CONCERT HELD
IMMANUEL CHURCH

Local Talent Delighted a Large Audience - The Programme.

At Immanuel Baptist Church, the Delta Alpha class held a concert last evening, the different numbers being given by local talent.

A dialogue "Faithful unto Death" was put on by Miss Wood, Miss Pace, Miss Bowden, Mrs. Loney and Mrs. Jennings, concluded by the singing of "Heaven is my Home," which was very impressive.

A ladies' quartette consisting of Mrs. J. Wood, Mrs. Loney, Mrs. Bothman and Mrs. D. Cunningham sang "Beautiful Land," which was well received.

Mrs. J. Wood sang a solo and Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Cunningham sang a duet.

Mr. Ansell and Mr. J. Nicholson played together on mandolin and violin, which number was greatly enjoyed.

A good number were present and all were delighted with the concert.

In the first six months of 1913 a Swedish factory made and sold 50,000,000 cigarettes.

A Kitchen Shower

A very pleasant time was spent last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Watt, Dalhousie Street, when their neighbors and friends gathered and presented Mr. and Mrs. Swartz (nee Miss Della Daniel), with a kitchen shower. A very sumptuous "old time" supper then was served, after which music and singing and readings were very much enjoyed by all.

John W. Laidlaw, Reeve of Westminster township, has accepted the nomination as candidate of the East Middlesex Temperance Alliance for the provincial bye-election.

Concert

House Under Auspices of S. O. E.

Owen A. Smiley captured his audience last night, on the occasion of a splendid concert promoted by the Brantford district of the Sons of England, held in the Victoria Hall.

He cleverly satirized many nations, particularly the Scotch in an ingenious little rhyme dealing with national characteristics. As a poem of the unexpected, "The Demon Ship," is surprising; the change, as depicted by Mr. Smiley from tragedy to comedy being certainly novel. Other, among his successes, were an amusing story of a troupe. In this story, the entertainer gave variations, and the scope of his ability, was no less marked than his acting.

As a sweet singer of sweet songs, Mrs. A. L. Burch was a great success. Her rendering of "The Bonny Blue Kerchief," "The Floral Dance," and others, were encored repeatedly.

James E. Fildes, possesses a resonant voice of remarkable range and the songs by him aroused the patriotism of the S. O. E. to enthusiasm.

Last, but not least, Mr. F. C. Thomas, F. C. G. O., L. R. A. M., accompanied in skillful manner on the piano and much of the evening's success was due to the manner and effect of his work.

As the large audience left for home there was only one opinion expressed and that was "splendid."

Miss Hardy's Coming Out

One of the most notable social events ever occurring in Brantford, took place yesterday afternoon, when Gladys Hardy, only daughter of Judge and Mrs. Hardy, celebrated her coming out reception. The event took place at the Conservatory of Music, and there was a very large attendance. Mrs. Hardy was attired in a dress of black lace over champagne, and Miss Hardy wore a white champagne costume with a lace over dress. Both carried handsome bouquets of flowers. The reception hall was beautifully decorated and on the platform behind palms and ferns, the Darwin orchestra rendered a fine musical program. Judge Hardy, as usual, made a most delightful host. Those presiding at the refreshment tables were Mrs. H. McKay Wilson, Mrs. F. D. Reville, Mrs. H. R. Yates, Mrs. R. H. Reville, Mrs. E. L. Good and Mrs. A. J. Wilkes. The waitresses were Misses Dorothy Wilkes, Gretchen Dunstan, Adelaide Montizambert, Nora Wallace, Marion Watt, and Gwendolyn Wilkes.

PLEASING EVENT AT ST. JUDE'S CHURCH

Concert Held Last Evening for Benefit of the Choir.

A most pleasing event transpired in the Sunday School room of St. Jude's Church last evening in the form of a concert, for the benefit of the choir. The artists who took part rendered their numbers in a most pleasing manner and were loudly encored by the large gathering that were present.

The programme consisted of the following numbers:

Anthem by choir; solos, Miss E. Cornelius; Mr. E. Roberts; Miss J. Cornelius; Mr. N. McLeod; readings, Mr. R. T. Hall; cornet solos, Mr. Miskelly; quartets, Messrs. Jago, Johnson, McLeod, Glanville; trio, Misses E. and J. Cornelius and Mr. E. Roberts.

Mr. J. H. Spence occupied the chair, and the sentiments he expressed in the Chairman's address were much appreciated by all.

Mr. Percy Farnsworth, the able and efficient leader of the choir, is to be congratulated on the efficiency of the choir has attained under his leadership. Ted Foster and J. Cornelius were the accompanists of the evening.

The programme was brought to a close after the moving by Mr. J. Broadbent, in a neat speech, of a hearty vote of thanks to all who had so ably taken part to make the concert such a success, which was condensed in a short speech by Mr. W. B. Scare, approved by loud applause from the audience.

