If I Should Die Tonight

(Reprinted from The Toronto Daily Star.) Lines supposed to be spoken by Sir Wilfrid Laurier on reading in the conservative papers their tribute to Sir William Mulock upon his retirement from public life.

If I should die to-night, The Mail would look upon my quiet face; Perhaps-who knows? - would even have the grace To say that Laurier didn't do so bad, Considering the troubles that he'd had, And, weighing this and t'other-who can tell?-Admit that I had managed fairly well-It would, that is, if I were dead, all right.

If I should die tonight, The World would come and stand beside my bed, And take back all the hard things it had said. And point out how I got the best of Blair, And prove I did the State good service there, And, sobbing editorially, explain How well I stood with W. F Maclean-It would if I were good and dead to-night.

If I should die tonight, The News would gaze upon my placid brow And mutter: "Time for that third volume now." And add to my biography a leaf, In which my virtues stood in high relief, And print a yard of stately-worded woe Where the Sbarretti cartoons used to go-It would, if I were really dead to-night.

If I should die tonight, The Telegram would summon up a tear, Give short, sharp, scalding screams above my bier, And hold it a redeeming trait in me That Canada owns half the G. T. P., But studious always compliments to dodge. Would bar me Heaven save through the Orange Lodge-It would, if I were cold and dead to-night.

If I should die to-night. The Hamilton Spectator would forget That it had ever tried my soul to fret, And quivering with remorse, would softly say: "We always loved poor arring Laurier, And, though sometimes he caused our cheek to blench, The only reason was he thought in French"-It would, if I were dead for keeps to-night.

If I should die to-night. Before my body was put underground, The Opposition press would gather round And intimate that I had done some good, That, often, I had been misunderstood, And hint that, now that I was dead and gone, I might take rank in history with Sir John-They would, if I were stark stone dead to-night.

Tremendous Demonstration at Tokio Follows Welcoming of the American Fleet.

Tokio, Oct. 22.-The capital of Japan witnessed tonight the most extraordinary evidence of the spirit of the new Japan. After having an audience of the officers of the American battleship fleet on Tuesday the Emperor issued an order directing the people to increase in every way possible the enjoyment and pleasure of the American visitors. The response to this imperial mandate was seen and heard tonight. Originally a torchlight procession of 15,000 people was planned as part of today's programme, but this feature went far beyond expectations, and developed one of the greatest popular demonstrations and outpourings of an enthusiastic people ever witnessed in any country. Japan's war celebrations after peace with Russia, "London's Mafeking Night," and even New York's election revel, would seem almost insignificant compared with Tokio's cel-

It would be impossible to estimate the number of people who took part in the parade, and the myriads of spectators. Mile after mile through madly cheering people the procession wound its way. Representatives of various guilds, universities, schools of every class for boys and other organizations took part in the parade, each individual carrying a lighted lantern held high on a long pole, with American and Japanese flags intertwined.

Mayor Ozaki toasted the President of the United States, and Ambassador O'Brien gave the health of the Emperor. The mayor then delivered the royal address of welcome, inscribed upon a long scroll, beautifully illuminated, which he presented, after reading, to Admiral Sperry.

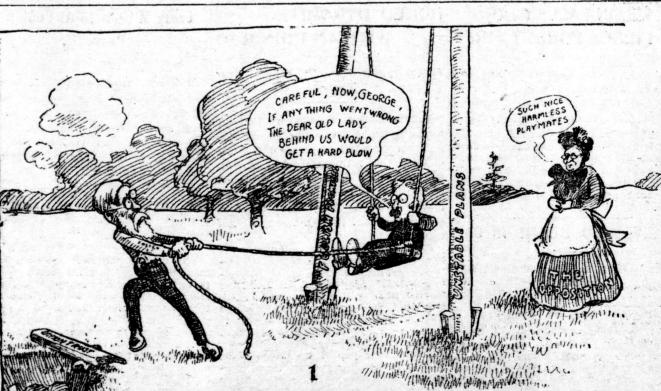

In this address Mayor Ozaki expressed the more sincere gratitude of the nation for America's evidence of a friendly support of Japan in sending the fleet to Yokohama. He referred at length to the history of the cordial relations that have existed between the two countries, in part saying:

"Japan believes that war between America and Japan would be a crime against the past, the present, and the future of both countries. Your nation and the waters of the great Pacific

ILIBERAL SURPLUSES IN PLACE OF CONSERVATIVE DEFICITS

The Postoffice Department Now on a Paying Basis, in Spite of Reduced Rates and Many Important Reforms.

