STRIKERS CONTINUE TO LOOT AND BURN

Damage in Glace Bay Trouble Zone Reaches Thousands As Rioting Is Renewed at New Aberdeen This Morning—Power Plant at New Waterford Total Loss.

MISSING OFFICIAL RETURNS HOME

Canadian Press Despatch.
Sydney, N. S., June 12.—Regular troops sent from Halifax into the riot zone of the Cape Breton mine fields arrived by special trains at 2:45 this afternoon.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Glace Bay, N.S., June 12.—Looting, destruction and incendiarism last evening and early this morning followed the riot at New Waterford yesterday in which one miner was killed, others severely injured, and some twenty-five corporation police officers almost beaten into insensibility.

During the late hours of the night and early this morning, four Dominion Coal Company stores were looted, shop fixtures damaged and thousands of dollars of foodstuffs and clothing taken or destroyed.

The wash-house at No. 12 colliery, New Waterford, was completely destroyed by fire shortly after 11 o'clock last night, and this morning at 8 o'clock the engine-house at the Hub screening plant, New Aberdeen, was also destroyed.

POWER PLANT DESTROYED.

Some time before midnight the Waterford power plant was entered, switchboards torn from the walls, instruments destroyed and other damage of a serious nature done.

Number 14 colliery store at New Waterford was looted some time after 11 o'clock, and at the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock a large company store at New Aberdeen was practically cleaned out. A mob raided the company store at Reserve about midnight and got away with about $3,000 worth of stocks.

Marched the Streets.

Twenty-five corporation police officers are today confined to their homes or hospitals with severe and minor injuries. Four officers are patients in the Ross hospital, Sydney, one suffering from a fractured leg and broken arm.

Large gangs of strikers marched the streets of New Waterford last evening.

The looting of the colliery stores at Nos. 12 and 14 occurred almost simultaneously. Shortly after 10:30 o'clock at No. 12 store a gang took possession and made away with quantities of drygoods, clothing, boots and shoes and foodstuffs.

At No. 14 clothing and boots and shoes were principally taken. About 11:30 the wash house at No. 12 colliery was on fire. The firemen were handicapped by having no water.

This building was totally destroyed. Windows were smashed in the No. 12 lamp house and damage done to the electric mining lamps. Good work by citizens and firemen kept the fire from destroying other buildings nearby.

Collieries Out of Commission.

Some time later in the evening the Waterford power plant was entered and considerable destruction followed. Switchboards and other instruments indispensable to the running of the plant were torn down and destroyed. This morning company officials had not yet made a survey of the damage, but according to the advice of one of their men at New Waterford the damage might be sufficient to keep the plant practically shut down for several weeks.

The pressure in the case, it will be impossible to keep several mines from flooding.

The result of the fracas at Waterford yesterday was placed some of Continued on Page 3, Column 2.

Dusky Prince Goes To Jail

Royal Visitor From Africa
Overdraws Account While in Chicago.

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, June 12.—Prince Kojo Tootou Hovenou of Dahomey, Africa, spent last night in jail after being arrested, charged with passing a worthless check.

The prince, who recently received the "keys of the city," was arrested at the home of his hostess, Mrs. Irene Knowlton. He lacked a bondsman to obtain his freedom pending settlement of the matter.

The prince, through his temporary secretary of state, explained that he had just overdrawn his bank account. The check was for $350, and was given to a lingerie shop where the prince recently made purchases for a woman companion.

CHINESE OPEN FIRE ON FOREIGN SHIPS

Situation Grows Serious As the Rebels Continue To Attack
Noncombatants.

Associated Press Despatch.
Canton, China, June 12.—Foreign steamers were fired upon today as they moved within the fighting lines established by rival military leaders who continued battling for Canton, which is now held by the defending Yunnanese army. While the gun-fire continued from both sides today after a night of continuous shooting neither army gained ground.

Steamers were proceeding to Hong Kong today crowded with refugees from the turmoil here. The movement of exports and imports is practically nil as a result of the disturbance.

SPEED NOW A FOLLY

ON RIDOUT ST. BRIDGE

Special Officer Keeps Watch
On All Motorists—Many Are Warned.

Five miles an hour is the limit of speed for motorists across the Ridout street bridge. Constables placed on duty at the bridge yesterday, commenced today to time persons believed to be exceeding the speed limit, in order that a rigid enforcement of the speed regulation may be effected.

The length of the bridge has been measured by police and this morning a constable was stationed on the north end and that exact time a motorist takes to cross could be determined. The majority of motorists will be compelled to cross in low gear to comply with the five-mile-an-hour regulation. Enforcement of the speed limit is expected to result in a number of police court summonses.

Since officers went on duty at the bridge yesterday, many motorists have been warned and summonses may be issued.

According to the motor license bureau here, there are sixty trucks in London, which with maximum loads permitted, weigh in excess of the four-ton limit permitted on the bridge.

The City Engineer, near points out that such trucks as these should be driven over the King street bridge or Wellington street bridge.

The mayor is highly pleased with the police scheme, which the Chief Birrell's men are operating at the bridge. City aldermen have not yet been officially informed of the order.

Permits For Half of Month

Show $125,000 Expenditure

Construction authorized through the city engineer's department for the first half of June will be more than $125,000, with a total of approximately 50 permits for the past fortnight. The June building record promises to parallel, if not surpass, the values recorded for the same month last year, when the total went to $183,855 for 180 permits.

N. Campbell has just been granted permits for the construction of two dwelling houses, costing $23,900 each, on Reymond.

Residences will also be built by G. Davis, $3,000, on East, and A. W. Morrison, $3,600, at 55 Stanley street.

Coincident to activity in building trade, plumbers report business as good. Reports just made public by J. C. Young, city plumbing inspector, show 113 permits issued during April, 123 during May and over 50 for the past ten days of June. Inspections numbered 159 in April, with fees amounting to $278.50. In May, inspections jumped to 208, with fees bringing in $324 revenue.

PLAN MEMORIAL TO EXPLORER.
All parties in the commons this week joined in supporting the proposal of Premier King that a memorial of some sort should be erected to record the heroism of the late Alan Crawford, 20-year-old leader of the ill-starred expedition to Wrangel Island in 1924. Above, Crawford and another member of his expedition are shown planting the flag on Wrangel.

MEMBER OF ST. IGNACE'S CREW DROWNS IN LAKE

Tug and Steamer Fail in Search
For Unknown "Man Overboard."

HALF MILE OUT

Details of Mishap to Seaman
Have Not Reached Port—
Is Ohio Resident.

Special to The Advertiser.

Port Stanley, June 12.—An unknown seaman of the passenger boat, City of St. Ignace, fell overboard about 12:45 this afternoon when the boat was half a mile off this port, outward bound. A search is still being conducted for the body of the missing man. He is believed to have drowned.

The City of St. Ignace continued on her trip after steaming in the immediate vicinity for more than half an hour. The search was taken up by the Edward Blake, one of the port's fishing fleet, and the life-saving crew in charge of Walter Brown.

The seaman is a resident of Ohio. No details of the mishap have reached here yet.

The City of St. Ignace is running on a summer schedule between Port Stanley and Cleveland.

ELLIS WILL BE UNABLE TO SIT AT L.S.R. PROBE

Illness of Railway Board Member Reported to Local Officials.

Serious illness of P. W. Ellis, member of the Ontario railway and municipal board, will prevent his presence in London next week when the board holds a special session to probe the street railway case. Chairman Donald McIntyre, K.C., and Vice-Chairman Andrew Ingram will represent the board.

Illness of Mr. Ellis became known here only today, and as he is now confined to his bed, his presence here for the railway board session is regarded as an impossibility. He has been in London on a number of occasions this year, his visits chiefly affecting conferences over condition of street railway bridges.

Complexion of the street railway situation remains unchanged, with both the low fares faction and the street railway showing confidence. A strong case for the five-cent fares is likely to be presented by the London Street Railway Company. On the other hand city aldermen who have been fighting for the low fares assert that there is no possibility of the company winning its case, because of legal requirements of the agreement with the city.

WHEAT AT WINNIPEG DECLINES 5 1-2 CENTS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, June 12.—Wheat prices continued to sag on the local market today. Wholesale liquidations and absence of export buying influenced the downward swing, which carried the July future to the low point of $1.73, a decline of 5 1-2 cents from Thursday's close. October underwrote a similar dip and at 11:30 o'clock had dropped 4 1-4 cents, at $1.41 1-4.

The prevailing bearish sentiment forced down prices on all the coarse grain markets.

EARLY TAX PAYMENT A RECORD

Total Expected To Reach Million by Next Week—
Money Plentiful.

THIRD IS COLLECTED

Fast Bank Trips Make Police
Protection Unnecessary,
Officials Assert.

Cash drawers at the city hall are bulging with wealth this week. Taxpayers daily stand in double queues and spill upon the counters of the municipal treasury thousands of dollars in quantities that were never before seen so early in the season.

People are paying their taxes, not merely with ordinary promptness, but a week ahead of the time limit for the first installment.

Taxes collected already this year are $150,000 in excess of the average for this period in former years. Ratepayers apparently have the money to pay their bills and they are greatly expediting the work of city officials by coming early to avoid the rush.

Million in a Week.

A million dollars will be piled up in the city coffers inside the next week. Nearly a third of that sum has been collected now and a big last minute rush is expected. However, the early payment of many bills is pushing the work ahead in a commendable way, that offers much approval for the new system of billing instituted by Tax Collector Ed. Houghton and his assistants.

There is no special police protection at the city hall yet, but officials explain that the majority of payments are coming in by check, another laudable idea of late years. Money is rushed to the banks hourly and there is never any large accumulation of money, except which is placed behind strong doors.

The first installment of taxes is due on June 15, next Monday, and the greatest rush of the season is expected on that day.

Minaki Building Wiped Out by Flames On Eve of Opening.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Minaki, Ont., June 12.—Minaki Inn, summer resort operated by the Canadian National Railways, was completely destroyed by fire late yesterday. The fire is believed to have originated from a carelessly dropped cigarette.

Workmen had been busy in the frame building putting the finishing touches on repair and other work which had been concluded in preparation for the opening of the inn today.

The flames were prevented from spreading to the lodge, which had been used as servants' quarters, or to the powerhouse.

Estimates here placed the damage at more than $100,000.

SPELL OF JAZZ LOSING POWER

Children in London Schools No Longer Under Its Sway.

London children are wisely falling away from the spell which of late years has been exercised by jazz music.

Such is the deduction drawn by E. W. G. Quantz, musical director in the London schools, from the fact that of the 196 entries in the musical competition at the recent Rotary hobby fair, not a single jazz piece was played by any one of the competitors.

Mr. Quantz's comment came as the climax to his address before the board of education yesterday afternoon on the musical department of the local school system, in which he reviewed the progress made during the past fifteen years, when the staff notation was first adopted, as differing from the tonic solfa system of instruction.

Trustee N. F. Willmot expressed grave concern lest musical instruction of children might lead them later to become worshippers of jazz, rather than bona fide music.

Mr. Quantz, who was able to reassure Mr. Willmot on the point, he raised, at least in so far as the London schools are concerned, held that "music is the language of the soul, while jazz is its profanity."

The musical director stated that he is engaged in making a survey of the schools of the city in order to discover latent musical talent amongst the pupils enrolled in the schools with a view to cultivating that adaptability by some means.

Federal Square Suggested As Means of Developing District Traffic.

TO SERVE SHOPPERS

Parking Trouble Now Affect Scattered Bus Terminals.

A proposal to use part of the federal square as a central terminal for all bus lines entering and leaving the city is engaging the interest of London business men at the present time and may result in action through the chamber of commerce to acquire such a terminal either on the federal square or some other suitable site.

Managing-Secretary W. H. Wood stated this morning that, while his arrival to go thoroughly into the matter, he understood that the chamber had already recommended action along that line through its agricultural committee. This committee has been pressing for two years or more for the erection of a rest house for farmers wives on the market square or some place adjacent to the market and the suggestion at the time was that such a building could also be made the logical terminus for bus lines, so that intending passengers would never have difficulty in knowing where to go to travel on any particular bus. At the present time there is considerable confusion on this point.

C. of C. Approves.

"I should think that in a city of the size of London the provision of a bus terminal is a most important consideration," Mr. Wood stated this morning. "I know that in Hamilton a large bus terminal is provided close to the union station terminal and has resulted in the establishment of a number of bus lines which bring many shoppers to the city every day. This is an important feature. London merchants could greatly extend their selling radius if they had a frequent service in and out of the city such as a bus line is able to provide. Shoppers would be much more inclined to make regular purchases. It would also be an encouragement to bus owners to provide better service."

Mr. Wood pointed out that any action the chamber might take would be a matter for the directors. He was of the opinion, however, that the chamber would be asked to look not only to London residents, but to residents of the surrounding agricultural district, if some definite plan could be put into effect.

Parking Troubles.

The present situation is illustrated by an incident at the meeting of the 2 committee this week, when a letter was received from a firm operating a bus line, stating that they had established a temporary terminal on King street, near Richmond, but were experiencing difficulties with the parking regulations. The department of public safety was asked to look into the matter, and if it deemed advisable, to place a No Parking sign, so that the buses would always be sure of reaching their terminal. Other bus owners are doubtless in a similar position, but the worst feature is that these temporary headquarters are scattered about in different places so that it is difficult for citizens to ascertain where to go to take any particular bus.

Secretary Ed. Bernard of the London Motor Club holds up both hands in favor of the proposal. He states that passenger bus lines now enter the city from Lambeth, Parkhill, Forest, Lucan, Granton and Seaford, and believes that the provision of a central terminal would have the effect of bringing into being other lines, which would greatly increase the number of people coming to London.

