

BRITISH PUSH AHEAD BETWEEN PERONNE AND ST. QUENTIN Have Captured the Towns of Vermand and Vendelles Offensive Slackens as Allies Draw Near Cambrai

MINOR OPERATIONS ONLY, RECORDED ON BRITISH SALIENT

Patrols Occupy Town of Vermand, Northwest of St. Quentin, and Also Vendelles—French Make Progress in Their Advance

By Courier Leased Wire. LONDON, Sept. 9.—Bulletin.—Pushing ahead today on the front between Peronne and St. Quentin, British patrols have occupied the towns of Vermand, 1-2 miles northwest of St. Quentin, and Vendelles, two miles north of Vermand. The British this morning were attacking Gouzeaucourt, southeast of Havrincourt wood. They are on the western and northern edges of Epehy, within two and a half miles of the Hindenburg line, opposite Le Catelat, and their patrols are reported to have passed through the village. French troops now hold the Crozat Canal practically along its whole length. They are only four miles from St. Quentin, and their cavalry patrols are close to La Fere. FURTHER FRENCH ADVANCE PARIS, Sept. 9.—North of the Somme, French troops have made a further advance in the direction of Clastres, and have occupied Lomot Farm, according to the War Office announcement today. French troops have crossed the Crozat canal opposite Liez, three miles southwest of Vendeuil. Two strong German counter-attacks were repulsed by the French in the Laffaux region, northeast of Soissons. The French took 80 prisoners belonging to five different regiments.

BRITISH OFFICIAL. Bulletin, London, Sept. 9.—Last night passed in quiet along the British front in northern France and Flanders, except for artillery activity and minor raiding operations, according to today's War Office report. Southeast of Lens in the region of Arleux-en-Gohelle, a German raiding party was repulsed. The text of the statement reads: "A hostile raiding party was successfully repulsed last night north of Arleux-en-Gohelle. "With the exception of artillery activity in different localities on both sides, particularly in the neighborhood of the Arras-Cambrai road and the La Bassée Canal and Ypres sectors there is nothing to report." SITUATION TO-DAY

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Sept. 9.—The Associated Press today issues the following: After pausing for several days along the line west and northwest of Cambrai, where the Germans settled themselves last week behind the Canal Du Nord, the British today are reported attacking a section of this line in considerable strength. "What is unofficially described as a formidable thrust," was developed this morning by Field Marshal Haig's forces along the Arras-Cambrai road, which crosses the canal about six miles from the outskirts of Cambrai. Whether this will prove to be WEATHER BULLETIN Toronto, Sept. 9.—Showers are occurring this morning in the Lake Superior district and in the Maritime provinces. Elsewhere the weather is fine. A pronounced area of high pressure has come in over the western provinces, accompanied by very low temperatures. Forecasts: Moderate winds, mostly southerly, to-day. Showers during the night. Tuesday, west winds, for the most part fair and turning decidedly cooler.

GAINS IN WEST FRONTIER FIGHTING In the map the lines of crosses indicate the sectors in which the Allies have not yet reached the old front of March 21st, while heavy ticked line shows the front from which the Germans have been forced during the last seven weeks.

BARON VON FREYTAG DEPRECATES CRISIS

Amsterdam, Sept. 8.—In a lecture on the war in Berlin, Lieut. General Baron von Freytag-Loringhoven, deputy chief of the general staff, contended that the present crisis on the western front was less than many others during the course of the war. "The positions had not been constructed as trench warfare demands," General von Freytag-Loringhoven argued that nothing like a decision was in prospect, he said. "The thing now is to push things so that Great Britain and America recognize our invincibility in warfare. We have men and war material to hold out for a long time. We must however not slacken our determination which must remain in the army and at home. All that might divide us must be postponed until the end of the war."

PROGRESS SLACKENING AS ALLIES DRAW NEAR CAMBRAI

Offensive Movement Losing its Momentum, But Progress Still Continues on Wide Front—The Situation Today

By Courier Leased Wire. New York, Sept. 9.—The Associated Press today issued the following: As the Allied armies draw nearer to Cambrai, St. Quentin and the natural defensive positions of the Germans in the St. Gobain forest, the offensive movement begins to lose much of its momentum. Slow progress continues to be made by Field Marshal Haig's British forces in the direction of Cambrai and St. Quentin, and, if the operations of the French armies under General Humbert and Mangin are successful in over-running, or encircling the St. Gobain massif, the German retreat must begin anew and with greater rapidity than at any time since the Allied counter-offensive started in the middle of July. Cambrai and St. Quentin, the immediate objectives of the British forces in the present phase of the offensive movement are almost within striking distance. They are within six miles of St. Quentin at Villersleville, and they have captured Ronsel and St. Emille. Along the line between Cambrai and St. Quentin, the British advance has carried them to their old defensive positions from which they were driven by the Germans last March. Further advances are being bitterly contested by the Germans. "The Germans evidently realize that their line less than a dozen miles from the fall of St. Gobain Forest, have stiffened their defenses by taking advantage of the natural positions. Strong counter-attacks against the British have been reported. Continued on page seven.

ENEMY IS BACK IN HINDENBURG LINE AT GOBAIN

Mangin's Troops Occupy the 1917 Trenches Between Oise and Aisne

HUNS DRIVEN BACK

Concentration of Machine Gun Fire Did Not Halt the French

By Courier Leased Wire. With the French Army in France, Sunday, Sept. 8.—By the Associated Press. The troops of General Mangin, between the Aisne and the Oise rivers are now virtually behind their old wire entanglements in their old trenches of 1917. All along the edge of the forest of Coucy and through the western horn of the St. Gobain forest the Germans are only two hundred yards away, and in some places they are in positions in the old Hindenburg line that are plainly visible from the heights west of Chateau Coucy. The Oise-Aisne canal and the River Ailette that runs between the heights and the Chateau, and which forms a sort of advanced position of their main line six miles further back at Fresnoy, was not abandoned voluntarily, but wrested from the enemy after a struggle of five days during which five different German divisions tried to hold off a single French division. "The divisions that tried to prevent the crossing of the canal and river," The Associated Press correspondent was informed by a French officer, who has participated in most of the campaigns of the war, "accomplished the greatest concentration of machine gun fire that has been witnessed in this war."

The French troops were obliged to face that fire at a range of thirty yards in order to cross the Oise-Aisne canal and the River Ailette. Bombers throwing bridges over the canal seven yards wide suffered not only from the quick-firing, but in good measure of German grenades. It required two days to advance to the Ailette from the Village Pont Saint Mard and four days to gain five hundred yards of ground. The machine guns were massed thickly all along the canal in front of Quincy and in the woods, thickets and marshes. The French engineers finally succeeded in bridging the canal over the first bridge an arranged assault charged the Germans around a machine gun position and single-handedly made twelve of them prisoners. Such was the work that went on high along the river and the Canal during the five days, each exhausting Germany's divisions. Twenty-two quick-fivers were found in a small thicket called Etuarasse wood. They were almost as thickly packed as the more extensive timbered land fronting Coucy-le-Chateau and Coucy-les-Villes. Where the French could get at the machine guns they were given German gunners on their pieces but many equipments were too well hidden or protected for a direct attack and it was necessary to shell them. During several hours French projectiles sent splinters flying all through the timber and when the infantry charged they had to go to Coucy-le-Ville to catch the enemy who had left his guns and an enormous amount of materials and supplies behind. Coucy-le-Chateau and the ground on which it stands was thus burned from the north and flanked at the same time from the south, while thousands of shells killed the runs of the surrounding positions. Chateau Noeset, to the southeast, was taken about the same time. Continued on page eight.

SOVIET GOVT WILL EXCHANGE DIPLOMATS

Ready to Allow British Embassy to Leave Russia if Bolshevik Minister in London is Given Safe Conduct Home

By Courier Leased Wire. Amsterdam, Sept. 9.—The Soviet Government of Russia is willing to prepare for the exchange of diplomats with Great Britain if the neutral powers will undertake to guarantee that the Bolshevik representatives at London are given a safe conduct home. The following statement by Foreign Secretary Tchitcherine, forwarded to The Vossische Zeitung by the Petrograd Telegraph Agency, outlines the conditions under which the Soviet Government will act: "After discovery of the course of action of the British and French diplomats, whose activities were directed against the Soviet power, the Government of the Soviet Republic found itself compelled to isolate various representatives of the powers named. Nevertheless the government, as before, is willing to prepare for the exchange of diplomats if the neutral powers will undertake to guarantee for M. Litvinoff and all Russian representatives safe conduct, that Litvinoff and his collaborators' baggage be permitted to pass without examination, and that no further difficulties be put in the way of his collaborators. "Those conditions must, together with free exit from London and passage across Scandinavia by guarantee by Halland, Norway and Sweden, M. Litvinoff is being notified by telegraph, and on receipt of his answer confirming his departure, R. H. Lockhart, acting British consul-general and those accompanying him will then be handed over to the protection of the Dutch representatives. "In other disputed questions previous agreements will remain valid. "Following an attack on the British consulate at Petrograd on August 31, in which Captain Cromie, the British attaché, was killed, the British Government demanded immediate reparation. In addition the British Government placed M. Litvinoff, Bolshevik representative in London, under preventive arrest.

SCENE SHIFTS TO BOSTON FOR FINAL GAMES

Cubs and Red Sox Clash in World's Series Again Today

BOSTON HAS EDGE

By Courier Leased Wire. Boston, Sept. 9.—Notwithstanding a heavy rain that lasted nearly all night baseball fans took heart at the change when they woke today and early indications were that the Boston and Chicago clubs would be able to play this afternoon, the Boston game of the world series. Groundkeepers said the playing field at Fenway Park had been protected as far as possible from the rain and they hoped that with a drying sun this morning conditions would permit a resumption of the series which now stands two games to one in favor of the Red Sox. There were a few early arrivals at the park in readiness for the opening of the sale of bleacher seats, but the number waiting in line was below the mark of former world series contests. The train which brought the players from Chicago was behind its schedule as it was midnight when they reached their hotel they were allowed to sleep late this morning. When they came down to breakfast it was apparent that all the members of both teams were brimful of determination. The Red Sox were bent on cleaning up the series with two games on the home grounds, while the Cubs were equally set on evening things up in the first game here and then forging ahead to final victory. In spite of the intense rivalry, the players of the two teams were a unit in declaring that they would back up to the limit the joint committee which they appointed on the train coming from Chicago to demand of the National Baseball Commission the fulfillment of the guarantee which they assert was given of payment of $2,000 to each player on the winning team and $1,400 to each loser. They were informed yesterday that the receipts from tickets were proving so small this year that their shares would be cut to $1,200 and $800 respectively. The box selections were still in doubt early today. There was some expectation, however, that Boston fans would be given an opportunity to see the great favorite "Babe" Ruth try to pitch his team to another win and that the Red Sox would have their first chance in the series to display their prowess against a right-handed pitcher, in the person of Claude Hendrix. Other wire dispatches, however, favored George T. Lett as the Chicago choice for pitcher.

