WITTE FEARS FAILURE

Russia's Chief Envoy Not an "Any Price" Peace Man.

Says Japanese Will Prohibit an Accord Being Reached—Everything Rests With Czar—Defends His Country's Condition and Predicts Successful Passing of Crisis—Sakhalin Is Invested, Japs Set up Government.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—M. Witte, the senior Russian plenipotentiary, yesterday received the correspondent of the Associated Press at his villa at Yaglin Island. M. Witte spoke in French. After greetings, the conversation gravitated quickly to the high mission with which the Russian statesman is charged, and the disposition of the foreign press to interpret his appointment as an indication that Russia had decided to make peace at any price.

"No," said His Excellency, straightening up in his chair and speaking slowly and distinctly, as if weighing the value of each word. "In the first place I have been designated by the Emperor as his Ambassador extraordinary for four parliaments with the Japanese plenipotentiaries to ascertain whether it is possible to conclude a treaty of peace. My personal views are of secondary importance, but my ideas are in entire accord with those of my friend, Count Lamsdorf, Foreign Minister. In serving my Emperor, I have received precise instructions from His Majesty and shall follow them.

"The ultimate decision remains in the hands of the Emperor, and it is for him to decide the destiny of Russia. The Emperor is the friend of peace, but I very much fear that the Japanese terms will be such that he will be unable to reach an accord.

"Secondly, the world should disabuse its mind that Russia wants peace at any price. 'Thirdly, Russia is not crushed, as the foreign press had led the world to believe. That the interior situation is serious I do not deny, but in Europe and America the true significance of what is happening is not understood. 'Russia is not on the verge of dissolution as a great power and is not obliged to accept any conditions offered in the name of the military reverses she has sustained.

"We are passing through an internal crisis, which has been marked by many grave events, and which may have others still in store, but the crisis will pass and in few years Russia will again take her place as a preponderant power in the European concert."

Sakhalin is invested.

London, July 18.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Yokohama says that the Japanese have practically completed the occupation of the island of Sakhalin and are organizing a Government.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Standard says the Japanese have landed on Sakhalin 125 miles of light railway and 3,000 coolies.

KING TO VISIT BILEY.

His Majesty Will Inspect the Colonials—Canadian Winnings.

Biley Camp, July 18.—(C.A.P.)—King Edward is due to arrive at the camp on Saturday at 1:50 p.m. He will inspect the colonial teams in the N. R. A. council enclosure, so that any Canadians shooting for the King's Prize will, therefore be unable to be present at the inspection. It is doubtful whether the King will make a tour of the camp.

Staff-Sergeant Crowe of Guelph ties with two others for first prize in the Prince of Wales Prize. The tie will be shot off on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. Crowe's score was 48 at 200 yards and 42 at 600 yards.

LIEUT. LEWIS ON PARADE

Popular Barrister Left as Sentry to Guard Union Jack but was Decoyed Away by Americans.

Also Takes Part in a Baseball Game and Shows the Yankees How to Catch Fish.

Barrister O. L. Lewis, Lieutenant in the 24th, and one of the most popular men in the Regiment, spent a couple of days at Sylvan Lake, fishing, a short time ago. While away he had an opportunity to show his Canadian patriotism, as will be seen from the following report of the trip published in the Detroit Journal:

"It was an international fishing party that Langford S. Hurst took out to camp at Sylvan Lake. It consisted of his three brothers, A. O. Hurst of Toronto, Ald. W. S. Hurst of Woodstock, and C. H. Hurst of Buffalo, O. L. Lewis, barrister of Chatham, and Herman Frurip and L.

City Band in Attendance. SPECIAL COACH for the LADIES. Be on hand to cheer the boys to victory.

G. Myers of Detroit. The party got back Monday with a load of fish they had purchased cheaply somewhere along the road.

"Of course there was some good natured joshing about the celebration of the Fourth of July. The Americans had determined to go out on the morning of the Fourth and hoist an American flag to hoist over the shanty, but the Canadians had brought a Union Jack and a Canadian flag among their baggage, and early on the eventful morning they got up and hoisted one on each end of the house. When the American contingent got up they found the flags in position, and one of the Canadians stalking up and down doing a sentry-go. The Detroiters borrowed a flag from a doctor who lived near by, and while one of them decoyed the sentry away from his post with an offer to show him where the ice elinked in the tall glasses, the others hoisted Old Glory on the end of a fishpole to the highest corner of the house.

"There was more trouble over the baseball game in the afternoon. The Canadians being in the minority, claimed L. S. Hurst, although he is a Detroit man, and it was decided that he should play for both sides. He had not worked so hard since his schooldays, but his protests were of no avail. The score was 7 to 6 in favor of the Canadians in the last inning, and the Americans were at bat. Two men were out and one on base when the fourth man found the ball and sent it over in the direction of L. S. Hurst, who, having been struck out, was fielding now. He quietly put his hands in his pockets and let the ball go by, and the two Americans chased each other around the bases. Then the Canadian Hope kept Hurst, but he took to the woods, and did not appear again until supper-time."

ATTEND SERVICE

Court Pride, No. 8765, of Dover, attended service last Sunday evening at the A. O. F. Hall, 7th concession, Bear Line. The sermon was preached by Rev. A. T. Brown and was a very instructive one.

Delegations from Court Royal, C. O. F., Mitchell's Bay and Courts Hope and Unity, of this city, were also in the line, which was marshaled by Leo Dulong. After the service the local lodge provided a lunch for their visitors.

The following Foresters attended from the city Courts Dr. G. T. McKeough; D. C. R. Wm. H. Benson; D. C. R. Ed. Cape; P. C. R. Wm. Henry Clements; P. C. R. Jas. Dyer; P. C. R. A. E. Lenfestey, Wm. Chaplin, Wm. Wood and Bert Clements.

J. Stewart, of the D. A. C. cricket club, has written J. W. Aitken, secretary of the local club, asking the Chatham team to unite with the D. A. C.'s in sending a team to the Pittsburgh tournament. This will, in all probability be done, as Chatham will not be able to send a full local team.

HEROINES MEET DEATH

Woman and Girl Give Their Lives For Others.

Mrs. John Reid of Ormston, Que., Plunges Into the River to Save Life of a Niece—Vera Schneider Drowned in Attempting to Rescue Her Sister—A Brave Little 10-Year Old Girl Who Lived at New Hamburg.

Montreal, July 18.—News of one of the saddest tragedies comes from Ormston, where Mrs. John Reid, the wife of a well-known farmer, heroically gave up her life to save that of her niece, Miss Elliott, who was her guest. Miss Elliott, with Mrs. Reid's young daughter, had rowed to the village, a short distance away. On returning, little Miss Reid sprang from the skiff, but failed to secure the boat, which rapidly drifted out into the river. Mrs. Reid, unable to manage the boat, jumped into the water and sank. Mrs. Reid saw her go down, rushed to the river bank, and she, too, jumped into the water. She could not swim and was soon beyond her depth. Fennel, a neighbor, came to the rescue and saved Miss Elliott, but when Mrs. Reid's body was recovered, life was extinct.

Her Life For Her Sister's.

New Hamburg, July 18.—Another drowning accident occurred here yesterday afternoon in the River Nith.

Three Schneider children, Edith, Vera and Florence, visitors from Stratford, were at the river near Jacob Roth's farm, east of the village. Edith, aged 8, and Florence, aged 4, were apparently drowning, and Vera, aged 10, went in to save her sisters. While Roth, aged 8 years, pulled Edith and Florence out, but Vera was drowned.

Draws While Bathing.

Gretina, Man., July 18.—Frank Josephson was drowned in Pembina River here while bathing Sunday.

Boy Drowned.

Quebec, July 18.—A boy named Grenier, son of Modeste Grenier, was drowned in the St. Charles River.

Help Arrived Too Late.

Toronto, July 18.—Another drowning victim was added to the list of summer fatalities yesterday afternoon, when Richard Bennington, an eight-year-old boy, lost his life while paddling on a raft in the lagoon at Hanlan's Point. Help arrived too late and he was beyond aid when the body was recovered.

Electrocuted While Swimming.

Hamilton, July 18.—Sanford Evans, a seven-year-old son of John Eldred, was instantly killed by a live wire while bathing in a creek at his father's farm. A guard wire on the H. G. & B. Railway broke, fell over an electric feed wire, and dropped into the creek. The lad took hold of it and received several thousand volts, the water making a short circuit. He was badly burned. An inquest will be held.

Fatalities at Frank.

Frank, Man., July 18.—William Chalmie was killed in the Canadian-American coal mine here Sunday by the bursting of a coal chute which buried him under 100 tons of coal.

Lille, Col., July 18.—Eight miles east of here, Joseph Sheno, an Italian, after lighting a dynamite fuse, returned to examine it and was instantly killed by the explosion.

Hamilton Teamster Killed.

