WHOLE NO. 9792

Unfounded Statement That the G. O. M. is About

London Newspapers Ridicule the Gazette's Story.

Bruce Baillie Weds Brewer Bass Daugh er Nellie-Vaillant Announces That He Will Die an Atheist.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "We understand that a letter announcing his resignation will be sent to the Queen by Mr. Gladstone before the reopening of Parliament. Mr. Gladstone's decision is due to a sense of his advanced age and to the great strain to which he was subjected during the late arduous session. He is also deeply disappointed because of the rejection of the Home Rule Bill and opposition to the Parish Councils Bill by the House of Lords. Domestic pressure also had considerable influence in determining his mind at the last. Who will succeed him, and what will be the result?

LONDON, Jan. 31. — Mr. Gladstone authorized Sir Algernon West, who is his companion in Biarritz, to send out this evening the statement that follows: "The statement that Mr. Gladstone has definitely decided or decided at all to resign is untrue. It is true, however, that for many months past his age and the condition of his sight and hearing have, in his judgment, made relief from public affairs desirable. Therefore his tenure of office has been at any moment liable to interruption from these causes, which are in their nature permanent. It remains exactly as it has been, He is ignorant of the course which events, important to the nation, may take even during the remainder of the present session of Parliament, and he has not said nor done anything which could in any degree restrain his absolute freedom or that of his colleagues regarding the performance of the arduous duties now lying or likely to lie before them."

The Liberals in London were disappointed by the statement sent out by Sir Algernon West, as they had all hoped for a plain unequivocal denial. Nevertheless the party managers are convinced that nothing warrants the assumption that Mr. Gladstone will soon retire from public life.

Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State of War, when he addressed a Liberal meeting in Dunformline this evening spoke of the remarkable indecency of the Opposition, who relied upon breaking down the health and powers of the Prime Minister and driving him to retirement. Their reckoning, he added, would prove in Arthur J. Balfour in Manchester this evening emphasized the necessity of immediate organization, as he said the general elections would soon be held. The Duke of Norfolk in addressing a meeting at Dorking referred to the approaching elections and urged his hearers to make their final preparations for the appeal to the country.

LONDON, Feb. 1 .- The Daily News, refers editorially to the Pall Mall Gazette's story as a "silly hoax," and closes by saving: "The world may be sure he has no thought of quitting his place at the head of the Liberal Government."

The Times banters the Pall Mall Gazette a little and says: "With all his faults Mr. Gladstone has never been wanting in political foresight."

The Daily Chronicle ridicules the Pall Mall Gazette and its announcement.

DUBLIN, Feb. 1 .- The Freeman's Journal, commenting on the report of Mr. Gladstone's intended resignation, says: The cruel, cowardly canard did not need contradiction. It is lawful to hope and believe that Mr. Gladstone will be spared in the full vigor of his genius until the no distant day when he will see the greatest work of his great career effected.

London, Feb. 1.—Hon. G. W. Spencer Lyttleton, Mr. Gladstone's private secretary, received a cipher dispatch from the Prime Minister, who is now at Biarritz, at 5.45 yesterday afternoon. The contents of the stage were many distinguished citizens this dispatch were communicated to Earl Spencer First Lord of the Admiralty, and Secretary, both of whom refused to divulge their information to reporters.

The Westminster Gazette says: In reading Mr. Gladstone's statement, wired from Biarritz through Sir Algernon West, it must be remembered that it is Mr. Gladstones invariable custom to answer with scrupulous exactness each statement and to never make a great ado.

The Rio Incident.

LONDON, Jan. 31 .- A dispatch from Rio de Janeiro states that the reason the American barks Good News and Julia Rollins would not accept the offer of protection made to them by Rear Admiral Benham, commanding the American squadron there, was that G. M. Rollins, an American who is acting as the agent of an English firm that is supplying the insurgents with money, persuaded the captains of these vessels not to change the positions of their vessels. The dispatch adds that the French naval commander has complimented Admiral Benham upon the vigorous action he took to protect the vessels. The commander of the Austrian warship in the bay, when he saw that trouble was brewing, ordered his vessel to be cleared for action, so that she might be ready to give assistance to the American vessels if it was necessary. The dispatch also says that the prolonged | SKATING. absence of Admiral Mello from Rio de Janeiro has given rise to reports that he is

Many Were Killed. PANAMA, Feb. 1 .- A dispatch from Bo gata says serious riots have broken out there. They are a protest against the monopoly in tobacco. A mob of 7,000 men attacked the Government office yesterday in spite of the efforts of the police. Troops were called and they charged the mob. Many persons were killed.

Laid to Rest. LONDON, Feb. 1 .- The remains of Miss Vokes, the well-known actress, who died quay, were buried to-day in Brompton Cemetery, London. By special request the funeral was very quiet and but few people were present at the ceremonies. On the other hand, an enormous number of wreaths were sent by the theatrical profession and by friends of the deceased.

London, Feb. 1 .- The Pall Mall Gazette, which yesterday announced that it had learned from an authoritative source that Mr. Gladstone intended to resign office before the next session of Parliament, today publishes a qualified reassertion of its | minster Presbyterian Church, in a prelude officials, but was not prepared for the virtual confirmation of the story by Mr. Gladstone himself. Continuing, the paper says, it knew Mr. Gladstone's intentions had been conveyed to few, if any, of his colleagues, and adds that whatever change publicity may effect it is now certain that Mr. Gladstone's tenure of office will be limited to months, if not weeks.

The Distinguished Canadian Addresses a Big Audience,

And $5,000 is Sub cribed to the Home Rule Cause-Enthusiastic Reception.

Boston, Feb. 1 .- Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., the prominent Irish Nationalist of Canada and leader in the home rule cause in the British Parliament, spoke on home rule for Ireland in the Music Hall last night under the auspices of the Boston Municipal Council of the Irish National Federation. He was greeted by an audience of about 3,000 people, and his appeal for funds to aid in carrying on the work of his party resulted in the raising of a little more than $5,000. Mayor Mathews presided, and upon of Boston and vicinity. The meeting adopted resolutions to the effect that the the Right Hon. Herbert Asquith, Home | citizens of Boston encourage Gladstone in his efforts to free the Emerald Isle and pledge to him their hearty support. This cablegram was sent Justin McCarthy:

"Enthusiastic reception accorded Hon. Edward Blake; $5,000 result of the meeting. Friends in Massachusetts will do their dutv."

Mr. Blake reviewed at length the struggles of the Home Rule party in the past, and predicted its success in the near future. He referred to the report of Gladstone's resignation in a way that assured the audience that he did not believe it true. He said that the recent defeat of the Home Rule Bill in the House of Lords was expected, and that the party that had supported the measure was not at all dismaved.