BRANTFORD MEN SHED BLOOD IN RECENT FIGHT

Sergt-Maj. Steve Ridley and Pte. Edgar Heath Killed

OTHER CASUALTIES

Company Sergt. Major Steve Ridley, a veteran of the 12th battalion, and a former member of The Courier staff, has died of wounds, according to word received on Saturday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ridley, 11 Close Avenue, Galt. The late Sergt. Major Ridley was twenty-seven years of age, and was born in England. He served for several years in The Courier press room, being assistant in that department at the time of his enlistment, which was in October of 1914. He received rapid promotion from the ranks, and at the time of his death had seen over three years' service, having been twice wounded previously. He was unmarried, and was the eldest son of his parents. He was the first employee of The Courier to fall in action, as a Canadian hospital in England, according to word received by his sister, Mrs. Jellie, 14 Elizabeth street, Ed. Jellie, who went overseas with the second Brant County battalion, was formerly a farm hand employed by Mr. John Campbell. LIEUT. D. M. ANDREWS Word was received by Mr. Norman Andrews, of the Conservatory of Music, this morning to the effect that his son, Lieut. Dean M. Andrews had been wounded in action on September 2nd. Lieut. Andrews was a lieutenant in the 125th battalion, but reverted to the rank of a private in order to re-overseas. Since that time he won back his commission, and is now attached to the 4th battalion. PTE. LEWIS HURLEY To Mr. John Hurley, 45 Alton street, word came on Sunday that his son, Lewis, had been admitted to the 7th Canadian general hospital at Leterport, suffering from a gunshot wound in the right leg. Pte. Hurley, who was wounded in action on the 2nd of September, was attached to the 4th battalion. Continued on page five.

TOWNSEND PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Elizabeth Barker Passes Away in Her Ninety-Fifth Year

Simcoe, Sept. 9.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—Mrs. Elizabeth Barker, widow of the late Daniel Barker, of Cherry Valley, Townsend township, and aunt of Mrs. D. Bauslaugh, of Simcoe, died at her home on Saturday in her 95th year. Deceased was born in Trafalgar township. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Snyder, and she was a close relative of Colonel Snyder, who was standing by Sir Isaac Brock when he fell mortally wounded at Queenston Heights. Mrs. J. Rice of Villa Nova, Townsend township, is a daughter. A son and another daughter came abroad; the latter located in California. The family has a wide connection in East Norfolk.

Regarding Long Service. Our mention of Harry Atherton's long service in France has called to our notice that of Wesley Ashford, who is now three years in France, and was in all that time off duty but three days when wounded in the knee.

His father, Chas. Ashford, received the D.S.M. at Port Rowan recently. Cook has won two medals. Others who went with these men were Ted Cole, Sonst, Tees, Thos. Tickner, Victor Fradley and some others. Harry French left Canada with the same lot, but only some eleven got in the first draft to France.

Odd Ends of News. Town Council to supplement with the probability of a supplementary sitting in a few days. The sole occupant of the jail was out for a short hearing on Thursday and remained till Tuesday.

The question of a Provincial highway through Brantford, as a midland route, may revive the Simcoe Board of Trade.

Gasoline was scarce yesterday, it was suggested that local dealers have got together to prevent excessive Sunday motoring with a view to conserving the supply for necessary use. There was little doing yesterday at gasoline headquarters, and automobiles were not in evidence.

HONEY TAKES A DROP—COMEDY FROM LIFE

Charlotteville And Simcoe Men Sawed Wood on Labor Day

Simcoe, Sept. 9.—(From Our Own Correspondent).—One week ago today there was a splendid comedy out in Charlotteville, before an audience of two ladies, Mrs. Sidney Pow of Charlotteville, and Mrs. Wm. Post of Kent street, Simcoe. The stage was in the woods near the Pow farm house and the actors were the husbands of the two ladies. The dressing room was the verandah at Pows and the ladies had a den to do in arranging the costumes, which, in short were long raincoats with wide trimmed hats and copious veils tight drawn about the throat, and long wristed buckskin gloves.

The stage at the foot of a great maple was reached in a horse-drawn vehicle, which also carried a kitchen boiler polished and clean.

Act One. Arrived at the spot the ladies stood off at a safe distance while the men assayed to fell the great three-foot tree. The preliminary notch was cut in axe-manlike fashion after the gentleman had decided where to lay the victim of their sport, and later it fell true to line.

The bearded top crashed to earth, springing a rent some distance down the middle of the trunk. At once a dark cloud arose from this quarter. It was the bee tree.

Act Two. Camouflaged even as they were, it took some nerve to face that dark cloud, but encouraged by the audience, the actors proceeded gamely. The first cut just below the bifurcation of the tree dropped the heavy sections of the top, first one, then the other, and revealed a well-filled cavity, which the saw missed by four inches. But it was a warm day, and the saw was in the woods. Every such stroke affire the task would have been no easy one. Back four feet towards the stump another cut went through; such sawyers! Yes, the old saw was a little out of condition, somewhat uneven in trim, but those McNally boys of Lynnville never cut so with that famous saw of the "eighties." Yes, the fuel committee of the Town Council been in the audience they would have marked two men for next winter's job. For Pow is a born woodsman, and Post was back in his home township and an ardent a little man as Charlotteville has contributed to our urban population—and she has sent us in some men. When this cut fell the actors took courage. They had smashed right through a bonanza of honey. But the ladies would not approach with the boiler.

Nothing doing. They were not dressed for this stage. Another cut seemed dull; the sun hotter than ever and the fountains of perspiration poured copiously. Four inches clear of the comb! It only remained to fill in the boiler and get away a safe distance. Here with ready assistance the master sawyer withdrew. The scrubber ducked his head and watched the party lead up and make haste for the Pow home. Perchance fifty pounds of honey was set on the table.

This agency expects to sample that honey one of these days as a reward for telling nothing but the bare facts of the case. And Now the Dover Dock. Saturday morning County Clerk Ellis Boughner sent notice to all members of the County Council requesting their presence at Port Dover on Saturday next, the occasion of the visit of the Minister of Public Works. This was in compliance with Warden Buck's instructions. John S. Martin, who was in town Saturday morning, advised the Courier that the Port was making preparations for the day. It is expected that so many will come down the L. E. and N. that Waterford and Simcoe citizens should not depend on the trolley for transportation except by the regular service.

SOCIALIST ON TRIAL. By Courier Leased-Wire. Cleveland, O., Sept. 9.—The court room was crowded to capacity today when Eugene V. Debs, former Socialist candidate for president of the United States, was placed on trial charged with violation of the espionage act. Debs was secretly indicted by the federal grand jury here in June on ten counts for remarks alleged to have been made in an address before the state convention of the Ohio Socialist party at Canton, Ohio, June 16 last. He was arrested June 30, as he went about to address a meeting of Cleveland Socialists. Convicted. Debs faces a sentence of twenty years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine on each count.

COLONEL BELL AT SALVATION ARMY CITADEL

Special Services Were Conducted by Well-Known Officer

A TALENTED SPEAKER

The services conducted by Colonel and Mrs. Bell at the Salvation Army Citadel, during the week-end, were of a highly interesting and very successful character. From the meeting on Saturday evening, when they were introduced by Adjutant Wright, there was not a dull moment throughout. Splendid crowds attended, and the faces of the listeners beamed with manifest and unmistakable satisfaction.

The Colonel has been in charge of the training operations for officers in Canada east from Winnipeg to the maritime provinces, for the last three years, having come from a similar position in the International Training college, London, Eng. He is a very fluent, forceful and pleasing speaker, and his topics are interspersed with very telling and pointed illustrations. He made very touching reference to the war on Sunday evening, reminding the people that Britain alone had sacrificed 900,000 precious lives already. This, he said, caused thoughtful people to ask "Is it worth while the tremendous price we are paying in blood?" He deprecated the fact that while our dear men were sacrificing and dying, we had not yet, as a people, taken the thing to heart as seriously as we ought; this was evidenced by the fact that our love of gain and pursuit of pleasure was still too dominant. He pleaded that denying ourselves of these things we wholeheartedly devote all our energies to the serious business of winning the war, not forgetting to pray and acknowledge our need of God's help in the fulfillment of the great purpose which I feel God desired to accomplish by this great sacrifice, in the remaining and purifying of this age from the low and base and mercenary motives of living, and the permanent setting up of those standards of noble, pure, courageous and Christlike principles.

A special feature of the week-end was the splendid music of the band and songster brigade. MONUMENT TO LUSITANIA DEAD. Madrid, Sept. 9.—Mosses Huerta, the Spanish sculptor, has completed the model for a monument dedicated to the victims of the Lusitania which is to be erected on the seashore near Boston. The monument represents the earth drawing from the sea bed the bodies of the torpedoed vessel's victims.

SITUATION

(Continued from Page One.) have been made on the Cassif west of the French however, and there are no indications that they intend accepting the stabilizing of the line in this sector, which the Germans so evidently desire. Berlin reports an attack by the French along the line yesterday, but declared it was pushed along the whole front with heavy losses to the attacking forces.

Reports on the situation along the Aisne, where the Americans have been facing the Germans abreast the Canal paralleling the river on a long stretch east from Conde, were lacking today. The latest advice, however, showed the Americans to have pushed their line further forward to the east of Revilleon, where it trended off southeastward toward Rheims. The village of Mouscourt, about three miles east of Revilleon and in about the same relative position to the river, was reported to be in American hands.

Build up the Mighty National Force

FOR fifty years the Teuton peoples have been trained, disciplined, whipped, into servile cogs of an implacable military machine, by which is maintained the Prussian doctrine of might, and the Kaiser's autocracy. The Teutons deny themselves, they make sacrifices, because they are trained or forced to do so, but they do it.

The peoples of the Allied nations must make great sacrifices and tremendous efforts in order to defeat the enemies of freedom, but because they are free peoples it is left largely to the individual to say what or how much self-denial each will practice.

So if freedom is to prevail individuals must make voluntary sacrifices which in the aggregate will be greater than the forced sacrifices of the enemies of freedom.

The measure of your love of freedom is your willingness to deny yourself so that the strength of the nation for war effort will be increased.

This self-denial must take the form of money-saving-thrift. Each person knows in what way he or she may save.

The national need says you must save, but free Canada leaves it to you to say by what means and to what extent you will save.

Now, it is for you, each of us, everyone of us, to say how much patriotic endeavor, how much loyal sacrifice we will make by saving our money, by "doing without" so that each day will see a surplus to add to our own and the nation's strength. No matter how small the surplus it is important because each saving is an effort made, and many small individual efforts make the mighty national force.

THE WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS, AUTHOR OF "MARGARET GARRETT'S HUSBAND," AND OTHER NOTABLE STORIES.

Ruth is Told She Should Use Her Talent.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Nothing loath, Ruth changed her dress and they walked to the next corner where there was a restaurant. It was an expensive place, but, as Brian explained:

"A rabbit is no good in a cheap place. They just can't make them so they won't string. We won't have anything but that and a bottle of beer. We don't come often, you know."

Ruth was in no mood to cavil at anything. But she couldn't help but think that they wouldn't have been there then, had it not been for the money she had earned by doing the work for her aunt, instead of his having been given to a decorator.

They had been seated but a moment, when she heard Brian exclaim:

"By George! if there isn't Kenneth Page. Excuse me a minute, Ruth."

Ruth's eyes followed Brian as he hurried to a table at some distance from them. She saw him engage in an animated conversation with a good-looking man a little older than himself; then they both came over to her.

