So Duncan for the Liberal party. Yesterday, 58 Paul waits at home in his little to the liberal party. Paul waits at nome in his little house in Greenock wondering what years later, the same young man cast movement. his vote for Isabel C. Armstrong, the Liberal candidate.

During his long residence in this city, John Hislop has seen 84 election campaigns. He has been through the dust and din of political battles for 60 odd years, and now at the age of 81 he expects to swell his unprecedented average until he hits the 100 mark.

Spry, active, full of life and humor. Mr. Hislop came into The Advertiser office last night to discuss the elecwere the order of every election day, young Hislop would always be found in the front ranks of the fighters. Age has mellowed and time softened the impulsive blood of youth, however, and now he views the result of every campaign with the philosophy and equanimity which years of experience

"If you didn't get a cracked head in the old days, you were not considered a good party man," Mr. Hislop declared. "In the 60's, you could get a pint of whiskey for about 15 cents, and everyone indulged moderately and immoderately when election day came around. Pitched battles were votes to the good. It is stated that then the vogue, and the victorious had the Liberal organization been as candidate would wisely keep in the background until the storm and ex-

Deafening bursts, following on the heels of some particularly vivid flashes, made it easily understood why the ancients believed that the gods spoke during a storm to show their approval or disapproval. It seemed, indeed, as if everything except the earth itself, was joined in a conspiracy to show how a special or government."

In practically every section of the country poles may be found lying on the ground in a tangle of wires, in some cases 20 or 30 adjoining having gone down together. Linemen of the different companies owning the wires have been hard at work making temporary repairs, while new poles will be erected as soon as possible.

This was all that Mr. Hay would say to vote on his hundredth birthday. "You don't begin to know what age to vote on his hundredth birthday. The election just closed leads me to believe that the old-time political organization and its methods are more effective when it comes to conducting a prevince wide campaign. Hon. Mr. Doherty said that more than anything else he regretted the defeat of Mr. Drury, describing him as "one of the most honorable men the province had ever had in its public life. I have known him for years. #### Let Them Measure Up to the Opportunity.

Whatever may have been the merits or weakness of accomplish a good end. the Drury government in Ontario, the voters on Monday stated in plain terms that they wanted a change. The way in which U. F. O. seats fell to the contest just closed. This is amply proved by the deflection of such seats as the following from the U. F. O. column to the Conservatives: North Brant, North Bruce, Carleton, Dufferin, Dundas, East and West Elgin, North Essex, Glengarry, Center and South Grey, 'Haldimand, which had a majority of 1990; Halton, South Perth, where Hon. Peter Smith had 2,586 in 1919; Center Simcoe, with 1,426 U. F. O. majority in the same year; both North and South Victoria and others.

At this time it is of greater moment to point to the serious responsibility placed on the Conservative government-elect than to try to analyze the causes that contributed to the defeat of the Drury administration.

Seldom, if ever, has a vote of the people showed so conclusively that they wished to place the responsibility of government in any one particular place.

The decision of the province opens up a great opportunity for the Conservative administration to work for Ontario. It is a trust not to be lightly regarded, and it is to be hoped that the men who will be called to office in the cabinet may measure up to the confidence the voters displayed when they placed them painful economy, and her contention was that economy,

The Conservatives in Ontario have been called to high office. They will receive credit for what useful efforts they employ; they will receive criticism where Ontario has spoken very decisively, and the Conreervatives face a responsibility that is as great as the opportunity is large.

Sir Adam Wins in London.

The results of the polling in London were such as to leave no doubt that the great majority of electors desired to have Sir Adam Beck as the representative ment independent of campaign influence, and here again of this city in the Ontario Legislature.

There were good reasons why he should not have 1920 session said, referring to the increased indemnity: appealed to the electors here as a Conservative candidate. These were all fairly placed before the electors, but apparently the voters of London were prepared to give more attention to Sir Adam's record of public service, to his worth as a citizen, and voted accordingly. Once the people have spoken in so emphatic a manner their verdict must be accepted as the wish and desire of the community, and Sir Adam is accordingly to be the purpose of doing away with the influence of party congratulated on the vote given him by the citizens of funds, so that the increase had been wasted in so far as Miss Armstrong, the Liberal candidate, made a did at a very late date, and after a great many Liberals inference. had pledged their support to other candidates. She has no reason to feel otherwise than satisfied at the nothing more than had been said by Mr. Gordon in 1920, following she secured. Her whole campaign was clean and which had been said by others on many different land straight, and she had around her a devoted band of women workers.

