Ottawa, July 9 .- The bill incorporate ing the Canadian Telephone & Telegraph Co. met with opposition from Mr. T. O. Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways, called attention to the fact that it was getting quite a common thing at this session, much more so than heretolore, to see the names of members of Parliament among the incorporators of companies appealing to Parliament for charters. This rendered it somewhat difficult for their collegues and associates, who were academy—a very good showing from academy—a very good showing from academy—a very good showing from leagues and associates, who were hampered in dealing with the meas-

The bill was talked out by Mr. Davis.

Before adjourning Mr. Bickerdike, referring to the remarks of the Minister of Railways respecting members of Parliament voting on bills in which they were interested, said that this was the first time he had heard the question raised. If, however, that rule was to be enforced, it should apply, not only to members who were interested in the Bell Telephone Co., but to Ministers also, who were shareholders in companies which were rivals of the gentlemen seeking incorporation.

In Two Days by Cotton Corner Collapse.

New York, July 9.—At the end of another disastrous day in the cotton market nearly $3,000,000 of the Brown Syndicate's gaper profits had been wijed out, and its supporters were descriting in panie. It was the old story of having all the cotton without being able to get any buyers. That the New Orleans men were unloading became only too apparent, and the landslide followed. To add to the troubles of the bulls, the hand of the shrewder veteran in the pit, Theodor. H. Price, was seen in the bear stuck. Price, who all the while Sully was booming May cotton and Brown boosting July and August, sat idle in his office, auddenly became active on Monday for the first time in weeks, and it was due to his generalship that the raid of the bulls was so successful. A loss of over $0 a hale was recorded, counting from the highest prices reached last week. This annihilation of profits demoralsed the New Orleans bulls, and as so successful. Relief For Owners-Important Provisions Relating to Drainage and Crossings-Toronto & Hamilton Bill Postponed.

Ottawa, July 9 .- Mr. Blair's railway bill was before the House for practically the whole of the session. Important changes were made in the bill at the instance of private members. Mr. Cowan of South Essex secured an amendment to the drainage clause, enacting that a farmer shall be responsible only for the portion of the cost of a drain under a railway that the drain would cost if the railway were not there. Mr. Sutherland of North Es-sex moved an amendment to the clause dealing with the responsibility of railway companies for cattle killed, which places on the railway companies the onus of proving that cattle so killed got at large through the negligence of the owner. This was carried by a large majority. In committee on the Toronto & Hamilton Railway bill Mr. Blair made the announcement that it the bill is found to invade Provincia rights the Government will not permit

When the House resumed in the evening, the order for resuming the adjourned debate upon Mr. Campbell's motion that the House go into committee upon the bill to incorporate the Toronto & Hamilton Railway. Company was the first order on the paper. Hon. Mr. Blair stated that it was the desire of the Government that the bill be not now proceeded with. Representatives of various materested parties who desire to be heard were in the city. If, after these gentlemen had been heard it appeared to be, as they claimed, that this was not a proper subject for the Dominion Parliament to legislate upon, and that by this bill the Dominion Parliament was withdrawing from the Provincial Legislature the control over any railway which ought to remain within the Provincial jurisdiction, then this Government would not sanction the bill nor permit it to pass. Therefore the Government asked that the bill be allowed to stand for the purpose of locking into the question more thoroughly. The bill respecting the Century ing into the question more thoroughly. The bill respecting the Century Life Insurance Company was passed through its final stages.

SUNSET SUMMONS

At sunset last, evening Elizabeth May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sullivan, Houston St., fell asleep. The deceased young lady was ill but a few short days. She was removed to the Public General Hospital, but comparatively little apprehension was felt until yesterday, when she suffered a relapse from which she never rallied. Shortly after eight o'clock she was called to the Unseen.

The deceased was but 22 years of age. She was the third daughter, and two brothers and three sisters are left, with their parents, to mourn her loss. One sister preceded her.

An earnest Christian young lady, the deceased was esteemed and beloved by all who know her. She was a member of the Park St. Methodist Church and took an active part in the young people's work.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock, from the home to Maple Leaf Cemetery. Rev. G H. Cobbledick, the deceased's pastor, will conduct the obsequies.

Much sympathy is felt for the be-reaved family and friends.

showed the smallest majority of the whole debate. Irish Secretary Wyndham proposed appropriating $25,000 annually out of the development grant to indemnify Trinity College, Dublin, for any loss of income arising from the sale of land owned by the college. The new clause was vigorously opposed by the Nationalists, but after a long debate it was adopted by a Government majority of 63.

A number of private members clauses were then submitted and discussed at length. Mr. Wyndham pleaded that the House complete the committee stage of the bill this evening and all these clauses were then withdrawn. Mr. Wyndham then moved an amendment to schedule 1, providing for the payment to the landlords of a uniform bonus of twelve per cent. This was agreed to, although the Nationalist plainly lutimated their intention of reopening the question on the report stage. The bill as amended then passed through the committee stage, and was reported to the House amid cheers.

All our games should be played for the benefit they give the body and the mind.

Young men who go into sport for the money that is in it make a mistake. Invariably complete devotion to sport means a loss of the best years in a trade or profession.

