is clean and sweet it should meet a good sale here. Prices, they think, will rule very fairly high between January and May. They favor Canadian hay being delivered in lighters at the London wharves, and urge that the bales should be tied up with strong cord, and they should not be over 112 pounds in weight.

Messrs. Allnutt, of Nine Elms, say that a good mixture of timothy and clover is worth about £4 10s per ton; at the Albert dock, Tilbury, a good grass hay will fetch £4 per ton. They indorse Messrs. Easton's preference for smaller bales, in favor of which they say there is a difference of 2 or 3 shillings per ton in the market prices. They find that the freight charged by steamers from Montreal is £2 per ton; the dock charges amount to 4 shillings a ton for a week, and the cost of literage from the dock to the riverside wharves averages from 3 to 5 shillings per ton.

Messrs. Cleeve Bros., Liverpool, who have received several large consignments of Canadian hay, think that the most suitable kind is clover, with a very little timothy mixed. They also advocate small bales and opine that the shipments of Canadian hay should have a distinctive mark.

Another Liverpool firm writes that the best sort of Canadian hay has fetched from £4 to £4 10s per ton. The packing, however, is rather too heavy, and they suggest a wide banding similar to that in use with United States hay.

Messrs. Mair & Marquis, of Glasgow, who have also had some experience with Canadian hay, suggest that the hay should be certificated and graded.

If this enterprise is to be a success reasonably low freights are essential, and moderate rates must prevail in Canada. It is also important that the requirements of the market, as regards the packing and size of the bales, should be carefully studied.

Appalling Accident!

Railway Collision in England and Twenty Killed.

A Large Number of Passengers More or Less Injured.

Pitiable Scene at the Wreck—Fire Adds to the Horror—Several Bodies Burned Beyond the Possibility of Identification.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—An appalling railway accident occurred early this morning near Thirsk, in Yorkshire, by which twenty persons were killed and a large number injured.

The express train which leaves Edinburgh every evening for London was running at full speed as it approached Thirsk, when ahead of it appeared a heavily-laden goods train.

The engineer of the express train reversed his engine and put on the brakes, but the momentum of the heavy express was too great and it dashed into the goods train, making a most terrible wreck.

To add to the horror the carriages caught fire and were soon destroyed. A large number of persons from near-by places were soon at the scene and did everything possible to extricate the dead and injured. The burning cars greatly hampered their efforts, but had it not been for their bravery the loss of life would have been much greater.

The scene at the wreck was pitiable. Some of the bodies taken out of the debris had been burned beyond all semblance to humanity. The clothing had been destroyed and in some cases the jewelry worn had been melted by the intense heat. This will render the identification of the dead in some cases extremely difficult, if not impossible.

A wrecking train was dispatched to the scene as soon as the fact of the disaster became known. A number of physicians were carried to the wreck, and they at once devoted themselves to relieving the suffering of the injured.

LATER.

The railway officials state that nine instead of twenty persons were killed.

A SERIOUS QUESTION.

The Alleged Outbreak of Pleuro-Pneumonia Among Canadian Cattle Discussed.

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—A special meeting of the Dominion Live Stock Association was held here to-day to consider the cablegrams concerning the alleged outbreak of pleuro-pneumonia among Canadian cattle in Great Britain. A large number of cattle owners were present. Ex-Ald. Frankland, president, occupied the chair, and explained his conviction that the disease which had been discovered among cattle sent to Scotland was not genuine contagious pleuro-pneumonia, but a form of bronchitis with which cattle are often attacked in the cold weather on being landed from a warm ship where often the air is extremely close. He was sorry the Veterinary Department of the Privy Council in Britain had seen fit to order the slaughter of the cattle, and believed that Dr. McEachren and Dr. Smith, aided by Dominion live stock men, would succeed in demonstrating that no contagious pleuro-pneumonia existed in Canada. After some animated discussion the following resolution was unanimously carried:

"That in our opinion contagious pleuro-pneumonia does not exist in Canada, and that this meeting do undertake to assist the Government officials in every way in our power to make the investigation now in progress effective."

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

Meeting of the Industrial Brotherhood—Election of Officers—A Strong Resolution.

The general directory of the Industrial Brotherhood of Canada met in annual session in the Workmen's Hall, Woodstock, on Monday. The report of the general secretary showed that the order was in a healthy and encouraging condition. It was determined to push on the work of organization with renewed energy, to place lecturers in the field and to distribute freely literature on social questions.

The committee to revise the ritual reported that they had acted with the one object in view, to simplify the work. The amendments were adopted without discussion by a unanimous vote. The committee on printing reported that they had procured a good printing press and complete outfit, and that by the beginning of next week the Industrial Banner, the organ of the order, would make its bow to the public. Mrs. S. B. Webb, of Stratford, will soon take the field in the interests of women's rights in the social economy of the day. Mr. Webb's speech on "The Condition of Our Country" was highly applauded, and the following resolution was carried:

Resolved, That the fiscal policy of our country is a farce in so far as it purposes to benefit the masses; that it increases the cost of living, decreases the purchasing power of the wage laymen of all classes; is eating the very vitals out of the Dominion; scattering the members of every family so that the fathers and mothers are forced to see their sons and daughters leave home and kindred that a few may roll in superabundance; and that every lawful means be used to rectify the wrongs created and maintained by the present system.

The officers re-elected are: G. D., W. J. McKay, Woodstock; general vice-director, O. E. Light, Port Burwell; general secretary-treasurer, Joseph T. Marks, London; general investigator of women's work, Mrs. S. B. Webb, Stratford.

As it was decided to change the time of the annual meeting, the directory adjourned to meet in London the last week in July, 1893.

HE LIGHTED HIS PIPE,

And Burned a Steamboat and Caused the Death of a Companion.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 1.—At Point Breeze this evening William Miller, Albert Krumbach and Warren Hilt were crossing the river in a rowboat. About 150 feet from the shore one of the men lighted his pipe and carelessly tossed the blazing stick into the oil-covered water. Instantly a burst of flame shot up alongside the skiff, and the surface of the river around the boat was blazing fiercely. The flames of the burning oil licked the boat, and the men plunged into the burning fluid and started to swim ashore.

The fire circle grew larger and spread more rapidly than they could swim, and they found that they were being roasted alive. Hilt sank beneath the blazing surface and was seen no more, but his two companions, by repeatedly diving and swimming beneath the surface, succeeded in reaching the shore.

Both men were horribly burned about the shoulders, head face and arms. They were taken to the hospital where, it is said, their condition is critical. The fire spread down the river and the wrecking steamer Maryland caught fire and was damaged $15,000.

LADIES LEFT THE CHURCH.

Bishop Fowler's Description of Death Was Too Ghastly for Them.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Bishop Charles Fowler, who is known among the Methodist as the "Prince of Pulpit Orators," presided in St. James' M. E. Church, One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street and Madison avenue, Sunday morning. His theme was "The Resurrection." During his sermon he depicted death in such ghastly forms that many of the large congregation left the church in tears.

In speaking of the resurrection the minister referred to death and described it as a grim, ghastly and fleshless specter that paraded through the streets at all hours, unseen but always about, coming at unexpected times and stealing away loved ones in spite of the physician's skill.

Mr. Fowler gave so many ghastly details that there was a distinct feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction manifest among the ladies present. To many the theme was distressing, for it recalled painful memories. There was a flutter of handkerchiefs in all parts of the church, but Bishop Fowler either could not, or would not, see the effect his words were producing upon the congregation.

Matters reached a climax when fourteen ladies and two men rose from their seats and walked from the church, when the bishop brought his peroration to a speedy close. After the sermon the members of the church severely criticised Mr. Fowler for not changing his method of procedure when it was apparent to all that his dramatic description of death was distressing to most of his congregation.

John Fulcher in Detroit.

The Detroit Free Press says: "Just about a year ago it came to the mind of Detroit society that a riding club might be a good thing. There were in the city a goodly number who admired riding for riding's sake and thence arose the Detroit Riding Club. On Nov. 1 the club assumed new life.

It was formed on English principles and an instructor was wanted who was thoroughly familiar with the details of the English steps. Negotiations were opened with John Fulcher, of London, Can., riding master of the celebrated Hellmuth College for ladies and instructor of the London Hunt Club. Mr. Fulcher was engaged at a large-sized salary and on completing his engagement with Helimuth College he came to Detroit in June. Mr. Fulcher will have twelve horses of his own at the club all the time. One of the oldest and most enthusiastic riders is J. B. Crosby, the secretary of the club. Of Mr. Fulcher he says: Our instructor or riding master, Mr. Fulcher, has no superior in America. He has been in the work all his life and is recognized all over as a great authority. In getting him the club did a brilliant piece of work, for he is capable in every way."

THE DISEASE OF
—AND THE—
Morphia, Opium and Tobacco Habits
—ARE—
SUCCESSFULLY TREATED AT THE
Dunlop Institute,
WOODSTOCK,
By the medical system of a former Canadian, Dr. J. D. Dunlop, of Alpena, Mich.
This system of treatment is no "gold cure," nor has it any analogy to alleged "cures" so widely advertised.
It is a distinct and original discovery of great scientific value.
Over 300 drunkards have been treated successfully at Alpena; and at other places in the United States and at Woodstock scores of now happy homes attest its efficacy. There are no injurious effects from the Dunlop treatment. It is perfectly safe and certain in its results. It removes all diseased conditions resulting from the use of liquor and opiates, and leaves the patient with absolutely no desire for them.
For terms and other information apply to D. A. McLEOD, Secretary.

