Kinship.

There's a figure in the trenches
Hollow'd cheek'd and anxious eyed,
With the spectre of extinction
Staring over by his side,
And he hasn't time for morals,
Or to think about his soul,
He's too occupied with business,
Keeping mind and body whole,
But it's not his fault he's fighting
In this Armageddon grim—
Liberty called to the trumpet,
And the Kinship call'd to him,
And his wounds are torn for others,
Bleeding flesh and shattered bone—
He is suffering for evil,
Though the sin is not his own,
There's a woman in a kitchen
Fiddling through her daily grind,
With the horror of the trenches
Ever present to her mind,
And she tries to see the papers
For a certain column there,
Keats the names with apprehension,
Reads each item with a prayer,
Dreads a telegram or letter,
Trembles as she waits alone—
She is suffering for evil,
Though the sin is not his own!
There's a figure on a hilltop
Heaving on a Cross of shame,
While the rabble surging round him
Mock the wound and cure his name;
Crucified with malefactor,
He, who once refused a throne,
He is suffering for evil,
Though the sin is not his own!
Ye who hear the nations struggle
Thinking Freedom highly priced,
Ye have kinship with the Master,
Ye are suffering with Christ!

The Duty of Economy.

Genuine economy is always in season. It is good at all times, both for the persons who practice it and for the community in which it is practiced. In time of war it is not better than at other times, but we can then less afford to do without it. If there has been good domestic husbandry in times of peace, the financial resources of the State will be in a condition of preparedness against the time of war. In the presence of war the State will not have to resort to extraordinary retrenchments, to emergency measures for filling up the war chest, to currency inflation or to the levelling of the private expenditure of the citizens. At any time anything more or less than true economy is bad. But what would be true economy at one time might be extravagance or parsimony at another. Both the miser and the spendthrift are abnormal. Relatively few people are either, but still less one way or the other. The great majority have a sane idea as to how they should use their buying power, however much they come short of living up to that idea.

At the present time the main purpose to which our capital and labor can be employed is the defence of our country and Empire. No other asset we have would be of value were the possession of these all-embracing ones to be lost.

We must be prepared to stake everything on this war. What sacrifice, what self-denial is too great to ask of the patriot when his country is in danger? How light a self-discipline is it to give up one's country this luxury or that, to forego one small pleasure here and another there, to put aside accessories of ease, and to save for the public good? But economy never consists in abstinence from buying. Canada's people would not long serve her in the struggle, would not long be able to invigorate her armies of war if they put themselves under a vow to make their private spending as meagre as possible in order to hoard their funds for the service of the State.

At all times every citizen ought to manage so as to save something out of his earnings to contribute to the accumulation of capital, but of what national use would a store of capital be if people spent very grudgingly? There would be little industrial or commercial business for capital in a country where people were niggardly buyers. The hypothesis itself is out of the question, because capital could not be accumulated by saving in a community where there was next to no spending. A nation's financial strength is like any other force. It is not a thing that can be chained up and fed up in idleness. It has this in common with organic life, that it must carry on its functions or go out of existence. It renews itself by its healthy expenditure. If we stopped spending on private account we should soon stop spending on public account, for we would not have the wherewithal. There would not be the financial means for carrying on the war.

At all times production is an economic duty. At the present time it is the highest war duty of our non-combatants. But in order to keep on producing and providing for the men at the front our people at home must produce as much as possible for themselves and for customers in other countries who are friendly to us, says the Mail and Empire. We must produce so simply for ourselves as to provide in that way as far as possible for wants formerly satisfied by importation, and we must produce so as to increase as much as possible the surplus we have for export. The international circulation of money is now very limited. Our supply of money is not soon to be greatly replenished from abroad. The money current has, so to speak, become short circuited. That is a consequence of the war. We must make the circulation

The Pure Seed Campaign.