Dr. Stevenson's vote was one of the surprises of the election, and it must have been somewhat of a disappointment to his organization, following the unusual vote he secured in the last provincial election. Mr. Donahue, although on a platform that was quite sectional in its appeal, was moderate in the presentation

The one outstanding feature, difficult to understand. more difficult still to try to explain, was why there should be almost 10,000 less votes polled in London than on the previous election. In 1919 the total vote was 24.115, while in 1923 the total was 15,213. Sir Adam in 1919 had 11,107 votes, while on Monday he received 9,865 votes, or 1,242 less than in the previous contest. Where 24 people voted in 1919, only 15 took the trouble to vote in 1923, a situation that we cannot undertake to explain.

There are no battle scars in London that cannot be healed in a day. The election was fought on a basis that was fair and clean.

They Were Convinced Before They Went.

The Guelph Mercury is of the opinion that a contest like the Raney-Ferguson affair at Fergus did not change a single vote. The Mercury says:

"We don't think the debate changed a vote in the riding of East Wellington. The U. F. O. voters there evidenced pretty conclusively that they were not going to switch, and the Conservatives present were just as convincing with their demonstration of loyalty to the party choice.'

Mr. Raney's friends were sure of his superiority, and the admirers of Ferguson were satisfied that the timber-topper was the better man.

O. in the Dominion Parliament, caused a real flurry in the the last contest must have voted Conservative in the House on June 21 when she brought in an amendment Members were quick to rise to a point of order because they claimed that Miss McPhail was making insinuations that the honorable members of parliament were being more or less influenced in their votes by the people who put up their campaign funds.

> There have been worse things than that said, but it was the blunt way in which Miss McPhail put it that gave the gentleman legislators a chance to bring points of order, etc., to the defence of their $4,000.

A perusal of the House of Commons debates for that day makes it fairly plain that some of the members did not themselves know what they were protesting about. The following extract is expressive:

An hon. member-What are you speaking to? Mr. Bird-I am speaking to the point of order

The chairman-There is a point of order. Mr. Bird-Mr. Chairman, will you kindly state the point of order so that we may know what to do.

The address by Miss McPhail had all through been a fairly well reasoned appeal for rigid, and, if need be, like charity, should begin at home. She quoted Hon, W. S. Fielding as having said on May 23, 1922:

"I must today present two thoughts which are of paramount importance. The first is as to the need, the deep and earnest need of economy. That means that we must appeal both to members of parliament and to the people to pass what I may call self-denying ordinances.

It must be admitted that the member for Southeast Grey had established very good grounds for her attack on the sessional indemnity. She was simply seeking to give concrete expression to a general appeal made by the minister of finance.

From there she proceeded to argue that the increased indemnity had not made members of parlia she quoted Deputy Speaker Gordon, who, during the

FOOLISH NOVELTIES. EIGHT AND VISION. I am come a light into the world that whosoever believeth in me may not abide in darkness .- St. John 12:46, Just what light is has long been in dispute. But what light does is evident: it enables us to see. Christ says that is His mission in the world-to help us to see God, and ourselves, and the real meaning of life. Those who believe in Him re eive this power. But the vision varies according to the strength and clearness of our eyes. Some are color-blind, some far-sighted, some near-sighted, some cross-eyedbut to all the light brings a great gift.

We might as well expect all men to behold precisely the same world when the sun rises, as suppose that all Christians will see precisely the same spiritual truths when Christ gives them light. Some will see clearly, some cloudily; to some the forms will be sharp, to others dimsome will have a vivid sense of the colors of life, others will see it only black and white, or gray. But all who believe in Christ will from darkness and the shadow of death. They will know that God said. Light be, and light was. They will not live in night, but in day. Let us not quarrel about colors.

Mrs. Emerson Nichols, entertained the members of the Marian Keith Club of St. Andrew's Church yesterday at her lovely home in St. James street. This was the final meeting of the club, and the leaders and their husbands were invited as special guests of honor. Mrs. Nichols, who is one of the leaders, arranged supper on the lawn at tables decorated with summer flowers. Following supper, the guests enjoyed the rose gardens, laden with blooms. The leaders and their husbands included: Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Nichols, Rev. D. C. MacGregor and Mrs. MacGregor, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Adams and Mr. and Mrs. J. Cameron.