"Ruth, let me introduce Mr. Page, an old college chum of mine, even if he did graduate about the time I entered. Sit down, Page. We're going to have a rabbit. Dined at home, but you know how it is—one likes to get out occasionally."

Mr. Page had acknowledged the introduction very pleasantly. Ruth felt his keen blue eyes appraising her, her costume. She knew she was correctly gowned, and felt a thrill of pleasure. Her clothes were so elegant, so unquestionably the latest mode, that the most critical could find no fault with them.

"Have a rabbit, too, Page, or will you have something else?" Brian asked gratefully, playing the host.

"I'll have the rabbit, thank you," he replied, adding that it was an unexpected pleasure to meet some one he knew.

"Page is a bachelor," Brian explained to Ruth. She thought him a most attractive one, but refrained from saying so. He was very blonde, but still manly looking. He had perfect manners, and it really was a relief to have a third one in the party. Had anyone said that Ruth wanted to talk to anyone but Brian, she would have been surprised and shocked. But the little tilt over the dinner had left them both rather quiet. And Kenneth Page was exerting himself to be entertaining.

"I wonder where Hackett found her; she's a stunner! But she brought him money," he said to himself as he looked at her expensive clothes and the jewelry which was in such perfect taste.

In a way, Ruth sensed his thoughts and it made her uncomfortable. She had the right to wear what she pleased, whether Brian could afford it or not. Her clothes were her own; her aunt had given them to her. Then her thoughts were interrupted. She heard her husband say:

"My wife is crazy over all that stuff; you'll have to talk to her. I am absolutely ignorant on the subject."

"What subject, Brian?" Ruth asked; she hated to hear him belittle himself.

"Interior decorating. Page is a decorator, and has just received important commissions, so he says. It's all Greek to me, as you know."

Ruth was at once interested, and showed it plainly in her face as she turned to Kenneth Page. Bachelor, dilettante, society's favorite and a director.

For an hour they talked. If Ruth was interested, Page was surprised. The breadth of her knowledge; her appreciation of materials and stuffs; her acquaintance with the modes and architecture of different periods, was really most unusual.

"You are a student," he declared, smiling.

"Of that particular subject, yes. My aunt, with whom I lived, allowed me to purchase everything published on the subject, then let me experiment with her home."

"I should like to see it," he returned simply—the woman forgotten, in his interest in what she could do.

"It's a peach!" Brian interrupted, "a perfect peach! I'll bet you haven't a man on your staff who can improve on it," he finished proudly.

"Why don't you give something of such a talent to the world? Isn't it rather selfish to hide it under a bushel?" Page asked, then plainly showed his surprise when Ruth abruptly changed the subject. She had no wish to provoke a discussion at that time.

"What that Kenneth Page had said to her, lingered long after he had bidden him good night. It helped to hold her in her determination.

"Perhaps sometime he will need me in his office," she said to herself. The next morning, she hurried through her work. It was just eleven o'clock when, armed with a list of interior decorators taken from Mr. Carvell's directory, Ruth sallied forth. She would not stay in the kitchen another day. She would be a business woman, in spite of opposition from either Brian or her aunt.

MAYOR MACBRIDE BEFORE LEAVING

Issues a Farewell Message to the Citizens

Port Dover Harbor and the Local Coal Supply

Mayor MacBride left the city last evening to be absent for a month. He carried with him a number of representatives—

I noticed by your paper Hon. Mr. Carvell, Minister of Public Works, is to visit Port Dover on Saturday next in order to look into harbor conditions there. I also received a letter from him to the same effect. The proper development of this harbor is a matter of vital importance to every class in Brantford—the manufacturer, the merchant and the workman. It means a great big thing for the city and there should be the most hearty cooperation in backing up the Board of Trade or any other body helping to move the matter. The politicians have had their say in the deputations which visited Ottawa and believe that it would be a good thing to have some prominent and practical manufacturer give an address at the Port in order to inform Mr. Carvell of the business aspects of the case. I had hoped to arrange for Mr. George Wedlake to speak but he unfortunately is indisposed. Some other man of equal business sense should certainly be selected. The Board should work all together on this thing with no one holding back.

THE COAL QUESTION.

With regard to coal, matters have been properly systematized and a card index instituted. Mr. Bannell is preparing lists for all the dealers in the city. Allotments to each customer via the coupons will first be filled, the coupons coming ahead of everything else. Mr. Henderson as City Solicitor will see that the regulations issued by the Controller are enforced. The dealers have given excellent assurances but after ten days there will be a checking up in each dealer's office. To those who are "carrying on" it will be all right but in the case of failure to do so Mr. Henderson will take the coal coming to that firm and see that it is allotted. However it will not anticipate any trouble. With regard to coal for soldiers' wives the Standard Company will deliver same after ten days there will be a checking up in this way and for coupon orders so that delivery will take some time. In the interim I only ask the general public to be as patient as possible and not to bother either the City Treasurer or the City Solicitor as they will both have their hands full. People should not rush forward with any complaints until a reasonable time has elapsed and then this step should be taken by sending either a letter or postcard addressed care of Food Controller, No. 230 Dufferin street, on TUESDAY, Sept. 10th, at 10, the whole of her household furniture, Parlor: Emerson square piano (beautiful case); rug; 2-piece parlor suite (upholstered in silk); mahogany table; pictures; lamp. ### W.H.A. EXTENDS ITS SYMPATHY

Resolutions of Condolence to Bereaved Families Passed

The regular meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid was held in the Public Library on Friday morning with a good attendance. The President, Mrs. F. D. Reville, presiding. The minutes were read and confirmed. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Gordon Smith, in the absence of Mrs. Watt. Rose Day receipts will be over $6000 and expenses about $188.00.

Fees were received from North Ward $1.25; Centre of city $1.00 and Eagle Place 25c.

The sum of $5.00 was paid in, being the final payment on the piano sold at the last rummage sale.

An account for $2.00 from the Dominion Sign Co for Rose window posters was passed for payment.

Visitors at the Hospital in June were Mrs. Vaughan and Mrs. Brooks who reported having visited regularly each week, taking up reading matter and flowers and giving the public ward patients a treat of ice cream the last week.

In July the visitors were Mrs. J. E. Brethour of Brantford, who was accompanied each week by different ladies from Mt. Pleasant and Oak Hill, Cathcart, Oakland and Falkland, all of whom were deeply interested. Books and flowers were given out each week ending with an ice cream treat.

The August visiting was conducted regularly each week by Mrs. Norman Andrews and Mrs. J. L. Sutherland, giving the same as the previous visitors.

Mrs. Charles Edwards and Mrs. Vansickle of Onondaga are the visitors during the current month.

Resolutions of sympathy and condolence were tendered to the following families all recently bereaved:

To Mrs. Lindsey Spence in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Ashton Cutcliffe, who has long been an active member of the auxiliary.

To Mrs. Newnan, whose husband has been lately called away.

THE SITUATION.

The Anglo-French forces continue to push forward at every point on the Western front. Hun resistance is stiffening, and it is estimated that the foe is now using no fewer than two and a half million men, but nothing can stop the Allied troops. Haig's men forced the enemy to retire a considerable distance along a front of seventeen miles from Havincourt to Beauvois. They also took a strategic point around which there has been much fighting on the west bank of the Canal Du Nord on the way to Cambrai. Foch's men penetrated from four to five miles on the Somme front, also seizing strategic points and the railway from Ham to Tergnier. Berlin reports "we are everywhere in our new positions," and this means an official announcement that the general retreat has been to the Hindenburg line. Will that hold? Probably not if the Allied initiative continues at the present strength, and there are no signs of any let-up.

It is announced that the U. S. troops are now being held in reserve, and it is the general impression that they will not be used much in force until the autumn campaign. New York Life, referring to epistles received from U. S. officers and men at the front, says: "As teachers of the art of war, both in general and in particular, the French greatly impress our letter writers. 'We never were taught before' is the burden of the comment which comes back from the seats of French instruction." That the Uncle Sammies have much to learn in the modern fighting game can be quite well understood, but that they will speedily master all details and prove a tremendous asset on the part of the Allies is equally without question. In fact right now their arrival on French soil has had a most far-reaching effect.

Word has commenced to come from the Japanese. They have occupied the town of Khabarovsk, the government seat of the Amur provinces in Siberia, and their cavalry successfully attacked army transports proceeding along the Ussuri river, causing heavy damage and taking prisoners.

VITAL STATISTICS IN CANADA.

Mr. R. H. Coates, Dominion Statistician, recently delivered a notable address upon the above subject. He said that it was unnecessary to emphasize the importance of vital statistics for Canada and yet the bureau at Ottawa was unable to properly fulfill its mission in this regard for many reasons. In the first place one province kept no vital statistics at all. In others the statistical year was not uniform and in addition they did not secure uniform data. For instance in the matter of deaths of the 24 items which should be covered two of the provinces omit sixteen, another fifteen and still another thirteen. The remedy he suggested is that each province should bring its legislation and administration up to a common standard to be agreed upon, the Dominion Bureau to act as an intermediary agent for the maintenance of the standard, the furnishing of machinery for centralization and the compilation of the resulting statistics. He demonstrated the value of such figures in many directions and in the matter of immigration for instance, pointed out that it was one of the largest factors in our national development yet, under present conditions, what it meant to Canada was practically a sealed book. Canada was at present engaged in the greatest war of all time and yet was without fundamental knowledge of its man power and how it was conserved and built up although helping to fight an adversary who measured such matters to a nicety. This needed basis for vital statistics was even more than national for at the close of the war an Imperial Conference on statistics was to be held for the purpose of discussing an Inter-Imperial system, and Canada should be put in a position to show some concrete information, a thing utterly impossible under the present haphazard plan.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The present question is whether the Huns will be able to hang out on the Hindenburg line. The manufacture of beer in the United States is to be carried out in another tier. The Russian Bolshevik Council in Asiatic Russia has declared war upon China because the latter country has sent troops to the Manchurian front. Said viki's will soon be getting too anxious on their own account to be taking on any outside scraps. Sailors' Week in Brantford and Brant County had to be delayed, but giving will be none the less hearty for all that. WHAT WOULD THE HUN DO?

"What," asks the New York Sun, "would the Hun do if he were winning this war instead of slowly losing it?" Were the conditions reversed were it the Hun who was winking and his grand onslaught succeeded had he captured Paris; had he planted himself on the Channel ports; were he steadily wearing out slowly retreating forces; were the evidence of our collapsing military and civil morale accumulating with every passing day; were our man-power diminishing and his own increasing with reserves back of him for further advances; were this the existing state of affairs; what would the Hun's program be?

Would he be feeling his way to an inconclusive peace by negotiation, or would he be truculently demanding a peace on terms of his own dictation. Would he be deploring the wholesale slaughter and whittling about the responsibility for further slaughter resting on us and not on him? Would he halt his plans for absorbing Belgium and reducing France to a conquered province under Hun vassalage? Would he do any of these things, or would he be moving relentlessly on with his program of crushing all before him until the whole world was under the Hun heel.

Were the Hun as sure he were going to win as we are sure he is going to lose, not a whimper or a hint of peace, other than by complete crushing defeat of his enemies would be coming from him. His career of savagery would be taking on a fresh and constantly accelerating impulse. He would not stop until every nation now resisting him was ground into the dust. And what would be his programme under such circumstances must be the programme of the Allies from now on—a programme carried out to its last detail of Hun subjugation, utter and complete, unless we would have the war of the Allies a failure and all these millions of precious lives of civilized men sacrificed in vain.