The meeting dispersed after singing the National Anthem.

Refreshments were served immediately after to all who took part in the programme.

Local Council of Women Meet

A largely attended meeting of the local council of women in connection with the National Council, was held in the board room of the public library on Wednesday afternoon. Representatives were present from the affiliated societies, including the Hospital Aid, Victorian Order, Women's Institute, Widows' Home, Daughters of the Empire, Y. W. C. A. Auxiliary, Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary and District Missionary, also the societies in connection with the different churches, each giving a report of the work done during the past year. Mrs. A. D. Hardy presided. A Surprise Party

A surprise party was given last Tuesday night to Miss Annie Henderson at her home 271 Darling St. It was the occasion of her birthday and a number of her friends of the Calvary Baptist church took this way of showing their appreciation and esteem. This was expressed in a few appropriate words by Rev. W. E. Bawyer who on behalf of the company presented her with a bouquet of roses. The occasion was the more happy because Miss Lena Simpson was also remembered. Mrs. Bowyer presented her with a bouquet of roses, at the same time taking the opportunity of speaking of the high regard in which Miss Simpson is held. Games and refreshments and a general social time passed a most pleasant evening.

The recipients of the good wishes and the flowers were completely surprised, but responded gracefully.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR HIS INJURED FEELINGS

he had ample opportunity to interfere. The story that Wooden ran from the plaintiff that same evening when the plaintiff claims he surprised Wooden and his wife. Craig had claimed that he got home in 20 minutes and found his wife had retired. It was not considered possible by Mr. Harley that Mrs. Craig could have fled from the scene and got home and retired by the time Craig got home. Thomas Lotteridge, who was with the defendant, had sworn that Wooden had not spoken to a woman, and he was with him until 9.30. Mr. Harley held that Mrs. Craig, if she had been guilty of impropriety, would not have laced her husband as she did when he came home in a rage.

She had been put out of the house and because she had no place to go, went to the restaurant and Mr. Wooden had gone good for her board. She later went to the Y. W. C. A. to board and upon leaving there had gone to the Dalhousie street boarding house. The carrying of Mrs. Craig's valise by Mr. Wooden was only a gallant act, and an act which the plaintiff lawyer would no doubt have performed.

The alleged heartiness of Craig in selling the household effects, when Mrs. Craig's clothes and the wedding presents was dealt with. The indignity of being taken in the patrol was touched upon, and he confused the address by dealing with the serious position Mr. Wooden was in.

Mr. Hollinrake.
Mr. Hollinrake made a decidedly able address. He said that it had been rightly said that a man's home was his castle. A man had a right to the society and service of his wife. They had been married 25 years and had lived happily until Wooden made his appearance two years ago. Mr. Hollinrake dwelt for some time upon the statement of Mrs. Craig that her husband was indolent. He brought up the fact that the plaintiff had only been absent from work eight half days during nine years he had been employed with the Massey-Harris Co. While his client was working hard his wife was around with Wooden. He told his men that Mrs. Craig was a cousin and he stated in court that she was not. Mr. Hollinrake said the jury had heard the evidence of Mr. Alfred Allman who stated that Wooden would absent himself from the work morning and afternoon; also the evidence of Mrs. Simons. Mr. Hollinrake made a point of the fact that Wooden did not go to see Mrs. Craig in the evening or at meal time when her husband would be at home. The finding of Wooden and Mrs. Craig going along Greenwich street arm in arm was dealt with. Mrs. Craig had said that her husband was indolent, but she must admit that the money he earned and Wooden got the change over and above the bills. "How much whiskey can a man buy for 10 or 15 cents?" asked Mr. Hollinrake. He set out that his client put up with Mrs. Craig's actions because one of their daughters was about to be married. Mr. Hollinrake dealt with the meeting at Market sheds and all that resulted. When Mrs. Craig left the Y. W. C. A. to go to the Dalhousie street boarding house she went through Victoria Park meeting Wooden in the Park. To go through the park was out of the way. This

Mr. Hollinrake stated that she had said that her husband was drunk at the police station the night the two were taken in, following the Dalhousie St. row.

Mr. Hollinrake stated that Sgt. Donnelly said it was not so. The witness retorted that her husband was always drunk.

Mr. Hollinrake stated that Mr. Craig had worked at the Massey-Harris Co nine years, and he wanted to know from the witness if the company would keep a man of that sort.

When the witness was asked if Craig abused her, she said he was not man enough to hit her but pinched her.

Mr. Hollinrake thought probably Mr. Craig was tickling her. Mrs. Craig claimed her husband was drinking and his wages did her very little good.

Mr. Hollinrake told the witness that the superintendent of the company was in court and had informed him that Craig was a good worker. While in Hamilton, she had spent a day and a night at her sister's house. Mr. Hollinrake said that her sister had told her to leave.