HELPING THE SICK THROUGH

Roman Meal may be made into porridge, pancakes, puddings and cakes. Even hot Roman Meal porridge is more "cooling" to the blood than the coolest tasting cereal of the acid-forming, refined class, with their alkaline salts all refined away. But Roman Meal can be served ciously icy-cold, as BROSE-O, CHOCOL-O, JELL-E. With milk, cream, whipped cream, honey, pre-served or fresh fruits any one of these is a hot-day treat, that can be prepared in ten minutes. See "Summer Recipes" on package. In any form Roman Meal prevents indigestion, positively relieves constipation.

That he was not successful, yes, perhaps as much as a failure for Detroit a topper in the American League this year is not a bit improbable. He has a start that way and such a good start that the mere matter of living up to what he has done may earn him the distinction he seems to crave. At a meeting between Ehmke and Ty Cobb this year after the season began, it is reported that he criticized his former

It is within a week of the fourth of July—that momentous day on the calendar of which baseball men have been fearful in the past. In the major leagues it has been said that the team 550 leading on the fourth of July is the team that is bound for the championship. It is not infallible, but it is a good omen. The National League and the American League must show more than has been shown if the New York Clubs are to be defeated for the pennants in those organizations. Unquestionably it is going to give a great number of very estimable persons and some less estimable, a curdled grouch if the Giants and Yankees win again. Lots of folks are going to say that it is not apt to do baseball any good.

What About the O. T. A.?

Possibly the question which will be most generally speculated upon today is the effect which Mr. Ferguson's victory will have upon the Ontario Temperance Act. Some of the men elected to support him were cutspoken in their condemnation of the present measure, few actively supported it, and many, including the leader himself, adopted an attitude which leaves them free to do as they wish now that they are in power. As whole, the party did not come out wholeheartedly in favor of a rigid enforcement of that measure, and those who exercised the hope that a Conservative victory might mean modification are today smiling

Toronto returned to its first loves. Every riding in or touching that city returned Conservative candidates with large majorities, while, with the exception of Ottawa, which sends two Liberals, the same may be said of every large city in the province, Hamilton deserting its Labor affiliations for a return to the Conservative candidates. A singular feature of the election was the small success scored by the Labor candidates. Undoubtedly their affiliation with the Drury government operated against most of those who were previously in the House, but it admittedly a distinct surprise even in the Conservative camp to see such strongly entrenched Labor staiwarts as Swayze of Niagara, Rollo ings, the name in brackets being the former member, and the others the successful candidate with those whon ach Acids Which Cause Indigestion.

The almost universal use of Magnesia by physicians and stomach specialists is due to the fact that it instantly neutralizes the dangerous stomach acids which cause nearly all digestive stomach trouble. With acid gone and stomach sweet, easy and painless digestion invariably follows.

Old dyspeptics, whom Indigestion and sour, weak and sickly stomach, have made miserable for years, find quick and lasting relief in this simple remedy, and are again able to eat what they please. A glass of hot Magnesia water after meals prevents all trouble.

Prepare Magnesia water at home by dropping one teaspoonflu or four tablets of pure Bisurated Magnesia in a glass of hot water. Any reliable druggist can sell you the genume Bisurated Magnesia and stomach sufferers and dyspeptics who follow this plan and avoid the use of pepsin, charcoal, socia mints, drugs and stomach medicine will soon find that the stomach, relieved of irritating acid and gas, soon resumes its normatione, and will do its work alone without the aid of artificial digestents.—Advt.

Blackheads Go Quickly

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash eff. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the their honeymoon. blackheads have gone. Finching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out. leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.—Advt.

There is a rather cruel deception being practiced on women who desire Palmolive Soap. Common soaps are shaped and colored like it. Some are given names which sound like Palmolive. But they offer you nothing of what you seek, which is benefit to your complexion.

Palmolive has won millions of users by its remarkable aid to beauty. The demand has spread almost the world over -wherever beauty lovers exist. Its unique results have made Palmolive the world's leading toilet soap.