That, we apprehend, is the doctrine which Senator Lodge meant to lay down in his recent speech in the Senate; it is the doctrine of Lloyd George and of Clemenceau; of Albert of Belgium, and of all Italy. It surely is the doctrine of the people of these United States. And to any American political leader who do not subscribe to it now and stand by it to the bitter end, what else can befall than such an overwhelming flood of American condemnation as shall sweep them off the political map for generations to come?

What the Allies are going to do is precisely what the Hun would do were he winning instead of losing the war. They are going right on to such a victory won on Hun soil and to such a peace, dictated on the spot where the whole hellish conspiracy against civilized mankind was hatched, as will put the Hun where he will be impotent to disturb the peace of the world for a hundred years.

HON. MR. CARVELL'S VISIT.

Upon the occasion of the visit of the Minister of Public Works to Port Dover on Saturday next, with reference to the improvement of the harbor at that place there should be a cutting out of all unnecessary frills, and a plain heart to heart talk upon a business basis. This is not alone a matter which affects Port Dover, but also the inhabitants of the entire district as far as Galt, including in a very special way, Brantford, Paris and Simcoe. With coal and other things brought directly across the lake, and the Lake Erie and Northern Railway in readiness to distribute all shipments, the placing of the harbor in proper shape would mean much of the very greatest importance to a very large industrial area. Hon. Mr. Carvell is a man of direct speech, and he should be approached in a direct way. Notwithstanding the circumstances that all Dominion expenditures have been curtailed during this war time, this is certainly a warranted outlay, and the facts concisely presented cannot fail to so impress the minister.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The manufacture of beer in the United States is to be carried out in another tier. The Russian Bolshevik Council in Asiatic Russia has declared war upon China because the latter country has sent troops to the Manchurian front. SCHOOL FAIRS HELD AT PARIS

Splendid Exhibits by High and Public Schools Last Friday

THE PRIZE WINNERS

(From our own correspondent) Paris, Sept. 9.—The first annual High and Public School Fairs were held on Friday afternoon in the respective school under the auspices of the Paris Horticultural Society. The Executive of the Society are to be congratulated upon the highest success in their efforts by the scholars. The exhibits of flowers and vegetables were grown from seeds given by the Horticultural Society to pupils in the spring, and the exhibits certainly reflected great credit on all the pupils. Keen interest was shown in the above contests, not only by the scholars themselves, but also by their parents, and the society feel amply repaid in their trouble by the large and excellent number of exhibits, and every year shows a growing interest in its work. Following is a list of the prize winners:

Your Problems Solved??

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D. (All rights reserved.)

Dr. Linscott in this column will help you solve your heart problems, religious, marital, social, financial and every other anxious care that perplexes you. If a personal answer is required, enclose a five cent stamp. No names will be published; if you prefer, sign your initials only, or use a pseudonym.

Gluttony:—"A young woman asks the question, 'Is it wrong to eat and drink when we are neither hungry or thirsty?' I would not say it is necessarily a sin to do so, but would say it is a great folly and it must of necessity be inurious to the body. We should eat and drink to live, and not live to eat and drink. Eating and drinking when we are not in need of either is really gluttony and essential drunkenness, and this is what keeps the doctors busy.

Comforting the sick:—"A church worker" wants to know, "What can be done to express our sympathy for people who are sick besides sending flowers?" You can pray for them, you can send them kind messages, and particularly you can write them letters of sympathy. A letter breathing affection and kindly sympathy will sometimes do a sick person more good than a three dollar bouquet and help them toward health more than doctor's medicines. It is not always wise to allow sick people to receive visitors, but it is a very rare case when the nurse or some member of the family could not read your letter to the sick one. This is worth your trying.

CONDITION GRAVE.

Mr. Charles Armstrong, who fell from the roof of a house in Eagle Place on Friday last is reported this afternoon to be in a very critical condition and very much weaker. There is little hope for his recovery now. The man who is over seventy years of age missed his footing while working in the roof of a house at 88 Erie Ave., belonging to Mr. Harb Howie. He has not been conscious since his accident.

MERE CONJECTURE.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—Reports that Major General Lorne may be appointed justice of the Ontario Supreme Court are stated here to be merely conjectural. The matter has not been considered in council.

WOMAN EXECUTED. Courier Leased Wire. Dora Kaplan, the alleged assassin of the Bolshevik premier, Lenin, was executed on Sept. 4th, according to a Moscow dispatch to The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin.

ON HOLIDAYS.
Captain Oscar Crooker of the East End fire department has returned from his vacation, and Fireman Jas. E. Townsend of the central department has left to spend his holidays in Chicago.

FALL PROGRAM.
Mr. Geo. Mosley has now completed his outdoor program for the year and is now turning his attention to the fall gymnasium program at the Y.M.C.A.

FIREMAN RESIGNS.
Fireman Neal Weatherwax of the East End fire department handed in his resignation on Saturday night. He has only been with the department a short time, but during that time proved himself an efficient fireman.

POLICE COURT.
There was a short list at the Police Court this morning when J. Montgomery, the only offender, was allowed to go, after paying $2.85 costs, for not having his registration certificate on his person, and was fined $5 and costs for driving a motorcycle faster than fifteen miles per hour.

ROOT CROPS GOOD.
The root crops throughout the country are looking the best in years. A good yield of roots will be a great asset as they will make a substitute for other expensive feeds for stock.

BEGINNING CURB.
Work was commenced this morning on a curb on the west side of Richmond street, between Crown and Duke streets. This is one of the minor pieces of work that have to be completed this year.

MAN TOOK FIT.
An employee of the Canadian Express Co. took a fit while carrying a heavy bundle to a train at 6:30 this morning. He was unconscious for sometime and was removed to his home in a taxi on his regaining consciousness.

ALEXANDRA CHURCH.
The services held in Alexandra Church yesterday proved exceptionally fine, both in sermon and in song. The members of the choir, after a two months' holiday, were in their places, and under the direction of Mr. C. J. W. Taylor, the new organist and choir leader, provided splendid music. At the conclusion of a recent practice a social hour was enjoyed; thus enabling Mr. Taylor and the members of the choir to become better acquainted.

We respectfully put before you the advisability of anticipating your requirements, and of buying now most of the things you will need in the near future.
Prices are continually advancing. There is no prospect of an early decline. Later on you will have to pay more for the same goods, or even for merchandise not so good.
It is unwise to buy more than you need, or to buy with the purpose of hoarding. But it is the height of wisdom to take advantage of prevailing prices, and buy your present needs now, as well as to anticipate those of the early future.

BRANTFORD MEN

was serving with the Princess Pats. A brother, William, has been invalided home, and another is now at Niagara Camp. Mr. Hurley, senior, was formerly a member of the Walkerville Fire Department.

Pte. S. A. Linington.
Mr. Hiram J. Linington, 120 Elgin street, received word to-day of the death in action of his son, Pte. Spencer Arthur Linington. The young man was twenty-three years of age, and unmarried. Prior to his enlistment in the 125th Battalion, he was a wire worker by trade. A brother has returned home, after being wounded and gassed.

Pte. George Harry.
Pte. George Harry, an Armenian, was killed in action on August 28th, according to official notification received to-day by his sister, Mrs. Louisa Azorian.

Pte. Roy Bachelor.
Word was received in the city Saturday to the effect that Pte. Roy Bachelor, who enlisted with a Windsor battalion, has been wounded in the arm. Pte. Bachelor was formerly of Brantford, and had gone to Windsor as an electrician.

PARIS CASUALTIES.
Sergeant W. A. Brown, who will be remembered by many in Paris as at the time of his enlistment in 1916 he was engaged at the store of Rehder & Co. Documented news overseas with the 155th battalion and from the first won early recognition for his general efficiency. While in England he had the honor of being selected as the first soldier to be honored for His Majesty King George, at Westminster Abbey, London, on July 1st, 1917. At the time of his death he had been in France for upward of nine months and belonged to the Specialist Section of the 21st Battalion. The young soldier was engaged in observation work in the forward lines when he was taken down with acute bronchial pneumonia and passed away at No. 7 Casualty Clearing Station in France. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Brown of Plattsville. While in Paris he attended the Presbyterian church and the Bible Class of Sunday School and earned the respect and esteem of all he came in contact with by his manly bearing.

Gunner Kenneth M. Astle.
Is another Paris boy who has made the supreme sacrifice for the Empire in the great world war, word having been received in town on Saturday by his mother, that he had died from wounds in No. 3 Field Ambulance on Sept. 8th. Kenneth was born in Derby, England, on Jan. 17th, 1898 and came to Paris with his relatives eight years ago last month. While in Paris the young soldier had always taken an active interest in movements for good, being an active member of the local Y.M.C.A. as also one of the first workers in the "4 U. & I" Bible Class. He was also a member of St. James' of the Y.P.A. and later of the Men's Bible Class. Private Astle enlisted in the 215th Battalion in June 1916, going to England in April of the following year. On March of this year he went over to France and was attached to the Machine Gun Section of the 33rd Battalion. Both in England and Paris, Ontario, Kenneth had also taken an active part in the Boy Scout Movement, having won many badges for efficiency. He was in the Bagle Band here, and had the honor of being bugler at Headquarters Staff both in England and France. By genial and kindly disposition he won the respect of all who knew him and the sympathy of the community; will be extended to his mother and other relatives, as also to his fiancée, Miss Annie Billings, in their sore bereavement.

Pte. David R. Peel.
The fateful little yellow slip of paper that has brought so much sorrow to so many homes throughout this Dominion was received by Mrs. Peel on Saturday morning, announcing that her husband, Pte. David R. Peel had been killed in action on Aug. 26th. He enlisted with the 215th, and in April 1917 went over to England. Later he was transferred to the 125th Battalion and went to France in March of this year with the draft of the Princess Pats. At the time of his enlistment he was engaged at No. 1 Mill. He was the youngest son of the late Wm. and Mrs. Peel, was born and educated in Paris and lived here all his life. In 1912 he was united in marriage to Miss Carrie Shortreed, who with two little sons survive, as also his mother, Mrs. Wm. Peel, one brother, Brook, of Brantford, and one sister, Mrs. Nelson Hedley of the same city, who will have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their sorrow. Dave was a general favorite with all who knew him.

Among the names listed in the casualty list on Saturday was that of Pte. Geo. Sidwell, of Hamilton, formerly of Paris.

OBITUARY

C. MacFarlane.
An old and highly respected resident of Brantford passed away late Saturday afternoon in the person of Mr. Christopher MacFarlane, after a short illness. He was born in Fermanagh County, Ireland, coming to Canada in 1878 and was married in Montreal the same year to Miss Catherine Urison of the native town, shortly afterward removing to Brantford, where he has since resided. Deceased was of a quiet retiring disposition and was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.
He was a member of Brantford Camp No. 12 Woodmen of the World and Camp Scotia, Sons of Scotland, and a member of Brantford Methodist church for nearly forty years.
Besides a sorrowing widow, a grown-up family of three sons and two daughters are left to mourn his loss: Wm., Thomas J., Edmondson, William H., Woodstock; Reginald, Harold, overseas; Emily, Fred and Mary (Minnie) at home, to all of whom sincere sympathy will be extended. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 14 Walsingham St., Tuesday afternoon, to Mt. Hope Cemetery.

