PROTECTION IN ENGLAND.

That appalling hardness of the times is putting Free Trade to a severe test in England. The doctrine has had a supreme hold upon the nation for five-and-twenty years, and undoubtedly it will be hard; but it is plain that with the experience of the mechanic and the manufacturer against it, it must sooner or later be destroyed. The Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, in a recent report, confesses that the industries of that great manufacturing centre are decaying. This it ascribes partly to the general depression throughout the world, and partly to the famine and distress that have specially affected the India and China markets; but the Chamber adds sorrowfully: "It is painful to observe that after so many years' experience of the beneficial operation of Free Trade in this country many of our foreign Governments, and our own Colonies, are adopting more restrictive duties. Especially in this case of Spain and Italy, who seem determined to increase their duties as 'hostile' as possible to England." A cold-blooded critic might call this lament a piece of marvellous work. Free Trade has convinced them that they cannot compete on equal terms with the enormous production of the British manufacturer, and in imposing high duties on English goods they merely protect their own people from a British invasion. This does not appear to be the case; but it is also the preservation of their own industries, which is an act of the highest patriotism from the philosopher's point of view. The Birmingham Chamber, while its faith in the old Bazaar and Cobden regard is undoubtedly shaken, will not admit that one-sided Free Trade is a mistake, but desires to record its own adherence to "the principles of Free Trade."

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

During the past few days our Critic contemporary has been devoting some attention to the question of sugar refining in Canada, and if it has not succeeded in adding to the stock of knowledge of its readers on that intricate subject, it has at all events satisfied the curiosity of those who are interested in the question, as well as its recklessness of assertions are almost unbounded. Speaking of the difference in cost to the consumer of the various grades of sugar now, as compared with the figures current some years ago when the Montreal refineries were in operation, the Globe says that broken loaf cost 10 cents, while dry crushed costs only 10 cents, or one cent more than the broken loaf. The intelligent reader does not require to be told that broken loaf and dry crushed are identical, and of course, command the same price. And so on through the whole article.

A REFORM STATESMAN.

Canadians who have "good things" in the way of speculations to float had better give Glasgow a wide berth for a while. The shareholders of the Huntington Copper Mining Co. (Limited) have been holding meetings and giving their opinion of the ex-Postmaster-General in a somewhat unequivocal way. At a recent meeting, at which nearly two hundred and fifty shareholders were represented, one of the speakers alluded to the "rascal" who had been elected to the office, and expressed the hope that he would be pursued to the uttermost by his victims. A statement was read showing the result of the sale of five thousand acres of land Mr. Huntman palmed off on the shareholders as valuable property for the sum of $250,000.

DEGRADING DISCUSSION.

Has our city contemporary lost all sense of decency and the sense of decency of all shades of opinion. Able politicians are not so plentiful that the country can afford to lose a gentleman of his capacity for public affairs.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The petition against the return of Mr. M. C. Cameron for South Huron prays for his disqualification and claims the seat for Mr. Porter, who was defeated by only a small majority.

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

Exchange for preliminary sale. The Bank of England has raised the rate of interest to five per cent, which stood at one-and-a-half per cent. in 1876 in the open market of London, and has ruled on the last three per cent. for the greater part of the last three or four years. It would be a most inopportune moment to largely reduce the current deposit accounts of the Government with the Dominion Bank, if Mr. CARTWRIGHT's culpable neglect should compel his successor to do so, and the prompt departure of the latter in order to avert the mischief as far as possible, is every way commendable, although the Globe will doubtless say that the N. P. should engage his immediate attention, and that the Tariff should be dealt with without delay, notwithstanding Mr. CARTWRIGHT's bringing in his feeble Budget in 1874 on the 14th of April, after five months' preparation, apologised for its crudity on the ground of want of time.

MR. BLAKE.

The return of Mr. BLAKE, whose health we are sincerely glad to know is restored, is creating some discussion in the Ministerial press as to the leadership of the Party. The younger men would undoubtedly prefer him to Mr. MACKENZIE. The latter is blamed for the disastrous defeat the Party has just sustained, although it is difficult to see how the hon. gentleman could have averted it. The Ottawa Herald, which professes to be a Liberal as contradistinguished from a Reform paper, says of Mr. BLAKE that "Mr. Mackenzie displaced the latter on the ground of his feeble intellect, and by Globe influence, after he and Mr. MACKENZIE had retired from the Ontario Government; it was not to be expected that the latter would be so easily displaced in the leadership of the party, or endanger his character, by too close an alliance with the men whom the late Premier never allowed to join his ranks. He never was at home under the leadership of Mr. MACKENZIE. The incongruity of his position was too startling, and the feeling was never absent from his mind, that he was a leader who was subordinated to suit the demands of a power that would not uphold, if it could not control him. Mr. CARTWRIGHT's position was a party has changed; the faction that held the Liberal party by the throat has been overthrown, with the assistance of Liberals themselves, and those who still retain their allegiance to principle, having punished 'maternal pretensions, now naturally turn to Mr. BLAKE, who is the only one whom they can gather their forces with a view to the consolidation of a Liberal party that will be in accord with its name, and national in its aspirations."

MR. BLAKE'S RETURN.

Has our city contemporary lost all sense of decency and the sense of decency of all shades of opinion. Able politicians are not so plentiful that the country can afford to lose a gentleman of his capacity for public affairs.