Europe's Most Beautiful Queen Tells Life Story

WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL QUEEN TELLS OF LIFE.
Queen Marie of Rumania, cleverest and most beautiful of living sovereigns. For a royal personage, she is very close to her people; as a factor in world affairs, she is a powerful factor in the councils of statesmen.

Marie of Rumania Asks Why Is It More Absurd Being a Queen Than a Millionaire's Wife, a Dressmaker or a Cook—Always On Exhibition.

COMPLAINS ROYALTY REGARDED AS SHOW

This is the first of a series of articles by Queen Marie of Rumania, written exclusively for The Advertiser and the North American Newspaper Alliance. She gives in a frank and intimate way her philosophy of life, love and work. The series marks the first time that a reigning member of royalty has written under his or her own signature for a newspaper.

By HER MAJESTY
QUEEN MARIE OF RUMANIA.
CHAPTER I.
You are curiously interested in kings and queens. You are interested in us just as you are interested in artists, travellers, great criminals or even clowns. I like clowns, don't you?

Somehow I have a sort of brotherly feeling for them. They are always before the public to make others laugh. They are always obliged to agree with me, I am sure. I have done my duty with all my might. My country needs me, looks up to me, believes in me. I have been my people's best friend, their defender and often their leader. We have shared hard times together, and we learned to trust each other. Then why should I consider myself useless or be ashamed?

My country was a small country, little known. I made it my life's work. I gave up my youth to it, the fun and freedom I might have had. I gave it all my time, intelligence, health, energy, to uphold its desire to live and expand. I have stood up with its interests, defended it when it was attacked. I have encouraged and helped all its useful institutions. I have never minded how tired, how longed for peace, rest and quiet—dragged from place to place with a kind word for everyone, encouraging, helping, upholding, listening to complaints, giving of my time and strength, sympathy, money, ready day and night for every call.

Mother To Her People.
Like the clown, I have laughed when my heart was heavy. I have always kept a smiling, amiable, interested face no matter what inner burden may be mine. I have always stood up game, ready, all there, never putting my own feelings, my own needs, first. So why should I be ashamed?

I do not think myself a whit better than my maid, nor than the man working in the factory, nor the peasant tilling his field. But I do think that I am more fitted to a place of power than they are. Generations have gone to the making of me. Centuries, so to say, have prepared are feeling inside. There is a special sort of bravery in that which few pause to think about—to be always forced to go on and on being funny endlessly.

Nor does anyone ask what thoughts are the clown's when, alone at night, he washes off his paint and with it his grimaces, his stupid jokes and his obligation to be funny just because others want to laugh. No, others. Nobody wonders if the clown is feeling as funny as he looks! But to return to kings and queens. You want to know all about us. You want to know what we look like, how we dress, what we eat, what we do, what we really are—and even what we think.

What do we think? Well, we certainly think that it is quite natural to be kings and queens. We are not so astonished at ourselves as you are. For generations we have been accustomed to be kings and queens; it is our tradition, so to say our "job," or anyhow we have been kings, brothers, nephews, nieces, grandchildren, uncles and aunts of kings and queens, so that is nothing particularly astonishing in it for us, you see.

Believes in Hard Work.
Why is it more absurd, more incredible, more astonishing to be a Queen than anything else? (I write it with a capital letter, I hope you observe). Why is it more absurd, more astonishing being a Queen than being a millionaire's wife with a tremendous house? Why more absurd than being a dressmaker or even a cook? It all depends upon the lady, the dressmaker, the cook and the Queen.

I believe in my usefulness just as does the rich lady, the dressmaker or the cook—and if you went more closely into the subject you would soon see why and you would end by agreeing with me, I am sure.

Old Queen Carmen Sylva once wrote a rather bitter but true word in her little book, "Thoughts of a Queen." She said: "The great of this world are there to amuse the public, even with their funerals." She never said a truer word, but one does not always ponder over words which have to do with other people. I am quite ready to answer upon any subject which has to do with kings and queens. I know all about it and it is my pride.

I have done my duty with all my might. My country needs me, looks up to me, believes in me. I have been my people's best friend, their defender and often their leader. We have shared hard times together, and we learned to trust each other. Then why should I consider myself useless or be ashamed?

ANALYSIS CLUB MEETS REBUFF

Offer To Determine Vocation of Pupils Rejected by Board.

Character analysis should be made use of by the board of education, in the opinion of the London education analysis club, in determining vocation of a boy or girl is best suited for in life.

George Yull, treasurer of the club, has written the board that if character analysis was brought into play in the attendance department by the vocational guide officer then many of the board's problems would be solved and numbers of children put on the right track to their proper sphere of activity.

The letter from the character analysis club, which was tabled at the regular meeting of the board yesterday afternoon, was filed, however, without comment and thus little is likely to come of the club's offer of co-operation.

Mr. Yull's letter to the board was as follows:

"I noticed that the school trustees made the statement that they had no right to expect any official to be capable of telling parents or children what they are best adapted for in life."

"Kindly allow me to correct this statement. It is possible to tell what each individual is capable of and best fitted for through the study of character analysis."

"It is possible for a doctor to diagnose a case of sickness, or a lawyer to know what particular line of argument to follow in a case and so on to the end of the chapter."

"There is a character analysis club in London whose members are quite capable of determining what vocation a person is best suited for, what his disposition and character qualities are, and how he will act or react and in a great many cases why he does certain things."

"Through the study of character analysis you get to know people, not merely on the surface, but right down in their innermost consciousness. The writer has been a student for some time and has found the study most fascinating and instructive. I could quote you dozens of cases since our club started where people have benefited through advice given them by our students, and I could demonstrate the opportunities of demonstrating to the school trustees the practicability of character analysis."

"I hope you will give our club a chance to demonstrate to you without the shadow of a doubt the usability of character analysis."

DR. GREEN TO PREACH "MODERNIST" SERMON

Talbot Street Pastor Is Not Daunted by Criticism of Dr. Shields.

Considerable comment has been caused in Baptist circles in London by the attack made by Rev. Dr. T. Shields of Jarvis street Baptist church, Toronto, on Rev. Dr. Bowley Green of Talbot street church in London. The criticism of the Toronto pastor appeared in a recent issue of the Gospel Witness, a paper published by Dr. Shields, and the basis was a sermon delivered by the London pastor, which Dr. Shields denounced as being acceptable to the modernist school of thought.

Dr. Green in the Advertiser this morning that he would make no reference to the incident in his Sunday services, other than to insert a notice in the paper to the effect that owing to the attack made by Dr. Shields he would preach the same sermon at the weekly prayer meeting on the evening of Thursday, June 25.

"I have no desire to enter into controversy with Dr. Shields on this matter," stated Dr. Green. "Although twenty years ago it might have appeared to me in a different light, Dr. Shields could have found out in the first place by having been cut in a most dignified manner. I don't blame the people for being sore about it. However, the damage has been done now, and it will take years to repair it."

It is recalled that at Christmas time the board of deacons of Talbot street church sent a letter to the pastor, signed by all of them, in which they expressed their appreciation of the faithful presentation of the gospel under Dr. Green's pastorate.

LAMBETH UP IN ARMS OVER TREE MUTILATION

Citizens Raise Storm of Protest At Work of Telephone Company.

There is another near riot brewing in Lambeth, and this time it is not over continuation school matters. Someone has given orders to mutilate shade trees on North street, long the pride of the village, and the villagers are up in arms over the matter, according to Deputy Reeve Wm. Boler of Westminster township.

"The people blame the telephone company and the village trustees," declared Mr. Boler today. "We went to see the trees this morning and they have been cut in a most disgraceful manner. I don't blame the people for being sore about it. However, the damage has been done now, and it will take years to repair it."

Provincial engineers take part in road parley.

A meeting of Middlesex county council and representatives of the provincial highway department to discuss the advisability of turning back 70 miles of county roads to the various townships, will be held during the week of July 1, County Clerk John Stuart was in conversation with R. C. Muir, chief engineer of municipal roads, this morning and he informed the clerk that a meeting could not be arranged until that time.

High School Departments Worthwhile, Dept. Avers

Letter On Manual Training, Household Science, Read At Board Meeting.

OPTIONAL, THOUGH Liberal Grants Tell Government View, Deputy Minister Declares.

Though manual training and household science are optional subjects in the collegiate curriculum of the provincial department of education considers it highly desirable that these subjects be included in the courses of study.

Such was the tenor of a letter received from A. H. Colquhoun, deputy minister of education, and tabled at the regular meeting of the board of education yesterday afternoon.

The communication, which comes as an echo of the recent spirited abolition of the departments in the three units of the collegiate, and the regular meeting of the board of education yesterday afternoon.

"What, doesn't the city engineer know?" he asked in astonished tones. "No, I do not, the official replied. 'I don't know who has possession of the street for the past 20 years, if that's of any interest to you.'"

All There Was. Apparently that's all there was to the tense conversation and Mr. Trumper is still wondering whether the city is going to take action to uphold his claim to the street. Definite action has not yet been recommended as Mr. Trumper himself is the chief party in interest to the obstructing of the street.

Now it seems that Mr. Trumper would like to know just how he can go about getting a curb and gutter on Grey street. And as he would have only a two-inch frontage on the street, should his claim to the highway in front of his home be established, he offers to put a new twist into the interesting tangle of property of ownership.

PRISONERS' BOX STILL OFFICIALDOM'S FRIEND Neither Magistrate Nor Chief Would Tinker With Tradition.

"Abolish the prisoners' box at police station? Oh, shoot! They'll be inviting people to come here soon."

So one member of the police commission, Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon commented on another's proposal to do away with the wooden structure, which for years has stamped prisoners in police court as prisoners.

Nor is Chief of Police Robert Birrell, in the department of police commission, over enthusiastic about the mayor's suggestion to eliminate the stigma and ignominy attached to a prisoner's box by substituting ordinary benches for offenders.

"It won't make any difference," he said this morning. "I suppose men could escape as easily from the prisoners' box as they could sitting in the open on ordinary benches."

The mayor will make his suggestion of removal of the prisoners' box at the next meeting of the police commission.

Another change which he is desirous of making, that of substituting the present department of public safety for Police Station, has already been put into effect, Chief Birrell said today.

The name of "police" is no longer associated with London's blue coat force. They are now "members of the department of public safety."

TRAIN FOR R. C. R. MEN WAITING FOR ORDERS

Ottawa had not decided when the London company would proceed, although the railway was waiting for the military offices in Toronto by long-distance at noon.

Sleeper and Tourist Cars. Railway officials do not know nothing of the troop movements. As in all cases of military workings a veil of secrecy enshrouds the plans.

It is expected that the Canadian National Railway will handle the government train, which will require a sleeper for the officers and three tourist cars for the troops. To these will be added a baggage car. No horses will be taken.

The military special being a light train and hauled by one of the huge 6,000-type locomotives, will, in all probability, make good time to the east. The regular passenger train from London to Halifax is about 42 hours. It is thought that the troop train, with right-of-way over other traffic, will make the trip in a little more than 30 hours.

WESTMINSTER COUNCIL INSPECTS TOWNSHIP ROADS

Westminster township council, headed by Reeve J. S. Cousins, Deputy Reeve Harvey Davis and William Boler and Councillors McMillan and Grieves, are today touring the township roads and completing a survey of the work to be done this year before striking the tax rate.

The morning was spent in No. 3 ward, where "Bill" Boler holds sway. This afternoon the Belmont district received the attention of the council.

POSTPONED STREET DANCE WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

Residents of the Quebec street district will hold their street dance tonight, which was postponed from Wednesday night by way of celebrating the opening of the pavement on Quebec street north from the C. P. tracks to Oxford street.

The celebration is scheduled to begin at the Oxford street end of the pavement at 8 p.m. It is expected a large crowd will turn out to properly celebrate the occasion.

Mrs. Allen C. Perley, of Paris, is spending a few days in the city, the first agent in offering the token of good will from the London workers.

RETIRING INSPECTOR GETS HANDSOME GIFTS

A tribute to A. E. Nell's 55 years' service with the Grand Trunk and the Canadian National railways was paid by employees of the local shed and office departments when they presented the retiring claims inspector with a handsome gold-mounted umbrella and a box of cigars.

Mr. Nell's enviable record was lauded by H. MacDougall, local agent, in offering the token of good will from the London workers.

The C. N. R. placed Mr. Nell on the pensioned officers' list on June 1.

MYSTERY VOICE ENTERS TANGLE

"Who Owns West End of Grey Street?" But Puzzle Is Still On.

Who wins the western extremity of Grey street? That is a little matter that has been bothering one H. J. Trumper, owner of No. 123 Grey street, and divers other persons.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Trumper built himself a fine new garage right in the middle of the street, at the western extremity. He asserted that, in this, was he exhibiting his legal claim to a portion of the property used as a city street in front of his home.

The other morning a telephone call came to the city engineer's department.

Who wins the west end of Grey street? asked a voice with judicious enunciation on every word.

"Why you ought to know if any one does," calmly remarked a city official, recognizing the voice on the other end of the wire. "The voice" appeared taken aback.

"What, doesn't the city engineer know?" he asked in astonished tones. "No, I do not, the official replied. 'I don't know who has possession of the street for the past 20 years, if that's of any interest to you.'"

DRIVER ESCAPES WITHOUT SCRATCH

A remarkable sandwich at Montreal. When extricated, coupe was a total wreck, but Lady Luck was with the driver. He escaped without a scratch.

At the grounds lively softball games proved exciting to young and old. In the morning the students of grade 7 played the team made up of grade 8. Grade 7 won with the close margin of one run. The score was 6-5.

The next game proved a triumph for grade 7, and they triumphed in the grade 8 nine handsomely. The score was 15-5.