LIKE THE CALM BEFORE THE STORM. Some aldermen freely predict that some-thing will be heard to "drop" at the next meeting of the City Council. They liken the present quiet to the calm before the storm, and when the storm breaks they say that some civic offices will be empty, and that some of the "indispensable" will be scudding before the wind under reduced salaries. The cry of retrenchment has taken better than the measles could ever hope to with some of the civic legislators, and there appears to be a tendency to cut; not that London's officials get enormous salaries, but because it is the proper thing just now, and because Toronto has set the example.

She wore a brown boa with neat clothes and strong boots, while accompaning her was a white Spitz dog with a $10 curl in his tail. She, too, had been there before and was not at all abashed, but gave in her order as if she was in a grocery store. THE W. M. S.

An Auxiliary Organized at the Centennial Church-The Officers.

A large and enthusiastic gathering of ladies assembled in the Centennial Church yesterday afternoon for the purpose of organizing an auxiliary of the W. M. S. The pastor, Rev. J. Philp, occupied the chair, the evangelists, Mr. and Mrs. Park, leading in sacred song. Mrs. Dickson, president of the Dundas Center Auxiliary, gave a most instructive and interesting Bible reading on missionary lines, Mrs. McMechan, organizer, following with a history of the origin and work of the society. The vote called for resulted in an almost unanimous expression in favor of organization. Twenty ladies gave in their names as members and the following were chosen for office: President, Mrs. J. Lintott: first vicepresident, Mrs. T. B. Wren; second vicepresident, Mrs. W. H. Belton; recording secretary, Mrs. McClain; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. Showler; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Hagerman. The first Tuesday of the month was selected for the February meeting. From the past history of energetic and enthusiastic work accomplished by the ladies of this church it is to be expected that this new organization will render efficient and faithful service, looking to the evangelization of their heathen sisters.

DEPOPULATED BY OPIUM.

At the Present Rate That Will Soon Be the Condition of These French Islands.

(From the San Francisco Chronicle.) W. Hoffner, for two years manager of the Societe Commerciale, which owns large stores on the Marquesas and Dominique Islands, has arrived here. Every two or three months Mr. Hoffner was in the habit of cruising in a boat around these islands, making numerous landings. This has made him exceedingly familiar with the islands and their inhabitants. He says that the natives are dying off very rapidly by reason of the use of opium, and that in a short time there will be none left. The past year has made fearful inroads on them.

"The deaths have been so frequent," said Mr. Hoffner, "that lately the French Government has been doing all it could to suppress the opium traffic, but with meagre success. It hinders it in some ways, but in the main it is carried on as before. The French Government introduced opium into the islands about twenty years ago, and now a vain effort is being made to stamp out the evil. It is, however, too late to remedy the wrong.

"The natives are dying off like flies. In ten years, if the present rate of mortality keeps up, there will not be one of them left. The last few years have been especially severe, and made terrible inroads on the population. Where the natives cannot get pium to satisfy their cravings, they substitute a brandy optained from the cocoanut tree, which is even worse than the product of the poppy juice. The liquor is nothing, in fact, but the natural sap of the cocoanut tree. The islanders bore holes in the tree, and the sap almost immediately begins to run. This process kills the tree, but they do not sare for that. The liquor is stronger than opium, and I hav eseen the poor natives drunk on it and lying about like dead men for three or four days.

"They do not smoke the opium, but eat it. and in enormous quantities. They eat so much of it and have such abnormal cravings for it to the exclusion of almost every other desire, that they do not buy the amount of general merchandise they ordinarily would. As a result, business is bad in the islands. Trade, outside of opium, has fallen off a great deal, and the people seem to have lost the energy and desire to Mrs. Lobsinger, who died at St. Agatha a there now that I think I shall return to Chili, where I was before. When the native population is wiped out altogether, as now seems to be its fate, the island will be an excellent field for emigration. I am not sure that at present the French Government would encourage immigration."

Mr. Hoffner says there are now very few Americans on the islands.

-In his address at Montreal Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., described the bill brought in for granting local self-government to Ireland. He said he approved of the clause prohibiting the Irish Legislature from establishing or endowing any religion, although he did not consider the clause necessary. The same clause provided that no man should be prejudiced or preferred on account of religion. "I do not know how the P. P. A. would like that," said Mr. Blake. "We believe," he continued, "that religion is a thing between a man's conscience and his Maker, and the less the state has to do with religion the better for the state and the better for the church. We believe that a man should be chosen for his integrity, and no one should inquire whether he goes to one one altar or another." These statesmanlike remarks aroused great enthusiasm.

The Ontario Legislature has taken timely precaution in establishing a great national park around the upper waters of Lake Ontario. Every cwner of land can help to secure a continued equitable distribution of rainfall by planting a number of trees annually. Every waste corner should have one or more trees growing. The timber resources cannot be too plentiful, and in older settled districts they become scarcer every year. It claims growth of a closer political union. With that the infamous transaction should be unity the tendency to go to war would be sombatted and the welfare of the people promoted, as it can never can be while insecurity exists.

THE LATEST DEFENSE OF THE LONDON SEAT STEAL

One need not be surprised to see in the columns of the journal to which Judge Elliot is a contributor, at one time over a nom de plume and at another editorially, some natural squirming over publication of the fact that "the fame of the infamy" of the London Seat Steal has reached the confines of Far India.

The learned judge has been the victim of the itch for scribbling for 40 years, and the close set, crabbed characters of his chirography are familiar to a line of typesetters extending from the early days of Josiah Blackburn down to the present week. If there is a political opponent to be "done up" in imitation Defoe style, or an association of self-denying workers to be assailed with clumsy attempts at Boetian wit, or some decaying theory in Materia Medica to be upheld, the pen of the great master of style is always available. The holy stair which leads to the sanctum of our esteemed contempory must be as well worn by the feet of the judge and his famous bulldog as is the Scala Sancta in the capital of Italy. At the same time we can hardly credit the rumor that a sort of "Vice Versa" exchange of positions may be made-the present editor becoming formally Judge of Middlesex and the Judge of Middlesex becoming formally editor of our esteemed contemporary.

But to return to our muttons. What, once more, are the main facts respecting the London Seat Steal which the Free Press, a guilty partner in the disgraceful affair, now so persistently pleads to have buried in oblivion-what are the main facts respecting the meritorious achievement which has followed the drum-beat of Britain to the most distant dependency of the empire? It is never wrong to keep before the guilty sinner his offense while he remains unrepentant, while his heinous transgression is unatoned, while justice is withheld.