HYPNOTISM IN COURT.

A Defendant Under a Spell Gives Testimony on an Attempted Murder.

SANTA ROSA, Cal. Nov 1.—When Eyraud was on trial in Paris his counsel wished to put Gabrielle Bompard into the hypnotic state, so that he might rehearse the murder tragedy, but the court refused. Such a hypnotic scene was carried out here yesterday in the trial of Edward J. Livernash, an erratic newspaper man, for the attempted murder of Darks Etheridge. Livernash began to be peculiar about one year ago, and his first escapade was to masquerade as a negress in San Francisco. He was arrested and fined. He had carried on successfully several country newspapers, and had married the daughter of a rich farmer. After his arrest he became moody, and said certain people were plotting against him. Finally he went to Cloverdale, near Santa Rosa, and made a savage assault upon Mr. Etheridge, who, he declared, had promised to bequeath him a fortune. He shot six bullets into the old man, but none inflicted a mortal wound. When arrested he pretended he mistook Etheridge for the police judge who fined him in San Francisco. He talked incoherently, and at times declared he was King of Siam. His attorney had him brought before the insanity commissioners, and he was sent to the asylum.

This was four months ago. Last week he was released and suit was at once brought against him. Witnesses told the story of his vagaries, the chief witness being his wife. Then his counsel proposed to put Livernash into the hypnotic state in court and let him live over again the incident of the night of the attempted murder. Dr. Gardiner, who has acquired great influence over Livernash, hypnotized him by waving a shining disc before his eyes.

Experts for the prosecution tried to see whether he was shamming. They ran a needle through his ear, but he did not wince. His face was as pale as that of a corpse and his limbs rigid, but he answered every question asked and gave in minute detail what he did on the occasion, as well as what he thought. Finally the subject began to escape the doctor's control. He gave orders as the King of Siam, whereupon the doctor brought him out of the trance.

Dr. Gardiner then explained that Livernash was a victim of auto-hypnotism, that is, he could throw himself into a state which resembles somnambulism, during which he was not responsible for his actions. It was in such a state, it is claimed, that he attempted murder. He was dangerous unless under control of a stronger nature. The trial is still on, and is exciting great interest.

God makes character; man makes reputation.

Blow, blow, blow! That disagreeable catarrh can be cured by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the constitutional remedy.

A liar will break all the other commandments if he gets a chance.

Wrinkles come to stay.

Untold Misery—What a Well-Known Commercial Traveler Suffered, and How He Was Cured.—Gentlemen,—About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co., Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed.) T. S. MCINTEE.

If the earth stopped to rest it would drop out of space.

Rev. Sylvanus Lane.

Of the Cincinnati M. E. Conference, makes a good point when he says: "We have for years used Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family of five, and find it fully equal to all that is claimed for it. Some people are greatly prejudiced against patent medicines, but how the patent can hurt a medicine and not a machine is a mystery to me." g

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so too.

It Beats Jack Frost.

Dear Sirs,—We have used Hagyard's Yellow Oil in our family and know it is a sure cure for lumbago and frost bites. My wife was so bad with lumbago that she could not straighten herself, and Yellow Oil completely cured her. It has been a fortune to us.

Remenyi in New York.

The reception which was accorded to Remenyi on his appearance was an ovation which swelled into a tremendous wave of enthusiasm after his spirited rendering of the three movements of the Godard concerto. So insistent was the applause that he was compelled to repeat the canzonetta movement, give two more encores after that, and then come out and bow his acknowledgment half a dozen times before the audience could be satisfied.—[New York Commercial Advertiser.

Don't confound Remenyi with any other violinist. There is only one Remenyi, and the Times, of London, Eng., says "He is absolutely unsurpassable." Let everybody hear him and his magnificent company at the Grand Opera House Nov. 9. Plan opens at box office Nov. 7.

Brantford Fall Assizes opened Monday, Mr. Justice Street presiding. There is no criminal business, and the judge received the customary white kid gloves. The civil docket contains sixteen cases. Quick vs. Church will be tried, an action to recover damages for alienating a husband's affections. Myers and Cough vs. Brantford township is an action to recover damages by two young ladies for injuries sustained when a bus upset, caused, it is alleged, by a defective road. The case is important, because nearly a dozen other cases arising out of the same accident virtually depend upon the result in this.

The Parkhill Gazette-Review says the council of that town appears to be pursuing a policy of masterly inactivity with respect to a new town hall. The committee appointed several weeks ago to report in regard to a building have not yet laid anything formally before the council. It is true that at the last meeting plans for $8,000 hall were informally submitted to the council, but the committee did not report either for or against their adoption. It looks as if the question was to be staved off indefinitely.

After these exploits the fellows drove away in the direction whence they came. Two of them are fully identified and will be brought to time.

OXFORD.

Mr. Ashton Fletcher, Q.C., of Woodstock, who died Saturday, had been attending Division Court at Rodney the previous Thursday, and upon leaving the court room complained of a peculiar feeling in one of his legs, saying that he thought he was becoming paralyzed. He soon afterwards became unconscious, and lingered in that state until Saturday morning. Ashton Fletcher was one of the best known barristers in the vicinity of Woodstock. He was a man of great ability—a fine scholar and an unusually brilliant speaker. He was made a Q.C. by both the Dominion and Provincial Governments in 1890. Deceased was born in Cheshire, England, on June 2, 1836, and was thus in his 57th year. He came to Canada with his parents in 1842, and settled north of Toronto. His father was a clergyman, and was well-known throughout Ontario. He designed his son for the ministry, but young Fletcher chose the law, for which his mental powers well fitted him. He was educated at Victoria College, Cobourg, where he first entered as a law student in the office of Mr. Millar, a barrister of distinction at that time. He was called to the bar in 1862, and had practiced his profession in Woodstock ever since.

"August Flower"

Biliousness, Constipation, Stomach Pains.

"I have been afflicted with biliousness and constipation for fifteen years; first one and then another preparation was suggested to me and tried but to no purpose. At last a friend recommended August Flower. I took it according to directions and its effects were wonderful, relieving me of those disagreeable stomach pains which I had been troubled with so long. Words cannot describe the admiration in which I hold your August Flower—it has given me a new lease of life, which before was a burden. Such a medicine is a benefaction to humanity, and its good qualities and wonderful merits should be made known to everyone suffering with dyspepsia or biliousness

IN EUROPE, says the Detroit Free Press, the lowest wages are paid in countries having the highest tariff, and the highest wages are paid where the tariff is lowest. Yet we are told protection fills the dinner pail.

EMIN PASHA is now perfectly destitute, according to the latest news. He is living with an Arab at Tabora, and cannot leave until he receives help. Emin missed his chance to return to civilization and to glory in company with Stanley when that explorer was sent to rescue him. The flood of fortune has now apparently passed him by. Is he not a type of a numerous branch of the human family?

THE Parliament of New South Wales has passed a measure for the reform of the electoral system of the colony. It provides for the one man one vote principle, and for the appointment of a non-partisan commission to readjust the electoral boundaries with the view to the equal representation of the colony on a population basis. Everywhere but in the Dominion Parliament these democratic principles are being recognized. It is high time that the people of Canada, in justice to themselves, compelled a change here also.

IT WILL astonish us if Senator McInnes gets more for Dundurn Park, Hamilton, cut up into lots, than would be a reasonable sum for Hamilton to pay for the famous retreat of The McNab for public park purposes. If this fine park is once destroyed its equal as a place of public resort and enjoyment cannot be found. The penny-wise-pound-foolish policy was pursued when Hamilton, in a fit of "economy," permitted the fine library of the Mechanics' Institute to be sold out for a mere song, and immediately afterwards established a free library at a big expense. Is there to be a repetition of this kind of business with regard to Dundurn?

THE popular vote for the United States Presidency has increased much more rapidly than the population. Here are some figures taken from official sources:

SENATOR BOULTON continues his crusade against the policy of high taxation, upon which within the last few months he has taken an enlightened position. In a recent letter he says:

"The most profitable trade we have to-day is our cattle trade. Does protection foster that? No! The purchasing power of free trade England gives us such good prices for our cattle that while in 1872 we had not yet developed the trade, in 1891 nearly $9,000,000 was realized. Protection has not assisted that trade. Rather the reverse. It has reduced the value of the proceeds of the sale of our animals. We do not receive money for our cattle. We receive goods, and at the port of Montreal the British purchaser returns us $100 value in goods for every $100 worth of cattle which leave that port, but under our protective policy those goods are subject to a tax of 24 per cent., and the farmer when he lays out his $100 has to pay 24 per cent. additional on his purchases, and to that extent the value of his cattle trade is reduced. The same condition applies to our $9,000,000 export of cheese.

CANNOT BE TRUSTED.

United States papers follow the ADVERTISER in exposing the "black pepsin" fake. It is apparently a swindle, as anyone would suspect who considers that men are not in the habit of giving $2 for $1—something for nothing. Good butter cannot be produced according to the methods adopted with this drug by the alleged Australian professor. As Hoard's Dairyman says, butter is butter and the basis of it is the fat in the milk. Unavoidably there will be some water in it and a trace of casein, but the less casein and the less water the better the butter. The fat and the casein may be combined and the compound may be made to look like butter, to smell like butter and possibly to resemble butter in taste, but it will not be butter. It will not keep like butter, nor sell like butter, nor serve as a substitute for butter. Of what value, then, can the compound be? It looks very much like a scheme to draw money from the farmers without giving value for it, and this view is sustained by the fact that so far the chemical company in New York that is alleged to be selling the article is not registered in the commercial directories.