Hamilton, July 18.—Charles Wright, 74 West Canon street, a teamster, was run over and fatally injured yesterday afternoon at Armstrong's gravel pit, at the west end of the city. He stepped out on the tongue of the wagon to fix something about the harness and fell between the horses. They moved on, drawing a heavy wagon load of gravel over him. He died a few hours after. He was about 30 years of age and unmarried.

BARRISTER DRINKS CARBOLIC.

Charged With Serious Offence, Eludes Vigilance of Guards.

Gananoque, July 18.—About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Daniel E. Sheppard, barrister, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid.

The deceased was under surveillance at his home, charged with a serious offence. About the hour named he escaped the vigilance of those watching him and, going into his sister's room, found a bottle of carbolic acid, the contents of which he drank.

The deceased was aged 52 years, and had been prominent in public affairs. Mayor Sheppard is a brother.

Before attending on law he taught school in Ottawa, Hamilton and Carleton Place.

THIEF CAUGHT

Detective McGregor Succeeded in Landing the Man who Committed the Robbery at Prairie Siding.

After a clever piece of detective work James McGregor has arrested the man who robbed Mr. Shaw's general provision store at Prairie Siding last week. Geo. Chapelle, the man who committed the deed, was brought into the city yesterday afternoon and arraigned before Judge Houston in the County Court and elected to be tried before Mr. Houston next Monday.

Mr. McGregor has been working on the case ever since the information was given to the county police and he deserves great credit for his splendid work in landing his man.

The evidence against Chapelle is very strong. He works for a man named Drago, of Tilbury East, near Prairie Siding, and the goods stolen from the store were found, some in his room and some hidden in the barn. The stolen goods recovered were three boxes of cigars, three pair of overalls, three shirts, five handkerchiefs, one pair of suspenders and one pair of socks.

Chapelle when he was caught told the detective several yarns, but he did not have a straight story and contradicted himself several times. He was brought into the city and arraigned about four o'clock yesterday afternoon.

TALENTED CHATHAMITE

Among the new music recently published is an exceedingly pretty and popular song, "The Fairest Rose in June," by Victor Lauriston, the pen name of Wm. E. Park, the talented son of Inspector Robert Park. The song is a splendid one and promises to be one of the deserved favorites of the season. Mr. Park is a literateur of much ability, but, so far as The Planet is aware, "The Fairest Rose in June" is his first venture into the realm of song. Very heartily we congratulate the young author and composer. H. H. Sparks, Toronto, is the publisher.

Miss Armstrong, of Bridgen, who has been visiting Miss Ethel Gilles, Queen street, has gone to Ridgeway, where she will spend a couple of days with friends. She will return to Chatham before she leaves for her home.

WORK AND WORRY.

"Worked to death" is an expression often applied to one who has passed away and whose lot had been that of the innocent toiler. The labor may have been physical, or mental. It matters not; we insist that the departed "killed himself with work." Scientists, however, affirm that it is impossible for a man to kill himself with work, as nature always intervenes and forces the hard-pressed worker to rest before complete exhaustion occurs. Meantime nature, tired as she is, immediately sets about to apply the necessary restoratives to bring the weakened, worn-out toiler back to strength again. Work is rather a developer than a destroyer, and is an excellent warder-off of disease. As has been frequently pointed out, it is conceivable that excessive work, as excess in anything, might in special cases, as for example in the case of the aged or diseased, shorten life. It is safe to say that worry is responsible for far more deaths than work. The premature collapse was due, not so much to over-exertion of physical or mental effort, as to the wear and tear and hurry and worry of present-day existence. Longevity is the prize of the hardest worker. In a recent lecture before the Royal College of Physicians, Sir Herman Weber, himself an octogenarian, made it clear that the greatest brainworkers were among the longest lived. He instanced, in substantiation of his statements, Sophocles, Plato, Galen, Cicero, Moltke, Bismarck, Mommsen, Glatstone, Carlyle, Spencer and Lord Kelvin.

"It is not the work, but the worry, that makes the world grow old. That numbers the years of its children."

Here half their story is told; That weakens their faith in heaven, And the wisdom of God's great plan.

Ah! 'tis not the work, but the worry, That breaks the heart of man."

The cares of home and the competition of life bring numerous worries. With many it is a constant struggle to make the earnings of the week meet the daily cost of living. This tends to worry. All classes are subject to keen competition in these days, class with class, and individual with individual. The mechanic, the business man and the professional man must meet his fellow in the open ground of contest; and sometimes it happens that the strife is by no means friendly or fair. But the struggle for position and pre-eminence must go on, and many fall by the way worn out not so much by incessant work as by constant killing worry incident to daily living.

Where we least interested and not so busy we might be more impressed with the uselessness of worry. It is generally weakening, and physically, mentally and spiritually we are the losers by our worrying. It unfits us for the duties of the day, and makes us irritable and unpleasant companions. The happiness that should be ours, and just as certainly, that which belongs to others, is destroyed. Worry is destructive in the extreme. Many a man is deserted of friends and stands pitiful in his loneliness because of a worrying disposition. Worry is wasteful of our strength and time. Our energy is gone and the precious hours slip by unproductive of any good whatever. It is amusing to note how often all our worrying was unnecessary. We found that the river had a bridge and the mountain had a tunnel. The burden when really placed upon our shoulders was not nearly so heavy as we had previously imagined. The devoted women of the day of the Resurrection were wondering who would roll away the great stone that sealed the entrance to the tomb of their crucified Master, and doubtless they worried as they went. But lo! the stone was rolled away when they reached the sepulchre in the grey dawn of that fateful day. All their worrying was worthless. And so it is with much of our own.

Real anxiety will come into the heart of every true man and woman. There is no escape from a certain measure of concern about ourselves, and, chiefly, about others. The worryless human being is almost always a worthless one. But over-anxiety is to be justly condemned as wasteful and of no avail. It is well for us to remember in our worrying that no amount of anxiety can change a fact. This must be faced squarely and dealt with fearlessly. Results will come in spite of our worry. Our duty is to avoid the results of worry. We need to steel ourselves against a tendency perhaps peculiarly our own. It can be cured by persistent effort. Frequently if we were to be less self-centred and think more of others, the amount of our worry would be measurably diminished. On the other hand, we may be bearing unwise burdens rightly belonging to other shoulders and hearts. The Christian given to over-anxiety is directed to a message of the veteran apostle Paul to the Philippians: "Be careful for nothing (that is, don't worry); but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God." LIFE CHEAP ACROSS THE LINE.

Charlottetown Guardian.

The Brooklyn Eagle tells that ten years ago murders in the United States averaged about five a day. Last year the average was about fourteen. This is an appalling record, but it is not all. Ten years ago capital punishment was meted out to one in each sixteen of the murderers. Last year the proportion was only one in seventy-two. Evidently life is cheaply held across the border and is growing cheaper, while crime is not taken seriously and is not punished with such severity as will give it a serious check.

Mrs. Thomas Ramsey one of the Many Who Found Health in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Silver Water, Manitoulin Island, July 17.—(Special).—Every part of Canada seems to be testifying to the good work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing and there is no reason why Manitoulin Island should not do her part. Many a man and woman here blesses them for aches relieved and health restored. Take for instance the case of Mrs. Thomas Ramsey. She says:

"I doctored for years and did not seem to get any better. It seemed to be my kidneys that was the trouble so I thought I would try Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped me very much."

"I cannot say how many I have taken, for my house is never without them and whenever I don't feel right I take a few. My husband also takes them once in a while. I find them a splendid medicine to have handy."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the greatest family medicine of the age. They can be taken by young or old with perfect safety. They cure all kidney ailments, and nine-tenths of the sickness of the present day springs from bad kidneys.

Spiders as Medicine.

Formic acid has been used for a long time by the Matabele natives in Africa as a cure for malaria and ague. It is taken by them in the form of spiders. These insects contain a large proportion of formic acid. A traveler in Africa said that a meal or two of spiders cured him permanently of an attack of ague.

It runs hand in hand with poor blood and weak nerves. Health runs down, nerves get irritable, neuralgic tortures follow. For the moment applications may relieve; but to thoroughly cure, the system must be strengthened with nutritious blood. What can equal Ferrozone? It increases the appetite, forms abundance of rich, life-giving blood, supplies nutriment and building material for worn-out nerves. Ferrozone completely cures neuralgia. MISSOURI RIVER BOATS.

Trips of the Old Side Wheelers in the Early Days.

In the early days there was a regular line of packets between St. Louis and St. Joseph, all side wheelers, and the average round trip occupied eight days. A boat left St. Louis every day for the Missouri river, and as there were fourteen boats in the line each boat made a round trip once every two weeks during the season. During the winter the boats ran between St. Louis and New Orleans.

Coming up the river the boats ran all night, but in going down they always laid up as soon as darkness set in. In going down the river the boats usually left St. Joseph early in the afternoon and laid up for the night at Weston, where there was always a lot of freight to load. The next day they went to Lexington, the next to Booneville and the next to St. Louis. Occasionally during high water a boat would leave Lexington at daylight and reach St. Louis in time for breakfast the next morning.