Poor Old "Umps." A feature of the afternoon was the softball game between the members of the committee and the Christian Brothers. They had a real good time, but didn't much care for the umpires. At times so close were the plays on both sides it was difficult to reach a decision.

The girls of St. Mary's school won from the Sacred Heart girls to the tune of 8 to 2. It was a snappy game and gave the crowd a good time. In the second girl's game, St. Angelas won from St. Mary's 9 to 1.

A touch of the 11th of March was given the day by the wearing of green silk hats, the emblem of old Ireland. Among those present were Harry Ranahan, chairman, who had a big day taking care of the entries of the various events. Several members of the diocesan clergy were there, among them Monsignor McKeon, Monsignor Brady, Rev. Father Tierney, Rev. Father Chiswick and others.

Each member of council, it was explained by Rev. Dr. Laird, chairman of the agenda committee, was on at least two committees and some on three. In the majority of cases both committees were of the members to choose an effort had been made to meet their wishes in that respect.

A delegate pointed out that in almost all committees ministers outnumbered laymen. Dr. Laird explained that in the membership of Presbyterian nominees there were far more ministers than laymen and it was impossible to balance the balance even between them on the committees.

There was a total of about 750 committee places divided among the 350 members of council. The smallest committee of ten is to prepare addresses to the king and the governor-general, the largest, 36, has to do with life and work of the church.

Committees Appointed. Committees were appointed to deal with the following matters: Committee business.

Titles, emblems and methods of electing presiding officer and secretary or clerk of the council.

Annual conferences, number and boundaries.

The formation of presbyteries.

On membership of commission on permanent organization.

Church property.

Life and work of the church.

Church worship.

Statistical.

Historical materials.

Church architecture.

Address to the king.

Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon presided over the morning session, most of the time being taken up in the formation of the church union, between Hamilton and Dundas. It was explained that it had been organized as an independent church fourteen years ago, and on a vote had decided to join the union. The joint committee on church union was, by recommendation, continued in existence.

CARRIER PIGEON DIES.

"Step On the Gas" Orders Thaw On Second Plunge In Broadway

New York, June 11.—Harry K. Thaw made a sensational re-entrance into Broadway's night life early this morning, stalled traffic at Forty-Eighth street, motored up the bridge path in Central Park, and narrowly escaped being arrested in as wild a taxicab ride as ever was staged by a movie thriller.

Harry's re-advent into the tinsel life of the roaring forties was made two weeks ago. It wasn't like the "good old days," but still it has its lure, even in these quiet times, and after two weeks of rusticiating down in Virginia, Harry decided to come back for another whirl at it.

The reporters saw Harry in a supper club on Upper Broadway about the same time Harry saw them.

"Step on it," he said to a taxicab driver in front of the club. The driver stepped on it—with one eye on the speedometer and the other on a yellow sack that is big for Broadway these days.

Up Broadway, through Central Park, ignoring traffic signals and plunging around street corners, went the driver of the taxicab, with Harry White standing on the running board and yelling "whoops." Corners were taken on two wheels and a number of pedestrians made flying leaps for safety.

After a chase through Central Park, Thaw returned to his starting point aglow with the excitement of the ride. He fraternized with the pretty little girls in the chorus, and made a friend for life of one of them by telling her, "My dear, you look exactly like Lillian Russell when she was you age."

Harry was uncommunicative about his plans, he said, "and not on business either. I don't know how long I'll stay."

The cost of operating the classes amounted to $2,310, consisting of $2,960 for teachers' salaries and $850 for janitors' services and for heat, light, etc.

FUNERAL HELD AT BORDER OF FORMER LONDON GIRL

The funeral of Edith Margaret Ashley, who died in Hotel Dieu hospital, Windsor, Ontario, on Monday, after a month's illness, was held on Wednesday afternoon from her parents' residence, 30 Queen's street, Sandwich, to the Church of the Ascension. Services were conducted by the Rev. H. B. Ashby, formerly of London, Ontario. The choir of the church, assisted by Mr. Marsden, organist, sang "I Heard the Voice of the Morning," and the Resurrection Hymn.

The deceased, who was in her 22nd year, was an active member of the choir since coming to the Border City, just over a year ago, from London, where she had resided at 13 Charles street. Besides her parents, who moved to Sandwich some six weeks ago, she was survived by four sisters, Evelyn, Hilda, Miriam and Phyllis; two brothers, Edward and Sidney, all at home. The pallbearers were Messrs. B. Hanson, formerly of London, J. Ingleby, L. Wilson, J. Ridley, Grant and Foreman. Interment was made at Windsor Grove cemetery.

Funds Total $45,000.

These funds, altogether, total about $45,000, and while for the time being they will be administered separately as in the past, it will be the aim of the church eventually to consolidate them under one board and to provide uniform rates of payments to the beneficiaries.

The Methodist church, in its superannuation fund, has a total invested capital of about $2,335,000; the Presbyterians in their separate funds for ministers and for widows and orphans about $2,075,000, and the Congregationalists $120,000.

An application for membership in the United church was received from the Binkley Union church, between Hamilton and Dundas. It was explained that it had been organized as an independent church fourteen years ago, and on a vote had decided to join the union. The joint committee on church union was, by recommendation, continued in existence.

BOY BADLY HURT WHEN HIT BY CAR

Switzer Suffers Serious Injuries To Head and Body.

Ivan Switzer, 13 years old, 330 Dundas street, is lying in Victoria hospital with serious injuries to his head and body as the result of being knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by Wilfred Sprague, 1073 Dundas street, near the corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets.

Switzer was riding his wheel east on Dundas street and Sprague was driving west. It is reported that Switzer turned his wheel directly in front of the auto and that the accident was unavoidable.

It is feared that the boy is suffering from a fractured skull and from injuries to his chest.

He was reported to be resting easily in an early hour this afternoon although in a semi-conscious state.

Sprague reported the accident to the police. The brakes on his car were tested and found to be working properly.

NO WORK' PSYCHOLOGY IS LATEST TRIUMPH

Questionnaires Distributed by Social Service Council.

In an effort to get at the root of the unemployed situation in Canada, the industrial life committee of the Social Service Council of Canada has sent out 1,000 questionnaires through H. C. Hudson, of the government employment bureau, Toronto.

Twenty questionnaires have been sent to London to Superintendent J. F. Spencer, of the local employment bureau, who will have the forms filled out by typical unemployed in his district.

The committee has felt that the question of unemployment has been dealt with only in general terms, and that it is the reason they want to study the cases of 1,000 people from coast to coast.

The committee does not want the stories of people who are continually asking for the price of a cup of coffee or 25 cents for a bed. They want to know about the home relationship.

They want to know whether unemployment adds to their depression around the house or whether the family is a source of inspiration to the unemployed.

The committee is anxious to ascertain if vocation has anything to do with unemployment. In other words, does the man being questioned think he has made a mistake in the work that he has decided to follow?

Is his mental attitude and social background? Does he blame himself for his troubles or does he refer to them as continued bad luck?

Has unemployment tended to lessen his efficiency and decrease his desire to work? What does he suggest that he is out of work? These are the questions that will be asked by Mr. Spencer of the men and women he selects as typical cases of unemployed.

Special Committee on Petersen Contract Submits Recommendations to House.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 12.—The special committee appointed by the house to investigate the contract with Sir William Petersen and ocean rates, presented its report to the house this afternoon. Its principal recommendations are:

1. That the examination into the books of the conference lines by Gordon W. Scott, C.A., be continued in Britain and elsewhere, in order to determine whether the rates now charged are excessive, to explain discrepancies in operating costs, to verify the figures submitted, and in short, to prepare an accurate representation of the North Atlantic shipping situation, the conference lines having declared their willingness to submit to such examination.
2. That he also be instructed to make a like examination into the books kept by or in connection with the ships of Sir William Petersen, who has declared a like willingness and that he should report his conclusions to the government on both phases of this inquiry.
3. That Sir William Petersen should be given opportunity, if he so desires, of substantiating the claims made by him in respect to his ships.
4. That to this end tests should be made of the actual performance of these ships in the North Atlantic Canadian trade, under careful and expert supervision, both of the earnings, operating costs, managerial expenses, and performance at sea and in port of such ships.
5. Inasmuch as it is in the public interest that these tests should be made, and that they should be effective and fair to all parties, Sir William Petersen should be given the opportunity to demonstrate the economies of his ships under conditions which will ensure freedom of competition in obtaining cargo.

ANY SITE BUT RECTORY FOR EAST COLLEGIATE

Question of Location and of Type Is Still Undecided.

KEEPS UNIT SYSTEM

Lawson Warns East London May Have To Wait Two Years.

Desertion of the Rectory street public school site for the new east end collegiate was unanimously agreed upon by the board of education yesterday afternoon. They decided, however, at its regular monthly meeting, to adhere to the policy of the unit system in the collegiate institute.

The question of placing manual training and household science departments in the new east unit, as also gymnasium and an auditorium, will be considered at a later date, the board members having become exhausted in their debating strength after a trying four-hour session.

This action is the outcome of the agitation led up by Vice-Chairman A. R. Cairncross and Trustee William G. Murray on behalf of the enlargement of the central collegiate as the solution of the problem, together with the persistent protests of east end ratepayers, led by T. B. Richardson, Mrs. A. W. Rawlings, H. B. A. Swindall and others, against the tearing down of the Rectory street public school.

Bring Big Petition.

Mr. Richardson yesterday appeared before the board for the third or fourth time, armed with the second petition against the wrecking of the school that has been circulated in the district. He took pains to explain that only ratepayers and parents of children attending the Rectory school had been allowed to sign the protest, which bore the signatures of 415 residents in the district.

Dr. R. J. Gordon, president of the London East parents' association, headed a deputation consisting of A. R. C. Hurd, Rev. G. W. Dewey and J. M. Duncan, urged that an east end unit be built as speedily as possible on the site which would best meet the future needs of the city.

Following the remarks of the two deputations, Chairman S. F. Lawson chose the time as opportune to state that if plans in connection with the East London unit were held up this year, which with the erection of the south unit next year, would mean that the east end of the city

Mackay To Get Purse of Gold

Rev. James MacKay, B.D., New St. James' Presbyterian church, London, is to be made the recipient of a purse of gold by his host of admirers amongst the non-concurring Presbyterians of London and district.

The presentation, planned for the monster picnic being staged by the Presbyterians of Western Ontario at Springbank park on Saturday, June 21, is as a mark of appreciation and esteem of Mr. MacKay for his leadership throughout the church union campaign, which closed with the birth of the United Church of Canada on Wednesday at Toronto.

Contributions toward the gift are being sought throughout the district by means of a circular letter sent out by the London Presbyterian Church association.

would have to go without a new collegiate for two years or more.

Needs Larger Property.

"To throw out the scare that if you don't let us put the collegiate on the Rectory street site we won't give you one at all," declared Mr. Richardson, quickly picking the chairman up on this point, "is not a fair proposition at all; it isn't even honest."

Mr. Richardson was also more or less successful in drawing out Mr. Lawson on the point that the provincial department of education would shortly request the board to enlarge the Rectory street site to three acres to meet departmental regulations, which property acquisition would cost the board $50,000 or more.

"If merely a majority of the board is in favor of Rectory street site," observed Trustee George F. Copeland, "then I think the board would be making a mistake to go ahead with that plan. All hope of uniting the board on certain phases of the Rectory street plan are gone, and I believe, therefore, that we might quite properly reopen the question and arrive at a new settlement of this vexed problem."

At the urging of the chairman the rules were suspended in order to enable the board to take up, as motions, the notices of motion submitted by Trustee Cairncross, with regard to the Rectory street plan. The vice-chairman moved four separate motions relating to the Rectory street plan, as follows: That the board build one unit this year, that the unit be a complete one, including manual training, household science, auditorium and gymnasium; that the new unit be built in the east end of the city; and that the new unit be built on the site of the Rectory street public school.

Replying to a direct question by the chairman, Mr. Cairncross stated that he had not asked the department for any sanction of his proposal to enlarge the central collegiate.

No Electioneering.
"I have done absolutely no electioneering on this," said the vice-chairman. "I want the thing to stand on its own merits, if it has any, and it is up to the board to decide. Personally, I feel that for $200,000 the secondary school problem in London can be tidily handled for the present by providing two wings at the central collegiate, and an auditorium and a gymnasium at the technical and commercial high school, whereas the unit system calls for an outlay of fully $700,000. I think the saving of $500,000 of such importance to have this whole question reopened by the board."

"Board business is being held up," averred the chairman, "and this state of confusion will continue for the future, in which the board has been, until the question is cleared up."

Mr. Lawson was unable, however, to give any very satisfactory answer to Trustee B. N. Campbell as to what business was being held up, other than "amendments to the new constitution and bylaws under which the board is working."

The vote to abandon the Rectory street site was unanimous, though it was made clear that thereby the Rectory street site is not in any way preserved should the board in its wisdom decide that the site is still the best for the collegiate.

Mr. Mess then spoke strongly against the "modified unit system" composed of the central and south units. Trustee Mrs. John Hunt stated that five years ago she had been one of six trustees to pledge the board to the unit system, and that the east end should get the first new unit. Trustee Mrs. John Rose claimed that the east end of the city is not satisfied with technical school education alone, and that in dollars and cents, as well as in education, the unit system is better than one big central collegiate.

Called to Order.
Despite the fact that Mr. Lawson asked Mr. Mess to take the chair while he spoke to the motion, the chairman was called to order for too vigorously attacking the central collegiate plan, rather than just the question of the building of the new unit in the east end. Mr. Murray flatly contradicted Mr. Lawson's assertion that the heating and ventilation systems would have to be ripped out and enlarged if wings were added to the central collegiate.