Thr young man who acts wisely, distributes his energy between his calling in life and his amusements. It is all right to draw a good salary as a golf, hockey, football or la-crosse player for a few years, but in sport a man's usefulness is soon at an end, and younger fellows have to take his place. Often times at thirty the best ball player,-we quote baseball advisedly, because it is the most professional game in existenceis forced to retire from the game, and finds himself unfitted for any of the trades or professions of life, and he s compelled to do odd jobs here and

Rev. Mr. Fallis, of Woodstock, thinks women would look better in church without hats. We venture the assertion that Mr. Fallis is venturing on dangerous grounds? In the first place, what would Paul say? In the second place, what will the women say? It may be that the wicked men do the poor women a grave injustice by harboring the suspicion; but the fact is, there is a suspicion among the men, that if it were not for the hats there would not be so many women at church. With the protest of Mr. Fallis against the use of birds, either in whole, or part, in the decoration of hats, we ave the heartiest sympathy.

Man does not squeeze himself to look like a wasp and then go out on the street and criticise all comers; man does not require an hour and a half to travel a city block, the store windows of which can be converted into mirrors; and when man goes to church he sees more than his neighbor's hat and how much his neighbor puts on the plate. HOT WEATHER CLOTHS AND DIET.

New York Herald. It is generally agreed that thin, woolen undergarments are least affected by heat rays, while at the same time they more readily absorb the body exhalations. For such as work in the sun with a single covering for the back and chest, the oldfashioned red flannel shirt is, on account of color and texture, an excellent garment. For the outer clothing loose meshed, light-colored woolen or cotton fabrics serve a good pur-pose. The diet in hot weather should be sufficient for good nutrition of digestible quality and of plain character. Iced tea is generally voted to be the most refreshing and safest of the cooling drinks. This sounds strangely enough, in view of the many alluring concoctions of the soda fountain and public bar. In spite of the prejudices to the contrary, the cooling effects of the beverage are most lasting and beneficial, and there are the extra advantages in its favor of promoting perspiration, stimulating heart action and eliminating respiratory products.

Binder Twine Test

J. L. Haycock, exM. I. A. and now employed as government inspector of binder twine, visited the M. J. Wilson Cordage Company last week and made a careful test of the twine being manufactured by this ocmpany. It will be gratifying to the firm's many customers to state that in point of length, tensil strength, and uniformity of size, the twine was found to exceed the government requirements, and running in all cases nearly five per cent. over standard length.

It is said that owing to the large prospective crop this season binder twine will be a scarce commodity and it is well known that the large dealers in the United States are seeking twine at higher prices. J. L. Haycock, exM. L. A. and now

Twas the voice of Sergeant Mick Mc-Twyny, who had been detached, with his platoon, to "watch" a portion of a crossroad far to the right of the old postroad. His platoon of 16 men con-sisted principally on this occasion of his own gang. "Birds of a feather flock together." But Brainard was also

"Somebody lend me a revolver merely as a matter of form," said I, "in case anything may happen. I was in the fort when the regiment came out. I hadn't time to go back to camp for my things, so I just came along on generalsprinciples."

"That's the thing!" said Sergeant Mick, with a tigerish grin that was meant for an approving smile.
The platoon seemed to me to be in great luck. It was a hot day; the men were dismounted and retting at case.

were dismounted and resting at ease, their sabers strapped to the saddles, in the shade on the edge of a forest in front of which was an abandoned, bare plantation at least half a mile square. A gentle breeze from the northwest blew refreshingly. The line between the open ground and the forest was marked by a rail fence; how this had escaped the campfires of the hundreds of thousands of northern and southern soldiers who had tramped the Peninsula was a mystery to me, except that it seemed a great way from the Rich-mond road, which had been the bone of contention.

Mick leaned upon this fence and appeared to undergo a transfiguration, for he looked intelligent and seemed to have something on his mind besides liquor, tobacco and a desire to snarl at some one. As already intimated, my head had been in the clouds for an hour, so I "pulled myself up sharp" by reminding myself that Mick, though a sergeant and therefore my superior officer, was merely a Summerton "tough," with all that the name implied. Be-sides, I still was without "shooting irons." I looked about me at the men lying at ease beside the fence, their horses being tied to trees near them. I started to ask Brainard for carbine or revolver, it mattered not which,

"Coppyral Frost, take me carbine an' lift into yer pockets the cattridges from me box an' take some av me percussion caps. Oi think Oi'll be afther doin' most av me foightin' wid me eye an' wits." Then he looked about the men on the ground, approached a small man who owned a big horse, kicked him gently and said:

"Git on yer horse an' go like a milk-man that's been on a dhrunk an' woke up two hours late. Foind the rigimint an' tell the colonel that the whole ribil army is a-comin' across the field be-

All the men on the ground jumped to their feet as the messenger proceeded to obey orders, and they saw almost half a mile away a gray line that might have been mistaken for the shimmering "heat band" that lies near the surface of any flat, open, dry ground on a very hot day had not the line been flecked with spots of color and topped at regular intervals by spots that resolved themselves, through troopers' eyes, into mounted men. 'Twas not eyes, into mounted men. 'Twas not as Mick had said, the whole rebel ar-my, but it was at least a regiment, probably a brigade, advancing slowly in line of battle formation, the mounted officers in the rear. We were but a quarter of a company. And our regiment was-where? And we were so far

" The jacket filling heart throb that all soldiers can recall came upon meas I lay, down and selected a "rest" where there was a clear way between the shrub-bery and weeds which always infest a country fence row. The promise was of a fight of a kind for which I had always longed—a fight with a mass of troops instead of with occasional heads and shoulders half screened by trees and stumps. But I had also longed to be in the saddle and following a dashbe in the saddle and rollowing a dashing, trusty commander and with an even chance of success. Now I was nugging the ground, with an unfamiliar carbine in my hands, a Summerton ruffian for my commander and the odds

THE CAMEL'S HEAD.