ABOUT JUDGES.

How would the Canadian people like to have their judges elected, and so inaugurate a system of bribery and corruption, in the place of the pure administration of justice which they now enjoy?—[London Free Press.

This is an argument used to combat the continental unionists.

If our city contemporary can get no more effective ammunition than the elective judge bugaboo, it is indeed hard beset.

Why does it not tell the whole truth regarding the United States judiciary?

The whole of the States do not elect their judges by popular vote. It is left for the people to say how their law-interpreters shall be elected, and many of them now select their judges as we in Canada do—by the agency of the politicians. The United States people have it in their power, too, to elect their judges either for long or short periods, and this gives them a chance to drop out a judge who proves a failure—and judges, being human, do prove failures sometimes.

There is a great deal of nonsense spoken and written about the effect of the popular elective judge system and the immense benefits derived by the people from the system of allowing the politicians in the dominant political party to select the judges.

The effect of either system is not wholly bad or wholly good.

Very many excellent judges are elected by the popular vote in the United States, and no doubt, as there are black sheep in every flock, so there are some bad judges elected.

In this country, where the politicians, and not the people choose the judges, it is notorious that we have our good and our bad judges.

We have even seen a judge retained on the bench by the dominant politicians who so far forgot himself as to become a partisan in a political contest. We have seen it charged against him, and admitted, that he wrote most offensive editorial articles in a party newspaper against one of the candidates in a case pending before him for judgment. We have had it publicly charged against this judge that before the votes were counted, he asserted that the candidate not to his liking should never get his seat. We have had the conduct of this man brought before Parliament, supported by the strongest of evidence against him, and we have seen his political friends say that there shall be no investigation into charges so serious—that no matter how great the wrong, the conduct of this man shall not be investigated.

We have never advocated the popular election of the judiciary, but if one occurrence more than another in recent years would move us to do so it would be the condoning of conduct so unseemly, so unfair, so calculated to shatter the confidence of the people in the integrity of the bench.

Is there, we ask our contemporary, a case on record in the United States or in Great Britain where, as in the London election case, a county judge pretended to be waiting the judgment of his superiors in the higher courts, and then turned round and showed his utmost contempt for it by deciding, as he had been writing in the editorial columns of the Free Press, that his own biassed views were preferable to the views of six judges on the Superior Court bench?

If the people of London and Middlesex were able to give an ungerrymandered verdict on this outrage they would vote that as between a good judge elected at the polls and a judge who becomes the creature of desperate politicians, they would infinitely prefer the former.

ANNEXED IN JOB LOTS.

That was an apt reference to the exodus which President Armstrong, of the Toronto Young Conservatives, made the other evening. He said:

"I am informed on reliable authority that no less than 4,000 have left this city during the past year—left all that was near and dear and gone into foreign exile. In short, gentlemen, there is no concealing the fact that we are being annexed in job lots every week and there is not a voice raised against it."

High taxation, we were told, would stay the exodus. It has accelerated it. Is it not about time for a change?

ONE CENT POSTAGE.

Postmaster General Wanamaker of the United States, in his forthcoming annual report, will urge that the country take over the telegraphs, as in Great Britain, and run them in connection with the post-office. As an argument for one-cent letter postage, Mr. Wanamaker will present the fact that the postoffice department will probably be self-sustaining in another year. It is coming. Will it not be a great disadvantage to Canadians if our neighbors, who now have a two-cent letter rate, begin to carry letters for one cent before we get below the three-cent limit?

Rev. Dr. John G. Paton, who was recently in this city, is giving the finishing touches to a book entitled, "Thirty Years Among the South Sea Cannibals," which is shortly to be published. It will be a very interesting narrative of the venerable author's wonderful experiences among the cannibals.

Chauncey Depew, the well-known United States orator, says: "Few if any of our American institutions have made more rapid and successful strides during recent years, and especially during the past decade, than general advertising. It has increased, it has been perfected, the field has been enlarged, a host of new ideas have been and are being constantly introduced, until to-day advertising is one of the most important elements essential to commercial success."

Miss Frances Willard, president of the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union, who has just returned from a visit to Lady Somerset, in England, was asked by a reporter, who cannot be at all bashful, why she never married. Miss Willard replied: "Why have I never married? I should frown down your impertinent question, but I won't. The sweetest compliment I ever received came from Mr. W. T. Stead. He said in an article on the W. C. T. U.: "She is a woman that men adore." I don't have any offers of marriage now, but when I did I could not choose between them. How did I refuse? Wrote them letters, the kindest and most grateful I knew how." Miss Willard, it is said, once had the refusal of the Bishop of Illinois.

Every one has recalled in connection with the peaceful passing away of Lord Tennyson his beautiful verses on "Crossing the Bar." This poem, says Canon Ainger, "too sacred for praise or comment," was written in Lord Tennyson's 81st year, when he journeyed across the Solent on his way from Aldworth to Faris, however, is given by a writer in the Bookman: "Being upbraided by his nurse because he had never written any hymns, Lord Tennyson composed "Crossing the Bar" the same night, and recited it to her the next morning. Our authority for this is a lady friend of Lord Tennyson, who received the information from the lips of the poet during a visit. It is quite possible that this account may be reconciled with that of Dr. Ainger, who asserts that it was written by Lord Tennyson on a day when he journeyed across the Solent from Aldworth to Farringford. There is nothing to prevent the poem having been composed before and written out afterward in its complete and perfect form."

Mr. George Edward Woodberry has an admirable paper on John Greenleaf Whittier, in the Atlantic for November, and Dr. Holmes has contributed a poem in his memory. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps has also a touching poem on Whittier, which was written as he lay dying. An installment of Mrs. Deland's "Story of a Child" is given. Never has a more idyllic elderly courtship been pictured than that of Mr. Tommy Dove and Miss Jane. Dr. Hale's paper, in his series on "A New England Boyhood," is devoted to social relations. He sketches the lecture system, tea-parties, and the fire department of old Boston days. A short story in two parts by Margaret Collier Graham, called, "The Withrow Water Right;" chapters of Mr. Crawford's "Don Orsino;" an able unsigned political essay on "The Two Programmes of 1892;" a paper by Samuel W. Dike, on "Sociology in the Higher Education of Women;" a paper on Breton Folk-Songs, by Theodore Bacon, with translations; and a poem by Lizette Woodworth Reese, are among the other attractions of the number. AGONIZING ECZEMA.

Awful Suffering. Driven Almost Insane by Doctors. Tried Cuticura. Relief Immediate. Entirely Cured in 2 Months.

I suffered with the dreadful eczema for over six months, during which time I had consulted three doctors, and this tormenting skin disease had grown worse and worse on me in spite of all medical treatment. My condition was unbearable. My legs were swollen, my arms were raw, my face and neck full of eruption, which made me scratch until my whiskers were soaked and pasted with the sickly fluid. I could hardly bear my clothing. When night came I was afraid to go to bed; no sleep would come to relieve me, but the itching would increase. During day time I had no rest; I was all broken up, nervous to the highest degree, and nearly driven to despair. At that time I read about the CUTICURA REMEDIES intended to try them, and dropped the doctors. After applying CUTICURA I had the first night's rest for several weeks. Using the CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with proper judgment, my condition improved slowly but surely day by day, until after three or four months' use of them I was cured. Our minister, Rev. J. G. Perrault, in Mandan, knows me and knows how I suffered. Anyone may write to him and he will certify to the truth of this testimonial.

That Tired Feeling

The marked benefit which people overcome by That Tired Feeling derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." J. B. Emerton, a well known merchant of Auburn, Maine, says: "About five years ago I began to suffer with very severe pain in my Stomach, gradually growing worse. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, being convinced that I was troubled with Dyspepsia complicated with Liver and Kidney troubles. I improved at once and am certainly very much better and feel more like working.

ATHLETICS.

The Coney Island Athletic Club directorate have decided to offer a purse of $20,000 for a fight between Hall and Fitzsimmons. The men have been notified.

Logansport, Ind., has again been swindled by the old foot race game, and it is hinted that the trick was performed by the famous sprinter, James Collins. A week ago a tramp butcher who lost his money arrived there, and found employment with a local meat dealer. Shortly after his arrival the tramp told his employer that he had a friend named Cox, who lived in Chicago, who was the fastest sprinter in the country, and that if a race could be secured in Logansport the would win some money. Cox was sent for, and he gave an exhibition of his speed to the meat dealer. The time made was compared with some champion sprinters and it was equal to them. The race for $500 came off just outside the city limits. Cox threw the race, allowing his opponent to win the money. As soon as the race was over Cox, his opponent and the tramp butcher boarded a Wabash train for the west, dividing the money on the train. The meat dealer threatens to kill them if he ever meets them.

THE HIGHEST PRICED HORSE ON EARTH.