The administration of the Postoffice Department by the Liberal Government is the pride of their friends and the envy of their opponents; and it ought to afford the greatest satisfaction to every good Canadian.

This department, under eighteen years of Conservative managament, had each year a large deficit in the accounts, averaging about three-quarters of a million dollars per annum. The public interest demanded reduced postage rates, but with the huge annual deficits staring them in the face the Conservative Government could hold out no hope.

When Sir Wm. Mulock took charge of the department in 1896 he at once appointed special auditors to investigate the condition of the depart-These gentlemen reported a deficit on the 30th June, 1896, of $781,-

By the application of good business principles this deficit was reduced

Thus encouraged the Liberal Postmaster-General, quickly gave the public what they long desired—reduced postal rates. The inland letter rate was reduced from 3 cents to 2 cents per ounce.

The letter rate from Canada to the United States was dropped from 3 to 2 cents per ounce. The letter rate from Canada to Great Britain and to every part of the British Empire was reduced from 5 to 2 cents per half-ounce, and subsequently (in October, 1907), it was made 2 cents per ounce. Within a few years after the reductions went into operation, the department was able to show a small surplus—namely, $5,109 in 1982. Each year since then the surplus has steadily increased, and last year it reached the splendid proportions of $1,101.827.

Since the reduced rates above mentioned were established, other substantial reductions have been made, the policy instituted by Sir William Mulock having been faithfully and loyally followed.

Within recent times the rate on drop letters in cities, that is, letters posted in a city for delivery in the same city, has been reduced from 2 cents to 1 cent per ounce. This is a lower rate than any other among the counries of Europe or America.

The rate on Canadian newspapers and Canadian periodicals sent from publishers in Canada to subscribers in Great Britain and every other part of the British Empire reduced from a rate of 8 cents per pound to onequarter of 1 cent per pound.

Rate on Canadian newspapers and periodicals sent by the general public in Canada to correspondents in Great Britain and parts of the British Empire reduced from 8 cents per pound to 4 cents per pound, a reduction of 50 per cent. It is a notable fact also that to Sir Wm. Mulock and the Liberal Government belong the credit for Inter-Imperial Penny Postage. In considering these satisfactory results, it should be borne in mind that the department besides giving the great reductions in postage rates which have been mentioned, have greatly extended the mail service throughout the settled portions of the Dominion, have provided mail services in districts for which no provision was made before 1896, in the Yukon and Atlin districts, and in the fur producing country in the sub-Arctic region. The Yukon and Atlin services are given adequate accommodation at a cost, which, for the year 1908 was $108,598 in excess of the revenue from that country. The country as far north as the Mackenzie River has now its mails provided by the department. The trips are so arranged as to meet the needs of the fur traders in their business relations with the great markets in London-and they also take the edge off the solitude of the Christian missionaries who have devoted their lives to their fellow men in those far away regions. No such services were given under the Conservatives.

The Liberals found the business of the money order branch in a stationary condition, owing to the competition of the express companies and banks in the remitting of moneys. The Government proceeded to increase the number of money order offices, the total now being 2,918, as compared with 1,210 in 1896. The rates were put on a footing more attractive to the public; the postal rates system was adopted and the results bear eloquent testimony to the efficiency of the department. The business of the money order and postal rates branch the last fiscal year was $55,284,595, as compared with $13,081,860 in 1896, or an increase of 323 per cent. The consequence has been that express companies, and banks have been forced to lower their rates and extend their accommodations to the public.

Further reforms are seen in the improvement of the railway mail vice, the decentralization of the dead letter office, and last, but not least, the introduction of rural free mail delivery. The following comparative table shows the remarkable expansion of the ostoffice service since the Liberals entered office:

Nature Takes a Hand in Restoring Peaceable Conditions to Balkans.