Year by year the importance of pure seed is being more and more recognized. Anything, therefore, of a helpful nature bearing on the subject is welcome, but when results are forthcoming from widespread and actively pursued experience then we have something of which every farmer, every grain grower, everybody interested in agriculture or in any kind of soil production, should possess a knowledge. Of such character is the Report of the Dominion Seed Commission for 1914, which has just been issued, and which can be had free by making application to the Publication Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The work of the Seed Branch, the Commissioner, Mr. George H. Clark, tells us falls naturally into three main parts—seed growing, seed testing and seed inspection. Seed growing includes educational and other work directed towards encouraging the production and use of better seed. For this purpose financial and other assistance is rendered by the Dominion towards conducting field crop competitions, seed fairs and provincial seed exhibitions. A statement of the amounts earned by the provinces under this heading in 1913-14 is as follows: Prince Edward Island, $900 19; Nova Scotia, $1,743 11; New Brunswick, $1,051 66; Quebec, $4,522 27; Ontario, $9,399 42; Manitoba, $2,292 37; Saskatchewan, $3,717 52; Alberta, $3,658 98; and British Columbia, 1,000, making a total of $28,285 22.

Apart from these subventions, the Branch is rendering service in many ways. Information has been secured in regard to the purity and germination of seed grain being used by farmers. Other problems in relation to seed production, such as weed seed content of soil under different systems of cultivation, and the disposition, weed seed control, and feeding value of terminal elevator screenings, are being investigated.

Seed testing involves the analysis of samples which are sent to the laboratories at Ottawa and Calgary by seed merchants and farmers and investigated by experiment.

Seed inspection involves the enforcement of the law governing the sale of seed, the visiting of seed merchants and farmers and the furnishing of information regarding the Seed Control Act. For this work the permanent district officers who are employed by temporary inspectors who are employed during the busy season of the seed trade. The Commissioner is able to announce that with very few exceptions seed dealers, both wholesale and retail, are doing their best to conduct business in conformity with the Act, and that there has been a marked improvement in the trade and a gradual decrease in the violations in proportion to the number of dealers and farmers whose seed has been inspected.

The Report supplies a comprehensive summary of information obtained by inquiry regarding the wheat, oats, barley and flax being used for seed in Canada; reviews of the corn situation and timothy seed production and fall details, with tables of results, of seed testing operations. A great deal of attention is given to noxious weed seeds, the different kinds that are found in different circumstances being fully set forth.

Eczeema and Sore Eyes.
"My daughter suffered from inflamed eyelids and eczeema on her head," writes Mr. H. W. Lear, Port Pleasant, Nfld. "The child was in a bad state and suffered greatly. The doctor failed to help her, and on the recommendation of a friend, I used Dr. Chase's Ointment which made a complete cure. With a grateful heart I write you this letter."

World's Champion Cow.
The world's championship for the production of butter fat by a single cow in a year has been won by Duchess Skylark Ormsby, a Holstein-Friesian, according to announcement made at Minneapolis. The cow produced a total of 1,205.691 pounds of butter fat; gave 27,161.7 pounds of milk in the year; gave 558.1 pounds of milk and 24.35 pounds of butter in seven days; maintained an average butter fat record of 4.32 per cent; average but not twenty pounds of grain a day, consumed only grains within practical reach of every dairyman and remained in perfect health throughout the test period. The tests were made on a farm near this city under the supervision of experts from the Wisconsin and Minnesota experimental stations.

Run-down Woman.
Made Strong By Our Vinol
"Fort Edward, N. Y.—'I was in a run-down, nervous and weak condition, so I could not do the housework for my little family of three. I had taken me liver pills, but they did not remove with-out benefit. A friend told me about Vinol. I tried it and it soon built up my strength and made me a well woman so I now do all of my housework.'—Mrs. Emma Gladden.
We guarantee Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, for all run-down, weak and debilitated conditions.

The Present Condition of the Canadian Egg Market.

For the first time in a number of years eggs have taken a prominent place in Canada's export trade. This is largely due to the unprecedented demand for eggs on the part of the British market and the fact that British dealers have shown a marked preference for Canadian eggs over United States eggs and a willingness to pay a distinctly higher price for them.

So great in fact has been the demand that Canadian dealers have shipped practically all of the available Canadian storage product to the Old Country. As a result there is not in Canada at the present time, sufficient eggs in storage to supply home consumption until fresh receipts in appreciable quantities begin to come in.

Quantities of eggs from the United States, however, are being imported into Canada, some in bond for export, but the larger part to take the place of the Canadian product above mentioned. United States eggs can be laid down in Canada at the present time, duty paid, at several cents per dozen less than the price at which Canadian eggs are selling for export and they should be procurable by the consumers accordingly.