A San Francisco dispatch says: Wm. O. B. McDonough, a capitalist of this city, has cabled the sum of $150,000 to the Rothschilds, London, to be held by them subject to the order of the Tattersalls in payment for the great stallion Ormonde, which McDonough has purchased. In his career Ormonde ran against all the great horses in England and was never defeated. His triumphs as a 4-year-old in 1886 included the triple victory of 2,000 guineas stake, the Derby and St. Leger. His winnings in that year alone amounted to $105,000. His total winnings for three years exceeded $143,000. Ormonde's greatest value is considered to lie in his qualities as a sire, three of his productions being the great 2-year-old Gold Finch, Lanthony and Orme. Bronchial or asthmatic trouble led to the transfer of Ormonde from the English stables of the Duke of Westminister to the warmer climate of Buenos Ayres, $60,000 being paid by Don Juan Bocan for the great racer.

Judge Collins has denied a petition of the Garfield Park Club restraining the Chicago police from interfering with its West Side track. This, it is said, is a final blow to the track.

Further Proceedings of the W. C. T. U. at Denver—Interesting Reports Submitted.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 1.—At yesterday's session of the W. C. T. U. convention miscellaneous business was first taken up, the subject under discussion being a change in constitution, giving only one delegate for every 1,000 members of each State organization of the Loyal Temperance Legion. Notice of proposed change in the constitution was made, increasing the executive committee of 50.

Reports of the national departments were taken up. The department of physical culture was ably presented by Mrs. Francis W. Seiter, of Mansfield, O., who was glad to say that this department was established formerly as a line of W. C. T. U. work. Mrs. Rattall, the business manager of the Woman's Temperance Publishing Association of Chicago, reported on the department of literature. Mrs. Hunt, national superintendent of scientific temperance, rendered an interesting report of the work accomplished by her department.

Before the adjournment a collection was taken in behalf of the W. C. T. U. for the sufferers by the conflagration of Newfoundland and realized $50.

In the afternoon Mrs. Matilda B. Carse, president of the W. T. P. A., presented the annual report of that organization, showing cash expenditures for the year $229,609 74, and assets $78,932 78. The results of the year exceeded the number of pages of that of any previous year. The number of employes on the pay roll is 124. During the year 61,958 letters were received containing orders for supplies, and the postage was $1,355 45. The amount of stock sold was $17,210, leaving a balance of $10,460 still to be disposed of. During the year 235,000,000 pages of temperance literature were printed by the W.T.P.A. and sent over the country. The evangelistic department was subsequently taken up by the convention, and several interesting speeches were made on what each department grouped under that head had been doing to save the masses.

In the evening the contest for the Demorest diamond medal took place. An overflow meeeting was held in Unity Church.

Miss Agnes Knox has been accorded the rare honor of being invited to reading before the Philosophical Institution of Edinburgh, which engagement she will fulfill in the early part of next year. With the single exception of Ellen Fawcett, now Lady Martin, the name of no other woman has appeared on the prospectus at that institution. For nearly 50 years this society had as its president Thomas Carlyle, and is now under the care and guidance of Mr. Gladstone.

Seven Men and Boys To Be Hanged.

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Nov. 1.—Charles Brooks, Fletcher Williams and Moses Brown (men), and Jos. Brainard, Louis Benson, Henry Hurrit, Fresby Comegys and C. S. Emory (boys), all convicted of the murder of Dr. James Hill, near Millington, Kent county, last April, have been sentenced to be hanged. All are colored and seem indifferent to their fate.

Commendable.

All claims not consistent with the high character of Syrup of Figs are purposely avoided by the California Fig Syrup Company. Applications in Order

From Teachers Who Wish to Retain Their Positions.

A Number of New Aspirants in the Field.

How the Health of High School Scholars Is Endangered—The Daily Attendance — Kindergarten Fees Must Be Paid in Advance.

The Board of Education held a special meeting last evening when Messrs. Dewar (chairman), Jeffery, Bradey, Alexander, McElheran, Craig, Love, Turner, Dr. Campbell, McRobert, D. W. Blackwell, Cook, Allaster, Dr. Wilson, R. J. Blackwell and Stephenson, Inspector Carson, Principal Merchant and Secretary Abbott were present. Some time ago the board passed a resolution to the effect that teachers be employed for one year at a time and that those wishing to be re-engaged should notify the board of their desire. Each teacher will be notified of this resolution, the applications to be in by Nov. 15.

A Belleville man asked permission to take photographs of school classes. Each teacher would get a picture of his class free and the children who wished copies would be charged 25 cents. Filed.

Applications were received for positions as teachers from Bella R. Nichol, Lizzie Peen, Agnes E. Bryans, Alice Farris, Kate Colquhoun, Emily Knott and Agnes E. McKenzie, and were referred to No. 1 Committee.

G. F. Robertson, 650 Dundas street, complained that pupils attending the Collegiate Institute, who were compelled to take their dinner to school had to eat it and remain during the noon hour in the furnace room. Here his daughter had caught a severe cold, which had settled on her lungs. He asked that the class rooms be open at noon for the use of such pupils. The matter was left with the principal.

C. B. Edwards, principal of Waterloo north school, applied for numerous repairs and alterations in his school. Referred to No. 2.

The reports of teachers and janitors were referred to the committees.

REPORTS.

Inspector Carson reported 4,764 pupils on the public school roll and 374 on the kindergarten, with an average attendance of 3,938 and 283 respectively. For the three nights on which the night schools had been open the average attendance had been: Colborne street 12, Rectory street 33, and King street 37.

Principal Merchant reported 470 on the roll and an average attendance of 438. Owing to the large number (90) of county pupils in attendance, he thought that an endeavor should be made to have the grant increased. No. 1.

No. 2 committee's report as submitted by Mr. Cook, chairman, recommended: (1) That Jas. Jury, janitor at the institute, be empowered to employ a boy to assist him at $3 a week; (2) that Morgan Gray receive $40 on his claim for cleaning closets; (3) submitting offers from Messrs. Christie and H. E. Nelles of lots for a kindergarten school north of the C. P. R.; (4) that Solomon Perry be appointed overseer of works in progress on the additions to several schools; (5) that the plans and specifications of Wortley road and Quebec street schools be approved with some slight alterations to the windows. The report was adopted.

No. 1 committee, by Mr. Allaster, chairman, recommended that kindergarten fees be collected in advance and when the pupils first enter the school. Adopted.

MOTIONS.

Mr. Stephenson moved that the salary of Mr. Gray, mathematical master at the Collegiate Institute, be increased to $1,200. Mr. Turner seconded.

Mr Jeffery moved in amendment that No. 1 committee consider the matter and report on a scale of salaries of the institute teachers, and that Mr. Stephenson's motion be referred to No. 1. Mr. Cook seconded. Carried.

Mr. McElheran moved that the matter of heating Princess avenue school be reconsidered. Lost. Yeas — Trustees Cook, Wilson, R. J. Blackwell, Allaster, Craig, McElheran and Alexander. Nays—Trustees McRobert, Campbell, Turner, Love, D. W. Blackwell, Brady, Stephenson and Jeffery.

The board then went into committee of the whole on the report of the audit committee, of which Mr. Jeffery is chairman. Mr. Allaster was in the chair.

R. J. Blackwell moved that the report be referred back to the committee to be "boiled down."

Mr. Dewar objected. The audit committee was necessary, judging from the disgraceful manner in which the business of the board had been carried on. Mr. McElheran agree with him.

Mr. Craig moved in amendment that the whole report be adopted. Mr. Dewar seconded.

Solomon Perry's report on storm windows at the Collegiate Institute was referred to No. 2 committee.

Mr. McRobert moved that the inspector be instructed to report to the board the number of hours spent by teachers in teaching hygiene and temperance. Carried.

Mr. Allaster moved that maps be secured for Talbot street school.

Mr. Dewar proposed referring the matter of procuring maps and globes where absolutely necessary to No. 1 committee. Adopted.

Mr. Jeffery moved that No. 2 committee report on numerous minor alterations at Talbot street school. Carried.

Mr. Jeffery moved that the time for the completion of brickwork at Rectory street school be extended until Dec. 31 and that all deposits of contractors be refunded after the work has been so far proceeded with that the amount held back amounts to 10 per cent. of the contract price. Carried.

Mr. McElheran moved that No. 2 committee report on the advisability of removing all closets from schools in which the Smead-Dowd system of heating is in operation. Carried.

Mr. Jefery gave notice that he would move that No. 2 committee report on the heating of the Collegiate Institute.

At 9:50 the chairman declared the board adjourned.

WILL IT BE CHEAPER.

If the City Controls Its Electric Lighting?

Estimated Annual Saving of from $7,000 to $10,000.

A Comprehensive Report on the Question Submitted by Ald. Parnell—An Outlay of $50,000 Required—General Business of No. 3 Committee.

In June last the council instructed No. 3 committee to bring in a report on the feasibility of the city owning and operating its own electric light system, the site to be at Springbank or any convenient place where, if practicable, water power could be utilized. The present three-year contracts expire in September, 1893. No. 3 appointed Ald. Parnell and Hannah and the city engineer as a sub-committee to get the information. Last night Ald. Parnell as chairman of said sub-committee brought in a very complete report on the question. Boiled down it was as follows:

The estimated cost of electric light this year was $20,300, as compared with $8,463 15 the last year gas was used. The present number of lights (213) was insufficient. We ought to have 250, which at the present rate would cost $20,500. The time had come when the city should control its own lighting. The sub-committee had it on competent authority that the city could acquire a plant of 300 arc lights, with 250 lights installed and 25 spare lamps ready for use, including wire, poles, steam power of four engines and four boilers with 300 horse power, and everything complete and in running order, at a cost not to exceed $50,000. And that left a good margin.