London, Oct. 2'4.-Although nothing very definite can be recorded, optimsm continues to be the keynote of the situation so far as Turkey, Bulgaria and Austria are concerned. Grand Vizier Kiamil Pasha is quoted as saying that Austria refuses to appear at any conference of the powers, and that Germany, therefore, will also decline to participate. On the other hand, many reports from Austrian and German sources reaffirm that a direct Austro-Turkish settlement regarding Bosnia and Herzegovina is impending. The Bulgarian envoy is still at Constantinople, where he had another interview with the ministers today. All outward indications there point to a peaceful arrangement, although nothing of a convincing nature has yet come thence confirming the Paris alli-

The belief that no conference will be called increases everywhere. The story from Athens about fighting at Djourmaya and Palanka between Bulgarians and Turks is not confirmed. All Greek news concerning Turkey is suspect until it is verified. It is stated in Constantinople that although Turkey abandoned the idea of mobilizing her forces, she has been moving and concentrating her troops already under arms during the last few days in such a manner that any invading Bulgarian force would find itself menaced on its flank. So far as known, nothing serious has developed from the arrest of Gen. Vukotitch, the special Montenegrin envoy to Servia, although it will doubtless further inflame the anger of the Montenegrins when it becomes generally known in that country. The Liberals doubt whether the number of Conservative seats will even get into the teens. They are claiming 55 out of the 65 seats.

If, by a miracle, the Opposition got 15 seats in Quebec, five in New Brunswick, five in Nova Scotia and four in Prince Edward Island-which no eastern Liberal will concede-the Government would come to the Ottawa River with a majority of 42.

As for the West, maintain that they will carry all four western provinces by a two-to-one majority. They will be surprised if they do not get at least ten majority out of the thirty-five seats..

Some of the Opposition claims in Ontario are manifestly ridiculous. The most exaggerated is that of the Toronto News, which is showing the extravagant zeal of a convert. The vast expansion of Canada's foreign trade, which grew from $239,025,-360 in 1896, the last year of the Conservative regime, to $650,738,200 in 1908, has been in no small measure due to the systematic methods adopted by the Laurier Government to promote trade with other countries, matter which had been practically neglected by the Conservatives.

The latter were content with four or five trade representatives abroad. trade and commerce, the reports being published quarterly, which rendered them of little or no value to

The Liberals, realizing that what was worth doing at all was worth doing thoroughly, increased the number of these representatives to eighteen, every one of whom is of the first rank, locating them in the following countries: The United Kingdom, Australia, the British West Indies, France, China, Japan, Mexico, Newfoundland, South Africa and Norway.

Each of these commissioners is required to make frequent reports, which are published weekly by the department, and as the reports are of practical, businesslike character, and are widely disseminated without charge to manufacturers and other business men throughout the country, they serve a useful purpose. Another plan adopted by the Liberal Government which has had good results is a system of obtaining trade inquiries from all quarters of the world. Last year alone nearly 9.000 of such inquiries were received. Full and accurate information has also been procured as to the customs tariffs of other countries, and the department is thus in a position to be of valuable service to Canadian business men. Vinol is not a patent medicine-but a preparation composed of the medicinal elements of cods' livers, combined with a tonic iron and wine. Vinol creates a hearty appetite, tones up the organs of digestion and makes rich, red blood. ### GROCER COLLAPSED IN WITNESS BOX

Progress of the Guild

Toronto, Oct. 22.-This morning's session of the special sitting of the assize court was a most interesting one. But three witnesses were called, and these told of how they battled with the machinery of the Guild to keep their business going without merging their identity with that of Fifty-five Years in Business.

Andrew McLean, 76 years old, bearded and dim of vision, recounted how money at fair rates, and the small amount for 55 years he has been in business in Kingston L. of bad debts met with.

The net profits amount to $612,646 41, from which have been paid in quarterly dividends 10 per cent for the year, $337,-287 77; taxes, $16,843 50; contributions to officers' pension fund, $10,000; expended on branch premises, $48,518 35, and a sum of $100,000 has been applied to cover depreciation in value of bonds and stocks owned by the bank, being part of its reserves, leaving $99,996 79 to go to profit and loss account, raising it to $165,684 40.

Branches have been opened during the year at St. Ours, St. Cesaire and Waterloo, in Quebec Province, and at Zurich, in loo, in Quebec Province, and at Zurich, in Ontario.

Head offices and branches have been, as usual, carefully inspected since we court, his story unfinished. John Curtis, of Port Hope, also put

> W. J. Graham had an interest in the Owen Sound Canning Company, and the story he told of how the company's goods were turned down, first by one wholesaler, then by another,

"What was the effect of all this restriction on your business?" asked Mr. Washington.

"It kept me from getting beyond the state of a retailer.'