The board then voted down the vice-chairman's motion to rescind the building of the collegiate in the east end. Mr. Cairncross being supported by only Trustees B. N. Campbell, Wm. G. Murray and N. F. Willmot.

By this time the members began to get really tired of the battle, and consequently the discussion became more involved, particularly as to the interpretation and meaning of a "complete" collegiate with regard to auditorium, gymnasium, manual training and household science.

Finally the board agreed unanimously to accept Mr. Cairncross' motion to rescind the building of one complete unit this year in order to clear the board for a fresh start as to this phase of the new collegiate in the east end of the city, whatever site is finally chosen by the board.

U. S. GAINS MUCH FROM PROHIBITION

Church Bulletin Claims Big Economic Saving and Social Improvement.

What prohibition has meant to the United States in the last year in an economic sense is shown in a recent article in the Chicago Church Federation Bulletin. The facts contained in this article which prove the tremendous savings effected since prohibition came into effect are given as follows:

"Uncle Sam has taken half a million from the yearly arrests for drunkenness, reduced his penitentiary population by 5,000, closed the doors of many jails once crowded, decreased alcoholic insanity by two-thirds, and lowered his almshouse ratio from 40 per 100,000 to 71, the smallest in his history."

He has also increased the longevity by three years, erected homes for 205,193 families during the first six months of the past year, and the industrial accidents are 250,000 fewer than in the "wet" years.

"Uncle Sam saves $74,000,000 a year now where he used to spend this sum to relieve drink-caused poverty. Instead of beer he buys bonds until today one in every five is a security holder. Over 25,000,000 of his boys and girls are in school, over 3,000 new members join the churches daily, and $250,000,000 was spent in 1924 on church buildings."

The material wealth of the United States is vividly exemplified in statistics: "Each month America earns seven billion dollars, saves one billion, pays premiums on a billion dollars worth of new insurance, gives in charity at home $25,000,000, while three million dollars of the public debt are paid off each working day."

Uncle Sam now has time and money for sport, luxury and the new over a million dollars on the movies, another million on radio, and another million on outdoor sports."

REV. DR. W. H. HEARTZ, of Amherst, Nova Scotia, dean of active Methodist ministers in Canada, who has been preaching for 63 years and a member of the Methodist missionary board for 43 years, was one of the Nova Scotian representatives to the United church inaugural.

SIMS' RESIGNATION TAKEN BY BOARD

Will Be Effective Immediately—City Not To Have Junior High Schools.

The resignation of Marcus M. Sims, chief attendance officer, was accepted by the board of education yesterday afternoon, to take effect immediately.

The board decided further that a special committee should be appointed to investigate the work and bring in whatever recommendations it may deem fit as to the future operation of the department. The committee will be named by the chairman within the next few days. The board adopted the recommendation of the special committee under trustee Mrs. J. A. Rose that upper school work be continued in both east and south units of the college, in addition to the central unit, in all subjects in which there is a sufficient enrollment to be worth while.

In effect, the adoption of this recommendation means that junior high schools are not to be established here. Vice-Chairman A. R. Cairncross was the only trustee to oppose the committee's recommendation, and he did so on the ground that Dr. F. W. Merchant, director of education for the province, had said to him that the confining of upper school work to the central unit here was one way in which the board could economize.

Legal Opinion Sought.

A letter from H. B. Ashplant, city auditor, suggests the advisability of consulting the board's solicitor regarding the legality of the purchase of 1,000 cadet uniforms for the public schools, which were received and filed for future reference.

Trustee Rev. R. D. Mess questioned whether the letter expressed Mr. Ashplant's personal opinion on the subject or his opinion as auditor. "We do not need to test the legality of our actions," declared Mr. Mess. "We are not worrying about them because we are convinced that they are all right."

Administrator G. A. Wheable, B.A., pointed out that no bills had yet come through for the uniforms and that thus payment has not been refused by the auditor, and that until that time nothing need be done about the matter.

In seconding Mr. Mess' motion to file the letter, Trustee G. F. Copeland suggested that the board express its thanks to Mr. Ashplant for his letter, to which the mover agreed.

Transfer Plan Adopted.

The suggestion of Principal E. A. Miller, M.A., of the college, that a sufficient number of county students attending the college be sent to the central unit in order that three classes of first year students can be maintained at the south unit next fall, the same as this past year, was adopted, thereby overcoming the difficulty of having to surrender one of the three rooms the south unit has had in Victoria public school.

Mr. Cairncross drew the attention of the board to the annual announcement printed and published by the technical and commercial high school in its own printing department, and spoke in commendatory terms of the work of the pupils at the school in that particular regard.

The board acceded to the request of the Canadian club for a grant of $50 in connection with the observance of Dominion day this year as in former years. Permission was granted also to detachments of ten cadets from each school parading for the day's doings.

The request from the Lions' club that the public school cadets be allowed to parade on the occasion of the military tattoo on Friday evening, June 19, was met by a compromise on the part of the board in extending a permission for a voluntary selection of cadets from each school to represent the corps.

SERBIAN SECTIONMAN KILLED NEAR RODNEY

Martin Radirich Falls Off Hand Car, Which Passes Over Him.

Rodney, June 12.—Martin Radirich, a Serbian, a member of the F. B. Marble Co. extra gang on the M. C. R., was accidentally killed shortly before noon yesterday about three miles west of Rodney, when he fell off the first of three hand cars, the others which were running fast, passing over him. He was badly cut about the head and died almost immediately.

Dr. S. M. Dorland of Rodney attended him. The remains are now at D. N. Walker's undertaking parlors.

Thirty-six crests and letters were presented to students of the central collegiate institute yesterday, indicative of the honor brought to themselves and to the school along academic and sport lines.

WESTERN STANDS HIGH IN TRAINING CORPS WORK

Imperial War Office Report Shows Standings of Colleges.

The University of Western Ontario stands high among Canadian colleges and universities in officers' training corps work. This is disclosed in a report just received from the Imperial war office, London, England.

Western "U" and the University of Alberta share equally the honor of being the first schools to include students in medical company examinations.

The officers of "A" company are Lieut.-Col. W. J. Brown, Major G. A. Smith, Capt. H. J. Nunn, Lieut. P. M. E. B. Linton, B. Robinson, H. Tindall, Capt. A. Woods, Q.-M. S. J. McIntosh, F. N. Owens.

Certificate "B" is granted to seven University of Western Ontario students who took the officers' training corps infantry examinations in March last. They are: C. J. Kingsmill, E. Gill, A. S. Kingsmill, J. T. Martin, H. A. Ward, C. F. Wilson and J. P. Wells.

Certificate "C" in infantry is awarded to twelve, also of the University of Western Ontario: H. F. Appleyard, M. F. Crawford, J. E. Dean, J. E. Durrant, S. A. Fraleigh, G. H. Johnson and W. F. Parsons.

PROJECT LESSENS ACCIDENT DANGER

Widening of Westmount Drive Is Praised by Motorists.

Although the work is only half completed, motorists are loud in their praise of the improvement being made by the widening of Westmount Drive by Westminster township council.

Westmount Drive affords a wonderful view of the Springbank Valley golf course and connects Brick street to the Pipe Line road. The council will also erect a guard rail for 100 yards or more, Deputy Reeve Boler states.

The road has for some years been so narrow that it was impossible for vehicles to pass each other, except at certain spots. Being more heavily travelled each year, and the scene of many narrow escapes from accidents, the township council decided several weeks ago to make the road safe for all traffic.

CONSCRIPTION IN PERSIA.

Associated Press Despatch Teheran, Persia, June 12.—The Persian government has enacted a measure making military service compulsory.

FIVE TO BE TRIED OUT AS FIREMEN

Three Probationers Already Added to Department by Chief Aitken.

Three more probationers were added to the city fire department's force today by Chief John Aitken. Two others are being sought. The new men will bring the strength of the department to 68 officers and men.

"We have taken on some likely enough fellows," the chief declared today. "They have to be young and active, able to pass mental and physical tests that have improved in standard."

Ald. Frank McKay, chairman of No. 1 committee of the city council, points out the need for active men when addition are to be made. Probationers should be taken on, he says, who are able to "stand the gauntlet," who are intelligent, and who are bona fide Londoners and anxious to get on. Rates of pay are good, and promotion, with increases in wages, will come to the deserving.

This is just the type of men the chief says he is looking for. "No floaters wanted," emphasizes the chief. "They have to be good residents of London and ready to go on probation for a year before they are put on regular pay."

Only men between the ages of 21 and 25, of medium build and sound physique, will be accepted on probation.

Any Pain or Swelling

Varicose Veins are stubborn to reduce. Yet "ABSORBINE JR." has been used with wonderful success in allaying the pain, taking out the soreness and inflammation, and reducing the swollen, congested veins.

For Rheumatism and Gouty Swellings—for Stiff Neck, Tonsillitis and Neuralgia—for strained or torn ligaments—for Lameness and Soreness from overwork or accident—a brisk rubbing with a few drops of "ABSORBINE JR." makes the pain a lot easier. Try it every few hours and see how fast you get relief.

When an accident happens—a cut, burn, bruise, dislocation—apply "ABSORBINE JR." to heal the injury and prevent infection.

"ABSORBINE JR." is a vegetable germicide—absolutely safe to use—pleasant odor—contains no grease and does not stain.

What a Difference

PAINT MAKES

What a difference both paint and varnish make in the appearance of your home, inside and out. They add harmony of color, cheerfulness and contentment. You are prouder of a well-painted home. You value it higher. It actually takes on an increased valuation.

What a Difference Floglaze Makes in Paint Service

25% Better Painting 25% Greater Paint Value

Diagram 1. The above diagram illustrates the faults of brush marks in lead and oil paint, and other mixed paints. Points A are weak spots in the film. Points B indicate where an excess of paint gives only surface drying, leaving a soft centre and producing surface cracking. Dirt and destructive fungi collect in the holes at points C, giving a dirty appearance and early destruction of the film. Lights does not reflect a good gloss from such a rough surface. Too much paint is piled up at points D, which lessens its covering capacity.

Diagram 2. The above diagram illustrates a typical Floglaze Exterior Surface. There are no weak hollows to destroy the film. Its self-leveling qualities produce a level, unbroken surface. There are no brush marks. Dirt and fungi cannot collect to mar or destroy the film. Lights is evenly reflected, giving a glossy enamel finish on both interior and exterior surfaces.

It can also be seen that the length of the sign line from X to Y in diagram No. 1 is much greater than the length of the line X to Y in diagram No. 2, which plainly illustrates why FLOGLAZE EXTERIOR actually covers from 25% to 30% more surface than any paint made with ordinary raw flaxseed oil.

There Is a Floglaze Line for Every Purpose

Exterior Paint for inside and outside Painting. Porch and Veranda Paint for interior and exterior floors.

Velvet Finish for interior wall and ceiling decoration. Lac Shades for furniture, woodwork and floors.

Now Dad, Aren't You Glad You Got Me a C.C.M.?

"Do you remember last year, Dad, when you bought my C.C.M. and, afterwards, said you were sorry you didn't buy a cheaper one, like Billy Breen's?"

"You ought to see Billy's now, Dad. It looks five years' old! And it runs so hard! Billy's hardly using it at all."

"Is that so, Jack?"

"Yes. And look at my C.C.M. See how smooth and bright the enamel is. And look how the nickel sparkles. You'd think my C.C.M. was new this season. Ride up to the corner and back, Dad, and see how easy it runs. My C.C.M. cost a little more than Billy's, but you should be proud of your judgment in buying it, Dad."

"You mean your judgment, don't you, Jack? You kept telling me how much better a C.C.M. was. You were so eager to have a C.C.M. that I didn't like to disappoint you. And I'm certainly glad I got you your choice."

If your boy is urging you to get him a C.C.M., just remember that boys are "bicycle wise".

They know all about the smooth-running C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger, the extra coats of lustrous enamel, the nickelling over copper, the English Seamless Tubing, the drop forged crown, the new improved Hercules Brake and the other good features of the C.C.M. that make it a better bicycle—that make it a real bicycle for a real boy.

Trust your boy's judgment. He knows. And the sooner you get a bicycle for him, the longer season he will have to enjoy it.

Prices Again Reduced

C.C.M.'s are the biggest values since pre-war days. They're selling now from $20 to $25 less than the "peak" prices. Among them there's a special curved bar model that the boy won't outgrow. Also neat, trim models for girls.

WHISPERS OF DEATH STOP IMMIGRANTS

Robb Declares Work of Department Made More Difficult by "Jeremiahs."

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 11.—"Canada has received a good deal of free advertising from whispers of death and lamentations of Jeremiahs out of office," said Hon. James A. Robb, minister of immigration, when explaining to the House of Commons some of the difficulties met by his department in obtaining the right class of immigrants for Canada. It was a good thing to criticize the government, Mr. Robb said, but criticism should stop short of running down the country. He stated that there was propaganda against Canada in Great Britain which the department was doing its best to counteract.

Other difficulties mentioned by the minister in getting immigrants were: Firstly, that there was now no free land for settlement which could be offered as an inducement to immigrants. Secondly, the cost of coming to Canada was very much higher than it had been some years ago. Thirdly, the people in countries from which desirable immigrants could be obtained were not as well off as they had been, and the countries themselves were anxious to retain their agricultural population. Canada wanted people who would settle on the land, and preferably men with families. He thought things were improving, and that more satisfactory results would be looked for.

ASKS FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 11.—Recommending a strong immigration policy, the special house committee on national railways and shipping, through its chairman, W. D. Euler of North Waterloo, presented its first report in the House of Commons this afternoon. "Your committee believes," says the report, "that in the interests of the country and the national railways the immigration activities of the Canadian National Railways should not overlap those of the government, and that the latter should develop a strong immigration policy."

