FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES PREDICTED AS MORATORIUM EXPIRES

MORTGAGES MADE BEFORE WAR, SINCE PROTECTED BY PROVINCIAL MORATORIUM, TO BE FORECLOSED

Ontario Parliamentary Measure Which Operated Throughout War Expired Yesterday — Judges Will Have No Alternative But To Sign Foreclosures If Mortgagees Demand It.

Toronto, Oct. 2.—It is understood that notices are being prepared in legal offices in many cities in Ontario, particularly in the bigger cities, for the foreclosure of a large number of mortgages made before August 4, 1914, and now long since overdue, but protected more or less up till yesterday by the provincial moratorium, which operated throughout the war, but ended October 1.

In cases where these mortgages fell due and the principal was not paid, the high court judges, under the moratorium, were permitted to allow the principal to stand unpaid, if the interest and rent payments were kept up. Under the laws of foreclosure now again operative, the courts have no alternative but to sign the foreclosure, if the mortgage is due and unpaid, and the mortgage demands it.

It is understood here that during the last six years mortgagors have been taking advantage of the moratorium in Ontario.

Mortgages made since August 4, 1914, were not protected by the moratorium.

LONDON MEMBER TO FIGHT MRS. GRAHAM'S APPOINTMENT; VETERANS FORWARD PROTEST

Special Meeting of the Labor Representatives Is Called in Toronto Next Week—Question May Be Taken Up Immediately With Premier Drury.

"Mrs. Graham will never hold her position if I have anything to say in the matter," declared Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. L. A. for London, to The Advertiser today, regarding her appointment as local investigator for mothers' pensions. "I am certainly not in favor of it. Mrs. Graham is a very nice woman and all that, but this does not enter into the question. I will not under any consideration indorse this appointment, and Hon. Walter Rollo should never have made it. The man who confirmed the appointment should be asked to step out himself. You can say that I said so."

Call Special Meeting.

According to information received by the Advertiser this afternoon, Mayor MacBride of Brantford has sent out notices calling a meeting of Labor men of the province to be held in Toronto next week to discuss recent appointments made by the Drury Government. Because of these appointments, it is stated that Hon. Walter Rollo is losing the confidence of his Labor colleagues, and fireworks may develop at the meeting. A meeting was held during exhibition week at Toronto, and several appointments made since that time have necessitated calling Labor representatives together again.

It is understood that the appointment of Mrs. R. M. Graham as investigator for the mothers' pensions scheme will be discussed at the meeting, and all Labor members of the Legislature have been asked to attend to thresh matters out with the delegates.

Sending Protest.

Protesting the appointment of a lady other than the one approved of by the local soldier organizations as investigator for mothers' pensions, the executive of the local Great War Veterans, which called a special meeting last evening to discuss the matter sent the following letter to Premier Drury:

London, Oct. 1, 1920.

Premier Drury:

Honorable Sir,—At a meeting of the executive of the G. W. V. A., I was instructed to convey to you our strong protest and disappointment at your government ignoring the recommendation in the appointment of the investigator for mothers' pensions.

"We would therefore respectfully urge you to reconsider this appointment in favor of the principle that returned people should receive first consideration when such appointments are made. Respectfully yours,

J. W. CUNLIFFE, Secretary.

The appointment of Mrs. R. M. Graham to investigator was thoroughly probed, and the decision was arrived at that the G. W. V. A. would stand "pat" for a returned nurse getting the position.

Matter of Age.

The matter of the age was brought up, and it revealed that one of the prominent applicants, Miss Daisy Thomson, a returned nurse, was only 29 years old, one year younger than the commission requires. One of the other applicants, Miss Janet B. Geoghia, a returned nurse, was old enough and was said to be better qualified than Mrs. Graham. Miss Geoghia has had several years' experience as a nurse in the Victoria Home. She gave very valuable services overseas. Miss Thomson was also overseas for three or four years' and had experience with mothers' pensions in England.

What the outcome of the letter sent to Premier Drury will be cannot be ascertained until about the first part of next week.

A letter was received from Dominion headquarters saying that the Princess Mary boxes that were consigned to headquarters were all dispatched to other branches and none could be obtained for London.

LOST TWO TIRES AND FINED $200

Windsor Traveler Had a Wild Ride To This City.

W. G. Couper, of Windsor, traveler for an auto tire firm, was in St. Thomas yesterday, and in order to catch an evening train from London hired Edward Rick, 18 St. George street, St. Thomas, to drive him in an auto to London. The pair set out, and en route a tire blew out, but they did not hesitate, and it fell by the roadside. A second tire came off, but Couper assured Rick that he would pay for it, and they scorched along the road, knocking a buggy and its occupants off the highway near Lambeth.

When the speeders reached this city the police received them, and in the local police court today Couper faced charges of intoxication and having liquor unlawfully in his possession. Rick was charged with driving a car while under 18 years of age. Couper explained that he suffers from chronic pleurisy, and that he carried booze in his club bag all the time. A young lady gave it to him, he asserted.

Says It's Costly.

"A young lady cannot lawfully prescribe for you," said the court to which accused replied that it costs a lot of money to get prescriptions all the time. He admitted having a couple of drinks out of the bottle before leaving the Flower City.

The magistrate characterized his predicament as an unfortunate thing, and assessed him $200 and costs with the option of three months in jail.

Rick, aged 17, pleaded guilty to his offence as charged, stating that he had driven a car for five years.

"How is it you have never been apprehended in St. Thomas?" asked the court, to which Rick replied: "The police see me all the time over there, and there are lots more of my age in St. Thomas driving cars."

"They should not be," said the magistrate, making a $10 fine on Rick and warning him that he might have been charged with reckless driving.

The drinks who did not know how they obtained their liquor, were fined $10 and costs. Two of them were from St. Thomas who came to London last night supplied with their stimulants.

PROHIBITION WOULD NOT GO INTO EFFECT UNTIL PROCLAMATION

Official Result Must Be First Posted Before Action Will Be Taken.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—By the Canadian Press.—In connection with the taking of provincial plebiscites under the Canada temperance act, it was stated today that while the returns will be available locally on the night of the vote being taken, as would be the case in an ordinary election, the official result will require to be posted by the chief electoral officer, Col. O. M. Biggar. Should the province vote in favor of the prohibition of importation of liquor, such prohibition will not come into effect until a date which shall be set forth in a proclamation to be published in the Canada Gazette after the receipt of the official result of the plebiscite.

HISTORY OF BASEBALL FOR PAST DECADE IS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Cook County Grand Jury Will Act As Special Body For This Purpose.

McGRAW TO BE CALLED

Manager of New York Giants Will Appear On Tuesday.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—The Cook County grand jury, which has been conducting the investigation into the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 world's series today was to be made a special body to continue its search of baseball history for evidence of crookedness. The regular sessions of the grand jury were completed yesterday.

There will be no session of the jury today other than a perfunctory one to dispose of the formalities making it a special body. Testimony will be resumed Monday, however, and on Tuesday John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and Benny Kauff, former outfielder of the New York Club, will take the stand.

Kauff and Toney, it is understood, will testify that they were offered $500 and $200 respectively to throw a game. They refused.

The grand jury will delve into reports of dishonesty in baseball, stretching back more than a decade, according to State's Attorney MacLay Hoyne.

Dooin To Be Called.

In connection with this, it was reported that Charles Dooin, former manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, would be subpoenaed.

Dooin, in Atlantic City, said that in 1908 a man handed him a package containing $8,000, and remarked that there was $40,000 more in a bank if Dooin would "throw" the next game to New York.

The present investigation, it was said, is hastening a plan which has been under discussion for some time among authorities and others to put the control of the game under a national tribunal, composed of men prominent in the United States not connected with baseball, rather than to have it controlled by private interests. The major league clubs, the Chicago White Sox, the Chicago Cubs, the New York Giants and the Pittsburg Nationals have indorsed the plan, and it was understood that the Boston American and National League clubs also approved its adoption.

Already baseball men are conjecturing as to the personnel of the tribunal. Such names as Gen. Pershing, Wm. H. Taft, Judge Kenesaw, Mountain Landis and Major-Gen. Leonard Wood were mentioned, though it was admitted that none of these men had been approached.

Plan Is Outlined.

The plan has been outlined to the president of every club in the major and minor leagues and requests were made for a quick reply to the statement sent out which was signed by the Chicago Americans, Pittsburg, New York and Chicago National League clubs. Reports received today by officials from New York said that John J. ("Sport") Sullivan, mentioned in the grand jury testimony here, declared there really was a "great big master mind" behind the deal which involved the payment of money to White Sox players to throw the 1919 series.

"Within the next 48 hours I will be on my way to Chicago, and when I get there I will tell the grand jury or any other officials the whole inside story of the frame-up," Sullivan is quoted as saying.

Sullivan, who says he handled several hundred thousand dollars in bets on the last world's series, is expected to arrive here Tuesday.

"They have made me the goat, and I'm not going to stand for it," he added. "I know the whole history of the deal from beginning to end. I know the big man whose money it was that paid off the Sox players, and I'm going to name him."

ONLY FIGHTING CHANCE.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—The Chicago White Sox had only a fighting chance for the American League pennant today as they went into the second game of the series with St. Louis, which rounds out the 1920 schedule.

Trailing Cleveland by two games, the lone hope of the Chicagoans lies in taking all contests here.

Dick Kerr was expected to be Manager Gleason's pitching choice for today.

AUTHOR OF WARNING POSTCARDS SENT TO A N. Y. SANATORIUM

Edwin Fischer Tells How He Arrived At Conclusions.

New York, Oct. 2.—By the Canadian Press.—Edwin P. Fischer, lawyer and former metropolitan tennis champion, was removed from Bellevue Hospital this morning and sent to Amityville Sanatorium, where he was committed yesterday on the recommendation of Dr. Menass Gregory, head of the psychopathic department of Bellevue Hospital, who declared Fischer was mentally unbalanced. He was committed by Justice Finch in the supreme court.

Fischer was asked yesterday in court how he happened to strike on the date for the New York explosion, of which he sent warnings from Toronto to various addresses in this city. His reply was peculiar. He said he was not clear on his Caesar, but recalled that Julius Caesar was killed on the Ides of March, which suggested the explosion would take place in the Ides of September—six months later.

Fischer added that while walking through Central Park one morning it occurred to him that there would be an explosion in the financial district at 2:10 p.m. on September 15 or later. He decided on the hour, he explained, through seeing a friend playing cards and turn up the ten of diamonds and the ten of spades—two tens.

WAR VETERANS DEMANDING IMMEDIATE RESTORATION OF CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT

Federal Political Program of the G. A. U. V. Is Received Here—Want Complete Abolition of Party Patronage and a Sane Control of the Liquor Traffic.

Following is the federal political program of the Grand Army of United Veterans, just received by local officers:

1. An honest, progressive and economical administration of federal affairs. There has been too much waste and misapplication of our natural resources, thus preventing our country from doing what our people desire. Every effort must be made to conserve and make productive our natural resources for the benefit of the Canadian people. The exploitation of our natural resources to be duly safeguarded in the public interests by an appropriate leasing system.

2. Every effort must be made to adequately re-establish the ex-service men and women, as fully as the finances of our country will permit. We claim $2,000, $1,500 or $1,000, according to place of service, to be placed immediately to the credit of each ex-service man or woman, to be paid by the government on application through organizations of ex-service men or women.

This can be readily worked out by a reconstruction bond issue on Victory Loan lines.

Also, all war indemnities received by Canada must be earmarked and applied, so far as is necessary, to cover the expense of re-establishment.

A re-establishment pension to be paid at the rate of $1 per month for each per cent of the disability, and that dependents shall be paid on the same basis; and pensions to be paid irrespective of rank; and that no pensioner shall be required to appear before a pensioner's board for one year after the pension has been fixed, excepting at pensioner's own request.

Widows' Pensions.

Pensions for the widows and orphans must be sufficient to enable them to live up to the Canadian standard of living.

A pension to be paid to dependents of deceased ex-service men and women.

Pensions to be continued during vocational training or medical treatment; and these to be retroactive.

Pensions of deceased pensioners to be paid for one year after death to deceased's next of kin, to assist in paying sick and funeral expenses; and where there are children left as dependent, then the extension payment to be equal to two years' pension.

More extensive vocational training for the disabled ex-service men and women (and for minors up to 21), with increased pay and allowance.

3. In case of appointment to civil service (qualifications being equal), preference to be given to ex-service men and women.

Such government bodies as the civil service commission, or any body in place of same, shall be composed of at least 50 per cent, ex-service men or women.

4. Old age pensions to mothers with dependent children sufficient to enable them to live up to the Canadian standard, also maternity allowances.

5. Insurance against sickness and unemployment.

Urges Education.

6. A thorough education, including university course, to be placed within the reach of every Canadian child.

7. Proportional representation with grouped constituencies.

8. Eight-hour day (44 hours a week) with minimum wage for all men and women, with a permanent commission established to look into the cost of living, with power to increase minimum wage to meet local conditions according to cost of living.

9. A graduated income tax to be placed on all earned incomes over $2,500 a year; and an excess tax on all unearned incomes over $4,000 a year.

10. The very greatest care must be taken to secure the right kind of immigrant for Canada to protect the Canadian labor market and to maintain the purity of the race every effort must be made to counteract the exodus of young Canadians to other countries.

Important Measure.

11. Constitutional government to be forthwith fully restored.

12. The Canadian senate to be elected by the people for a fixed term.

13. The people to have the right of initiative referendum and recall.

14. All manufacturers of products protected by the tariff to make annual report of their earnings to the proper authorities; and every claim for tariff protection by any industry to be held publicly before a special committee of parliament.

15. An inheritance tax and a tax on unimproved land values, including natural resources, to be imposed.

16. Complete abolition of the patronage system.

17. Daily newspapers and periodical publications to disclose their ownership and control.

18. Indorsation of public ownership wherever feasible.

19. Sane legislation to control the liquor traffic.

20. Adequate support for our federal department of health, so that the physical fitness of our people may be maintained.

GERMAN OFFICERS ARE PLACED UNDER ARREST

Attempted to Secure Rifles Left in Holland.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—Prince Gottfried Hohenlohe-Langenburg with other officers has been arrested, according to the newspapers on a charge of attempting to secure possession of 2,000,000 rifles left behind in Holland during the retreat of the German army with a view to selling them unlawfully. The prisoners were provisionally released after a preliminary examination by the public prosecutor.

Prince Hohenlohe-Langerburg last April was fined 1,000 marks for his connection with the attack on members of the French mission in the Hotel Adlon early in the year. This attack was led by Prince Joachim of Hohenzollern, a cousin of former Emperor William.

GAS SITUATION IN HAMILTON IS BAD

Factories Using This Fuel Are Greatly Inconvenienced.

Hamilton, Oct. 2.—The gas situation is acute in Hamilton again as a result of the drop in temperature. This morning the United Gas and Fuel Company shut off all factories using gas and threatened to do the same with homes where gas is used in furnaces. The company fixes as the preferred class those using gas for cooking and lighting purposes. An added supply of natural gas is expected shortly as a result of the new agreement, which provides for increased prices and the new water gas outfit, which will be ready by the middle of the month and will supply 2,000,000 feet additional daily.

U. S. GROSS DEBT REDUCED.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The gross debt of the United States was reduced by $237,315,995 in September, according to figures made public today by the treasury department.

ALLOWANCES TO AID WIDOWED MOTHERS EDUCATE CHILDREN

Major Murphy Explains Objects of Mothers' Allowances Act.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

From items of news appearing in your paper, there appears to be a misapprehension by many as to the objects and purposes of the mothers' allowances act as interpreted by the mothers' allowance commission. The act has application only to certain cases of widowed mothers who have two or more children under the age of fourteen years, and who cannot properly care for, maintain and educate these children without receiving benefit under the act. The act is for the benefit of the children so that they may be properly cared for, educated and grow up to be useful citizens and to prevent the children on account of lack of home training from drifting into police courts, jails, houses of correction and penitentiaries. The act as interpreted by the commission is not intended to apply to war widows and others who receive pensions or allowances from the Dominion Government or through the soldiers' aid commission or from patriotic funds, nor does it apply to widows who are working and are able to work so long as there is a mother, sister or some relative at home to look after and care for the younger children, nor does it apply to any widow who has means to care for and educate her children.

The act is mainly intended for a class of widows who do not come within the beneficent provisions made by the Dominion Government by the soldiers' aid commission and by patriotic associations. Unless in exceptional cases the act has not application to widows of soldiers.

MANY APPLICANTS TO TAKE UP COURSES IN AEROPLANE TRAINING

Several Canadian Technical Schools To Include New Courses in Curriculum.

MUST BE VOLUNTEERS

Men Must Offer To Serve in Canadian Air Force in Emergency.

Toronto, Oct. 2.—All the intricacies which make up the modern aeroplane will soon be as familiar to Canadian mechanics as the war time machines were to Canadian pilots.

Forty applicants have applied in the first two days at the Toronto Technical School to take the new course in practical aero engine fitting and aeroplane rigging, indicating the rapidly growing demand for mechanics skilled in handling aircraft. Other technical schools throughout Ontario are about to institute such courses.

The University of Toronto has two men employed in research work and has started a class in aero dynamics.

Men eager to obtain experience under actual flying conditions are now given an opportunity by the Canadian Air Force to obtain training which cannot be had from books and lectures. Camp Borden, the first training station, is in operation and will be kept open all winter. The Ontario board of the Canadian Air Force Association is already sending up classes each Friday for a month's training. The association offices are at 34 Yonge street, Toronto. At Camp Borden half a day is devoted to actual work on the flying field and half to lectures and sports, the pupils not only work on machines in daily use and have many chances to take the air, but may later on apply for training as pilots.

Must First Volunteer.

To get to the aerodrome it is necessary to volunteer in the Canadian Air Force for service in case of national emergency, and this entitles the volunteer to twenty-eight days' training each two years. The dates of such training are arranged at any time convenient to the members for those desiring it, there are opportunities to obtain longer periods of training at double pay.

While on the short period of training the pay is from $7 to $14.35 a week, with food, uniform and quarters provided. This is equivalent to obtaining $21 to $35 per week, with special conditions for married men.

New uniforms are supplied free.

Volunteers are being trained for two main aero-nautical trades—fitters and riggers. A fitter is a man skilled in gasoline engine work and looks after the engine of the aeroplane. A rigger is a carpenter who erects and maintains the wings and framework. There are also interesting courses in aerial photography and in wireless telegraphy and telephony. Besides this there are openings for turners, welders, coppersmiths, blacksmiths, tailors employed as fabric workers, painters and jewelers employed as instrument repairers.

PICKFORD DIVORCE UP AGAIN NEXT WEEK

Court to Decide If It Could Decide That Mary Was Freed Legally.

Carson City, Nev., Oct. 2.—Minden, the town that Mary Pickford made famous, has its community broom at work in its little courtroom, shining up for the second act of the Pickford-Moore-Fairbanks drama of married life. October 9 is the day set for the curtain to go up again.

On that date attorneys will argue the question of whether Minden's superior court has the right to decide whether the queen of movie comediennes was properly divorced from Owen Moore, her former husband.

The question was raised on a demurrer interposed by Mary's attorney to the state's complaint asking annulment of her divorce from Moore. The demurrer holds that the court is without jurisdiction, and that the suit was not filed by proper parties or against the proper persons.

Attorneys promise that this particular act will not have much "punch," or even human appeal. Mary won't be there, neither will Douglas Fairbanks or Owen Moore.

If the court turns down the demurrer, however, and orders the play to proceed, a more interesting story may unfold in future acts, as all concerned admit.

The state has based its demand for annulment of the divorce on an allegation that Mary failed to establish proper residence in Nevada, and that it was through an agreement that Moore happened to be playing poker in the Minden general store, as was reported at the time just when the summons was ready to serve. Instead of being in Los Angeles cavorting before a camera.

SIR EDWARD CARSON DECLARES ULSTER NOT TO BLAME BECAUSE GOVT. FAILED TO MAINTAIN ORDER

Attacs of Sinn Feiners Upon Servants of Crown Are Naturally Provocative of Reprisals, Declares Unionist Leader—Support of Irish Executive by Government Is Required.

Belfast, Oct. 2.—Ulster is not to blame for the failure of Government forces to prevent recent disorders in Ireland, writes Sir Edward Carson, Unionist leader in Ulster, in sending a subscription to a fund for the release of Loyalists who lost their places of employment and homes during recent riots here.

"Attacks upon our people and their property and the murder of faithful servants of the crown, as well as efforts to boycott Ulster traders," he declares, "are naturally provocative of reprisals. It is only by supporting the forces of the executive department that the Government can be assisted in defeating the machinations of our enemies and restoring peace to the community."

Sir Edward has issued a caustic statement relative to the plan for a settlement of the Irish question advanced by Viscount Grey, which, he declares, is a "policy of scuttle with a vengeance."

ODLUM APPROVES PENSIONS PLAN OF LIB. LEADER

Telegram To Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Indorses Attitude.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 2.—Brig.-Gen. V. Odlum has telegraphed to Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, on his way to Prince Rupert, expressing his indorsation of the Liberal leader's attitude regarding pensions for men disabled in the late war, and for the dependents of those who lost their lives.

"Pensions," he said, "should not be, as now, barely on the margin of a possible living, but should be generous enough to express the nation's gratitude, and to make possible a decent standard of life."

N. B. CANDIDATES FOR PROVINCIAL FIGHTS ARE BEING NOMINATED

Conservatives Open a Campaign Against Liberal Administration.

Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 2.—Candidates will be placed in nomination at noon today for the New Brunswick provincial general elections next Saturday. Nominees have been selected by the Government (Liberal) party, the official Opposition (Conservative) and the Farmer-Labor faction for most of the constituencies at conventions during the past two weeks. The election campaign so far has been fought hotly, but without bitterness.

The St. John Standard (Conservative) has printed the following summary of the sentiments of opposition speakers "for reckless and wanton extravagance the Foster Government has left all its prejudices far away in the rear. It has shown no regard whatever for economical administration. It has enjoyed a larger revenue by far than ever was known in the province before, and yet each financial year since it came into office has seen an ever-increasing balance on the debit side of the ledger. The premier makes the statement that he and his colleagues will continue to follow along the lines they have laid down during the past three years, which means that if the same policies and practices are carried out, the annual deficits will continue to be piled up. As the premier also says, 'good government is essential, honest government imperative and economical government necessary,' and yet his record shows that he is not giving any one of the three."

"FINAL APPEAL" TO MACSWINEY TO TAKE FOOD

Condition of the Irish Hunger Striker Remains Unchanged.

London, Oct. 2.—What is described as a "final appeal" to Terance MacSwiney to accept food was made by a doctor in Brixton Prison this morning, according to the noon bulletin of the Irish self-determination league on the condition of the hunger striking lord mayor of Cork.

The mayor, however, though he was told he was sinking fast, declined to change his decision to abstain from taking nourishment, which he declared was irrevocable. The league's bulletin read:

"The condition of Lord Mayor MacSwiney remains virtually unchanged. The doctor warns the mayor this morning that he is sinking fast and makes a final appeal to him to take food. The mayor says his mind is definitely made up, and that his decision made at the beginning is irrevocable."

WINTER VENTILATION UP-TO-DATE.

Dean Lyon of the University of Minnesota, a physiologist with a practical turn of mind, has been experimenting with his own house for some years. He wished to find out for himself a practical method of applying the now well-established modern theory of ventilation. Briefly put, the older theories and the new practice contrast in these points—the older asked for a continuous stream of outside air into the house, and a continuous stream of inside air out of the house. So long as the outside air was coming in, the older ventilators were content with warming it and letting it flow out again! The people in the house thus caught their air for breathing "on the fly," so to speak. This is somewhat as if when you wanted a drink of water you should dip a tumbler into a fast-flowing stream of water passing your door. In summer this would be all right, but in the winter, would you heat the whole stream in order to get water you could use? Why not take out from the stream just what you need and heat that—not the whole stream?

GOT OUTSIDE AIR.

Dean Lyon's first effort was to take outside air into his house, warm it and USE it. He found true what many advanced investigators had preached for years, that there was no need to bring in a continuous artificial stream of "fresh air" through pipes—the outside air came in of itself through the very walls of the house. Don't imagine that this house of the dean's was either a shack or a very specially constructed house with thin walls. It was a perfectly ordinary brick house, with framework, lath and plaster and paper, just like any one of the hundreds of houses scattered all over Canada and the United States. It has been known for many years that a house of this kind will, when heated to the ordinary point in winter, change all its inside air with outside air about once an hour. How? Right through the walls themselves! But a substantially-built house surely will not do that—the walls are not so porous as that would seem to imply? Yes, they are porous—gases will pass through them very readily. In fact, the only gas-tight part of the walls of most modern buildings is the glass in the windows. Air is, of course, a gas, and follows all the rules and regulations which any gas obeys.

HOUSE WAS RESERVOIR.

So far, so good. Dean Lyon's quite ordinary house was ventilated by closing all the windows! This let the air stay more or less in the house, where it could be used, and did not keep it rushing through so fast that only what could be snatched from it as it passed by was of any value to the consumers. He had thus a reservoir of air instead of a stream—his house was itself the reservoir. But then came up the second difficulty in all winter ventilation, whether you use the stream method or the reservoir method. In winter the outside air is very dry, as compared with summer air, and when you bring it inside and warm it, it is still drier in proportion. To put it in another way, cold air is satisfied with very little moisture—it won't hold very much in it. The surplus is thrown out as mist, or dew or rain in summer, as snow, hail or sleet in winter. So it comes about that the really cold air of winter-time has very little moisture in it. But as soon as that air is brought into the house and warmed up, it becomes hungry for water—its "capacity for water is greatly increased." In fact, it acts towards all the moisture it can find in the house just as a thirsty camel would towards a well-filled rain-barrel. It hunts up all the things in the house that have any water in them and appropriates that water. If the air can't get moisture elsewhere the air will take the moisture from the plants and animals, human or otherwise, in the house, for they are usually the moistest things there. The plants dry up and the animals feel cold. Then the furnace is called on to make up for the chill DUE TO DRYING, and is run at 70 degrees, or 75 degrees even.

GAVE IT WATER.

Dean Lyon, like many others, proposed to satisfy the thirst of this winter camel by giving it water that did not come from his household plants or his own family. He tried especially to find out how much water this house full of air wanted. We were all rather astonished at the amount—no less than about fifteen gallons a day! Remember, this was quite an ordinary house, neither small nor large, built just in the ordinary way.

Now, how are you going to get that much water evaporated every day in your home? If you manage it, you will have a delightful summer atmosphere all winter, and your house temperature will not be hot and dry and feverish, but mild and pleasant, say, at about 60 to 65 degrees. There is the rub—how to do it. Dean Lyon found and tested about thirty different forms of humidifiers on the market. They all failed in that they did not evaporate enough water. They evaporated water all right, but only quarts or pints, where gallons were needed.