What you prize in Palmolive is the skin effects which ordinary soaps never brought you. Then don't be cheated of them. Don't let somebody make you think that a likelooking soap is Palmolive.

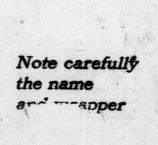

Another value you get in Palmolive is a 25-cent quality for 10 cents. That is due to enormous volume.

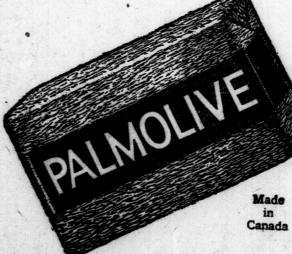

A beauty soap—a scientific toilet soap for 10 cents is unique. You are cheated of that extra value when you get an imitation. Nothing in all ages has compared with a blend of palm and olive oil for skin beauty.

Never in a soap has that blend been perfected as it is in Palmolive Soap. That is why it won supreme place with beauty-loving people.

Be sure you get it. Look carefully at the name and the wrapper. Otherwise an ordinary soap may be substituted, and you will think that Palmolive has deteriorated.

Estimated That Over Fifteen Thousand Boxes Were Offered.

While the heavy rainfull did not cover the entire agricultural district surrounding London, farmers generally are well satisfied, feeling that now rain has been headed this wey, more will follow. As previously expected, there follow. As previously expected, there were large offerings of strawberries on the market this morning, the estimate reaching from 15,000 to 20,000 boxes. From as far east as Port Burwell five truck loads were sent. The opening prices were rather irregular. Starting at 12c per box by the crate, the quotations rose to 12½c, then 13c, and at noon 14c was reached. The tendency at that hour was still upward, and there is no doubt that the heavy demand will cause an increase in these figures. Retail, the prices quoted ranged from 13c to 15c at the opening, and increasing perceptibly as the day proceeded.

The arrival of rain had little effect on the market, but later sessions this week will be brisk, owing to the benefit that will accrue. London seems to have been the northern limit of the storm, as icalers coming to the city say there were no signs of rain at the Adelaide street north bridge, three miles east on Dundas street, or in the northwestern section.

Owing to the electrical storm of Monday night, many telegraph wires were destroyed, and until repairs are completed it is impossible to obtain quotations from a number of the Canadian and American exchanges.

Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, June 25. There was no special feature to the local wheat market today; offerings were light and well absorbed, and values were ranging lower at the close. Following the easier opening, prices advanced 1/2c pared with Saturday. Trading in December wheat was opened this morning, the opening figures being $1.01 and the close %c higher.

The volume was light in coarse grains, the market featureless and values fractionally lower. Trade was limited in flax, but values were ruling higher, and closed 1c up for July and 1%c higher for October.

Both cash wheat and coarse grains were quiet, with very little business reported. There was some dealing in wheat, and spreads were %c to %c lower.

TODAY'S OPENING PRICES. Chicago, June 26 .- Favorable weather had a bearish effect on the wheat market today during the early dealings. Rains and cooler temperatures North-west were auspiclous for the growth of the spring crop, whereas in the South-west clear skies and continued heat were ideal for the harvesting of winter wheat. Lower quotations at Liverpool tended also to bring about a decline in values here. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to %c lower, with September at $1.03% to $1.08%, and December at $1.06½ to $1.06%. were followed by a moderate down turn all around. 44 around. Corn and oats were easier with theat. After opening unchanged to de off for September at 791/2c to 791/2c, he corn market underwent a general

Oats started unchanged to % higher for September at 37%c. Later all the months showed a slight setback.

WANT AD TIPS

A Thirst For Information

Every neighborhood has its Mr. Jones or Jack Stump who is never at a loss for a moment, seemingly, for the proper price to put on anything he wishes to sell through the Want Ads. You know him. You may, perhaps, even have envied his easy confidence in setting a price on a farm, a used lawn mower, or apples from his home orchard. There is no need to envy him. You can emulate him.

He has a secret. And at least 90 per cent of that secret can be revealed in four words-a thirst for information. The person quick and skilful at pricing always watches his local happenings in trade. He talks with people-buyers or sellers, or other possessors of reliable information, who tell him prices, terms of actual transactions. He knows whether real estate is moving fast or slow. If the Jones place down the street sells, he doesn't rest until he has learned all the circumstances. And he remembers.