Women of Continuing Presbyterians Will Separate From Other Church Bodies.

Toronto, June 11.—The continuing Presbyterian Women's Missionary society gathered in Knox church here today for a two days' meeting, with almost 1,000 women in attendance. It was decided that from this date the women's missionary society will be a separate organization, rather than an auxiliary to the mission boards of the church. Though it will henceforth be independent, it will continue to co-operate fully with the other boards of the church, but will have full control over its expenditure.

RENEWED FURY MARKS FIGHT TO GAIN CANTON

Armies of Rival Chinese Leaders Continue Battle For City.

Associated Press Despatch.
Canton, June 11.—Fighting day and night, armies of rival military leaders continued their battle for possession of Canton today with new fury. A force of Kwangtung troops in the attacking Cantonese army was shot into the river last night, when an attempt was made to make a surprise landing, which was discovered by the defending forces. Heavy casualties resulted, and at dawn many bodies were seen in the river. Additional foreign gunboats arrived today, making a total of ten in port. The foreign war craft is being used to administer medical aid to wounded residents of the river front. Eighteen members of the Chinese chamber of commerce here today waited on British consular authorities, presumably regarding the present situation, but the result of the call was not made known. The defending Yunnanese troops assert their willingness to hand over the government to the Kwangtung wing of the attacking force. The Yunnanese leaders agree the Kwangtung are competent to handle government affairs, and the defending forces will be willing to support them. Public opinion favors the retention of the Yunnanese forces in charge of the government at Canton.

Alb. was chosen as the place of meeting for the next annual convention. L. W. Hicks of Allan, Killam and Mackay, Winnipeg, was unanimously elected president. The progress of municipalities in Western Canada in the direction of economy and retrenchment came in for warm commendation in the annual report of the committee on municipal administration and finance.

SOLDIERS' GRAVES VISITED SUNDAY

C. E. F. Chapter, I. O. D. E.,
Arranges Public Service at Cemetery.

The C. E. F. Returned Chapter, I. O. D. E., has had an important part in making Decoration Day a civic event for the city of London. When the crowds gather at Mount Pleasant cemetery at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon for the decoration service, which will be conducted by the Rev. J. Bruce Hunter, they will be gathering there because of the past five years the C. E. F. chapter has been agitating for a civically recognized day for the decoration of soldiers' graves.

For five years the chapter members have been carrying on this work alone, but last year, for the first time, a number of London institutions, including the C. W. V. A. and other I. O. D. E. chapters, co-operated with the chapter and are doing so again this year.

The graves will be decorated with flags and wreaths will be placed around the cross of sacrifice by these bodies as well as by individual citizens who come to pay their tribute to the soldier dead.

Mrs. D. F. Campbell, regent of the C. E. F. chapter, is to read the I. O. D. E. prayer during the memorial service. A special invitation for all of the I. O. D. E. chapters and other organizations to be present at the service is being issued by the C. E. F. chapter. Cars will leave the city hall at 3:30 o'clock, the service taking place at 4 o'clock.

Members of the C. E. F. chapter are meeting at the corner of Richmond and Dundas streets at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon to leave in a body for Woodland cemetery to decorate the soldiers' graves there.

JUNE WEDDINGS

McCAULEY-GLEESON.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral, on Tuesday morning, June 9, at 8 o'clock, when Helen A. Gleeson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Gleeson, Albert street, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas McCauley, the Rev. Father O'Donnell officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. James R. Gleeson, was attended by her niece, Miss Helen M. Gleeson of Toronto, while the groom's brother, Mr. Jack McCauley, also of Toronto, acted as best man. The music, under the direction of Brother Stephen, was rendered by the De La Salle boys of St. Peter's chancel choir, Dr. Louis Balogh presiding at the organ.

TROTT-SAXTON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Brock Saxton, Colborne street, Stratford, was the scene of a very pretty June wedding at 3 o'clock, on Wednesday afternoon, when their only daughter, Reiva Blanche, was married to Arthur W. H. Trott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Trott of Carleton Place. The ceremony was performed in the presence of about fifty guests by the Rev. Mr. Walker of Mount Brydges Baptist church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in ivory satin crepe with pearl and crystal trimmings, and wore a bridal veil in Juliet cap effect, caught up with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Nona Willson played the wedding march and Mr. Timewell of Pingal sang "O Promise Me."

After luncheon, the bridal couple left by motor for Buffalo and Elmira, N.Y., the bride travelling in a navy blue and gray ensemble suit with hat to match, and gray fur choker.

On their return they will take up their home on the 3rd concession, Carleton Place.

CAMPBELL-YEOMAN.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, June 10, at the Methodist church, Thamesville, when Ada Irene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Yeoman, became the bride of Mr. William Melburn Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Campbell, Thamesford, Ont. The Rev. L. Bartlett performed the ceremony, which took place at the altar, prettily decorated with ferns and peonies by girl friends of the bride.

Promptly at 3 o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Irene Moore, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She looked beautiful in a wedding gown of ivory crepe satin, trimmed with rhinestones and pearls. Her veil, of tulle, was caught with a band of pearls. She wore white kid slippers, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Marjorie Mason of London, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, looking lovely in her gown of shell pink taffeta, with hat to match and carried pink carnations.

Mr. Clarence Yeoman, brother of the bride, assisted the groom, with

Mr. Roy Greenwood and Mr. Pat George as ushers. After the ceremony a reception and buffet luncheon was given at the home of the bride's parents, Victoria street, which was prettily decorated with peonies and roses. The color scheme of the bride's table was pink and white. About fifty guests were present from Detroit, Pontiac, Thamesford and London. Later in the day the young people left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the bride travelling in an ensemble costume of sand French chermeline, with hat in contrasting shade. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will take up their residence at their new home, Highbury avenue, London.

PARKINSON-BELL.

A pretty June wedding was solemnized this week at All Saints' church, when Miss Ida Trenchard Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell of Crumlin, became the bride of Ivan D. Parkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Parkinson, also of Crumlin. Rev. Septimus Irwin of Kingsville, an uncle of the bride, officiated, assisted by the rector of the church, Rev. A. A. Rice.

The bride march was played by Kenneth Bice, as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her lovely nuptial robe was of white satin-back crepe, trimmed with graceful panels of the reversed material, and clever touches of pearls. Her veil was caught at the sides with orange blossoms and arranged under a pearl bandeau, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and valley lilies.

Miss Grace Wilnot, cousin of the bride, and Miss Ida Parkinson, sister of the groom, were the bridesmaids, the former wearing a pretty frock of ash of roses georgette with insets of cream lace, and the latter in a dainty frock of georgette in mauve tones with lace trimming. Both wore white leghorn hats faced with material to match their gowns, with one large flower at the side and smart streamers of black velvet. Their bouquets were of sunset roses and sweet peas. Little Miss Frances Boyd, of Appin, also a cousin of the bride, was a winsome flower girl in her pastel-tinted frock of cream and yellow with hat to match, and carrying flowers. The groom was attended by Frank Judd, of Crumlin, his cousin, the Rev. Mr. Harold Irwin of Appin and Ellison Irwin of Dorchester, cousins of the bride. During the signing of the register Miss Etta Wilnot, also a cousin of the bride, sang very sweetly "O Promise Me." Miss Wilnot wore a pretty gown of orchid georgette and white leghorn hat with touches of black.

Peonies, marguerites and iris, used in the decorating of the church, made an effective background for the wedding. Following the ceremony the guests returned to the home of the bride's parents for the reception. Peonies and roses were effectively used for decorating. Mrs. Bell, who received with her daughter and son-in-law, was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Parkinson, the bridegroom's mother, who also gown in black, and Mrs. N. F. Wilnot, of this city, aunt of the bride, wore a black georgette gown and black and white hat, and a corsage of sunset roses.

After a dainty buffet luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Parkinson left by motor to spend their honeymoon in New York and Washington, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit with sand blouse and hat and fox fur, the latter the gift of the groom. Upon their return they will reside in Crumlin.

LAMBETH L. A.
An interesting meeting of the ladies aid of the Lambeth church was held this week at the home of Mrs. James Kelly. The afternoon was featured with an address on "Suggestions for Thought," given by Mrs. Charles Turner of London, and a solo, which was highly appreciated, by Miss Alda Rose of New York. Ed. Baines contributed an excellent reading. The meeting was well attended and arrangements were completed for the garden party to be held on July 5. Later, the afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Colling.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF W. M. S. IS HELD

Wellington Street Women Meet
For First Time Under New Denomination.

The members of the W. M. S. of the Wellington street United church of Canada held their first meeting under that denomination, and it was also the occasion of the closing meeting of the season and the annual banquet.

The business session was held in the Sunday school room at 4 o'clock, with Mrs. C. Ireland in charge. Following the opening hymn the members repeated the Lord's prayer in unison, after which short prayers were offered by Mrs. H. Woollett, Mrs. R. Booth and Miss Phillips. Mrs. T. Doolan read the Bible lesson.

A very interesting and comprehensive account of the recent W. M. S. convention held in Sarnia was given by Mrs. H. Woollett, who was a delegate. Mrs. F. Morris then thanked the women for their donations of pillow slips to the recent Grenfell mission appeal, and letters, received from members who had been sent flowers while ill, were also read.

It was reported that Mrs. W. Jeffrey had been made an honorary member of the society. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. J. Holiday.

There was a social intermission until 6:30 o'clock, when all adjourned to the basement of the church and were joined by their husbands and a few friends. About 125 guests sat down to a delicious supper, served at tables prettily arranged with flowers. Mrs. Morris was the convener.

Following the supper, while the guests remained at the tables, the following delightful program was carried out: a sing-song led by E. Werner; toast, "The Flag," proposed by Mrs. J. Holiday and responded to by Rev. G. T. Watts; solo, Mrs. D. Trout; reading, Miss Partridge; toast, "The United church of Canada," proposed by J. Holiday and responded to by Rev. G. T. Watts; solo, Mrs. D. Trout; reading, Miss Partridge; solo, E. Werner; toast, "The W. M. S.," proposed by G. T. Watts and responded to by J. Wallace, and the evening then closed with another hearty sing-song.

W. C. T. U. FORMS MOTHERS' SOCIETY

Mrs. John Jones Addresses
New Club On Child Welfare.

As an outcome of a Mothers' Day service at the Bethanmanuel church, at which Mrs. John Jones of the ward three W. C. T. U. was the speaker, a community mothers' club was organized in connection with this union.

Last night the first meeting since organization was held in the B. M. E. church, Mrs. F. O. Stewart, the vice-president, in the chair. Warm weather has no terrors for the enthusiastic members, who purpose holding their meetings regularly through the summer months.

Mrs. Thompson was appointed convener of the membership committee; Mrs. Miller, social convener; Mrs. Harris, visiting convener. The chief talk of the evening, on "Babyhood," was given by Mrs. John Jones, who placed emphasis on proper food, care of eyes, mouth and nails. An interesting and instructive list of "don'ts" was given to the mothers, who were delighted with Mrs. Jones' talk.

This club is carried on under the ward three W. C. T. U. mothers' department, of which Mrs. Jones is superintendent. At the close of her talk on babyhood, she conducted a questionnaire on the harmfulness of alcohol, especially in its influence on child life. The sympathy of the meeting was extended to the president, Mrs. Fountaine, who is ill.

SOUTH OXFORD W. I.
Tilsonburg, June 11.—The summer series meeting of Tilsonburg branch of the South Oxford women's institute was held at the home of Mrs. V. A. Sinclair recently. Arrangements had been made to hold this meeting on the lawn but owing to the inclement weather an adjournment was made to the house. A brief address by the president, Mrs. E. J. Lowe, was followed by the report of the year by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. George Weston. Mrs. J. J. Lowe, Hespeler, gave a splendid address on "What is Worth While in Home and Community Life." Solos by Mrs. G. C. Mitchell, Miss Wilma Robertson and Miss Irene Mabee were well received. Mrs. Sinclair made a few remarks regarding the institute's contribution to the Memorial hospital, which is under construction.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Sinclair for her kindness in opening her home for the meeting and sincere regret was expressed for the departure for Toronto in the near future. Refreshments were served by the social committee.

Leaves Luncheon For Night Police

Police men walking the streets at night often become cold and hungry. But few persons, cozy at home, think of it. Not so in the case of Mrs. M. E. O'Meara of Dundas street. Each night just before the policeman's time, she places hot coffee and a small lunch outside the back door. "Are they grateful?" Just this thoughtful that not long ago, three policemen called on Mrs. O'Meara, not with a warrant, but with a handsome clock, the gift of gratitude.

W.C.T.U. FRESH AIR CAMP MAY OPEN AT WONDERLAND

City Offers Pretty Site With Excellent Swimming Pool Facilities.

When the W. C. T. U. fresh-air camp opens at Springbank this year it will have an entirely new location, probably at Wonderland. The opening of the Thames Valley golf course just across the river from the Pump-house, the old site of the camp, has made the move necessary. The city has generously offered Wonderland, with its fine swimming-pool and pretty grounds, to the W. C. T. U. and although the matter is not yet definitely settled, it is expected that the camp will be located there.

As soon as the decision is made, the large wooden huts which serve as sleeping quarters and cookhouse will be transferred to Wonderland, and camp will open as usual on July 1 with Mrs. Ida Harrison in charge.

This fresh-air camp has been carried on at the Pump-house site for over ten years. Each summer large numbers of city children who are suffering from poor living conditions are given a happy, healthy holiday in the fresh air. The W. C. T. U. is doing an excellent work in this connection.