"Where the camel's head goes his body follows," says an Oriental proverb. It's the same way with disease. A small opening will give it an entrance and when disease once has a place in the body a large number of ills may follow it. The opening for disease is often found in a "weak" stomach. When the stomach is "weak" the body also becomes weakened by lack of nutrition, and disease attacks the heart, liver, lungs, kidneys and other organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the weak stomach strong. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and so enables the body to resist or throw off other diseases. "For the past two years I have been a very sick woman," writes Mrs. Chesley, of 108 Woodland Ave., Cleveland, Ohio. "I tried medicines from doctors and to no avail. At last I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When I started I was all run-down and had a very unpleasant taste in my mouth. Was choked up, and at times it was very hard for me to breathe. I had severe headaches and cutting pains in my knee joint. Was so weak I could not attend to my work nor walk up or down stairs without the assistance of my brother or some friend. I am now taking the fourth bottle, and am happy to say I feel like myself again. I can go up and down stairs and perform my duties as well as any one. Everything seems to be brighter, and I can assure you that life is worth living."

against me at least 50 to 1.

"Toime!" screamed Mick.
Our carbines reported almost in volley force style: The heat shimmer pre-vented good aim, yet there were three less heads visible above the gray line when the smoke had been blown away. "Kape peggin' at 'em!" said Mick as he leaned on the fence, shaded his eyes and peered forward. A few more shots were fired in quick succession by each man, after which no more mounted officers were visible. The gray line stopped quivering like a heat band. Evidently it had halted.

"Kape on foirin'," Mick ordered, "an' make aich shot tell! Pepper all along their loine! Take a lot of ground to the roight an' lift, youse fellers on the flanks, so they'll think our loine is longer an' there's more of us than there

The order was obeyed. The gray line had decreased the distance be tween us to about a quarter of a mile, so we could note breaks in the ranks whenever our shots told. "Aim careful!" Mick ordered. "It's no toime to fool away cattridges." I was of the same opinion, and I was beginning to wonder what would happen should we run out of cartridges. There was a standing order in the regiment that every man should always have 40 carbine cartridges in his box and 10 full rounds for his revolver, but so short had been our many previous fights that all of us had become careless as to quantity of ammunition. Seldom had any man more pistol ammunition than that already in his revolver. No one was astonished to hear big Pat Callahan growl:

"Dhivil another cattridge hev I to me name."

"Nor I," said Brainard.
"Ye're dhivils, both av ye! But kape yer revolvers—all av ye—fer close action!" shouted Mick, "an' pray fer the rest av our rigimint to come up."

The carbine fire continued, but more slowly, while men who were out of cartridges borrowed from comrades with fuller boxes. Soon the firing ceased entirely. Mick frowned, glared wildly and said to me: "Coppyral Frost, ye've the biggest ears in all Summerton. Go out to the road an' lay yer ear down to it an' se av ye can hear the rigiment a-comin'."

PATENTS IN CANADA

SOME QUEER INVENTORS AND THE PATENTS THEY ASK FOR.

The "Ezekiel Flying Machine," for Which the Idea Was Got From the Prophet's Book-Three or Four Flying Machine Applications Yearly in Canada-Reller Boats Also a Popular Scheme.

The Canadian Commissioner of Patents, under the present system, has no easy job of it, says Day by Day in The Toronto News. One day, not so very long ago, the patent office received an application for a patent on the "Ezekiel flying machine." The applicant proved to be a minister of the Gospel, and he explained to the examiner that the book of Ezekiel was not merely prophecy, but contained a full and accurate recipe for aerial flight. This he had worked out with India ink drawings and diagrams, which he was positive would settle the case. The examiner answered that he had no doubt it would, but meanwhile the applicant would be required to subscribe to the customary oath. The minister seized the paper with avidity, but laid it down sadly when he found that he was required to swear that he was the original discoverer of the invention. As he could not afford to discredit his favorite book of Scripture, he withdrew his letter of application The Canadian Commissioner of Pacredit his favorite book of Scripture he withdrew his letter of application and sketches.

Inventors' Secrecy.

Three or four times a year have the officials in the Patent Office to receive applications for patents on flying machines. The secrecy with ing machines. The secrecy with which so many inventors surround their experiments is usually due not alone to the desire to be sensational, but quite as much to the fact that they cannot get a patent on their inventions, and thus protect that they cannot get a patent on their inventions, and thus protect them against ruinous imitation. The Patent Act requires that an invention be really an invention, i.e., that it be new and useful. To be of use, it would seem a flying machine must be able to fly. In the case of any ordinary mechanism, it suffices to make a series of drawings to file with the specification, the principles involved being so familiar that any one skilled in the art to which the device belongs could produce a specimen from the patterns and descriptions, and would know in advance that it would work. Not so with the flying machine, which has so far defied the brightest wits that have been trained on it. There never was an inventor of a flying machine who did not "know" that it would work. But, on the other hand, there is at Ottawa no model that has ever borne out its claims. its claims.

Reller Boats Roll Not.

Relier Beats Reil Net.