On the other hand the Canadian market at the present time is very firm for Canadian 'specials' (new laid) production of which is not enough in most instances to supply the demand at local country markets. This means that high prices will have to be paid in consuming centres in order to draw a portion of these supplies from local points. Producers may therefore definitely expect reasonably high prices during the period of low production for fresh gathered eggs that will grade 'specials.'

The question that has been raised as to whether the phenomenal demand on the part of the British market for Canadian eggs will continue. This depends entirely upon the quality of Canadian eggs exported. Canada has tremendous possibilities as an egg producing country. The poultry industry is at present a mere fraction of what it might be. It remains, therefore, for those most interested in the development of this trade to make the best possible use of their present opportunities, and by careful supervision of the quality of Canadian eggs going forward to pave the way or an extensive and profitable export trade in the future.

A Way to Keep Young.

A woman should never let herself get old prematurely. Some women think that when they reach a certain age they should wear clothes that emphasize their years. This is a great mistake. A woman so matter what her age is, should keep up with the times, and dress as well as possible. One of the main factors, however, in keeping young is to have a young heart and a cheerful disposition. Women should try to make a habit of not losing their temper unnecessarily as every bad humor adds to their age. To be sweet tempered and to be careful about details and appearance is the secret of a way to keep attractive looking and charming.

Apples for Drunkenness.

A physician of experience gives the following testimony that is well worth considering. "For ten years," he says, "I have advocated apple as a cure for drunkenness. In that time I have tried the apple cure on some forty or fifty drunkards, and my success has been most gratifying. Let any man afflicted with the love of drink eat three or four apples daily, and the horrible craving will gradually leave him. The cure will be greatly helped along if he smokes as little as possible."

Christmas Cake Without Eggs.

Two pounds brown sugar, 1 lb. butter, 1 1/2 pints sweet milk, 1 oz. soda, 1 oz. cream of tartar, 1/2 lb. mixed peel, 2 oz. cinnamon, 2 nutmegs, 3 lbs. flour, 2 lbs. currants, 1/2 lbs. raisins. Bake in three pans, first letting stand for half an hour. A nice cake for lunch is made by taking a good tea cake dough and rolling thin, cut in round pieces and place bits of preserves or jelly on one side. Fold the other side over this and press the edges together and bake.

Editorial Brevities

Application of the Licensed Victuallers of St. John's, Nfld., to the Supreme Court, a re-count of the ballots cast in the late prohibition contest has been granted.

A distinguished Chicago professor in an address given in Boston this week thus refers to one of our soldier boys: "I have a nephew and namesake in the trenches of France—a son of a graduate of Newton—I have been reading some of the letters he has been writing to his mother. He is not worrying about how long he is going to live. He knows that his life may go out any day. He is ready for that. He has given his life for his country. But he is very much concerned that while he lives he shall be a good soldier, with a clean and a courageous heart. And he is greatly concerned as to what the outcome of the war shall be, and what is true of him is true of thousands of others. War is terrible but it has a way of making strong men out of boys who see in it the struggle of great ideas and are willing to die for those ideas.

Some Apparent Contradictions in Soil Cultivation.

Early and frequent cultivation, say the scientists, will conserve soil moisture. Many a farmer has proved the correctness of this assertion. Such farmers have plowed and harrowed their land early in the spring. They have cultivated their potatoes and roots frequently through the summer and have seen them flourish during weeks of dry weather when their neighbors' less thoroughly cultivated plants were withering under the rays of the sun.

Does there seem to be a contradiction in these statements of the scientists—cultivation to save moisture and cultivation to dry out a soil? Yes, there does, but the explanation is not hard. Perhaps every reader of this paragraph understands the apparent contradiction. Certainly everyone who has studied the principles of soil cultivation could explain it.

The study of the soil is full of interesting problems of this kind and their solution affects the practical work of the farmer every season. A splendid opportunity for this study will be afforded at the Short Course to be held at Truro from January 4-14 next. Write to Principal Cumming, Truro, for particulars.

Postage on Parcels For Soldier Boys.