The most successful humidifier in a private home that the writer has seen was in Ottawa—a water-pipe carried right through the firebox of the furnace. The steam thus formed was allowed to enter the living-rooms. Various modifications of this plan are fermenting in the brains of different inventors, and some day we shall have a device suitable to every private house. Meantime, the chief thing to remember is that you should do your best in any way you can to keep your house air moist in cold weather. You are not likely to overdo it, until you get up to ten or fifteen gallons evaporated every day.

SAYS SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL IS REGARDED AS MOTHERS' PICNIC

Arthur Mould Also States It Creates Laugh On Labor's Part.

HOT DISCUSSION

Allegation That Dr. Stevenson Had Appointment Planned, Is Denied.

Fireworks were the order of the evening at the Social Service Council on Friday evening, when Dr. Hugh Stevenson, M.L.A., Arthur Mould of Labor representation committee, and Rev. Matthey Kelly of the Social Service Council disagreed over the matter of the appointment of a person as judge for the juvenile court which may be established in the city in the near future.

Rev. Matthew Kelly gave a report as a member of the committee on the juvenile court during which he made the statement that he had been informed that Dr. Hugh Stevenson had already picked the person for this office while sitting right in his own den. Mr. Kelly said he thought that this was not right, and if so there was no need of a committee carrying out any work in connection with the matter. Dr. Stevenson was not in the room when this statement was made, but appeared immediately afterwards. Arthur Mould almost immediately enlightened Dr. Stevenson as to what had been said. The Labor member demanded from Mr. Kelly an apology, but Mr. Kelly informed him that he had been told this, and, therefore, would not apologize. Mr. Mould and Dr. Stevenson both vehemently denied his allegations. They stated that a recommendation had been made by the L. R. C. and Dr. Stevenson that if a man was recommended to the Government he would contest it and advocate that a woman be appointed, one interested in social work who would deal with women as well as juveniles.

Creates Laugh.

Arthur Mould asked the council why, if they wanted to recommend someone, they had not done so before this time. "I might as well be frank and tell you that the L. R. C. looks upon this council as a mothers' picnic, that has always created a laugh in the labor movement regarding doing anything. Though by what I can gather now the council is waking up a bit."

Rev. T. D. McCullough rose and asked Mr. Mould, who put over the mothers' allowances, the minimum wage and other such movements. Much hot discussion followed the statement that the council was a "mothers' picnic."

Rev. J. G. Stuart gave a report of the children's playgrounds, stating that they hoped to open two more next summer.

Rev. T. D. McCullough briefly outlined the social survey to be taken in the course of a week or so under the direction of Professor T. R. Robinson of Toronto. Professor Robinson was present and explained the need of a social survey in the community. Gordon Philip, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke in behalf of the Chamber of commerce, offering co-operation in every way.

A discussion on the sensoring of moving pictures and vaudeville was held. W. E. Kelly advocated that a local censor board be established, though it was pointed out that little could be done locally, all censoring being done at the border.

EUROPEAN WHEAT ENTERS MARKET AGAINST CANADIAN

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 1.—Chinese wheat for the first time now is reaching the European markets in competition with wheat from Canada and the United States. According to the Telegraaf, the Dutch Government, as well as private buyers, is negotiating for the purchase of the Chinese grain, the quality of which is good but not equal to the best Canadian grades.

POOR HEALTH LIFE'S HANDICAP

Rich, Red Blood and Strong Nerves Needed To Win Out.

It has been well said that life is a race. The full-blooded man with sound nerves, the bright-eyed, rosy-cheeked woman invariably win. The nervous, dyspeptic man, and the ailing anaemic woman are left behind. Success in life is largely a question of good health and sound nerves. It is never the shaky, undecided men who are chosen for promotion; the sickly-looking, pale woman is not sought after like her happy, rosy sisters.

What makes all the difference is the condition of the blood. If your blood is thin and poor, your nerves are bound to suffer, because they have to depend upon good red blood for nourishment. Headaches, undecided will, a shrunken figure and pale, unattractive face tell only too plainly that the blood is at fault.

Both men and women in great numbers have found deliverance from their inferiority in life's race, caused by impoverished blood through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are a remedy that has been a household word for a generation, because they tone up the whole system, make the blood rich and red and strengthen the nerves. Mrs. S. B. Miller, Elmira, Ont., says: "I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a family medicine, and have reason to praise them for what they have done in our home. Some years ago, while we were living in Alberta, my husband was so completely run down that he was unable to do any work, and even to carry a pail of water would exhaust him. A doctor was called in who said his heart was affected, and that medicine would be of little use to him. This greatly worried me and I finally urged him to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He began their use and in a short time the swelling in his hands and feet disappeared. We decided to return to Ontario, but the doctor said he could not stand the trip. But the doctor was mistaken, for through the use of the pills he gained such strength as to be able to look after the harvest, and in a month later we returned to Ontario. My husband still takes a box or two of the pills twice a year, and they keep him in good shape. I have also found the pills good for my growing daughters, and we are never without them in our home."

One of the best things about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is that they do not contain the slightest trace of opiates or harmful drugs. While they are overcoming disease they are building up general conditions of good health. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

PLACE VALUE ON THE HOME IS THE ADVICE OF LADY FALCONER

Speaks At Y. W. C. A. Membership Rally Last Night.

The enthusiastic membership rally at the Central Y. W. C. A., King street, last night spoke well for a big season's work. Lady Falconer of Toronto, the Dominion president, who was the guest of honor last night, furnished the inspiration in an address both simple and elegant.

"The Y. W. C. A., while it trys to givgive the girl everything she needs to develop physically, mentally and socially, its real aim, behind it all, is to help make her see that the only thing worth while in life is to make herself pure and clean and good for this world and for the world to come," said the speaker. "The present age needs to have a new idea of the value of the home. It would be a very bad thing for Canada should we develop the type of woman who preferred business to the home. There is a very grave danger there, for nothing can do for Canada what a fine home can do. And is not the Y. W. C. A. preparing girls for future homes?"

Up To Women.

"I don't know at time when I have seen more things menace of national life than today. And it is up to the women to say whether our social life will be a simple, glad, happy life, or a hopeless, complex, radical thing. In the midst of all the unrest of the present day the conclusion of everyone who makes an honest investigation is not that we shall have more pay and less work, but that we must have a spiritual background to life before we'll settle the unrest in the world."

"Another thing which we should consider is that a great deal of the bitterness in the world is due to misunderstanding. Last spring a woman in the country wrote a long letter to me, scorning the city women for the way they dressed and the life they led, and expressing her dissatisfaction at a measure which has been passed by the Toronto Council of Women.

When I answered that woman, I tried to explain to her just what were the obligations of a city woman. I told her just what I spent on my clothes personally, how many I had, and why I had to have them, with the result that she understood exactly the situation."

Reports Given.

During the evening reports were given by different Y. W. C. A. club members, about their experiences at the conference in Toronto. Another feature of the program was a vocal solo by Mrs. H. Westland, accompanied by Miss Minnie Raymond. Mrs. C. B. King, the president of the association, was in the chair. At the close refreshments were served and a social time spent.

WEST THRIFTY NOW, SAYS CHARLES RUBY

Era of Extravagance Passed, Although Values of Harvest Unparalleled.

Mr. Charles Ruby, general manager of the Mutual Life of Canada, declares that Western Canada, although prosperous this year as never before, has outlived an area of extravagance, which has characterized the world at large, and has already returned to the simple life. He bases his assertion upon a recent trip which enabled him and the associate officers of the company to observe social and financial conditions in the principal centres of each of the prairie provinces and in British Columbia.

"The simple life is becoming more popular in Western cities," said Mr. Ruby. "This is evidenced by the modest dress of the people, and also of the lack of undue luxury in the goods displayed in the various shops and stores. The practice of economy is shown also by the fact that restaurants where wholesome meals are furnished at a reasonable expense are much more frequented than the more luxurious cafe and hotels. Signs of thrift were everywhere visible, so that with an overflowing harvest and a sober and thrifty population Western Canada will be immensely strengthened financially this year."

The party covered considerable portions of the country by motor car and report that almost everywhere throughout the prairies good crops and abundant prosperity, the value of the 1920 harvest to the province of Alberta alone being calculated at two hundred million dollars.

OFF THE RAILS

CRACK C. P. R. FIRST AID TEAM

This team has made an exceptionally fine showing in first aid work, not only in competitions with other teams, but in actual cases of emergency at the C. P. R. roundhouse and yards here. The members of the team are, reading from left to right: H. Borman, J. C. Jefferies, E. T. Wright (captain), H. Nutkins and J. O'Neil.

DOING GOOD WORK.

That the introduction of first-aid training for railwaymen has well repaid the railroads is the claim made by the officials of the first-aid department of the roads in this city. E. T. Wright, who is captain of one of the crack C. P. R. teams here related in proof of his claim two incidents that occurred in the space of one week, where men who were injured were saved from serious complications by prompt and intelligent attention on the part of their fellow workers who were trained in the service.

Three classes are in training on the G. T. R. at the present time. Examinations in the work on the road will be tried in the near future. So important is the work deemed by the officials of the road that special cars are equipped and stationed at different points on the division. When the car which is located here could not be used on Friday, Superintendent C. F. Forrester gave the use of his chief clerks' office for the lessons.

The lessons and training are taken in the company's time, but the officials of the road feel amply paid, as valuable, trained men are often saved for the service. It is the intention of the roads, the officials said, to eventually train every man in the service.

PLAN TO EMPLOY 1,000

The local G. T. R. car shops will within a short time employ 1,000 men if the plans of the local officials are carried out. There are now over 800 men employed in the shops—the most in the history of the institution—and more are being taken on immediately. An additional 25 carpenters are being advertised for at the present time.

Although throughout the war as little repairing and building as possible was done owing to the high costs and scarcity of money, the staff has grown from 350 men in the years before the war to the present staff. The master car builder stated today that he could easily handle 1,000 men, and that he was endeavoring to secure permission from Montreal to hire them.

Heavier work is being done all the time. Cars, both passenger and freight are being built from the wheels up at the present time. Every year every coach used on the G. T. R. is given a thorough overhauling, it is scraped and repainted, the windows are removed and thoroughly cleaned, and every part is renovated. As an average of thirty cars is turned out daily the work is stupendous.

WAGE SCALE DECIDED.

After many weeks of unrest on the part of the clerks, and headaches on the part of the officials of the local division of the G. T. R., the wage scale has been decided upon. The pay sheets were drawn up on the new scale and forwarded to Montreal during this week. The award as it now stands grants increases ranging from $2.50 to $55 a month. The senior positions have been granted the greatest increases.

REPAIRING MANY CARS.

Although the C. P. R. has no carshops in this city, considerable repair work on the rolling stock is carried on here. On a siding called a rip-track located in the east end yards, many cars which have been damaged, or which have become the worse for wear, are daily fixed up and put back in the service. Sometimes as high as 30 cars a day are put on the siding for repairs of more or less importance.

PLANS PHONE SYSTEM.

Since early last spring, plans and recommendations made by Superintendent C. F. Forrester of the local division of the G. T. R., for a telephone dispatching system for the local division have been before the officials of the road in Montreal. Although it was not thought that it would take long to get approvals on the work, no action has yet been taken by the officials in that city on the recommendations.

It was the intention of the officials here to install a telephone system between Hamilton and Sarnia.

INTENSIVE DRIVE ON ACCIDENTS PLANNED FOR SAFETY WEEK

DAYS DESIGNATED

Separate Aim On Each One—Sermons From Pulpits Sunday.

To make further arrangements for "Safety Week," October 10-16, when various organizations will put over an intensive drive against accidents, a meeting was held in council chambers by the Safety League last evening. In the absence of Mayor E. S. Little, Ald. John Bridge acted as chairman. C. B. King outlined the work of the league with a view to making the members more enthusiastic.

About half the objective has been obtained and in order to obtain sufficient funds to put the drive over on a better basis than in other cities the finance committee faces considerable work. Those present were willing to give part time in the interests of the campaign, but claimed it impossible to put full time to the work. Volunteers having been obtained at the meeting and the prospects of more energetic workers volunteering for campaign work, it is expected that sufficient funds will be raised and the accident prevention cards and pamphlets distributed throughout the city. Manufacturers, stores and citizens have co-operated in other cities to make the week a success.

The various days of the week have been specially designated. The ministers of all the churches will be asked to co-operate and have fire and accident prevention the subject of their Sunday sermon. Monday is careful day for motorists. Tuesday, careful day for street car men. Wednesday is set aside for school safety. Friday is to be called careful day for pedestrians, and the slogan for Saturday will be "Safety for all, for safety."

Banners and cards in street cars and stores, motion picture slides, letters, advertisements and newspaper advertising have been proposed as means to impress the public to guard against accidents. That safety week has its value is shown for numerous accidents which occur during other weeks in the year, in large cities, have been practically eliminated safety week.

C. B. King will act as chairman, with C. E. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor League as his assistant. Mr. King is also chairman of the traffic committee. Arthur Carty is his assistant. A number of women present volunteered to assist in the work. Talks will be given to the children in the schools and the teachers will co-operate with the Safety League in teaching the children the danger of taking unnecessary risks.

WANT SIDING TO RELIEVE CONGESTION

Railway Board To Consider Request From L. and P. S. Railway.

Plans for siding extensions will be laid before the Dominion Railway Board at St. Thomas this afternoon by the London Railway Commission. The proposed extension would cross Bridge street in Port Stanley, and relieve the congestion on the single track which is there at the present time. The consent of the board is necessary for any extension which crosses a public thoroughfare.

No definite decision may be given because of the unsettled plans for a new bridge. Some residents of Port Stanley favor a "Jack-knife" bridge, which will permit boats to pass up the river. The railway commission thinks that a higher bridge which extended right over their tracks would be the better, as it would eliminate a level crossing. They point out that the laying of another track will make a still more dangerous level crossing unless the bridge is extended over it.

The railway commission's appeal against the assessment on its Port Stanley property has been disallowed by Judge Colter of St. Thomas. The assessment was placed at $90,000 this year, compared to $31,000 last year. An appeal was made to the Port Stanley court of revision, and a reduction was made. This did not satisfy the commission and it carried the case to a higher court.

KNOLLWOOD SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

First Section of the Board of Education Program Is Completed.

Knollwood public school will be opened Monday. This will mark the completion of the first section of the board of education's extensive building campaign which was commenced this year.

The structure which has been transformed into a school was formerly a Red Cross building on Carling Heights. As the use of it for this purpose ended with the war it was sold to the board of education. Only slight remodeling was necessary to make it suitable for school purposes, and this was quickly carried out after it had been moved to the site on Quebec street.

Two classes will be found at the school Monday morning, comprising Grades 1, 2, and 3. Two teachers will be in charge. School Inspector C. B. Edwards thinks that there will be fairly large classes enrolled the first day, and that they will grow steadily throughout the term. By the time sufficient pupils are enrolled to form additional classes, it is expected that the other two rooms will be ready for occupation.

The pay sheets were drawn up on the new scale and forwarded to Montreal during this week. The award as it now stands grants increases ranging from $2.50 to $55 a month. The senior positions have been granted the greatest increases.

JOHN BROWN IS GIVEN 3 MONTHS

Had To Admit He Had Liquor Unlawfully in His Possession.

John Brown's body will repose in the county jail for three months because he was unfortunate enough to have to admit in police court today that he had a bottle of whiskey unlawfully in his possession. John, who is a well-known patron of Castle Carter, declared that he met a fellow on William street, whom he knew well to see, and that he furnished the joy fluid.

"What is it," asked Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, "coming on cold weather, and you want to go down for six months?"

John denied this allegation, and passed up a $200 fine for a three months' sojourn at the jail on the hill.

Two local Greeks, Peter Pappas, 173 Kent street, and Gus Chourikos, 297 Grey street, admitted fighting on Dundas street at 2:55 a.m. today.

Constable Singleton testified that when arrested both were covered with blood. Pappas was discovered hiding under the Dundas street sidewalk, where he had sought refuge via a hole through the front cellar wall of a cafe. Chourikos exhibited a gash in his scalp and a bitten finger as his share of the spoils, and Pappas said, "Yes, look at my eye."

"The public does not seem to have suffered much," commented the magistrate, "and I will let you go."

Low Pre-War Prices Are Keeping Thomas' Trucks Busy These Days

Not Ethical:

Even with the low Pre-War Prices prevailing we are not so egotistical as to believe that every person reading the Cut-Prices as advertised will flock to the store in droves, so to speak; there may be a great many who do not even know where Thomas' Store is.

However, we are not adopting the method of placarding the front of the store with blatant vari-colored signs. The store remains the same in appearance as always, with attractive windows bedecked with plain price tickets.

Policy Simple:

The new policy of cut prices on the entire stock of furniture is exceedingly simple. The War-Time prices remain in plain figures on the sales tickets.

Customers wishing to pay cash enjoy a straight reduction of the oldtime prices of 30 per cent.

Club Plan purchasers have the advantage of 20 per cent discount.

So you see the plan is clean-cut. There is no attempt to camouflage. Plenty of advertised articles are always kept in stock, and we hope Pre-War Prices will continue.

Many, Many Things For Which You Have Waited For Prices To Come Down On Are Now Cut To Pre-War Levels.

BEATTIE---REID

BEATTIE—REID.

The joy-bells pealing forth from St. Paul's Cathedral this afternoon heralded the departure of the new bride, Helen Loraine, daughter of Mrs. Robert Reid, who had just been united in marriage to Russell Hilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. A. Beattie of this city. The impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dean Tucker, the bride being given away by her brother, Mr. Arthur Reid.

The church, a veritable bower of beauty, was lined from lobby to transept with tall white standards, twined with trailing vines of green smilax and surmounted with huge clusters of pink and white gladioli and marigolds, caught with fluffy bows of white and pale green tulle. The chancel itself was banked with masses of white asters and ferns, while Mary lilies and gladioli were used on the altar beyond.

The bride was charming in her nuptial robe of ivory satin, with over-drapery of white tulle and silver lace. A court train of brocaded satin, lined with shell pink georgette, fell from the shoulders, to which it was attached with pearl ornaments, and pearls and orange blossoms banded the long tulle veil to the forehead of the fair bride. A large sheaf of Ophelia roses and orchids, from which fell a shower of ribbons and Sweetheart roses, put the finishing touches to this most beautiful of bridal costumes.

Attending the bride as bridesmaids were Miss Dindy Cox and Miss Dorothy Mulkern, in pretty, old-fashioned gowns of white lace with charmeuse bodices, net fichus and dainty wee sleeves of tucked net, the former's costume carried out in pale blue, and the latter's in orchid shade. Large black velvet picture hats, trimmed with French flowers, silver shoes and bouquets of pink roses, completed these costumes.

Two other quaint attendants accompanied the bride to the altar. Little Miss Hilda Ingram, niece of the bride, in pale pink ninon, made with small frilled shirt. She wore a tiny hat of ninon, bedecked with pale pink streamers and pink flowers, and carried a colonial nosegay of pink roses, and Master Colin Brown, in a white silk blouse and picturesque black velvet suit was the page. Mr. Ernest Little acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Geoffrey Marani, Mr. Gordon McLaren, Mrs. Burke Allen, Mr. Warren Irwin, all of Toronto and Mr. Fred Beattie.

During the signing of the register, Mr. Harry Carson sang "O, Perfect Love," while Miss Anna C. Arnold played the wedding music.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Elmwood avenue, the rooms having been filled with yellow 'mums, marigolds and sunburst roses. In the dining-room pink roses were used, the bride's table being prettily arranged with sweetheart roses in cut glass vases, placed in the centre and at the four corners, streamers of smilax going from centre to corners. The youthful bride donned a traveling suit of brown broadcloth with shawl collar of beaver, and small brown hat, and after congratulations had been again received, Mr. and Mrs. Beattie left on a trip to Lake Mohonk in the Catskills.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Miss Margaret Mann of Ottawa and Miss Mary McIntosh of Guelph.

REMOVED BUSHES.—Believing that the sumac bushes which filled a vacant lot at Ridout and Windsor avenue were a danger to traffic, as they obscured the view from either approach, the London Motor Club, through its secretary, C. E. Bernard, induced the owner of the lot to remove the bushes at the club's expense. This was done on Thursday last.

BROTHERS' QUARREL ENDS IN DEATH OF ONE, WHO IS SHOT

Dispute Over Property Results in Fatality.

Cornwall, Oct. 2.—As a result of a quarrel between two brothers at their bachelor home in Hogansburg, across the river from here, Daniel Bacon died Thursday night in a Malone hospital from the effects of a gunshot wound in the groin, the shot being fired by his brother, Edward Bacon. The brothers had been quarreling for a number of days over their property, and when Daniel went home after his day's work the door of the house was locked and his belongings were outside. It is said that he broke the door down and was on the point of entering the house, when Edward fired on him at close range with a shotgun, the shot tearing a large hole in his groin. Dr. McConnell was sent for and the unfortunate man was taken to Malone, where he was operated on by Dr. Harrigan, but the loss of blood in the interim had been too great, and the man passed away.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, Oct. 2—Wall Street, 10:10 a.m.—Prices were irregular, though mainly higher at the dull opening of today's stock market. American Sugar was the only issue to vary more than a fraction, rallying 1 point from yesterday's depression.

10:30 a.m.—Rails continued to advance at the opening of today's stock market, with further irregularities in the general list. Wisconsin Central added 1½ points to its recent gain, and Canadian Pacific and Chicago Northwestern rose 1 point each. St. Louis and San Francisco, Atlantic Coast Line and Baltimore and Ohio embraced the other firm to strong transportations. Sugars and oils made slight recoveries from their acute depression of the previous day, but steels and equipments were reactionary. Sears-Roebuck was conspicuous among the specialties for its 4-point decline.

THE purpose of paint is two-fold—it should beautify of course; but, also, it must fully protect the surface to which it is applied. The high cost of repair-work has made us all fully realize the extravagance of letting a building "run down" for lack of a coat of paint.

It is equally important to understand the extravagance involved in the use of poor paint, and to know that there's one paint which leads all others in the matter of economy:

B-H PAINT "English" 70% Pure White Lead (Brandram's Genuine B.B.) 30% Pure White Zinc 100% Pure Paint

No other paint can match it in covering capacity—no other brand can equal its record of permanence. Affording real protection over a long period, it has removed the false notion that a house must be re-painted every year. If you use this paint of extreme durability your house is protected for years.

BIG MERGER OF DYE COMPANIES

Five Largest Concerns in the Chemical Business To Be Consolidated.

New York, Oct. 1.—The interests which have developed the plan for a merger of the five most important dye and chemical companies into a big corporation, to be known as the Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation, gave out yesterday an official statement of their combined assets and liabilities and the earnings of the consolidating companies.

The earnings statement, which covers the earnings of the five corporations in the merger for the first six months of 1920, shows that their combined net income for that period was $12,836,407. After deduction of proposed dividends upon the seven per cent preferred stock to be issued by the new corporation, a balance equivalent to $4.75 a share on the total outstanding amount of common stock, which the new corporation proposes to issue, remained.

In the combined statement of assets and liabilities for the consolidating companies, as of December 31, 1919, with inter-company accounts eliminated and including the new proposed stock issue, assets were given as $223,941,660 and liabilities, exclusive of capital stock, as $46,180,434, leaving the net worth for the proposed new stock $177,761,225.

Current assets for the consolidating companies, according to that compilation, amounted to $94,176,790, against which stood current liabilities of $29,161,845, leaving a net combined working capital of approximately $65,000,000.

Real estate, plant and apparatus, tank cars, lighters, automobiles, mines, quarries, etc., are written into the combined balance sheet as $93,261,239. Investments in outside companies amount to $11,645,510, sinking funds to $1,397,016, deferred charges to operations $1,479,156, and patents, processes, formulas and good will to $21,981,945. The liabilities, outside of current liabilities, consisted of $9,493,074 in bonds, $5,333,464 in minority interests in subsidiary companies and $2,192,048 in sundry reserves.

The committee which worked out plans for the consolidation has sent to the stockholders of the companies in it a circular setting forth the terms on which the different companies are going into the merger and explaining the reasons why the move is considered advantageous for all concerned.

"It is the opinion of the committee," the circular says, "that the interests of stockholders of each of the consolidating companies will be best served by their consolidation into a single organization, which will continue the important business of each company and which also from time to time enter upon other lines of chemical and related businesses as may be deemed advantageous. In the committee's opinion each of the consolidating companies has demonstrated that it is the most efficient existing organization in its particular field of domestic chemical industry, viz., in brief, the general chemical company in acids, the Solvay Process Company in alkalis, the Semet Solvay Company in coke and its by products, the Barrett Company in coal tar products and the National Aniline and Chemical Comapny in dyestuffs.

"These different lines of chemical manufacture are in great measure necessarily interdependent, so that the proposed consolidation will constitute well-intended and largely self-sufficient organizations operating in various important fields of chemical manufacture and highly efficient in each. Among the advantages which the company believes are to be derived from such a consolidation are greater diversification of output and correspondingly greater stability of business, closer adjustment of the production of basic and intermediate materials to the requirements for manufacturers of their derivatives, and greater financial strength, not to mention the various economics in operation ordinarily available only to an organization of the scope here contemplated."

SUGAR MARKET IS STILL VERY WEAK

Further Reductions in Prices Not Unlikely, Says Toronto Report.