The annual interest on this outlay would be $2,250, and the annual depreciation through wear and tear about 5 per cent. The two combined the committee calculated at $4,750. The running expenses per annum would be about $17,500, so that with interest and depreciation they would aggregate $16,250 for 250 lights. At the present rate 250 lights would cost $23,500, so that there would be a clear saving to the city of $7,000 per annum. Fifty more lights could be put in under city ownership at a cost of $1,500, making a total cost of $17,750 a year—$10,000 less than under the present conditions. The present price was $94 per light per year; under city control it would be $59. Saving could also be affected by taking advantage of nine moonlight nights and by closing lights on the city outskirts at midnight or 1 a.m.

This estimate was made with reference to steam power only and no allowance whatever was made for the aid that would be rendered if the water power were utilized. The water commissioners were keeping an accurate account of the waste water power at Springbank for one year starting June last and until the test was completed it would be unwise to base any figures upon that power. If it were possible to use that power, say nine months in the year, it would be a further saving of $3,500 a year in coal. Making the running expenses at least $10,000 less per annum than now for 250 lights. The business would be better managed by a commission such as that of the waterworks department, elected by the vote of the people. The amount of horse power required for 250 lamps was about 225. The estimate included a building 60x120 feet, with a chimney 150 feet high. A separate estimate of the cost of the plant with water power was $59,500. The running expenses (with steam alone) were calculated as follows:

One engineer with knowledge of electricity	$ 1,200
One assistant engineer	650
Three firemen	900
Two horses	1,560
Oil and waste	300
Carbons	350
Coal at $4 a ton	1,600
Debentures at 4½ per cent	5,000
Depreciation at 5 per cent	2,250
Total	$ 6,250
Present cost of 250 lights	$23,500
Estimated cost under city control	16,250
Balance in favor of city control	$ 7,250

Nothing was said, the report continued, about the benefits of commercial lighting. Many cities and towns found it most profitable to engage in it, and the committee believed the revenue from that source would largely decrease the expenditure. It recommended that a bylaw be submitted at the next municipal election providing for the assumption by the city of the ownership and control of its electric lighting.

Mayor Spencer complimented Ald. Parnell upon the thoroughness of his report and thought the sub-committee deserved the greatest credit.

Ald. Parnell added that if the plant were established at Springbank a loss in power of three lamps in a circuit of 50 would be entailed by transmission. For that reason it might be well to choose a nearer site.

On motion the report was referred to the council for consideration.

The committee discussed several alleged breaches of the fire limits bylaw. The engineer will endeavor to get the persons complained of to alter their buildings to conform with the bylaw; if they refuse he will place the matter in the council's hands. It was also resolved that in future a description of every building about to be erected must be sent the engineer, who, if satisfied, will issue permits for the same.

The matter of providing the firemen with an extra pair of pants for the winter months was broached but no action taken. Ald. Parnell thought they should be better treated.

Inspector Bell reported $1,621 collected in licenses up to date for the year 1892. He was empowered to summons coal oil peddlers and others if they did not pay their licenses.

Market Clerk Wilson reported that he had laid informations against three hucksters.

The council's request for a scheme whereby citizens could get their wood measured free if the wood market clerk were dismissed was laid over. The clerk, Mr. Mullins, reported $5 50 collected in fees for September and October. Instructions were given to burn less gas in the market building.

The expenses of the committee, which included a trip to Hartford were only $10.

Ald. Fitzgerald (chairman), Ald. Moule, Ald. John Hunt, Ald. Parnell, Mayor Spencer, City Engineer Graydon, Chief Roe and Inspector Bell were present.

Wm. Smith's assessment at $825 was reduced.

This ended the business of the court of revision, and the council meeting was then resumed.

The following accounts were passed and ordered to be paid: Mrs. Bolton, for gravel, $2; R. Pudney, janitor, $2 25; W. Hodson, labor, $9 47. The Ball Electric Light Company's account of $87 75 was referred to No. 1 committee with power.

The chairman of the board of works was empowered to have a ditch on Paul street cleaned out.

The balance of the salary of the late clerk, T. S. Minton, was ordered to be paid.

It was moved by Deputy Reeve Scarrow and seconded by Councilor Collins that the reeve and clerk investigate and report at next meeting on the rights of the corporation to parts of Queen street and Wharncliffe road appropriated by the C. P. R. Carried.

It was moved by Councilor Collins, seconded by Deputy Reeve Scarrow, and unanimously adopted, that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to ex-Clerk T. S. Minton for his fourteen years' efficient services.

HE FAILED TO MEET HER.

So She Went To His House Smashed Things and Threw Pepper in His Eyes.

SWEDESBORO, N. J., Nov. 1.—Miss Martie Richardson, the handsome daughter of David Richardson, a retired farmer, made things lively here on Friday evening by smashing the windows of the house of Frank Black, and throwing pepper in the eyes of Black and the officer who attempted to arrest her.

Black, who is a well-known commission merchant, failed to keep an appointment with the girl on that evening, and, angered at the disappointment, she disguised herself with a mask and armed with a black jack proceeded to his house. Being denied admission she made an onslaught on the windows, breaking all within her reach.

Black is a married man with two children. Miss Richardson is prostrated.

Mr. Blake's Movements.

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—Hon. Edward Blake, who, with Mrs. Blake, left Toronto yesterday for New York, whence they sail tomorrow for the old country, was, before his departure, presented by the local Home Rulers with nearly $1,000 for the Irish fund, being the amount collected here since the recent great meeting at which the ex-Liberal leader spoke.

The Dominion Government to Blame.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The Government has given out an authorized statement to the effect that the delay in issuing a proclamation for reciprocity in wrecking on the lakes is due to the failure of the Dominion Parliament to act. The statement is ready at any moment to issue such proclamation.

Bye-Elections for Parliament.

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—Following are the official dates of the pending bye-elections to the House of Commons: Selkirk, Man., polling Nov. 10; St. John, N. B., city and county, polling Nov. 22; East Assiniboia, N. W. T., polling Nov. 28, nomination in each case being a week earlier than elections. The Speaker's warrant has been issued for a new election in L'Islet, Que., but no writ has yet been issued. There are also vacancies in Kent, N. B., and Vaudreuil, Que., making six in all, but no Speaker's warrants have yet issued in the two latter cases.

The Tea Table.

A pretty bouquet of summer flowers, a nice china tea set with the fragrant aroma of the finest Ceylon tea coming from every cup, some good bread and creamery butter, and a plate covered with nice light tea biscuits baked with Pure Gold Baking Powder is sufficient to make the rich as well as the poor rejoice and be thankful.

Ovide Musin, the Violinist, Nov. 12.

Mr. W. J. Birks desires to call the attention of the music-loving public of London to the concert on Saturday, Nov. 12, by the above-named artist and his excellent company. Mr. Ovide Musin's fame as a violin virtuoso now belongs to the whole world. He has attained that enviable position where criticism is disarmed and where the word master in its superlative sense crowns him with laurels which places him far above earthly potentates. The dominion which he exercises over the human mind by his magic use of the bow on the king of instruments, the violin language fails to describe. The senses become enthralled when listening to the divine harmonies evoked and which revel in beautitude until the last note dies away and its cadences are catacaustically lost. From the soothing lullaby of a gentle mother over her infant's cradle down to the deep diapason of old ocean as the surf beats wildly on the beach, all possible sounds are represented. At one moment the instrument used seemed to shriek with agony, and then again, in soft, delicious, gentle strains, reminded one of a soul, unstained by sin, passing from earth to heaven. As easily could we paint the lurid lightning flash, or describe by mere effort of words the delicate notes of the mocking bird as heard in its native grove. At one moment the eyes of his audience are almost filled with tears, at another the pulse of all present seem to tingle with delight. This is the man, the artist, the genius that Londoners are to have the pleasure of hearing. The concert will be strictly "a Saturday night popular," and the price will be popular too. Bear it in mind, and don't forget the date, Saturday, Nov. 12, at the Grand Opera House. b

WEEKLY REVIEW.

LONDON, Nov. 2.

The deliveries for the week just closed have been unsettled. The early receipts did not amount to much, but later on they improved. Wheat was the principal line put forward and values were steady until Tuesday, when the influence of the depressed eastern and western markets was severely felt, resulting in a sharp decline of 5c per 100 pounds. One leading wheat man says reports from the principal market show that there is now more wheat occupying car and bin room than railroad companies can afford, and some lines have refused to allow their cars to be loaded with grain. It takes so long to get them emptied again, and local traffic is suffering for want of cars. The only way out of the difficulty, of course, was to advance rates in the hope of checking the movement. Then, again, the European markets are not improving sufficiently to cover the advanced freight charges, and the consequence is prices at the first markets had to be lowered. The close of this market was $1 05 for red and $1 07 for white.

Oats continue to come in slowly and prices are remarkably firm, 88c to 90c being the figures paid—mostly the latter.

The offerings of rough grain have been very light and values are steady. Peas bring 95c to $1; barley, 80c; corn, $1; rye, $1.

There was quite a spurt in butter and eggs about the middle of the week—Saturday in particular. It was caused by light offerings and a good demand.

Eggs sold up to 22c, and pound roll butter to 27c. Monday and Tuesday saw very good deliveries, and prices fell back to 20c to 22c for pound rolls, and 17c to 18c for fresh eggs.

Dressed hogs easier; sales at $6 to $6 25 per 100 lbs.

Beef dull and unchanged.

Potatoes are coming in freely and sell at 90c per bag.