RECORD GRAIN HAULING. Montreal, September 9.—A new record for grain handling has just been established by the Grand Trunk on its lines in Eastern Canada. During the month of August that railway transported the great total of 8,271,521 bushels of grain, carrying the bulk of this vast tonnage from Great Lakes ports to Montreal for export. The cars required to move this traffic numbered 4,653, showing an average of 1.77 bushels per car. The amount of grain transported by rail in August surpassed the best previous record by about half a million bushels.

REV. D. ALEXANDER SAID FAREWELL

Preached Closing Sermons of Pastorate at Immanuel Church

ATTENDANCE LARGE

Farewell services were conducted at Immanuel church yesterday by the pastor, Rev. David Alexander. In the morning, Mr. Alexander said God wants all of us. We are to present ourselves body and soul, living sacrifices. The soldier put his body and life on the altar of his country. The Christian must put himself into God's hands without reserve. God does not ask us to patch up our lives. He claims surrender. One of the greatest hindrances in the advancement of Christianity is the lack of difference between the non-Christian and the professor of Christ. We were not to be conformed to the world, but transformed by the renewing of our soul. This transformation of character was the work of the Spirit of God in the surrendered soul. It was also a gradual process. The preacher held his audience, which well might fill the church, with excellent interest. The text was from Romans xli. 1, 2. The choir, under Miss McCombe, who has just returned from her vacation, rendered a beautiful anthem entitled, "He Leadeth Me." Miss Vera Smith and Miss Edna Cowie taking individual parts very finely, and also Messrs. Wm. Pickering and Harry Green doing likewise in splendid voice. Any one not knowing Mr. Alexander was leaving, would have thought it was the usual service, as the minister referred to whatever to the resignation of his charge.

True Motive for Service In the evening the seating capacity of the church was taxed to the limit. People were compelled to stand. Mr. Alexander took for his text 1 Cor. 15, 58. This scripture furnished a text which was rewarded to the church in God's plan and purpose was a place where tender love was intended to predominate. The first Christian church as depicted in the Acts of the Apostles, was governed by this spirit, Christianity, in its advent into this world, won its triumphs because it presented a united front, and the outside world was compelled to say, "Behold how these Christians love one another."

Then we were to be steadfast for the truth. "Daniel had an excellent spirit in him." A printer's error made it read, "Daniel had an excellent spine in him." A happy mistake. As the speaker said, the preacher when a draper, was called by his employer, "Stretch the cloth as tight as you can to make the most of it." As the speaker said, the preacher when a draper, was called by his employer, "Stretch the cloth as tight as you can to make the most of it."

There was lots of motion but no real progress. The speaker declared that the average salary of the Christian minister in America was only $600 per year. Yet people wondered why young men did not go into the ministry. Christian people to-day are spending their money unwisely, are robbing God of his dues, and the preacher and his wife and children suffered. Many common laborers to-day were better paid than ministers of the Gospel. The old Jew gave a tenth. That was his debt to God. Many of our people have many love gifts to God's work.

The preacher told his audience he had no wish to make any personal remarks about his leaving. He believed it must be the experience which he needed, and he was going to get all the good he could out of it. "Don't leave your church. Hang together. Work together. Solve the problems before you and seek to make your church justify its existence in the community. The choir rendered a very fine anthem in the evening, and Madames Tyler and Seestergood, of Wesley choir, contributed a duet which was much appreciated, entitled, "God Will Take Care." Good old-fashioned hymns were sung, and a splendid service was closed with the National Anthem, and God Save Our Splendid Men."

RECORD GRAIN HAULING. Montreal, September 9.—A new record for grain handling has just been established by the Grand Trunk on its lines in Eastern Canada. During the month of August that railway transported the great total of 8,271,521 bushels of grain, carrying the bulk of this vast tonnage from Great Lakes ports to Montreal for export. The cars required to move this traffic numbered 4,653, showing an average of 1.77 bushels per car. The amount of grain transported by rail in August surpassed the best previous record by about half a million bushels.

ODDFELLOWS' MONUMENT UNVEILED YESTERDAY

Memorial to Lodge Men Dead at Home and Overseas Formally Dedicated by Grand Master of Order—Annual Decoration of Graves.

While six hundred Oddfellows and several hundred other spectators stood at attention, the I.O.O.F. memorial to the dead brethren of the order was formally unveiled by Grand Master Rev. Walter Cox in Mount Hope Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The unveiling and attendant ceremonies were performed in conjunction with the annual decoration of graves by the Oddfellows, and marked the consummation of the long cherished ambition of every member of the lodge in the city. The Rev. Walter Cox, Grand Master of the I.O.O.F. in Canada, was the principal speaker of the afternoon, and other Grand Lodge officers from various districts also vouchsafed a few remarks on the momentous occasion. Fully six hundred strong, the Oddfellows mustered at their hall on Queen street early in the afternoon, the local lodges supplementing the visitors from Hamilton, Woodstock, Aylmer, Paris, Burford and other points. At the I.O.O.F. Hall, the lodge men were addressed by Chas. E. Mann of Hamilton, past Grand Master, who touched upon the significance of the rites about to be observed.

The route followed by the parade was Colborne street to George, and thence West street. The Durin Rifles band headed the march, and hundreds of outside spectators formed an advance guard, flanked the lodges on either side and brought up the rear. The decoration of the graves was carried out without the usual ceremonies, in order to allow ample time for the unveiling. On arrival at the cemetery, the ceremonies were opened by J. C. Spence, G. R. who, in his opening remarks commented upon the impressiveness of the ceremonies. In referring to the dead brethren, he quoted Longfellow's words, "The lives of great men all remind us. We can make our lives sublime; And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time." Dr. Spence, summing up of the duties of true Christianity as love, service and sacrifice, declared the speaker, had made an indelible impression upon his service.

The Worthy Grand Master of the I.O.O.F. in Canada, who presided at the unveiling of the monument, said that the monument was a memento of the dead of our order, both those who sleep here and those who lie beneath the sod in Flanders fields; it will stand until time shall be no more, and until we shall meet again those brethren who have gone before us.

Monument Unveiled. Here the speaker passed for the unveiling of the monument. A slow pull at the rope raised, and the flag with which the stone was draped fell away, revealing the towering pillar inscribed with the names of thirteen heroes who sleep in foreign graves. A wreath of flowers was laid at the base of the pedestal by four little girls, and the Rev. Mr. Cox continued: "It is but rich that the fairest of the fair, in their most innocent hours, should place these flowers on the monument in token of the purity for which these our brothers, have given their lives."

Passing then to his oration proper, the speaker chose as his text, "Hereby perceive we the love of God, because He laid down His life for us." Through this text the true spirit of Oddfellowship breathed. To lay down one's life, the speaker pointed out, was the same thing as to die. To the man who felt that he had a soul, there was no death. Pleish and blood might return to earth, but that which is the ego man will never die. Christ did not die for man. He laid down His life as a consummation of the burden of His existence, which was to raise man out of the pit into which he had fallen.

"It is for each of us," declared the speaker, "to follow the example of our Master in this: let each one of us try to make this world a little better when we leave it, than it was when we came into it. A man only begins to live when he begins to do things for others."

Broader Aspect Coming. The men who returned from the front, the speaker predicted, would inaugurate a broader, larger view of life than that which had prevailed in the past; they would bring back truer ideas of brotherhood. "There is nothing in the world," a soldier wrote home. "like the brotherhood of the trenches." The religion exemplified by these men was summed up in three words, love, service, sacrifice. These principles, too, were made fraternal societies, and what were essential to their continuation. Touching upon the relation of the ideals of love, service and sacrifice to Christianity, the speaker asked: "What is a Christian nation? The Central powers of Europe have the name of God in their creed and prayers. Are you serving the same God as the German Kaiser? No, for long ago he overthrew the true God set up in His place the pagan idol Wotan. The Kaiser's god is a creature neither of heaven nor earth, but was created by hell and manufactured in Germany."

G. P. L. WAGNER. The response of the I.O.O.F. to the call of the empire was touched upon by P. L. Wagner of Aylmer, Grand Patriarch of the order who stated that of every seven members were in khaki. Those who remained behind had a great duty to perform. The Patriarchal branch of the Oddfellows were fore-runners in the principles for which the Allies were fighting to-day, and in the confederation which would follow the war they would have a prominent part. Mr. Wagner congratulated those in charge for the success of the day.

P. G. M. C. E. MANN. "As we stand in view of this monument, what man or woman is there whose heart does not respond?" demanded C. H. Mann of Hamilton, past Grand Master of the order. As every Christian nation revered its dead, it was meant that we should at times bend our way to God's feet and stand at the altar of memory and fond remembrance of our dear ones gone beyond.

G. J. W. W. CROSS. Walter Cross of Hamilton, grand junior warden, in his opening remarks commented upon the impressiveness of the ceremonies. In referring to the dead brethren, he quoted Longfellow's words, "The lives of great men all remind us. We can make our lives sublime; And, departing, leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time." the entire gathering, in addition to the National Anthem at the conclusion of the ceremonies. On returning to the I.O.O.F. hall, Grand Master Cox held a reception and met the greater number of the lodge men who had taken part in the afternoon's parade. Following are the names appearing on the memorial tablet and also the list of graves decorated:—

Soldiers of the Soil. Nearly twelve thousand Soldiers of the Soil boys are hard at work on the farms, helping in the campaign for greater war-time production, in addition to those who arrange for their own employment, independent of the Soldiers of the Soil organization. The Soldiers of the Soil are divided as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Province/Region and Number of Soldiers. Includes British Columbia (669), Alberta (616), Saskatchewan (1,405), Manitoba (1,006), Ontario (4,821), Quebec (670), New Brunswick (677), Nova Scotia (1,738), Prince Edward Island (500).

A Youthful Colonel. Kingston beats all records in the production of young Lieutenants-colonels. James C. Stewart, son of Postmaster James Stewart, left Canada in August, 1914, as captain, and was there 22 years old. He was major at 24 and Lieutenant-colonel at 26, was awarded the D.S.O., and was twice mentioned in despatches. He was wounded three times, and is still on active service.

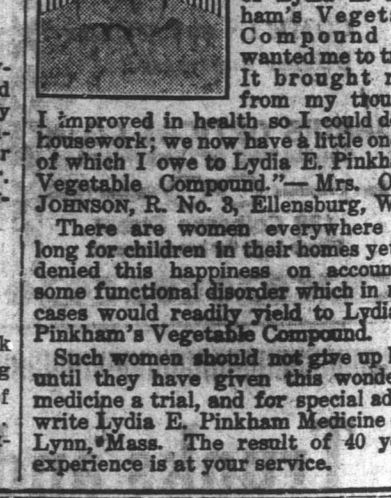

Emergency Diet. Klondike Indians are facing starvation through failure of their fish and game supplies. One trapper recently was reduced to eating his caribou hide blanket, which he chewed after soaking and scraping off the hair. Many dog teams have died of starvation.