The following comment on the market situation as regards foodstuffs appears in Canadian Grocer this week:

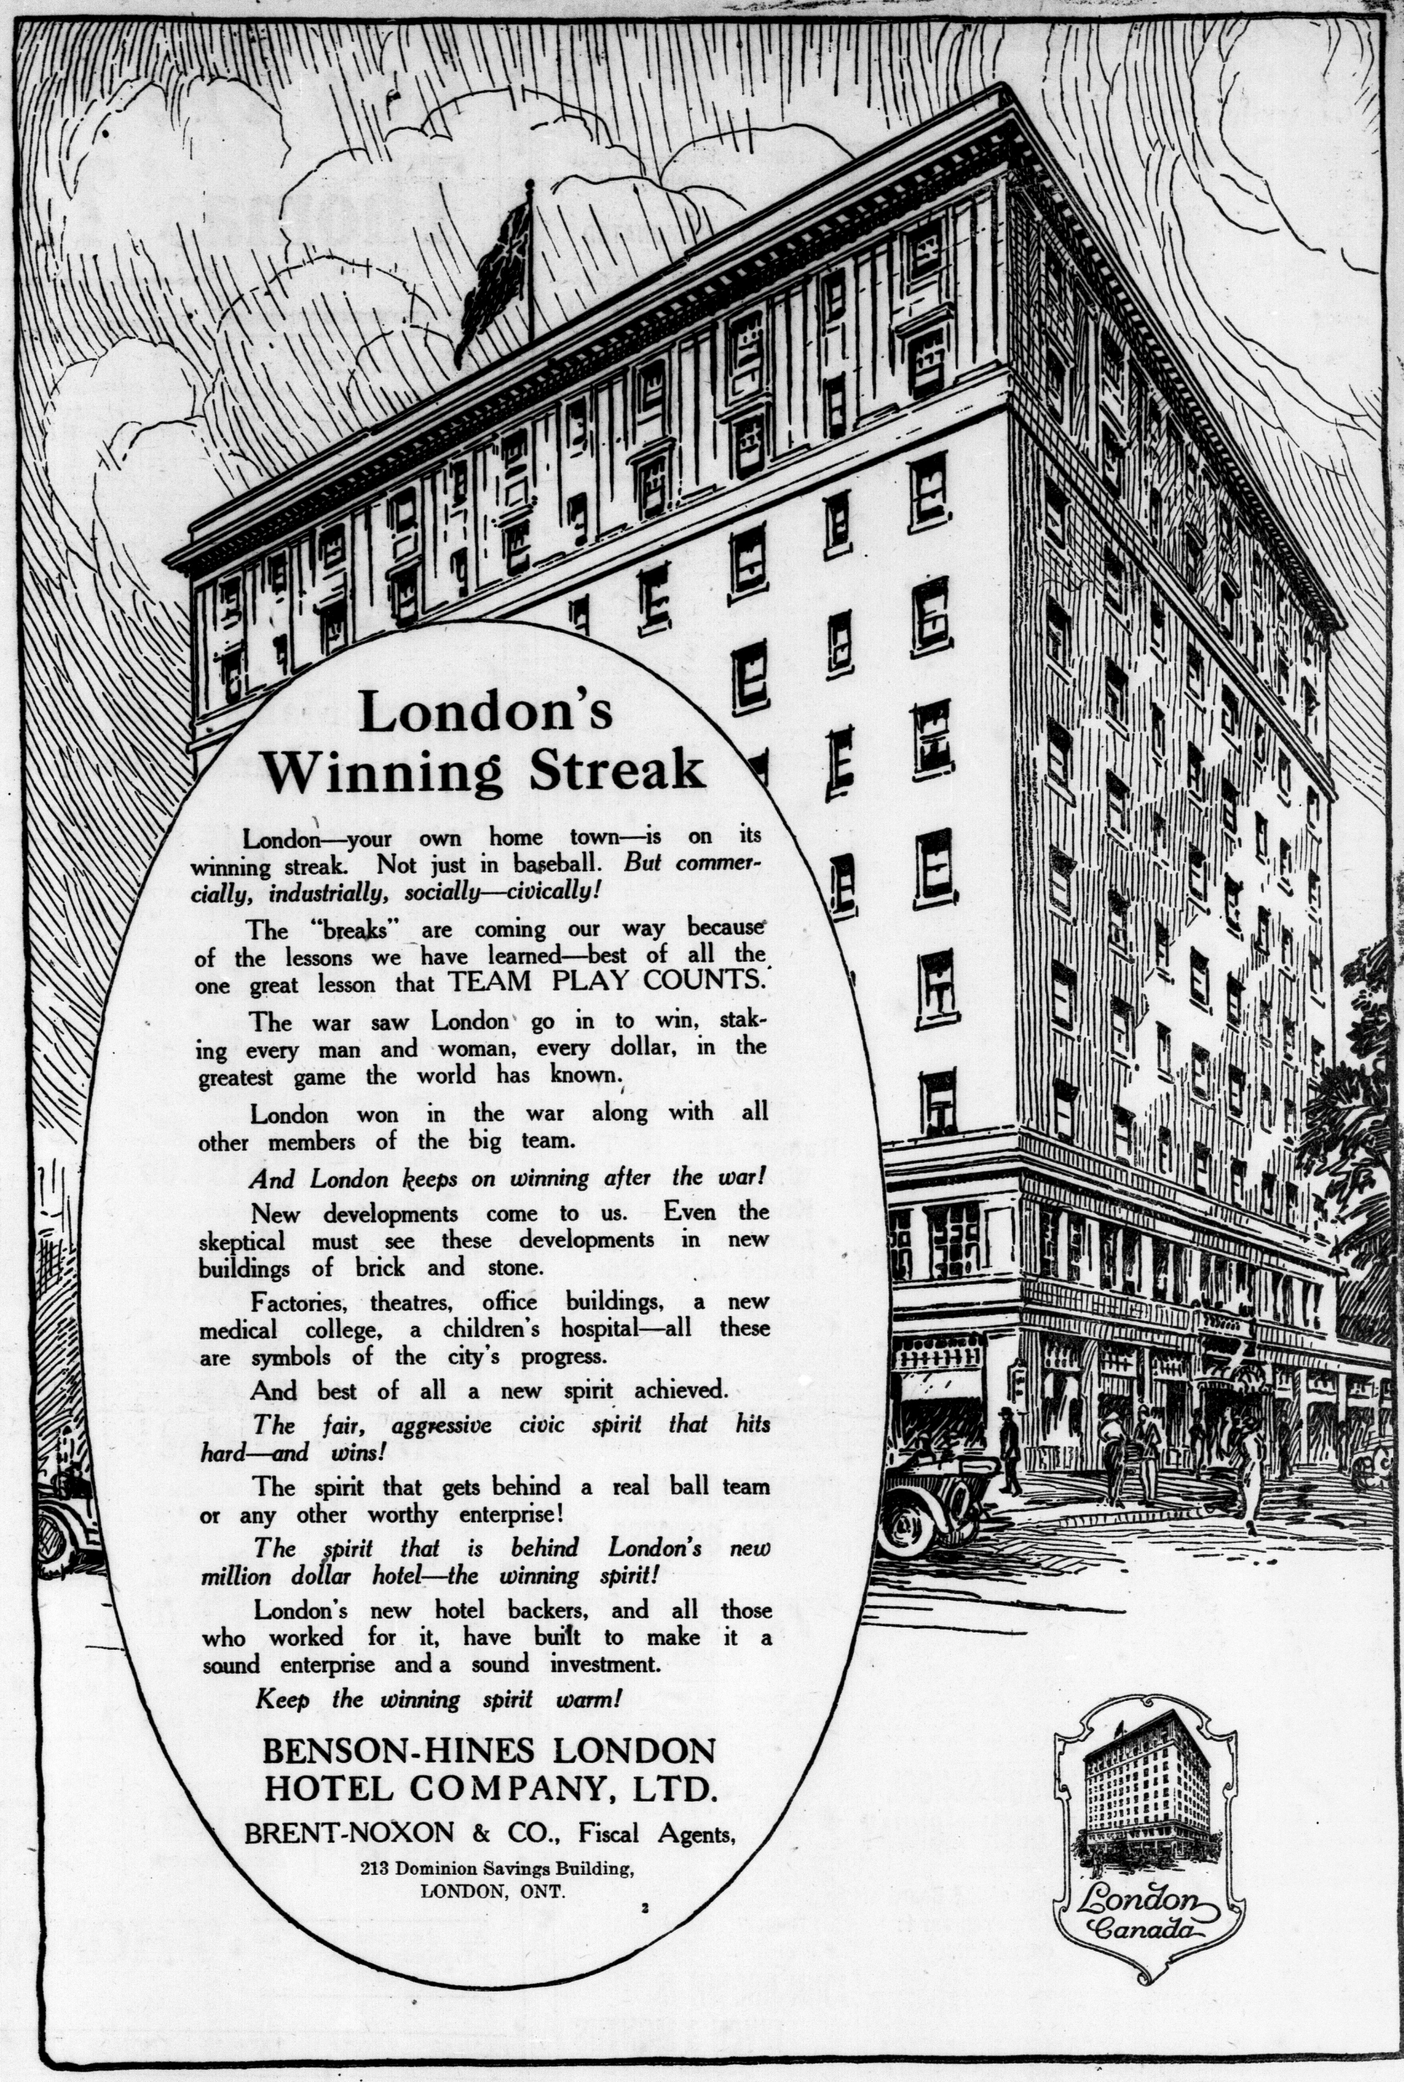

The markets generally have a tendency to show gradual declines although some commodities have considerably strengthened. The features are the reduction in price of sugar and flour which has been manifest throughout Canada.

Montreal——The prices on fresh meats have expanded in their range. The market is very firm. Smoked hams are quoted slightly lower. The egg market shows little relief. There is a better cheese market. Butter shows a more active market, but export trade is restricted. Sugar drops again. Molasses holds in price. Flour is reduced fifty cents per barrel. Vegetable market continues very good. Potatoes may be dearer. Apples are in good supply. Sugar dropped one dollar and half per hundred during the week. Kraft paper is also higher. Cereals are lower. Baking soda is quoted higher.

Toronto—Sugar declined one-fifty to two dollars per hundred. Refiners report a better movement; second-hand sugars are moving less freely, apparently supplies are becoming cleared up. The market is still weak and further reductions are not unlikely. Syrups and molasses are steady under a quiet demand. As intimated in last week's issue, package oats have been reduced. The situation in other package cereals is rather unsettled and reductions on corn and wheat products are not unlikely. The condition is about the same in bulk cereals, rolled oats, barley, rolled wheat and corn meal are marked lower.

There is little movement at present in canned goods, with possibly the exception of sockeye salmon. Sockeye salmon is a short pack, and the small stocks available are rapidly going into retailers' hands. The competition on canned peas, which was in effect for the past two weeks, has somewhat abated, and jobbers are now settling to the opening price basis. One line of marmalade in No. 2 and No. 4 tins is marked higher, also pure extracts, condensed mincemeat and baking soda in packages. The spice market generally is steady, although a slight shading downward is noted on some lines. Shipments of new crop Grecian currants are on the water and are expected to arrive on this market about the middle of October. New crop prunes and apricots are also moving this way. Primary markets for raising and currants are in strong position and prices are holding at high figures. The most noticeable feature in the tea market is the scarcity of fine liquoring Ceylons and Indians; it is said that lower grades continue to accumulate in London and other large markets, and that these teas are offered at prices below the cost of production simply because there is no demand for low grade teas; however, if trade is opened up with Russia then a large portion of these stocks will be disposed of. It is estimated that there will be a 25 per cent crop of pecans, which indicates that higher prices can be expected. Spot stocks of coffee are not large, and it is said that the market will be almost bare when the new crop arrives about the middle of November, when lower prices will be manifest. Reductions are noted on tapioca, one brand of peanut butter in bulk, milk stock in bulk and bulk soap flakes. Owing to the weakness which has characterized the wheat market, flour declined 50 cents per barrel, millfeeds are also reduced $5.50 per ton.

The market for fresh beef is easy under heavy receipts and a light demand. Hogs are fairly firm, with pork cuts marked higher. Smoked meats are steady and unchanged. Mess pork in barrels has advanced. Lard is firm under a 3c advance. Butter, eggs and cheese are holding firm.

London's Winning Streak

London—your own home town—is on its winning streak. Not just in baseball. But commercially, industrially, socially—civically!

The "breaks" are coming our way because of the lessons we have learned—best of all the one great lesson that TEAM PLAY COUNTS.

The war saw London go in to win, staking every man and woman, every dollar, in the greatest game the world has known.

London won in the war along with all other members of the big team.

And London keeps on winning after the war!

New developments come to us. Even the skeptical must see these developments in new buildings of brick and stone.

Factories, theatres, office buildings, a new medical college, a children's hospital—all these are symbols of the city's progress.

And best of all a new spirit achieved.

The fair, aggressive civic spirit that hits hard—and wins!

The spirit that gets behind a real ball team or any other worthy enterprise!

The spirit that is behind London's new million dollar hotel—the winning spirit!

London's new hotel backers, and all those who worked for it, have built to make it a sound enterprise and a sound investment.

Keep the winning spirit warm!

IMMENSE TURTLE IS TAKEN FROM HUDSON

Woman and Husband Land 250 Pounds of Soup Makings.

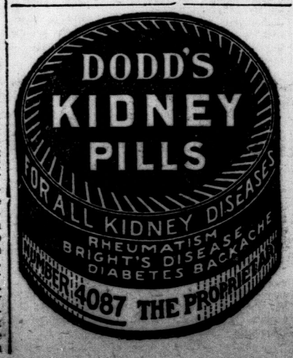

New York, Oct. 1.—A "great-grand-dad" of a turtle was caught in the Hudson River off 203rd street yesterday morning by Alexander De George and his wife Sophie. They landed the big fellow after considerable difficulty.

The catch weighs 250 pounds and is three and one-half feet long and about as wide.

Mrs. De George sighted the turtle drifting south. Believing it to be an overturned rowboat, she called her husband.

She armed herself with a broom, and both put out in a boat. When about a foot from the turtle, Mrs. De George reached out and gave it a hard rap with the broom handle. Observing that his wife knew little about turtle catching, De George got his boat nearer and managed to slip a line around the turtle. Then both started for the shore.

While being hauled out of the water the turtle began to assert itself. Its struggles to gain freedom kept the captors pretty busy for an hour.

NOVA SCOTIA EXPORTED 120,000 BARRELS OF APPLES EACH MONTH

Halifax, Oct. 1.—During the month of September Nova Scotia exported more than 120,000 barrels of apples to the United Kingdom, and it is predicted that before the apple shipping season concludes the total exportation to English markets will be half a million barrels.

ROUND-THE-ISLAND EXCURSION.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 30.—The British Columbia coast steamship Service has under consideration a round-the-island weekly service as an attraction to tourists next summer. The plans call for the operation of the Princess Maquinna around Vancouver Island from Victoria. The boat now goes as far as Quatsino Sound. Under the new scheme, she would round the end of the island and come down the inside, touching at points en route, going to Vancouver and then returning here.

HEAVY MORTALITY.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Yearly in the United States 11,037,000 persons are hurt in various kinds of accidents and 105,000 are killed, according to statistics compiled by the Health and Accident Underwriters' Association. The figures are averages extending over a period of years.

FUGITIVE OFFICER TRAILED TO ALASKA

Captain Brought Back 3,500 Miles To Face Bad Check Charge.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The fame of the Northwestern mounted police for going to the earth's end for fugitives is rivaled in the story of the arrest of an army officer and his confinement in the District of Columbia jail Wednesday after federal officers ventured into the heart of Alaska for their man. He is Captain Charles J. Morgan, U. S. A., said to be absent without leave from Camp Grant, Ill.

The officer was turned over to the United States marshal for the district, by Louis T. Erwin, United States marshal for the Fairbanks district in Alaska and his deputy, John C. Wood, after a trip covering 3,500 miles. The officers were compelled to travel a distance of more than 300 miles by dog sled in order to bring their prisoner to a port of debarkation.

The arrest of Morgan and his return to the jail here will cost the Government in the neighborhood of $2,000. Captain Morgan will probably be arraigned in criminal court for trial this fall. He was charged with having made efforts to cash a $450 check bearing the name of Walter R. Howe, formerly assistant United States district attorney of this city.

Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate People In Two Weeks' Time

In Many Instances, Says City Physician, Persons Have Suffered For Years Without Knowing What Made Them Feel Tired, Listless and Run-down When Their Real Trouble Was Lack of Iron in the Blood—How to Tell.

If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied a multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run-down and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night, others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases, it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your jagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what anyone tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good, sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and one of the best blood builders in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, and does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

LONDON'S FAVORITE SHOPPING PLACE

TERRIER, HEAD IN PIPE, GOES HOME BACKWARD

Dog, Trapped In Rabbit Hunt, Keeps Sense of Direction.

London, Sept. 30.—The remarkable instinct of a foxterrier was again proved when recently a dog of that breed belonging to a Maidstone farmer found his way home when his head was imprisoned in a drain pipe and so firmly lodged there that he could not release himself.

The terrier disappeared from his home and was gone several days, the farmer and his family meanwhile fearing he had been lost or stolen. Finally the dog, half starved, was seen crawling backwards across a field toward his home, dragging with him the drain pipe in which his head was firmly wedged. It was necessary to break the pipe before the terrier could be released. It is thought that he got trapped in the pipe while pursuing a rabbit.

STAR BULL FIGHTERS WILL GO TO MEXICO

Coming Season To Be One of Best in Years.

Madrid, Sept. 30.—The coming Mexican bull-fighting season promises to be a brilliant one, it is said by Ramon Lopez, who is arranging for the exhibitions. Among the engagements already signed or almost concluded is that of Sanchez Mejias, who is to appear in six bull fights in Mexico. For each appearance he is to receive 6,000 Spanish euros (the normal value of a duro is 96 cents). He also is to be allowed a benefit performance, the terms of which have not yet been settled.

Other bull fighters due to appear in Mexico are Gaona, who is to give six exhibitions at 5,000 duros each; Ernesto Pastor, with four appearances at 10,000 duros each; Angelito, three at 7,000 duros each, and Celita, the terms of whose engagement have not been announced. The picodor Elboltanes also has been signed for a Mexican tour.

BERLIN RADICAL SCHOOL FIGHT GROWS BITTER

Conservatives Kept From All Halls, Knives Used, Troops Called Out.

SOCIALISTS GET REVENGE

Agitation Against Superintendent's Election Savors of Anti-Semitism.

BERLIN, Sept. 30.—The fight between the Conservatives and Radicals for control of the affairs of Greater Berlin has centered around a school teacher. There was almost a riot one night this week when Radicals took possession of halls in which the Conservatives were to hold mass meetings to work against the appointment of the Radical candidate for school superintendent. Knives were used and many persons were wounded. Troops were called out and restored order.

The fight concerns the candidacy of Dr. Loewenstein, whom the Radicals have put forward as head of the schools of Greater Berlin. The Conservatives have been fighting him bitterly and called several mass meetings to protest against his appointment. When they reached the auditoriums they found them in the hands of the Independent Socialists. When the Conservatives tried to force an entrance to the halls fighting developed.

Conservatives Barred Out.

The Catholics succeeded in holding one meeting, however, but in no case could the Conservatives even call a meeting to order.

It was admitted in radical quarters that this was the Socialists' way of taking revenge for the organized interruption of a speech Dr. Loewenstein tried to deliver before the Teachers' League last week.

The agitation then and now strongly savors of anti-Semitism and was only partly directed against Dr. Loewenstein's pedagogic theories, which, in the main, are based on the school reform platform of the Independent Socialist party. This is objectionable to the Conservatives and the Catholics because it prohibits the maintenance of confessional schools and all religious instruction in the schools. Also it demands a change in the curriculum by the elimination of much classical preparatory work, and would introduce more trades instruction, meanwhile softening the stiff Prussian school discipline.

Fight to Control Schools.

Dr. Loewenstein is only a symbol of the bitter conflict between the Socialists and the non-Socialists for control in Berlin. The Socialists have 126 aldermen to a joint opposition of 99, and in anticipation of Greater Berlin becoming a single municipality this autumn the Socialists have been dismissing Conservative office-holders in favor of their own party members. This resulted in the charge that many efficient men, whose work brought them at least national fame for skill in civil management, were being replaced by persons of mediocre ability. Of the higher officials only Mayor Wermuth, it was authoritatively said, is slated to remain in his present position.

As a kind of a wheel within a wheel is the conflict between the radical and the less radical Socialists for control of the city's railways. This fight led to the threat of a one-day strike when the workers had failed to obtain the appointment of the man they had picked for the post of transporation superintendent. The present superintendent of transportation was named with the help of Socialist votes.

SIR EDWARD

ish, United States and continental newspapermen, to whom he made a long statement, preferring the charges, alleged official documents secured by Sinn Fein agents.

Among these papers was an official permit alleged to have been signed by General Sir Neville Macready, military commander of Ireland. It was made out to a man named Hardy, who has had a lifelong career of forgery and imprisonment, and who is alleged to have been released prematurely from prison on a ticket of leave signed by Ian MacPherson, as chief secretary for Ireland, permitting him to move about freely in Ireland unhampered by police surveillance, in the role, as Griffith asserted, of Government spy.

Read "Secret Order?"

Mr. Griffith read a secret order, which he said was issued from general headquarters two days after the recent Balbriggan affair, saying: "There are indications that the measure recently taken by the Government for the suppression of disorder in Ireland are beginning to bear fruit, and have their desired effect on, at any rate, the more moderate section of Sinn Fein, who are beginning to use their influence to prevent the campaign of outrage. The Irish Government hope, if the pressure is maintained and if certain measures they have in view are successful, a great improvement in the sanitation may take place within two months.

Dublin Greatly Excited.

Although accustomed to almost daily sensations, Dublin was greatly excited over the revelations of Mr. Griffith, which were published in one of the afternoon papers.

It is pointed out that if the documents are authentic, Mr. Griffith is liable to arrest under the defence of the realm act and under the new restoration of order act for having them in his possession, and particularly a military order relating to a movement of troops not yet carried out. Similarly, it is said that every newspaper correspondent transmitting such an order or the newspapers reproducing it likewise are subject to arrest.

KILLED 64, INJURED 600, DAMAGE $7,000,000

BELFAST, Oct. 1.—Followers of sentiment among businessmen in Belfast declare a strong desire for a settlement of the Irish question in manufacturing circles, which, in the main, are based on the school reform platform of the Independent Socialist party. This is objectionable to the Conservatives and the Catholics because it prohibits the maintenance of confessional schools and all religious instruction in the schools. Also it demands a change in the curriculum by the elimination of much classical preparatory work, and would introduce more trades instruction, meanwhile softening the stiff Prussian school discipline.

A SERIOUS CHARGE.

BELFAST, Oct. 1.—According to the Glasgow correspondent of the Irish News, a Nationalist organ, the Government is considering the advisability of withdrawing all garrisons and troops from the inner areas of Northern Ireland on the sea coast towns and establishing a boycott of the South if "reprisals on the existing method and a more extensive scale prove abortive."

BLACK AND TANS' REVENGE.

DUBLIN, Oct. 1.—Confirmation has been received here that reprisals followed the shooting from ambush yesterday of District Inspector Brady, near Tubbercurry, County Sligo, who was killed and two constables who were wounded.

Brady, when an officer at the front in the late war, was chosen by Field Marshal Haig to carry dispatches to Windsor Castle to the king.

After the shooting four lorries containing "Black and Tans" entered Tubbercurry, fired their rifles, threw bombs and set fire to houses, destroying six important business buildings and two creameries.

MacSWINEY WEAKER.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—A bulletin issued by the league at 8 o'clock tonight said that Lord Mayor MacSwiney was much weaker and in considerable pain. His wife, who had not visited him for two days because of her indisposition, found him much wasted, the bulletin said.

LORD CECIL CONDEMNS REPRISALS BLAMES GOVERNMENT

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Lord Robert Cecil, in a letter to the Times today, condemns the reprisals in Ireland and charges the Government with failure to suppress crime or punish criminals.

"The Republican crime outrages are bad enough, but they are not improved by the sporadic acts of murder and arson committed by guardians of the law," he writes in part.

"Put the case as high as it can be put. Let Ireland be considered a hostile country in the military occupation of British forces, it certainly is not under martial law, and even if it were, no civilized army would allow its troops to range over the country carrying out casual outrages in the name of military punishment."

HAND EMBROIDERED GOWNS THE STYLE

Paris Says Milady Will Get Next Spring's Fashion Ideas From Days of Long Ago.

Paris, Oct. 1.—Embroidered handwoven fabrics are to be the chief feature of next spring's fashions, according to manufacturers here. Indeed, they are already adapting their looms to the demand which first made its appearance toward the end of this fall's displays, when American buyers eagerly bought up everything found in embroidered lines.

Flounces, frills, cuffs and collars will be adorned with the beautiful handwork beloved by women who lived in the middle of the last century.

In the war the loom industry of France was abandoned, much of the machinery having been destroyed by the Germans or removed into the interior of Germany when the enemy retreated. But orders have been placed for the most modern machinery and merchants here are confident there will be enough material produced in France this winter to prevent prices for the buyers exceeding the reach of moderate purses.

Hand weaving was virtually abandoned some time ago, however, because of inability of manufacturers and merchants to interest workers in the tedious process. Owners of large mills contend that machine embroidered fabrics are expensive, as it requires a trained personnel for every change in detail.

GALT CITIZEN OFFERS $10,000 FOR LOCAL PARK IMPROVEMENTS

GALT, Oct. 1.—In connection with his recent offer to give financial assistance to the parks commission, if it will proceed with the work of improving the easterly portion of Jackson Park, Dr. A. Soper, in a letter to the press, declares: "If the citizens of Galt will contribute $40,000 I will donate $10,000. Moreover, this is not my limit, if further funds are required. The $40,000 may be subscribed in sums of $5 up or by debentures; it matters not to the writer, providing it is raised this year."

The snowstorm, which visited this city today, was responsible early this morning for two automobile collisions, in one of which a Ford car was completely wrecked, while the three others were badly damaged. No one was seriously injured.

South Waterloo Fair.

The first day of the annual South Waterloo fair at Woodson Park was greeted with unfavorable weather, but, despite this, there was a large attendance. Tonight the agricultural hall with its varied exhibits of art, fancy work, fruit, vegetables, flowers, farm produce and baking and the poultry show was thrown open to the public. The entries are much better than last year. A clown band provided music, and the midway is the largest in the fair's history.

The Y. M. C. A. campaign for members opened tonight, when the boys who are out to get 125 new members held a pow-wow at which an address was delivered by E. J. Jenkins, secretary of the London Y. M. C. A.

Customs Collections.

Customs collections for September amounted to $58,146.25, as compared with $42,458.61 for the same month of 1919, an increase of $15,687.64. For the first six months of the fiscal year the collections total $343,149.59, an increase to date of $88,858.28. Fire chief J. E. Keyes issued 12 building permits with a total value of $63,850, including three for dwellings, one for the new $30,000 bakery for Ald. W. A. Dixon; two for additions to the Galt Paper Box Works and McAusland's Playing Mills, and another for the $18,000 grandstand in Dickson Park. To date 94 permits have been issued this year with a value of $287,260.

ILDERTON CROPS OF POTATOES, TOMATOES AND APPLES HEAVY

Ilderton, Oct. 1.—Farmers are very busy with corn cutting and silo filling. The corn crop is unusually heavy. Much corn will be left over, although many new silos have been built in Lobo. Some farmers are harvesting their potato crops and the tubers are yielding well, especially those planted early. The tomato crop is large and a large part of it will rot in the fields.

Lobo Township school fair will be held Monday in the Memorial Park at Poplar Hill. A large attendance and many exhibits are expected. One of the features of the fair will be a plowing match for boys.

The fruit-growers have commenced packing their immense crop of apples. One shipment of early fall fruit was made last week and another carload will soon be ready. Nearly all will be exported to the British market, where the demand is good.

INVESTIGATING CORN BORER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—Assistant Secretary Ball of the United States Agriculture Department, and other specialists of the department, left Washington today to investigate damage done by the European corn borer. The part will inspect first the infested territory near Boston and St. Thomas, Ont., where a new outbreak has aroused fear that it may spread to the Western United States.

BARNETT MYSTERY AT WINDSOR FERRY IS STILL UNSOLVED

Veteran's Relatives Are Not Known in London; No Body Yet Recovered.

FORD MAN DISAPPEARS

Marx Enenkin Left For New York—Friends Receive No Word Back.

WINDSOR, Oct. 1.—Solution of the mystery surrounding the suicide of E. S. Barnett, London war veteran, in the Detroit River yesterday afternoon appears unlikely, efforts up to a late hour tonight to locate the body by dragging the river having proved fruitless. According to local police, efforts of the authorities in London, Ont., to establish that occurred late last night in have also failed.