The same way with the roller boats. Tens of thousands of dollars have been spent on the effort to make the boat "roll." And roll it did—usually in a totally unexpected direction. There have been half a dozen inventors of roller boats, at least one of whom has spent his entire fortune in striving after the seemingly impossible. The flying machine presents even more difficulties. When the application for permission to submit plans and specifications is made, the Patent Office blandly and patiently answers that, by all means, the gentleman may blandly and patiently answers that, by all means, the gentleman may send in his descriptions of the flying machine. Of course, the Patent Office believes that the gentleman is going to score a failure, but that is not the business of the Patent Office. If the gentleman—as has been done once or twice—asserts that he has a full-sized machine that will fly, he is asked to bring forward the testimony of persons who have seen it fly.

Maxim's Machine.

Maxim's Machine Probably the man who has made, next to Santos Dumont, the best effort at solving the problem of human flight, is Sir Hiram Maxim, the gun inventor. He built a huge aeroplane, which was propelled by a powerful steam engine, and which ran between upper and lower rails. It demonstrated the ability of a self-propelled aeroplane to elevate itself, but was aeroplane to elevate itself, but was not regarded as a successful flying machine, because it could not run machine, because it could not run long enough. The engine required so much water that it could not carry the weight of fuel necessary for sustained flight. Sir Hiram Maxim never allowed his machine to some never allowed his machine to some long. tained flight. Sir Hiram Maxim never allowed his machine to soar away from the rails that held it in subjection for fear it would run out of fuel and come to earth with a crash, for no means had been discovered to keep it in control. The fuel difficulty may of course, he sattled by the use may, of course, be settled by the use of gascline. Still, the way out is not yet clear.

The Cardinals Want a Consultation on the Pope.

Rome, July 9, 12.15 a.m.—The life of Pope Leo continues to hang by a thread, with the expectation that any moment may bring the final catastrophe. Yet his wonderful vitality is combatting a complication of diseases which would endanger a strong man in the prime of life. Monsignor Volponi, one of the Pontiff's most intimate friends, is lying in a serious condition as a result of the attack of syncope that he suffered to-day. Pope Leo, as though he had second sight, has asked several times why Monsig-nor Volponi has not been to see him. The condition of Monsignor Volponi has been kept from the Pope. Throughout the day the reports from the sick-room have alternated with fears and hopes.

the sick-room have alternated with fears and hopes.

A few moments after 8 o'clock Dr. Mazzoni was suddenly called one of the sick chamber by Cardinal Rampolla, and a hurried whispered conversation ensued. This gave rise to all kinds of rumors, but it was soon explained that Cardinal Rampolla had taken upon himself the duty of acting as mouthpiece for some of the minimate friends and relatives of the Pope, who suggested the advisability of ealling certain other doctors in Consultation. Dr. Mazzoni replied that he had not the least objection to such a consultation, but that the symptoms and course of the symptoms and course of the diagnosis. He, therefore, was unable to see the necessity for the step proposed. No decision has yet been reached about the matter.

It became known later in the day that the motive for Dr. Mazzoni's sudden call by Cardinal Rampolla originated in what Vatican circles have already baptized as "the rebellion of the Cardinals" against Dr. Lapponi, It appears that some of the Cardinals complained of the doctor's treatment of the patient, thinking that Dr. Lap complained of the doctor's treatment of the patient, thinking that Dr. Lap-poni had not since the beginning de-tected that the Pope was suffering from affection of the pleura, and thus, they said, allowed the disease to assame a gravity which otherwise might perhaps have been avoided. Dr. Lap-poni, who is supported by Dr. Maz-zoni, indignantly repudiated the idea. Both the doctors declare that barely five days have elapsed since the Pope became ill, and they claim that three days ago they detected water in the pleura, and that it was not possible, in the nature of the disease, to dein the nature of the disease, to detect it earlier, nor was it prudent, considering the age and weakness of the Pontiff, to risk a test puncture. However, the criticizing Cardinals not only maintained their view, but succeeded in reaching the ear of Cardinal Rampolla. Besides this, the Pope's relatives proposed that a consultation be held with the most illustrious physicians, naming Dr. Antonio Cardarelli and Dr. Guido Baccelli.

BAMOUS LONDON BUILDING WILL SE BUT A MEMORY SOON.

Many Canadians who have visited Mondon, and who have been impressby the old-world quiet, distincbany, off Piccadilly, must have experienced regret at learning, from a secent cable dispatch, that this hismeric building is to be sold. A few weeks ago the owners of the properdecided to dispose of it. What will be done with the site is at prement unknown, but it is said to be courtain that the building will be men down, and it is quite probable that a big hotel will take its place.

that a big hotel will take its place. It is somewhat surprising to learn that it is the tenants themselves whe have decided to sell the Albany. The system on which apartments are obtained in the building is altogether different from that which governs am apartment house in the new moural. The present tenants are all streeholders, and it is at their instance that the building is placed in the market. The site is, of course, as very valuable one, and it is believed that $1,000,000 or even more smay be obtained for it.

The Albany was erected in the maiddle of the eighteenth century on as site once occupied by Sutherland maidde of the eighteenth century on a site once occupied by Sutherland Bhouse. What is now the centre of the building was designed by the celestrated architect Sir William Chambers, and was built for Lord Holland. In 1770 Lord Melbourne purspassed it, and changed its name from Piccadilly House to McIbourne Bhouse. Some years later Lord Melbourne made over the house to the

It was in 1804 that the Albany was first used for the purpose which have made it the most famous apartment house in the world. Perhaps it will continue to be occupied by bacheslors for another year, when it will have existed for a century. In 1804 the building was much enlarged, the sgardens behind being built over, the sdesignation of the Albany was configured upon it, and it became a house for bachelors, accommodation being provided for sixty tenants. From the first the Albany proved as success, and apartments in it were eagenly sought. The proprietors carmied exclusiveness to a point which abould not be attempted in this country, and the traditions which they began have ruled ever since. They be allowed to rent a suite, so that wich tradesmen anxious to live in sauch a fashionable house were disappointed. This regulation still obtains, and if one seeks to obtain an apartment in the Albany he has to prove his "gentility" according to said English standards.