Judge Elliot was charged in Parliament with writing the editorials of the Free Press in defense of the proposed seat steal, while the matter was yet before him for adjudication. He has never denied that What will it be when Lobengula's territory allegation, and we have good reasons for stating that he cannot deny it in a court of justice, where all the facts can be got at. Under the infamous Franchise Act, claimed the right to say whether or not some 240 bogus voters had a right to vote. The case was got into the superior courts, and the decision of Judge Elliot, though in accord his editorials in the Free Press, was op posed by such experienced jurists as Chief Justice Armour, Chief Justice Hagerty, Mr. Justice Street, Mr. Justice Falconbridge, Mr. Justice Burton and Mr. Justice Maclennan. The decision of these judges was sought in the first instance by both political parties, but Judge Elliot finally fell back upon the autocratic power conferred upon him by the Dominion Franchise Act, and, with the aid of the bogus votes polled, awarded Mr. Hyman's seat to his own relative, Mr. Carling.

To accomplish this infamy Judge Elliot was compelled to count the votes of men who, in open court a few weeks before, had been struck off the lists by Revising Barrister J. H. Fraser as not entitled to vote. Not one of these bogus voters had any right to go to the polls. We have published church or another, whether he worships at | their names and challenged either their judicial sponsor or themselves to produce

Judge Elliot decided that though they were bogus voters they could not be removed from the rolls but must remain on he lists to nullify the votes of qualified men. His excuse was that they did not have proper notice. These men had two notices. Revising Officer Fraser said the first was not sufficient, and in accordance with the law he decided that they should have a second notice. They were given another notice. Their cases were heard in a court that lasted three days. Their names were struck from the lists by the same process as was applied to the names of other persons whose right to vote was attacked and not established. It was only after election day that Judge Elliot, find ing that the votes were necessary to seat Mr. Carling, agreed to count them. This most righteous judge all along professed to be waiting to respect the judgment of the superior courts, but when the temptation came to him to decide, as he promised to decide, in accordance with the judgment of his superiors-as is the case in British courts the world over-he but showed his contempt for them. He over-ruled the findings in fact and in law of Revising Officer Fraser. He scornfully put aside the deliverance "The unification of public instruction in of the Court of Queen's Bench. He set utterly at naught the views expressed by the Court of Appeal. He did all this while editing the Free Press in a partisan spirit, and arguing in the strain that subsequently became his judgment. The case was taken to Parliament. A searching investigation was asked for. Coached from this city, Sir John Thompson refused to grant any in-The adoption of uniform laws relating to quiry whatsoever. The man who was not ment. The Free Press defends the incoincided in. It falsely asserts that the Liberals of London-or, at least, a section most treasured rights as freemen. There are no such Liberals in London, and we challenge our contemporary to name one of them. Until the wrong is atoned for, until London is represented in Parliament by the man who was lawfully elected, no self-respecting Liberal could submit to the dictum of the Judge-controlled journal and say that the London Seat Steal was a righteous proceeding, to be indorsed by honorable men. It has been condemned by self-respecting newspapers of both political parties, and by many independent Conservatives; and, as we have shown, the failure to investigate it and to purge the bench of the transgressor has brought condemnation from as far-off authorities as the Anglo-Indian judicial journals. Rightly

Despite all these facts, if we may believe the writer in the Free Press, it has come to this: That the conduct of a judge who assists in the commission of a political crime (he being shielded by the corrupt Government whose tool he has been), must not be characterized as it deserves by the independent press of the country on pain of the dreadful displeasure of all "judicious" persons! The writer of the appeal in our contemporary-perhaps the judge himself -assures us of his "honor and uprightness." Is it he personally who finds those people "spiteful" who disapprove of a judge taking part in an election and afterwards using his position on the bench to return an unelected friend to the House of Commons? Is it possibly the "venerated" judge himself who now preaches to us "robust sentiment" and who tells us that the community is "growing uneasy" under the righteous condemnation which his acts have received and are receiving in Canada and in far distant lands?

The end is not yet. WEST MIDDLESEX.

"Jack the Hugger" Attacks Defenseless Cirls-A Suspect Arrested, but Proves an Alibi.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 31 .- For several months past the chief of police has had repeated complaints made to him of assaults of a more or less indecent character, committed upon respectable women in several parts of the city. The complaints for the most part had reference to one or two of the lessfrequented streets.

So far all attempts to detect the culprit have failed. A complaint was made on Jan. 25 by a lady, whose husband is employed at the cotton mill, that on her way home up Brant avenue she met a man face to face and walked on. The man followed and assaulted her. She was able to point out the man whom she accused of assaulting her to the police, who arrested a man named Robert Wakefield, a hostler employed in the city.

Serious Charges against a Mail Clerk. TORONTO, Jan. 31 - Pat J. Duffy, a railway mail clerk on the Northern Railway between Gravenharst and Toronto was arrested to-day by Detective Davis, charged with stealing a post letter containing $520. On Jan. 15 the postmaster of Huntsville sent a registered letter containing $625 to the Bank of Montreal at Ottawa. When the letter was opened at Ottawa it was found to contain only $105, $520 having been abstracted.

It was found that the money had passed through the hands of Duffy, and that on the day after he had handled it he had come to Toronto, and instead of going home had gone on a debauch, throwing away money freely. Other evidence was secured and the arrest made.

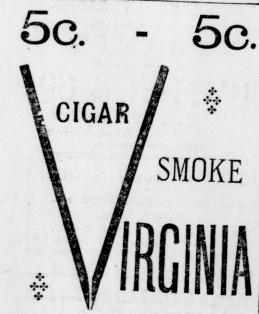

Duffy is a married man with two children. His salary would be about $800 a year. His father is also a postal official of twelve years' standing.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY

O swellings in the neck ince I was 10 years old; Have Been Attendant Upon the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church.

> The Annual Meeting Demonstrates the Fact-A Financial Balance on Hand -The Membership on the Increase.

The usual annual business meeting of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church was held last evening. It was largely attended. During the early por-tion of the proceedings, while the reports of the various societies were being read (an outline of the work of each was published in these columns recently in connection with an account of the opening of the new church) Rev. W. J. Clark, the pastor, occupied the chair. He was succeeded in that position by Mr. Robert Reid, who presides over the board of managers while the business affairs were being adjusted.