Apples and grapes were the only kinds of fruit offered. The former were dull and the latter active at prices given.

Hay unsettled and easily affected by the supply.

Business Pointers.

[Reported by Drummond & Goldingham.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The banks have lost since Friday $1,102,796.

Chicago gas has advanced to the highest point ever reached, on the announcement that the directors will meet at the close of the week and order a distribution of 14 per cent. on the current three months business.

Bradstreet's report says: Wheat east of the Rockies has increased 3,307,000 bu, Pacific coast has decreased 332,000 bu, corn has increased 624,000 bu, and oats have increased 19,000 bu.

Cotton receipts 44,000 bales, against 57,000 last week, and 62,000 last year.

A reaction in stocks is looked for before material advance.

A Liverpool cable says spot cotton is firm and prices are unchanged. Manchester strong for yarns. Cloths quiet.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The weakness in wheat carries corn down. The market is inactive and heavy.

British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Oct 31.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade says: The low prices current are greatly affecting the market deliveries of wheat, farmers having 15 per cent. less and delivering 20 per cent. less. Millers are bidding low for imported wheat, knowing that the greater part of the American surplus of 5,000,000 quarters will come to Great Britain, as France will need only one-fifth and Holland one-third of what they needed in 1891, while the Australian surplus promises to be double that of 1891. Barley, oats and corn were firm during the week. At to-day's market damp wheat of poor quality brought at rare intervals 30s. Foreign wheat remained unchanged owing to the small imports. Barley was 1s lower. Oats, rye and corn were slightly cheaper.

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Cattle—About 35 cars on sale, 27 of which were yesterday's leavings; about 20 cars were sold to-day, mostly stockers and light butchers'; market was steady at about yesterday's prices. The fresh receipts were good cattle.

Sheep and Lambs—Eight loads of Canadas and 27 loads of natives on sale; best Canada lambs sold at $5 65. Only a small proportion of the native stock was choice, and the market was dull for poorer grades; some Canada sheep sold at $4 75, the top price of the market. There is too much common stock coming, but prospects are fair for fat sheep and choice lambs.

Hogs—Ninety cars on sale, mostly below good quality; in fact, few above fair. The market ruled very slow and all of 10c to 15c lower; packers bought most of the hogs to-day at $4 65, a few at $5 75, and also a few strong weights of 125 to 240 lbs at $5 80; one load brought $5 85; Yorkers of good weight and fair to good quality sold at $5 40 to $5 60, with light Yorkers at $5 25 to $5 40. Pigs were very dull and five loads remained unsold; good straight lots sold at $5 15, while culls and their pigs are not wanted at all; roughs lower, selling at $4 50 to $5; stags, $4 35 to $4 50.

Barley Markets.

BUFFALO, Nov. 1.—Barley—Receipts, 171,000 bu; shipments, 59,150 bu. There is no quotable change in the market. Fair inquiry is reported for choice grades and No. 1 Canada is quoted at 82c to 85c, as to color and location for delivery; No. 3 extra Canada, by sample, quoted 75c; No. 2 western 55c to 60c; State choice, 75c.

At Albany—Barley market quiet; demand mostly State; Canada, dark to good colored heavy, 80c to 89c; two-rowed State, 63c to 70c; six-rowed State, fair to fancy, 73c to 85c; western nominal, at 65c to 80c.

At Oswego the market is nominally without receipts. Canal freights to New York, 3½c.

At New York there is little doing, and values are not quotably changed.

At Milwaukee—Receipts, 162,000; shipments, 85,000; spot lower; No. 2 sold at 67c on track; No. 2 Nov., 65c; sample lots, 40c to 60c; rather quiet, the splurge in October having settled off.

At Chicago—Receipts 125,000; shipments, 47,000 bu; market firm; No. 2 barley, 63c to 64c; No. 3, f. o. b., 58c to 63c; No. 4, f. o. b., 38c to 56c.

At St. Louis—Market dull; Iowa good, 56½c; Minnesota fair to good, 42½c to 55c.

Dairy Markets.

Thanks.

The local committee of management of the Christian Endeavor Convention recently held in this city desire thus publicly to express their cordial and heartfelt thanks to the citizens of London who kindly threw open their homes to the delegates coming from all parts of the Province; to those who were not able to receive delegates but gave aid toward that object, and to all who assisted in any way in welcoming the visitors; to those who sent provisions, or assisted at the social held in the rink; to the ADVERTISER and Free Press for their complete and interesting accounts of the proceedings and for copies of the papers supplied to the delegates; to the authorities of the churches who loaned the edifices for the use of meetings; to the postal authorities for kindness in providing facilities for efficient mail service; to the Bell Telephone Company for the use of the telephone and other favors. Signed on behalf of the committee. M. P. Talling (chairman), W. J. Doherty (secretary).

Downing in the City.

Tragedian Robert Downing, accompanied by Eugenie Blair and his company of legitimate players, including Fred Mosley, Mark Price, Geo. Macomber, Miss Florence Erwin and others of equal prominence, arrived in the city this morning, and are quartered at the Tecumseh. Mr. Downing will be seen in "Virginius" this evening, which is conceded by critics to be one of his strongest impersonations. He brings with him all the special scenery for both of the plays that he will appear in during his London engagement. The costumes that are worn by the members of the company are said to be most elaborate and historically correct. The stage carpenters have been busily engaged all day in fitting the massive scenery in position, and from present indications Mr. Downing will be greeted by two crowded houses. Theater patrons can be assured that his merits fully deserve it.

A Local Pythian Honored.

Franklin Lodge, No. 2, K. of P. of Washington, D. C., the oldest Pythian lodge in the world, adopted the following resolution on Sept. 21, 1892: "That P. G. C. Alex. Gardner, jun., a visiting member of Londen, Ont., of the grand jurisdiction of Canada be presented with a K. of P. apron as a memento from this the oldest lodge in the world, No. 2 of Washington, grand jurisdiction of the district of Columbia, and that a letter be sent to P. C. Gardner, signed by the officers and members present, with the seal of the lodge attached, as an evidence of genuineness of the gift." The lodge records state that P. C. Hayghe, one of the oldest members of the lodge and the order, presented the apron to Bro. Gardner with a few appropriate remarks, which were responded to by Bro. Gardner, who thanked the lodge for the favor conferred upon him. Mr. Gardner has just received a copy of this resolution, which is signed by 30 or 40 of the officers and members of the lodge, including Ed. Dunn, the oldest P. S. C. in the world.

ANOTHER RAILWAY SMASH.

Steamship Passengers Escape One Disaster to Meet Another—Three Killed and Fifty Injured.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 2.—Many of the people who were on the Birkenhead ferry boat last night when it collided with the ship Eurydice had hardly gotten over their scare when they met with another accident far more serious. A large number of these people boarded a train on the Mersey. As the train was leaving the ferry station it ran into an engine and was wrecked. Three of the passengers were killed and 50 of them injured. Some women who were not injured in any way were made hysterical by the succession of accidents. Many of the injured passengers refused to continue their journey, fearing a further accident might befall them.

NEWS THE WORLD OVER.

Archbishop Vaughan and Mgr. Stoner are to be the next British cardinals.

Dr. Carter, of Birmingham, delivering an address on brain work and brain workers, called special attention to the danger of working too soon after meals. At least half an hour should elapse before exerting the brain. An hour's close attention to one subject was as much as could profitably be given at a sitting. He strongly deprecated the use of sedatives by brain workers who could not sleep.

The vicar of Middlewich, being consulted by a parishioner as to whether he would save his grain on Sunday, wrote: "I am informed that the corn is already seriously damaged, and with more wet will soon become worthless. In the ordinary course of events an emergency of this kind is not likely to occur again for a series of years. As a clergyman I wish to say that in my opinion farmers will be justified in saving their corn should the need for carrying it on Sunday next in their judgment appear urgent."

British postal cards of the value of one halfpenny—corresponding to our one-cent cards—have always sold at three farthings each. The penny cards recently put on sale for foreign correspondence, sell for just one penny, the simple amount of the postage, as all cards sell here. The British people now want to know why cent post cards don't sell for a cent, and one member of Parliament has figured that the revenue from the extra farthing on each post card brings in to the Government over $110,000 a year. The annual sale of postal cards is about 230,000,000.

Only a Free Kirk Minister.

In "Edinburgh Sketches During Assembly Time," by "Catter Thun," with illustrations by Kenneth M. Cameron, the following story is told: "When did you arrive, McTaggart?" asked Skeandhu. "Apout an hour ago; I came in py the Glasgow train. Such a passage as I had on the west coast! Man, it was fearful." "Stormy?" inquired Skeandhu. "That's not the word for it—it was tempestuous." "You would have it wild off the Mull?" "We had, and a small accident, too. There was a Free Church minister went overboard." "Was he lost?" "He was that. The captain was in a fearful hurry to get on to Glasgow, so, when they called 'Minister overboard,' the captain shust pawled 'What shurch?' 'Free Schurch,' roared the first mate, 'Steam ahead,' roared the captain, and we saw the man no more. He is a great supporter of the Established Church is Capt. McTurk, and a terry fine fellow."

Danesbury House.