Wiped Out by Rates.

Mr. John Curtis, of Port Hope, said his wholesale department run in connection with his retail store, had been wiped out by unfair freight rates on

Cross-examination by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., for the defence, brought from witness an explanation of the present "equalized freight rates" on sugar prescribed by the Guild as follows:

Per hundred pounds of sugar (not in carload lots), from Montreal: To Port Houe, 26 cents; to Peterboro, 13 cents; Lindsay, 60 cents; Toronto, 10 cents; Belleville, 10 cents; Oshawa, 24 cents; Scarboro, 19 cents; Hamilton, 11 cents.

"In Po- Hope I paid 13 cents per hundred freight on sugar, higher than my competitors in Peterboro," said witness vehemently, "and it wiped me out of the wholesale business." "Did you ever try to buy sugar from the manufacturers?"

Shut Out at Montreal.

"Once I went to the Redpath Refinery in Montreal, told them I had the cash and wanted to buy sugar direct. told me I couldn't get anything from them."

"It was because you were not strictly a wholesaler?" "I suppose so, and also because I was not a member of the Guild."

"Now don't you know that the refiners and other manufacturers sell to a $666,334 02 great many wholesalers outside the Guild?"

"No, I didn't know that." Rate Discrimination.

"Do you know that it costs a great deal more to ship from Toronto to Calgary than Toronto to Vancouver?" "No, I didn't know that."

"Do you know that it might be cheaper to get freight sent to Toronto, a competing point, than to Port Hope, a non-ocmpeting point?" "Yes: that may be true."

"And if the Guild could so arrange matters that all wholesalers should have their freight laid down in every town and city in Canada at the same price, you would indorse their action?"

In the Hands of Canners.

"Is it not true that in acting this way the wholesalers were in the hands digestion and general debility, also of the Canadian Canners, Limited?"

"So that your quarrel is with the Canadian Canners, not with the wholesale grocers?"

"That is true." Mr. Johnston attempted then to get definite statement from the witness as to the exact cause of the Owen Sound Canning Company's closing down in 1905. "It was for the one reason that the wholesalers refused to handle our goods," said Mr. Graham.

"Well, now, we shall see how this agrees with you," blandly remarked Mr. Johnston as he drew out a letter written by witness' son, William Graham, the manager of the Owen Sound Canning Company.

"Here is a letter from your own son the manager, to Darius Wigle, mayor

Over Again.

Mr. John Garvey, the wholesale grocer, appeared before the board of works with his war paint on last night. Mr. Garvey informed the delegation of Carling street businessmen present that he owned the sidewalk in front of his place of business and that he would drive over it and on it all he wanted to. If the delegation had anything in the way of an argument to settle, why didn't they take it into court and "put up their money?" Mr. Garvey expressed a perfect willthe privy council and back again, and to be even more persistent in fighting

After hearing opinions from busilessmen on both sides of the question, the matter was laid over for one week. During the course of the debate, which at times was a three-cornered one, Mr. Garvey informed the delegation from the north side of Carling street that the street was plenty good enough for anyone to walk upon, and that he, a big taxpayer, was perfectly willing to take the middle of the street any time if it would convenience the businessmen who handled heavy stock on the south side "The readway cost $7,000," said Mr. Garvey, "and if it's good enough for me it's good enough for some of you people, whose taxes are only flea bites compared with mine."

Engineer Graydon gave the opinion that Mr. Garvey owned a part of the street, and that it might be a hard matter to make him quit driving his teams up on the sidewalk. His deeds show his title to the land. A letter from the city solicitor stated that the bylaw on the matter was plain: "No driving was to be allowed on the city sidewalks."

One Team at a Time.

Mr. H. Blackburn, who appeared for the north side residents, stated that titles were frequently found defective, and that Mr. Garvey might find himself mistaken abount owning the sidewalk property.

Mr. John Purdom offered the opinion that the matter could be easily adjusted by Mr. Garvey agreeing to allow but one team on the sidewalk at once, and tieing the horses close to the building in order that pedestrians building in order that pedestrians might pass conveniently. To this Mr. Garvey agreed, although he said he was willing to fight it out in court at any time convenient to Dr. James Wilson and others who "were always causing trouble on Carling street."

Chairman Gerry stated that in his opinion all talk of doing away with driving up to the rear of the Carling street places of business was nonsense. "We must not hamper our business-