REV. W. E. BOWYER ACCEPTS A CALL FROM DETROIT

Tenders Resignation From Pastorate of Calvary Baptist Church

EIGHT YEARS' SERVICE

The Rev. W. E. Bowyer, for the past eight years pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Dalhousie street, has accepted a call from a Detroit church, and will leave the last of this month to assume his duties there. At the morning service yesterday Mr. Bowyer made known his intention as follows:

There is probably no vocation that affords so large and varied an opportunity for service as the ministry. A true minister of the Lord Jesus seeks an influence out of all proportion to the monetary remuneration he receives, so it is scarcely cause for wonder that so many talented young men, realizing this, and desiring to fashion righteous citizenship of the plastic clay of human life and character, led by the Divine Spirit, seek leadership in the Christian church as undershepherds of the Good Shepherd. Such is the incentive and inspiration that motivates the clergy, and I am convinced that despite the allurements of the Arts and Crafts, and the Professions, never greater than to-day, God will continue to raise up men, able and consecrated, who will hear and heed the call of privilege and duty in the "Follow Me" of the Nazarene and set apart their lives to the preaching of the Gospel.

REV. W. E. BOWYER,
Who yesterday announced his resignation from pastorate of Calvary Baptist Church.

That I have been deemed worthy to become a minister is a matter for personal thankfulness, and that the great Head of the Church has employed me in a soul-winning and in the edification of the saints gives me profound joy.

Nearly eight years ago, though against the advice of some, I accepted the unanimous call of Calvary

Baptist Church to become your pastor. Never for a moment have I regretted this, rather for myself and my family can I say that the years have been very happy, and I have yet to have the first word of misunderstanding with a single individual in the church. It has been my sorrowful duty in that time to lay away in their last resting place the babe, the youth, the maiden, the mature and the aged. I have wept with the weeping, have also rejoiced with the rejoicing.

We have suffered with you in the departure of many of our men and boys overseas, and our prayers shall ever join with yours that God will take these dear ones in his keeping. In the present pastorate the church has made progress materially and spiritually. Improvements and renovations have been completed, and the building presents a handsome and commodious appearance; the membership has been increased, the strengthened and the spirit of unity has been maintained. Church Sunday School and Organizations are well equipped and capable of attaining a continued standard of excellence. We have fought to place everything on a stable basis so that in the event of our departure, another minister might succeed, certain of a sustained Christian zeal and effort on the part of every one of you. I have nothing but kindly words to say, and I have ever appreciated the response you have made to the plans that I have suggested. My relations with the Diaconate, the Board of Managers, and the other Boards have been most fraternal. As men I esteem them individually and collectively. Mr. Bowyer joins me in the same sentiment concerning the Women's Organizations. We shall remember always the splendid work of our women when the Oxford and Brant Associations of Baptist Churches were the guests of Calvary Church. So I might continue in this strain. It remains however for me to say that in the Providence of God the hour has come for me to speak of the severance of our relations as pastor and people.

For some time I have contemplated a change, and believed that in the guidance of the Spirit an opportunity to effect such would come, so I have continued to labor here, not allowing the quality of the work I sought to do to deteriorate nor shall I in the time that remains. The only time that I have ever preached with a view to a call was in the present instance.

Late in August an invitation came to me to supply the pulpit of Warren and Third Ave. Baptist Church, Detroit, Michigan. I received splendid reports of the character of the membership and the opportunity the field presented. I therefore went to investigate, not at all sure that I should become their pastor. I met with a cordial reception, and was favorably impressed. I have since received the unanimous call of the church there (which was supported by a standing vote of all present) the promise of the loyalty of the Official Board and a good salary. There lies before me a fine prospect for service in a beautiful and growing city, and I am persuaded that it is in the interests of my usefulness as a minister that I should put my hand to it. I therefore wish to be released from my present pastorate here, and beg leave to tender my resignation, the same to take effect Sunday, September 29th.

The recent Alliance between

Great Britain and United States, cement these peoples more closely together, and though three thousand miles of border line without a fortress lie between, a deep resolution is common to both to rid the world of the spirit of tyranny. Across the line I shall be able to see the soil of beloved Canada. In my church and congregation will be many Canadians, and though I shall seek to be a loyal citizen of the Republic to which I go but can never forget that I am of British stock, and shall ever uphold those principles of democracy, justice and truth, that have made our nation immortal.

Therefore I have made it shall cherish through life, and it shall ever be my prayer that the Lord Jehovah will bless and guide you each and all. I ask an interest in your prayers for my wife, her mother, and our little daughter as well as for myself. We shall have lonely hours as we think of you. We hope we shall meet again. There is a drawn latch string to any of our friends who come to Detroit, and we shall welcome you with the same cordiality that you ever have accorded us.

"God keep you safe my friends,

All through the night,

TRIBUTE TO LATE MR. W. F. TISDALE

Sympathetic Reference to His Passing Was Made in Grace Church

At Grace Church yesterday morning the rector, the Rev. Mr. Fotheringham, referred in a most feeling manner to the quite sudden death in Birtle, Man., last week of Mr. W. F. Tisdale, who was on a holiday visit to his brother. Mr. Tisdale, who was possessed of an especially fine baritone voice, was a member of Grace Church choir as far back as 1882 and until the past few years had regularly taken part in the musical offices of the church—a faithful service of some thirty years. In memory of the old and much beloved chorister, hymn No. 235 was sung as a memorial by choir and congregation.

"How bright these glorious spirits shine."
Letters from Birtle state that Mr. Tisdale was taken seriously ill the night after his arrival at the home of his brother, whom he had not seen for over thirty years. He was removed to the hospital at Shoal Lake but sank very rapidly. He was buried at Birtle, the Rev. Mr. Walton, rector of the Church of England, officiated. A correspondent writes: "The service was one of the most beautiful and solemn that I ever attended. Everything in connection with his visit seemed so very sad. Not to have seen his relatives here for so many years, then merely to dine together once and then die. We all here are terribly upset over his sudden departure."

the French near Laffaux and north of Colles-sur-Aisne seems to bear out the belief that the Germans will not give up St. Gobain without a struggle.

In addition to the protection of the Laon, the St. Gobain position, if captured, would weaken the entire German line eastward toward Rheims. Northwest of St. Gobain the French have taken Venesmes and Terrier and are threatening La Fere. On the edge of the forest the French have penetrated the outskirts of Servais.

On the line between the Vesle and the Aisne Rivers, additional ground has been gained by the French and Americans. Official statements dealing with the fighting here says that it has decreased.

More than 1,000 Winnipeg troops either have already gone or have made application to go to the harvest fields.

REMEMBER BY GIVING

AT any other time than this, the heroism of the men of the Merchant Marine would fill the newspapers. As it is, you simply read of so many tons of shipping sunk by submarines.

Yet from the few words you read, you must picture scores of scenes like the illustration. 15,000 men of this service, not officially recognized by the governments, have suffered death in order that soldiers, munitions and food may cross the ocean. Remember their widows and orphans, dependent for life itself on your generosity.

Let Your Donation Be An Appreciation of This Sacrifice!

As each day sees new victims of the U-Boat, more and more mouths wait to be fed—widows and orphans, who cannot look to governments for relief.

"They shall not want!" Say this in the only way that counts—by your contribution.

WE MUST listen to the call that comes from the deep—"Remember the Lusitania! Remember Captain Fryatt! Remember the 176 vessels lost, together with all trace of crew and cargo! Remember the 15,000 men of the Merchant Marine, who have already made the supreme sacrifice! Remember the widows and orphans!"

Dehydration Principle in Food Is Satisfactory Aid to Conservation

The methods of drying fruit and vegetables, and the ventilation is perfect.

1) Drier made according to Government specifications.

2) Over head rack filled with vegetables which dry from surplus heat passing up from the stove.

The principle of Dehydration particularly as applied to fruits has been known throughout the ages, but application of that principle in a thoroughly satisfactory way is a very recent development. Dehydrated foods are natural products from which the water only has been removed. If the water is restored the product returns to a condition so closely approaching that of the fresh that when cooked it is in all respects comparable with the fresh. No chemicals are needed in the new process—no sulphur to bleach or dye to imitate the natural color.

These products have been found to have the same nutritive value as the fresh and they are practically unaltered, when properly cooked, in physical texture and lit-tle affected in taste. Army officers have investigated these dried products carefully for barrack and camp life and considering them from all standpoints, testify to their value. Landmarks in Montreal

AS the oldest city on the continent with the exception of Quebec, Montreal has many spots of historical interest for the tourist.

Among these are the two quaint towers at the entrance to the Grand Seminary of St. Sulpice on Sherbrooke street.

These towers tell of a time long past, when the red man roamed o'er regions vast, and the settlers, men of bold heart and brow,

One of the old towers in early times was used as a chapel of the Indian mission, and the other was used as an Indian school.

At Chambly, a short distance from Montreal, is on the Richelieu river, this river was the highway traversed by the Iroquois in their raids on Canada.

At Lachine, nine miles from Montreal, which is well known to tourists because of the Lachine Rapids, there is still remaining the building which at one time formed the headquarters of the Hudson Bay Company in Canada.

Faintly as tolls the evening chime, Our voices keep time and our oars keep time. Soon as the woods on shore look dim, We'll sing at St. Ann's our parting hymn.

Why should we yet our sail unfurl? There is not a breath the blue wave can curl! But when the wind blows off the shore, Oh! sweetly we'll rest our weary oar.

Utawas' tides! this trembling moon Shall see us float over thy surges soon. Saint of this green lake, hear our prayer, Oh! grant us cool heavens and favoring airs!

No more to wear the brow of care, We're going home to-morrow. We're going home to-morrow. During the last eight years I have stood with many of you in sorrow here that I have never refused a call to sickness, to sorrow, or to need.

FAREWELL SERVICES AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Llewellyn Brown Bade Adieu to His Congregation Prior to Leaving For Detroit—Two Feeling Sermons

First Baptist church was filled to the doors, both morning and evening for the farewell services of the pastor, the Rev. Llewellyn Brown, who leaves this week to assume charge of a prominent Detroit church.

And yet we strive to think that the Lord is just. "Yet a feeling of bitterness fills our hearts. Sometimes when we try to pray, That the Reaper has spared so many flowers."

Our soldier boys to-night as they lie down under the stars in distant battlefields will be dreaming of home—of Canada—of Brantford—of some humble home, it may be one of these side streets—a mother of a soldier boy from this church showed me a letter her boy wrote this summer in which he said:

"Last night I awoke in my sleep in an old barn. I could see the stars shining through the roof. I thought of you and of home and of all that and mother, I just had to take hold of myself and pray to my Heavenly Father to steady me to help me and keep me that I might still carry on and do my duty."

Just as God has made every man with a love for home, so God has placed within every true man a desire for a heavenly home, for heaven, for eternal blessedness beyond this life.

Every man who follows that divine instinct that God has placed within us for heaven, for salvation, will become a Christian, will enter heaven—the eternal home. While every man who refuses to follow it will be lost and will die a moral and a spiritual suicide.

THE REV. LLEWELLYN BROWN, Pastor of First Baptist Church for eight years past, who preached his farewell sermons yesterday. He has accepted a call to Detroit.

text that binds us all at our dearest depths, "I am a stranger in the earth." "On an occasion such as this, when the sweet associations of life are being broken in upon, when our pathways part which for years we have crossed so frequently, when our heart strings are being strained, the truth of a text like this comes home to us with unusual force."