The Honorable T. Chase Casgrain, Postmaster General of Canada, has been successful, as a result of negotiations entered into with the Imperial Postal Authorities, in effecting an arrangement with the British Government whereby parcels from Canada for Canadian soldiers in France and Flanders will be carried at the same rate of postage as applies to parcels from the United Kingdom for the Expeditionary Forces on the Continent; that is, for parcels weighing up to three pounds, 24 cents; for parcels weighing over three pounds and not more than seven pounds, 32 cents; for parcels weighing over seven pounds and not more than eleven pounds, 38 cents.

This means a material reduction on the cost of parcels, and it is hoped it will be a source of satisfaction to the Canadian public. This reduction has been brought about by Canada foregoing all postal charges for the conveyance of these parcels in Canada and on the Atlantic.

The public are reminded, however, in accordance with the circular issued by the Department recently, that until further notice, no parcel can be sent weighing over seven pounds.

"THE SLEEPING FOX CATCHES NO POULTRY"

The merchant who does not advertise catches no trade. He is fortunate if he can retain what he has, because he is never progressive, so his more alert competitors who do advertise, gradually get all the business. Advertising is an evidence of alertness and generally the advertiser gives better value and prompt service. As a consequence he seldom has shell-worn goods to dispose of. Wolfville Violinist Scores Another Big Success.

Hector Charlesworth, the musical editor of 'Saturday Night,' has the following to say of Miss Starr's recital in Massey Hall, where three thousand people assembled to hear the young Canadian artist in her second appearance in Toronto:

Miss Evelyn Starr is one of those Canadians lucky enough to secure critical approbation in Europe, and in London and New York before challenging the criticism of her fellow countrymen—and in her concert last Monday night she more than justified all that has been said of her elsewhere. In certain elements of her art she stands above criticism—that is to say, if she always plays as well as she did in the latter part of her program at Massey Hall. In the matter of execution she is entirely impeccable, and though her tone is lighter than that of some noted violinists now before the public, it has a classic purity and elegance that delight one personally more than flashy temperamental displays. Her master, Leopold Auer, of Petrograd, now appears to be top-dog in the matter of violin instruction. So long as the Russian master continues to send forth from his studio such artists as Evelyn Starr, he will justify his vogue. She is equally at home in the rarefied atmosphere of Beethoven and in the colorful domain of Wieniawski.

It is, perhaps, because the writer has heard so little playing in the sober classic mode of late years that he is so delighted in Miss Starr's renderings of the Beethoven romances and of the Mendelssohn Concerto. In describing her tone as pure and classic, one does not mean that it is frigid; it is, in truth poetic and infused with a delicate warmth. This was made apparent in her first number, a Concerto in E minor dated 1760 from the pen of Pietro Nardini. It is a composition which has all the main characteristics of the old Italian school of violin music—delicacy of conception, a graceful weaving out of themes—in short a general expression of a detached and placid attitude toward life. The Andante movement is singularly appealing, and in this Miss Starr displayed a gift for cantabile playing that was ravishing. The Beethoven Romances in F and G she interpreted with a wealth of delicate nuancing and a refined emotional feeling that made them exquisitely satisfying. The Mendelssohn Concerto is familiar to all of us as the test piece of every student who essays the higher order of violin playing, and in it Miss Starr attained a gracious perfection. One has heard it played with greater breadth of tone, but never with more intimate and meticulous appreciation of its beauties. In the most rapid passage she never slurs a note, and the delicate tracery of the ornamental passages with which the first and last movements abound was defined with a silvery clearness that was entrancing. As an example of virtuosity her rendering of Wieniawski's 'Sonata in G' was remarkable. Though the chief melody is beautiful and infectious the decorations which Wieniawski devised to show his own brilliance as an executant are meretricious compared with those heard in the German classics alluded to, but they call for the highest order of technical skill. Miss Starr's rendering was absolutely flawless and her harmonies were almost inspired in their sweetness and purity. She was obliged to give two encores and responded with a charming little Gavotte by Gossek and a transcription of Stephen Foster's lovely air, 'Way Down upon the Swanee River' that possessed unusual distinction.—Saturday Night Toronto, Dec. 11th, 1915.

Personal Mention.

(Contributions to this department will be gladly received.) Mrs. (Dr.) Soley, of Niche, North Dakota, arrived in town on Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Woodman.