The boats carried from 200 to 400 passengers on the trip up the river, counting the immigrants on the deck, but going back they only had cabin passengers. The cabin fare from St. Louis to St. Joseph ranged from $10 to $15, which included meals and state-room. The boats were all supplied with fine cooks, and the passengers lived on the best that money could buy.

The average boat carried 500 to 600 tons of freight in addition to passengers. During low water freight that now costs 20 cents a hundred cost $2.50 a hundred. The expense of a round trip from St. Louis to St. Joseph, including loading and unloading, was estimated at $4,000, and the income from cost to $7,000. Each boat carried a crew of from 80 to 100 men. The average value of the boats in the line was probably $45,000 each.

The boats were often on sand bars, where they sometimes remained for a day and night, but altogether the time was made surprisingly well. A pilot who had a reputation for keeping his boat off the bars commanded as high as $500 a month. Each boat was provided with two pilots, and this expense usually amounted to from $900 to $1,000 a month. All a river pilot saved he put in his watch chain. You could tell a high priced pilot by the size of the links in his gold watch chain. A rattling good first mate who knew how to handle a boat after it struck a bar received $250 a month.

Poker was a favorite river amusement, and it was not an uncommon sight to see eight or ten games going at the same time in the main cabin of a steamboat. And the playing was for actual money, which was displayed in stacks on the tables.

Among the famous boats on the river at that time were the Kate Kinney, F. G. Aubrey, Morning Star, John D. Perry, Sioux City, Omaha, Carrier and the James H. Lucas. The last named made the fastest run in the history of the river—59 hours and 22 minutes from St. Louis to St. Joseph.

New Wines Are Colored.

"Most people think white grapes make red wine and dark grapes make red wine," said a visitor. "That is a popular error."

"Red wine is made by fermenting grape juice and grape skins together the skins giving the color, and white wine is made by fermenting grape juice alone."

"The juice of white and of dark grapes doesn't differ in hue. In each sort of grape the juice is almost colorless, like the weakest lemonade."

"Champagne, one of the dearest of the white wines, is made of a grape so dark as to be nearly black. But the juice of that nearly black grape is quite as pale as the juice of the blondest white grape."

Japanese Radish.

Picture to yourself a pure white radish the size of a baseball or larger, firm and solid. Such is the Japanese radish. Cut it, and you find it has the consistency of a Baldwin apple, firm and fine grain; taste, and it proves to be away ahead of the most delicate spring radish that ever passed your lips. It will thrive at any season during the growing year. It may be transplanted or left alone, cultivated or uncultivated. It is as good to eat when in bloom as in its younger days, and one radish will provide bulk enough for three or four people or more.—Garden Magazine.

War History.

An old dandy was watching the G. A. R. parade one Memorial day and was vociferously cheering the band. I suppose you were through the civil war, uncle?" said a bystander. "Ever step of it, suh!" "At the surrender too?" "Ever step of it, suh!" "What did General Lee say to General Grant?" "Never said nuttin', suh; dea chopped off his haid an' went on!"

The Willy Barber.

"Ah, yes," mused Mr. Oldboy, "when I was a young fellow and went to the hairdresser's to get my hair cut he used to fatter me by asking if I wanted a shave. Now when I go to the hairdresser's to get a shave he fatters me by asking if I want my hair cut."

When Women Use
DIAMOND DYES.

Each year thousands of letters come in from all parts of this vast Dominion telling of victories and successes with Diamond Dyes in the home.

The marvellous and immense sales of Diamond Dyes in Canada have induced adventurers and speculators (who know nothing about the chemistry of colors) to go into the putting up of Package dyes. Such dyes are adulterated and crude; the colors are muddy and blotchy, bringing ruin to the materials you try to dye.

Diamond Dyes, the choice of wise women, are the kind used when bright, full, fast and brilliant colors are warranted. No disappointments possible when you use Diamond Dyes.

Diamond Dyes are sold by all leading druggists and dealers. Refuse to accept substitutes when you ask for Diamond Dyes.

The Misses Kontze of Jeannette, Creek, are visiting their grandfather, Mr. Wm. Hobson.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The people who are always letting things go are apt to be quite satisfied to take them as they come.

If Mr. Rockefeller were not so exclusive in his giving, there would be lots of people enterprising enough to find effectual means of deodorizing his coin.

Hot water seems to enter early as a factor in the life of the czarling.

It is sort of discouraging to think of making money, as those millionaires seem to have such a time in getting rid of what they have made.

Thinking is to be recommended as a good exercise, and those who practice long enough have even been known to evolve an idea.

Whoever else he may quarrel with, a man should strive to keep on good terms with his liver.

Nothing but experience will teach a boy that it is not worth while to remain to the concert.

It is very seldom you will find an alderman who doesn't know why he is there.

For light, healthful exercise for an old person there is nothing like drawing a pension.

Forced Him to Sleep.

"He was terribly troubled with insomnia, but he is all over it."
"How did he get cured?"
"They raised his room rent, and he had to sleep more to get his money's worth."

It Is Everywhere.

To eat the festive new laid egg
And eke the charming yellow leg,
The butter from the gentle cow,
Prepared as no one else knows how,
We journey to the countryside
And put up with a dusty ride.

Through villages and farming land
To get the produce at first hand,
And then it drives us most insane
To find that on the selfsame train
Come butter, eggs, canned fruit galore
In boxes from the city store.

May Be the Climate.
"I suppose they will soon get busy on the isthmus."
"That is what they claim."
"You know I think there is a good deal of hot air about that canal."

Degrees.
"Yes," said the pious man; "all flesh is grass."
"That may be true," replied the flip-pant one, "but you must admit that grass widows are more so."

When He Lapsed.
He lived on thirteen cents a day,
On butter-milk and malted hay.
He said a diet of this kind
Developed muscle, bone and mind.
But when another man stood treat
You should have seen him gobble meat.

A Sure Way.
"He has discovered the secret of making gold."
"From sea water?"
"No; from suckers."

Noticed the Big Signs.
"Why is he taking so much patent medicine?"
"He has been reading the handwriting on the wall."

Better Proposition.
The glories of a sunrise
A man will gladly lose
And feel ahead if in his bed
He can remain and snooze.

Still More Important.
"He can order his meals in three different languages."
"Yes, but he can't always pay for them in one."

Different Kind of Pressure.
"Why is he so anxious about having his suit pressed?"
"He wants to press his suit tonight."

Getting Even.
With Them,
"He mortgaged his place to give his daughter a musical education."
"It is awful when a man has it in for the neighbors as bad as that."

Naturally.
"He is writing a story about this wheat pit."
"Will it run as a cereal?"

A Mystery.
If art is long,
As some report,
Why should some artists
Then be short?

Sea Water.

Sea water is a complicated mixture of a great variety of substances. Roughly speaking, it consists of 96 1/2 per cent of fresh water plus 3 1/2 per cent of mineral salts. Three-fourths of these salts are chloride of sodium, or common table salt, and the next largest constituent is chloride of magnesium. After these come sulphate of magnesium, sulphate of lime, sulphate of potash, bromide of magnesium and carbonate of lime. In addition to these substances sea water contains minute quantities of quite a variety of elements, including iodine, phosphorus and arsenic. It also contains some silver, copper, zinc, nickel, cobalt, iron and gold. There is said to be 2 cents' worth of gold in every pallful of sea water, but as yet nobody has found a way to extract it. Copper and zinc are found in some seaweeds, and certain species of coral is three-millionths silver.

Stonewall Jackson's Battles.

Stonewall Jackson's negro body servant knew before anybody else when a battle was imminent. "The general tells you, I suppose," said one of the soldiers. "Lawd, no, sir! De gin'ral nudder tell me nothin'. Pryor's "Reminiscences."

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.
Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

The Vice-President Independent Order of Good Templars.

An experience which many women have related by Miss Agnes Stebbins, of 231 East 10th Street, New York City, as follows: "I had very poor health for a year until I looked dark and drab, to most men, was broken and fitful. I longed for health. Tried several medicines but none were of any lasting benefit until I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I soon realized that I had found the right remedy. It helped nature to throw off the poisons that saturated the system, removed all pains and strengthened the digestive organs, and brought the roses of health back to my cheeks. This medicine if taken occasionally keeps the system in perfect condition, helping it to throw off the disease and consequences of exposure to dampness. I am pleased to give it my endorsement."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

AN EVARTS FEE.

Showing How It May Sometimes Pay to Be a Poor Writer.