Doctors who find children needing such a holiday and unable to afford it, turn to the W. C. T. U. for help, and they always get it. The charge made by the W. C. T. U. is as small as possible, and is often paid by different London clubs, who undertake to send so many children out of the heat of the city to the fresh-air camp. Some children stay only two weeks. Others, if they need it, remain longer, some staying at camp all summer. All remain healthy rapidly.

An interesting marriage will take place in London next week when Miss Lillian Andrews, of this city, will become the bride of Mr. William Glass of New York, son of the late Frank Glass, ex-M.P. The marriage, which will take place very quietly, will be followed by a motor trip through the British Isles.

Miss Isabel Armstrong, who has been spending the past few days with her brother, Mr. Murray Ar-strong, and Mrs. Armstrong, Oxford street, leaves today to address a rally of Liberal women in Glencoe. She has just returned after a two weeks' holiday at Winona in the Niagara district, and will go on immediately to Ottawa.

Mrs. S. Floyd Jones and small daughter, Poppy, are spending the season at their summer cottage, Oakwood, Grand Bend, where Mr. Jones will join them.

Mrs. Perry McKay of Sarnia, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simpson, Dufferin avenue, will go to Grand Bend for the week-end, to be a guest with her sister, Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Bussard and Mrs. Layfield of Mississauga, Ontario, are expected in the city next week to be guests with Mr. and Mrs. A. Lucas at Harbert Gardens, London township. They are the first of between 50 and 60 guests who will come to London to be present at a big family reunion to be held at Harbert Gardens on August 1.

The garden of Mrs. Charles Malone, Hydro street, presented a pretty scene last night during the course of an evening shower given in honor of Miss Minnie Malone, whose marriage takes place this month. Gay-colored lights were used with pretty effect to light up the shrubbery and garden flowers. Games, both outside and inside, helped to pass away the evening merrily. The gifts, in a prettily decorated wagon, were drawn before the bride-elect by her small nephew, Master Jack Malone.

A recent meeting of the La-let club took the form of a picnic at Springbank, where the jolly games were greatly enjoyed and an interesting game of softball, prior to which a delicious supper was served. Miss Bertie Spettigue and Miss Birdie Ruse were the captains, and the former's team were the winners.

Miss Helene Humes-ton, who left yesterday on a tour through the Canadian west, was a special guest. In charge of the refreshments were Miss Edith Barter, Miss Bertie Spettigue and Miss Vera Morrison.

Castle Graham, who is to be married to Miss Elsie Irene Chalcraft, daughter of Mrs. Chalcraft and the late Mr. W. E. Chalcraft, of Toronto. The marriage is to take place quietly at St. Paul's church, Toronto, on the 17th of this month.

DR. SAMUEL ESHOO WILL VISIT CITY

Supervisor of W. M. S. Hospital To Address Women of Knox Church.

An interesting visitor comes to London this week in the person of Dr. Samuel Eshoo, formerly of Tabriz, Persia, and now medical supervisor of the women's missionary society hospital at Ethelbert, Man.

Dr. Eshoo is to address the W. M. S. of the Knox United church next week.

This eminent man has suffered many tragic experiences. He came to Canada as a young man, after which he returned to Persia and had a successful practice in Tabriz. During a Turkish invasion of the city his wife and mother were massacred, his property was confiscated, and in order to escape the cruelty of the invaders he fled from the city with his three children.

Then, remembering his youth in Canada, he sailed for this country, only to be turned back at the dock by immigration restrictions.

Friends who had known him in his earlier days heard of his plight and assisted him to gain an entry into the dominion, where he became attached to the staff of the Presbyterian W. M. S. hospital at Ethelbert. Since his appointment to that post, Dr. Eshoo has been a great asset to the institution.

He is to be the guest of the Knox church women next Wednesday at a special meeting at which time it is expected that executives of several other women's missionary societies in the city will be invited to hear Dr. Eshoo speak. While in the city, Dr. Eshoo will be a guest at Knox church manse, having been a friend of Rev. T. A. Symington, the pastor, when in Canada previously.

James' Anglican church of which Mrs. A. O. Hunt is president. The R. C. R. band, under the direction of Lawrence K. Harrison, L.R.A.M., has kindly offered to provide music.

While solo dancing on the green will be a feature of the event, a gipsy camp will be in evidence, too, where mysterious ladies in picturesque garb will foretell the future or delve into the past of those who cross their palms with a bit of silver. An altogether unique feature will be a put-ting green, with Miss Pone and Mrs. W. G. Trimmer in charge. Other attractions will be Hidden Treasure, conveyed by Mrs. James Chalmers; a fancy work booth presided over by Mrs. Charles Manuel and Mrs. Santo, and a soft-drink stand with Mrs. T. C. Cowan and Mrs. Campbell in charge. Afternoon tea is to be served from 3 to 5 o'clock, followed by high tea from 5 to 8, the garden party continuing on into the evening. Mrs. George Forayth and Mrs. C. B. Edwards are conveners of the tea and supper booth.

It is a Great Comfort to Find a Famous Portrait Painter Who Prefers Brains and Character.

When is a woman best looking? Zoologia, the great Spanish artist, who has been painting portraits on this continent, says that American women improve with age, and that they are better looking at 40, or even at 60, than they are at 20.

The casual observer, and especially the casual masculine observer, will be inclined to dispute this statement. We are in the habit of thinking of beauty in terms of youth, of shining young eyes and glossy hair, of peaches-and-cream complexion and slim, lithe figures. It is the flappers that men find easy on their eyes.

And women themselves are so sold to the theory that beauty is a sole prerogative of youth that they cling to their girlhood with a death grip and dread as they do the judgment day that awful hour when their youth goes, they must take their places among the once-was.

In reality, the time of life at which a woman is most beautiful depends entirely upon the woman, upon what is inside of her head as well as outside of it, and upon whether she has a heart, or just a pump in her body.

It is foolish to deny that youth has a special beauty of its own. All young animals, even pigs, are beautiful. They have a charm, a grace, a sprightliness, a softness that makes them alluring.

Almost all young girls are pretty, and at 18 or 20, if a girl has any gift of coloring and if nature has been even moderately kind in modeling her bony structure, she is beautiful. This is the age at which the Dumb Dora is at their best, because nothing else is expected of them than the prettiness of youth and the cute ways of a kitten.

The sparkle in a young girl's eyes may be lit by intelligence, or it may merely be the result of having a good digestion. Her vivacity may be the expression of an eager and seeking soul, or it may be just the high spirits of youth. So it happens that many a girl, who is dull and drab within, has her brief flare of beauty that lasts only as long as her youth lasts. It is of such women that we say, "How early they faded," and we marvel that they should be such homely middle-aged women when they were such pretty girls.

The beauty of the woman of intelligence lasts far longer than that of the stupid woman. If there were no other argument on earth for educating women, a sufficient one would be found in the fact that it makes them so much better looking and so much more agreeable to behold.

No one can have travelled in Oriental countries without having been appalled at the ugliness of the women whose minds are undeveloped. In very early youth they often have a luscious beauty, but by the time they are middle-aged—and age comes early to the ignorant—they are hideous hags, with dull, sodden, expressionless countenances.

No intelligent woman is ever as homely as the stupid one, and often the woman who had no beauty in her girlhood grows better looking as she grows older. Brains can mold even lumpy features into fine lines. The eyes out of which an understanding soul shines may not be perfect in color or shape, but they have more appeal than any or-like orb that ever languished at you with a meaningless stare. Moreover, beauty lies so much in the intangible matter of expression, and this so often casts a radiance upon a homely face that makes it more beautiful than any living picture with nothing behind it but just its mere prettiness.

Whether a woman is beautiful or ugly at middle age depends most of all upon her character. By that time life has stamped her history upon her face. If selfishness has hardened her eyes; if peevishness has etched little lines about her mouth; if cruelty has straightened her lips; if envy, and greed, and uncharitableness have set their seal upon her face, she has let her mind deteriorate until she is dull and stupid, then she is ugly past the power of any beautifier to cure.

But if she has filled her life with love, and kindness, and charity, and helpfulness, then she is made beautiful through the sheer power of her goodness. The soul shines through such women's faces as a lamp shines through on a clearer case. That is the beauty that our mothers have, and that we see in the faces of holy women who have lived apart from the world. And often that we see in some homely woman who has never even thought of herself as being good-looking at all.

And there is the beauty of age. Often a woman's most beautiful hour is almost her last. It is when she is done with the worries and trouble of the world that there comes to her a serenity and a peace that enfolds her with a beauty that is far more ethereal than any that youth even knows.

It takes maturity to bring out beauty in some women. You have seen many an ordinary, commonplace woman's face transfigure itself, bends with the Madonna look over the babe upon her breast. And all women who love greatly are beautiful as brides.

And, anyway, it is a comforting thought to women that the flappers don't monopolize pulchritude, and that so great an authority as the most famous portrait painter of our day thinks they get better looking as they get older.

MITCHELL, W. M. S.

Mitchell, June 11.—Tuesday afternoon some fifty ladies attended a meeting of the W. M. S. of the United church. The president, Mrs. (Rev.) Moyer, presided. The devotionary of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. W. J. Greenwood and a splendid conventional report of the recent W. M. S. sessions held in Sarnia was given by Mrs. C. F. Foy.

SECRET OF HAPPINESS

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill-health with which so many women are afflicted. The young woman is subject to pain and irregularities, the mother to the tortures of displacements with consequent pains, aches and nervousness, the middle-aged woman to the uncomfortable conditions caused by this critical age. The one remedy to control these conditions and restore the system to a normal, healthy condition is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for fifty years has been restoring sick and ailing women to health and happiness.—Adv.

Either Safe or Unsafe.

Without seeking in any way to add to the confusion of traffic in South London caused by the stoppage of cars on Ridout street bridge, there is a plain question to be answered, and it is this:

Is the bridge safe or unsafe?
It cannot be just fairly safe, or safe if one or two rigs go over it slowly, or safe if heavy traffic keeps off it. It is there, open for all traffic that goes that way, twenty-four hours each day.
That bridge is either perfectly and absolutely safe, or it is positively unsafe, and there is no middle course about it.

Engineers say traffic should be very carefully regulated; so far it has not been. There has been little or no regard for the speed at which cars go over, or how many well-loaded trucks make the trip. It is said that an officer will be placed there to regulate the use of the bridge. The presence of an officer there is recognition of the fact by public officials that the bridge is not safe.

If it is not safe, why should it be used at all, and why do we not take immediate steps to make it safe? That is the point the public cannot understand. Eventually the work must be done and thoroughly done; it will call for the expenditure of money in the end just the same as though work were to start tomorrow morning.

The bridge will be used for general traffic and by the street railway, and the reasonable structure would be one wide enough to put the tracks in the center of the bridge where they belong. Ridout street bridge is one of the main arteries to and from London, not only for city residents but leading to the country beyond. If anything were to happen on that bridge there would be a cry raised at once that officials had been negligent in that, knowing of the condition of the bridge, they had done nothing to protect the travelling public.

It is clearly up to those responsible for such matters to explain why work is being delayed.

Violence Never Helps.

Dead miners and injured police will not help to settle matters in the strike area of Nova Scotia. If company officials wish to start their plant so they can operate pumps to keep their mines from flooding, they have a right to do so. It is a matter separate and apart from the wage scale and working conditions in the mines. There have been strikes in mining areas where the men never requested those engaged in this business to cease work.

The miners of Nova Scotia have conducted themselves well so far in this strike, which has lasted for months, and public sympathy has been with them to a large degree, evidence of this coming in the way supplies and funds have been sent to their families from all over the country.

The use of force has never helped labor win a controversy, because it is a move in which both sides can participate, and it also tends to take away the benefit of that very potent factor, a favorable public opinion.

The government of Nova Scotia is preparing for an election, when it still has a more important public service to render in the solution of the intolerable condition that has come to pass in the coal mining district.

Save Them From Civilization.

It is very interesting and perhaps a little spectacular for Canadian statesmen to assert that Canada claims all the land to the north pole, all the known and unknown Arctic regions. It is more to the point that the question be asked: What are we going to do with it? What provision is to be made for the people who live up there, the Eskimos?

The method adopted up to the point of dealing with these northern people does not seem calculated to improve them. History shows that when such a race falls in with the white man's civilization they do not choose the best of it, but too often the poorest.

Henry Toke Munn, F.R.G.S., who has spent years in the far north with traders, points to what should be done in the current issue of the Listening Post. When a man who has been in that land for years, traded with the natives, noticed things that were good, bad or indifferent, he is at least in a position to give advice, and it is that feature that gives weight to his views.

Capt. Munn states: "I know the methods employed by the trader, and while I do not suggest that they are illegal, or deliberately cruel to the native, I do state emphatically that they are doing a tremendous amount of harm. Given a rifle, ammunition, and enough white man's food, the native goes willingly and cheerfully into the interior, to get skins for which the trader will give him the things his soul desires. It is a matter of scientific fact that primitive people deteriorate fast under the conditions imposed by contact with civilization. In addition the caribou herds cannot possibly stand the rate of slaughter caused by many of the natives living off them during the winter months in quest of fur."

Captain Munn takes the case of Herschell Island in the delta of the Mackenzie river, where American whalers began wintering in 1890. The population then was 2,000; now it is 200. Disease, extermination of the caribou, the adoption by the natives of the white man's food. In 1870 the population of Baffins Island was 4,000; today 1,500. Amundsen, who spent the winter of 1904 on King William Land, described the natives as primitive, but healthy and contented, and added: "The best wish I can make for these people is that civilization will never reach them."