Universities Companies.

The Universities' Companies are now well known throughout Canada. A fresh company is raised, equipped and partially trained about every two months, and it is unnecessary to advertise for recruits inasmuch as each company is made up of brothers or relatives or friends of those who have joined previous companies.

The first company under the command of Captain Gregor Bareilly has joined the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and has been for some time in the trenches under the command of Captain George McDonald and Captain Percy Molson is also on the continent.

The third company went overseas 330 strong, and has gained a golden reputation at Shorncliffe. The fourth company is at full strength and has now embarked. In quality it is in no respect inferior to its predecessors.

A fifth company has been organized, a large number of applicants are on the waiting list, and recruits will be welcomed at Montreal on or after November 27th.

Those who wish to join must receive a rigorous medical examination locally by an army medical officer. Those who are not medically and physically fit are not wanted, so there is a subsequent examination on reaching Montreal. The recruit should also be attested locally before the nearest Justice of the Peace, and a transposition to Montreal can be speedily obtained by sending a night lettergram to Captain A. S. Eve, 382 Sherbrooke St. West, Montreal. On arrival the recruit is issued without delay, his blankets, palatine and uniform, and his training commences on the Campus of McGill University and on the slopes of Mount Royal. As to Barracks the Canadian Northern Land Company loans the headquarters building, McGill University lends the Molson Hall, and the students not only lend the top floor of the Union, but also give the soldiers the privileges of the building as though they were students. Moreover, the Y. M. C. A. opens its quarters and places the Swimming Pool at their disposal. The training is varied, and includes shooting at the C. P. R. Gallery, drill, tactics, bayonet fighting and physical training.

Nearly 1200 men have already been raised by this organization, which is efficient, and also economical, inasmuch as there are no officers above the rank of captain.

A considerable number of young men who cannot get commissions in Canada are joining the Universities Companies with a view to commission in England. About fifty men who joined as privates, have already been appointed as officers. Information has been received from London that there is room for 40 to 50 a month if suitable men are forthcoming.

Particulars may be obtained from Captain A. S. Eve, 382 Sherbrooke St. West, Montreal, who is in charge of the Depot.

Agricultural Society Holds Dinner.

On Monday evening, Dec. 13th, the Agricultural Society of Lower Horton held their annual dinner, celebrating the one hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of their organization.

Owing to the general depression, and urgent need of funds at the present time the farmers felt a little delicate about indulging themselves this year, but eased their consciences by offering the institute a generous sum from their funds if they would provide the meal, which sum might be devoted to Red Cross or other worthy object.

The night was fine, the dinner excellent, as were also the speeches which followed. After dinner the farmers and guests retired to the upper hall where Mr. J. O. Harris, president of the Agricultural Society, and Mrs. F. H. Crane, president of the Women's Institute, presided, and a very interesting program ensued.

The first number was a violin duet by Misses Stuart and Hockin, accompanied by Mrs. S. H. Trenholm, after which Prof. Trueman, of the Agricultural College, Truro, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the fertility of the soil, though many of us found it hard to agree with him that the prime object in farming is to leave the soil in good condition for the next generation, the ideal being, apparently, to see that we raise hay to feed the stock, keep the stock to fertilize the land, that we may raise turkeys and coos to feed the stock, etc., and repeat.

In fact I believe Prof. Trueman's subject was 'A Fertile Soil and a Prosperous People' and though he handled the fertility of the soil in a masterly way, he appeared to avoid the financial side of the subject and left us somewhat in doubt as to where our sugar, tea, boots, etc., came in according to his scheme.

Mrs. Trenholm then sang in her usual acceptable manner, after which Prof. Blair gave a brief account of the experimental work being done on the Government Farm at Kentville and orchard experiments in different parts of the county. This was followed by a vocal duet by Miss Trenholm and Miss Stuart.

Rev. Mr. Hockin was asked to speak which he did, expressing his appreciation of the previous speakers and the information which he had obtained from their remarks. He said he had also gathered from Prof. Trueman's remarks that the ministers and the farmers were the most unselfish people in the world.

Shakespeare has said: 'Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them.' There is no doubt the ministers are born or achieve unselfishness, the farmer appears to have unselfishness thrust upon him.