Not many lawyers write legibly, and the late William M. Everts wrote such an execrable hand that it was very often difficult to read it. This caused a mistake at one time which resulted in the eminent lawyer receiving a retainer for ten times the amount he requested. The late William Allen Butler, an eminent member of the New York bar, was counsel for one of the legatees in the celebrated Stokes will case years ago, in which the late Dr. Henry P. Stearns was one of the expert witnesses. Something like $15,000,000 was involved, and Mr. Butler told his client that he would like an associate in the conduct of the case. He was asked whom he would suggest, and he said he thought Mr. Everts would be the best man owing to his superior knowledge of the law and his great reputation as an advocate. The client agreed, and Mr. Butler was instructed to see if Mr. Everts would come into the case.

Accordingly Mr. Butler wrote to Mr. Everts and invited him to be associated in the case and name his retaining fee. In due time he received a reply, which he saw at a glance was in the affirmative and, without stopping to read it further, slipped it into another envelope and mailed it to his client. In a day or two he received a call from Mr. Everts, who inquired what sort of a man his brother lawyer's client was. "Didn't you hear from him after I sent your letter to him?" queried Mr. Butler.

"Yes," replied Mr. Everts, "but he sent me a check for $25,000, and I only asked him for $2,500."

It was apparent that Mr. Everts' chirography misled the client. This is the story as told by a lawyer who was familiar with the facts, but it is not known whether Mr. Everts returned the difference of $22,500 or whether he worked it out.

THE KALLIMA BUTTERFLY.

An Insect That Perpetually Imitates a Dead Tree Leaf.

A moth usually rests with his fore wings outspread over the prominent pattern of his hind wings, says Waldemar B. Kaempfert in the Bookkeepers Magazine. In any other posture he would inevitably meet a swift death. A butterfly, on the contrary, rests usually with his wings uplifted and pressed together. Otherwise, the gaudy upper surface would be as conspicuous as the black ink on this white paper—a signal for attack by relentless and voracious foes. In order to hide himself the butterfly has, therefore, lavished all the resources of his imitative art on the under surface of his wings. By far the most astonishing instance of this kind is afforded by the East Indian Kallima butterfly, the blue upper surface of which is richly and ostentatiously adorned with a stripe of orange, but the under surface of which bears a truly staggering likeness to a leaf, when the wings are drawn together. Here we have an insect that apes not merely the approximate shape and color of a dead leaf, but also the midrib with the delicate veining, the sharp point, and the short stem common to many tropical leaves.

It might be supposed that this imitation of an ordinary object is sufficiently minute to protect the Kallima from its enemies. Self preservation apparently demands not merely a dead leaf simulated, but in touches even more exquisite, for the resemblance has been so craftily carried out that the lighter colored varieties, a dead, shriveled leaf flecked with parasitic growths, stained and spotted to give the appearance of holes eaten by caterpillars.

How Owls Catch Chickens.

When I was a chunk of a boy I shot a horned owl, the spread of whose wings was four and one-half feet, and, to the surprise of the boy who had carried it for several miles, the weight was only four pounds. They were rather numerous at that time in that section of the country and were troublesome about carrying off chickens, which mostly roosted in apple trees about the farm buildings. The belief that they could carry away full grown hens was a common one. It was also commonly believed that an owl never picked a chicken off the roost, but, alighting on the limb, crowded the chicken off and as it flew toward the ground caught it on the wing.—Forest and Stream.

Bacon and the Fishers.
In "Aubrey's Lives" this quaint story is told of Lord Bacon: "His lordship, being in the garden looking on fishers as they were throwing their nets, asked them what they would take for their catch. They answered so much. His lordship would offer them not more, but so much. They drew up their net, and in it were only two or three little fishes. He then told them it had been better for them to have taken his offer. They replied they hoped for a better draft, but, said his lordship, 'Hope is a good breakfast, but an ill supper.'"

A Paper House.
"Only think," exclaimed Fenderson, "of the many uses to which paper is put!"

"I know," replied Baz, "I was at the theater the other night, and I was told it was all paper, and it was a fine, substantial looking structure too."

The Hole in the Roof.
No man is belittled by having a decent roof over his head, and no bishop is made a saint by living in a hovel.—From "The Bishop's Niece," by George H. P. Carter.

It is really the errors of a man that make him lovable.—Goethe.

NOMINAL SENTENCE

Sydney Haystaff and Charles Deacon, the two English lads who were identified with the burglary at Reid's farm, were again before Judge Houston at County Court this morning. The Crown Attorney had communicated with their employers and both lads received unqualified recommendations at their hands. In consideration of this fact and that they already had been incarcerated for some time, the Judge dealt leniently with them and imposed a nominal sentence of six hours in the cells.

FOR PARK

Special Constable John McKay sworn in for Victoria Park.

This morning Mayor Cowan appointed John McKay a special constable to put a stop to offensive practices and misbehavior in Victoria Park. Many complaints have recently been made concerning the conduct of night frequenters of this pleasure resort and the appointing of the officer resulted in consequence.

McKay took the oath before City Clerk Merritt and forthwith reported to Crown Attorney Smith and Chief Holmes for duty.

THE TEAM

The line-up for Chatham in the game at St. Thomas to-morrow will be as follows:

Goal—Hamilton.
Point—Webb.
C. Point—Pickering.
1 Def.—Elliott.
2 Def.—Cheevers.
3 Def.—Hutchinson.
Centre—Crookshanks.
2 Home—Grace.
1 Home—Quinnell.
Out Home—Stewart.
In Home—Laderoute.

The team will be without the services of W. J. Young, the energetic and efficient field captain. This is regrettable, but the team itself is the strongest ever.

ANOTHER COUNT

Colin Rockey, the Thamesville restaurant keeper, who was last week convicted of dispensing liquor in the dry town without a license, appeared at County Court this morning on a second count, viz., that of refusing to allow Constables Traxler and Bone to inspect and search his premises.

The evidence went to show that he had invited the officers to inspect his restaurant, but declined permission to his private household quarters, and Barrister J. G. Kerr, who appeared on his behalf, put up a strong fight for acquittal.

MOVING SLOWLY

Market sheds are a necessity. They are necessary to protect those who attend market both from heat and inclement weather. Notwithstanding this, work on the sheds at a virtual standstill. Yesterday there was not a sign of life around either the police station or sheds. This morning two men were at work on the sheds, both of them painters, painting the sills which have been placed in position.

The contractor in his agreement with the city binds himself to "vigorously prosecute" this work to its completion. Two painters were "vigorously prosecuting" the work this morning—not a bricklayer in sight. A casual reference to Webster would inform those in charge of this work that "vigorously" is synonymous with "energetic."

Digby, N. S., Nov. 12, '01.
C. C. RICHARDS & CO.

Gentlemen,—Last August my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts, small ones, healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last I decided to use MEDICAL LINIMENT and in four weeks' time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The liniment is certainly wonderful in its working.

TILBURY TO THE FRONT

Tilbury is soon to have a splendid new municipal building. The plans of J. L. Wilson & Son, of this city, have been accepted and the work will be proceeded with at once.

The building is an experiment in municipal ownership, as the upper part is to be an Opera House. The lower part will contain the post office, fire hall and tower, council chamber, public library, police station, magistrate's and municipal offices. The opera house will be a large one, seating over 900 people and having three boxes on either side of the stage. Another "boost" in the right direction for this progressive town.

FAKE YARN

Quite a little excitement has been aroused over an affair which occurred in the east end last Friday night. Mrs. Bedford, an aged colored woman who is quite deaf, claimed that a man attempted to break into her house through a back window. She tried to shoot him but the gun she had would not go off.

She claimed he grabbed her throat but she beat him off with the gun and he went away. The only description of the man that she could give Officer Dezella was that he had a red beard and red hair. She did not know how tall he was. Mrs. Bedford laid a charge against a man for housebreaking and nothing could be proved against him.

AN OLD BOY

Charles A. Faber, of Chicago, an old Chatham boy, is spending a few days in the city visiting the scenes of his boyhood days. He is the guest of his friend Con. Shea, Grey street.

"It is 30 years since I left Chatham," said Mr. Faber to a Planet reporter, "but I never expected to see it the bright up-to-date place I have found it to be. I have often seen people from Chatham who told me the town was the same old place, just the same as when I left, so when I came home I found myself looking for tall gates and plank roads, but I find one of the most up-to-date and prettiest spots I have ever visited. I have always had a warm spot in my heart for Chatham and I am pleased to meet some of the older residents, many of whom I remember well. Chatham has grown into a grand little city and I am proud of it and proud that I can claim it as a birth place."

Mr. Faber served his apprenticeship as a machinist in Hyslop and Reynolds' old machine shop here, but after he went to Chicago he drifted into the clothing business. His father was once in the shoe business here and afterwards published the first book in Chatham, on the market square, which was later on destroyed by fire. Mr. Faber, Sr., spoke seven languages. He was a prominent politician and was an ardent admirer of and worker for the late Rufus Stephenson in political and municipal affairs.

Mr. Faber will remain in Chatham about a week. He is proprietor of a large clothing business in Chicago and is the happy father of ten children. He likes his Chicago home, but Chatham lies nearer his heart. He says he will not let such a long period elapse before he visits his old home again.