She said her sister sometimes tells what is not so. While in Hamilton, she had worked at the hospital and at the beach. She could not remember the name of the parties for whom she had worked at the beach in Hamilton. The witness said she had worked in a Hamilton laundry for two weeks, but could not tell the name of the people she worked for, and was very hazy as to the location of the laundry. However it was on James St.

When asked if yesterday morning she had come out of the Belmont Hotel where she was staying; she denied that she had come out with Wooden.

Mrs. Craig Cross-Examined.
Mrs. Craig went to McHutchions store to get something to eat after leaving Wooden at the Market sheds.

Mr. Hollinrake asked her if she did not remember saying at the police court that she went to the Wilkes house. She could not remember making the statement at the police court.

She saw Mr. Craig at the Market sheds. Mrs. Craig claimed that her husband abused her because he saw her talking with Wooden. She had been forbidden by her husband to speak to Wooden. After she left home she went to the restaurant.

When asked why she went to the Duke of Connaught restaurant, she said that she had to have some place to sleep. She did not know they kept roomers, and Mr. Hollinrake asked why she went there. She knew they kept boarders. When asked if she knew Wooden was there, she said she might have heard it said that Wooden was there.

"Did you go to that place because you knew Wooden was there?" She did not answer this question. "As a matter of fact you are getting in pretty deep Mrs. Craig."

She went from her own home straight to the restaurant and there found Mr. Wooden. She flatly denied any improper actions. The witness left there because it was no place for a woman. She denied that she and Mr. Wooden went to the Dalhousie St. boarding house. She however engaged a room and went back to the Y. W. C. A.

Despite the fact that crossing the park was not en route to the boarding house, she met Wooden in the centre. This was brought out by Mr. Hollinrake.

His Mother's Letter Throbbled With Love

Alan Dodson Met Death With a Peaceful Smile—Letter Found on Dead Sailor's Clothing

ST. JOSEPH, Nov. 14.—Among the seven bodies that have floated before from the Westford between here and Grand Bend, is that of Alan Dodson thought to be of Collingwood. He was a young fellow of about 25 or 30 years of age and his features different from those of his ill-fated shipmates in that a perfect smile rested upon them, as if he had seen his fate, but had been thoughtfully prepared to meet his Maker.

Two persons seemed to have had strange forebodings of the evil to come, according to letters almost indecipherable owing to the action of the water upon them. One was his mother in the Old Country, and the other was "Hattie" of Collingwood, his sweetheart or his wife.

The letter from his mother is a heart-throbbing human epistle breathing out in every word a mother's love for her boy. It was dated from Glen Raj, 4 St. George's Place, Brighton, June 23, 1913. This was probably a holiday address, as the note paper is embossed "Howick, Lesbury, Northumberland." The hand writing and general composition of the communication is that of a well-educated refined lady. It reads as follows:

"Dearest Alan, I wonder when I am to hear from you. You have no idea how sad it makes me. You see I have lost so much. Put yourself in my place, Alan. Think how much you boys are to me. I am separated from you all. Life alone is only endurance. It makes me so anxious about you. I imagine all the different horrors that may be wrought with you. If only you would write regularly. It makes all the difference in the world to my life. I would write to Hattie but did not bring her address. How does she manage without you?"

"I wish you were not on a boat. You must miss so many of the beautiful things of life. I went to a very beautiful service yesterday. The sermon was 'Be ye perfect, as your Father in heaven is perfect.' God's blessing on my boy. Fondest love from your loving mother, C. Dodson.

The letter to Dodson from Collingwood had been written in copying ink, and was rendered partly unrecognizable but for one or two words here and there. The letter bore the date of Oct. 2, 1913. "We got your three letters this afternoon," it says in one part. "Sweetheart, I enjoy them so much. Just think, not hearing from you three weeks except your cards. But I don't blame you. Alan, but you know how glad I am to get your letters. They were just fine. I did not like to hear you were so downhearted. Cheer up. It is near the end of October and you will soon be home."

Captain Basset did not know Dodson and thought he must have been a new hand on the Westford.

PRINCE ALBERT NOW
THE BRITISH FAVORITE

Too Bashful, But Clever at Outdoor Sports, and Democratic.

LONDON, Nov. —The number of people here who regret that Prince Albert is not the heir to the British throne is daily increasing. While the oldest son of the king and queen seems to grow more and more peevish, and his bashfulness is almost abnormal, Prince Albert possesses all the qualities which the English people admire. Democratic in all his ways, Prince Albert is a great lover of sport and is becoming quite an expert football player.

Self Sacrifice.

"I saw a shocking performance at the theatre! I'm warning all my friends to keep away."

"Indeed? What was it like?"
"I don't remember some of it.
I'm going again that I can warn my friends more intelligently." Washington Star.

SAGE TEA PUTS LIFE
AND COLOR IN HAIR

Sage Tea Puts Life and Color
Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can Tell.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair, so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications
the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days. Agent, Geo.