Magistrate Miers, in Windsor police court today, sentenced Harry Todd, Walkerville, motorist, to ten days in Sandwich jail as the result of a collision that occurred late last night in Walkerville, when the car driven by Todd collided with another in charge of Charles Marcotte of Windsor.

Todd, evidence taken today indicated, was badly under the influence of liquor at the time of the crash, and had to be carried from his car to the police patrol when he was taken to the lockup. Both cars were badly damaged, but the drivers escaped serious injury.

Will Offer Debentures.

Windsor city council is to offer a mixed block of municipal debentures to the amount of $400,000 for sale to local citizens, Mayor Winter announced tonight. This action is being taken following the success of similar ventures in other Western Ontario centres. Difficulties with a Toronto brokerage house recently over a certain issue, which was sent back because a vote on the expenditure of the money involved had not been taken by the people, is another reason for the changed policy.

Fearing that he had met with foul play in New York, friends of Marx Enenkin, Ford City grocer, conducting a store on Drouillard road, have appealed to border police to locate him if possible. Enenkin left his home here over a month ago, supposedly to make a business trip to Brooklyn, but no word has since been heard of him. He was expected to return within a few days, and telegrams sent to his Brooklyn address have been returned. It is feared he may have been the victim of foul play, as he was known to have been carrying a considerable amount of money at the time of his departure.

Court Scores Inspectors.

For the second time in two days, special inspectors of the Ontario License Commission drew down severe criticism form the bench, when in the Windsor police court today Magistrate Miers commented strongly on the absence from court of Inspector Hallam, whose evidence was imperative in the liquor case being heard. Fred Lee, the defendant, proprietor of the Oriental Cafe a roadhouse in Sandwich, was charged with selling whiskey illegally in his dining-room. Three Detroit men and a girl swore they had purchased the amber fluid there. Officers who searched the place declared they had found no evidence. Lee pleaded not guilty. The case was adjourned until Inspector Hallam can be located.

McGILLIVRAY FAIR AND UNVEILING OF MONUMENT MONDAY

Parkhill, Oct. 1.—Steady rain today caused the postponement of West McGillivray fair and the unveiling of the monument to the soldiers of the township who fell in battle. The unveiling and the fair will both take place Monday at West McGillivray, not in Parkhill, as was previously reported.

WILL DIVIDE FUND EQUALLY.

Ingersoll, Oct. 1.—At a meeting of Ingersoll town council, the returned soldiers, and the contributors to the soldiers' fund, it was decided tonight to divide the fund equally between all bona fide Ingersoll veterans and the next of kin of local soldiers killed or died in the war or since the war. The fund amounts approximately to $3,000, and was partly raised by a celebration some time ago, and partly by a public subscription list.

REYCRAFT GETS $1,000; RESULT OF JURY ACTION

Is Plaintiff in Slander Case Against Richard Hodgins of Biddulph.

COURT ENDS TODAY

Judgment Reserved in Non-Jury Case Concerning Sale of Lease.

A verdict of $1,000 and costs was awarded Richard T. Reycraft in his slander action against Richard Hodgins of Biddulph by the jury hearing this suit at the fall assizes Friday night. The judgment for $1,000 and costs to be borne by defendant was brought in at 7 p.m. after the jurors had deliberated for three hours. A fifteen-day stay of judgment was granted Richard T. Reycraft, former reeve of Biddulph Township, sued through J. M. McEvoy, his solicitor, for $5,000 damages for slander, alleging that Richard Hodgins, former councillor of the same township, in speaking to ratepayers of the district, characterized him as a "liar, a thief and a rogue." Defendant denied the charges, and a host of witnesses were heard, the case taking up two days of the assizes.

Addressing the jury on behalf of the defendant W. R. Meredith asked why action had not been brought against his client two years ago. He decared that Hodgins was not trying to prove Reycraft a thief. He mentioned township lyings under Reycraft's term of office which increased an account by $1,000, and a change in the tax rate, as his client's reason for thinking there was something wrong.

Nominal Damages.

"Wasn't it his duty to investigate?" he asked the jurors. "A man who goes into public life must take a certain amount of abuse. Things were in such a way that Hodgins did not act with malice. Reycraft and these people acted very foolishly to say the least in having the township books in this shape." He concluded by asking the jury to find for nominal damages if any.

"He was not satisfied after two years of haggling," began J. M. McEvoy for the plaintiff, "but Hodgins asks to have the provincial auditor brought in. He was trying to break the back of Reycraft politically, and the men who were in control. It was done absolutely for greed. This thing has been going on since 1916, and if it had not come into court would have been going along for the next twenty years.

"I take the responsibility for delaying action, because I did not want this thing in court. The defendant was discussing it to damn Reycraft and to keep him out of political life. It was absolutely malicious. A man is a danger who gets up and practically accuses the whole machinery of the township of forgery, and I ask serious damages. I expect to teach that man a lesson and every other municipal officer to keep their tongues off better men than themselves."

Important Case.

In his charge to the jury, Justice Logie, presiding over the court, defined defamation according to law, and directed the jurors "to decide finally themselves in this unfortunate affair. If you find what the defendant said is false," he instructed, "no privilege arises. As to it being a matter of public interest it is for the judge to decide what are such matters. If the statements cannot be proven true then there must be a verdict for the plaintiff. It is not fair comment by law to call a man a thief. The subject of rumors in the evidence of plaintiff's witnesses was allowed, because there were no objections by the defendant. These slanders spread out over a long time, and it is evidently a very important case in the township, causing feeling on both sides."

His lordship cited several similar cases and judgments accorded. He also informed the jurors that some of the charges were outlawed, because they were over two years old. He characterized the trouble over the two township notes as a mare's nest. "The note transaction was simplicity in itself to a trained auditor," he commented. "The township borrowed the money and kept on the notes by renewal. The notes are regular. You will probably come to the conclusion that the defendant is quite wrong, although honestly so. If you don't believe the statements made by him in the box you can make the damages higher, as this may be aggravation of damages. It may show the malicious nature of the defendant. You are not limited to the claim, but may award vindictive damages."

Judgment Reserved.

Friday night the non-jury action of Pernokis vs. Edward and John Towe and the London and Western Trusts Company was heard, and judgment was reserved. Plaintiff, through W. R. Meredith, asks for a court order restraining defendants from preventing him from sub-leasing his premises at 168 Dundas street to the Standard Drug Company. Defendants are the leasors of the property. Preliminary objections were made by the defendants, and decision was reserved on these. Louis Pernokis testified that when he endeavored to sub-lease a portion of his premises Edward Towe demanded 40 per cent of the rent he received. Towe wanted to buy the lease from him, and held an option on it. McKillop & Douglas, Cronyn, Betts & Coleridge, and Gibbons, Harper & Braden conducted the defence.

The supreme court will conclude here today, when other non-jury actions will be heard by Mr. Justice Logie.

STOP AND THINK.

The New York Sun and Herald published the following the other day:

On September 26, 1803, or just 117 years ago yesterday, a dignified and solemn group of officials of the sleepy little city of New York gathered "out in the country" for the purpose of laying the cornerstone of an important public building. The public building still stands, but nobody paused yesterday to mark the anniversary of its start, except perhaps one of the sharp-eyed policemen who are guarding it against bomb plotters. The building is city hall.

The region north of what is now Chambers street in those days was almost a wilderness, and the choosers of the site were widely condemned by some of their townsmen, it is said. Mayors could only spend week-ends in old Bushwick, so inaccessible were the towns to their wives.

It is hard to believe that the fathers of some men now living would not be old men when New York was so small. Millions have been added to its population and many more millions have come and gone. What happened to New York has to a less extent happened to the whole world. London itself had only about a million inhabitants at the beginning of the nineteenth century.

And what changes in life. The United States itself was young. The world knew little of the change to come with steam, electricity and all the great inventions of the nineteenth century. The twentieth century brought us the greatest war of all time, made more terrible these great inventions. Who can tell what nges another hundred years will bring? The man eloquent, the Hon. Joseph Howe, of Scotia, some years ago, speaking of the onships between the United States and a, said:

t is true that in eighty-five years we have wo wars—but what then? Since the last ve had fifty years of peace, and there een more people killed in a single cam- n the late Civil War than there were in national wars between this country t Britain. The people of the United e to draw together the two conflict- ls and make them one people. In I wish them God-speed! and in the I feel that we ought to rule out disagreeable in the recollection of , and unite together as one people to come. I see around the door he two countries. United as they would have them draped together, ld, and let r varying tints unite form in Heaven's light, arch of peace."

WONDERFUL TEACHER.

rded of Dr. Thomas Arnold by his ographer, Lytton Strachey, that ntroducing morals and religion into his of education at Rugby, he altered the atmosphere of English public school life, in a state of "Anarchy, tempered by des- sm." This he achieved, not by changing machinery of education, but by giving it a ew propulsion. Having passed through some early spiritual perturbation, from which happily the wise counsel of the eminent divine, John Keble, delivered him, he soon discerned with alarm the lack of Christian principle in prevailing conditions, manifested especially in the literature of the day. His distinguished life achievement as a teacher reflected his intelligence, conviction and earnestness

In the midst of a period when educational conceptions and processes are being reshapen, it becomes us betimes to consider well that Greater Master Teacher of Galilee, from whom Dr. Arnold drew his inspiration, and to whose transcendence all the ages bear tribute. Ridiculed by the scholastics of His time for lack of knowledge, despised, hated, mobbed and nally killed, what was the secret of His ching genius, which even the unbelieving otic concedes will never be surpassed, no r what may be the surprises of the future? ing the adventitious aids of moderism and ow numerous accessories of desk and ros- crowds always hung upon His lips for es of healing and conviction. Although d over nineteen centuries ago, His wherever they penetrate, turn the of men into new channels, upset social correct abuses, ameliorate living, and by the heart-penetrating spirit, trans- man lives and communities. No other acher has ever appeared in the school anity. From the hour when He "began and teach," the pedagogy of His gospel een progressive and life-giving. To a group of disciples, trained in His own onally-conducted normal school, He com- ted a legacy of teaching, outlined in what s been described as their ordination sermon n the mount. It possessed the unanswerable merit of being a translation into words of His own life. Its simplicity and directness, profundity and far-reaching sweep continue to this hour to be the despair of exegetes and imitators. Like a vast stream of Divine wisdom, interpreters and social reformers discover themselves to be mere children, dabbling upon its shores.

Whether addressing himself to an individual or to thronging thousands, he teaches with Divine authority and not in the stereotyped and hair-splitting terminology of the scribes. He strikes a positive and constructive note. He does not side-track his students into doubts and futile speculation in dealing with the fundamental facts of life and eternal destiny. He plainly tells the scholarly theologian who came for his lesson under cover of night that to see the Kingdom of God he must be born again, dropping the pungent reminder——that a "master in Israel" ought to "know these things." The self-righteous who expected salvation by personal merit he directed to humble confession of sins like the publican. He took as much care in teaching one sinful woman by a wayside well as he would a group of D.D.'s in the Temple. His penetrating message went to her heart with converting power. As He unrolled the film of her career she knew that the Messiah had crossed her path. When He overtook two troubled souls in the Emmaus Road He takes infinite pains to make clear to them from all the Scriptures, beginning with Moses and the Prophets, the things concerning Himself. The specific direction given to "search the Scriptures, they are they which testify of me" is as sound and needful today as when the words were first uttered. His method discloses the incomparable value of individual contact in teaching and a knowledge of the scholar's peculiar needs.

He relied upon illustrative instruction—without a parable spake He not unto them. That is said to have been in deference to the imagery-loving Eastern mind, but experience demonstrates its universal adaptability. He was speaking to humanity everywhere and always. His vocabulary was vivid and beautiful. An accurate and loving observer of nature and the current ways of life. He understood what was in man, and therefore did not blunder by random teaching. He knew and relied upon the sacred Scriptures, that was fundamental; but He comprehended his constituency just as well so that the crafty could never entangle his lucid candor. His teaching and preaching were full of local color and images drawn from business and domestic life, but above all from waxing fields, luscious vineyards, sheepfolds and gardens. The sunset and sunrise and a hundred other pictures were stored for reproduction in the splendid negatives of His mind. From the record, He wrote one sermon only and that with his finger on the ground. Nature study and object lessons were familiar every day tools to this wonderful Galilean teacher, who took a little child to illustrate the trustful and receptive attitude toward truth that must characterize those who would enter the Kingdom of Heaven. By precept and example He educated the few to reach the many. In the crowded days of His brief term He never seemed too busy to welcome a sincere searcher for light, and He inspired respect, confidence and life devotion. He taught his followers a universal prayer that still voices the world's deepest needs and highest aspiration. "His name shall be called Wonderful," runs the prophecy of His coming, and no other word so fittingly expresses the manner, the substance and the world-wide results of His teaching.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Few men are ever too busy to listen to flattery, a new recipe for home-brew, or a good story.

The number of half-grown girls one sees wearing rouge these days makes one wonder just how many mothers ought to get a good spanking.

"Nearly all the young men have left town, and the old ones are wearing rubber collars," is the rather unique excuse given by a Chinese laundryman for closing his shop.

Huns who have to sweat these times to keep up payments of the indemnity are probably glad that Germany did not get that place in the sun the kaiser was so anxious to secure.

Judging from conversations overheard on the street and in the street cars these days two important questions of the hour are: "Has your rent been raised?" and "Have you got your coal in yet?"

GETTING BACK TO NORMAL.

[Vancouver Sun.]

Within the past few weeks there has been a quite noticeable subsidence of the spirit of social unrest throughout Canada. There are still strikes and rumors of strikes, but the sense of uneasiness as to what the future might bring forth seems to be disappearing. The amount of discontent with things in general is now hardly more than may always be found in any community where men are doing pretty well but desire to do better.

The effects of the war are passing off. The returned men as a body have resumed their place as ordinary citizens engaged in peaceful occupations. The industries which were devoting their energies to destructive purposes are now once more doing something for the increase instead of the depletion of the national wealth. The harvest for the year has been large, and promises to sell at a satisfactory price. Even the cost of living is showing symptoms of weakness. If it is not exactly plunging downwards, it is at any rate no longer rising.

There remains, however, plenty of room for improvement before the ideal can be said to be attained. The amount of good-will prevailing among the different classes of the community could still be substantially increased without doing any harm. Co-operation still has more vogue as a subject of conversation than in actual practice.

Nevertheless, there is reason to be thankful for the progress made to date. The country is getting back to normal, and a lengthened era of steady prosperity would seem to be at hand.

BEACHCOMBING.

A familiar figure at all English seaside resorts just now is the beachcomber. Every day, just after high tide, he may be seen walking along the foreshore, eyes glued to the sands which have been swept clear by the receding tide. Many people have speculated as to the object of his search. Like the rest of humanity, he is out for money. Children and adults have a habit of losing coins on the sands, a loss which to them seems irretrievable. But the beachcomber knows that the money is not hopelessly lost. The high tide sweeps the sands and rocky crevices, washing away the lighter soil and leaving the heavier articles high and dry. It is not difficult to find coins, because they have usually been rubbed quite bright. But they must be picked up at once or they are covered by the next wave and hidden, it may be, for several tides. The occupation is more profitable than the uninitiated think, and it is not unusual for a beachcomber to pick up 10 shillings or £1 by following a single tide. Sometimes, when luck is especially favorable, more valuable contributions come to hand; a necklace or jewels dropped from some ocean liner and washed perhaps half around the world before being cast upon the shore where they are found.

COST OF LIVING PROBLEMS.

[Morning Oregonian.]

Living costs are certain to decline slowly, but with marked effect. There is a point, of course, at which they must reflect in a wage reduction. What this point is the various industries must determine with their own consciences, in all fairness. Unless they do so, with commodities subject only to the usual slight fluctuations, the economic stability of the nation will be overthrown and an era of hard times will ensue—in which both wages and prices will fall to the bottom. The purchasing public does not ask that wages be disturbed, with respect to the purchasing power. It is willing to share its proportion of the increase, in which it profits, but it does insist that the selling price shall be based upon actually increased cost, and nothing more.

From Here and There

COUNTING A BILLION.

According to Popular Science Monthly, it would be hard work to count a fortune of a billion dollars. Counting out $1 bills at the rate of 150 a minute for eight hours a day, it would take a billionaire 46 years of 300 days to finish the job.

THE TELAUTOGRAPH.

The telautograph, an instrument which can give "electrically, at any distance, an exact facsimile of writing or drawing done at the transmitting station," is doing away with messenger service in many large commercial and industrial plants.

APOSTLES OF GLOOM.

[Washington Post.]

Between Bolshevism, the income tax and the rise threatened in the price of coal because of the "vacations" of the miners, everybody nowadays is inclined to be pessimistic. Time was when men and women were accustomed to look on the bright side of things, to laugh occasionally and to enjoy the fleeting moments as they passed, but now a Cimmerian gloom seems to have settled on the human race, and the world so rarely smiles that the gayety of nations may be supposed to have gone into the discard and been lost in the shuffle.

TOO EXPENSIVE.

[Boston Herald.]

Have you noticed that no one is warning the public as in other years against eating too much meat in hot weather.

A FOOLISH SUICIDE.

[Columbia Sentinel.]

Too bad someone hasn't been able to make the starving mayor of Cork realize that a live agitator is worth a great deal more to a cause than a dead martyr.

TREAT HIM COURTEOUSLY.

[Kingston Whig.]

Some people ought to remember that when a reporter asks questions he is fulfilling his duty to the newspaper and the public, not satisfying his own curiosity, and should therefore treat him courteously.

WHERE?

[Kingston Standard.]

Where are all those substitutes for coal talked of for this winter?

THE BOY PROBLEM.

[Hamilton Times.]

Sunday last was rally day in the Sunday schools of the country, and quite a few of the Hamilton churches observed the day. Those of us whose Sunday school days were little better than a memory are willing to admit that in some respects the good old days were not so highly organized for this kind of work as they are today. There was less machinery connected with those schools, but perhaps the Bible and the Shorter Catechism were more in evidence, although the leaflets and prepared school lessons were much scarcer. There are few men or women in this city who had the advantage of a Sunday school training in their youth who will not gladly testify to the influence it had upon their lives and conduct. One old schoolboy remembers with gratitude the labors of the old gentleman who spent many a year in drumming into his mind and heart the lessons which he extracted from the Word of God and from the catechism, yet he also remembers how distasteful these were to him at the time, and how at times he almost hated him.

KEEP FAITH IN YOURSELF.

[Office Appliance Notes.]

You may have lost out on the original plan. You may have found some friend at fault. But, after all, the vital question for you to answer is this: Have you lost faith in yourself?

What if you are now in hard luck. Many a great achievement has been left undone because a man was too rich to keep at it. Poverty is more prolific than prosperity.

Great ideas and great achievements, like the photo negative, must have time in the dark room to develop.

Every step upward in the splendid march to success is based on belief in self.

Don't begrudge your years of poverty and struggle; they are the richest of your life. They are the years in which you give no energy and thought to making a show, and in which the best there is in you is growing stronger than the obstacles in your path, stronger than the limitations that shut you in.

When your heart is heavy and your head bowed in sorrow, when defeat and despair seem to encompass you, when friends disappoint, then is the time when your soul is being molded into symmetry.

When you are fully aware, thoroughly aroused, perfectly sensible to your surroundings, there is always less real cause for alarm. Do you know that it is the unexpected that happens?

WHERE DO THESE MEN STAND?

Is Harding pro-German, and is Cox pro-whiskey? These are the questions the American people are asking, and which they have a right to have answered. Mr. Harding owes it to the people of America to declare himself flat-footedly whether if he is elected he will make a separate peace with Germany and do the other things which the successors of the notorious German-American alliance of war days are expecting of him. They are supporting him with the hope that he will use the soft pedal when making a final settlement with Germany.

Mr. Harding, remaining mum, permits this doubt to stay in the American mind, so that it is considerably disturbed. The Average American has a right to know where Mr. Harding stands. If he is against our allies and for Germany, then he is no man for president of the United States.

Mr. Cox is credited by some and charged by others with being the whiskey candidate. The booze-fighters of the nation are passing the word around to vote for Cox, as he is all right on the whiskey question. Now, where does Cox stand on whiskey? He says that the wet question is as dead as slavery, but no such comparison can be honestly drawn—not when thousands of men in the United States are using their money and wits to bring whiskey back to the saloon and the drunkard back to the home.

The American people must know where Cox stands on the booze question before election day in November.

THE COLOR OF BLUE.

[Minneapolis Journal.]

A blue dome spans a green earth, and always has since the day that man first learned to look upward. Blue and green are not harmonious colors—not as spread by the hand of man. So spread, they jangle. They distress the eye. They glare at each other. But the blue sky never glared at the green earth, and the green earth has smiled back at the blue sky since the day the Creator finished them both and called them good.

Dust particles, we are told, catch and reflect and modify the white of pure sunlight, and so produce the blue we call sky blue—clean blue. The Almighty alone can make things clean and beautiful by adding dirt. All the inhabitants of the earth agree that a blue sky is "fair." Fair weather is blue sky weather. The beauty of it led some primitive peoples to worship the sky.

The deep blue sea takes its color from the blue sky. Three-fourths of the earth's surface is a mirror, so placed that it can duplicate the color of blue sky. Though the sea at times is green, its prevailing color is blue; and so it comes about, in this multi-colored world, that blue greatly exceeds all other colors, including green.

The blue in distant landscapes is likewise due to dust in the air. This produces what artists call "atmosphere," or "distance," and what all clear-eyed persons instinctively admire, though not all have learned to name it. It is this that makes the far view so much sought for as a front-door outlook. It is this that can make a hundred variations in one set landscape.

Blue is a measure of distance to the eye. When the air is more nearly dirt-free, far objects seem nearer. They also look more commonplace. "Distance lends enchantment to the view," because hard lines are veiled in this thin blue drapery of dust.

Near hills are green, but distant hills are blue, the nearer distance a deeper, the farther distance a fainter blue. By the color we estimate that yonder range of hills is such a distance beyond this. The fading color of the far-away hills is not due to the fading of the blue. The nearer, deeper blue is but a mixture of the evanescent sky blue with the heavier green and the black of the substantial earth.

It is the green and the black that fade as the landscape recedes. It is the blue that abides. Blue is the prevailing color, the staying color, of earth, and the only color commonly called "heavenly."

Poetry and Jest

HOME WANTED.

[From the Galveston News.]

I'm just a little homeless dog; I guess
I started wrong;
My legs are much too short, they say;
and then my tail's too long.
I haven't any place to go, and people on the street
Say 'Howdy, Pup," and pat my head, but that ain't good to eat.

The other day I bit a boy, I didn't bite him bad,
Because he hit me with a rock, and people called me mad.
And such a case you never saw, until
I dodged and hid—
They every last one blamed me for that little thing I did.

I wish I was adopted, for the weather's getting cold;
Don't anybody want a dog that's just as good as gold?

AS IN YOUTH, SO IN AGE.

[Florence, Kas., Bulletin.]

In the dear old kid days we longed to be a man and carry money in our trousers pocket. We still do.

THE OLD BOG ROAD.

[Katherine Edman, in the Kansas City Star.]

Oh! I'd like to leave behind me all the endless weary striving,
All the things the world teaches—the heavy aching load—
And to wander where the breezes blow—again that joyous thrill to know—
On the wild and lonely beauty of the old bog road.
Oh! I'd like to leave behind me all the cares, the weary burdens,
All the foolish, senseless things that are—the weary aching load—
And to wander for a summer day a hundred thousand miles away
Across the lonely stretches of the old bog road.

PULLING HIM DOWN.

[Answers.]

Conceited Young Man: "I wonder why that young lady over there looks at me so much?"

Sarcastic Young Lady: "She has weak eyes and the doctor told her to relieve them by looking at something green."

IRONY.

(Louis Untermeyer.)

Why are the things that have no death
The ones with neither sight nor breath!
Eternity is thrust upon
A bit of earth, a senseless stone.
A grain of dust, a casual clod
Receives the greatest gift of God.
A pebble in the roadway lies—
It never dies.
The grass our fathers cut away
Is growing on their graves today;
The tiniest brooks that scarcely flow
Eternally wil come and go.
There is no kind of death to kill
The sands that lie so meek and still.
But man is great and strong and wise—
And so he dies.

IN ANY CITY.

"I see the boss has an automobile now," remarked the foreman.

"Profiteer!" howled the workmen who all owned their own.

ARRANGED.

[New York Evening Post.]

"By the way, my love," Binks remarked casually, as he was about to leave for the office, "I have to drive out into the country this afternoon to look at some property. The old bus isn't acting so very well, so if I am not home for dinner, or if I am even late in the evening getting home, you'll know what the trouble is. If I'm to be very late I'll try to get you word."

"Oh, don't trouble, dear," Mrs. Binks replied sweetly. "I already have the note saying that the garage man said it might be midnight before he could get the motor going again. You left it in your other coat, with one from Tom Smith saying that there would be a hungry kitty at Grogan's roadhouse tonight."

THROUGH MISTS OF RAIN.

[Frank L. Stanton.]

Through mists of rain, the old familiar place—
The valley, hill and plain;
And over all an unforgotten face
Through mists of rain.

The sad sweet smile—the tender, pitying eyes
I shall not see again;
Tear-shadowed memories in ghostly guise
Through mists of rain.

The voice that thrilled me with Love's sweet unrest—
Its pleasure and its pain;
A lock of hair Love laid upon my breast
In mists of rain.

O summer gardens, lost to all delight—
Dim hills and flowerless plain,
It may be that she looks Love's way tonight
Through mists of rain.

PITY THE POOR HUSBAND.

Widow (engaging man servant)—Yes, I want a person who will do any kind of labor in or about the house—run errands, work in the garden—in short, a man who will immediately and without objections do what I tell him to do."

"Ah, lady, it isn't a servant you need. Only by marrying again will you find what you want."

HER PLAIN DUTY.

[Boston Transcript.]

The cheery caller tried to persuade old Aunt Martha not to dwell upon her troubles, telling her she would feel happier if she ignored them.

"Well, honey," said the old lady, "I dunno 'bout dat. I allus 'lowed when de Lord send me tribulation he done spec' me to tribulate."

NOT SO BAD.

A returned soldier vacationist tells us that he was fishing in a pond one day, when a country boy who had been watching him for a distance, approached him and asked: "How many fish yer got, mister?"

"None yet," he was told.

"Well, yer ain't doin' so bad," said the youngster. "I know a feller what fished here for two weeks an' he didn't get any more than you got in half an hour."

THE HAPPY HUNTING GROUNDS.

Into the rose gold westland, its yellow prairies roll,
World of the bison's freedom, home of the Indian's soul,
Roll out O seas, in sunlight bathed,
Your plains wind-tossed, and grass enswathed.

Farther than vision ranges, farther than eagles fly,
Stretches the land of beauty, arches the perfect sky,
Hemm'd through the purple mists afar
By peaks that gleam like star on star.