Chance generally favors the prudent.
Heaven help the man whose friends are all enemies.

LARGE FUNERAL

The Death of Mattie Broad Illustrates the Power of the Electric Fluid—Large Funeral.

The death of eighteen-year-old Mattie Broad, who was killed by a lightning bolt near Florence on Friday last, illustrates well the strange vagaries of the electric fluid. As reported in this paper a few days ago the young girl was stricken down when a short distance from home. She had been out picking berries and, seeing the storm coming, had hurried homeward. From a belt around her waist was suspended a small pail and on her right arm hung a larger one. Hanging around her neck was a chain to which was attached a watch which was stuck in her girdle. Evidently the shaft struck her squarely in the middle of the head, as her sun bonnet was cleft exactly in twain. Down the right side of her face and body the current passed, stripping her clothes from her on that side. It charred her right arm and split the hand up the centre, and still passing down the right side of the body it tore the shoe off that foot.

The right side of the watch, hanging at her waist, was burned and the stem melted. The crystal was torn off but the hands pointed to 24 minutes to twelve, supposedly the moment the bolt killed her. The pail she was carrying on her right arm had its right side melted and charred, the other side being untouched. The smaller pail, hanging from her girdle, had its bottom burned out as neatly as if a tinSmith had done it.

Consider the unthinkable rate at which the electric current was travelling and note the remarkable precision in its deadly work—only the right side of the body being touched and the right side of everything with which the bolt came in contact. Surely this marvellous natural phenomenon is something to shudder at in awe struck horror!

The funeral of the stricken girl was held on Sunday from Fansher Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Sawyer officiating.

The tragic circumstances surrounding the affair made the cortege a large one, over 300 rigs being in line, and the caasket was smothered with flowers. J. H. Broad, of this city, is an uncle of the deceased.

UNIQUE DANCE

Erieau Cottagers Attend a Strenuous Function at Government Park—Their Experience.

The cottagers at Erieau attempted to give a dance at Government Park last evening. The Government Park Ancient and Dishonorable Lodge of Mosquitoes, No. 987,654,321—at least there seemed to be that many of them—met the visitors at the dock and gave them a "stinging" reception.

It was quite unnecessary to take the Cleveland orchestra along, as the mosquitoes, with commendable foresight, also supplied the music to which the cottagers danced. The dance itself was something unique and novel, consisting in jumping up and down in one spot, beating the air with both hands and smiting the shins and other exposed parts of the dancer's anatomy. Some mystic language was also a part of the ceremony, but this became so very highly technical in character that the female mosquitoes took all the little mosquitoes home so that they could not hear it.

The dance was too strenuous and the party did not stay long. From all reports the affair was a "bummer."

COUGHERS, HAWKERS, SPITTERS.

Public expectation is against the common law, against the laws of health also. When the throat tickles, that's the time you need "Catarrhose"; it soothes away the irritation, cuts out the phlegm and loosens the tight feeling. You'll quickly cure that catarrh and throat trouble with Catarrhose. It positively prevents new attacks and cures catarrh forever and for all time to come. Don't take our word for it; try Catarrhose yourself. Once used you'll be delighted with its pleasant and helpful influence.

Most men argue from their personal view rather than from actual conditions.

How Red Rose Tea is Grown

TEA is a native plant of Northern India. Transplanted to Ceylon it lost much of its strength and richness, but gained in fragrance and delicacy. That is why Ceylon tea is not a strong tea. That is why I blend Indian and Ceylon teas together—that is how the strength and richness, fragrance and delicacy of Red Rose Tea are secured—that is why Red Rose Tea has that "rich fruity flavor."

LOUISVILLE.

The sidewalks in this village have been greatly improved on by our present roadmaster, and by the ratepayers, who all lent a hand in the good work.

The day crop is enormous in this vicinity this year and the farmers in general have a good two weeks' haying before them.

The Saturday shower was needed in the country and did very much good to the corn and other green crops.

Nearly all our young people were at the Sallott picnic on Friday, where they enjoyed the very best of a time.

Mr. Clarence Weaver has recovered from his serious illness caused from the last football game.

Mr. Hilliard Blackburn has been somewhat unwell but is recovering rapidly now.

A very enjoyable time was had last Thursday evening at a strawberry and cream social held in the Methodist church here under the auspices of the Ladies Aid. A very good program was furnished by home and city talent, Mr. Winterstein acting as chairman.

FLORENCE.

Our granolithic sidewalks when completed will add greatly to the appearance of the town.

AN ANGEL UNAWARES

By KATE M. CLEARY

Copyright, 1905, by Kate M. Cleary

The April downpour was at its fiercest when the knock came to the kitchen door. It was a timid knock—so timid that Nan stood with knife suspended over the pan of apples she was paring, thinking her imagination might have played her a trick. It came again—low, entreating.

The girl crossed to the door and opened it.

"Good land!" she cried. "Come in! You poor little soul, whoever you are, come in!" And out of the blinding rain she caught the little black, shivering figure and whirled it into the warmth and spicy scent of the big kitchen.

She stood and looked at her unexpected visitor, her gaze a curious blending of amazement and compassion. Such a frail, old figure of a woman. The plain black cashmere gown, the thin shawl, the close little bonnet, all were dripping rain, from the stiff jet spirals ornamenting the bonnet to the hem of the poor skirt. And the face that looked up at Nan, dumb and beseeching, was childishly pathetic in its wistfulness.

The woman held a worn bag clutched in one hand.

"I," faltered the stranger deprecatingly—"I got caught in the rain."

Nan threw back her head and laughed—a girlish laugh, crisp and infectious, and the shriveled countenance of the intruder relaxed into a smile.

"Pardon me," cried Nan, controlling herself; "only it was so evident you had not been under shelter the last hour that I couldn't help laughing. Here, sit down in this rocker near the stove." She deftly unpinned the soaking shawl and removed the pulpy bonnet. "Dear, dear," she exclaimed, "you're no rubbers on! And your feet are dripping! You're just a bundle of wetness! Whatever will I do with you?"

She spoke with the air of solicitude she might have used toward a child. Nan was only seventeen, but she had many burdens on her shoulders, and she bore them with courage. A year ago, when she had graduated from the high school, the hope that she might go to college was strong within her. But her aunt and cousin had condemned her desire and decided her ambition. There was no money to spare for such foolishness. There was work to be done at home.

The letter that the girl was given no opportunity to doubt. The maid of all work had been dismissed the week of her graduation, and Nan had been installed in her place. And, silently, but with fierce inward rebellion, she accepted her duties. But her father had been a man of letters and a professor in a university, and she had inherited his love of learning. So it was with a heavy heart she saw the days slipping by and with them the time she would have given to the acquisition of further knowledge. Today many hidden tasks still remained to be accomplished, and here was this forlorn creature on her hands.

"I'm sure I'm sorry to be making you trouble, my dear," piped up the plaintive old voice. "If when after I'm rested a bit you'll be telling me my direction I'll be moving on."

But suddenly she went ghastly white. She caught her hand sharply to her side, and her lips turned blue.

"Here," cried Nan, "take this!" She had gone for a stimulant and was back, holding it pressed to the twitching mouth. The old woman swallowed the liquid and tried to rise.

"Sit still!" commanded Nan. "You're ill! You mustn't stir!"

Nan stood before her, tall and slender in her blue cotton gown, with a big white apron belted in at her waist. The pure pallor of her skin was accentuated by the blackness of her brows and lashes. Her gray eyes were wide with perplexity.

"Wait a minute," she ordered and went flashing up the back stairs. She reappeared with a load of garments over her arm. "You're such a mite of a thing the clothes that I've outgrown will fit you," she said. "Your bag? Here it is—safe behind you. There!"

She worked rapidly as she talked. "Now you're dry and comfortable anyhow, if you do look funny."

The old woman smiled up at her gratefully. She did look funny in the schoolgirl gown of red, but the color had come into her cheeks, and her chilled feet were growing warm in the dry stockings and slippers.

"Now I'll make you some tea and toast," declared Nan, hanging the wet clothes to dry. "And then I must get back to— Good gracious, my cake is burning!"

She was on her knees in a minute and had snatched the oven door wide open. A smoking, blackened mound confronted her. And, as ill luck would have it, at that very moment Helena Burnet, her cousin and mistress of the house owing to the invalidism of Mrs. Burnet, came sailing into the kitchen.

"What's this?" she cried sharply. She was in street attire, but had been well protected from the storm. "Your cake ruined! And that—who is that person?" Her cheeks scarlet from embarrassment and the heat of the oven, Nan was hastily removing the cake.

"She's an old lady who got caught in the shower," the girl explained nervously. "Did Aunt Ellen come, Helena?"

"No, she didn't," snapped Helena.

"I've waited in that drafty depot until I am nearly sick. I suppose you made that chicken broth the way mother says she used to like it?"