But we have also felt the force of this text in moments, in rare moments of soul-exaltation, when we are lifted up as on a high mountain in song, meditation, vision, splendid and we see farther and clearer than usual. Then the truth of this text has come home to us.

As we have stood amid the beauties of the spring morning, amid nature newly born, or on an autumn day, and the autumn glow all about us. As we have watched a sunset in the mountains, a sunrise at sea; as we have walked amid the splendor of the pathless woods, or by the far-sounding ocean, the truth of this text has stolen into our hearts with an emphasis and a glow.

But yet again the truth of this text comes home to us in the extremities of life. As we have stood in the eyes of our loved ones in death; as we have seen coming over their countenances "A light that never shone on land or sea," then we too have felt in a way no preacher could tell us, that we too "shall die and not live," that we know we are strangers in the earth.

That is the divine ministry of the separations, the evaluations, the extremities of this pilgrim life we here live. All these things remind us of the fact that we are all mortal, that we are all on a resistless flood. That silently but none the less surely we are being borne forward to another life, to another land, to another city. That at best we are but strangers in the earth.

"We're going home no more to-morrow. No more to wear the brow of care, We're going home to-morrow." During the last eight years I have stood with many of you in sorrow here that I have never refused a call to sickness, to sorrow, or to need.

bursting barn with all his treasured store? The saints of God have always had this sense of strangeness in the earth. Heb. 11:9, "They confessed that they were pilgrims and strangers in the earth."

"By faith Abraham sojourned in the land of promise as in a strange land, dwelling in tents with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise, for he looked for a city that had foundations whose builder and maker was God."

In the recent enrollment in this city under Government order one of our oldest and best faithful and respected members here when asked by the officer in charge, "What is your occupation?" replied "Waiting." And by so saying he confessed that he was a stranger in the earth.

The Homing Instinct. One of the deepest and most blessed instincts God has implanted within all of his creatures is the "Homing Instinct." You find it alike in the higher and in the lower forms of life about us.

Our soldier boys to-night as they lie down under the stars in distant battlefields will be dreaming of home—of Canada—of Brantford—of some humble home, it may be one of these side streets—a mother of a soldier boy from this church showed me a letter her boy wrote this summer in which he said:

SEMI-PRO'S WERE EASY FOR HAMILTON

Visiting Team Won Out on Saturday by Score of 12-3

LOOSE BALL PLAYED

The Hamilton semi-pro's found the locals easy picking when they clashed behind the dyke on Saturday afternoon, the visitors winning out 12-3 in 7 innings of listlessly played ball. The Hams were not good, but they were just good enough to put it over. O'Connell's aggression without much difficulty. The game was as loose-sided as the score, and drizzled heavily almost throughout. Thomas, who started in the box for the home team, was hit hard in the first three innings, and was yanked in favor of Mitchell, who was not long in demonstrating that as a pitcher he is a fine shortstop. The local team underwent several changes in line-up during the game, in fact, but no matter how they shifted, they were always able to dodge all the balls Hamilton hit into the field, and they were plenty. Kid Smith of the visitors started with four hits out of as many times at bat, two of his singles being for two bases. Thomas started the Hams to a flying start in the first, when he walked Fisher and Finlayson, after which Hackbush, Smith and Carter hit safely in turn. Net result, four runs for Hamilton. Four more came in the fourth, when O'Connell's lead-off home run, which was followed by Mitchell's lead-off home run, and the visitors added three in the fifth and another three in the seventh. Brantford several times had men on bases, but was unable to hit in the pinches. Its scoring came all in the fourth, when McKelvey singled, Kaufman and Summerhayes were safe on misplays and O'Connell drove out a smashing three bagger. The attendance probably set a record for the season. The scores:

CRUCIFIED KITTEN AS MAN-TRAP BAIT

British Soldier Killed When He Released an Animal Nailed up by Boche

London, Sept. 9.—The Morning Post says the authenticity of the following incident is taken as unquestioned. During the recent operations of the allies, it fell to the 4th British Army to re-occupy a town when the Germans retreated from it. As they were making their way through the war-scarred streets of the town a group of them were arrested by a sight that startled and shocked even men inured to the horrors of war.

On a door of one of the houses a kitten was hanging by its fore-paws, which had been nailed to the wood. The wretched creature, which might have been where it was found at least an hour or two, was mewling pitifully in agony and struggling desperately with its hind legs to release itself.

With the natural instinct of pity for a suffering dumb animal, one of the British soldiers rushed forward to release the kitten. He pulled out the nails that pierced its paws, but the moment he did so, there was a flash and roar and his mutilated and dismembered body was flung across the street. A hidden explosive charge had been set off by the withdrawal of the nails.

The retreating Boche had laid his trap and bait it with a kitten nailed to a door. He calculated such an appeal to British humanity would be irresistible, and he was right.

Fourth game in Boston to-day at 2:30 p.m.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Boston concentrated its energies in the fourth inning of to-day's game of the world's series and squeezed in two runs, which was just enough to answer 4 to 1, the score of the contest from the Chicago Cubs. The one-run margin was in constant danger, however, and it was not until Pick, Chicago's second baser, was caught at the plate for the third put out in the last half of the ninth inning that the victors perched finally on the Boston dugout.

Chicago's lone tally came in the fifth inning and was largely a fluke, but Mitchell's men never quit trying, and in the half of the ninth started a desperate rally, which might have tied the score and run the game into an extra inning had not Chief Pick, in a frantic effort to cross the plate, thrown the chance away by reckless base running.

Vaughn elected to come back in an attempt to retrieve the honorable defeat administered in the first game of the series. He pitched splendid ball, save for the fatal fourth-inning error of the first baseman, Cooper, the first man to face the big Chicago left-hander, gave an indication of what the final result would be by putting a twisting single back of third, but nothing came of it in that inning.

Mays Very Eloquent
 Mays was the main obstacle in the way of a Cub victory. The Boston star used an underhand ball and exhibited a bewildering change of pace, sending up slow ones that floated up to the plate, varied with a fast one that shot over the plate with a dart and a juke fourth in the fourth.

In the fourth inning, Whitman, veteran of many a hard contest, and who has figured in the run-getting for Boston in every game of the series, was hit by a ball and almost walked. Then McInnis singled and Whitman scored when Schang singled. McInnis advanced to third. Then Scott dumped a bounding ball in front of the plate and Vaughn fumbled it long enough to allow McInnis to score what proved to be the winning run, and Scott was safe at first. Thomas singled to right and Schang was caught at the plate trying to score from second. Mays ending the inning by a fly to center.

Pick was the player to profit by the duke in the Chicago half of the fifth. His bouncer hit Scott on the leg and the ball bounded to the outfield for a out. On a Sunday morning, the Killer hit to left and Pick sneaked. The highly partisan crowd stood up and yelled for a winning tally when Chicago's pitcher, in the ninth and almost got what they asked for.

Paskert and Merkle were easily retired, but Pick slammed a grounder at Shean and beat the throw by a hair. Manager Mitchell sent in Barber to bat for Deal.

Pick's Grave Mistake.
 Pick stole second and went to third on a passed ball. Schang then threw to catch him and Thomas, at third for Boston, fumbled the throw, the ball rolling only a few yards away. But Pick, arising from his slide and without a look around, dashed for the plate. Thomas recovered the ball and his throw caught Pick far off the plate. The game was over and Pinch-Hitter Barber's great opportunity was snatched from him without knowing whether he might have delivered the hit which would have tied the score.

The largest crowd of the season—27,054 paid admissions—turned out, but, at that, there were vacant seats. Few of those occupied were vacated until the last man was out, however. Clouds menaced at times, a few drops of rain fell, and locomotives in nearby yards sent a smoke screen over the field, at other times the sun shone brightly.

Whitman Saves Run.
 Whitman, who has starred at bat, on the bases and in the field in this series, cut off what seemed a sure run for Chicago in the fourth inning. With one out, Mann hit and reached second. Paskert lifted the ball clear to the left field fence. It looked like a triple at least, but Whitman sped after it and bumped into the barrier with the ball safely in his glove. He was vociferously cheered.

With the score two games to one in their favor, the Boston players were in a jubilant mood, but the National Leaguers were by no means downhearted.

Chicago paid $100,463 to see the first three games of the series, according to figures compiled last night. The total attendance for the three games was 66,368, to-day's crowd of 27,054 being the largest.

 In the motorcycle and sidecar race O'Donnel was accompanied by a boy in the sidecar.
 The little Indian proved a winner when ridden by O'Donnel.
 The five mile bicycle race was a very popular one, having seven entries, most of them finishing.
 During the side-car race one of the machines that looked to be a winner ran over the bank and was forced to retire from the race.

RHEUMATISM GOES IF HOOD'S IS USED

The genuine old reliable Hood's Sarsaparilla corrects the acid condition of the blood and builds up the whole system. It drives out rheumatism because it cleanses the blood. It has been successfully used for forty years in many thousands of cases the world over.

There is no better remedy for skin and blood diseases, for loss of appetite, rheumatism, stomach and kidney troubles, general debility and all the ailments arising from impure, impoverished, devalitized blood.

It is unnecessary to suffer. Start treatment at once. Get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla from your nearest druggist. You will be pleased with the results.

In the side-car race the winner finished with the second out of sight and the second finished ahead of the third in the same manner.

INDIAN SOUGHT THE EVIL EYE

AS most tourists and travellers have realized, there are two kinds of Indians on the western reserves, one being those commercial spirits who seek the station platforms and frequented trails to sell their poses for whatever silver money they can get, the other those strong-minded but simple souls who believe the kodak has the evil eye and that to be winked at by it means very bad medicine indeed. Few can remember Indians who sought photographs for the sake of photographs.

Jimmy Simpson, a guide, trapper and hunter in the Canadian Pacific Rockies, was riding across the Stoney Indian reserve, north of the C. P. R. main line, one early fall day and had set up his little tent on the edge of the Bow river to spend the night. Like all good guides of the present day he carried a kodak. He had scarce finished his evening meal when a tall Indian brave came from the brush and in sign language asked him to take up his kodak and follow him. There was a good light, for Simpson had eaten early and the short days had not yet come. A short distance up river they reached a tepee, and they had scarcely reached it when a squaw came out with a little papoose in her arms. The Indian posed, as seen in the picture and motioned Simpson to take them. Amazed, but willing, he did so.

The child was dying of consumption. By next morning it had passed away. The parents knew it was about to leave them, and that was why they sought the man with the picture machine. To-day, framed in beads and velvety buckskin, the small reproduction is a treasured, revered household god. And round the neck of buck and squaw there are silver chains each holding a locket containing the child's face. For Jim Simpson was touched by the action of the savages and took pains to do what he could to soften their sorrow in the loss of their little one.

BILLETS

Billeters, Billetees And Billeeted

(By Captain J. A. F. Ozanne.) The billetter is the unhappy officer who is detailed to find accommodation for 800 men in billets that will hold only 600; the billetees are the inhabitants who provide hospitality to the strangers who abide for a brief season within their gates; and the billeeted are the fortunate ones who enjoy the fruits of the billetter's labors and show their gratitude by grousing whenever he comes within earshot.

name, is able to promise, in her mother's name, hospitality to thirty "other ranks" in the stables at the bottom of the field. There is also a small room for one officer. Billeting has its compensations, and you commander that room for yourself. And so on. It is weary work. You make arrangements at the best estimate in the village for a dinner for twelve officers. The resources of the landlady are limited, but there are lashings of bully beef coming along with the main body, and the omelette and tinned lobster with mayonnaise will do very well to begin with.