He weighs in his mind the circumstances. Did the article sell for a high price, or a low price? Did the seller have to sell quickly. or were there other conditions favoring the buyer? What ought a similar thing to bring, sold intelligently through the Want Ads?

Anyone who buys or sells from time to time, where the price is a thing of adjustment, ought to have a thirst for information. His bump of curiosity concerning actual, straw transactions should be large; he should develop it. The only way one can set a price accurately, or judge intelligently an asked price, is to use information as a basis. The more of pertinent information is possessed, the more accurate will be judgment in respect to price. A lot of goods in this world are sold below value because the seller possesses incomplete market information. A lot of sales are delayed or lost because, in ignorance, the seller asks too high a price. Acquire a thirst for information. Learn at what figures actual transactions are being consummated in articles you have to sell. Then when you come to set a price, you will have the first essential-adequate information. (All Rights Reserved.)

The site was presented by the local authorities, and a water supply and electric light for the lab-oratory were installed. The object of this laboratory is to study the plants characteristic of arid regions. The mountain on which the laboratory stands and the adjoining mesas possess a splendid representation of these forms of vegetation. Many pro-posed sites in Texas. Thinks July 2, Day Last $100,000 Due, May Be Bigger Date Than July 4th-Floyd Johnson Talks of Willard.

Special to The Advertiser.

En route for Shelby, Mont., June 25.—
As your correspondent moves toward Dempsey-Gibbons bout is scheduled to take place, he becomes more convinced that the big day at Shelby may be July 2 instead of July 4. On the second of next month the promoters of the beaut have contracted to hand over to Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, the third hundred thousand dollars. That the third hundred thousand will be harder to produce than the second is apparent. If it is not forthcoming there may be some interesting conversation. According to a gentleman from Montana, who happened to be on the train, there will be a fight anyhow. This gentleman says the people of Toole County, in which Shelby is located, are determined upon this.

Toole County, in which Shelby is located, are determined upon this.

The gentleman from Montana indicated that there was much indignation at the precipitation of Mr. Kearns demanding the second hundred thousand, thereby embarrassing the promoters considerably, also giving out the impression that money was becoming tighter in the great wide open spaces. "They would do nothing illegal," said the gentleman from Montana, "but they would endeavor to induce Mr. Kearns to permit Mr. Dempsey to box peacefully. They are very law-abiding citizens, but they have their own notions of what is right and what is wrong. Another prominent figure at the departure of this expedition was Jimmy Johnston, the Boy Bandit, who is matchmaker for the new Cromwell A. C., which is to stage the Leonard-Tendler bout at the Yankee Stadium.

The Boy Bandit has had a checkered but interesting career. He started in The Boy Bandit has had a checkered but interesting career. He started in as a boxer. He was going along nicely at this trade when it was suggested that he box the late Terry McGovern. It was at this point that Mr. Johnston demonstrated that he had an intellect for higher things. He declined. He was so impressed with his wisdom in the McGovern matter that he decided to become a fight manager. One of those of what is right and what is wrong.

Judging from the way the gentleman from Montana spoke, it might be a bit unwise for Mr. Kearns ot face the indignation of that assemblage which is gathering in the vicinity of Shelby. It is reported that even the Blackfoot Indians are indignant over the matter, and history records that the last time the Blackfoot braves became indignant over real or fancied wrongs it took Gen. Nelson A. Miles and several regiments of cavalry to subdue them. Also, the subduing was only a partial success, for the survivors remain impatient even to this day.

The trouble with the people of the great open spaces is that they thought prize-fighting was a sport. Mr. Kearns has just convinced them that it is high commercialized business. That is why the squawk that is being raised in the Northern Rockies can be heard even thus far away from Shelby. The solution which the people of the great open spaces will find for this new problem cught to be interesting. The gentleman from Montana says that it will be. That is why he is going home; not to see what will happen on July 2, which may be an important date in prize fight promoting.

Ladies and gentlemen! Gas and cocacola buyers!

Shortly you may have an opportunity of witnessing the sprint of the century. For Asa Candler, Sr., aged millionaire and track enthusiast, wants to test his sprinting against that of the unchallenged 84-year-old golf champion.

As a sprinter, John D. Rockefeller is more or less of a dark horse, but that doesn't worry the "coke" manufacturer who, it is reliably reported, sometimes drinks his own concoction.