"Yes, and the little honey hearts too." "You've got the spare room all ready, I dare say?"

"Yes. It's clean, and I lit the fire half an hour ago."

"Such a lot of trouble and expense to go to for a foolish old woman," grumbled Miss Burnet. "Mother says she always had a little sense as the law allows. But that doesn't alter the fact that she is coming to spend her few remaining years with us and that she has $60,000 to leave. I suppose she will land here tomorrow, and we'll have this bother all over again. Well, I'll spend $100 on mourning for her when I inherit it!"

"She will never leave me anything," averred Nancy Goodwin. "My mother did not marry to please her, and Aunt Ellen never forgave her. But—briskly buttering some fresh toast—"If she ever were to remember me I'd—"

"Go to college, I presume!" ended Helena contemptuously.

"Yes, that I would!" rejoined Nan resolutely. "There's no hope of that!" she sighed. "Now, try to eat a few mouthfuls of this and drink your tea."

Helena stared from her cousin to the strange guest and back again.

"Do you mean to say you've gone out of your head, wasting good food on a tramp?" she shrieked.

"Hush!" begged Nan, trembling with mortification. "You will hurt her feelings!"

"Feelings, indeed!" She glared at the stranger. "The rain is over now. She can go about her business."

"She is sick and cold. She can't go out of the house tonight. Let her sleep in my bed. I'll make up a shake down on the cot." Then, hurriedly, as she saw angry refusal in the other's eyes, "Don't make me leave you if you value my work!"

"What do you mean?"

"Only that Mrs. Hunter across the street has offered me $10 a week as housekeeper in her home. I would have no more labor there than here, where I am paid nothing. And I shall accept her offer today if you make me turn this poor old creature out!"

"Well, I declare!" ejaculated Miss Burnet. But, aware that Nan was quite capable of doing what she threatened, she made a tempestuous exit from the kitchen.

Overcoming her apologetic objections, Nan assisted the old woman up the stairs. On the second floor they passed a bright room, hazy with rosy chintzes, with a jolly fire rolicking in the grate.

"I wish I might take you in there," she whispered. "But that is intended for Mrs. Franklyn, who is coming to stay here. You shall have her chicken broth, though," said the girl determinedly. "She can't need it any more than you do."

And when she had tucked the feeble body into her own narrow bed she brought the chicken broth. But that night when the dishes were washed the girl climbed to her room she found her protégée very ill. She was feverish, and the pain in her side was worse. Occasionally she lapsed into delirium.

Nan was frightened, and as the woman grew worse she sped down the stairs and across the street for Dr. Meeker.

"Pneumonia," he said. "Exposure, eh? I thought so. Practically hopeless. What's that, eh? You want a lawyer?" He bent to listen. "Poor soul, what have you to will?"

"John Meeker," she panted, "don't you know me?"

"I'm young Dr. Meeker. John Meeker is my name. I'm trying to be as good a man. If I can build up my practice that had fallen off I hope to make a home for this little girl here."

The old woman smiled and nodded.

"You'll get me a lawyer maybe if you know that I am Ellen Franklyn. No, don't call the others. Helena is like her mother, cold and selfish. I heard her for myself today."

The physician did what he could and hastened away. His experienced eye told him she had been ill several days and that the exposure of the afternoon was hastening the climax. The lawyer returned with him, and the household was aroused. The old woman chuckled, exhausted, but triumphant, as she fell back after signing the will.

"I've left Helena a hundred dollars to buy that mourning she was so set on," she whispered. "You can get your learning while he's making the home for you. 'Twas the fine fellow his father was, I mind well."

And not all the wrath or lamentations of Helena Burnet and her mother prevailed to impeach the validity of the will, which left the property of Ellen Franklyn to Nancy Goodwin.

"I shan't hold you to your promise now, dear," Charlie Meeker said when he came to see the girl off to the university. "You are an heiress now. Everything is different."

"That isn't different!" she replied with emphasis. "You loved me when I was a common drudge. You mustn't stop loving me now that I am going to fit myself to be a wife of whom you may be proud."

He smiled down at her.

"My dear, my dear," he said, "a prince might be proud of you. Here's the train."

Countersellers and Weddings.

The marriage of convenience is an institution among criminals, at least in England. In a recent case in London a detective testified that it was common for counterfeiters to marry women solely for the purpose of passing bad coins on the public. These marriages are not contracted from any feelings of mutual attraction or even trade partnership, but in the belief that juries have a reluctance in convicting wives.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.

Peter B. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay in bed, unable to get up, and was very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me, gazed at my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair fell from the memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me I was threatened with paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, were an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While after treatment at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

LIVING TOO HASTILY
CANADIAN WOMEN BREAKDOWN

Irregularities and Female Derangements Result—Cured by Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Owing to our mode and manner of living, and the nervous haste of every woman to accomplish just so much each day, it is said that there is not

Miss Irene Haggood

one woman in twenty-five but what suffers with some derangement of the female organism, and this is the secret of so many unhappy homes.

No woman can be amiable, light-hearted and happy, a joy to her husband and children, and perform the duties incumbent upon her, when she is suffering with backache, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, bearing-
down pains, displacement of the womb, spinal weakness or ovarian troubles.

Irritability and snappy retorts take the place of pleasantness, and all sunshine is driven out of the home, and lives are wrecked by woman's great enemy—womb trouble.

Read this letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"I suffered for four years with what the doctors called inflammation of the fallopian tubes, which is a most distressing female disease, undermining the constitution and sapping the life force. If you had seen me a year ago when I had begun taking Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and had noticed the sunken eyes, sallow complexion and general emaciated condition, and compared that person with me as I am to-day, robust, hearty and well, you would not wonder that I feel thankful to you and your wonderful medicine which restored me to new life and health in five months. My friends all marvel at the change it has made in me, but none can appreciate it better than I can myself."—Miss Irene Haggood, 1022 Sandwith
St., Windsor, Ont.

Edible Birds' Nest.

The nests eaten by eastern people are made by birds of the swift tribe, which are remarkable for the character of their saliva. This, being extremely sticky, quickly sets into a substance resembling gelatin, of which their edible nests are made. In shape these resemble half a saucer and are usually to be found in caves, attached to rocks.

They have no particular taste, but serve as a basis for thick, clear soup, to which various flavorings may be added at pleasure.

Nature "makes all things beautiful in their time." Every one of life's seasons, when life moves on Nature's lines, has its own charm and beauty. Many women dread that period when they must experience a change of life. They fear that face and form may suffer by the change, and that they may fail to please those whom they love. The value of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription
in this crisis of woman's life lies in the fact that it assists Nature.
Its use preserves the balance and buoyancy of the mind and sustains the physical powers. Many women have expressed their gratitude for the help and comfort given by "Favorite Prescription" in this trying period. Its benefits are not passing but permanent and conduce to mental happiness as well as physical strength.

There is no greater delight than to

THE HORSE CHESTNUT.

A Theory or Two as to the Origin of
Its Name.

The horse chestnut tree is well known, and the nuts are dear to boys
and sufferers from rheumatism. But the statement was made lately, and it
is even found in some encyclopedias,
that the name is given on account of its coarseness: "Like a horse, and unrefined." The reflection on the horse is an unworthy one, but let that pass. Is not the explanation given in Gerard's
Herbal (1597) a more reasonable one?
"Called in English horse chestnut, for
that the people of the east countries do with the fruit thereof cure their horses
of the cough and such like diseases."

There is a long list of plants that
have animal prefixes—horse, dog, cat,
bear, cow, pig, wolf, mouse, rat, toad,
frog, dragon, snake, etc. In some instances "the name of an animal pre-
fixed has a totally different signifi-
cation, denoting size, coarseness and frequently worthlessness or spuriosity,"
but names have also originated
from the particular uses to which certain plants have been put, and the horse chestnut is an example. The Turks, Arabians, Persians, all believed
that these nuts cured horses of coughs, shortness of wind and such other ailments. In England a preparation of the nut was once used for bleaching yarn.

Yet there may be something in the statement of an Englishman, Alfred A. Millward: "The tree possesses
a feature which I have often found to be not generally known. It is a very distinctly marked horsehoe, with seven dots corresponding to the nails of
the horsehoe, and this appears at the knuckle of the branches, large and small, but more clearly on the latter."

OUR OLDEST DOLL.

It Was Brought From England Over
Two Centuries Ago.

Long, long ago, when William Penn
sailed from England on his second visit to America, what do you think
he brought with him on the good ship
"Swallow"? An English doll. This passenger is the sole survivor of that voyage across the Atlantic, which was made over 200 years ago.

William Penn had a little daughter
named Letitia. Letitia heard her father
tell wonderful tales of what he saw and heard in Pennsylvania on his first visit to this country, thousands of miles distant from Letitia's home. He often told her about little Miss Penn, who, living as she did in the wilderness of Pennsylvania (for this was long ago, remember), had no toys at all, not even one rag doll. When Leti-
tia's father was getting ready to again
cross the ocean to America his little girl insisted upon sending a doll to that lonesome little girl.