Mr. James Hamilton was then called upon and responded in his usual breezy way.

Prof. Haycock spoke of his interest in the evening's program, expressing a desire to become a member of this society which has been in constant existence for 126 years.

Mrs. L. P. Dennison, ex president of the Women's Institute, was asked for remarks but declined, owing to the lateness of the hour. Mr. L. P. Dennison then moved a vote of thanks to the speakers of the evening which was seconded by Miss Stuart and heartily responded to by all present.

A violin duet consisting of the Russian and French national anthems, followed by 'God Save the King' brought the evening to a close.

Home-made candy and honey to the value of $1100 was sold during the evening. The ladies will devote all money received that evening to Red Cross work.

SUGAR Sugar should not be eaten by those who suffer from rheumatism. Sugar added to over-salted soup, etc., will remove the saltiness. Sugar—a lump of—dropped into milk will prevent its turning sour. Sugar—a couple of lumps—on the floor of the oven, will make pastry brown nicely. Sugar is supplied to German soldiers on the march, as it produces heat and energy. Sugar is derived from the sugar-cane, the beet, maple-sap, and from corn and other starches. Sugar is present largely in bananas, grapes, etc., and their food-value is derived almost entirely from that. Sugar forms about seventy per cent. of honey; it is derived from natural sugars by inversion, and is more easily digested in this form than cane sugar.

ELABORATE MOTOR VEIL Motors veils are becoming rather elaborate, possibly because motor apparel in general figures as an important item of the wardrobe. Georgette crepe and chiffon cloth is extensively used. The veil illustrated is featured in white georgette crepe with a wide border and printed border effect, though there are many attractive combinations obtainable.

DECEPTION TOO FREQUENT Foreign Goods Should be Sold Under Own Colors

How foreign goods are sold to people, who are under the impression that they are buying Canadian goods, is described by a correspondent of 'The West Farmer', the well-known agricultural paper in Winnipeg. 'Recently I purchased some hardware from a local merchant, which was apparently Made-in-Canada,' says the writer. 'When I now revealed another label under the original which on examination states that the article was manufactured in Rochester, New York, expressly for a Winnipeg firm. Under these circumstances how is one to know when he is buying a genuine "Made-in-Canada" article?'

This obstacle is constantly confronting the "Made-in-Canada" campaign. The difficulty of ascertaining the exact origin of the goods they are purchasing often discourages buyers from pressing their request for Canadian articles, and, in many cases, foreign articles are sold with full knowledge on the part of the vendors that the request for Canadian articles has not been met. This problem was discussed at the last annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in connection with a proposal to establish the use of "Made-in-Canada" label for goods. The suggestion is now in the hands of the "Made-in-Canada" Committee and details are being worked out. It is to be hoped that the resulting action will terminate the practices of which the "Nor' West Farmer" correspondent complains.

TEETH AFFECT HEALTH Germs From Gums Pass Through Tiny Canals Into Body

The care of the teeth is often referred to as essential to good health, and it has been quite clearly established that there is a direct connection between the condition of the teeth or gums and the health of the possessor. Decayed teeth or diseased gums may be the cause of poison circulating throughout the system. It may happen in this way: A series of canals, known as lymphatic tissue, connects the several parts of the body, including the gums. If the teeth are not cleaned and the mouth kept in good condition, microbes or germs collect on the gums and teeth. When they become so numerous as to overpopulate the mouth, they are pushed into the lymphatic canals where they get busy developing disease in the body.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions. It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength. Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. Try it. Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

Good Intentions.

The wonderful things we plan and love,
The beautiful things we have done,
The fields we have tilled, the gifts we have willed,
In the light of another year's sun,
When we think of it all we are baffled,
There's so much that never comes true,
Because, Love, instead of our doing,
We're always just meaning to do.

The friends we are wanting to help,
Love,
They struggle alone and forlorn,
By trial and suffering vanquished,
Perchance by temptation o'erborne;
But the lift and the touch and the greeting,
That well might have aided them through
The perilous strait of ill-fortune,
They miss—we're but meaning to do.