George Canning was one of the first of the hundreds of well-known mans who at one time or another livied in the Albany. In 1807 he took as lease of Suite No. 5 A. Almast mext door to him was Lord Althorp, who afterward was Chancellor of

THE COBRA AT HOME.

Ein Bite Results in the Most Pleasant, or Least Revolting Deaths That Brings the Grim Visitor to Man.

Death owing to an East India cobra bite is one of the most pleasant, or least revolting, forms in which the grim visitor comes to man. A victim feels no pain. He does not even experience anxiety. One by one his nerves are paralyzed. He does not feel this. He will not believe it even if told. He never felt better and more comfortable in all his life them. more comfortable in all his life than he does at the moment the poison is steadily soothing him into eternity. In time he begins to feel drowsy. Ite wants to sleep. He lies down and the most restful of slumbers sits on his tired lids, and he closes them nover to wake up, and to pass away as if the most expert surgeon had prepared his death with an anaesthetic.

Contrary to general belief, the cobra is slow to attack. Given warning—unless it be at breeding time, when there is a nest to defend—and a cobra will glide out of the way of trouble in most cases. The reptile seems no more anxious to cause trouble than she is to invite it for horself. A fact that bears this out is the proportionately small number more comfortable in all his life than horself. A fact that bears this out is the proportionately small number of whites who are bitten by colras. The reason is not that the white persons wear shoes that would offer much of a protection to the poison fangs of one of these snakes—a fang would penetrate leather as readily as it would hare skin, if the snake willed. But the shoes creak and they sound as the white man comes shuffling through the bush, and the snake has warning to dart away. Natives, has warning to dart away. Natives, however, wear no shoes. They walk noiselessly like broad-day spectres. A cobra has no warning of impending interference until suddenly it sees a dusky foot or ankle placed within striking distance. Then the snake strikes, holding fast to the bitten part for a half minute or more so as to give the poison a chance to circulate deep into the flesh and through the system.

If bitten by a cobra there is but one chance for you. Without regard to pain or mutilation, cut out the wound instantly and as broad and as deep as your pen-knife will penetrate.

In Bengal a story is told of a natrate.

In Bengal a story is told of a native wood chopper who saved himself by prompt action after being bitten by a cobra and then lost his life in a remarkable manner by trying to mend an amputated finger. The man was stooping to pick up his axe when a cobra bit him at the point of the thumb, burying the fangs almost clear through the member. Without a moment's hesitation the man laid his thumb against a tree and brought the axe down on it, severing it close to the hand. Then he ran to his bungalow to tie up the wound. An hour passed, and there was no sign of the poison having taken effect. As a rule, a bite means death within the hour. The chopper began to feel sorry for having sacrificed his thumb. He went back to the place where the thing lay, placed it against the bleeding wound, and, by tying it fast, hoped to have it grow together again. But the poison in the piece severed entered his blood, and within an hour he lay stretched in death.

Another instance showing the deadliness of the cobra poison and the incredible swiftness with which it penetrates the system is likewise told in Bengal. A native woman who was nursing a baby was bitten in the ankle. Weeping and wailing, the mother held her little one close, and mi less than two hours both mother and child were dead.

in less than two hours both mother and child were dead.

Even in a dried state, cobra poison unfailingly deadly. Native doctors use it to administer in infinitesimally use it to administer in infinitesimally small portions as a stimulant, and they have a cruel method for extracting it. The cobra is placed in an earthen pot and a banana is dropped into the vessel after it. Then the pot is sealed and placed on a slow ire. As the heat increases the snake becomes more and more uncomfortable until it becomes maddened by pain and in a frenzy of agony buries its teeth again and agony buries its teeth again again in the banana, which is ward taken from the vessel and ward taken from the vessel and dried and pulverized.

This same preparation is used by the native leather workers, who poison cattle in order to buy the skins cheaply. No trace of the poison may be ascertained in the dead cows and bulls, even chemically, and it is impossible to prove that the animals have not died of a cattle disease.

The snake popularly known as the king cobra is known in India as the hamadryas. It is the largest of all poisonous snakes of that country.

hamadryas. It is the largest of all poisonous snakes of that country. Owing to its size—it frequently attains a length of ten or fourteen feet—the quantity of poison it injects is considerably more than if an ordinary cobra of the smaller species were to strike. Yet even this dangerous monster has been known not to strike when occasion offered and to retreat rather than to seek trouble. A remarkable illustration of this happened to a Government official who lived in the outskirts of trouble. A remarkable illustration of this happened to a Government official who lived in the outskirts of Calcutta and caught what he thought was a huge, harmless rock snake. For three weeks he had the strange pet in his bungalow, fed it on milk, pulled it by the tail, and handled it as he saw fit until a forest officer upon visiting promptly recognized the most dangerous of all snakes, the king cobra.

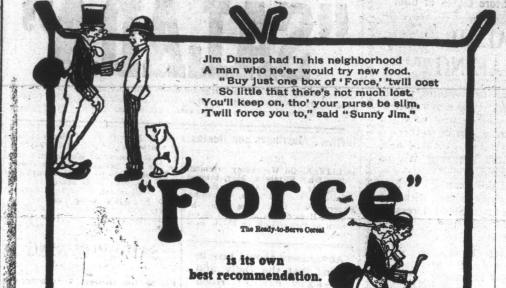

A Relative of Both.