So a doll was dressed in a court
costume of striped and delicately tinted brocade and velvet. The skirt was held out by enormous hoops, for such
was the fashion of the well dressed ladies of that period. The doll itself is twenty inches high and has the long
waist and slender form of the court
beauties she left in her native land.
Her hair is rolled back from her face,
much in the style of today.

This doll now lives in Montgomery
county, Maryland, in the strictest seclusion. She is only removed from her careful wrappings when little girls desire the honor of making the acquaintance of the oldest doll in America.

The Extremes.

Somebody has said that the vices of the very rich and of the very poor are identical. It is a matter of speculation whether their appetites are also similar, for the very poor woman
finds great solace in her cup of tea and drinks quantities of it; so also does the rich woman. Alcoholic stimulants are also favored by the one who finds life
monotonous from poverty and she who finds it equally monotonous from wealth. One can have nothing she wants; the other has everything she wants; result with both, an almost unbearable discontent.

Ample Qualified.

Proud Parent—If you would win my daughter, young man, you must prove
to my satisfaction that you have fortitude,
patience under discouraging circumstances, strength of character,
courage, an indomitable will to succeed, and above all, an ability to bear
with misfortune. Have you these qualifications? Suitor—I've known your daughter for some time, sir, and am asking you for her hand. Do you wish
other assurances?

A Primer Lesson.

See the woman.
Why is she so cross?

something you have to listen to because somebody else said it was good."

THE HORSE CHESTNUT.

A Theory or Two as to the Origin of
Its Name.

The horse chestnut tree is well known, and the nuts are dear to boys
and sufferers from rheumatism. But
the statement was made lately, and it
is even found in some encyclopedias,
that the name is given on account of
its coarseness: "Like a horse, and unrefined." The reflection on the horse is an unworthy one, but let that pass. Is
not the explanation given in Gerard's
Herbal (1597) a more reasonable one?
"Called in English horse chestnut, for
that the people of the east countries do
with the fruit thereof cure their horses
of the cough and such like diseases."

There is a long list of plants that
have animal prefixes—horse, dog, cat,
bear, cow, pig, wolf, mouse, rat, toad,
frog, dragon, snake, etc. In some instances "the name of an animal pre-
fixed has a totally different signifi-
cation, denoting size, coarseness and frequently worthlessness or spuriosity,"
but names have also originated
from the particular uses to which certain plants have been put, and the horse chestnut is an example. The Turks, Arabians, Persians, all believed
that these nuts cured horses of
coughs, shortness of wind and such other ailments. In England a preparation of the nut was once used for
bleaching yarn.

Yet there may be something in the statement of an Englishman, Alfred A. Millward: "The tree possesses
a feature which I have often found to be not generally known. It is a very
distinctly marked horsehoe, with seven dots corresponding to the nails of
the horsehoe, and this appears at the
knuckle of the branches, large and
small, but more clearly on the latter."

OUR OLDEST DOLL.

It Was Brought From England Over
Two Centuries Ago.

Long, long ago, when William Penn
sailed from England on his second
visit to America, what do you think
he brought with him on the good ship
"Swallow"? An English doll. This
passenger is the sole survivor of that voyage across the Atlantic, which was
made over 200 years ago.

William Penn had a little daughter
named Letitia. Letitia heard her father
tell wonderful tales of what he
saw and heard in Pennsylvania on his
first visit to this country, thousands of miles distant from Letitia's home. He
often told her about little Miss Penn, who, living as she did in the wilderness of Pennsylvania (for this was long ago, remember), had no toys at
all, not even one rag doll. When Leti-
tia's father was getting ready to again
cross the ocean to America his little
girl insisted upon sending a doll to that
lonesome little girl.

So a doll was dressed in a court
costume of striped and delicately tinted
brocade and velvet. The skirt was held out by enormous hoops, for such
was the fashion of the well dressed ladies of that period. The doll itself is twenty inches high and has the long
waist and slender form of the court
beauties she left in her native land.
Her hair is rolled back from her face,
much in the style of today.

This doll now lives in Montgomery
county, Maryland, in the strictest
seclusion. She is only removed from her
careful wrappings when little girls desire the honor of making the acquaintance of the oldest doll in America.

The Extremes.

Somebody has said that the vices of
the very rich and of the very poor are
identical. It is a matter of speculation whether their appetites are also
similar, for the very poor woman
finds great solace in her cup of tea and
drinks quantities of it; so also does the rich woman. Alcoholic stimulants are
also favored by the one who finds life
monotonous from poverty and she who
finds it equally monotonous from wealth. One can have nothing she wants; the other has everything she
wants; result with both, an almost unbearable discontent.

Ample Qualified.

Proud Parent—If you would win my
daughter, young man, you must prove
to my satisfaction that you have fortitude,
patience under discouraging circumstances, strength of character,
courage, an indomitable will to succeed, and above all, an ability to bear
with misfortune. Have you these qualifications? Suitor—I've known your daughter for some time, sir, and am asking you for her hand. Do you wish
other assurances?

A Primer Lesson.

See the woman.
Why is she so cross?
Oh, she's having a lot of dresses
made.
See the other woman.
Why is she so cross?
Because she isn't having a lot of dresses made.
Women are queer creatures, are they not?

Sunshine Furnace

Water-pan

Dry air is light—it lifts and carries dust. Dry air cracks your furniture, gives you a headache, shrivels your skin, parches your lungs.

The water-pan in most furnaces is a plesantry. It has no serious business in the work of the furnace—it is merely placed there for effect, because a water-pan is a good thing.

And a water-pan is an absolute necessity to your health and comfort, but it must be properly placed to radiate moisture evenly and uniformly throughout the house.

The water-pan of the Sunshine Furnace is the most scientifically arranged water-pan in any furnace in the world.

It does the work a water-pan should, and does it well.

TAKE MY CURE,
WHEN CURED YOU PAY ME

The fear that you could not be cured may have deterred you from taking honest treatment or you may have been one of the unfortunate who have been treated in vain by inexperienced physicians, free treatments, free trial samples, patent medicines, electric belts and other similar devices. Such treatments cannot and will never cure you, nor will these maladies cure themselves. You need a cure, and an intelligent man will not hesitate to pay for a cure, and have such faith and confidence in my continued success in treating these diseases that I should convince the skeptical that I mean what I say, and do exactly as I say. I am positive of curing you in the shortest possible time, without injurious after-effects. My charges will be as low as possible, and my guarantee is simple and true. Not a dollar need be paid until cured. I have 14 diplomas and certificates from the various colleges and state boards of medical examiners, which should be sufficient guarantee of my standing and abilities. It makes no difference what the disease is, whether it be chronic catarrh, nervous, blood and skin diseases, or I accept for treatment. I not only cure the condition itself, but likewise all the complications,
such as rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, blood poison, physical and nervous debility, lack of vitality, stomach troubles, etc. All medicines for patients are prepared in my own laboratory
under the supervision of each individual case.
I will send a booklet on the subject which contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address simply,
Dr. R. Goldberg, 306 Woodward Ave., Suite 311
Detroit, Mich.

Past Cabinet Ministers to Get Half-Pay Pensions.

Features of the Increased Indemnity Resolution Introduced by Government and Carried Unanimously—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Will Draw $14,500, Ministers $9,500, and the Leader of the Opposition to Get $7,000 Per Annum—Judges Liberally Treated.

Ottawa, July 18.—At yesterday morning's session of the House of Commons, the Government introduced the expected resolutions concerning increases in indemnities to members of Parliament and of the Senate and in salaries of the judges. At noon the House reached the resolutions. It was announced that the Governor-General had been pleased to approve of these resolutions, whereupon the House carried them without any discussion whatsoever.

The increases in general. The resolutions provided for an increase in the Prime Minister's salary from $5,000 to $12,000; an increase in members' salaries from $3,100 to $5,000, and an annuity to every member of the Privy Council who has served consecutively for five years as a Cabinet Minister and head of a Department, equal to one-half of the salary he received at the time of his retirement. A salary of $7,000 is also given to the leader of the Opposition. No increases are given to Cabinet Ministers.

Under the new scale of pay Sir Wilfrid Laurier will draw $14,500 per annum; Cabinet Ministers, $9,500; members and Senators, $5,000; ex-Cabinet Ministers, $3,500. The ex-Cabinet Ministers who will benefit by this are: Sir Charles Tupper, Sir C. H. Tupper, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir H. Langevin, Sir Adolphe Caron, Sir John Carling, Messrs. Tarte, Blair, Sifton, Costigan, Foster, and Haggart.