An innovation in the proceedings was the fact that the reports of those societies in which the feminine element is interested were read by the ladies themselves. This congregation is the most radical of its denomination in the city, and the departure adverted to is one of the most pleasing of Charles Leonard read the statement of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, Miss Margaret Burns that of the Victoria Mission Band, and Miss Harwood that of the Y. P. S. C. E. Both Rev. Mr. Clark and Mr. Reid commented approvingly upon this phase of the routine. The latter thought it would be a good thing to hand over the reading of all the reports to the ladiestheir voices, he said, sounded so much sweeter in comparison with those of the sterner sex.

Mr. J. I. Anderson read an extensive composition on behalf of the session. It dealt in detail with a number of matters vitally affecting the congregation, and accorded the members considerable advice.

The membership at present was stated to Wakefield was up upon the charge of mak. The membership at present was stated to be 350. During the past year there were perhaps 34 years of age, on Brant avenue, seven deaths. The attendance at the four communions were: March 248, June 226, September 224 and December 214. The pastor will be at home to visitors every Thursday afternoon and evening. The church ushers were increased from five to twelve. The staff will now be composed of Messrs. John Cooper, William Reid, Alexander Craig, Walter Simson, David Arnott, Fred Bapty, David Mills, William J. Lind, Robert Lind, John Ferguson, Emory Hamilton and Frank Irwin. Messrs. Lawrence Gibson and Walter Simpson were appointed auditors. The allocation of pews will be under the supervision of these gentlemen: Messrs. Craig, Greenlees, Sharp and Hamilton. The managers who retired in rotation-Messrs. Robert Reid, A. McPherson and A. M. Hamilton-were re-elected.

A. M. HAMILTON, Treasurer. The Managers' Report. The managers' report for 1893 is as fol-

Your board of managers, in presenting their annual report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1893, desire to gratefully acknowledge the Lord's goodness whereby they are enabled to lay before the congregation this encouraging statement.

Your board of managers have great pleasure in calling attention to the amount raised for carrying on the ordinary work of the church—$4,383 50, an increase of $15 69 over the preceeding year. It is gratifying to note that we have been able to meet all liabilities, with a balance in our favor of $540 72. On entering upon the year just closed it was predicted and generally believed by your board that, in consequence of the unsettled state of the congregation in moving into a temporary place of worship during the building of the new church, a falling off in the receipts would result. The very contrary, it will bejnoted, has, fortunately, been the case. You will observe that among the disbursements are several amounts aggregating $424 23 that were unavoidably contracted during the year-consisting of architectural work in connection with changes contemplated to be made at the old church, law costs and rent for Victoria Hall-and which, though not current, were paid out of the year's returns. Such demands upon the revenue are not likely to recur. Another abnormal item is that of three years' insurance, amounting to $155, that has also been paid out of the returns of 1893, two-thirds of which, namely $103, belong to the two succeeding years. Were it not for these two considerations, aggregating $527, the statement would show a balance in lavor of revenue over expendiure of $1,067 72.

While we all rejoice at our prosperity during the years that are past, yet realizing our increased responsibility consequent upon the completion of the new church edifice at a considerable cost, thereby necessarily increasing our expenditure in the future, your board would urge upon the members and adherents of the congre gat, on, who may probably be careless about such matters, the absolute necessity of adhering strictly and promptly to the weekly offering system of contribution by envelopes to church ordinances as liberally as individual means will permit. Your board of managers gratefully express their appreciation of the liberality of the present members and adherents of the congregation who have contributed so largely for the support of the church durng the year. It is to this fact that we are in a great measure indebted for the encouraging report of the church's finances now presented. We are also especially grateful to the Ladies' Aid Society who have so liberally contributed to the church furnishing account. Realizing the arduous duties devolving upon the treasurer in consequence of the continued large additions to the contributions by envelopes, and in order to facilitate as much as possible his labors, we request the members of the congregation to be punctual in all matters appertaining to his official work.

Three members of the board have retired by rotation-Messrs. Robert Reid, R. Henderson and A. McPherson. These are eligible for re-election.

The thanks of the congregation are due to the chair for their faithful services, and to the gentlemen who have so efficiently acted as ushers. ROBERT REID, Chairman; A. McPherson, Secretary.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT CONTRACT

Recommended for Signature-Tenders for Lighting to be Called For. The fire and light committee held their inaugural meeting in the City Hall last night, Ald. Parnell (chairman), Nutkins, John Heaman, William Heaman, Scarrcw, Secretary Bell, Inspector Bell and Chief Roe being present. Ald. Parnell addressed the committee in his new capacity and said that before going into the estimates it would be advisable to practice economy in every quarter. He said he would suggest that the market clerk during his spare time (which was about three days a week) should assist in cleaning the market when necessary. In respect to the aerial ladder truck, he advised that no action be taken. It was also recommended that the committee ask for power to call for tenders for electric lighting, to follow at the expiration of the recent indications in that respect. Mrs. three, five or eight years, as the committee present contract, the term to be of one, may see fit to decide.

The latter suggestion elicited considerable discussion, a resolution being finally passed to that effect. Ald. Parnell said he had been informed that the agreement entered into between the Canadian General Electric Company and the city had never been returned. He had gone to the clerk's office in search of it, and was then told that if it was anywhere it would be at the solicitor's office, but on application there the dcoument could not be found. A letter was then sent to the manager of the company, who replied stating that they were light the city at a price of 293 cents per night per lamp west of Wellington street and including ward 6. The charge for all new lamps erected will be 291 cents per night, such lamps to be suspended 40 feet from the ground and on an arm at least six feet from the poles.

Ald. John Heaman moved that the committee recommend that the agreement as amended be signed by the mayor.

A full vote was not given, and the chairman made a request that everybody vote. A little cross-questioning followed, the vote was again taken, and a recommendation for the signing of the agreement will be presented. The city clerk forwarded a communication asking that the estimates of the committee be completed on or before the first meeting of the council in March. The request will be complied with. Some time ago Mr. Ackford, who keeps two stalls in the market bazar, objected to his rent as being excessive. Ald. John Heaman investigated the matter and presented a statement of the rentals paid by the tenants in the bazar. Mr. Ackford pays $9 a month for two stalls. The matter Charles Maker applied for permission to sell an ash sifter on the market before 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Referred to the chairman and market clerk.