Fringing the prairie billows, fretting
horizon's line,
Darkly green are slumb'ring wildernesses of pine,
Sleeping until the zephrs throng
To kiss their silence into song.

Whispers freighted with odor swinging into the air,
Russet needles as censers swing to an altar, where
The angels' songs are less divine
Than duo sung 'twixt breeze and pine.

Laughing into the forest, dimples a mountain stream,
Pure as the airs above it, soft as a summer dream,
O! Lethean spring thou'rt only found
In this ideal hunting ground.

Surely the great Hereafter cannot be more than this,
Surely we'll see that country after Time's farewell kiss.
Who would his lovely faith condole?
Who envies not the Redskin's soul,

Sailing into the cloudland, sailing into the sun,
Ir to the crimson portals ajar when life is done?
O! dear dead race, my spirit, too,
Would fain sail westward unto you.

The Base of Many Troubles

Inactive Kidneys and Suffering are Inseparable

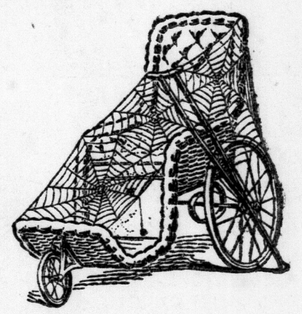

THE kidneys are one of the prime causes of good or bad health. With active kidneys, the body keeps in good condition, but once these organs fail to perform their work properly you begin to be gradually sapped of your vitality.

Nothing will "drag you down" quicker than the backaches, the headaches, rheumatism, and other pains resulting from neglected and congested kidneys. Debility of the whole system is caused when the kidneys cease to perform their functions properly.

Yet, these many ills can be avoided or remedied by taking—

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

Gin Pills have a wonderfully soothing effect on the kidneys. They quickly heal any inflammation, and enable the delicate organs to resume their work of filtering the waste and poisons from the blood. That is the reason the people of Canada bought 613,644 boxes of Gin Pills in 1919.

If you would have improved health and relief from your kidney troubles, try Gin Pills without delay.

Gin Pills are sold everywhere at 60c a box—with money-back guarantee, if they do not help you. You can obtain a sample by writing to:—

The hall at the Ontario Hospital was the scene of an enjoyable party last evening, when Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Robinson gave a dance in honor of their daughter, Miss Ruth Robinson. Over two hundred were present at this delightful affair, which was partly a farewell function for the Princess Patricia officers and a welcome to the many brides of this fall and the guests in the city for the Beattie-Reid wedding. Completely surrounding the pretty ballroom were window boxes, from whose greenery peeped cut-flowers, while downstairs in the supper room gladioli were effectively arranged on the long table, supper being served buffet fashion.

Mrs. Robinson received her guests in a handsome gown of royal blue taffeta, veiled in black, assisted by Miss Ruth Robinson in a pretty frock of pale pink taffeta, with bodice of sequin. The bride, in a pretty gown of white satin and georgette, with conventional veil and wreath and bouquet of pink roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Grace Bilyner, while the groom's brother was best man. A wedding dinner was served at the close of the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, after which the newly-wedded pair left on a short honeymoon, and will make their future home in Hamilton.

FRASER—SHANNON.

A wedding of much interest took place on Monday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Shannon of Tara, when their eldest daughter, Beulah Leon, was united in marriage to Jonathan Alexander Fraser of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. M. Broadhouse. The home was beautifully decorated with flowers and foliage. The happy couple stood beneath an arch of maple leaves, and the bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful gown of georgette, with embroidered bridal veil trimmed with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and maiden-hair fern. Mr. James Laird played the Wedding March, and during the signing of the register Miss Margery Talbot of London sang "O Perfect Love." The bride was unattended, and only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends were present. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served. The grooms' gift to the bride was a necklace of Persian pearls. The bride was the recipient of many presents, including several substantial checks. For their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Fraser are taking a boat trip to Duluth and other points. On their return they will reside in Cleveland, Ohio. Guests were present from Toronto, Chicago, Detroit, London and Owen Sound.

Her corsage was of Ophelia roses. Miss Ethel Hylton of Toronto, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a pretty gown of nigger brown satin, overdraped with heavily beaded georgette and a large picture hat. Her flowers were Columbia roses. Mr. W. J. Tune of Ingersoll attended the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Tune, Queen's avenue. Here the bride's table was prettily decorated with gladioli, and throughout the house white, mauve and pink asters were used in profusion. Out-of-town guests were present from Toronto and Ingersoll.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont

THE MARRIAGE OF ANNE

BY MAY CHRISTIE

(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

XX.—In the Rain.

Two days went by before I saw Neil Saunders again—or Fred—or Julie.

They were listless, apathetic sort of days. A weight hung on my spirits. I could settle to nothing.

The first day I rose early, and walked across the fields to a certain backwater of the river, where the shining irises grow. So sweet and fresh they looked, from the cool of the night.

And when the early morning mists rolled off, and the sun shone out, the mints and meadowsweets yielded a dewy fragrance that was quite enchanting.

But I—foolish Anne Travis—felt depressed and sad.

"You ought to occupy yourself with some definite pursuits," my businesslike aunt informed me at the breakfast-table. "You ought to cultivate certain interests, Anne. And then you would never feel bored or out of sorts."

To "cultivate certain interests." Yes, I had done that. But those interests were not the sort my aunt referred to. They had only brought me worry and unhappiness.

"I don't know that I'm particularly keen on this friendship between you and young Delaunay," she continued, tentatively. "I don't imagine he's much good. Attractive-looking and all that sort of thing. But not much stamina, so far as character goes."

I flushed uncomfortably. It was unusual for my aunt to criticize. She was naturally easygoing and non-interfering.

"And I don't think young Delaunay has one penny to rub against another. He's lazy. There are far too many young women in the world who spoil his type of man. That breeds the parasite."

That wasn't pleasant hearing. I made no effort to reply.

"But you've good, strong, commonsense, my dear. And so I am not afraid for you."

I drank some coffee, then I said:

"And what do you think of Julie, aunt?"

A pause.

My relative gave a short laugh.

"Julie interests me. Yes, and amuses me. Those are two immensely important qualifications in a woman. I can forgive much for their sake."

It was a curious answer, I considered. Evidently my aunt realized that the fair Julie had her faults and failings.

"I don't think I'd trust Julie very far. But then, I've never put her to the test. And she's an agreeable, ornamental visitor. One's men friends like her. She's easy to get along with——"

"Provided she isn't crossed," I supplemented.

My aunt gave me a sharp look.

"So you've been rubbing Julie up the wrong way, have you, little Anne? Poaching on her preserves, or something?"

I shook my head. Indeed the boot was on the other foot, had she but known it.

But I cannot find it easy to confide in anyone. Not even in my kindly, generous relative.

So I said nothing.

"There's some sort of mystery about Julie." My aunt poured herself out a second cup of coffee, and stirred it reflectively. Of course, that's her affair. And really, she makes a quite charming guest."

"When is she coming back?" I queried. I hoped to hear that Julie had gone for good.

"Oh, in a day or so, I expect."

It was an unsatisfactory conversation.

After breakfast I walked down to the village, and made a few purchases. Then I returned to the river for a swim.

It was a really hot day. The water felt deliciously cool.

But I wasn't in a mood to enjoy myself. I kept worrying over Fred Delaunay.

I ought to have given Fred a proper hearing. Julie was at the bottom of that wretched luncheon business. Julie had 'phoned to tell him that I wasn't coming.

And I had practically refused to believe a word he'd said. . . .

Of course, he wouldn't forgive me. I had hurt his pride.

Girls—idiotic, careless girls like me—did that, sort of thing, and then, when it was too late, regretted it.

After I'd dressed and lunched, I took aunt out in the canoe and spent a long, lazy, boring afternoon.

The sight of all the happy, sentimental couples on the river made me feel depressed. It all had come well. Fred would now be my acknowledged fiance.

The evening was even drearier than the afternoon. I sat desolately at my bedroom window, and stared out at the pretty river-craft that floated up and down before me, listening to the music of various gramophones and the laughter and voices of the merrymakers as they drifted by.

The following morning I awoke to the sound of rain. It was a grey, wet day. The sun was blotted out.

I resolved to mope no longer. So, immediately after breakfast, I set myself to practice at the piano.

But after an hour, I'd had enough of that. I started writing letters.

Unfortunately, I wasn't in a letter-writing mood. Those who have tried to pen a cheery, sparkling missive when words and phrases wouldn't come, will understand the misery of my efforts.

So I desisted, and took to darning a pile of silk stockings that had run themselves into wretched ladders and holes.

That occupied the afternoon. After three hours of it my eyes were aching.

My aunt developed a bad headache, and went to bed at 7 o'clock.

And so I dined alone, in solitary state.

The rain, falling on the water outside the windows, made a melancholy, hissing sound. And, when I'd finished dinner, I dragged a long chair to the veranda, and prepared to bury my sorrows in a thrilling novel.

But I couldn't concentrate.

At last I put the book down, and—staring out at the dreary, rainsoaked landscape—tears of self-pity welled up in my eyes, and began to trickle down my cheeks. How melancholy life could be!

Oh, I must teach myself to forget the faithless Fred Delaunay, I must——

"Anne!" A man's hand stole round my neck and a man's kiss was pressed against my tear-wet cheek.

HOSPITAL COMMITTEE APPOINTS TRUSTEES TO CONTROL BUILDING

Whether Hospital Will Be Commenced At Once, Rests With This Committee.

At a meeting of the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee held yesterday afternoon in the Western Fair Board room, the business arrangements for the building of the hospital were put in the charge of a committee of six trustees appointed at that meeting. The trustees, who are to be convened by Col. Wm. Gartshore, include C. R. Somerville, W. D. Jarvis, Dr. W. J. Tillmann, C. R. Hunt and General Panet. They will have no monetary obligations in connection with the hospital, but will sign the contracts, definitely undertaking only such work as may be covered by the money actually in the possession of the I. O. D. E. Thus it may be seen that the hospital will progress towards completion only as quickly as the money is raised. It was felt by the committee that the hospital, if it was to be a war memorial, should not be delayed in its erection any longer than possible. The decision as to whether the building should be commenced at once was left, however, in the hands of the trustees.

Committees Formed.

A committee to make arrangements to undertake the collection of tickets for the opening night at the Winter Garden was formed, the net proceeds from this night having been given over to the I. O. D. E. for the Children's Hospital. On this committee are Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, Mrs. Niven, Mrs. Glennie Wilson, Mrs. E. H. Johnston and Mrs. H. A. McCallum. Four delegates were also appointed to attend the annual convention of the United Hospital Aides of Ontario, which is meeting in St. Thomas on October 13, the delegates being Mrs. C. T. Campbell, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. Young.

Raising of Money.

Plans were discussed for the raising of more money for the hospital. The suggestion was made that the management of the tea dances at the Tecumseh House be approached, the I. O. D. E. offering to act as hostesses on certain days for a certain percentage of the proceeds. Another suggestion was the getting out and selling of Christmas stamps in aid of the hospital, Mrs. A. E. Cooper to be in charge of this scheme. Still another suggestion was a big one-day campaign for funds in every city, town and village in Western Ontario. It was also decided to again approach the county councils for help.

Mrs. Arthur Smith, convener of the hospital committee, was in the chair.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Love is not blind, but looks ahead
Through other eyes,
And asks not "Must I give," but "May I sacrifice?"
Love hides its griefs that other
Hearts and lips may sing;
And burdened walks, that other lives
May, buoyant, wing.

The Hospital Fund.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—I thank you very much for your further contribution of forty dollars ($40.00), which makes the total receipts of your Mail Box, $205.10. We are very grateful also, to your correspondents who have sent through the Mail Box such ample assistance to the fund for the War Memorial Children's Hospital. Money comes in slowly but surely and the dimes that come through your hands are very acceptable. May the good work continue and prosper through the Mail Box.

Sincerely yours.
L. K. CAMPBELL,
Honorary Treasurer.

Is Interested in Mail Box Cot.

Dear Queen of the Mail-Box Friends,—I am coming to ask you a question. I think it would be all right but want your opinion about it.

How would it be if each one would send a "little" for the H. F. every time they want patterns, songs, recitations, dialogues, etc., and I have all kinds of knitted infants' wear which I will copy for anyone wanting them if they will send 10 cents or as much as they want for each patterns, and I shall send the money on to you, stating who sent it and how much each sent, or should I send the directions to you? Below are the items I have to copy.

Also am sending a mite for H. F., which I think a grand thing will be to have a Mail-Box cot. Wishing everyone success, and especially those working for the C. G. cot.

MRS. T. H. M.

Infants' Garments.—(a) bonnet, (b) cap, (c) light cap, (d) hood, (e) bonnet from a straight piece, (f) bootees, (g) light bootees, (h) gaiters with bootees, (i) gaiters without bootees, (j) blanket, (k) vest double-breasted, (l) drawers, (m) vest single-breasted, (n) raglan coat, (o) shawl, (p) light coat, (q) spencer, (r) mittens without thumbs, (s) mittens with thumbs, (t) body belt, (u) overall drawers, (v) head shawl, (w) petticoat.

MRS. T. H. M.

Ans.—Thank you, Mrs. T. H. M., both for your gift and for your splendid suggestion. It is also good of you to undertake to handle the patterns yourself. This will be more satisfactory for me and I shall be very glad to forward any requests to you. The interest in the Mail-Box cot is growing all the time. We are greatly encouraged by the letters and gifts received. It will be well for anyone writing to you to inclose postage to forward request and postage for mailing of patterns.

A Gift for the Hospital.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a reader of your corner for a long time, found many valuable recipes in it. To-day I am inclosing my bit for the children's fund. JEWEL.

Ans.—Such a lovely big "bit," Jewel! Thank you just ever so much.

Wants To Borrow Book.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been taking a lot of pleasure from your corner for a long time now and have finally decided to become better acquainted if I may, please. Like so many others, I have a request to make. Last week while out for a beautiful motor ride, I had the misfortune to lose a book, "Under Two Flags," which was borrowed, too. I'm pretty sure I lost it on the road near Kintore. Oh, I was so sorry. I was wondering if any of the boxites had a copy they would loan me just till I finished it. I would certainly see that it was returned promptly. My, but the country is wonderful just now. I really envy women on farms now. I had a year of farm life in the west and liked it fine, but the work was too much for my hubby, who had always been used to a business. I often wish I could go back now, though, just to see all the good friends. Well, I must close now as I am busy at pickling. That is quite a job, too, where there are kiddies. I will inclose one of my favorite recipes, also mite for S. C. H. Sincerely yours, A BUSY MOTHER.

Cherry Cake—2 eggs, ¾ cup white sugar, ½ cup butter, 1 cup preserved cherries, 2 tablespoons juice, ½ teaspoon soda, 2 small cups flour. Bake in layers. This cake keeps beautifully fresh.

Soft Ginger Bread—2 eggs, 1 cup of brown sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1 teaspoon ginger, ½ cup lard, 1 small teaspoon soda, 13 tablespoons flour (full), and last of all 1 cup boiling water. This looks pretty thin, but it bakes up like a sponge cake.

Ans.—Very glad to have a visit from you, Busy Mother, with your favorite recipes. I refer your request to readers and thank you for your generous gift to the C. H. F. I think we all love every bit of autumn we get the opportunity to enjoy.

Wants Recipe for Sweet Apple Preserve.

Dear Cynthia Grey,—These fall days when nature paints the cheek of the apple my thoughts turn backward to the good old-fashioned sweet apple preserve that it seems to me no one ever knew how to make quite so well as grandmother. I wonder if there is not a dear old grandmother living somewhere today who knows the secret and will pass the receipt along to our generation. Let us hope so, for which kindly accept our thanks. ROSALINDA.

Ans.—Your request is referred to readers(Rosalinda, and let us hope you receive just the recipe you want to make the good old-fashioned preserve.

Requests.

Dear Friends of the Mail-Box,—I am in need of help, and so with the rest, turn to the ever-ready Mail-Box. Our Sunday school class decided to have a Halloween party. I saw how to decorate for one a few days ago in the paper. Now I would like any suggestions of how to entertain a group of about 20 boys and girls. I would be very grateful to you, Miss Grey, or anyone who could give any information to

A C. I. GIRL.

Ans.—Send me a stamped, addressed envelope, repeating your request and I shall endeavor to help you.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again. Am sending 25 cents for the C. H. F. I am very fond of flowers and would like a package of Thistle's cosmos seed if they are not all gone. I am glad to hear that you are getting near the required amount of money by the end of September, as you wished. Hoping this will help out some. Am sending stamped self-addressed envelope.

ISABEL.

Ans.—Thank you very much, Isabel. Indeed your generous gift helps. I hope to give in more than our objective amount by the end of September. Have mailed seeds to you.

Dear Miss Grey,—Inclosed please find a small donation for your hospital fund, And would you kindly send me that famous stocking-foot pattern; it must be good as so many readers of your page want it. I enjoy your page very much. I remain, yours sincerely.

NELLIE B.

Ans.—Yours was by no means a small donation. Thank you just ever so much. Have mailed the pattern to you.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am sending twenty cents in stamps. I would like some hollyhocks and marigold seeds that Thistle said she would send in. Thanking you in advance.

ENGLISH BUTTERCUP.

Ans.—Have mailed seeds to you, English Buttercup. Thank you very much for hospital gift.

TALKS ON HEALTH

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D., Noted Physician and Author.

Burn Up Your Troubles.

If that wonderful remedy, oxygen, were commercially exploited and its value for this and that complaint constantly dinned in the public ear and dangled in the public eye, as is the alleged value of hypophosphites, sarsaparilla, blue vitrol, cottage cheese, alcohol, opium, rum and other more or less useless but well-disguised medicinal agents, I dare say natatoriums for swimming as a social pleasure would become as popular as restaurants and social gormandizing now are.

At present the great social pastime is feeding. We eat more than plenty at our regular meals, and then we go out somewhere and eat plenty more for the sake of sociability. Our consumption of superfluous nutriment is something prodigious. The overnourished and under-exercised woman at the matinee feels that she is not enjoying the show unless she has some chocolates or salted almonds or some other highly nutritious delicacy to nibble on. The young lady's escort feels that he is not giving her a really good time unless he buys her a marshmallow chocolate nut sundae, or may be a full fourth meal in a sweet eating joint. Someone ought to found the American Amateur Eaters' League, for eating is certainly one of our chief indoor sports, and among us there must be some phenomenals who would quickly win fame.

As a pastime, social accomplishment and healthful recreation swimming should practically supersede dancing, so far as the interest and enthusiasm of normal-minded young people are concerned. Instead of dance-halls of uncertain status we should have conveniently equipped swimming pools, where people could drop in at any time for a swim, instead of trying to wring doubtful pleasure out of a late supper or a depraved dance.

As an exercise, swimming is perhaps unequalled. As a wholesome, healthful pleasure or recreation it can scarcely be surpassed. We read that the famous Miss Kellerman was a cripple in childhood, and overcame her physical handicap by exercise in the water. Some of our most successful medical experts have found that exercises carried out in the water are immensely superior to ordinary exercises in restoring function to partly paralyzed or crippled members.

No one's education can be considered broad or liberal or complete unless he or she has learned how to swim. It is the business of every public school to teach children how to swim before "graduating" them for life. A school without adequate swimming facilities is certainly not a progressive or modern school, no matter what the building may have cost or what other subjects may be taught therein. It is deplorable negligence in child training to permit the child to grow up ignorant of swimming.

Swimming as an exercise puts oxygen at work in the body as no other exercise can. That is why it does so much for health and vigor and physical development. It burns up your troubles while you are enjoying the sport.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Growth of Girls.

I am 15 years old, 58½ inches tall, and weigh 112 pounds. I have not grown for two years, according to the tape. Is there anything I can do to make me grow, besides gymnasium exercise every day and lying out straight at night and eating apple skins? B. M. B.

Answer—So far as I know, lying out straight or curling up like a kitten to sleep makes no difference in growth, nor does eating apple skins. You should be 61½ inches tall and weigh 108 pounds. In girls of your age sometimes careful fully-regulated ductless gland hormone medication stimulates growth—your doctor is the only one who can administer such remedies.

H. B. P. and C. V. D.

I want to find out something about high blood pressure. Is it a disease or only a symptom? If a symptom, of what? A. W. S.

Ans.—Neither. It is a sign elicited by physical examination. A patient would otherwise never know he has an abnormally high pressure, for no sensation of his own can tell. It occurs in many disease conditions, most commonly in insidious cardio-vascular degeneration, wearing out of the heart-artery system. Glad to mail you an informative dissertation on the subject if you want it, but I promise you it will disappoint you if you seek "the symptoms" whereby to attempt a diagnosis of your own condition. I carefully exclude the symptoms.

TO CLEAN SILK.

Silk is made from the cocoon of the silkworm and is, therefore, just as truly an animal fibre as wool. Most of the rules for the care of woolens are alike applicable to the care of silks. Heat makes silk yellow; strong soaps or alkalis not only turn silk yellow, but destroy the gloss. Rubbing silk on a board breaks the delicate fibre and weakens the fabric.

Silk, therefore, like wool, should be washed by squeezing, not by rubbing and wringing, as cotton is. Wash it in a mild soap solution, rinse it in several clean waters, and to the last rinsing water add some gum arabic. The gum arabic, gives some body to thin silk, and gives it the air of not having been washed, when it is pressed.

Silk ribbons are stretched on a clean table or board and scrubbed with a soft brush dipped in a mild soap solution until they are clean. The rinsing is done, as always, through several waters with gum arabic in the last. To dry ribbons stretch them on a flat surface taut, and let them dry without pressing. Narrow lingerie ribbon may be wound flat on a round glass bottle and so dried without pressing.

To prepare gum arabic for washing silk, add a quart of warm water to two teaspoonfuls of powered gum arabic. Stir well, and when the gum is dissolved strain through a cheese cloth into a bottle. Remember, when washing silks, to use this as a starch water in the last rinsing.

BILLIE MOVES ON.

Billie, the goat, did not know what to do. He had stayed in the field all night in the hope that Monty would be able to leave with him in the morning, but now that morning had come Monty had not put in an appearance. Billie was a wise old goat, and he knew that no harm had come to his little friend the dog. He knew, too, that Monty was quite safe in the care of the cripple boy. But how would the neighborhood like to have a goat? Billie asked himself. True, there were no dogs around there, or bad boys to tease him, for the farm was some distance from the town, but Billie did not feel safe, nor did he like the thoughts of living on a farm. What would Monty think if he went off in search of the circus and Mr. Bangs without waiting for him? Billie asked himself.

All this time, our friend Monty was sleeping soundly in a nice, snug box of straw behind the kitchen stove in the farm house. To see him lying there one would not have thought Monty hadn't a care in the world, for the farmer and his wife and the little cripple boy had been so kind to him because of his injured leg; they had made him forget how unhappy he had been.

Teddy, for that's what the little cripple boy's name was, got up bright and early, and was the first to peep into the box behind the stove to see if the new-found pet were still there. Monty was just opening his eyes, and when he spied Teddy's smile he raised himself as best he could without hurting his broken leg and wagged his little stump of a tail as hard as he could.

What a large breakfast they gave Monty, and what a good appetite he had. "I am sure he will soon be better if he eats like that, Teddy said, and the farmer and his wife agreed.

Every morning little crippled Teddy went out for a short walk to try and make himself strong, so this morning he was delighted to have a comrade, even though he was lame, too.

"Be careful that he does not kill more chickens," Teddy's uncle cautioned, for he remembered what had caused Monty's broken leg. Monty tried his best, by wagging his tail and wiggling his body, to tell the farmer just how it happened and that he was not really a thief."

"See, uncle, he is telling you he won't do it again," Teddy cried, for he understood.

Once outside, Monty remembered about Billie. He hopped to and fro on his three good legs, and searched everywhere, but Billie had disappeared!

Poor Monty! His little heart was filled with remorse. It looked now as if he would never find his beloved Mr. Bangs, for Billie had gone off without him.

SARNIA WILL LIKELY OPEN O.R.F.U. SEASON IN PETROLEA OCT. 9

Changing of Date From October 2 Was Made by the Schedule Committee.

Sarnia, Sept. 30.—The opening of the Rugby season in the western end of the O. R. F. U. will be delayed one week, owing to insufficient time for the convener and schedule committee to get together. The O. R. F. U. requested the season to open Saturday, October 2, but the Sarnia team found this impossible. Petrolea being in something the same fix, it was agreed to postpone the opening till October 9, when Sarnia will likely open the season in Petrolea. Convener Lyle Lesueur is in communication with the Petrolea club's representative for the drafting of the double schedule. Coach Karn has had a raft of new line material out during the past week in an effort to get the strongest line possible for the coming series in the intermediate ranks.

"GREASY" NEALE ALONG WITH OTHERS ESTABLISH GUILT OF CHASE AND LEE MAGEE

Philadelphia-Chicago Game of August 31 Believed To Be On Square—Telegram Was From Gamblers Who Wanted Cubs Strengthened For Game.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The Cook County grand jury investigating the baseball scandal today received further information concerning the throwing of games in last year's world's series, but devoted most of the day's sessions to an investigation of alleged crooked work in the National League.

William Veeck, president of the Chicago National League club, told the jury that in his private investigation of charges that the Philadelphia-Chicago National League game on August 31 had been fixed for Philadelphia to win led him to believe that the club itself had been made "the sucker" in the case, and other witnesses gave additional details of activities which led to the discharge from baseball of Lee Magee and Hal Chase.

Veeck said evidence he had found in Detroit convinced him that there was no crooked work in the August 31 game. He said he believed the gamblers themselves had sent him the telegram saying it was "fixed," and that they had done this to make the club switch from Hendrix, a comparatively weak pitcher, scheduled to pitch, to Alexander, one of the best in the league. This gave Chicago its strongest possible line-up, which was what the gamblers wanted, he said.

Garry Herrman, president of the Cincinnati club, and formerly chairman of the National Commission, presented affidavits from Christy Mathewson, former New York pitcher, and Cincinnati manager; "Greasy" Neale, Cincinnati outfielder; Jimmy Ring, Cincinnati pitcher, and Manager McGraw of the New York Giants. These affidavits, he told newspapermen, absolutely proved the guilt of Chase and Magee.

Hoyne Denies Attempt To Stop Inquiry.

Interest in the American League side of the scandal was kept up by the return of Maclay Hoyne, states attorney, from New York with evidence which, he said, would help in criminal prosecution of players and gamblers indicted. Mr. Hoyne denied reports that he had ordered the investigation stopped, went before the jury to tell that he heartily approved of its work, and then told how Charles Comiskey had sought his aid last fall in investigating the world's series.

"We investigated for some time and while we found enough to convince us the series was not on the square, we found nothing on which to base legal action," said Mr. Hoyne.

"Buck" Weaver, Fred McMullin and "Swede" Riseberg, three of the seven White Sox players indicted, tonight declared they were innocent and would fight the case in court.