The absence of members. Members are now permitted to draw $7 a day as they are entitled to up to a maximum of $1,500. Fifteen days are allowed for absences from the House, and for any period of time over that $3 per working day is deducted. In future members will be allowed to draw $20 a day up to the maximum of $2,500. In case the session lasts less than 81 days there is to be no seasonal indemnity. If a person is a member for only part of a session for any cause whatsoever, he is to be entitled to the seasonal allowance, provided he has been a member for upwards of thirty days. For a less period he will receive $20 a day. The deduction for non-attendance after the time allowed for absence is raised from $10 to $15.

The mileage allowance of 20 cents a mile is discontinued, and in lieu thereof each member or Senator is allowed his actual moving or transportation expenses between his place of residence and Ottawa, going and coming, once each way, but no such allowance is to be made for traveling outside of Canada, except from one point in Canada to another by any direct route.

Judges Get $2,000 More. Salaries of judges of the Supreme Court, the Exchequer Court and the Superior Courts throughout Canada have been increased by $2,000, and County Court Judges are given very large increases. Following is the new scale of salaries for Ontario judges, compared with the old:

The Chief Justice of Ontario—New rate per annum, $8,000; old, $6,000. Four justices of appeal—New rate, $7,000; old, $5,000. The Chief Justice of King's Bench, the Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, the Chief Justice of the Exchequer Division, each—New rate, $8,000; old, $6,000. The Puisne Judges of each division of the High Court of Justice, the Chancery, King's Bench, Common Pleas and Exchequer Divisions, each—New rate, $7,000; old, $5,000.

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court will get $10,000; the old rate, $8,000. Each of the Puisne Judges $9,000; old rate, $7,000.

The Exchequer Court Judges, by the new rate, get $8,000; old rate, $6,000. County Court Judges.

The salaries of the Judges of the County Court shall be as follows: Ontario. The senior judge of the County Court of the County of York, $2,900 per annum during the first three years of service, and after three years of service, each $3,000 per annum. Sixty-two other judges and junior judges of other county courts and district courts, each $2,500 per annum during the first three years of service, and after three years of service, each $3,000 per annum.

New Brunswick.—The Judge of the County Court of the County of Halifax, $3,000 per annum. The Judge of the County Court of district No. 7, $3,000. Five other County Court Judges, each $2,500 per annum during the first three years of service, and after three years of service, each $3,000 per annum.

Prince Edward Island.—The Judge of the County Court of Queen's County, $3,500 per annum. Two other County Court Judges, each $2,500 per annum during the first three years of service, and after three years of service, each $3,000 per annum.

Manitoba.—Six County Court Judges, each $2,500 per annum during the first three years of service, and after three years of service, each $3,000 per annum. British Columbia.—The Judges of the County Courts of Cariboo, Westminster, Yale, Nanaimo, Vancouver, Victoria and Atlin, and the Judge and Junior Judge of the County Court of Kootenay, each, $3,000 per annum.

What It Costs the Country. The total increase in salaries to the Judiciary is $212,977. Adding $360,300 for legislation, it makes a total addition to the annual charge of $573,277.

The increases to judges are distributed as follows:—

Ontario	$234,400	Increase
Quebec	255,000	69,356
Nova Scotia	63,500	20,178

New Brunswick	$5,000	$3,311
Prince Edward Island	25,900	6,700
British Columbia	58,000	21,155
Manitoba	40,000	9,183
Territories	31,000	10,634
Supreme Court and Exchequer Courts	68,000	12,000

Total $212,977

The Prime Minister laid on the table correspondence containing Mr. Rider Haggard's report on the colonization scheme in Canada.

Mr. Maclean asked whether it was the intention of the Government to deal with the report of the Telephone Committee this session.

Sir Wilfrid replied in the negative. Bills Passed.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill respecting the Superintendent of Insurance and the Director-General of Public Health, was put through its various stages and passed.

The Senate amendments to the act to incorporate the International Bridge and Terminal Co. are agreed to. They prevent the company from giving stock in payment for services.

The House then went through notices of motion, and carried all those that were not contentious.

Mr. Porter's bill to amend the criminal code passed, and Mr. Bureau's clause in amendment thereto was struck out. This clause was to make it clear that betting on an incorporated race course should not be unlawful.

Mr. Bureau withdrew this clause. Mr. Logan's bill respecting false representations to induce or deter immigration was passed.

Gave Details of Figures. Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick made a statement regarding the expropriation of the rifle range property at Kentville, N.S. The statement gave the details of the figures in the transaction.

Sir Frederick Borden took advantage of opportunity to deny the charge that Mr. Dodge, when purchasing the property previous to the expropriation, had had any inside knowledge of the Government's intentions. The inference Col. Irving had given information to Mr. Dodge was also absolutely without foundation.

Mr. Foster said the Minister should not feel sore if the peculiarities of the case gave rise to suspicions.

Parliament Official. The first business of the afternoon was the consideration of the motion of order of the day.

Mr. Lake complained especially of the violation of this rule in the west and demanded that the Minister of the Interior should make a clear declaration of policy.

Mr. Borden pointed out that the difficulty in the west was with the foreign element, which regarded Government officials as persons of special importance.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier agreed with the motion, and even thought it would be well if the principle were extended so as to include Provincial as well as Dominion employees. Civil servants should give undivided attention to their duties. The motion was carried.

The Premier, in answer to Mr. Foster, said that the Government had endeavored to secure the services of Isaac Campbell of Winnipeg, in connection with the enquiry into half-breed scrip transactions, but Mr. Campbell was not in a position to take the case.

The formal bill to amend the Customs Act in conformity with the tariff changes announced in the budget speech was introduced and amended to allow importations of dry white lead until September 1, under the old tariff.

House Divides. The House having gone into concurrence on the estimates, Mr. Foster moved to strike out the item of $1,600 salary to Postmaster Dobie Tiesalon, who had been dismissed for a default, which he blamed upon his daughter, and was subsequently reappointed after having qualified by passing service in the Federal elections of November, 1905, and the Provincial elections following. The motion was defeated by 66 to 30, the same division as defeated the motion to strike out the salary of Nixon, the defaulting sub-agent of McLeod, N. W. T.

Mr. Fitzpatrick promised to give Mr. Foster a definite reply to-day as to whether or not the meteorological bureau is to be removed from Toronto to Ottawa.

Mr. Borden was informed that the Government had not yet decided upon a successor to Mr. Macdougall as Auditor-General.

The House adjourned at 9.30 a.m. End Comes To-morrow.

The resolutions now are that prorogation will take place on Wednesday afternoon.

PHOTOGRAPHED DEFENCES. American Doctor Is Under Arrest On Serious Suspicion.

Kingston, July 18.—Dr. Franklin Clarke, an American, was arrested here yesterday for breach of the official Secret Service Act.

Some days ago, Dr. Clarke was discovered taking photographs of the forts protecting Port Royal and Kingston. The police found the photographs on him. The prisoner, who is a graduate of Harvard, has been a resident here for four months.

Before the court a local lawyer, on the prisoner's behalf, pointed out that Dr. Clarke's action was without significance. He was held in $1,000 bail for enquiry into the case.

Belonged to Rockwood. Guelph, July 18.—The man found dead in the Imperial Hotel Saturday morning, who had been boarding there for some time under the name of Thomas Stuart, turns out to be Thomas Wellsford, a laborer and a well-known resident of Rockwood. He had a wife residing in Toronto. He was 61 years of age.

Cawthra Mulock Fined. Toronto, July 18.—Into the coffers of the county police court yesterday, Cawthra Mulock paid $24 and costs, a total of $44.78, for an extra speedy automobile trip up Yonge street a few days ago. He admitted that at some places along the road he had exceeded the speed limit.

McClary's Men Go Out. London, July 18.—Because of a misunderstanding ninety maulers in the McClary stove works quit work yesterday morning.

GERM DISEASES OF SUMMER

NO ONE NEED FEAR SICKNESS IF MI-O-NA IS USED.

It is the person with a weak stomach, whose first falls victim to the germ diseases of summer.

People with strong stomachs and natural digestion are ordinarily not subject to bowel troubles, diarrhoea, and other germ diseases that are so common and dangerous in the summer months.

A Mi-o-na tablet taken before each meal will give such health and strength to the weakest stomach that the whole system will become strong and well, and so clean and sweet that there will be no chance for disease germs to become active. Mi-o-na acts directly upon the whole digestive system, soothing and healing the inflamed stomach lining, strengthening the nerves of the solar plexus, and building up good health.

A great many people imagine that their headaches, dizziness, heart burn, or general despondency and weakness is a sign of fatal illness, when the whole trouble is the direct result of a weak stomach and imperfect digestion. A 50 cent box of Mi-o-na tablets will show by the great gain in health that the stomach is the cause of the poor health and that Mi-o-na is the only remedy that will drive out all weakness, debility, and disease.

Mi-o-na is so nearly infallible in curing the diseases resulting from a weakened stomach, excepting cancer of the stomach, that C. H. Gunn & Co. guarantee to refund the money should the remedy not give perfect satisfaction.