On the morning that was to witness the return of the children, a lady approached the house, ascended the stone steps to the pillared portico, and entered a spacious hall on either side of which were reception chambers. It was Mrs. Philip Danesbury, the widow of Mr. Danesbury's brother. She enjoyed a handsome income from the business and resided near; a talkative, pleasant woman, young still, possessed of good sense, and of keen penetration. She was in Yorkshire, her native place, when the recent fatal event took place, and had now been home a day or two. Mr. Danesbury had seen her the previous day, and her present visit was to Glisson and the baby. While she was in the nursery talking, she observed her brother-in-law approaching from the factory, and went downstairs to meet him.

"John," she began, as soon as they were in the sitting-room, dashing at once into some news she had just heard, "Glisson says there's a lady coming here to be in Isabel's place."

"Not in Isabel's place," interrupted Mr. Danesbury, in a tone of pain. "No one can fill that. Do not say so."

"Well, you know what I meant, John. Unfortunately no one can ever fill it, in any sense of the word. She was worth more than any of us who are left. Poor, poor, Isabel!"

Mr. Danesbury sat silent, his countenance betraying a shade more of its deep sorrow. He was not a demonstrative man, and he buried his grief within him.

"But there is somebody coming to rule the household and manage the children," proceeded Mrs. Philip Danesbury. "Who is it?"

"Miss St. George, Mrs. Serle's sister. She has offered to remain here a little while."

"A little while!' That means an indefinite period, I suppose."

"No time was mentioned. It was Mrs. Serle who wrote and proposed it. I thought it exceedingly kind and considerate of her, and accepted it gratefully."

"But whatever made you accept it all in such a hurry?" continued Mrs. Philip, in her hasty way.

"I accepted it for the children's sake. Who is to overlook them? Glisson can take care of William, but Arthur and Isabel should not be left to the entire companionship of servants."

"The better plan would have been—John," she broke off, "I have been turning things over in my mind, before I knew of this Miss St. George scheme. I think Arthur should be placed at school, and I will take charge of Isabel."

"You are very kind, Maria," he sadly answered. "But the house, deprived of the two children, would be more desolate than with them. What objection do you see to Miss St. George staying here—for I think I detect that you have an objection?"

"A minute, John, answer me a question or two before I answer yours. What age is this Miss St. George?"

"I do not know. I have a general idea that she is not young. I once saw her at Mr. Serle's, but retain a very faint recollection of her. I fancy she is older than Mrs. Serle, and lives with her because she has no other home."

"There, that is quite enough; you have most fully answered me," impetuously returned Mrs. Philip. "Take care of yourself, John."

"Take care of myself! In what way?"

"It will be a terrible temptation to a woman in her position, the getting herself to be the real mistress of this house. She will play her cards with the hope and view to be your second wife, John; mind she does not play them to win."

A contraction of displeasure passed across Mr. Danesbury's ample brow. He could not understand his sister-in-law, and deemed these remarks to be unworthy of her.

"John," she resumed, "I can not help speaking out all my thoughts, but it is that I am anxious for the children's welfare and your happiness. You can not understand these things, but I can; and rely upon it, this lady's motive in proffering a temporary sojourn here arises from a dim hope that she may improve it into a permanent one. I see also another evil that it will cause—rebellion and warfare with the servants. You look surprised, but I tell you you have had no experience in these things, and do not understand them."

No, Mr. Danesbury did not understand it at all, and he certainly did not believe it. He asked Mrs. Philip to remain for dinner.

"I will," she replied, "and I shall let Miss St. George know, unmistakably, that I am Mrs. Philip Danesbury, the nearest kin you and the children have, and quite competent to direct the affairs of the Danesbury House, where direction may be necessary, without her assistance."

Mrs. Philip untied the crape strings of her bonnet as she spoke, and ran upstairs again. She was somewhat given to be dictatorial, but she was a thoroughly sincere, good woman at heart. Glisson opened upon her grievance.

"I hope this new person's not going to take too much upon herself, ma'am, for it's what I sha'n't be able to put up with. I'd do anything for a Danesbury, and for my dear late mistress, who was a mistress in a thousand, but an interloper is a different sort of thing. Master said that we were to take our orders from her."

"It's beginning," thought Mrs. Philip; but she did not choose to say so, she was fond of keeping servants in their places. Miss St. George is a relative of poor Mrs. Danesbury and every respect must be shown her, Glisson," she said, in an authoritative tone, "Jessy, I hope you hear me also. I dare say you will get on very well with her for the time she is to remain.

Glisson made no reply. She went out for the baby, who had been laid down for his midday sleep, and brought him in. The sleeves of his embroidered white frock were tied up with black silk ribbon, and he wore a black sash.

"Poor little motherless darling!" uttered Mrs. Philip, taking the child, and clasping him to her. "I wish papa would give you to me, my little godson," she murmured, covering his sweet face, so lovely in its rosy flush, with kisses. The tears came into her eyes as she gazed on him—for the having no children had been Mrs. Philip Danesbury's great trial in life. "Glisson," she suddenly exclaimed, "how did that dreadful mistake happen? How came you to be deceived in the medicine?"

"Ma'am," said the nurse, turning round in a sort of frenzy, "I'll go down upon my knees and beg you not to ask me! I have been almost mad ever since, thinking of it; and if I have to talk of it, it will drive me quite so. I wish I had been dead before it happened!"

She sat down in the rocking-chair, threw her apron over her head, and burst into a storm of wails and sobs. Mrs. Philip walked about with the child and considerately abstained from further allusion to it. In the midst of this, the travelers were seen approaching. It was a clear, frosty day, and they were walking up from the Ram, where the stage-coach stopped. The two children, in their somber black attire, were accompanied by two ladies, one of whom was in deep mourning, and the other in slighter.

"Why, there's two of them!" unceremoniously uttered Glisson, who had made her way to the window.

"Miss St. George has put on deep black to be like the family, as she is to stay here," decided Mrs. Philip; "and the other must be Mrs. Serle."

She eyed Miss St. George critically as she spoke. Glisson did the same. A thin, shortish, vinegar-looking lady, with cold, light eyes, a sharp nose, and flaxen hair; Miss St. George was one of those whom black attire does not improve.

"It's a disagreeable face, if ever I saw one," cried Glisson; "as cross as two sticks. If she knew anybody was looking at her, she'd smooth it, I expect."

"Five-and-thirty, if she's a day, and a soured woman," was Mrs. Philip Danesbury's mental comment. Won't she be a try at John?"

The visitors were shown to the drawing-room, a spacious apartment opening to the lawn. It was fitted up with rich silk damask furniture, mirrors, ornaments, and some exquisite paintings. Mrs. Philip Danesbury entered, and welcomed the two ladies gracefully, as though she were the mistress of the house.

"To whom have we the honor of speaking?" demanded Mrs. Serle.

"Madame, to the sister-in-law of Mr. Danesbury, the aunt of these dear children. I am Mrs Philip Danesbury. This, I presume, is Miss St. George, who has kindly proffered us a visit."

"I proffered it for her," smiled Mrs. Serle, who appeared all complaisances. "The isolated condition of these poor children, left entirely to servants, struck me as being so pitiable, that I suggested to Eliza to come home with them for a short period, should it be agreeable to Mr. Danesbury. I did not know of their possessing so efficient a relative near to them. From the remarks of the children, I fancied Mrs. Philip Danesbury's residence was in Yorkshire."

He Quit the Doctor.

Gentlemen,—I was troubled with dyspepsia for about four years and tried several remedies, but found them of little use. I noticed an advertisement of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I quit the doctor, and started to use B. B. B., and soon found that there was nothing to equal it. It took just three bottles to effect a perfect cure in my case, and I can highly recommend this excellent remedy to all.

THE DUNLOP CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS.

The Discoverer Tells What It Has Accomplished.

[Orillia Packet.]

Notwithstanding very short notice, Kennedy's Hall was well filled on Monday evening to listen to Dr. J. D. Dunlop, of Alpena, Mich., who gave an account of the work he has accomplished and is doing with his cure for drunkenness. The committee of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union did not receive the letter sent by Dr. Dunlop fixing the date for his visit to Orillia, but on hearing he was in town went energetically to work to make it as widely known as possible. There was no time to issue special invitations to the medical men, but two or three of them were in the audience. The Rev. John Gray, D.D., presided. The audience sang "What a friend we have in Jesus," and the Rev. Canon Greene offered up a short prayer. In introducing Dr. Dunlop the chairman said that the meeting had been called together to consider the greatest evil by which the human race was afflicted—drunkenness. There was no one who had not in some way suffered from it. If there was any remedy it should be hailed as one of the greatest boons which God had given. Orillians should be especially interested in that under consideration since the discoverer was a native of this town. Wherever Orillians went, to the Northwest, the neighboring republic or other parts of the world, they came to the front.

