THE LATE MRS. SADLIER. Had Mrs. Sadlier, whose death we chronicle to-day, bestowed upon general literature the gifts which she reserved wholly for her own religion and race, the world would doubtless have honored her accordingly. That she remained true to her mission late as well as early in life was the test of her genius. All too rapidly is the Philistine opinion developing nowadays that the Catholic writer of worth has no call to live within the Catholic pale. The republic of Letters is Catholic enough for the most Catholic. Let genius prove itself, and then the world will not deny its message. The Catholic writer can be true to himself and at the same time as renowned among men as the Catholic painter. But it is really not worth while to question very closely whether this is so or not. To the man or woman with a high calling success must necessarily be the secondary consideration. Vocation is neither its achievement. Whether success be of Toronto have grown accustomed great or moderate the laborer came when the Master voice called. Truly Mrs. Sadlier heard and answered the call in the first hour of the day. And her toil continued to the last hour. THE P. P. A. MOVEMENT.

Editor Register:

Dear Sir-In Monday's Globe noticed the portrait and sketch of F. C. Wade, K.C., one of the Canadian ounsel on the Alaska Boundary Commission. I write to ask, Mr. Editor, is this the same Mr. Wade whose name was prominently connected a few years ago with the P. P. A. that name reported as going from town to town, as it were, announcing that Protestantism was in danger, and thus setting neighbor against neighbor. If it happens to be the same Mr. Wade he certainly has made good use of his time since the change of Government in 1896; or, as our late lamented friend Mr. Patrick Boyle, of The Irish Canadian, would say, he has "waded in well."

Yours truly, NO HUMBUG.

The foregoing letter is from the pen of a prominent Catholic Liberal. The Mr. Wade upon whom honors are now being showered is the same Mr. Wade to whose near past our correspondent alludes. But Catholic Liberals may well afford to let the dead past bury its dead-if they are but sure that the interment has taken place. Not having attended the funeral ourselves we cannot say whether the P.P.A. movement was actually handed over to the grave-digger. Perhaps some of our readers may happen to have seen the funeral pass and can inform us concerning it.

Since the above was written we have seen a report of Mr. Carey's remarks in The Mail and Empire. This version of his speech says The Register intimated that "the Board had a corner in books and school pecessities." Without questioning whether The Mail and Empire's report is correct or not, we may at once dismiss any such absurd misrepresentation. The article in The Register said the exact contrary. It said that whilst the Board "displays an utter indifference" as to how the children procure their supplies, they will be victimized by being compelled to buy school necessaries in the hundred and one small stationery stores of the city. A FRIEND SUGGESTS.

Total abstainers should not allow the laxity which is becoming almost characteristic of our people to creep into their association with our glorious cause. The hard work has always been left to a few, and the many have reaped the benefit. Why cannot the enthusiasm which marks alive until the opening of the next? So many resolutions are made! The Breakfast Food Fac.

Discussing the breakfast food fad, a writer in an English exchange says: with me that the game is really one of the imagination. Indeed, in the breakfast food craze I see the one path to fortune left open to the craftsman of pure letters.

Breakfast Food" printed in a field of white. Stage number one: the imagination is awakened.

Second, I would, retaining the same Stage number two: curiosity is excited. Third, I would take away my oak tree, and in type of simple boldne

And this completes stage number three, which would set all the world of breakfast-food eaters agog.

But the serious affair of fortune would be the fourth stage. I should stand or fall by that. Here it is, only you are to suppose it bursting on the world in halfpage displayed advertisements in every daily newspaper:

ABOUT OAKS. English Oak is strength and sub-stance. It is stouter and lasts longer than any other wood. There is more strength in an Oak than in an Ox or an Oat. Then why not EAT OAKS?

YOUR BREAKFAST does not satisfy you. Why? Because your day's work is built on your breakfast, and you cannot safely build on sand— you must use timber. All Breakfast Foods except ours are like sand; they support energy for an hour or two and then Sink Away, leaving a sudden vacancy and weakness. But Oaken timber does not sink, and we have invented a new Food that has all the supporting strength of the stoutest timber. Try it. It will support you.