The Irish rebuke is seldom bitter or priggish, but it generally finds its mark, and one which The London Its mark, and one which The London Star records is not an exception. A snobbish young Englishman, accompanied by a small dog, recently got into a street-car and sat down opposite an Irishman. The latter was immediately attracted by the animal, and after some advances, which were haughtily received by the master, asked outright what kind of a dog it was.

"It is a cross between an ape and "It is a cross between an ape and Irishman," was the loud-voiced reply.

"Faith, thin, we're both related to the baste," retorted the Irishman, sheerfully.

Count Lee Telstei Defines Money in Its Ideal Sense-Should Always Rej sent Labor Done, He Says.

Money, in the sense that we use it now, is a conventional sign that gives the right, or, rather, the possibility, to profit by the work of some one else. In its ideal sense money should not give this right or pos-sibility if it did not actually repre-sent labor done, and it could be used in this way in a society that condemned violence in any form, but as seon as there is any room for vio-lence—that is, for the possibility of profiting by the work of another without doing any work yourself— money readily lends itself for this purpose.

Man in modern society sells the products of his past, present and fu-ture work for money, not because money to him is a convenient form of exchange, but because others demand money from him as a sign of work that he is forced to perform.—Lee Tolstoi.

Educated women of gentle birth, says The London Daily Mail, instead of devoting themselves to the ill-paid work of governesses, are now embracing the calling of cooks. Many mistresses have lately specially asked at the registry offices for lady cooks. The secretary of the Central Bureau for the Employment of Women in Southampton street. Holborn says for the imployment of women in Southampton street, Holborn, says there is a demand for cooks who are gentlewomen by birth and education. But there are difficulties in the way unless mistresses are able to promise certain privileges which the or-dinary took, much as she may ap-preciate them, does not stipulate for. Some lady cooks, for instance, object to mix on terms of equality with domestics who are possibly grades beneath them educationally and by birth. Hence, as a rule, lady cooks accept situations only in houses where there are lady parlormaids and housemaids. There are, however, a few cases in very large establishments where the cook is a lady and the rest of the servants are of the usual domestic class. A very desirable situation was refused by one lady cook recently because her object to mix on terms of equality one lady cook recently because her employer stipulated that she should take the head of the table in the servants' hall.

He Saw the Joke.

Here is a true story of a curious personality well known to many pro-fessional men in London to-day; He fessional men in London to-day; He is a Scot, whose business ability is above the average, but everything he does is done with the air of a man constantly wrestling with some preblem of the soul. He rarely speaks unless spoken to. He never smiles, and his eyes have a fixed but intense expression. One day he was returning to London with several companions. The whole party were Scotch. Teething itself rarely causes illness. It is the changing of food during the period that causes trouble and danger. When care is taken to feed the child with life-giving and nourishing Lactated Food, the little one will fully develop and keep well during the time of detention.

Thousands of grateful letters from mothers tell of babies' lives saved by Lactated Food after all other forms of food failed to nourish and build up the body. When mothers feed their babies on pure and life-giving Lactated Food, the use of medicines is unnecessary. If your baby is cross, irritable and weak, be assured fear mother that you can make it bright and strong by feeding it with Lactated Food. Get it from your Druggist; every tin guaranteed fresh and raves were treated fresh and reverse. ions. The whole party were Scotch, but the companions were of genial type. One of them told a humorous tale, over which they laughed uproariously. Not so the human prob-lem. He sat in a corner of the rail-way carriage glowering at his mirth-ful friends. Half an hour afterward, way carriage glowering at his mirth-ful friends. Half an hour afterward, however, when all were standing at a street corner before separating he took one aside and said solemnly and shewly: "Ye would obsairve that I did na' laugh at yond' story. Well, I saw the joke. Ye might not think it, but I have a keen sense of hu-mor,"

Apparently one of the hardest things for a stockman to understand is that where live animals are seld from the farm the great masurial drain is in phesphoric acid. The living ox is mostly water. In each 1,000 pounds of his weight there will be found on the average 600 pounds of water, 27 of nitrogen, 2 enly of potash, 21 of lime and 19 of phosphoric acid. What becomes of the potash which the ox consumes in his food? It is almost entirely sent out of the system in the liquid man-A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninetynine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach out of the system in the liquid man-ures. On farms where clover is grown far more nitrogen is brought to the farm than the ox carries away. Therefore the chief drain up-on such farms is in lime and phos-phorte acid.—Cor. Rural New Yorkphorie acid.—Cor. Rural New

Sunshine Thought.

Some of us seem to be almo afraid to say to people the pleasant things we really think about them. We are ready enough to see faults in those about us, but the virtues we take for granted. Especially in those about us, but the virtues we take for granted. Especially in home affairs, we may often relieve care and bring a ray of sunshine into the day by a merited word of commendation. If some member of the family has done something for the pleasure or comfort of the others, don't forget to notice it. When you see the boys and girls making efforts towards improvement, trying to be more thoughtful and gentle, or more attentive to home duties, tell them so. "If any of your friends have done well, don't be afraid to tell them so.

William Blake's "Illustrations of the Book of Job" was sold by aucthe Book of Job" was sold by auction at London the other afternoon for $28,000. The volume, which was published in 1825, contains the 43 original proof impressions of engravings and original designs in colors. The bidding started at $7,500, and rose by leaps to the sensational bid at which the book was knocked down to a dealer. Another of Blake's works fetched $9,800. Sixteen other works were disposed of. They were all the property of the Earl of Crewe.