Dr. Dunlop said that he had a different feeling standing before an Orillia audience than he had ever before experienced in his life. In looking over the faces before him he saw few that were familiar, for of the people who lived here when he was a boy, some had gone to other places and many more had been laid away in the silent cemetery. Drunkenness had been called a great many fancy names, such as narcomania, dipsomania, inebriety, etc., but the speaker thought the old name was the most expressive. Medical men used to look upon drunkenness not as a disease, but as the cause of many of the most serious maladies with which they were familiar. Some have no desire to drink, while in others the appetite is quite irresistible. Alcohol created its own desire, and he was fully satisfied that taken even in small quantities, if continued, it was injurious—and very injurious. A genuine drunkard cannot stop drinking, and, while no recognized disease is the cause of this, the appetite, if once cured, will not return. Dr. Norman Kerr, one of the greatest medical scientists in England, was of opinion that this could not be done; but he was mistaken. The speaker had often been asked "How he stumbled on it?" All his life he had been a strong temperance advocate. While he did not hesitate to prescribe alcohol where he thought necessary, he considered that it was not needed half as often as the doctors administered it. At a hospital in Alpena he found that though the old method of treatment of delirium tremens often resulted in the death of the patients, the way which he tried not only restored the patients to health, but left them with no desire for liquor. Only one of the drunkards whom he had cured had relapsed, and he hoped yet to be successful in that case also. Where the brain was diseased a cure could not be effected; and every disease which might have been contracted would not, as a necessary result of the return to sobriety, be driven out of the system, but a patient could in most cases be restored to nearly the same condition as prevailed before he became addicted to drink. Though Dr. Dunlop could not say for certain, having no data, he thought that about 75 per cent. of those whom he treated could not drink afterwards. At least 500 families who were miserable from drink had been made happy through the doctor's instrumentality. The appetite for drink was hereditary, without the shadow of a doubt. Because of that hereditary taint the women of to-day could not endure the hardships which their mothers and grandmothers overcame. Because of it our lunatic and idiot asylums were full to overflowing, nine-tenths of the occupants being the victims of the drink curse. The same curse was the cause of the prevalence of epilepsy and kindred afflictions. As many died through drink who never indulged in it, as drunkards, and 70,000 citizens of the United States were laid in drunkards' graves every year. The speaker had been in many a home where a cultured mother lived with her half-starving children, without a chair, without a bed, almost without food, and all because the father was a drunkard. Throughout his lecture Dr. Dunlop cited a number of instances in which he had effected cures of drunkards. In reply to a question, he said that the patient were under treatment an average of twenty days, and that when he understood that the Woodstock company, which had secured the control of the cure in Ontario, thought of putting a depot in each county, he had recommended Orillia as the most suitable place in the county of Simcoe. Dr. Dunlop offered to treat any well-known drunkard from his native town, free of charge, if the citizens would pay the railway fare to Alpena and the patient's board bill. If he failed to effect a cure he himself would bear all the expenses.

The doxology was sung, and the Rev. N. Wellwood, F.R.H.S., pronounced the benediction.

Glass In Sandwiches.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Nov. 2.—William Root, who works in the Singer machine works here, was attacked with a fit of coughing after eating a sandwich in the shop. For several minutes it was feared the man would choke. A doctor gave him an emetic, and he was himself shortly. An examination of another sandwich he was about to eat showed that it was sprinkled with broken glass. The sandwiches had been prepared by Root's wife. He said that she meant to kill him. They had a quarrel about a month ago, and Mrs. Root had her husband arrested. He accuses her of infidelity. The couple live at 116 Price street. Each is about 30 years old. It is said he beat her a few nights ago and that she declared she would put an end to him.

A WELL-KNOWN NAME IN CANADA.

A Popular Clergyman in Sabbath Schools.

The Rev. John McKillican, agent of the Canada Sabbath School Union, is known in every section of Canada. He has established thousands of Sabbath schools during his many years of faithful work, and but few men have done a greater work for the religious training of the young in our Dominion.

The Rev. Mr. McKillican, who travels in all sorts of weather, often has the misfortune of being attacked by colds. At such times the reverend gentleman uses Harvard Bronchial Syrup, and quickly rids himself of all trouble and danger. He has seen fit to testify in favor of Canada's great cough remedy as follows:

"From personal experience and the testimony of others to whom I have suggested the use of Harvard Bronchial Syrup, I can strongly recommend it."

No other remedy of modern times can so quickly relieve and banish coughs, sore throat and all bronchial affections. Every home should have it for emergencies during this changeable weather. It will banish in a few hours the most obstinate cough and sore throat. If your druggist is out of it, tell him he must procure it for you at once.

Lovers of art will be will repaid by a visit to Jones' auction this evening to see the collection of oil paintings and water colors by standard artists which are to be sold by auction to-morrow afternoon and evening. Everybody is welcome to see this collection of pictures. Sale unreserved. J. W. JONES, auctioneer. b

—Thos. Garside, a city gravel contractor, has laid an information against Michael Tierney, charging him with having used threatening, abusive and insulting language. The men were working in the same locality yesterday, when the alleged offense was committed. Tierney at first wanted to fight, but when Garside became willing to accommodate him his anxiety to encounter had vanished.

—The large and handsome picture of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church choir, which was presented to Rev. H. C. Speller a few days before his departure to Florida, was the work of Frank Cooper, the well-known Dundas street photographer. Twenty persons are represented in the group, the likenesses—which are good—including that of the ex-pastor. Altogether the work gives great satisfaction.

WHILE TEMPORARILY INSANE.

The Jury's Verdict on the Hartley Suicide — Evidence at the Inquest.

The coroner's inquest in connection with the suicide of Mrs. Thomas Hartley, was held at the residence of the deceased at 4 p.m. yesterday. The jury was composed of J. P. O'Higgins (foreman), Edward West, John Pennecott, Joseph B. Simpson, James Alliston, Richard Cullis, Alfred Giblin, Frank Whetter, Jos. Gateclif, Archibald Black, Cornelius B. Smith, Elijah L. Carrothers, Henry Parsons and George Clampitt. The evidence of Thomas Hartley, husband of deceased, Sergeant Adams, James Gleeson, Mrs. Celestie Jeffery, Joshua Hartley, father-in-law of deceased, W. C. Riddle and Dr. Niven was heard. The jury brought in a verdict of suffocation, brought about by deceased during a temporary fit of mental aberration.

Thos. Hartley said that he and his wife had had numerous minor differences, but none of them had ever amounted to anything. They were soon forgotten. Deceased, he said, was of a very forgiving disposition. When he came up in the morning to awaken her at the usual hour he was horrified to find her hanging in the hall. She was accustomed to having short spells of sickness, during which she suffered great pain, and at these times she was generally depressed in spirits. She had frequently threatened to take her life.

Joshua Hartley was convinced that if his son and deceased had lived unhappy together he should certainly have heard of it, for deceased was at his place on an average of at least once a week and frequently two or three times.

Dr. Niven, who performed the post-mortem examination, said that there were no marks or contusions on the body. Death was caused by suffocation. The pressure was entirely over the wind pipe and therefore did not cause strangulation.

PAUL PEEL'S DEATH.

Particulars of the Last Illness of the Noted Canadian Artist.

Pathetic Recital of Events and Beautiful Tribute to the Memory of Deceased by His Wife's Sister.

Particulars of the death of Mr. Paul Peel, the distinguished Canadian artist, have been received from Paris by his father, ex-Ald. John R. Peel, of this city. The sad event, which has caused widespread regret, was, as will be seen by the first letter received by a member of Mr. Peel's family, comparatively sudden, deceased being ill but eight days. The letter, which is dated Paris, Oct. 18, is from Miss Emma Verdier, sister of Mrs. Peel, who, though a Dane, writes remarkably well in English. She writes to Mr. Fred Peel, brother of deceased, who is in business in Philadelphia. Her sad recital of the facts attending the young artist's death is in the following terms:

Yes, is it not dreadful? I think you can hardly understand that Paul, our dear, gentle, brother Paul, is dead. What a terrible and hard trial it is to us all! One feels inclined to ask whether one can possibly bear the pain and grief. But we must remember that Paul is as happy now as he could never be down here. I am so glad and grateful that he only suffered eight days. I shall never forget that Sunday he came home accompanied by a doctor. He was taken ill at one of his friends (an artist) whose wife happened to be alone. She sent for a doctor living near, and he went home with Paul, who was so very pale. When I saw him I felt as if a hand cold as ice had been put upon my heart. I don't know why, but I felt immediately that this was death coming. And so suddenly! Dear, dear Paul! He spoke of us all, and said many times, "Missen, dearest Misson, Fred and Rub" (referring to his family in Canada), with a voice as if he put all his heart and love in the words. He recognized us all till the last hour, and died quietly and calm. When I think of his big, mild eyes, it seems to me to be a dream altogether, and that I must find him in his studio again; but alas! that happy time is passed and will never come again. How glad you must be that you saw him this spring. None of us thought it would be the last time. He was so often talking of the autumn. He did not like it, and said it was like death, everything so dull and sad. He just left us before the cold days came. Since he died it has been like winter—no sunshine and always rain. The day he was carried away the sun fell so lovely just on his coffin, as if it would give him the last farewell, and since that day the house seems so empty, everything so changed—we three sisters, too! My poor Isaure, it is good she has her children, otherwise this hard time might have broken her down entirely. Paul was too good for this world. I never met a character like his; therefore, I was so fond of him and miss him so much now and always will. Isaure had two doctors, one of them a specialist, so that everything that weak, human hands could possibly do was done to save our loved Paul; but we do not understand the Lord's will and ways. He had a better home for Paul, or where he is now with his beloved mother he so very often spoke about. My poor old mother is quite broken down; she loved Paul with all her heart. You know we always told you he was her adored son. The disease to which Paul succumbed was tuberculosis on the lungs, through cold and damp. He died in the evening at 11 o'clock. His body was cremated and his ashes now rest in an urn at the cemetery. He never liked the idea of being buried. Isaure sends her love to you. So do the children. Poor little things, they laugh and are happy. They don't understand what they have lost. Please kindly remember me to Missen and Dad when you write to them. I guess Missen is happy now to have the long letter Paul lately wrote to her. He was so glad himself writing to "his dear chiffoune," as he always called her.