We dream of a fountain of knowledge,
We loiter along on its brink,
And toy with the crystalline waters,
Forever just meaning to drink.
Night falls, and our tasks are unfinished,
Too late, our lost chances we rue,
Dear Love, while our comrades were doing,
We only were meaning to do.

—Margaret H. Sangster.

A Plea for the Boys.

We have been stirred to the depths of our inmost being, time and time again, since this terrible war began, when reading of the sending of cigarettes to the men and boys at the front. Especially the boys. Of course sending them to the men, means the boys getting them. We hate the war in any form, but more particularly the cigarette, as it is the most injurious, and supplies the evil in a subtle form. We hesitate to say, in a subtle form, because of our knowledge of its evil effects in any form. However, since listening to arguments in favor of sending tobacco to the older men, who have been using it so many years that the habit has now become stronger than they, we think there may be, under those conditions, some reason for sending it, in its least harmful state, to such persons. But for the boys' we plead.

After reading in the "Evening Mail," September 29th, an article entitled "Sydney Mines' Girls Hit on New Idea," we feel we can keep silent no longer. Surely it must be through lack of knowledge that any mother, sister, or sweetheart would send to one dear to them, that which can be only an injury to them.

Mothers hearts have bled with indignation, when reading articles published to their unwillingness to let their sons go to the front. We desire the writers of such articles to know, it is not the fear of the German gun, but the awful dread of British rum and other evils following in its train, that makes mothers hesitate to have their sons enlist in England's cause.

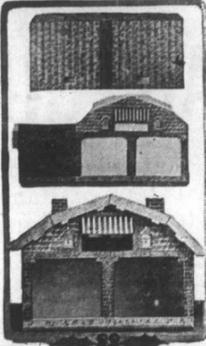

Many should with all their might close their eyes to wrongs that are disguised under a show of patriotism.

One has been made sick to the very soul when hearing of the young men, mere lads some of them, who have been seen staggering in the streets of Halifax. That, and the worse evils that drink leads to, make mothers' hearts quail with a horrible fear for the boys who leave home to don the King's uniform. Some who have gone out pure and clean will return, if they return at all, moral lepers. Who could read that article, written in the Quarterly Review, and not feel themselves sick with a senseless dread.

Wearing the King's uniform does

Acceptable Toys for the Children

Doll's House of Cardboard

A hat box of strong cardboard and some red, white and green water-color paints are required to make this doll's house. A view of it is given in the picture above, also a picture of the roof and of the front and one side. The roof and chimneys are to be made separately.

Two large, square openings are cut out at the front and above them an oblong is cut on three sides. Bent outward this forms an awning that is painted in red and white stripes. A door is cut in the side and panels and doorknobs painted on it. Openings are cut in the roof to hold the chimneys and it is painted in green squares to simulate shingles.

The house and chimneys are painted red lined with white to simulate bricks. White paper pasted over the windows will look like a shade. After the parts are made they are fastened together with paper fasteners.

Easily Made Animal Toys

Animals, that please the little ones, are made of cotton flannel or plush, and stuffed with sawdust. Pins with black heads, beads, or regulation artificial eyes are used, and bits of lamb's wool or fur provide the required hair. A dog and monkey are pictured here, made of white cotton flannel, also outlines of patterns for cutting them. Each animal is made of three pieces; the two sides and a piece to be sewed underneath. This last has a slit in it for turning the figure right side out after the pieces are machine stitched together. After it is stuffed this opening is sewed up. Almost any animal may be made in this way.

Bungalow Made of Cardboard

Bungalows and other toy houses are made of heavy cardboard boxes. The picture shows the roof, chimney, front and one side of the bungalow before they are put together, also the finished house.

The windows are cut out and plain white writing paper pasted over the openings on the inside. The window panes and sashes are painted on this. Doors are cut on three sides and panels and knobs painted on them. Doorsteps, window boxes and flowers, shingles, etc., are all painted on the flat surface.

The chimney is made separately, painted red, and lined with white.

not mitigate evil. Giving up life in this so-called "righteous war" is not the sacrifice that staves for war.

We have heard much and read more, fearing that some wrongs should be condoned, because committed by "our heroes at the front." We should say to any young man, who may read this, "No heroism appeals to a mother's heart, like the courage that overcomes evil." With all reverence, the same may be said concerning the great heart of "Eternal Love." The Word informs us that God regards the one who rules his own spirit, a greater hero than he who taketh a city. The latter receives the world's applause, the former the "well done" of the Eternal God, "A Mother."