Denmark has successfully colonized Greenland, running it by a government company. If the far north of this continent is claimed by Canada it follows that the natives there must be considered, and not allowed to be exploited by traders whose only purpose is to get as much profit as possible. Captain Munn says away up toward the north there is a land rich in minerals and furs, but there is also another side to the ledger. There is a primitive people whose voice is calling to heaven for pity and consideration. "We white men," concludes Captain Munn, "found them happy and contented; in less than a century they are well on the road to utter extinction. It is a wrong that must not be allowed to be perpetuated. In a few years it will be too late, and a people whose worst crime was that they stood in the path of civilization's onward rush will have paid the supreme penalty for its trusting credulity. . . . The land belongs to the Eskimos, and it is surely our bounden duty to protect them from extermination. If there is justice on earth their cry will be heard."

That is placing empire expansion on a humane basis, and it gives a decided point to the mere formality of an announcement that Canada claims all the land to the north. It is surely British tradition that plain justice be done to a people who were happier and more contented before civilization found and began to exploit them.

Not So Easily Done.

A western paper carries an announcement of a real estate firm stating "The sure way to success is to buy property in the direction in which the city is growing. Every new home adds to the value of your holding. . . ."

Money has been made in this way, and it should also be added that it has been lost. That form of speculation may still be carried on in some centers, but in the average Ontario city it has been dropped because it was found unprofitable in too many instances. The tax officials have also done much to put a very effective barrier in the way by making a very substantial levy against vacant property. Back of it all there is also the realization that it is not helpful for community business to make those who want to go ahead and build homes pay tribute to those whose only interest is to hold property with the idea of making a profit out of it.

The experience of one who has held vacant land may be the experience of a larger number. This gentleman's experience is that he bought a lot about nine years ago at what he considered to be a fair price. He had no idea of building on it himself, but was quite certain some individual would come along who would want it and pay him a profit. Naturally he wanted to make a little money on it. Taxes came due each year, and there were also local improvements; added to this was the interest on the money he had invested. Every time a year rolled around his investment increased and he added it to the price of the lot, and each increase apparently put the lot farther away from the price prospective home-builders would pay for it. At the end of nine years his lot had cost him in carrying charges a good deal more than he paid for it, so in order to get rid of the loss he built a house. When he was through he found that for either renting or selling he had to compete with other houses that had been built in a period of lower land values and building costs. He had built on what was to him an expensive lot. He finally sold his property at a figure that was considered fairly high, and yet it represented an actual loss.

This form of speculation may still have an appeal in some centers, but it has little in Ontario cities because too many have had experiences that will get down on all fours and walk alongside the one referred to above.

Measuring People.

The St. Thomas Times-Journal claims that the big question today is "How much money have you got?"

In proof of its claim it cites a freeman who used to work on the Pere Marquette out of St. Thomas. He saw a way of making money quickly and started in to ship liquor to United States, and he was successful in dumping enough of it across the line to become a millionaire in a few years. The St. Thomas paper points to his fine home today in a neighboring town and says he's established and a power in the land.

It's a fact, whether we care to admit it or not, that we do a great deal of our measuring with that rule—"How much money have you got?"

Note and Comment.

An optimist is a chap who starts out to learn golf and buys one ball.

A move is on to popularize the motorcycle. It can't be done as long as speed cops ride them.

An advertisement starts off by asking "Why do some women grow homely so soon?" That shows that some firms can get away with murder and still stay in business.

The Advertiser has referred before to the nimble Johnny in New York who gives out each day the rate of exchange on Canadian money. Yesterday he mopped his marble brow and said it was 1-64 of one per cent, and called it a day's work.

Gerald Chapman, U.S. bandit, has been given a reprieve from his death sentence until December 3 so the supreme court can consider his case. By that time it will probably be held that he's been punished enough, as he only murdered three or four people.

A young man in New Orleans waited eight years for a stenographer to make up her mind to marry him. In desperation he kidnapped her, married her, and everything is lovely. We can't pass that on as an example or an inspiration because no London girl ever keeps him waiting that long.

Entertainin'

This business is not simple now like when I dwelt upon the sod, for folks have gone and made of it a fearful complicated job.

I heard some folks complainin' of the hard and fearful nervous strain, what come and dwell with them a spell each time they'd try to entertain. You'd think they had an awful task, some fearful thing for them to do, when they was askin' to their hut some friends to pass an hour or two.

It didn't use to be like that when I lived on concession ten, p'raps it was that we were crude and did things somewhat different then.

When we was thinkin' of such things, of havin' friends to come with us, it didn't throw things out of joint or raise a long discordant muss. We asked the neighbors to come down, and told them what the thing was for, how that we'd have a bite to eat and dance upon the kitchen floor.

And when they come the women folks would bring along a pie or cake, or any other sort of thing they took a notion like to make. And they would set the table too and wash the dishes when 'twas done, they seemed to think in doin' such things they had a lot of wholesome fun.

But nowadays, so as I hear from listenin' to them women talk, this job of entertainin' folks it makes them shake their heads and balk.

For there's some folks that they can't ask if others will be there that day, they sort of herd them off in sets, or mark 'em in some other way. Great gobs of care they've got to take to keep from gettin' in a row, for Mrs. This and Mrs. That ain't speakin' with each other now.

And them what come will sit around and criticize the things you got, and start and wonder as they sit if all the stuff is yours or not, and if the furniture's antique, and if you've got a maid to stay, or if perhaps you hired a girl to come and help you for the day.

And then they say they're sure to go comparin' what you have to eat, with what they had two days ago ten houses farther down the street.

So I don't wonder if that's so that some folks clean from fall to fall, they live just quietly by themselves and never entertain at all.

Why can't they do like what we did when dwellin' out upon the sod, just make a gatherin' of the friends a glad and simple little job, and quit this competition stuff that's bein' so fearful overdone, and ask some friends what's wholesome like who'll come because they want to come.—ARK.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I noticed a few days ago there was a letter in The Advertiser about the uncompleted state of the road on Richmond street north running from Huron street to the bridge. I can't for the life of me see the sense in leaving these half-done jobs around the way it has been done there.

I might call attention to another danger spot out here, and it is the sidewalk where it backs off where they were working on the little creek that runs past the church in Broughdale. The place is poorly lighted at night and it would be a very easy matter for a stranger to walk right down a fairly steep embankment into the ditch without ever knowing there was danger there. This danger trap should carry a red lantern at night as long as it is left there. If private individuals ran their affairs in a similar way they would be jumped on in no time.

SIX BETHESDA GRADUATES
TAKE NIGHTINGALE PLEDGESimplicity and Dignity Marked
Ceremonies Held Last Night.

DEEP RELIGIOUS TONE

Simplicity and dignity marked the Bethesda hospital graduation service held last night in the Clarence street Salvation Army citadel. Six graduates in pure white uniforms received the Florence Nightingale pledge standing against a background of Army uniforms, worn by the large assembly of Salvation Army officials, singers and bandsmen who had places on the platform. In front the baskets of flowers, gifts to the graduating class, formed the only gay note.

The service throughout was characterized by a deep religious tone.

DR. C. J. L. BATES, M.A.D.D., of Kobe, Japan, president of West Japan College, who is in Toronto as fraternal delegate from the Methodist church of Japan to the general council of the United church of Canada.

Commissioner Sowton of Toronto acted as chairman of the evening. "Nursing," he said, "should be something more than merely a profession. There should be a desire to minister to the needs of men. Nursing should be a calling, in the deepest sense of the word. There should be for the nurse a call to service and a call to help those in distress and suffering."

Lieut.-Col. DesBrisay of Toronto, social secretary for Salvation Army women's work, was a second speaker of the evening. She was always glad to see girls enter the nursing profession, she said. It was a work which meant service, and very few modern girls were looking for an occupation which would mean service to others.

Everywhere, on the streets, in cafes and street cars, she heard girls talking of shows and dress and pleasure, and not a word about helping others. It was refreshing to meet girls, who wanted to talk of something nobler. Among nurses she placed the maternity nurse on a high pedestal, because the maternity nurse was actually doing a national service.

Dr. R. F. Clegg gave the address to the graduating class. It was inspirational throughout, giving much good advice and punctuated with bright touches of humor. Dr. Robert Ferguson, who administered the Florence Nightingale pledge, also spoke briefly and effectively.

During the evening congratulatory telegrams were received from the Ottawa Salvation Army staff, from Staff Captain McCauley of Grace Hospital, Windsor, and from Adjutant Holland of the New Catharine Booth Hospital, Montreal, former head of Bethesda Hospital in this city.

Mrs. (Col.) Hargrave of Hamilton gave the dedicatory prayer, while dedicatory hymns were sung by No. 1 songsters. The program also included excellent piano numbers by Brig. Easton of Toronto and vocal numbers by Miss Alex Mann.

Following the graduation exercises the friends of the nurses and hospital and Salvation Army officials repaired to the Bethesda hospital grounds, where a reception was held.

Adjutant A. Wagle, superintendent of the nursing school, received assistance by members of the hospital staff, and supper was served outside.

The graduating class included: Lieut. Elda Lamb, Lieut. Mildred Lamb, Capt. Ethel Leask, Miss Irene Love, Miss Etta Couris and Miss Ruby Broff.

The valedictory address was read by Miss Mildred Lamb.

W. H. HAYES TO REPEAT
ADDRESS TO LABOR MEN

A return address on conditions in Nova Scotia coal fields will be given by W. H. Hayes of Glace Bay before a joint meeting of the trades and labor council and the Men's Labor party here on Wednesday night.

Mr. Hayes, who is the only Canadian on the executive of the Miners' Federation of America, talked before local labor men on June 3, leaving later for Windsor and Detroit. The miner-lecturer is expected to stop in London for a few days on his trip east.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK.

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of MacDonald College, to Victoria, B. C., and back.

Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay lakes, Windermere, Bungalow camp, from which place the party will be motored to Banff, 164 miles over the newly completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe-inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion, Camp, another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap, Bungalow Camp near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Port William to Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto: transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels, and on steamers, sightseeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

COPELAND MENTIONED FOR CHAIRMANSHIP

Mrs. Rose infers that Member Will Win Coveted Position.

"Mr. Copeland will know next year."

Apparently a detached little sentence, those few words as they dropped from the lips of Trustee Mrs. John A. Rose at a committee meeting of the board of education yesterday.

But, underneath the surface they infer a lot as to the past, present and future of the board, particularly as to the chairmanship.

With the expressed intention of Vice-Chairman A. R. Cairncross in the advertisement, some weeks ago to retire from the board at the close of the current year, speculation has been rife as to the trustee likely to step into his shoes as head of the board next year.

Now comes Mrs. Rose with the gentle but unmistakable suggestion that Mr. Copeland is to be the man. The committee was in the midst of an involved discussion as to the accommodation to be provided for the South London collegiate, when, hard pressed to solve the problem, Chairman S. F. Lawson inquired: "Would all this trouble be done away with if we had a new east end collegiate this year?"

"Absolutely," replied Principal T. S. H. Graham of the south unit, "but I don't think we could get it there by September."

"You could if you would do things the way Mr. Copeland does at the technical school," advised Mrs. Rose. And then smiling upon Mr. Lawson: "He's getting experience; he'll know how to build schools next year."

Later deprecatingly accepting the compliment, Mr. Copeland, who this year is chairman of the advisory-vocational committee of the board in charge of the technical and commercial high school, took occasion to deny the rumors which have been abroad for some months, that it is not his intention to stand for reelection to the board next year.

STANDARD BOXES MUST BE USED FOR BERRIES

Federal Regulations Will Discourage Get-Rich-Quick Plans of Past.

When Londoners purchase a box of strawberries this year they will be buying a full quart. Containers used by the growers for years, although they have been called quart boxes, really held but four-fifths of a quart.

After giving two years' warning the dominion government has decreed that growers must use either pint or full quart containers, so that householders will have their choice of two sizes.

It is expected that most of the strawberries grown locally this year will be marketed in pint boxes. Growers state that the crop will be extremely short and of poor quality owing to lack of moisture, and that the pint container is the logical one to be used.

Fruit farmers who have been unable to ship berries to the United States in the past, because the Canadian quart box was not acceptable by the American authorities, will now be able to ship fruit across the line without trouble.

Retail fruit dealers who handle many crates of imported strawberries are not particularly pleased over the change in box regulations. In the past they have purchased Canadian boxes and dumped the American fruit into them, thereby making six boxes of berries for sale out of five purchased. With the full quart box coming into use this get-rich-quick method of gathering in the shakels will have to be abandoned.

TECUMSEHS BEATEN

Fields Hits Triple and Vermilyea and Brower Doubles.

GET TO COOGAN

Special to The Advertiser.

Hamilton, June 11.—It's a far cry from London to Hamilton, and Mike Baker's stubborn Tecumsehs found this out today when they opened hostilities with "Bank" Wetzel and company. The Clippers, who were dragged and mauled all over the Londoners' home lot, had a different time in their own backyard. For one thing, the chirps were not nearly as "easy" as they were at home. And for another, and more important yet, the Hamilton crew stepped into them with a firm and buried them under an 11 to 4 count.

All the base hits and runs that the locals failed to get in the game were dropped at London. It came out of their systems today and every one on the team, with the exception of "Ike" Combs, crashed in with one or more solid clouts. Duckworth got only one, but it was a terrific four-run smash that cleared the right center field wall and emptied three sacks that were fully tenanted.

Bill Coogan was Baker's selection to start the contest, but Bill's well-worked flinger arm was slightly off kilter, and he developed a chronic case of "pitch and duck" before the game had progressed very far. He stayed in for three innings, long enough to enable the Clippers to sew up the game with a 10 to 2 count. The anxiety, doubt and lack of confidence that he had in his own arm, and the fact that he was not a native of the city, were the main reasons for his selection. He was not a native of the city, and he was not a native of the city.

Working under a big lead, after the early innings, Jimmy Ryan didn't tighten up. He was more than ready to tighten up, but he was not a native of the city, and he was not a native of the city.