Candler has endowed a couple of schools which prohibit football but cater to track athletics. The aged Atlanta millionaire is strong for the running game.

Ladies and gentlemen! Gas and cocacocacocla buyers!

Nobody challenges John D's claim to the $4-year-olds, but Candler is certain that he can run him out of gas on the cinder path.

Of course if the race should take place John D. might slip up Candler by carrying a can of oil and sprinkling it on the track in front of his competitor, but then there'd be nothing to prevent Candler from taking a couple of schools which prohibit football but cater to track athletics. The aged Atlanta millionaire is strong for the running game.

THE NEWS
That Jeff Smith
And Harry Greb are signed to battle once more July 11 at Atlanta, Ga., isn't startling. But it does draw attention once more to Mr. Smith and his interesting career in the ring.

This bird, who has been swapping punches since 1910 — thirteen hectic years—is still a durned good fighter and makes folk wonder at this late date why he never became a champion in his own right.

a gladiator on Senor Luis Angel Firpo beating Jess Wiliard. If this should come to pass Johnson thinks that he can cause Firpo a lot of annoyance. Of course, if Wiliard should win Floyd's chances for a career are behind him. Johnson seemed amused at the notion of having Willard subjected to a medical examination. If anybody thinks that that old gentleman is sick, they can bet me," said Johnson. If he was sick when he hit me that right uppercut, I am glad that he didn't have his health at the time." why he never became a champion in his own right.

Probably Jeff's unwillingness to fight a cruel, unrelenting battle when necessary is the reason. Jeff has a nifty defence, plenty of all around science. Is fast and shifty. What more should a fighter have—unless it is a fighting heart? Smith has been bluffed out of battles

Johnson will be in the semi-final at Eoyle's Thirty Acres with Jack Mc-Auliffe II. who has been purchased by a syndicate of Yonkers business men. The syndicate almost became convinced that prize fighting was not a business when their new property was tapped on the chin by Luis Angel Firpo, but their body since has been reorganized and has hired Prof. Jimmy de Forest to discover once and for all if McAuliffe can be turned into a fighter. If Johnson stops McAuliffe, the syndicate also will stop. Smith has been biuffed out of battles galore that were his on paper. He has met all the good middleweights of the last ten years. He has scored victories over Mike McTigue, now light heavy-weight champion of the world; George Chip, Jimmy Clabby, Eddie McGoorty, Les Darcy and other good men. True McTigue, whipped by him in 1920, got revenge a year later, but that only shows how Jeff can look good and bad. Mike Gibbons, with all his craft, failed to make Smith bow. It took Georges Carpentier twenty rounds back in 1913 to get a decision over Smith. Mike O'Dowd licked him in a fifteenround battle in 1920, but knew he had been in an argument.

Greb, however, is one middleweight Smith can lick. He has bested the Windmill of Pittsburg every time they wet. And he figures on doing it again. Smith will tell you confidentially that his paw and maw christened him Jerome Jefferds. But that's all the good it did. Jelff became a prize-fighting person anyhow.

Was a constant and chilly mist or drizzle, so that when finally the pale green tarpaulin was peeled off the darker green court within the great statium, there was only enough day-light left to last through one of the four feature matches which had been placed on the card for the opening day.

Two British players won over South Americans, members of the Americans, members of the Americans, members of the Americans, he can be an an argument.

Greb, however, is one middleweight Smith can lick. He has bested the Windhall of Pittsburg every time they will be a provided the content of the did Jelff became a prize-fighting person anyhow.

Little Lessons In Golf BY CHESTER G. HORTON. Nationally Known Golf

M'TIGUE LOSES FIGHT ON POINTS DECISION

Tommy Loughran Had Six of Eight Rounds—Bernstein Wins by K. O.

Associated Press Despatch.

Philadelphia, June 22.—Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champion of the world, was outpointed tonight by Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, according to the majority of the newspaper men at the ringside, who gave the champion only two of the eight rounds. Except in the sixth and seventh rounds McTigue appeared listless, and was hit almost at will by the Philadelphian.

Jack Bernstein, junior lightweight champion, knocked out Freddy Jacks of Australia in the fifth round of a scheduled eight-round bout.