Last Day of General Debate on the United States Tariff Bill. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 31.—The great tariff debate in the House will close tomorrow with speeches from a trio of the hest known members of that body-ex-Speaker Reed, of Maine, Speaker Crisp and Mr. Wilson, the chairman of the ways and 1890, by the derailment of a car, in which means committee. At the conclusion of these speeches certain of the amendments to the bill will be voted upon, after which will come the crucial test of the bill's popularity-the vote on its adoption. Notwithstanding the opposition to the measure which exists among certain Denocrats of the House, it is expected by friends | Little doubt exists that the esset, with all that the bill will pass by a majority of lot less than twenty and possibly as high as 40

The House to-day discussed the income tax question and two or three important amendments were agreed to, after which, by a vote of 175 to 56, the income tex feature was added as an amendment to the tariff bill, the entire New York delegation voting solidly in the negative. Great cheering and applause greeted the result.

Mr. Wilson (Dem., W. Va.) then offered an amendment to increase the tariff on barley from 20 per cent. to 25 per cent., and on barley malt from 30 per cent. to 35 per cent. Other amendments were offered, and the House went into recess before a vote was taken.

He spent most of his holidays in the service of Uncle Sam. Williams is awaiting sentence. Accident in the G. T. R. Roundhouse.

Mt Joseph Rutherford, employed as a blacksmith's helper in the Grand Trunk roundhouse, met with an accident this morning which will likely confine him to his home for some time. He was engaged at the time in repairing the tender of an engine, and to do so had to go into the pit below, when the dead lever sprung back, knocking Rutherford's head against a beam. A severe scalp wound was inflicted, and he was removed to his home at 243 Hill street. He is now improving. Rev. Mr. Macdonald and Mrs. Shepherd. The St. Thomas Journal says: "If it be true that one of the local associations of

Au aged, respected and well-to-do citizen died yesterday at his residence, Marley Place, South London, namely, Mr. Abraham Puddicombe. He was 80 years of age and was born in Devonshire, Eng. He settled in London in 1858, and lived here since a quiet, retired life. He had been ill for two years, his health never being very robust. Two children are left, Mrs. John Osborne and Mr. Robert Puddicombe. His other daughter, Mrs. Chas. McClary, died some time ago, and his wife two years since. Deceased was in religion an Anglican and in politics a Conservative.

Ida Van Cortland Next Week. The favorite actress, Ida Van Cortland, makes her annual visit to London next week, playing for six nights, with a matinee or two. She has had much success in Canada this year, and is now playing to good houses in Toronto. The Hamilton Herald the other day said: "There was not a vacant seat in any part of the Grand Opera House last evening when the curtain rose on the "The Blacksmith's Daughter," a laughable three-act comedy, with Ida Van Cortland playing the star role of Nellie Glazebrook. The reception accorded this popular and clever actress proved the warm place she has gained by her ability and versatility in the favor of the Hamilton people, and her acting showed her to have lost none of the cleverness and grace to which she owes former triumphs and present success. In "The Blacksmith's Daughter" she has a part which seems to fit her like a glove, and her support was capable and satisfying, particularly that rendered by N. B. Streeter, Howard Hall and Miss Viola Hall."

The Attack on Dr. Arnott.

The following letter has been sent to the editor of the London Free Press:

"The editor of a paper like the Free Press might surely be content, in the discussion of a moral or scientific question, to confine its arguments to the limits of fair discussion. Only when hard pressed will anyone stoop to invade the sanctity of private life or business. Your insinuations regarding my views on the use of alcohol in medicine would, if people paid attention to them, deter anyone from seeking my services. No one knows better than yourself the power of insinuation, and few make more frequent use of it.

"You charge me, although not a writer by profession, with using 'maundering tricks of rhetoric,' yet you take a sentence in one place and a single word in another, apart from the context, for the apparently deliberate purpose of holding me up to ridicule before the public. Is that 'maundering, or trickery, or both?

"You say that I should explain why I 'would refuse a glass of porter to a delicate woman.' Let me ask you how you know that I would refuse.

"You cannot find a word that I have written or uttered that would indicate that I would not prescribe liquor if it would do my patient good. I suppose you call that insinuation 'a trick of rhetoric.' I, not being an editor, would call it a deliberate attempt at misrepresentation. Few day is not whether or not alcohol shall be prescribed, but whether it is a stimulant and strengthener, or only gives a false appearance of strength. If it only gives a talse appearance of strength, as some of the most eminent men of to-day believe, what would be the use of giving it to the delicate woman of whom you speak? "You charge me with hiding behind the skirts of the women.' Is that fair, ton, of Port Stanley, had been invited to manly discussion, or is it another of your

the Centennial Methodist Church here is 'tricks of rhetoric?' Might I not, with more justice, ask if you are not trying to cover up your disparagement of a noble band of women by attacking me? You hurl epithets and inuendoes right and left at me, and then, with the greatest coolness, advise me to confine myself to the discussion of prohibition. But I suppose that is another of your 'maundering tricks of H. ARNOTT." rhetoric.' Appearances Are Deceptive.

"I hope you'll be as lenient as possible." remarked Thomas McConkey, who had been accused of stealing a horse blanket, to Magistrate Parke in the Police Court this morning. "Oh, everyone hopes that," was the reply; "but you don't give me any reasons

"I know that the circumstances of the case are suspicious," explained the prisoner,

"but my appearance should count for something. I don't look like a man of hard character?" he said appealingly. "No, you don't, but your conduct does, observed the magistrate. "One month in the county jail," he added, recording the words in his book. The blanket in question was taken from horse belonging to the American Express

ACTOR CRANE IS OUT $1,815.

Mystericus Disappearance of an Envelope from His Overcoat Pocket.

New York, Feb. 1 .- William H. Crane,

the comedian, now playing at the Star Theater, has called upon Inspector McLaughlin to assist him in finding $1,815 lost by him on Monday afternoon. The money-Mr. Crane's share of the previous week's receipts in Washington-was in an envelope addressed to himself, and Mr. Crane put it in the inside pocket of his overcoat before leaving his house the other morning to attend rehearsal. After rehearsal he noticed that there was a button off his coat, and told his colored valet, William Bell, to take the garment around to a tailor and have another button sewed on. The boy carefully took some change out of the side nocket and gave it to Mr. Crane; then, folding the coat over his arm, he took it to the tailor shop of William Heaney, in Thirteenth street, just opposite the theater. Heaney returned the coat shortly after, and it was not until then that Crane remembered the money. He felt for the envelope, but it was gone. Bell was at once dispatched to the tailor, but the latter denied any knowledge of the money. So did the boy. Detectives are working on the case and a big reward is offered.

CANADIAN NURSES AT BUFFALO.