The jury will not again consider the baseball scandal until next Tuesday, when Hughey Jennings, manager of the Detroit American League team, Jean Dubuc, former Detroit pitcher, now with Toledo; McGraw, Fred Toney and Benny Kauff, the latter two players on the New York Giants, are expected to testify. The jury will be sworn in at a special session tomorrow, its regular term having expired today.

JURY FINDS NOTHING TO INDICATE THAT THE DODGERS HAVE BEEN APPROACHED FOR SERIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Examination of members of the Brooklyn National League baseball club by District Attorney Lewis of Kings County, in an effort to learn whether any of them had been approached in an attempt to "fix" the coming world's series, was continued this afternoon. Eight members of the team appeared before the prosecutor, but no statement regarding the questioning was given out by Mr. Lewis. After he had questioned Captain Zack Wheat and two other players yesterday the district attorney said he found "absolutely nothing" to substantiate the vague rumors which prompted him to make the investigation.

The remaining members of the team will appear before Mr. Lewis tomorrow, and it was said that in all probability he would make a statement concerning what he found or failed to find after he had questioned all the members of the club.

President Ebbets and Manager Robinson of the Brooklyn team had no fear about having their men appear before the district attorney, except that the proceeding might upset some of the men and affect their playing in the big league series.

The New York club of the National League will be represented at the grand jury hearing in Chicago Tuesday by Manager McGraw, Pitchers Fred Toney and "Rube" Benton, Benny Kauff and Larry Doyle. The last-named was added to the list today, and it was said he will be asked to make a statement regarding some bets he made with Hal Chase on the world's series last year.

1st W.O.R. and "Wasps" Clash Promises Some Great Soccer

Tecumseh Park Will Be in Great Condition For Match If Rain Holds Off—Big Crowd Expected.

It looked bad yesterday for today's cup tie games between Grand Trunks and 1st W. O. R., but if the rain keeps off, as it promises to do, Tecumseh Park should be just about in right shape for the clash.

Manager Billy Friend, ably assisted by Captain Butler and Captain Billy Collins of the team, has gathered a strong aggregation together which should give the Grand Trunk champs as good an argument as they have had this year.

Sergt. Sam Hacking, D.C.M., of the Pats, will handle the game and the whistle, and that means that the game will be kept going for the full time. Messrs. Marshall and Sims are the neutral linesmen picked for this game.

The Wasps always have a good following, and the 1st W. O. R. team has sent out a call for the stretcher-bearers, in the shape of the officers and men of the regiment, for this afternoon's session. The W. O. R. band will leave the armories at 2:30 p.m. for the grounds. Wasps will use their regular line.

The new entrants into the cup ties will be picked from the following players: Bearchill, Drakey, Widdicombe, Nudds, Fudge, Shaw, Collins, Boyce, Jewkes, Gallettly, Smith, Iceham, Peters, Hill, Jones, Cook, Elsby and Brock.

ATTEMPT NEW MATCH.

Cleveland, Oct. 2.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, and Jack Britton, holder of the welterweight title, will make another attempt to get together in the ring for their scheduled ten-round bout at American League Park here tonight. The bout, originally set for last Thursday night, was twice postponed because of the cold, rainy weather. Both champions are keeping in condition working out at gymnasiums.

FOOLPROOF ALCOHOL.

New York, Oct. 1.—"Foolproof" wood alcohol may be the latest achievement of science. Chemists here are experimenting with a formula hitherto unknown to the chemical world to make this liquid non-poisonous. If the experiments prove successful the alcohol will reain its normal qualities and its drinking will not be fatal.

GOOD WEATHER IS PROMISED TODAY FOR RUGBY GAME

Toronto, Oct. 2.—Favorable weather conditions is the prediction for the opening of the Interprovincial Rugby Union today, when the M. A. A. A. team of Montreal are scheduled to meet Argonauts at Varsity Stadium and Hamilton Tigers the "Rough Riders" at Ottawa. All four teams have been practicing faithfully and are optimistic of victory. The Montreal team arrived in the city this morning and coach Hughes, who has been handling last year's champions, can see nothing but another victory. Argonauts held their final workout last night in preparation for their game today and Coach Mike Rodden, former McGill star, is prepared for all eventualities.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS IN EARNEST

New York, Oct. 2.—Leading eastern colleges and universities today plunged into the football season in earnest, most of them meeting teams that promised to reveal something of their gridiron calibre. Although the season opened last Saturday, many of the teams on which eyes will be focused made their debut today.

These included Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Colgate, Army, Navy, Columbia and Pittsburg.

The cadets offer a gridiron novelty in the form of a football double-header, playing both the Union College and Marshall College teams in turn at West Point. Princeton faced Swarthmore, while Yale had Carnegie Tecs as an opponent. Columbia opened against Trinity, with "Buck" O'Neil as coach.

Mails and Bagby Both in First Against Ehmke, But Lose Out —Faber Lost To Browns.

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—Cleveland, fighting for the American League pennant, made certain of at least a tie by dividing a double-header with Detroit while Chicago was losing a single game to St. Louis today.

The Indians lost the first game 5 to 4, when, in the tenth inning, Shortstop Sewell threw Flagstead's grounder into the Cleveland dugout, and Pinelli followed with a clean single. The Indians' victory in the second game was a decisive one, the score being 10 to 3. Fifteen Cleveland hits, 6 of them for extra bases, and four Detroit errors contributed to the result, the league leaders scoring in every inning but the second. The second game was called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness.

Cleveland and Chicago each have two games yet to play, and should the Indians lose both while Chicago wins two a tie would result.

Dodgers Substitute in Second After Third Frame—Alex Subdues Cards.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The champions and Giants divided their double bill today, 4—3 being the score in each case. The Dodgers tied New York's three-run lead in the eighth on two singles and Krueger's home run. In the ninth the winning run resulted from Douglas' three-base wild throw and a sacrifice fly.

In the second game Brooklyn scored three runs in the second inning and after the third only got one man to first base. Barnes relieved Toney in the sixth. WITHIN ONE GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Cleveland can clinch the American League pennant by winning one of its two remaining games, or by Chicago losing one of its two games.

The gap between the two rivals widened to two full games today when the Indians broke even in a double-header with Detroit and the White Sox lost to St. Louis.

The best Chicago can do now is to tie the league leaders, and this would necessitate winning two games while the Indians lost their two games with Detroit.

TURNED BACK MAILS

Jimmy Callahan, when he managed the Pirates had a chance to develop Mails, the Cleveland pitching sensation, but gave him a ticket to his home in the Coast again, after carrying him for a while. Twice Mails was up, but he refused to stick. This time it looks as if he brought his bottle of glue with him.

Both Whatley and his lawyer declared that the lawyer said he knew where the horse was, but declined to disclose its whereabouts. Mr. Whaley adds that the matter is still as great a mystery as ever.

SNOW BREAKS TREE BRANCHES; HEAVY DAMAGES TO FRUIT

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 1.—The first snow of the season struck Owen Sound and vicinity this morning, and struck hard. Between four and five inches have fallen, and the snow being very soft and heavy falling on trees still in full leaf and many of them laden with fruit, much damage has been caused by broken branches. Fortunately the wind dropped when the snow came or the damage would have been even more serious. So far as is known no one has been injured, though several narrow escapes are reported.

INVENTED A CHARGE ONLY TO REFUTE IT

Meighen Makes Mean Insinuation Against the Farmer Premier.

TELLS WHAT HE SAID

Charges Drury With Being Leader of Free Trade Party.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—"Mr. Drury has invented a charge in order to have the pleasure of refuting it," said Right Honorable Arthur Meighen, prime minister, tonight, when his attention was directed to a dispatch from Oshawa, in which Hon. Mr. Drury, premier of Ontario, is quoted as naying resented a charge alleged to have been made by Mr. Meighen that the Farmers and Labor were Bolshevists. In connection with Mr. Drury's remarks, Mr. Meighen added:

"Not only were the words attributed to me not said, but no person could draw any such inference from what I did say. My words in Sherbrooke were precisely as follows:

Farmers' Free Trade Party.

"'A new party has arisen in Canada, best described as a farmers' free trade party. It took its birth in the western provinces, and for some twelve years or more it has been gaining strength. It has adopted the old Liberal free trade policy of 1893. It has issued a platform. It demands to be placed in power in Canada. It has gathered under its banner and trails behind it every class of theorists and malcontents, and today, beyond all doubts, it constitutes the most numerous and strongest organization opposed to the present Government.'"

"Indeed," Mr. Meghen further remarked tonight, "at other points I plainly stated that the farmers were not in any sense inimical to responsible government but unfortunately had aligned with them many others who were. If anyone wishes to challenge the correctness of this statement he should first make inquiry as to what took place in recent by-elections in Temiskaming and Colchester."

CARSON SAYS GREY'S PLAN IS HOPELESS

Claims It Means Abandonment of Those Loyal To Crown.

WOULD ACCEPT BILL

Ulster's Position Is Stated by Sir Edward in Plain Terms.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—"A more hopeless suggestion never emanated from the brain of a statesman," is Sir Edward Carson's comment on Viscount Grey's Irish plan in a letter from the Ulster leader on conditions in Ireland, printed in hte London newspapers today. "In plain English," says Sir Edward, "it means 'abandon all those who are loyal to the crown; leave them to the tender mercies of their Sinn Feinn fellow-countrymen, and if they murder each other and exhaust themselves in slaughter, we will look on without concern.' This is a policy of scuttle with a vengeance."

Referring to Viscount Grey's suggestion to leave Great Britain to control Ireland's foreign policy and the army and navy, Sir Edward continues: "If they refuse to accept this, what then? If they burn naval stations, attack sailors and soldiers and assassinate officers, then I suppose Viscount Grey would say we must go one step further and allow the Irish Republic. Is the murder of British officers in India and Egypt to produce the same effect. Why not?"

Destruction of Britain.

Sir Edward recalls that during the war Eamon de Valera asserted that a free Ireland would be the destruction of British sea power, and that Arthur Griffith said the freedom of the seas would never be attainable while Ireland was in her present state, because Ireland's geographical and commercial position gave her the key to the Atlantic and Mediterranean trade.

"What is the use of not facing the real facts, the real aims o thfe anti-British party in Ireland?" asks Sir Edward. "Every mistake that has been made originated in basing a policy upon theory, and not up realities," he says.

Will Work For Bill.

Commenting on Viscount Grey's statement that nobody wants to accept the home rule bill now before the House of Commons, and that Irishmen will refuse to operate it, Mr. Edward Carson says it is quite true the Ulster men prefer their present position under the Imperial Parliament.

"But," he continues, "under the existing circumstances, Ulster, in preference to any other alternative suggested, does not want the bill. Ulster will accept the bill; Ulster will work for the bill. Certainly, as compared with Viscount Grey's proposad, Ulster would welcome the bill."

Sir Edward contends that Ulster has sense enough to see that it is to her interest to settle down and tackle the questions of education, labor, health and re-establishment which now "are hindered by the Government at Dublin, which is forever being driven into the fatal policy of trying to appease enemies by neglecting friends."

STORM INTERRUPTS NAVIGATION IN THE ST. CLAIR RIVER

SARNIA, Oct. 1.—As the result of a storm that has made navigation on the St. Clair River a hard task for many tugs operating between this city an down-river points, several were forced to put ashore with tows at Marysville and other docks. No vessels were reported as having met with any trouble on the lake during the storm, and a number of boats are tonight preparing to move out on their lake trip. Local mariners state that the storm yesterday was of shorter duration than had been looked for, the majority of these fall blows extending over a period of two days or more. A long line of boats took refuge in St. Clair River during the blow yesterday, among them being the Livingston, Ittica, Richardland, Star, W. A. Hazard, and J. C. Ford.

RECALL LEGEND AFTER DEATH OF MICHAEL GRACE

Brother of Former New York Mayor Lived in Cursed Abbey.

BRAVED ANCIENT TERROR

Finally Gave Up Residence After Death of Daughter by Drowning.

London, Oct. 1.—The death in London last Monday of Michael P. Grace, brother of W. R. Grace & Co. of New York, has recalled the historic "curse" of Battle Abbey, Hastings, which for a long time was under lease to Mr. Grace and was his home.

The brothers were born of humble parents in Queenstown, Ireland. When he was 14 years old William ran away from home to make his fortune, which, indeed, he succeeded in doing, and which he shared with his brother, Michael.

When Michael P. Grace returned to England his wealth and the charm and beauty of his daughters gained for him a place in exclusive social circles and he was elected a member of the Carlton Club. Then someone discovered that he was descended from a Norman knight named Gros.

He leased Battle Abbey from Sir Augustus Webster in 1903, soon after Sir Augustus had purchased it from the Duchess of Cleveland. Mr. Grace spent much money on the place, keeping up the historic castle and grounds, but gave it up for Cortachy Castle, Kirriemuir, Forfarshire, a few years ago, having been influenced, it was reported, by the Abbey's historic "curse."

Monastic institutions had dwindled in numbers when Henry VIII. gave Battle Abbey to the Brownes. The last abbot was said to have pronounced the "curse" that the owners of the castle would die by drowning.

Of course the old "curse" was carefully watched, and it was regarded as significant that Lord Montagu, who owned it in the eighteenth century, was drowned, and likewise two nephews of Lady Webster, wife of the present owner of Battle Abbey, were drowned while bathing in a lake on the grounds. A few weeks later Mrs. Hubert Beaumont, eldest daughter of Michael Grace, who lived in the Abbey, was drowned while bathing with her son, near Leghorn. It was soon after this that Mr. Grace gave up his lease on the place, for Mrs. Beaumont was one of the five girls, daughters of William R. and Michael P. Grace, who were known on three continents as "the Five Graces."

ASSESSORS MAKE TELEPHONE CITY'S POPULATION 32,786

Increase of 2,237 Partially Accounted For by Two Annexations.

THREAT OF ARSON MADE

Long-Haired Man Intimated Intention To Burn Onondaga Barns.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 1.—Brantford's population is officially placed at 32,786 and the total assessment at $29,865,305. This is an increase in population of 2,237, but as the population of the annexed districts of Parkdale and Belleview was 1,610 last year, the net increase in population is but 627. The assessment shows an increase of $4,668,270, and the taxable assessment, $4,216,030. In the case of the population, the removal of many foreigners, who have left for their old homes from which, for the most part, they had been shut out during the war, and the high cost of construction, which cut off the building of homes, are held responsible. Only 148 new houses were built during the year, and there are 5,426 vacant lots for homes when construction costs come down. The assessment per capita is $798.50.

The following figures are given on ment, $25,178,505; total exempt assessment, $25,179,505; total exempt assessment, $4,686,900; grand total of general assessment, $29,865,305; total increase in taxable property, $3,495,185; total increase in business, $321,705; total increase in income, $401,140; total increase in taxable assessment, $4,216,030.

Commissioner Ludlow pointed out the great need for the erection of six-roomed houses in the city, constructed without frills.

The fire and light committee considered the schedule of one day off per week for the firemen, but are not favorable to the plan. Additional men would be required and an extra expenditure of $9,000 per year.

Decrease In Building.

For the first nine months this year a decrease is shown in the building permit values for the city of $154,000. It is expected that the million mark for the year will be reached.

At Princeton on Thursday the call of Rev. George Easton to become pastor of St. Andrew's Church in this city was sustained.

The local police have a problem on their hands in Harry Murray, farm hand, who recently threatened to burn up some Onondaga barns. Murray has hair flowing below his shoulders. He will be medically examined, as it is believed he has formerly been an inmate of an asylum.

Call Extended.

The official board of Brant Avenue Church has extended a call to Rev. F. M. Wootton of Hamilton in succession to Rev. J. D. Fitzpatrick, who has received a call to Charlton Avenue Methodist Church, Hamilton.

Brantford customs receipts for the month of September were $106,725, a considerable increase over the same month last year.

Word from the attorney-general's department was received here today by the county constables that particular care should be taken to prevent all games of chance at the fall fairs in this county.

At a meeting of the Local Council of Women this afternoon it was decided to urge upon the police commission the immediate appointment of a woman constable for Brantford.

SEQUEL TO GUN TRAP SHOOTING.

KINGSTON, Oct. 1.—As an outcome of the shooting of a boy by a trap gun in an orchard a week or so ago, Chas. H. Powell was committed today for trial on a charge of setting a trap gun on his premises and was admitted to bail in $1,000. The boy who was shot and wounded was helping himself to apples in Powell's orchard and unknowingly stepped on a wire that set the gun off.

PONZI FACES THREE SEPARATE INDICTMENTS

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—The federal grand jury today indicted Charles Ponzi, promoter of the scheme by which millions of dollars were extracted from investors on promise to pay 50 per cent profit for using the mails in a scheme to defraud. The indictments of which there were two of 43 counts each, were the longest returned here in years. Ponzi is now a federal prisoner at the East Cambridge jail, and is under indictment also by state courts for larceny.

HERE are four riddles for boys and girls with wise heads. We told the artist to draw the pictures to represent the riddles, but he guessed the right answers—and put them in too! So we barred him from the contest and told him to keep it a secret. Luckily, he got the answers all jumbled up, so you won't be any the wiser.

If you can unscramble the jumbled letters beneath each riddle picture and put them in their right order to spell the right words, you will have the right answers. It isn't an easy task. Good thinking, patience and perseverance may find you the answers. Try it.

If you think you have found the answers, write them carefully on a sheet of white paper. Put on nothing but your four answers and your name and address in the upper right-hand corner of the page. Handwriting, spelling, punctuation and general neatness will count if more than one answer is correct.

We will write and tell you immediately if you are correct, and send you a handsome illustrated list of all the prizes that you can win.

What's Doing at the Local Playhouses

MUSIC AND DRAMA

What the Press Agents Say About the Shows

AT THE GRAND

THE "DUMBELLS" WILL BE SEEN TWICE TODAY AT THE GRAND.

The famous "Dumbells" will close their successful London engagement here with two performances today, matinee at 2:15, and this evening at 8:15. Capacity audiences have enjoyed this splendid production at the hands of these soldier actors, and they leave London with a record attendance for the six days. To those who were so fortunate to see "Dumbells" in "Biff! Bing! Bang!" last year, we say go again, for the entire production is changed, new songs, new music, new sketches and special lighting and scenic effects all assist in making this present vehicle the most enjoyable entertainment to grace the Grand footlights this season. To those who have yet to see the "Dumbells," we say go, by all means and spend the most profitable evening of your theatre-going experience.

F. STUART WHYTE WILL OFFER "SAN TOY" AT THE GRAND NEXT MONDAY.

That bewitching Chinese musical comedy, "San Toy," will be the attraction at the Grand for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next with a special Wednesday matinee. F. Stuart Whyte, whose annual pantomimes have delighted theatregoers for the past five years, has spared no expense to make the revival of the once famous London Gaiety success more lavish in its appointments and cast than the original production, which delighted playgoers throughout the continent some few years back. An ensemble of excellence, with the well-known and favorite comedienne, Zara Clinton, as the star, special scenic and lighting effects, with an augmented orchestra, should more than fulfil a most enjoyable engagement in London. The Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, have made the present tour of this excellent production possible and the show will travel across the continent from one ocean to the other, playing Trans-Canada circuit exclusively. Seats for all performances of San Toy are now available.

THE "KATZENJAMMER KIDS" COMING TO THE GRAND NEXT THURSDAY.

Those mischievous fellows, the "Katzenjammer Kids," Hans and Fritz, whose funny antics in the comic section of the Sunday newspapers have made millions laugh, have been made the central figures in a hilarious cartoon musical comedy, in which they are surrounded by all the other characters of the cartoons and a big chorus of beautiful girls.

There is singing, dancing and fun galore in the stage version of the "Katzenjammer Kids." When it is placed on view at the Grand Opera House, for matinee and night only, next Thursday, the theatre-going public are going to see what has been called the world's greatest fun show.

The musical comedy, made from the original "Katzenjammer Kids" cartoons, was constructed for entertainment only. The hilariously funny situations in which Hans and Fritz involve Ma Katzenjammer, Der Captain and the other characters, cause no end of merriment, and when the audience is not enjoying a good laugh they are listening to the tuneful numbers or watching a pretty dance.

Particular care has been taken with the staging and costuming of the "Katzenjammer Kids." The fashion-plate chorus is gowned in various fetching and stunning gowns, all of which match harmoniously with the beautiful stage pictures and novel electrical effects.

The original "Katzenjammer Kids" cartoon musical comedy is an entertainment for the kiddies and grown-ups. Its fun is clean and wholesome, and there are so many good things in the performance that it is bound to please everyone. It is produced under the direction of George M. Gatts.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM IN "THE PRINCE AND THE PAUPER."

Decidedly it is a wonderfully attractive galaxy of names responsible for the entertainment which comes to Grand Friday and Saturday, October 8 and 9, with special Saturday matinee, for the delectation of local playgoers. There are, among other notables, Mark Twain, Amelie Rives, William Faversham and Lee Shubert, and all have had important parts to play in the making of the stage version of "The Prince and the Pauper," which is the attraction. And for good measure, Mr. Faversham will star in the play, this being his first visit to Canada since his handsome revival of "Lord and Lady Algy" in May, 1919.

It is recorded of Mark Twain that in writing "The Prince and the Pauper" he was afforded "jubilant delight," and readers of the romance, almost without number, have shared that same exhilaration. Miss Rives, herself a novelist and playwright of distinction, and who made this dramatic version, is said to have caught the same infection in transferring to the terms of the theatre this half-real, half-fairy tale of the wandering prince and the royal pauper.

Outside of Mr. Faversham, who will enact Miles Hendon, the care-free adventurer, the interest of local playgoers is centered in the identity of the player assigned to the dual role of "The Prince and the Pauper." She is revealed as Ruth Findlay, an actress yet in her teens, who has had a meteoric ride to fame since her debut three seasons ago with William Gillette in "A Successful Calamity." Her second season was spent in the Broadway production of "A Very Good Young Man," and last year she was with John Drew in "The Cat-Bird." One magazine reviewer has proclaimed her the most promising young artiste on the American stage.

Rollo Peters, another recruit of youth, has been charged with the technical details of the production, which is described as spectacular and lavish to an extreme. Mr. Peters spent six weeks in England this past summer in research work that the costumery and settings might be historically accurate. The play will be presented in four acts and seven scenes.

Seat sale opens Tuesday next.

"EXPERIENCE" COMING.

"Experience," George V. Hobart's modern morality comedy drama will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 11, 12 and 13. This drama now in its seventh season, is one of the most successful of recent years, and in every city where it has been presented it has met with a tremendous success and has been indorsed by the clergy of all denominations.

"Experience" shows the adventures of Youth—the average young man of today—who leaves his boyhood home to go out into the great world and win success in the turbulent ways of life. He begins his journey with a pure heart, an innocent mind and a soul inspired with high and noble purpose. Soon he meets Temptation, the temptations that beset every young man when he leaves the protection and shelter of his paternal roof to take his place in the busy marts of trade and commerce. Youth succumbs to the allurements of Vice, until he finds himself on the very brink of crime and the lowest degradation, when he is recalled to a sense of better things by hearing the words of a hymn which brings back to his mind tender recollections of his dear mother and his boyhood home. Youth turns from his follies, retraces his steps and courageously begins life anew with Love, Hope and Ambition guiding his footsteps.

A noted critic has said: "It is almost impossible to describe the play: it must be seen to be appreciated." The characters are personifications of virtues and vices and are known accordingly. The story is really fascinating and it is told in a way that holds the audience in rapt attention from the opening of the first episode until the close of the tenth and last.

The scenery is the acme of stage settings and the producers have specially selected the cast which will appear in this city. Seats go one sale October 7 at 9 a.m.

AT THE ALLEN

JOHN BARRYMORE, ARTIST SUPREME, IN "DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE;" A MAGNIFICENT ACHIEVEMENT, AT ALLEN'S MONDAY.

John Barrymore's work in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," as it is shown at Allen's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is undoubtedly more than a photoplay: it is a screen event, and of such magnitude that you will not realize until after you have seen this masterwork of a master artist just how big it is, in an artistic way. Nothing like it has been seen before, and it is said by the critics that Barrymore has reached the pinnacle of his genius in this role.

The young London physician who becomes in two marvelously separated bodies, a clean-minded friend of man, and a misshapen beast of prey, will live always as a masterpiece of emotional acting—Barrymore's greatest screen portrayal. His work is soul swaying, holding you in the thrall of complete interest, through every scene of this great drama. And through the blood-tingling story runs the tender romance of the doctor and his beautiful fragile flower of a sweetheart.

Miss Martha Mansfield, Ziegfeld Follies' beauty, is seen as Millicent, the sweetheart; Nita Naldi as Therese of the slums, and a cast worthy of supporting Barrymore has been chosen for the other different roles.

A host of added attractions which include the always-interesting Allen News, Chester Outing Pictures, Christie comedy, and Will Rogers' Illiterate Digest. The overture will be a selection

TOM MOORE'S LATEST—"OFFICER 666"—AT ALLEN'S THURSDAY.

The great comedy artist, a famous comedy stage success, a perfect combination of star, director and story, and you have Tom Moore in his latest romantic comedy achievement. "Officer 666," which is to be shown at the Allen next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

You have most likely seen the play, or if not, you have read about it, how for year after year it held the boards, and caused the theatregoers from Montreal to San Francisco to rock with laughter at its sidesplitting situations. Of all policemen, the Irishmen make the best, of all stars, none are more well suited to play the part of this exceptional member of the New York police force than our favorite Tom Moore. You have seen him in "Lord and Lady Algy," and thought him splendid—you have seen him in "Stop Thief," and considered that to be the perfection of legitimate comedy, but just wait until you see that famous smile start the fireworks in "Officer 666," just wait.

ALLEN TO PRESENT COLORED MUSIC OVERTURE—NEWEST INNOVATION IN MUSICAL NOVELTIES.

The great throbbing theme of the overture from William Tell pealing out from the string brasses and different instruments of a great orchestra; the quiet evening, the gathering storm clouds, the bursting of the pent-up wrath of the heavens; the quieting down as the thunder and lightning by, away, the far-reaching call of the bugle. You know if you have ever heard William Tell, but can you imagine this all pictured in the newest of musical novelties, colored music. No, we won't tell you what it is, except that it's absolutely the newest wrinkle in musical entertainments, and that you will see it and hear it at the Allen next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

LONDON KEEPS UP WITH NEW YORK IN ONE RESPECT.

There's no need to be afraid of our small town in one respect. There's no New Yorker can come here and say that he has seen pictures in the great city that we do not see in London, and it's a fact. The Capitol, the Rialto, the Rivoli, the greatest picture theatres in the world, will advertise quite likely on the same days as the Allen, London, John Barrymore in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," or Marshall Neilan's "Go and Get It." This means something to us citizens, too. Just glance along the list of coming Allen attractions, and watch how that theatre keeps up to the minute in showing the best and most-talked-of film attractions, nearly as soon as they appear in New York. There's Constance Talmadge in "Good References," and as we said before Marshall Neilan's "Go and Get It," and "Desert Gold," Zane Grey's famous novel, followed by "The Penalty by Gouverneur Morris," and "Madame X," a de Luxe screen production of the famous stage drama. The greatest stars and the best pictures all come to the Allen, that's why you feel so safe, when you want to go to the movies, to always say "Let's Go to Allen's."