Christmas Gifts for the Baby

A Group of Baby Belongings

The baby inspires the greatest number of dainty gifts at Christmas time, nearly all of them the handwork of those who welcome him.

A book in which the important affairs of the new arrival are to be put on record, a hanger for safety pins of several sizes, a pair of armlets, and some brightly colored toys suspended by gay ribbons, are pictured above in the group of baby belongings.

The record book is made by covering cardboard with white moire silk. A stork is painted on the front cover, and plain heavy white paper provides the leaves. Satin ribbon in light blue or pink is sewed to each cover to fasten them together.

Pink satin ribbon and white celluloid rings, in three sizes, are used for the safety-pin hangers. One long and three short ones hang from a pretty bow, each terminating in a ring. The pins are fastened over the rings.

Narrow satin ribbon shirred over flat elastic cord forms the armlets. Each is finished with a full rossette.

The warm looking and dainty booties shown in the picture will be easy to make by those who understand crocheting. They are crocheted of white zephyr and shaped to fit over the knees. A heading is worked in near the top and narrow pink satin ribbon run through it makes it possible to tie the boots so that they will not slip down.

A novel and very pretty touch is given these booties by the tiny pink rose buds that are embroidered on them with silk floss.

Little wooden hangers are covered with cotton for a padding and over this light satin ribbon is shirred. The hook is wound with the ribbon and the hanger finished with a pretty bow.

Topsy Doll Made of a Stocking

The rag baby has the reputation of being the best beloved of its little owner's possessions. Here is a Topsy doll made of a black stocking with mouth and nose outlined with yarn and glass beads for eyes. By ravelling an old knitted mitten or any knitted article, its head of kinky hair is secured.

The figure is cut out in two pieces, which are machine-stitched together, with an opening left at one side for turning it right side out. It is stuffed with cotton. Rompers and a cap of gayly striped gingham add to the fascination of this Topsy.

WEAK, SORE LUNGS

Restores to Health By Vinol
Camden, N.J.—"I had a deep seated cough, was run-down, and my lungs were weak and sore. I had tried everything suggested without help. One evening I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Soon I noticed an improvement. I kept on taking it and today I am a well man. The soreness is all gone from my lungs. I do not have any cough and have gained fifteen pounds."

What Dr. Chase is Doing for Our Soldier Boys

At Home and Abroad---To Every Soldier a Full Sixty-cent Box of Dr. Chase's Ointment Free---Greatly Appreciated by the Boys.

Realizing that ointment is one of the prime necessities to the soldier, both in training and at the front, it was early decided to supply all Canadian recruits free of charge.

That this offer was appreciated by the military authorities is best evidenced by some of the replies received from Headquarters, as well as from individual camps.

Brigadier-General Sir Sam Hughes writes:—"This is indeed a most useful and acceptable donation, and for which please accept my most sincere thanks."

Lieut.-Col. Murphy, in charge of Valcartier Camp, writes:—"I would be very glad to receive donation of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and feel sure it would be acceptable."

One Major reports:—"The Ointment arrived on the day the Battery completed 24 miles route march on foot, and I can assure you the Ointment was very beneficial, and much appreciated by those with sore feet."

For the 21st Regiment, Owen Sound, Q.M. Sgt. Miller writes:—"I have been directed by Col. Chisholm to tender to you our hearty thanks for your splendid gift of Dr. Chase's Ointment to the members of the Overseas Contingent. I can assure you it was appreciated by the men, and if the quantity had been doubled we would have had a hard time to save a box. The men swear by it."

From Niagara Camp Q.M. Sgt. O. M. Stevenson writes for the 27th Battalion:—"The Ointment has been distributed among the boys of our company, and is highly appreciated by them. I assure you that they will find it very useful both here and at the front."

Further distributions of Dr. Chase's Ointment will be made to the recruits assembling for training at the various towns and cities throughout the country. Officers in charge are requested to advise us how many boxes they can use, allowing one for each man. In a score of ways this Ointment is useful to the soldier, and it is our desire that every man shall be supplied free of charge. Address Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.