Bernstein was the aggressor from the start, landing blows almost at will. The Australian came up in the fifth round visibly weakened from the beating he had taken. After a series of blows to the head and body. Bernstein landed a rard left in the stomach, which sent Jacks down for the count.

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

THE FUSSINESS OF HERBERT ARLETT. By JANE OSBORN.

Herbert Arlett was not especially fussy-that is, not for a boardinghouse bachelor. Still, he was not abacteristic. Moreover, he was uncommonly observing. He had an uncanny faculty of remembering just where he had left this volume or that on his reading table, and, of course, if bookmarks in the volume he was reading at the time was very far re-moved during the course of his day's absence from his room it is not much to be wondered at that he noticed it. So one day he said to Mrs. Jordon, proprietor of the boarding house: "The maid who cleans up my room—I have no complaint to make—but she must be fond of reading. I rather congratulate her on her taste. She seems to be enjoying my Boswell's 'Life of Johnson' at present—and last eek she dipped into Wells' 'Outline Still, there are excellent

"Mr. Arlett stopped, suddenly feeling that he had gone too far, yet visibly annoyed. "Of course, if you want to read my books and eat my caramels, Mrs. Jordon, you are quite welcome. I am sorry I mentioned it —only I'd a little rather have you speak to me about it."

least vexed. "Just to get a line on the matter, which of the new books that you haven't read would appeal to you as most interesting?"

Gladys thought for a moment book on Catherine

Mrs. Jordon, so far from showing offense threw her head back and laughed, with her hands on her hips. "Bless, your heart!" she said. "I wouldn't open one of your fool books; and as for your caramels—do I look as if I ate caramels?" That was her way of getting back at Herbert Ar-

As the books on his table continued ing he opened the book and took out to be misplaced, and as by actual count caramels disappeared, Herbert Arlett continued to be annoyed. Obviously, someone was prying. If no one had the key save Maggie and Mrs. Jerome, and neither of them read the books, then it must be that she left someone else have the level. she left someone else have the keys who apparently entered his room with the special object of enjoying his books and magazines.

So Herbert Arlott decided to the keys turned, the book was gone. That night at dinner Herb asked Mrs. Heckman for handless So Herbert Arlett decided to do a address.

The next night he examined the book thoroughly, but found that none of the uncut pages had been cut. There seemed to be no marks about it to show that it had been read. was charming if she came every day to see the ill-natured deaf old lady and pothered over her loud-lunged canaries.

Herbert Arlett decided to dine af the boarding house next Sunday, contrary to his usual custom. Per-haps he could find excuse to talk to her.

In the meantime Herbert continued his detective work, and to bait his trap. He found that the mouse prefers poetry to prose—the Irish lyrics showed careful attention, and all the uncut leaves were cut the next night. Then other odd things were notice-able. One day he found little grains -strangely like canary bird seed-that had sifted out of the bottom of his waste basket. And one day not long after, when he went into his room, there was a strong perfume, not unpleasant, and not quite strong enough to make it possible for him to tell what flower it belonged to.

In the meantime he had dined at the boarding house on Sunday, and and Boswell's "Life of Johnson," and

CYCLONE DEVASTATES

Roofs Are Lifted Off Buildings and Trains Are Much Delayed.

Special to The Advertiser. Guelph, June 26.-A disastrous yclone visited Wellington County

The cyclone swept down from north ergus district. Roofs were lifted off buildings, and of Kitchener and west through the trains from Stratford and Palmerston were delayed. One building at Guelph had its roof lifted onto the railway tracks fully 50 yards away, delaying trains for more than an hour. A number of farm houses near Fergus are on fire, while others have been avaged by the cyclone A similar story comes from St. Catharines and the Niagara district. Fruit trees are uplifted, and it is estimated that the fruit crop will be damaged to the extent of many thousands of dollars, according to reports. Both telephone and telegraph lines are down.

Canaries Sing Throughout Unique Service Held In St. Thomas Church.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 26 .- Babies flowers and singing birds featured the annual cradle roll service held at Central Methodist Church on Suncay morning. This service is always regarded as one of the most unique and interesting in the church year. Upwards of 50 children passed through the gate, beautifully em-bellished with flowers, symbolizing their advance from the primary to the junior grade. The choir-loft also was filled with little girls, and the pastor baptized nearly thirty infants. Cages of carnaries were hung throughout the church, and these sang incessantly during the service.