Connie—you all know her! Miss Talmadge's latest, "Good References," is scheduled at the Allen week from Monday.

R. Barrett-Lennard as Lieut. Tucker, and Fred Walton as Li, in Stuart Whyte's "San Toy," at the Grand next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with a popular Wednesday matinee.

Clare Hamilton, one of the bathing girl beauties with the cartoon musical comedy, "The Katzenjammer Kids," at the Grand, Thursday next, matinee and evening.

That delightful and charming personality, "Marjorie" (Ross Hamilton), with "Biff! Bing! Bang!" at the Grand twice today, at 2:15 and 8:15.

AT LOEW'S

WILLIAM S. HART, IN RUGGED WESTERN DRAMA, "SAND," AT LOEW'S TODAY.

The Beautiful and Delightful Mary Thurman Has Appealing Role in Support of Hart.

In these days of extravagant titles for photoplays, it is pleasing to record that the William S. Hart picture, which features the bill at Loew's today, bears the expressive name of "Sand." It presents the popular delineator of western types in a characteristic role, and is thoroughly entertaining. "Sand" has a double meaning and refers to the locale of the picture—the broad expanses of the southwestern "bad land" and to that desirable ingredient in a man's make-up that helps him over difficulties and enables him to dare much. Bill Hart is that kind of hero. There are cowboys in "Sand," there's the local "bad egg," and the fight-breeding saloons. But it is all true-to-lifeness of your own home town, and the folks next door. Sand also marks the debut as leading lady of Mary Thurman, at one time a comedienne with Mack Sennett, and a mighty pretty one, at that. Miss Thurman displays distinctive dramatic talents and gives most excellent support to Hart.

A funny Hank Mann fun frolic with the inimitable Hank himself, Loew's Screen Pictorial of current events, among them being recent views of the late Wall street bomb tragedy in New York. A classy bill of Loew's supreme vaudeville concludes a most pleasing menu of amusement for today.

"THE MISFIT WIFE," STARRING ALICE LAKE, COMES TO LOEW'S MONDAY, NEXT.

Monday next brings to Loew's one of the most charming personalities on the screen in the person of Alice Lake, who will be seen in the Metro classic, "The Misfit Wife." Miss Lake has another winsome role in Katie Malloy, the heroine of the piece. Katie is a "regular girl," and proves it in more ways than one. Katie feels that she is cut out to be a manicurist, so when she is fired from a laundry, packs her grip with a manicurist outfit and sets out for Paris to carve—or we might say, file—her future. Of course, it's Paris, Wyoming, not France. Katie sets up shop in the rude, rugged western town, and soon has the town at her feet. She meets young Peter Crandall, son of a New York financier, who has been shipped to the west to keep him away from the gay white lights. Peter is trying hard to sustain his metropolitan reputation in Paris when Katie takes a hand at reforming him. She succeeds and Peter marries her, and what happens when Mrs. Peter Crandall is introduced to the high social set and the wealthy parents of Peter makes for a most interesting finale to a most absorbing modern drama.

A new brand of comedies makes its appearance at London amusement centre for the first three days of the week with that irresistible funmaker and comedienne, Alice Howell, in the cut-up role. Loew's Screen Pictorial and Loew's supreme vaudeville complete a classy program for the first half of the week.

WALLACE REID AT LOEW'S NEXT THURSDAY.

You don't usually find much comedy in a sick room. But then it isn't often you have an invalid who keeps a saxophone secluded under his bed and whiles away odd moments by playing that instrument. That's the kind of a "sick man" Wallace Reid is in "Sick Abed," his new picture, which will grace the screen at Loew's Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Wallie has the role of a young man who is shamming sickness in order not to appear in court as a witness against a friend in a divorce suit. And while dodging the doctors who suspect his indisposition to be "phoney," he encounters a very pretty nurse, with whom he falls in love. "Sick Abed" was adapted from the stage farce of the same name. Winsome Bebe Daniels is the nurse.

A Carter De Haven Comic, Loew's Screen Pictorial with Loew's supreme vaudeville completes the bill for the last three days of next week.

AT THE PATRICIA

AT THE PATRICIA MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY—ARTISTIC DIRECTION IN TROPICAL FILM.

Much of the success of "The Adorable Savage," the romance of the South Sea Isles in which Universal is starring Edith Roberts, and which is attracting so much favorable attention as well as patronage at the theatre, is due to Norman Dawn, the director who produced the picture.

Norman Dawn is one of the most unique figures in filmdom—the man usually selected when there is something unusual to be filmed.

Born in the Argentine, a kodak in his hand ever since he can remember, and a globe trotter from early childhood, he has observed and photographed the manners and customs of the four corners of the globe. Dawn knows the islands of the South Pacific almost as well as he knows the two Broadways—New York and Los Angeles. He spent several years among them, securing material for travelogues. That is why, when Universal bought Ralph Stock's story, with its scenes laid in the Fiji Islands, the task of reproducing the romance on celluloid was intrusted to Dawn.

Whenever an unusual film is to be produced, Norman Dawn is called into conference. Some years ago, when traveling through Italy, he was called upon to film "Cabria," the first super-production of the screen. Last summer, when Universal made a screen version of "Lasca," the famous poem of the Mexican border, Norman Dawn was commissioned to direct it, because he was thoroughly familiar with that re public. His thorough knowledge of Japan was the reason for his selection as director of "A Tokio Siren."

In "The Adorable Savage" he has utilized his knowledge of the South Pacific people, their mode of living, their superstitions and their religion, as contrasted with the habits and customs of the white settlers in the tropic isles.

WALLACE REID and BEBE DANIELS in a scene from "SICK ABED"

You'll get a chance to see this smile again, when Tom Moore comes to the Allen Thursday, Friday and Saturday in his newest "Officer 666."

MM. ALDA, PREMIER SOPRANO OF THE METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE, COMING TO LONDON.

Gifted Soprano Will Open Series of Four Great Concerts Here by the London Musical Art Society.

Among the prima donna sopranos regarded as pre-eminent none has attained a greater popularity than Mme. Frances Alda, one of the leading principals of New York's Metropolitan Opera Company, who will be heard at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday evening, October 20, in the first of a series of four great concerts to be given by the London Musical Art Society.

Her American debut, which took place only a few seasons ago, was a triumph of the first order. And ever since the gifted artist has more than maintained the position she instantly created for herself on a stage where the most distinguished artists of the world have been singing for years. Although still a very young woman, Mme. Alda's accomplishments have been notable for qualities of maturity which come to the few at such a time.

Those who know the educational advantages which came to this soprano in her youth can understand why she has risen with such comparative swiftness to a place alongside the foremost artists of the day, for she is a student in the best sense of that term. Endowed with every attribute required by a lyric artist of distinction, Mme. Alda has made the most of these gifts in a manner befitting one of her rare intelligence and industry.

An operatic star at the moment, she made her first appearance before the critical Metropolitan Opera House patrons, this admirable artist has since grown in her abilities to satisfy all who require only the best. Painstaking to the uttermost detail, Mme. Alda's latest triumph in creating the leading feminine role of Roxane in the Damrosch-Henderson opera, "Cyrano," gained for her a recognition scarcely equaled by any other soprano within the history of the Metropolitan Institution.

All New York enthused over Mme. Alda's Roxane. Experts who are chary in their praise declared her vocal and histrionic interpretation of this character was one of the most finished demonstrations of artistry revealed during the past decade. That portion of the public which is musical without the possession of profound knowledge of the art extended greetings to Mme. Alda at the conclusion of her every appearance, such as are bestowed alone upon the great.

Course tickets are now being offered and all reservations must be made through Miss Doris Werner at the London Institute of Musical Art. Phone No. 2. Mail orders now being filled.

JEREMIAH COUSBY, PIONEER MERCHANT, OWEN SOUND, DIES

Was Winner of Popularity Contest—Saw Sydenham Village Grow Into City.

Owen Sound, Sept. 30.—In the death of Jeremiah Cousby today in his 82nd year, Owen Sound lost one of her oldest pioneers and merchants. Mr. Cousby came to Owen Sound 71 years ago and conducted a confectionery store for 52 years of that time. A contest was held in May, 1907, to select the most popular merchant of the town and Mr. Cousby was the winner by a large plurality over his nearest competitor. The prize was a silk plug hat. His methods of business were always the best and his genial smile gave him great popularity. Mr. Cousby had seen Owen Sound grow from the time when there were only a few houses, first to the village of Sydenham, then into the town of Owen Sound, and last June into the city of Owen Sound. His reminiscences of olden times were always interesting. The funeral will take place Saturday to Greenwood Cemetery.

HIGH BOTTLE COSTS BOOSTS MILK PRICES, SAYS SARNIA FIRM

SARNIA, Oct. 1.—As a result of an increase in the price of bottles and bottle caps, as well as due to the fact that producers are receiving winter prices, effective today, the Sarnia Creamery Company has announced a new scale of prices, as follows: Milk, per quart, 15 cents; per pint, 8 cents; buttermilk, per quart, 8 cents; table cream, per quarter pint, 8 cents; table cream, per half pint, 15 cents; table cream, per pint, 30 cents; whipping cream, per half pint, 24 cents; whipping cream, per pint, 45 cents.

Date of Payment Unfixed.

The date of payment of the civil gratuity to returned officers and men of this city eligible under the bylaw is still in the offing, as it was stated in municipal circles that the option granted Brent Knox & Co., Toronto, for purchase of a quantity of city or Sarnia debentures, including the gratuity issues, had been cancelled after an extension had been granted.

FRANCE'S BLUEBEARD IS PROUD OF FAMILY NAME

Scores Others Who Change It Because of His Crimes.

Paris, Sept. 30.—The alleged "Bluebeard" of France has made the name of Landru unpopular, and no less than four French families bearing this name, but in no way related to the Landru who is in prison here charged with murdering a dozen or so of his fiancees, have applied to the authorities for permission to change their names.

Landru was arrested several months ago on the charge of having killed women he had promised to marry, the theory of the police being that he promised to marry them in order to obtain their money.

That Landru is not averse to his name, however, was shown when he was told of the action of the other Landrus in wanting other names.

"What contemptible people," he declared, "who thus avow themselves to be ashamed of a good honest name!"

WABASH CHURCH NEWS.

Wabash, Sept. 30.—The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. John Liberty Wednesday afternoon.

On Sunday anniversary services will be conducted in the Wabash Methodist Church morning and evening by Rev. Percy Baines of Louisville.

Rev. F. Craik will conduct anniversary services at Kent Bridge on Sunday.

FRICK'S LIFE INSURANCE.

New York, Sept. 30.—The largest life insurance payment made by United States companies in 1919 was $400,000 on the late Henry Clay Frick. Fourth in the list of insurance payments, according to figures which have been compiled by the Insurance Press, is $334,000 on John Lenox, Hamilton, Ont.

MAYOR PROTESTS AGAINST CHANGES IN SPECIFICATIONS

St. Thomas Committeemen Altered "Vitrified Brick" To "Asphalt."

WANT DISPENSARY PLAN

St. Thomas Magistrates in Favor of New Liquor Sales System.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 1.—Mayor Brinkman protested tonight against a change in a specification of any contract being made by any member of the board of works without first consulting the members of the committee. The mayor was moved to interfere by the change made in the parts of the roadway between the tracks on Talbot street from vitrified blocks to asphalt by the direction of a member of the board and forgetting to give notice to the members of the committee.

The engineer explained there was a saving in the substitute material, but the mayor was not satisfied, whether there was a saving or not, that a liability should be undertaken by any one member independent of the members of the board.

Notwithstanding objections raised by the property-owners on Ann street to other connections being made with the sewer on that street by the owners of households on William street, permission was given by the board to a property-owner to connect with a private sewer on William street which now empties into Ann street sewer.

It was explained by the city engineer that the work on the sanitary sewer ordered to be put down on William street to Wellington would be commenced this fall.

Permit To Build Area.

Porter & Nelson were given permission to construct an area on Talbot street to allow them to get their supply of coal into the cellar. Mr. Porter explained that the parties owning the right-of-way in the rear of his premises asked $800 for the privilege of reaching Hiawatha street, but it was more than he was willing to pay.

Wants Sewer Connection.

Mr. Woodworth, 70 Moore street, asked that he be given sewer connection on Moore street. His request was given the chairman and engineer to investigate.

Ex-Ald. G. Ponsford ogered to give "a life-long lease" to the city of the end of his land on Wawa street for storm sewer purposes if the corporation would take care of that portion of his property. The committee accepted the gift.

A New Shoe Company.

The Just-Wright shoe plant has been taken over by a company made up of former members of the retiring company. The new company will be controlled by E. E. Donovan, former manager; E. N. Wright and J. A. Sullivan. The change in the personnel of the company has been under consideration for some months, and negotiations to that end between the promoters of the new company and the old were brought to a head a couple of weeks ago, when, at a conference with the council, the president of the American company arranged that there would be no break in the operations of the industry and that on the retirement of the old company the new would assume all liabilities and carry out all contracts entered into by the American house.

The plant will start operation again in a couple of weeks with the normal number of employees.

Favor Dispensary.

Both Police Magistrate Maxwell and County Magistrate Hunt favor a Government dispensary for the sale of liquor, and neither appear to be in love with the Ontario temperance act. The local police court heads would have licenses issued to deserving applicants and an account kept of their transactions with the official vendor. The Government-controlled establishment would, they say, eliminate the outstanding evils of the temperance measure, and would get rid of pocks of perjury and some very bad bootlegging booze. Magistrate Hunt opines that the jump from the present semi-wet enactment to a bone-dry issue would be too severe a spring on the people at one bound. The squire would give the folks who have less than a half inclination to be moist, a chance to breathe before a day of reckoning is upon them.

Auto Glaring Lights Again.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth of Straffordville were badly but not seriously hurt in a collision near Yarmouth Centre a night ago, when their auto hit a truck due to the glaring lights of the latter. Both machines were damaged. The other occupants of the car, Mr. and Mrs. George Adlington, escaped injury.

Humane Society's Sale.

An Efficient Officer Retires.

Constable W. J. Small, an efficient officer, left the service of the city today, and will go back to civilian employment. Long hours and inadequate pay brought about Mr. Small's resignation. The retiring officer is a veteran of the late war and he holds some valued military recommendations. The commissioners will hold a meeting presently to appoint a successor.

Population Increased by 49.

The population of the old town was better off at the end of the month by 49 little new comers, which is a record in the line of baby arrivals. During September that number was registered in the city clerk's office, with thirteen deaths and 23 marriages. Cupid, too, has been working after hours, as the month also is top-notched in nuptial demonstrations. A year ago there were 35 births, fifteen marriages and sixteen deaths.

The executive committee elected were: Comrades Waller, Little, Perfect, Hussey, Karns, Eseltine, Newton, Kew, Bowers, Thompson.

Further Kite Flying.

Further kite flying of Charles McDonald was again very much in evidence today, both by people fooled on the genuineness of checks negotiated by McDonald and those whom the young man endeavored to accept his paper. Some of his victims visited the jail today to identify McDonald, and when accused of the offence he offered no excuse, nor did he appear to be disquieted by the charges of his visitors.

RUPTURE KILLS 7,000 ANNUALLY

Seven thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificate being marked "Rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the sign (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance, or whatever name you choose to call it? At best, the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mere mechanical support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

But science has found a way, and every truss sufferer in the land is invited to make a FREE test right in the privacy of their own home. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD when adhering closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place, therefore, cannot chafe or pinch. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—inexpensive. To be used whilst you work and whilst you sleep. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name today to PLAPAO CO., Block 413, St. Louis, Mo., for FREE trial Plapao and the information necessary.

THOUGHT HE WAS SUPERIOR TO THE DEPT. REGULATIONS

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Former Provincial Minister of Mines and Forests, On the Offensive — Takes Issue With Royal Commission Conducting Timber Probe—Made Grants of Concessions Without Competition Required by Regulations of Department.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—(Canadian Press)—Instead of being on the defensive during his second day on the witness stand in the timber inquiry before JJ. Riddell and Latchford, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, minister of lands, forests and mines in the late Hearst Government, today assumed the offensive, not only against R. T. Harding, the crown counsel, whom he had assailed yesterday, but also against the two justices who are conducting the inquiry.

Mr. Ferguson charged Mr. Harding with being an instrument of H. H. Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., Liberal leader in Ontario, who, he said, had plotted to "get Ferguson." The ex-minister declared: "He is going to fail to get Ferguson, because Ferguson has done nothing that won't stand the light of day."

Asserts Pre-Judgment.

Ferguson intimated that comments made by the commissioners during the timber inquiry indicated pre-judgment on their part, and he said what had been intended for an inquiry was being turned into a prosecution. He demanded that the probe be extended back to the time the Liberals were in power. He said this would lead to interesting revelations.

"If this matter were being laid before a jury," Mr. Ferguson said, addressing the commissioners, "I would certainly feel that I should challenge your lordships' qualification as jurors. The work of your commission has limited itself to a period that is entirely within the life of the administration of the Conservative Government. Both your lordships have had long service in public life—"

Once a Politician.

Mr. Justice Riddell, interrupting.—"I was a little bit of a politician once, some years ago. That is all."

Mr. Ferguson (to Justice Riddell)—And it is only a little over a year ago that your lordship was paid the compliment by my good friends of the Liberal party of the province of Ontario, of suggesting that your lordship would be much more suitable to lead the cohorts of the Liberal party in Canada than the present incumbent of that position, Hon. Mackenzie King."

Mr. Justice Riddell—That is the first time I have heard that. Please do not misunderstand me. I am confining my remarks to the words you have used."

Justice Latchford's Turn.

Thereupon, Mr. Ferguson paid his compliments to Mr. Justice Latchford, by remarking to that gentleman that he had been a member of a government, though not a minister therein, when the system with reference to timber limits was of a similar character to that now being probed, and Mr. Ferguson said he regretted Mr. Justice Latchford's connection with the timber inquiry as a want of ethics.

Mr. Justice Riddell—You are trying to ask us to disqualify ourselves. You are not arguing anything. Do you want us to resign now?

The "unpleasantness" between Hon. Mr. Ferguson and the commissioners continued for some time, and was concluded by Mr. Justice Riddell assuring Mr. Ferguson that, so far as he could see, the commission had done nothing improper in accepting the positions.

"There has been no pre-judgment," his lordship added.

Makes Attack on Harding.

Mr. Ferguson turned his guns on Crown Counsel Harding several times during the day. He recalled Mr. Harding's examination of Colonel Little in connection with the probe, and his having asked Colonel Little if the colonel had not paid one or two or three thousand dollar bills to the minister, or had left a parcel with him. "I want to say," declared Mr. Ferguson, "that no man ever paid me a dollar, promised me a dollar, or discussed such a thing with me."

The former minister denounced Mr. Harding's attempt to make capital out of the fact that "one little file of two or three letters out of a million that had been received in the department" could not be found. He said he knew the Oliver letter was in the department. "If I had access to the department," he said, "I would bring it down. But I'll bring it, don't you worry."

Ferguson Accuses.

With reference to his demand for an investigation of his former department going back to the Liberal regime, Mr. Ferguson said there was an instance in which a grant of 81 miles of timber area was made because four or five miles of timber had been burned. The man who got this grant, Mr. Ferguson said, sold the balance of the timber for well up to half a million dollars.

"Name?" demanded Mr. Justice Latchford.

"Alexander Barnett of Renfrew," answered Mr. Ferguson. "He appeared on your platform, Justice Latchford."

Mr. Justice Latchford—He never appeared on my platform, and he never supported me.

The next sittings of the commission will be at Port Arthur.

Ignored Regulations.

The former minister practically claimed that when in office he was superior to the department regulations and he took issue with the commissioners, JJ. Riddell and Latchford, on the matter. He had made grants for concessions in the northland without calling for public competition for them, as the law said he should have done, because, in dealing with each case individually he had acted as his judgment had dictated in the best interests of the province, he said.

Thought He Had a Right.

Questioned by R. T. Harding, crown counsel, as to what right he had, as a minister of the crown, to deal with matters other than according to the statute, Mr. Ferguson replied:

"My conclusion was that I had the right to administer the department."

"Where did you get the right?" Mr. Justice Riddell asked.

Mr. Ferguson said that, as the responsible head, he thought he had the right to do the things which his judgment dictated he should do.

Later, when the question of the regulations came up again, Mr. Ferguson said he had been guided by his interest in the province.

Mr. Justice Riddell remarked:

"You cannot do a thing for the province illegally."

Not Admitting Wrong.

Mr. Ferguson said he was not admitting that the department had done wrong. In the interests of the province a technicality would not stop him, he added.

Mr. Justice Latchford—A regulation passed under the crown lands act has the same effect as the statute itself.

Mr. Justice Riddell—I never heard of a department officer of the crown being above the law before.

Subsequently, when the question of disposing of permits without competition came up again, Mr. Justice Riddell interrogatively said: "You did as you pleased?"

"No, not as I pleased," replied Mr. Ferguson. "That remark is entirely unwarranted, my lord. I did what I did in the interest of the province, and I am quite content to leave the record with the public and the people of the north country."

Will Have a Chance.

Mr. Ferguson objected to insinuations made in questions asked by Mr. Harding.

"We're men of affairs!" explained Mr. Justice Riddell. "We understand. You'll have a chance to get at him in the courts after we are done."

"I hope I'll have a chance at the whole lot of you," was Mr. Ferguson's come-back.

Mr. Ferguson also strongly protested against the way the investigation was being conducted and the insinuations and comments that were being made which, unsupported in the press, seemed to incriminate him. He said he referred particularly to some remarks of Justice Latchford in the past evidence. He quoted the judge's exact words, "It seems to me to talk about an experiment in brush-burning is a mere pretext."

"That's decidedly unfair," said Mr. Ferguson.

Justice Latchford—We'll see about that later.

Objected to Comments.

Mr. Ferguson demanded that he be allowed to give his story without interruptions and comments from Mr. Harding, who could cross-examine him when he was done.

Justice Riddell—You must allow us to conduct this investigation as the appointed officers of the crown see fit. It must go on as Mr. Harding has planned. You will be given every chance to submit all your evidence.

Mr. Ferguson—For I know what the result will be if all the evidence is brought out.

This passage was occasioned by the resumption of examination of Mr. Ferguson regarding letters missing from his file. Regarding one letter not being there Mr. Ferguson said he was at a loss to tell what had become of it. The girl had apparently misplaced it.

"I have apparently been charged with the abstraction of letters and I can't understand all this furore unless it is the intention to make a direct personal attack on me," he said hotly.

SARNIA MAN SHOT BY HOLDUP MEN; CONDITION SERIOUS

Desperado Pulled Trigger Before Victim Had Time To Yield Money.

SARNIA, Oct. 1.—While Hanat Chapin, aged 48, is lying in a critical condition in Sarnia General Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in his stomach, the local police and provincial detectives are scouring Sarnia's "Little Russia" in the hope of finding the hold-up men who attempted to kill him.

Chapin, an employee of the Northern Navigation Company, started out in the evening from his boarding place at Point Edward and went southward to see some friends about going to Windsor to work during the winter months. He started back for Point Edward after completing his errand, and while walking along a dark street he was ordered at the point of a gun to throw up his hands and "kick in" with his money.

While he was stating that he only had a few cents with him, one of the pair of gunmen pulled the trigger, and with a bullet in his stomach, Chapin crumpled up unconscious on the sidewalk, when the gunmen made a getaway. Chapin was discovered a little later, the police were summoned and medical aid called. At Sarnia General Hospital it was stated today that unless complications set in he will recover.

TWO CHATHAM MILK DEALERS FINED FOR LOW BUTTERFAT

CHATHAM, Oct. 1.—Robert Glover and W. G. Lister, two local milk dealers, were each fined $1 and costs, $11 in all, for selling milk which was under the requirements of butter fat as laid down in the city milk bylaw. Dr. T. L. McRitchie, medical officer of health, laid the informations.

John Wade and Glen Marshall, who were charged with abducting a girl from the fair grounds on one of the days of the Chatham Fair, were acquitted of the charge in the city police court by Magistrate S. B. Arnold this morning.

Scholarships Offered.

Announcement was made at the regular meeting of the industrial committee of the board of education last evening that eleven scholarships of $25 each have been given by a number of local factories.

The customs returns for Chatham and outlying points in the county for the month of September amounted to $947,351.81.

The city of Chatham paving plant has turned out 30,000 square yards of pavement this year. Operations were not commenced until late in the summer season. On the completion of the year's work the plant will be overhauled and put into condition for the heavy work of next year.

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN ACTION BETWEEN C. P. R. AND WINDSOR

WINDSOR, Oct. 1.—Judgment was reserved this afternoon by Assistant Chief Commissioner G. J. McLean and Commissioner A. S. Goodeve, board of railway commissioners, in the application of the city against the proposal of the Canadian Pacific Railway to erect a freight terminal on Caron avenue. City authorities objected to the project on the ground that it would result in depreciation of residential property in the vicinity of the proposed yards, and would also commit the city to large expenditures for construction of bridges to prevent segregation of sections beyond the new line.

The railway's claim is based upon the facts that increased facilities are an absolute necessity for adequate service, that the site on Caron avenue is the only logical one, and with yards in that section delivery of 175 cars daily would be possible, thus insuring sufficient service during coming years.

F. D. Davis, city solicitor, appeared for Windsor, while the railways were represented by Angus McMurchy, Toronto, and C. E. Fleming, Windsor.

The commission's engineer has been ordered to survey the situation and to submit his report to the commissioners, following which judgment will be given.

NOTED JOURNALISTS BEGAN CAREERS IN WOODSTOCK OFFICE

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 1.—Fifty years ago today, October 1, 1870, G. R. Pattullo, one of this city's most prominent citizens, came here and founded the "sentinel" newspaper, which later on amalgamated with the Review, and is now known as the Sentinel-Review. Shortly after founding the paper he admitted his brother Andrew into partnership, and for a period of 37 years the paper was controlled by the family. About seventeen years ago the paper passed into the hands of the present managing director, W. J. Taylor.

Today Mr. Pattullo reviewed in an interesting manner the many events that had occurred both in the newspaper office and public life of the city in the long time he had been a resident. Included in the list of prominent journalists who began their careers in the "Sentinel" office, he mentions: John A. MacKay, late of the Windsor Record; J. F. MacKay of the Globe; Sir John Willison, Andrew Pattullo, John Markey, present editor of the Sentinel-Review, J. G. Elliott, George Pattullo, Jun., and many others who afterwards became well known in both American and Canadian journalism. Mr. Pattullo is still hale and hearty.

Sarnia's Vital Statistics.

While births and marriages kept pace with the record for the month of August, deaths were heavier during the month ending yesterday than during the preceding month, according to the vital statistics record issued today. Twenty-six marriages were recorded last month, one less than in August, and twenty-four is marked opposite the birth records. September's death record was twelve, five more than in August.

They end corns
now in this scientific way

People who know—millions of them—now end all corns in this way.