The Inspector Is Trying to Deport Them

Back to This Country. Buffalo, Feb. 1.—The following is a list of Canadian young women who are being trained as nurses at the General Hospital here, and whom Inspector Debarry is endeavoring to have deported under the alien labor law: Alice Linds, Fergus; Lizzie the whole world, more particularly Great Robertson, Chesterfield; Susan Robertson, Chesterfield; Jane Balfour, St. Catharines; Elizabeth Sands, Goderich; Agnes Phillips, Gainsboro; Mary K. Benham, Guelph; Kate M. Taggart, Brantford; Margaret Bruce, Woodstock; Anna M. Waldron, Port Colborne; Mary Crysler, Niagara; Christine Weatherstone, Hamilton; Caroline Naury, Humberstone; Blanch Carman, Belleville; Mary M. Richardson, Windsor; M. Locee, Woodstock. There are seventeen young women from Ontario engaged at the hospital and only 28 from New York. The case was referred to Washington.

THAT OCEAN RACE.

The Britisher Wins-But the Others Give Reasons Why.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The mails brought stantial relief from the burdens under from New York by the American Line which the country labors. steamer New York, which arrived at Southampton at 1:10 this morning, arrived at Waterloo station at 5:55 o'clock, know better than yourself that the point Majestic mail from Liverpool landed at Euston station. Capt. Jamieson said that an hour after the New York sailed she was compelled to anchor for six and a half hours, owing to a dense fog.

The agents of the American Line at Southampton regard the contest between the New York and Majestic as satisfactory. The Majestic, they say, held an advantage in that she had just come out of a graving dock, where her bottom had been scraped and painted, whereas the New York has not been docked for that purpose in six months.

Shape Preserver. TIFFIN, Feb. 1 .- Miss Kittie Klees, the young lady shot Tuesday night by her discarded lover, Fred Sharp, who afterward committed suicide, has never lost consciousness and appears so well that her friends believe she will recover. The bullet struck a corset steel three inches below her heart, and it is believed that the ball did not enter her body, the wound being made by a corset steel, the bullet glancing off and passing through the floor to the room below, where two of the balls fired by Sharp were found.

A Sleighing Party Struck by a Train. FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 31 .- A shocking triple fatality occurred this afternoon on the Brownell street crossing of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. A sleighing party made up of 28 members of the sophomo: s class of the B. M. C Durfee High School was returning from a two-hour's ride. Just as the horses crossed the track the Boston train came rushing around a bend at a speed of 25 miles an hour. When the party saw the rushing train they became terror stricken. We, the Liberal party of Canada, in con-vention assembled declare:

That the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not as it now is, upon the protective principle, but upon the requirements of the public service.

That the existing tariff, founded upon an unsound principle and used as it has been by the Government as a corrupting agency, wherewith to keep themselves in office, has developed monopolies, trusts and combinations:

It has decreased the value of farm and other landed property; It has oppressed the masses to the enichment of the few; It has checked immigration;

It has caused great loss of population; It has impeded commerce; It has discriminated against Great Britain In these, and in many other ways, it has occasioned great public and private injury, all of which evils must continue to grow in intensity so long as the present tariff system remains in force. That the highest interests of Canada demand a removal of this obstacle to our country's progress, by the adoption of a sound fiscal policy, which, while not doing injustice to any class, will promote do mestic and foreign trade and hasten the return of prosperity to our people That to that end, the tariff should be reduced to the needs of honest, economical and efficient government That it should be so adjusted as to make free, or to bear as lightly as possible upon the necessaries of life and should be so arranged as to promote freer trade with

Britain and the United States We believe that the resu ts of the protective system have grievously disappointed thousands of persons who honestly supported it, and that the country in the light of experience is now prepared to declare for a sound fiscal policy. The issue between the two political parties on this great question is now clearly defined. The Government themselves admit the failure of their fiscal policy, and now profess their willingness to make some changes, but they say that such changes must be based only on the principle of protection. We denounce the principle of protection as radically unsound and unjust to the masses of the people, and we declare our conviction that any tariff changes based on that principle must fail to afford any sub-

To every life there comes its consummation of bliss-the very crowning and pinnacle of well-being; looking back at which, 'twixt smiles and tears, we say, with yearning and regretful heart, "Ah! then, at least, for however brief a space, I was perfectly happy."

That consummation was mine one radiant day in June, as I walked over the springing heather on Aulus Moor with Harry Curzon. For we had been engaged three daysthree golden days snatched from Paradise; but it was only the night before that my dear old father gave his careful consent, and this was our very first walk together as openly declared lovers.

What a walk it was! Far off, beyond the verge of farthest moorland, the burnished line of sea gleamed like a band of molten gold. Overhead, the piled-up banks of sloud had a lining of lurid pink, and hung heavily against their background of liquid plue. There was a storm coming; but what is a thunder-storm when you've just promised to marry the man you love with all your whole heart?

Harry carried the basket. I was taking some of mamma's famous lentil soup to poor old Widow Reynolds—and we walked—well, as close together as people might be excused for doing, under the circumstances. We had such a lot to talk about !- the day we first met, just two months ago, at the regimental sports, and how Harry tell in love at first sight-or so he vowed-and felt like knocking down Captain Trevor when he reached me first with a strawberry ice, and ran for the cream for my tea. I felt rather grieved, after this, to confess that I hadn't noticed Harry a bit that day, and it was only after Mrs. Jacob's tennis, ten days later, when he walked home with me, and carried my racquet and shoes, that I had first began to think-to wonder-to-well, never mind!

The clouds had gathered thicker and blacker as we reached Mrs. Reynolds' moss-grown, thatched cottage, and we were barely inside when the big drops began to patter down. Privately, I don't think Mrs. Reynolds felt all the regret she expressed at our being caught in a summer shower, for she dearly loved a little gossip, and seldom had a chance to indulge her tastes in this lonely locality, where the carrier only passed twice a week, and her nearest neighbor lived a mile away, across a very unsafe

I had to answer no end of inquiries as to the physical well-being of all my family and relatives to the remotest degree, and tell her six distinct times that I was quite free, myself, from all bodily infirmity, before she was content to let the conversation take a more general character.

"And how's the new housemaid doin'?" was her next question, after I succeeded in artfully leading her from more personal topics, in dread lest she should begin researches of an embarrassing nature into Harry's and my relations towards each other. "Doin' well, is she? Well, well—I'm main glad to hear it. I must say I never much expected it. 'Laws,' says I, 'what can you look for in a wench named Pinnick?' Butter don't come from lard—now do it?"

"Perhaps not," said I, not wishing to commit myself over even what seemed an evident enough proposition. "But Pinnick isn't such a bad name, Mrs. Reynolds—not v ry pretty perhaps; but that doesn't much matter."