TEUTONS MOVING ARTILLERY TO THE HINDENBURG LINE

Fire of Enemy's Big Guns Dwindling on Southern Part of Front

BRITISH STILL GAIN Forcing Germans Back on Whole Front of 150 Miles

By Courier Leased Wire With the British Armies in France, Sept. 6.—Along the whole front from its southern extremity to the Baume-Cambrai road, the fire of the enemy's big guns is dwindling. This indicates that the Germans are making strenuous efforts to get their artillery behind the Hindenburg defenses.

The British have captured more posts around Havrincourt wood. In many places north of the Senese River the Germans are firing thousands of gas shells indiscriminately. The Germans launched three counter-attacks against Hill 62 in the Yva salient. Two were repulsed and once the British fell back to the north of the hill for a moment. Further north the British have reached the crest of the important ridge northeast of Wulverghem.

West of La Bassée the British have reached Canteleux and are pushing towards "Violaines." Many fires are raging and explosions are occurring over the whole area from which the Germans are retreating. Ploes lies on entire front. New York, Sept. 6.—The Associated Press today issues the following: Continuing their pressure along the front from Rheims to Ypres, the Allied forces are pushing back the Germans on virtually this entire 150-mile line.

Further north the enemy armies are still in retreat before the French and British, who are capturing town after town as they make rapid strides towards the line from which the German offensive of last March. Ham is most within the Allied grasp and Chauny is seriously threatened. The Americans have moved up along the Aisne, having the ground immediately south of the river. The Germans north of the stream appear inclined to halt temporarily, but are seen to be no question that they will speedily be forced to resume their backward march and not halt it again until their old line at the Chemin des Dames is reached.

Through the continued French progress on the German right flank north of the Aisne, however, even the Chemin des Dames, where they are virtually outflanked and the retreat may not stop short of the Aisne. The campaign for Cambrai has halted, as far as the push on the direct line for the city is concerned, but the advances which the Anglo-French forces are making along the line are calculated to work notably toward the success of the main drive. The Somme and the Canal Du Nord rivers have been passed in this sector, and the German stand back of the canal in the north may be rendered futile, as the enemy left flank on the canal line at Havrincourt is menaced by the drive further south. On the Flanders front, the British pressure seems likely to drive the Germans further than they apparently had intended going in their retirement. Field Marshal Haig's troops are pressing in upon Arrmentieres, both from the north and the south. Their thrust seems likely soon to be considered as threatening Lille, the great manufacturing centre of northern France, southwest of Arrmentieres.

In this sector, the British are moving east from Neuve Chapelle, and have pushed ahead at several points beyond the old German line. WESTERN CROP DAMAGE REPORTS GREATLY MAGNIFIED—WANT 10,000 HARVESTERS AT ONCE. Reports previously published regarding the damage by frost to the crops in Saskatchewan were unduly pessimistic. Frequent showers and favorable weather have changed the outlook and it is apparent that the great Province of Saskatchewan will have a normal crop. This is evidenced by Western demands for farm laborers as not less than 10,000 are required immediately for harvesting.

Every young man and those more mature, in every community in Ontario, including our own, should get away and can make this a great opportunity to serve the country in a practical way, and at the same time be of invaluable benefit to himself. It means an interesting, long distance journey at low fares, and a chance to see and study the immense new country served by the Canadian Northern—The People's Road. Final excursions, by Canadian Northern train, leave Toronto 10 p.m., August 28th, 30th, September 4th and 11th. Harvesters from outside points to use connecting trains to Toronto.

The Manitoba farmers are expected to receive eight million dollars for potatoes this year. The potato crop is estimated at ten million bushels, the largest ever produced.

STRATEGIC RAILWAYS.

Work Done by the Canadians Behind British Lines. Behind the new fighting line since the Germans' advance in April there has grown up a network of strategic railways making a formidable system, which more than compensates us for the loss of those lines we had to abandon and destroy in our retirement. Almost from the day the enemy crossed the Nord Canal practically every battalion of Canadian railway troops has been working ceaselessly at the task, some units acting as pioneers in the construction of the great defence line that causes the Germans to hesitate on this sector. Little French villages that never hoped for steel links with the larger cities have now become, as if by the rubbing of some magic Aladdin's lamp, great junctions where train loads of supplies come and go every part of an hour. The new lines run through the fertile fields of growing crops, but the Frenchman has saved for the necessary strip of permanent way. There are alternate routes back and forth, the tracks might shell, and day by day stores of carefully-concealed ammunition dumps grow up which are fed by the stragglers.

Speaking from a strategic point of view, said a railway staff officer, "we are in a better position to-day than we were on the Somme. The hundreds of miles of track that have been built especially for military use and conform with the fighting front. All possibilities have been considered. What, especially, we have saved are civilian-built lines which would tediously round the country by indirect routes, we now have a military system which takes out supplies in the quickest and most direct way to where they are needed. The latest German thrust gave us the first test of the system, and divisions were shifted with a rapidity that must have surprised the enemy."

In the same way some of the Canadian auxiliary troops have been working intelligently in the gun spurs behind the new front, from which the big howitzers pound the enemy positions. One battery from the Middle West has the record of construction, 12 of these in one week, and each one was cleverly camouflaged from the prying eyes of German airmen. From the new railheads, many of which have been christened with Canadian names, here start freshly-constructed light railway systems that wind their way through little valleys still screened from the enemy by the fine, new trenches which have not yet had to be used, and perhaps never will be. You cannot run trains over a line drawn in his assistance the railway engineers have to build scores of miles that might not be used. They must be there for an emergency.

The construction of the new British defences—railways play a prominent part—have been marvelously complete and have been so rapid that the Germans could take little breath for another stage of the attacks on this northern section, the fabric of a fortress faced them and great iron mounds, shaped like the "army" behind the army, has done its duty, and built well—even better than it destroyed in the sombre days at the end of March.

War Prices. An Indian in one of the Western reservations was in the habit of bringing to Mrs. Gray each spring several baskets of wild berries for which, from time immemorial, he had always charged fifty cents a basket. A few days ago he paid his annual visit to Mrs. Gray's back door. The maid took the berries and tendered the usual payment. The Indian shook his head. "One dollar a basket now," he said. The maid called her mistress and explained the difficulty. Much surprised Mrs. Gray asked for the money to the Indian, who once more refused to accept it. "The baskets are the same size as usual, are they not?" "Yes, those berries are fifty cents a basket enough?" The Indian shifted from one foot to another quite calmly. "Hell big dam war somewhere," he announced. "Berries $1 a basket now."

Back From the Dead. Howard G. Leighton, mentioned in a Canadian casualty list as having died on a battlefield in France, started his sister Mrs. G. Jones by appearing at her home in Pembroke, Mass., the other day. "I thought you were dead," was the sister's greeting. "Well, I thought so myself," the soldier replied. Leighton, who enlisted at Boston with a Canadian regiment, said he was pronounced dead, and the body ordered removed for burial. As he was being taken away stretcher-bearers noticed signs of life, he said, and took him to hospital, where he recovered. Notice of his death was conveyed to his family in March.

A Family Reunion. At Fenwick recently Mrs. Rebecca Smith celebrated her 95th birthday anniversary, surrounded by 160 relatives, including children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. Of her own family still living there were present Mrs. Swartz, 90; Mrs. Piper, 85, and Mr. Benjamin Lane, 81 years of age. A Strange Appeal. At Ingersoll recently a number of farmers were only dissuaded with difficulty from approaching the Duke of Devonshire with a request that he dismiss his controversial advisers over their steadfast devotion to the M.S.A. Lived Like Hermit. At the London Conference recently by Rev. J. F. Macdonald reported the finding of an aged minister, after 40 years' service, living in a single room and doing his own cooking.

MRS. HUTCHINSON SUFFERS 10 YEARS

Was Actually Afraid to Eat—Finds Relief at Last

"It is a positive fact that Tanlac brought me the very first relief I was ever able to get from anything I have taken during the past ten years," said Mrs. Lizzie Hutchinson, a life-time resident of Toronto, now living at 418 1-2 Spadina Avenue, the other day. "I first noticed my trouble coming on about ten years ago," she continued, "and till I started on Tanlac a few weeks ago I was never free from that terrible indigestion. I had no appetite, and what little I forced down soured on my stomach, and formed so much gas that it pressed up against my heart till I felt just like I was going to smother. Many a time I have rushed out of the house gasping for breath and some one would have to pound on my back to get the gas off my stomach. I suffered such agonies at times that I became actually afraid to eat anything. I lost over twenty pounds in weight and was in an awful condition when I started on Tanlac. I tried all kinds of medicines but nothing helped me at all, and I finally decided to try Tanlac. I have taken several bottles, and have a splendid appetite now. I can eat most anything I want, and am never troubled the least bit with gas, and for the first time in ten years I am perfectly free from indigestion. I have gained several pounds and nearly every day some friend tells me how much better I am looking. I certainly do feel fine, for Tanlac has relieved me entirely of that terrible stomach trouble, and I think so much of this wonderful medicine that I have already recommended it to many of my friends."

Tanlac is sold in Brantford by Robertson Drug Store; in Paris by Appa Ltd.; in Mr. Vernon by A. Tomlinson; in Midland by William Peattie; in Onondaga by Neil McPhaden. Rippling Rhymes. I travel much in autos; by woods and fields and prairie I take my stately way. I travel much in highway builders blow in our hard earned guilders on roads that do not pay. They're always fixing, fixing, the dirt and rubble mixing, all summer they have toiled; and there, there comes a torrent—the fact is most adroit—and all their work is spoiled. Their road is washed to thunder and they cease their blunder, they build it up again; they cut their bootless capers with graters and with scrapers, misguided sons of men. The roads are dragged and graded, and mended and spaded, and when it rains they're done; the money that's been squandered on roads, o'er which I've wandered, in gold, would weigh a ton. Our roads are dreary fizzes, although with planes and chisels we smooth them, year by year; for money always calling, they're good till rain is falling, and then they disappear; when spring war is called methinks it will be splendid if we get down to tacks, and build some modern highways, forsaking muddy byways, and rutty cattle tracks. I travel much in motors and oft I see the voters sunk shoulders deep in mud; respect for morals losing, the language they are using would freeze a purist's blood.

CHILD'S OUTDOOR SLEEPING ROBE. By Anabel Worthington. Children should be well protected from draughts while they are sleeping, and as it is rather difficult to keep the covers in place on a restless youngster, one of these sleeping robes will solve the problem very nicely. No. 8986 may be worn by either boys or girls, and it is suitable for children from one to twelve years. The garment buttons down the front and also across the waistline at the back just like night drawers. The shaped hood is attached to the neck. The sleeves may be pulled in on drawstrings to protect the hands or they may be rolled back to form cuffs. The children's outdoor sleeping robe No. 8986 is cut in seven sizes—1 to 12 years. The 8 year size requires 4 yards 27 inch or 2 3/4 yards of 36 inch material. Price, 10 cents. To Obtain This Pattern Send 15c to The Courier Office, or two for 25c.