They apply Blue-jay, either in liquid or in plaster form. It means but a touch and takes but a jiffy.

The corn pain stops. Then the Blue-jay gently undermines the corn so it loosens and comes out.

The modern way

Blue-jay was invented by a chemist who studied corns.

It is made by a laboratory of world-wide repute.

Old-time treatments were harsh and inefficient. Blue-jay is gentle, quick and sure.

Now all corns are needless. All these pains can be avoided. To let corns remain while you pare and pad them is folly.

You can stop a corn ache the moment it appears. You can end a corn completely before it can develop.

Blue-jay has proved these facts to millions. It will prove them to you—and tonight—if you let it.

Quit the old methods of dealing with corns and see what this new way means. Your druggist sells Blue-jay.

Heavy Work a Real Test

NO men give overalls harder usage than those engaged in the work of loading and unloading. Their work clothes are scraped and rubbed and strained during the whole day. They find ordinary garments last no time, but wear for long periods without showing holes in front or legs or seat, where the heavy friction comes. The buttons can't be worn off, the seams are wire-strong and the points of hard usage are double and triple reinforced.

FACTS FOR FARMERS

WINTER CALF REARING.
Experimental Farms Note.

To many winter seems an off season in which to raise calves, but nevertheless it is a fact that most successful calf-raisers find it to be the best season. In the first place, the farmer has more time to give the proper attention to the details so important in calf-feeding; secondly, there is usually a greater supply of skim-milk owing to the smaller number of pigs raised in the winter than in summer; lastly, the calf has got the summer heat and flies to contend with, and is just at a nice age to turn to pasture the following spring.

When the calf is dropped it should be allowed to remain with its dam until she has licked it clean and dry, or else be removed to a separate stall and rubbed dry with wisps of straw or a piece of bagging. If at all possible, the winter-raised calf should have the brightest, driest and sunniest place in the stable for its winter quarters, and they should be kept clean at all times for comfortable quarters mean almost as much as good feeding. The calf should receive within twelve hours a feed of the colostrum or first milk from its dam. It is important that the calf gets a feed of this milk, as it has a beneficial effect on the bowels, and insures the calf getting the proper start. For the first few days the cow should be milked and the calf fed three times daily, the milk being fed while still at blood heat. Eight to ten pounds per day should be sufficient for the average calf. Feed the calf whole milk for the first two to four weeks, depending on its strength, a weak or puny calf being carried on whole milk for the longest period. Gradually change from whole milk to skim-milk, making the period in which the change is made extend over about ten days, as abrupt changes are apt to bring on digestive troubles. At this time the calf should be consuming about twelve pounds of skim-milk daily in two feeds. As the change is made from whole to skim milk the fat removed from the milk should be replaced by adding a tablespoonful of finely-ground scalded flaxseed jelly. The proportion of the flaxseed jelly and skim-milk can be increased gradually, and at about three months of age add to the flaxseed jelly other constituents to make a calf meal composed of ground flax one part, fine ground oats two parts, and ground corn two parts, this mixture to be fed in the milk, similarly to the flaxseed jelly, at the rate of one-eighth pound per day at the start, gradually increasing to one pound per day at four to five months. At this time the skim-milk ration may be cut off, and the dry grain ration mentioned below increased proportionattly.

Food for Calves.—It is well to start the calf eating a little dry and bulky food as early as possible. With this end in view, a small quantity of fine clover hay and whole oats should be kept before the calf after it is a month old. As the calf grows older the whole oats may be replaced by a mixture of bran, rolled oats and ground corn. This mixture should be fed at noon at the rate of one-eighth pound per day at the start up to one and a half pounds per day at time of reducing skim-milk and calf meal mixture, at which time the dry grain mixture may well be increased to three pounds per day and be fed in two feeds, morning and evening. Roots are also a valuable feed for growing calves, and may be introduced into the ration in small quantities when the calves are from two to three months of age. Silage should not be fed to very young calves, and as it usually gets strong towards the latter part of the winter only very small quantities should be fed, if used at all. Feed salt in limited quantities regularly. Provide fresh water, but do not let the calves gorge themselves with it.

Strict attention should be paid to the cleanliness of the utensils and mangers in which the calves are fed, as well as to the box stalls in which they are quartered. The latter should be cleaned out at least once a week, and preferably oftener.

The above ration may seem heavy and the feeding of it a matter of some detail, but it is attention to these points that insures well-grown calves capable of developing into profitable, mature animals.

COMPARATIVE VALUE OF NITRATE OF SODA AND SULPHATE OF AMMONIA.
Experimental Farms Note.

Importance of Nitrogen.—Nitrogen is one of the three main elements absolutely required for the production of good crops and its importance is everywhere acknowledged. Usually it exists in soils in connection with humus or vegetable matter, and, through excessive cultivation in grain or in timothy, also by surface washing, its loss has been going on for a long time in the older-settled parts of Eastern Canada. This is why at many places it is the limiting factor to profitable farming.

Forms of Nitrogen.—Nitrogen-bearing fertilizers are either organic, when they are derived from animal and vegetable by-products, such as tankage and cottonseed meal, or non-organic, when derived from salts such as nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia. It is easy for the man producing crops of a high commercial value, like fruits, vegetables or flowers, to use large quantities at a profit, but the question demands more careful consideration from the farmer who raises staple crops of a much lower value per acre.

Experiment at Cap Rouge.—In 1915 an experiment was started at the Cap Rouge Experimental Station to compare nitrate of soda with sulphate of ammonia on a three-year rotation of potatoes, oats and hay. There were six plots, and the respective quantities of seed were 900 pounds potatoes, 85 pounds oats, 12 pounds red clover, 8 pounds timothy, 2 pounds alsike, per acre.

Fertilizers Applied.—The six plots were of 1-40th of an acre each; three received nitrate of soda at the respective rates of 133, 100, 66 pounds per acre, whilst the three others received sulphate of ammonia at the respective rates of 100, 75, 50 pounds per acre, the quantity of nitrogen thus applied being equal in both cases. With each of the different forms of nitrogen there was an application of phosphorus and potassium at the respective rates of 28 and 60 pounds per acre, so that these two elements were possibly in sufficient quantity for optimum production.

Results of Experiment.—For the crop immediately following the application of fertilizers, which was potatoes in this case, the results are strongly in favor of nitrate of soda, as it gave a yield 38 per cent larger than the one obtained with sulphate of ammonia. The crops of the two following years, however, oats and hay, were about the same with each of the two fertilizers, which would tend to show that their residual effects were about similar.

Residual Effects.—It is interesting to note, in passing, that when the application of nitrogen, in either form, was decreased, the crops of potatoes and of hay also decreased, though the crop of oats did not seem to be influenced. The increase in the yield of hay leads to believe that there is a residual effect even for such a quickly available and easily leached away form of nitrogen as nitrate of soda.

SEED GRAIN DISTRIBUTION.
Experimental Farms Note.

The annual free distribution of samples of seed grain will be conducted as usual at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, by the Dominion cerealist.

The following kinds of seed grain will be sent out this season:

Spring wheat, in about five-pound samples; white oats, about four pounds; barley, about five pounds; field peas, about five pounds; field beans, about two pounds; flax, about two pounds.

Only one sample can be sent to each applicant.

Applications must be on printed forms, which may be obtained by writing to the Dominion Cerealist, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, at any time after September 1.

As the stock of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early to avoid disappointment. Those who applied too late last season are particularly requested to send in their names at once, so that application forms may be forwarded to them. No application forms will be furnished after February 1, 1921.

C. E. SAUNDERS, Dominion Cerealist.

STUDY THE HOG.

Hog-raisers would do well to study the case of the western farmer. Last winter, when the extreme shortage of feed and the fear of a controlled market cast a cloud over the industry, thousands in the three prairie provinces sold out, even to their breeding sows. Today hundreds of them are regretting this rash act. The new crop of coarse grains is turning out well, especially in the northern parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and the prospects of a drop in prices for these are apparent. But to many this will only add regret, for there is no stock to which to feed it. All over the country, writes a special correspondent of the Industrial and Development Council of Canadian Meat Packers who is touring the west on a special inquiry, one hears of quite high prices being offered for brood sows, but they are not available.

To some extent the late heavy slaughter may be an advantage, if one is to look for the silver lining to a cloud. American settlers who came into the west in numbers during the war years, brought with them a large number of the fat, lard-type hogs, especially the Duroc-Jersey and the Poland-China. To a certain extent these have met the domestic demand, but they are wholly unsuitable for the export bacon trade. One of the reasons why hog-raising got into disfavor in the west in the last eighteen months is due to these types. The American breeder, transplanted to a northern climate, has been endeavoring—with an American type grown to the south, where climatic conditions make corn-growing far easier, and corn-fed lard hogs are required by the market—to grow hogs for Canadian requirements. The result has been failure. It could not be expected to be otherwise. But the outcome has been a black eye to the whole of the Canadian hog industry, regardless of the fact that the type and method have both been impossible under our conditions.

With an abundant crop of coarse grain there now seems to be every likelihood of a return to hog-raising; not, perhaps, on a great scale for a season, but it is inevitable in the long run. If only this imported notion about an unsuitable breed for our essentially export bacon trade can be uprooted, the feed shortage out here may yet prove a blessing in disguise. The provincial governments, as well, of course, as the Dominion officials, are courageously preaching an extension of the Yorkshire and Berkshire breeds. Perhaps they could do nothing better in the west than a concentrated attack upon the lard type of hog, which is in every sense foreign to our Canadian trade needs.

BRITONS TO PAY OVER TWICE OLD FOOD PRICES

Eggs Are to Rise to Twenty-Five Cents Each in Coming Winter.

London, Sept. 30.—While the trend of prices of prime necessities in the United States appears to be downward, just the reverse is the case in England, according to members of the Consumers' Council. Dr. Marion Phillips, a member of the council, said that it now takes 26 shillings to buy food which before the war could be purchased for 10 shillings, and even then there was not equivalent quality.

Dr. Phillips said that this winter the price of fuel will be twice as much as it was, and that eggs would advance to 18 cents to 25 cents each. She said she expected an increase in the price of milk, since Government control has been withdrawn, and that butter and margarine also would be higher.

"Bread is going to be a luxury this winter," she said, "and unless potatoes are controlled they will go up in sympathy with bread."

ARGENTINA'S GIFT TO ROME

Celebrates 50th Anniversary of United Italy's Capital.

Rome, Sept. 30.—An imposing marble column, surmounted by a light, presented to Rome by Italians living in Argentina on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of Rome as the capital of United Italy, was unveiled Monday on the Janiculum near the Garibaldi Monument. Among those present were Senator Apolloni, mayor of Rome; Signor Luiggi, representing the Italians of Argentina; members of the Government, the secretaries of the Argentine Legation, Senators and Deputies, the Board of the Italo-Argentine Chamber of Commerce and members of the various Italo-Argentine associations.

The speeches emphasized the close link between the two countries.

BRITISH MOTORISTS DODGE SPEED TRAPS

Their Road Patrol Guards Warn Potential Culprits.

London, Sept. 30.—British motorists are chuckling, but saying nothing, over a decision by the Horsham court this week, when the road patrols of the Automobile Association were acquitted of the charge of placing obstructions in the way of police who were working a "speed trap."

The Automobile Association maintains a smart corps of patrols recruited from one-time service men. These road patrols are stationed throughout the country, and it is their duty to render every assistance possible to members of the association of motorists whose automobiles bear the association insignia. When members of the association pass them they stand at attention and salute.

The men taken before the Horsham court were on duty in the Brighton road, where the police were at work in a "trap" ten miles long, according to exact measurement. When the police appeared the patrols stood at attention all right, but the police charge they did not salute, which was the signal of the trap.

At any rate, the police did not catch a single victim, the speeders crawling through the trap.

As an example of the efficiency of the Automobile Association's road patrol it may be cited that these men meet every incoming steamship and are ready to assist Americans in "clearing" at the customs houses and to act as tourist guides. A representative of the association just left here for the United States to assist prospective tourists with information regarding the shipment of automobiles into England and other matters which English hotelkeepers believe diverted thousands of American tourists from England to the continent in the last summer. It is expected that these questions will be entirely solved before next summer and that many American motorists will come here then instead of going to the continent.

RAT POISON IN FLOUR.

New York, Sept. 30.—When it was discovered that the strange taste of the bread at Camp Dix the other day was due to an accidental seasoning of rat poison quick work by the medical officers saved the lives of forty members of the Motor Transport Corps. The poison had been accidentally upset in the flour from which the bread was baked.

SPANISH WRITERS TO AID YOUNG AUTHORS

Organize and Start Move For National Theatre.

Madrid, Sept. 30.—"The Society of Dramatic and Lyrical Writers" has been formed for the announced purpose of taking the first step "in the movement of young Spanish authors to break with conventional literature." Its members, who are numerous, have started a campaign for the institution of a Spanish national theatre and intend to publish a monthly review devoted to efforts to secure reduction of taxation on theatrical enterprises and the recognition of modern authors.

It is the intention also to demand the erection of a theatre where all plays passed by a joint committee of authors would have an opportunity of production. The society plans to unite with the Society of Argentinian Authors, and is taking steps to form a theatrical company for the purpose of giving plays in the provinces.

AN EXCELLENT MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent medicine for little ones. They are a mild but thorough laxative which sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels, thus bringing relief in cases of constipation, indigestion, colic, colds and simple fevers. Concerning them, Mrs. L. J. Chiasson, Paquetville, N. B., writes: I have found Baby's Own Tablets excellent for my young baby in the case of constipation and colic and it gives me great pleasure to recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

MATERIALS' LACK WORRIES BUILDER INTO KILLING SELF

O. S. Jordan, Windsor Contractor, Fires Rifle Bullet Into Temple.

DROWNED MAN HAD $1,300

$300 in Cash and Bank Book On Body Recovered From River.

WINDSOR, Oct. 1.—No inquest will be held into the death of Kuzina Kluknich, 30-year-old Russian, whose body was recovered from the Detroit River today near Sandwich by fishermen. On the body, which was taken out of the water near the Sunnyside Hotel Roadhouse, was found $300 in American currency, and a bankbook showing deposits of $1,000. Kulknich had been missed for two weeks. Coroner J. S. Labelle announced tonight that death being considered accidental, no inquest would be held.

Two tractors from the Ford Auto plant at Ford City were required today to rescue a team of horses and heavy wagon from the Detroit River, where they had fallen into water a depth of 25 feet.

Dragged Down Incline.

The horses were dragged down a steep incline by the momentum of the wagon, but managed to keep afloat until assistance was brought.

Despondent, it is believed, over his inability to procure building material, O. S. Jordan, a local contractor, committed suicide at his new home in the course of construction on the riverfront today. Death was caused by a bullet fired from a .22 calibre rifle into his temple. He was found immediately after the shot was fired by a carpenter in his employ in the office adjoining the house under construction.

Jordan had apparently been worrying over the shortage of building material and labor, men in his employ stated today. During the night, about 3 o'clock, he got up from his bed in a tent he was occupying, and sat out on the bank of the river smoking until daylight.

Four Windsorites were fined in the police court today on complaint of Inspector Winters of the Children's Aid Society.

for allowing their children out on the streets at night. Evidence showed the parents had sent their children out to sell papers.

The Inspector Explains.

Charged with accepting a bribe of $300 from a South Essex man arrested by several special license inspectors operating in the district, Inspector Hallam claims that he had been offered $75, and again $150, by Clayton Toyne of Leamington to allow the latter his freedom. Both these offers had been refused, the inspector declared, and the man was taken from his farm into Leamington. It was while the inspector was absent phoning Windsor that the driver of the auto in which the ogicers were riding had taken $300 from Toyne on a promise of not laying a charge against him. Inspector Hallam declared it was the intention of the driver, a man named Bumer, to turn over the money to the proper authorities and lay a charge of attempted bribery against Toyne, but this was prevented by the arrest of Bumer by County Constable Kennedy of Leamington.

Half a barrel of whiskey, a keg of rum, two bottles of gin and one bottle of brandy were seized when the arrest was made, on complaint of a neighbor woman, who claimed her husband had spent his entire bank account at the Toyne farm.

FINANCIAL, MARKET AND COMMERCIAL SECTION

TRADING IS MORE DIVERGENT DURING NEW YORK SESSION

Rails Improve — Industrials, Specialties At Lowest Prices in Many Months.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The only appreciable change in the stock market today from that of recent sessions was the more divergent character of the trading. Rails continued to improve, while numerous popular industrials and specialties were at lowest prices in many months.

Entrance into the final quarter of the year brought little comfort to the constructive side of the market. The monthly survey of the Federal Reserve Board, which stressed the caution prevalent in general business circles, seemed to confirm a feeling long existent in high financial quarters.

On the other hand, the rails, it was claimed, are enjoying a boom, partly because of belated recognition of their intrinsis worth, but more particularly because of the benefits they are expected to derive from the transportation of bumper crops.

Among the stocks most affected today were the several sugar issues, which broke 2 to 6½ points, South Porto Rico Sugar distinguishing itself by a sheer rescent of 15 points on a few transactions. Anamolous trade conditions, notably the disparity between the raw and refined products, accounted mainly for the slump.

The rise in rails was the most impressive of the current movement, most of the junior western and southwestern shares gaining 1 to 3 points, with a gain of 6⅜ points for Wisconsin Central. Investment transcontinentals and grangers rose 1 to 3 points, and coalers, notably Norfolk and Western, and Leigh Valley made similar gains. The entire list strengthened in the later dealings on reports of a probable avoidance of the British coal strike. The total sales of stocks amounted to 925,000 shares.

Foreign exchange rallied from its early depression, although the Argentine rate will be a new low record. An 8 per cent quotation respresented the high call money rate of the day.

The bonds, especially standard rails and industrials, made variable gains, with Liberty issues. The total sales of bonds par value, aggregated $16,750,000.

Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York Oct. 1—Wall Street 10:30 a.m.—Rails were again the dominant features at the opening of today's stock market, many of the high grade and junior shares advancing 1 to 2½ points. Northern Pacific led the rise with other so-called Hill and Harriman issues, also Canadian Pacific, Chicago Great Western preferred, Rock Island, Reading, Baltimore and Ohio, and Erie. Oils and shippings, notably Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums, and Mercantile Marine preferred, followed the lead of rails, and steels, equipments and motrs were moderately higher.

1:30 p.m.—Shorts availed themselves of unfavorable trade conditions to depress prices further today. American Sugar extended its top to almost 7 points, and many of the prominent steels and equipments fell to the lowest prices of the year on more extensive offerings.

GENERAL CONDITION OF STEADINESS ON CANADIAN 'CHANGES

Signs of Renewed Interest in General Industrial List—C. P. R. Strong.

TORONTO, Oct. 1.—Although trading was dull on the Canadian exchanges today there were some advances, and a general condition of steadiness, and it was thought signs were visible of a renewed interest in the general industrial list.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether this means a turning away from the long-boomed papers, or whether it would include some of them as part of the objects of interest for a further period. It seems clear that an extended market was not immediately in prospect while money tightness continued. The steadiness of the market was taken as an indication that the first shock of lowering commodity prices was over. In fact, the stubbornness with which Canadian merchants are resisting the movement may have influenced the market from its reactions of a few days ago.

Strength in Canadian Pacific Railway was an important incident of the day. The advance here was 4 points to 138, and reflected the gain made at New York, where there was a general rally among the rails. One explanation of the firmness of C. P. R. was the belief that there would be no revision of the rates downward as a result of the present hearing being conducted by the cabinet.

Brazilian had most of the interest in the traction section and moved up ¾ point to 36½ in a turnover of 200 shares. Toronto Railway lost 1 point at 42½. The merger stocks failed to continue their advances. Dominion Steel being unchanged at 57, and Canada Cteamships losing almost 1 point at 64½, while Steamships, preferred, was ½ point down at 74½. Canada Cement and Mackay each gained a fraction.

Local trading in the papers was reduced in volume and irregular in price. Abitibi moved up 1½ points to 79½, and Western Canada and Spanish River each gained a fraction. Spanish River, preferred, Brompton and North American Pulp closed at lower prices.

Total trading: Listed stock, 904 shares; unlisted stocks, 1,687 shares; awr loans and bonds, par value, $14,000.

SUGAR'S STRENGTH FEATURE OF DAY OF MONTREAL TRADING

Brompton Under Pressure—Loss Only Fractional—Breweries Up 1 Point.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—There was little activity on the local stock exchange today, outside of half a dozen issues. The feature was the strength in Atlantic Sugar, common, which opened at the low price for the day, and advanced to 126¾, of which 1½ points were retained at the close of 125½.

Brompton led the list and was under pressure in the later trading, but firmed at the close, ending at a small fractional loss only. Laurentide was quiet, but firmed a fraction to 112¼, and 400 shares of National Breweries, common, sold up 1 point to 64. Brazilian also gained a fraction at 36.

Among the weaker features were Spanish River, common, which sold down to 115¼, but later recovered to 116⅞. Small lots of Ames-Holden, preferred, and Wayagamack sold at 57 and 138½ respectively.

There was little feature in the balance of the list. Iron, Steel of Canada and Canada Steamships, common, were fractionally lower. Abitibi lost the point gained yesterday, closing at 78, and Riordon held unchanged.

There was little of interest in the bond department outside the continued weakness in the Canadian war issues, among which the 1931 sold down to 89½.

Total trading: Listed stocks, 6,113 shares; bonds, par value, $37,500.

EVENING STOCK LETTER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Thomson & McKinnon wire Jones, Easton, McCallum Co., Ltd., brokers, Royal Bank Building, London, Ont., at the close of the stock market today as follows:

During the greater part of the day the market was a rather uninteresting affair. Fluctuations, with a few exceptions, were not very important. But a notable exception to this was sugar. The weakness in these shares seems to be harmony with the theory of heavy losses sustained by reason of the depreciation of this food product. The leading influence in the market is still the matter of commodity prices, and this will probably remain as an important market factor until we have reached as near a normal stage as it is possible under prevailing conditions.

The rails still stand out prominently as the strong department of the stock market, and there is every reason for this. The railroads are large consumers of a great variety of commodities, and while we are accustomed to think of railroad requirements in terms of steel and iron, the fact of the matter is that they are consumers to a very great extent of many of the commodities that pass through the channels of commerce, and, therefore, will profit from the lowering of prices.

The money market, which has been rather quiet and normal for some time, shows a little hardening tendency. There was a flurry in rates yesterday afternoon and today, while the renewal rate was unchanged, there was not as plentiful a supply as heretofore. We see no change in market conditions. It still looks like an irregular and probably temporary lower market for industrials, while the rails should contiuue the upward trend.

New York — A prominent New York financial writer commenting on the railroad shares is quoted as follows: "I wish I knew a way to communicate to you a little of my own enthusiasm on railroads, as I know the time will come when it would be appreciated. I think there are vast possibilities in these shares, and I expect a continued advance with possibilities for a very big market when the time comes for consolidation."

Toledo—Calling back of 4,500 employees, laid off Wednesday evening, Willys Overland will resume operations next Monday, Vice-president Clarence Earl announces. Earl said reports from dealers indicated increased volume of business due to price reductions for cars. By Monday officials expect to know whether business will justify full time or three days a week.

New York—Lee Tire cuts price of entire line of tires 15 to 20 per cent.

Chicago—President Wilson of Wilson & Co. says no consideration has been given matter of common dividend when directors meet in New York October 6.

New York—Consolidated Sugar Co. increases common capital from 90,000 shares to 150,000 shares, no par.

FRESH DECLINES IN WHEAT IS RESULT OF HEAVY SELLING

Close Unsettled 3 3-4c to 6 1-4c Net Lower—Oats Are Higher.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Heavy selling by houses with northwest connections did much today to bring about fresh declines in the wheat market here. Prices closed unsettled, 3¾c to 6¼c net lower, with December, $2.11½ to $2.11¾, and March, $2.07. Corn finished 1⅛c net lower to ⅜c advance. Oats closed ½c to ⅞c higher, and provisions at a setback of 5c to 25c.

Selling pressure on the wheat market appeared to be largely influenced by selling talk and bearish estimates of the world supply. The estimates were said to indicate that there could be no world wheat scarcity before May or June. At the extreme of the consequent break in values December delivery was 9c under ystrday's finish, and March was at the lowset price yet this season. The market had frequent rallies during the later trading, but there was wheat for sale on all of the hard spots.

Meanwhile, active buying for export interests was noted, and there was also lively profit-taking for shorts.

The corn market was forced to a new low level for the season, but shorts covering lifted prices again in the late dealings. Crop damage reports from Argentina helped to strengthened oats.

Commission house selling of ribs weakened the provision market, notwithstanding higher quotations on hogs.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

New York, Oct. 2.—Divergence between railway and industrial shares became more pronounced this week, many of the former attaining the highest quotations of the year, while some fifty odd industrials were at minimum prices for the same period.

The market was again largely under the influences created by the recent inauguration of commodity and staple price reductions. These were accompanied by indications of a broadening of the movement into many lines of trade, with consequent curtailment of production.

Stocks under especial pressure including the motors and their subsidiaries. Oil, steel, leather and food issues also suffered, likewise shippings and coppers and many of the unclassified specialties.

Strength of transportations was the more marked because of their extensive turnover. Trading in several individual instances far exceeded the demand for the more popular industrials, including United States Steel and equipments. The latter derived no special benefit from the movement of rails, although it is believed that plans have matured for the placing of large orders for rolling stock.

The money market contributed to the erratic course of stocks, call loans rising to 9 per cent, presumably in anticipation of the October interest and dividend requirements. Foreign exchange was unsettled, British and French rates cancelling much of their recent recoveries.

THE EXCHANGE RATE

I.—What Controls It?

FIFTY-SIX years ago, after the Civil War, the United States dollar was quoted in Toronto at forty cents. To-day that dollar is quoted here at one hundred and ten cents, or more, while the Canadian dollar has an exchange value of only about ninety cents in the United States.

On every side the questions are asked, "What is the meaning of 'Exchange'?" "Why is our money at a discount?" and "When will the Canadian dollar again be worth its face value?"

Many false impressions are held as to the cause of these fluctuations.

In the following series of advertisements, which will be published in this paper each week, we shall try to make clear the factors controlling the rise and fall in value of the dollar.

THREE OTTAWA DOCTORS FINED; FALSE RETURNS

Charged With Making Untrue Report in Income Tax Statement.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—Fine aggregating $6,000 were imposed in police court this afternoon by Deputy Magistrate Kidd, upon three prominent local physicians for having made false returns to the department in connection with their income tax.

Dr. J. R. O'Brien pleaded guilty to making false returns for 1917, 1918 and last year, and was fined $1,000 on each charge; Dr. Gordon E. Booth, also pleaded guilty to three charges, and was fined $500 on the first count and $1,000 on each of the other two; Dr. Rudolphe Chevrier pleaded not guilty, and was found guilty, and was fined $500. A. E. Fripp, K.C., for Dr. Chevrier, intimated that he would appeal. He contended that while his client had admittedly made incorect returns to the department he had done so unwittingly and with no intention of defrauding the Government.