"Matter? Not a farthing, Miss, as to beauty, but a deal of matter other ways. Never did I know a Pinnick that hadn't a bad strain. There was Job Pinnick, the sheep-stealer, as was hanged on the moor here by the headstone cross when I was a gell; and Hannah Copley, as was a Pinnick before she married, and poisoned her husband after; and them two Pinnics as lived neighbors to me at the Jews' Camp, and sold theyselves the Old One."

"Really!" said Harry, who, perched on a rush-bottomed chair, and holding his hat in that attitude of instant departure peculiar the morning caller, had hitherto been enged in meditative study of the mourning rds with which the cottage walls were lavishly decorated; "that was a mild thing to do. What price did they get-anything

The widow Reynolds declined to treat the subject with any levity.

"The gentleman may believe me, or he may not believe me," she remarked, with deep solemnity. "What I went through an experienced myself I must hold with, was it never so. Which I'll tell you, Miss Kitty," she want on, turning her look of reproach from Harry to me. "And your own father as is a reverend can tell you as I told the tale to him the very same 30 years ago come Martinmas—the year it took place, when both of us was a deal younger than to-

I'm afraid I did not hail the relation with any wild joy; but that appeared to matter little to Mrs. Reynolds, whose cap frills rose and fell as her head began to waggle to and fro, in the excitement of her narration.
"It was 30 year this midsummer, and I hadn't long been a widow of my first, poor Joe Bowers, as likely a lad as ever walked at the plow-tail. I was a-livin' then in one of them two thatched cottages as stood just inside the Jews' Camp, a mile or more from here-you may see the pile of ruins now. I wouldn't have lived in a drear spot like that, let alone Pinnics for neighbors in the other house, only poverty sends strange bedfellows, as the sayin' is, and the rent was low. Nobody had a good word for they Pinnics, and I kept myself to myself, for there was strange tales afloat. Folks said as there'd been a child by a marriage afore—she was a widow when Seth Pinnick married her—a fine likely little chap as died strange, somehow; and folks fought shy of Pinnick, as was a surly brute, and hedged and ditched for Squire Berthon. Well, they did me no harm, and I'd lived there three months or more, quiet enough, but for the shrieks and cries when Seth came home o' Saturday nights from the Doncaster Arms, and had it out o' her after, when all at once the black death broke out in the houses down by the stagnant pool betwixt this and Aulus' ford, and the place was in a panic. Seth Pinnick had been drinking with some of they men from down there, and the next thing was, he and Sally was both down with it too. Miss Kitty, there wasn't a soul as would go anigh their cottage; and I thinks, thinks I, 'I'm a lone woman, and a neighbor; and if the Almighty means me to die, I'll get it as soon livin' next door as a-tending them;' so I went in and nursed 'em both.

"Laws, my dear! it was as bad a time as ever I did see! Both of 'em was ravin' out of their heads when I got in, and not a bit or drop in the house, nor a soul to help one.

My niece Eliza promised to come up every day to the headstone cross and bring me a basket of bread and such-like, but save for that I didn't see a livin' soul. Less 'n two days Seth died—he was a'most past speech when I went in-but he shrieked wild-like without stoppin' till his breath was well-nigh out of him, and all his strength.

Mercy on us! it chilled my blood!—and that night I saw Sally was goin' too. I'll never forget that night till my own death-bed comes! There was a storm outside—rain and thunder, and wind enough to lift the roof; and there that poor sinful woman lay, ravin' and mutterin' and laughin'-enough see a line. I was well-nigh frightened silly, what with the storm and Sally. All at once, about midnight, she fell quite still and hushed; and then all at at once she began to speak out strong and clear.

Warning to Young Men. How many young men bankrupt their constitutions, equander their vitality and ruin their health by pernicious practices generally contracted through ignorance. Nervous exhaustion, debility, dullness of mental faculties, impaired memory, low spirits, morose or irritable temper, fear of impending calamity, and a thousand and one are the derangements of mind and body which result from such indiscretions. Epilepsy, paralysis, softening of the brain and dread insanity are not unfrequently the result of unnatural habits contracted in youth through ignorance of their destructive character, and persisted in until the constitution is wrecked. Such unfortunates are surely entitled to the tender sympathy, the noblest efforts and the best skill of the medical profession. To reach, reclaim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness is the aim of an association of medical gentlemen, who, having had a vast experience in the cure of the class of maladies herein hinted at, have prepared a comprehensive, scientific treatise, written in plain but chaste language, on the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. The World's Dispensary Medical Association, of 663 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y., will on receipt of this notice enelosed with 10 cents (for postage), mail, secure from observation, in plain, sealed envelope, a copy of this useful work, which should be read by not only every young man in the land, but also by every parent, guardian and teacher having care of the Untold Misery-What a Well-Known Commercial Traveler Suffered, and How He Was Cured .- Gentlemen,-About five years ago I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, and for three years suffered untold misery, from this terrible complaint. I was at that time traveling for Messrs. Walter Woods & Co. Hamilton, and was treated by some of the best physicians in the country, but all to no purpose. I continued to grow worse, one day I was induced to try a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and to my great surprise and joy, I soon began to improve. I continued using this medicine, and when the third bottle was finished I found I was entirely cured; and as a year has elapsed since then, I feel confident that the cure is complete and permanent. To all afflicted with this distressing complaint I heartily recommend Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, believing that the persistent use of it will cure any case of dyspepsia. (Signed.) T. S. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 30 .- Some time after her incarceration in the Monticello to turn you cold!

"I got the Book, and I sat by the chimneycorner, and I tried to read—but I couldn't and Sarah McQuillan, furnished plenty of excitement for the sheriff by attempts at suicide, jail burning and murder. Of late, however, she has been very quiet.

The reason for her sudden change of manner has just leaked out. Sheriff Beecher, tiring of the constant watchfulness imposed, chained her to the wall of her cell in such a way that while she could get in and out of her bed and move about over a small area, she could not get near the stove nor hang herself, nor attack those who entered the cell. The wretched woman chafed at her chain when it was first put on, but of late she endures its restraint with stolid indifference.

Considerable evidence was taken and the case adjourned for a week.

The South London Drainage Case. At Osgoode Hall Wednesday the case of Lewis vs. Alexander came up. M. D. Fraser (London), for the plaintiffs, moved for an interim injunction to restrain the defendants from continuing an alleged nuisance by draining noxious sewage matter upon the plaintiff's lands, enjoyed, with a dwelling-house, in South London. by means of a drain, which has an outlet upon the plaintiff's lands. E. R. Cameron (London), for the defendants, contra. Motion adjourned until the trial, and costs reserved till then. Trial to be at the St. Thomas sittings on 6th March next.