The bubonic plague, which has now been in India for six and a half years, shows no sign of abating. There have been well over 25,000 deaths a week from this cause for some time past. One week the number reached 29,647. It is calculated that since 1896 over 2,000,000 people have died in India from the plague. The disease defies every attempt hitherto made to eradicate it. Broadly speaking, no part of India has escaped infection. THIS SUMMER'S WORK.

Exploration and Investigation Under the Plans for the season's work of the Bureau of Mines have been matured, and are being put into opeartion. Prof. Coleman has already gone to the Sudbury nickel field, of which he is continuing the examination begun last year, his work this season be-ing directed specially to the northern nickel range curving in a northwest-erly direction from Lake Wahnspitae. It is expected that the result of the work will be to define the range and perhaps also determine its relations to the northern belt. He will also to the northern belt. He will also investigate the geology and mineralogy of the Hutton iron deposits and the extension of the iron formation to the northwest. He is being assisted by Mr. M. T. Culbert.

Prof. Miller, Provincial Geologist, has in view, along with other work, an investigation into the limestone deposits of Ontario. The use of limestone, not only for lime and building purposes, but also for making cement, the refining of beet sugar, the manufacture of calcium carbide, sulphite pulp, etc., etc., are every year becoming more extended, and the deposits of limestone in the Province are not only numerous, but Province are not only numerous, but varied in quality, and it is believed that material suitable for all these that material suitable for all these and other uses can without difficulty be obtained in Ontario. Maris and clay for economic uses will also engage Mr. Miller's attention.

The great importance of the fuel question has led the Bureau of Mines to take a special interest in peat, lignite and other kinds of fuel found in Ontario. A bulletin has just been issued describing the most modern and improved methods of preparing peat for fuel, and also preparing peat for fuel, and also how to burn it to advantage. To determine definitely the question of the existence in Northern Ontario of workable deposits of lignite, the ocworkable deposits of lightly, the oc-currence of which in many places is already known, an expedition has been dispatched to the Hudson's Bay slope under charge of Mr. J. M. Bell, M.A., with Dr. W. A. Parks as assistant. The starting point of the party is Missanable on the C. P. R., and it is expected the party will re-main in the field until about the 1st of October. They will visit the Missanabie, Abitibi and other branches of the Moose River, and will also keep an eye open for iron ores, gypsum beds and other deposits of mineral known to occur in the Northern regions.

The summer mining classes which ern regions.

The summer mining classes which have been a feature of the Bureau's work for several years, will this year be under the charge of Dr. W. L. Goodwin, Director of the School of Mining, Kingston, and Mr. J. G. Mo-millan, B.A.Sc., Fellow in Mining Engineering, School of Practical Science, Toronto. The following is the approximate program; Black Donald Graphite Mine, Brougham township, May 26; Olden Zinc Mine, Long Lake P.O., June 3; Belmont Gold Mine, Cordova P.O., June 11; Copper Cliff, June 20; Massey Copper Mine, Massey Station, June 29; Big Masser Gold Mine, Gold Rock, July 9; Elizabeth Gold Mine, Port Arthur, July 20; Tip Top Copper Mine, July 28; Helen Iron Mine, Aug. 8; Rock Lake Copper Mine, Aug. 19. These classes were very successful last year, and have done not a little in providing working miners, prospectors and others with a multivartury knowledge to working miners, prospectors and others with a rudimentary knowledge of mineralogy and chemistry.

The demand for agricultural lands is causing the Department of Crown Lands to lay out some 40 townships in that part of the clay belt south-west of Lake Abitibl, just over the Height of Land. Advantage is being taken of this work to have the countaken of this work to have the country examined for its mineralogical possibilities. A small party with a competent geologist at the head will be placed in the field, and it is expected that much information will be acquired in this way which will be of value in intelligently opening up and settling the country.

Carp Not a Popular Food Fish.

As a food fish, carp will never become popular, for no cook can give any taste to his flesh, even though he be stewed in red wine, after the German method. But he gives nour ishment, and the poor of the cities consume many a hundredweight of carp in the winter time. The trou-ble is that where he lives there is no room for other fish. His is such an insatiable appetite that the others are left to starve. Lake Simcoe, once full of gamey black bass, is becoming more and more given up to the German interloper. A miller on one of the streams flowing into the lake stocked his pond with carp, believing that they would keep down the weeds, and would afford him a lieving that they would keep down the weeds, and would afford him a change from a meat diet. The plan worked well until a spring freshet came along and swept the whole teeming pondful down into Lake Simcoe. That was a few years ago, and already the many hundreds of acres of wild rice that used to feed the wild duels with the same bases are become acres of wild rice that used to feed the wild ducks and bass are becom-ing diminished. The carp loves no-thing better than the tender rootlets of the rice, and he destroys hund-reds of them in a week. The Fishery Commissioners have had many a complaint from earnest sportsmen, but it seems to be impossible to do anything to eradicate the pest.

Caught a Salt Water Salmon. Some seven or eight years ago the Dominion Fisheries Department de-posited a quantity of Atlantic sal-mon fry in some of the rivers run-ning into Lakes Superior and Huron. About three years later, The Wiarton Echo is informed, a fine specimen was caught on the Saugeen River. With manly pride, the lucky angler sent his catch to the authorities at Ottawa for which he received a ten-dollar bill as a prize. In so fal as The Echo is aware, this was the as the Echo is aware, this was the only one caught up to last week when an Indian succeeded in landing, at the power house near Southampton, another fine specimen. The strangest part is that this latest catch resembles the Pacific salmom more closely than it does the Atlantic species.

or Dyspepsia.