When Ryan tripped in the opening count, he was not a native of the city, and he was not a native of the city. He was not a native of the city, and he was not a native of the city.

Spring opened the third with a pop to Vermilyea, the latter booted. Froman slashed a single past Cross, and after Cozington fanned, the Tecumsehs were all set for Duckworth, and the ex-coo was in the lead.

A dying kick from the Tecumsehs was injected in their half of the eighth, and they ran up three more scores. Ripped a short fly to left center that fell safely and gave him two bases. Daubert's throw to first was a double, and Spring slashed a red-hot single over second, scoring Lopez. Froman uncoiled a single into the outfield, and Coogan poked the corners again. McCrea again kicked in with a devastating base knock, his single left sending Spring and Froman across the plate.

BEACHVILLE NINE LOSES

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, June 11.—The nine-men get away with a victory in the first game of the second series of the Thames valley baseball league, this morning defeating Beachville on the latter's grounds, 9-6.

McIntyre allowed Woodstock to score five runs, but every one counted in the scoring. Arnold Love made a circuit around the bases, and the runners ahead of him, while McGregor also eluded for four bases. McGregor was on the base for Woodstock and pitched another good game. He hit his safely nine times, but kept them scattered and they were not nearly as good as the field, making three bobbles behind McIntyre and they all came at opportune moments for Woodstock.

On the Side Lines With C.S.G.

BUCKING A JINX.

Tommy Gibbons wants a return crack at Tunney, wherein he shows unusually poor judgment. It wasn't the referee that counted Gibbons that he was out a long time.

The one outstanding comeback, and probably the only one after what seemed to be a decisive beating, was Stanley Ketchell against Billy Papke. Papke has since made his home in Australia, where he has experienced various vicissitudes. Papke knocked Ketchell out when Ketchell as middleweight champion was being acclaimed as one of the greatest men that ever held the title. He came back and beat the pink-skinned Papke with a k.o. and Papke never afterwards fought in championship form.

However, Gibbons has fought more big fights for nothing than any of the gladiators, and if he can collect enough gullible people, the more power to him. Gibbons found out, probably, that a knockout was an awful experience, especially when they hand out $100,000 as you come to.

A NEW MEMBER.

The Ontario athletic commission has been undoubtedly strengthened by its new member, M. M. (Bobby) Robinson of Hamilton. He succeeds "Don" Cameron of Hamilton, one of the two old commissioners' resignation pointed at the recent reorganization.

Robinson was assistant sporting editor of the Toronto News in 1907-8 and took an active interest in athletics. He was a member of the old Irish-Canadian Athletic club team and did some running himself. He moved to Hamilton in 1909 and was in the newspaper business there until the war broke out, when he enlisted and went overseas. While he was a member of the Hamilton board of education he took keen interest in schoolboy athletics and was a strong supporter of any proposition to train and develop young athletes. For some time he was principal owner of the Hamilton Boxing club, which ran professional bouts in Hamilton during the years when Bobby Ebor was the mitt-clad idol of Hamilton. Now he is news editor of the Hamilton Spectator and the chief concert impresario of the Ambitious City.

TRIPLE SOCCER BILL TO OPEN INTER-CITY SECOND SERIES

Two Games Here Saturday Will Be Staged at Springbank.

MEDICOS PLAY C. N. R.

Local soccer fans will renew their interest in the inter-city league on Saturday, when the second half of the schedule will commence with three games on the bill. There still remains one game yet to be played of the first half. It is between the Rovers and Westminster hospital.

The two Saturday games here will be in the shape of a double-header at Springbank. The C. N. R.'s will meet Westminster hospital at 3, with Albert Noble in charge. The reason for the railroaders playing at Springbank is due to their having their picnic there. The railroaders are at present leaving, because the Medicos are anxious to wipe out their defeat earlier in the season, and will have out their strongest side in the hope of winning.

The second game will start at 5, and is between the Thistles and London garrison, and as the Thistles are newcomers to the league, their game will be a chance to see our old friends earlier in the season, and will be able to put practically their strongest side out and hope to beat the newcomers.

The Medicos played their return exhibition game with Gloucester on Wednesday at Gloucester and won 3 to 2. Sarnia and Point Edward have entered the Free Press trophy competition, and Gloucester is expected to do likewise.

Connaught cup ties recently played and results were: Willys 2, Sarnia 1; Gloucester 3, Sarnia 1; Sarnia 2, Gloucester 1.

SUMMER GREENS

By BARBARA BROOKS,
Kellogg Company, Home Economics
Department, London, Can.

Marketing takes on a new interest in the season when the green vegetables are in market in lavish amounts and at reasonable prices. Asparagus time is almost past, but there are other attractive vegetables to take the place of this food aristocrat. Greens—which seem greener than ever—are tempting. One of the best of this type of vegetable is the beet, which is raised for its top as well as for its root. Market gardeners all over the country find that the modern housewife knows the value of this food and are cooking it either alone or with the tiny roots attached. Beet greens may be boiled or steamed. If cooked by the latter method they will retain their mineral and color. They may be dressed with butter, or with butter and lemon juice or vinegar. Beet greens are suited to a mixed vegetable dinner, especially when the other vegetables are less colorful.

Cooked beet greens are often served as a foundation for poached eggs. Arrange the greens on the serving plate and place the eggs on top. This combination is satisfying for luncheon, especially if bran muffins accompany it. The greens and bran furnish regulating material, the egg, building material, and fuel comes from both the flour in the muffins and the butter which is eaten on them. Every meal should contain some of each of these three essentials to health. Since the regulating foods are the ones most likely to be slighted, special emphasis should be laid on them.

MOVIES FOR PORT ON MONDAY NEXT

Cheap Fares Prevail and All Is Ready For Big Season.

In the confident belief that the weatherman intends to give Port Stanley something a little better than a fair break of luck this summer, the London & Port Stanley Railway on Wednesday adopted the full summer train service between London, St. Thomas and Port Stanley. Instructions have been given to open the Beach Moving Picture Theatre on Monday evening next, and bands have been engaged to continue the Sunday afternoon concerts at Invererie Heights henceforth without interruption till the close of the season. The full summer train service is thus inaugurated at an earlier date than heretofore.

Under the very low rates prevailing on the electrified L. & P. S. it is possible for the average family to enjoy the lake at little expense. Nowhere else in America, or in fact, in the world, is it possible to ride in high-speed, all-steel, solid-vestibled trains at rates so cheap as a cent a mile for adults and half a cent for children. Nowhere else is there such an abundance of free entertainment. Other summer parks almost invariably impose an admission fee at the gate. Port Stanley has no gates and no admission charge.

Park Is Free.
The beautiful park on Invererie Heights, with its accommodation for thousands of picnickers, its tables, seats, hot and cold running water, band concerts and amusements, is open to the world. The athletic field and baseball diamonds, too, are free for all picnickers.

The Cafeteria, established to meet one of the most urgent needs recognized by the L. & P. S. commission after the electrification of the railway, has steadfastly maintained its triple policy of spotless cleanliness, quality foods and reasonable prices.

Here the patron finds a pile of trays at the left of the main entrance. Taking his tray and sliding it along the guide rail, he quickly chooses just what he wants from the variety of dishes on display before him. First the meats, roast beef, ham, veal, steaks, chicken pie, roast chicken, fish of different kinds, piping hot, and awaiting your selection; then the vegetables, potatoes, peas, corn or whatever happens to be in season; next the salads and relishes; the rolls, biscuits, bread and butter; then the cakes, pies, and appealing desserts; the drinks and ices, tea, coffee and milk.

Week-End Specials.
The week-end specials on the menu each Sunday are enjoyed by many, and furnish a delightful con-

CLASS 27.

In spite of the cold weather of Wednesday a large number attended the picnic of Class 27 of the Dundas Center church, which was held at Springbank. One of the main features of the event was the baseball game played with much zeal, owing to the excellent players on both sides the game was decided a close tie. Following the sports a delicious picnic supper was served. The event was greatly enjoyed by those present.

County officials who attended the Lobo school picnic Wednesday afternoon included Sheriff Donald Graham, County Clerk Stuart, Capt. Tom Robson, Governor Byron Dawson, High Constable A. J. Three-Hour Search Finds Son For Anxious English Parents

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, June 11.—Anxious over their son, from whom they have not heard for three months, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hitchens of Woodgreen, England, wrote city police to make inquiries, believing him to be in this locality. Three hours after the letter was received this morning the young man, Stanley Hitchens, was located on a Harwich farm.

Three months ago, while working, time was blown into his eyes. Since that time he has been compelled to remain almost entirely in a darkened room to overcome impaired vision. Being of a retiring disposition, he had not troubled to ask anybody to write his relatives. He will return to England as soon as he is able.

G. SINCLAIR RESIGNS FROM CITY Y. M. C. A.

Was Physical Director For Past Three Years—Resignation Accepted.

George R. Sinclair, physical director of the London Y. M. C. A., presented his resignation to the directors at a meeting held last night. The resignation was accepted with many sincere regrets, and will be effective on Sept. 1.

Mr. Sinclair came here three years ago from Moncton, N. B., and has made a host of friends. He is one of the best-known sportsmen of the city, and executive of the softball league. Since coming to London he has formed some of the best basketball teams in Western Ontario. He has been exceedingly successful as a class organizer. Reasons for his resignation were refused for publication.

His plans are not definitely known, but it is understood that a number of attractive opportunities have been placed before him.

Youth of Hairbreadth Escapes Only Shaken In Fall From Barn

Special to The Advertiser.

Delaware, June 11.—Just another thrill was added yesterday to the long list of narrow escapes in the career of Stewart Eichenberger, son of Fred Eichenberger of this village, when he made a successful landing after a drop of many feet from the peak of a barn owned by Harry Weid. Stewart was merely shaken up.

Let fall while driving one of the fleet of cement trucks at work on the highway, Stewart crashed through a fence and plunged down a twenty-foot embankment. He was thrown clear of the truck, which righted itself at the bottom of the hill, and, not the least injured, ran after the machine, getting into it just in time to prevent it diving into the river.

Stewart has a reputation for carrying a rabbit foot, as he has had more narrow escapes from injury than usually fall to the lot of one his age.

U. S. DETERMINED TO AVOID DISPUTE

Washington Decides To Give
No Instructions To Mac-Millan Expedition.

Associated Press Despatch.

Washington, June 11.—The MacMillan expedition when it departs for the Arctic June 17, Secretary Wilbur said today, will carry no special instructions concerning the course it should pursue in claiming any lands which may be discovered or in flying over disputed territory.

The question was brought up in a letter to Mr. Wilbur from Donald B. MacMillan, head of the expedition, who asked if there were any special instructions in view of statements at Ottawa indicating an interest on the part of the Canadian government in the plans for the undertaking. The letter was transmitted to the state department, but Mr. Wilbur said today no reply was expected, adding, however, that the two departments were in accord on the decision to provide no special instructions for the explorer.

SECURITY PACT ATTITUDE OF CANADA IS UPHELD

Associated Press Despatch.

London, June 11.—The London Daily Express, Lord Beaverbrook's paper, in an editorial on Premier Mackenzie King's reply in the negative to the query put by J. S. Woods, Labor member for Center Winnipeg, in the Canadian house of commons, as to whether Canada was a party to the security pact with France in regard to the Rhine boundaries, described Premier King's reply as a final and fateful pronouncement, the gravity of which can hardly be exaggerated.

AT THE THEATRES

LOEW'S THEATRE

"Lost—a Wife."

Adolphe Menjou, Great Nissen and Robert Agnew feature in the cast of the William de Mille-Paramount production, "Lost—a Wife," which opened at Loew's yesterday for the balance of the week.

Menjou has the role of a young American traveling in France with two friends. His one weakness is gambling.

Miss Nissen making her motion picture debut, is a ravishing blonde beauty, cast as Charlotte Randolph, whose mother is trying to bring a title into the family by marrying her off to a no-account duke. Menjou sees her name on the hotel register and bets his friends a thousand that her face is awful. Naturally, he pays the bet.

Stan Laurel in "Twins," Aesop's Fables and topics of the day complete the picture program.

Heading the vaudeville bill is one of the best musical acts ever seen here on the Loew circuit.

The Beatrice Morrell sextette have three songs that took the audience by storm last night, to say nothing of the violin and dance numbers by the other members of the company, which were indeed splendid.

Martello and West, in acrobatic comedy juggling and jumping were good, while Muriel and Phyllis put on a song and dance number.

Harry Carter, singing Feists latest song hits, was quite popular with the audience.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Recompense."

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue achieve another triumph in "Recompense," which opened at the Capitol theatre yesterday, to be shown for the remainder of this week.

"Recompense" is a sequel to "Simon Called Peter," a stirring tale of war days and subsequent life.

Marie Prevost and Monte Blue display an almost uncanny talent in their harmonious interpretation of two parts that run side by side. In "Recompense" they have outdone themselves in creating realities that hold and stir the imagination.

Miss Prevost is unusually beautiful and appealing in her role of Julie, the gay, outrageous nurse, who is unafraid and grasps with both hands all that life gives her.

As Peter, an army chaplain, Monte Blue is powerful, sincere, and entirely in tune with the character for the original novel.

In "Recompense" the drama of man and woman is made real and unforgettable. The story has dramatic intensity and is exceptionally well retained in the picturized version.

"Skinners in Silk" is an amusing comedy which is included in the Capitol Theatre program for the last half of this week. It contains many unique and novel "stunts" of the comedy world, slapstick in a sense, but entirely entertaining.

Pathe News reel and a gorgeous scenic picture illustrating the beauties of the Canadian Rockies, complete an outstanding bill of entertainment.