The numerous friends in the city of Mr. gret of his death, which took place yesterday at the family residence, 27 Picton street. Mr. Ash was an Englishman, and for a number of years a well known and most respected resident of this city, having come here from St. Thomas. He had for a few weeks past been ill, but his death came with rather startling suddenness, due to the breaking of an abscess, which had gathered in his head. Mr. Ash had reached the age of 61 years, and leaves a widow and several children, among them being Miss Katie, the talented and well known Scotch dancer, and Mr. L. M. Ash, of this city. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad and sudden bereavement. The funeral will be private.

The Y. M. C. A.'s Proposed New Quarters. Most citizens of London are aware that or some time the board of trustees of the Young Men's Christian Association have had under contemplation the erection of a new building in which to carry on their work. Anyone who has been familiar with the work during the past in the Victoria Hall building, and who is interested at all in the young men in this city, will be glad to help on this movement. In 1878 the present building was secured, largely through the efforts of Mr. Thomas McCormick and the late Sheriff Glass, and many men in this and other cities have reason to be thankful for blessings received in the old building. But it is not adapted to the and to make it adaptable would cost almost as much as a new building, without giving the same amount | the Saturday of Ember week and Holy Satof satisfaction. 'Efforts have been made to dispose of the present property and build in some other locality, but as matters stand to-day, the board of trustees have decided to erect on the present site a building that will be an ornament to the city, and furnish all that is necessary for a thoroughly-equipped association in the line of concert and lecture hall, parlors reading-room, library, etc., while the young men may look forward to the finest gymnasium and bath privileges in Western Ontario. It is earnestly hoped the citizens will respond generously to the call of the officers, and let every one have a hand in the erection of a home for our young men that will be open seven days a week, and be the means of blessing to many a man physically as well as spiritually. Quite a pleasant and interesting event took place on Wednesday at the residence of Mr. William Colvert, lot 13, con. 2, West Nissouri, the occasion being the marriage of his daughter, Katie, to Mr. repairer, 308 Dundas street.

J. E. London, filled the office of bridesmaid, and Mr. Ernest Day, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. The event was wit nessed by about 60 invited guests-friends and relatives of the families. The wedding was one of the prettiest that this locality has witnessed for years. The couple looked charming, and the decorations and splendid costumes of the two brightened up the home and presented a gay and brilliant appearance. After the ceremony had been performed the party enjoyed an elegantly prepared tea arranged in the reception room, which was magnifi-cently decorated with flowers. The wedding gifts were unusually numerous and magnificent, testifying to the popularity of the happy pair. It was late when the bridal party left for the train, after receiving the hearty congratulations and good wishes of their friends, and it took fast driving to reach the station for the westbound express on which they embarked. Mr. and Mrs. Day left on a honeymoon trip to the west, which will include Detroit, Chicago, Owosso, etc. Their many friends join in wishing them much happiness in the future.

ation was called for yesterday afternoon, but no quorum put in an appearance. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss a rule proposed by the judges as follows:

"Unless otherwise ordered by the court or a judge thereof, or the judge presiding at the trial, in addition to the actions named in section 76 of the Judicature Act, the following causes, matters and issues, and the lowing causes, matters and issues, and the assessment or inquiry of damage therein, shall be tried, heard and assessed by the jury, namely, actions in R. S. O., chapter 135 (Lord Campbell's act), under the Workmen's Compensation for Injuries Act, breach of promise of marriage, assault and battery, injuries caused by any collision, injuries caused by reason of defective highway, actions charging a physician or surgeon with negligence, and actions upon policies of insurance. No cause, matters or issues other than the aforesaid, and no assessment or inquiry of damages therein, shall be heard, tried or assessed by the jury unless so ordered by the court or a judge thereof after the close of the pleadings, and before setting the same down for trial." Among the members who had assembled it seemed to be the opinion that rule will be discussed before the benchers in Toronto on Tuesday next. The California Opera Company.

repeated. The prices are remarkably low -50, 35 and 15 cents. Where Is Willie Clarke. He is a boy who ran away from Buffalo on the morning of Jan. 18, and it is believed he is now in or about London. He was led away by one older than himself and by reading novels. Harry Smith, a very small boy for 14 years, was also with them. As Willie was greatly loved by everyone it is causing many a heart to ache and a very bitter disappointment. He lived in London about two years ago, his father boarding him at some place on Talbot or Ridout street, near Carling street. His mother had died previously in Montreal. The boy attended the King street public school, and, we understand, took music lessons. Leaving London in the autumn of 1892, the father came to Buffalo and there deserted the boy. Willie was placed by the authorities in the Newsboys' Home at that place and had every advantage given him. The mayor's wife providing him with the best of clothes and placing him in the finest school in the city, gave him every chance to make a man of himself. The boy is described as of Irish descent, 14 years old, large and strong; hair light golden, large blue eyes and very fair complexion, with soft, smooth skin. His mouth was rather large, with red lips and excellent white teeth. When he left Buffalo he wore knee pants, black stockings, woolen shirt and underclothes, and large ulster overcoat, coming nearly to his shoe tops, and with a very high collar. His woolen cap was a light yellowish brown. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of this boy should at once notify the super-intendent of the Newsboys' Home at Buffalo, N. Y., as his immediate recovery may save him from a wicked and corrupt life. As he was ledaway by undue influences and against his own will there is no doubt but that he would gladly return but for finding of the boy. LENTEN REGULATIONS.

Official Regulations for the Roman Catholics of London Diocese. The following are the Lenten regulations for the diocese of London:

1. All'days of Lent, Sundays excepted, are fast days. 2. By a special indult from the Holy See, A. D., 1884, meat is allowed on Sundays at every meal, and at one meal on Mondays, Tuesdays and Saturdays, except urday.

3. The use of flesh and fish at the same time is not allowed in Lent. The following persons are exempted from abstinence, viz. Children under 7 years of age; and from fasting, persons under 21; and from either or both those who, on account of ill health, advanced age, hard labor, or some other legitimate cause, cannot observe the law. In case of doubt the pastor should be consulted. Lard may be used in preparing fasting food during the season of Lent, except on Good Friday, as also on all days of abstinence throughout the year by those who cannot easily procure butter. Pastors are required to hold in their re spective churches, at least twice in the week during Lent, devotions and instructions suited to the holy season; and they should earnestly exhort their people to attend these public devotions. They are hereby authorized to give on these oc-casions Renediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Besides the public devotions, family prayers, especially the Holy Rosary of the Blessed Virgin, should be recited in every Catholic household of the diocese. M. J. TIERNAN, Secretary.