Does this warm weather make you feel Dyspeptic and Bilious? It shouldn't. Joseph Leake, 194 McCaul street, Toronto, pressman in The News office, tells us why.

"I have been troubled for three years with Dyspepsia and Biliousness," says Mr. Leake. "I took several medicines, but none would cure me till I tried Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One box of them cured me.

"My daughter, who was troubled with Headaches and Dyspepsia, also used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and was cured."

Other people who have used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, tell the same story. You haven't used them, or you wouldn't be feeling Bilious and Dyspeptic. They never fail to cure and cure permanently.

IRON AND STEEL

BOUNTIES ON WIRE RODS AND PLATES.

Reduction of the Sliding Scale Post poned-Newfoundland Ores Do Not Share in the New Terms -Bounties on Binder Twine Also Provided For.

Ottawa, July 9.-The Government's policy in regard to the iron and steel duties was announced last night. Wire rods, which are not now made in Canada and are on the free list, will, when manufactured here, earn a bounty of $6 a ton, on condition that they are sold to the steel wire men to undergo fur-ther finishing processes. The idea of this is to secure the establishment of a new industry in Canada. A bounty of $3 per ton will also be paid on large-sized steel plates and structural iron when produced in Canada. At present of $3 per ton will also be paid on large-sized steel plates and structural iron when produced in Canada. At present these plates are not made here, and they enter at the low duty of 10 per cent., while structural iron is subject to a duty of 33 per cent. The reduction of the sliding scale of iron and steel bounties is postponed for one year. In 1897 the Government took power to grant the following bounties:— On steel ingots, $3 a ton; on puddled iron bars, $3 per ton; on the proportion of pig iron produced from Canadian ores, $3 per ton; on the proportion of pig iron produced from foreign ore, $2 per on. In 1899; however, it was per on. In 1899, however, it was enacted that these bounties should be enacted that these bounties should be paid yearly in the following proportions, and cease in 1907: 1902-1903-90 per cent.; 1903-1904, 75 per cent.; 1903-1905, 35 per cent.; 1900-1907, 20 per cent. The effect of the suspension is that 90 per cent. of the duties will be paid in 1903-1904 as well as during the fiscal year cent. of the duties will be paid in 19031904, as well as during the fiscal year which has just closed, and thereafter in the following increased proportions: 1904-1905, 75 per cent.; 1905-1906, 55 per cent.; 1906-1907, 35 per cent. The announcement that the Government would grant a bounty of three-eighths of 1 cent per pound, equal to the rebate which the American manufacturers enjoy, was made by Mr. Fielding in his budget speech.

The Government have decided not

budget speech.

The Government have decided not to treat the Newfoundland ore as a domestic ore in regard to the duties payable, although the Dominion Iron & Steel Company made an application to that effect.

The Governor in Council may authorize the payment of a bounty to any corporation, firm or person manufacturing binder twine in Carada, such bounty to be equal to the amount paid as export duty in the Philippine Islands on Manilla fibre produced in such islands and used in the manufacture of binder twine in Canada.

Such hounty shall only be carable.

Canada.

Such bounty shall only be payable in respect of binder twine manufactured on or after the 1st day of September, 1902. Provided, however, that the bounty shall not exceed three-eighths of one cent per pound on the Manilla fibre so used in the manufacture of binder twine. The Governor in Council may make regulations to carry out the intention of this act.

fence, especially that of "Pete" Chrysler in goal, kept the visitors from many a score.

The first goal was scored by O. K. Lawson for the locals, by pretty combination work, the ball passing from Thomas to Ross to Lawson.

Jim Baird, for Blenheim, was equal to the occasion, however, and fied the score on a clever shot from a pass from Crookshank, who had run almost all the way down the field.

The second quarter opened up as the first had, with the visitors securing the ball and making a raid on the local stronghold. It was here that "Pete in goal made the prettiest stop of a shot off Baird's stick yet seen on old Tecumsch. It was the real goods.

Claude Brundage scored the second goal for Chatham on passes from Law-son to Ross. Blenheim came right back with another, however, by Nellis, keeping the score tie.

Wrigley got the third for the locals on a pass from Ross, and the second quarter ended.

quarter ended. The third quarter was eventful for he fact that Chatham scored two oals, one by Williston on a long throw, and another by Thomas on a pass from Ross.

The visitors seemed fagged out, and Chatham had things their own way. The last quarter was not eventful at all, no goals were scored and all seemed pretty well fagged out.

free from slugging or roughness, and

PLEASANT EVENT

The home of Mr. Paul Huff, Delaware avenue, was the scene of a very pleasant event, being the marriage of Miss Maggie Scott, of Watford, sister of Mrs. Buff, to Mr. John White, of the postoffice department Sult Ste. Marie. The bride looked most charming, while the groom presented a splendid type of cultured manhood. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Livingstone, of Petrolea, at the hour of eleven o'clock. The wedding breakfast was most bountiful and chaste. Many beautiful and costly presents testified to the great popularity of the newly wedded pair. Mr. and Mrs. Huff sustained their great popularity as peerless entertainers. Mr. and Mrs. White will reside in Sault Ste. Marie. The home of Mr. Paul Huff, Delaw
