

HOTELS.

QUEEN HOTEL, Queen Street, Fredericton, N. B.

THIS HOTEL HAS BEEN REBUILT AND REPAIRED IN THE MOST ATTRACTIVE MANNER...

ROBBER AND CARRIAGES of every style are kept at the LIVERY STABLES of the Proprietor...

HEALTH FOR ALL!

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.

PURIFY THE BLOOD, correct all Disorders of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys and Bowels...

THE OINTMENT Is an infallible remedy for Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, Old Wounds, Sores and Ulcers...

FOR SORE THROATS, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, Glandular Swellings, and all Stiff Diseases...

78, NEW OXFORD STREET, (late 533, OXFORD STREET, LONDON)

FARM AND FIRESIDE.

Timely Hints Useful to the Farmer and His Household.

As the time of winter feeding again draws near, it will be interesting and instructive to know how other authorities from another country view the manner of feeding...

The Jersey may be regarded as the type of a butter cow. Bulk for bulk, its milk is the richest in butterfat...

ONE MAN'S LUCK

Violentstrides Which Left Him With Nothing but a Spark of His Life.

Shot, buried, resurrected, and still alive. This is the remarkable story of Bob Nickens of Granger county, Tenn.

One night a party of men went to his house, and securing him, took him to a "rock house," or cave, where, by the light of pine torches, a trial was had...

A DOG WORTH HAVING.

An Irish Setter That Solved a Situation of Awful Peril to His Master.

C. L. McCloud, a shoe drummer of Portsmouth, Ohio, returned from Kentucky the other evening and related to a St. Louis Republic man a thrilling story of adventure...

Presently Biggs returned, and his footsteps awaited the reptile, which was instantly head and tail erect awaiting the attack...

HE WHO LAUGHS BEST WHO LAUGHS LAST.

NOTWITHSTANDING the report that the New Home received no awards at the Worlds Columbian Exposition, I take pleasure in announcing that the New Home made a Clean Sweep, and history again repeats itself.

Three Highest Awards

Were given the New Home Sewing Machine, as follows: One each for the

New Home Manufacturing Sewing Machine, New Home Family Sewing Machine, Samples of Work Exhibited.

Everything claimed was granted.

I feel assured, if you do, that you can make a selection from this list. I keep an extensive variety, with styles to please everybody, at prices from $20.00 to $30.00.

I Challenge the World

To produce a Better Sewing Machine for the money. All Sewing Machines that I sell are guaranteed for Five Years.

PETER DUFFIE, Jobber and Direct Importer of Pianos, Organs, Sewing Machines and Furniture.

WILLIAM WILSON, Attorney-at-Law, SOLICITOR AND CONVEYANCER

H. B. RAINSFORD, Barrister, Attorney-at-Law, NOTARY PUBLIC.

GEO. A. HUGHES, Attorney and Solicitor, NOTARY, CONVEYANCER, &c.

WILLIAM ROSSBOROUGH, MASON, Plasterer, - and - Bricklayer, SHORE ST. NEAR GAS WORKS, FREDERICTON, N. B.

RAILROADS.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

ATLANTIC DIVISION.

ALL TO BOSTON, &c. THE SHORT LINE

ARRANGEMENT OF TRAINS In Effect Sept. 25th, 1893.

LEAVE FREDERICTON.

EASTERN STANDARD TIME.

RETURNING TO FREDERICTON FROM

ARRIVING IN FREDERICTON AT 9.10, a. m., 1.15, 5.15, 7.10 p. m.

D. MCNICOLL, Gen. Pass. Agent, MONTREAL.

DO NOT GO DOWN TOWN

Without Calling at KITCHEN & SHEA'S

If you are going to Purchase

FURNACES, Stoves, Tinware, Royal Diamond Stoves are the best.

KITCHEN & SHEA'S, 272 QUEEN STREET.

JUST RECEIVED:

Anti-Dandruff, Dodds Kidney Pills, Dr. James' Nerve Beans, Orange Quinine & Wine.

Campbell's Quinine & Wine, Enos Fruit Salt, Paines Celery Compound.

California Syrup of Figs, Beef Iron and Wine, Quinine Iron and Wine, Cough Balsams.

W. H. CARTEN, Druggist and Apothecary.

WESLEY VANWART, Barrister.

Office: Queen Street, OPPOSITE NORMAL SCHOOL.

Ladies' Green's Tansy Pills. Used by thousands. Safe, Sure and Always Reliable. REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

PORTLAND CEMENT.

TO ARRIVE: Barrels White Portland Cement. JAMES S. NEILL

ALLAN LINE, ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS.

Liverpool, Halifax and Portland.

STATE OF NEBRASKA, Nov. 15 and Dec. 7

WM. THOMSON & CO., Agents, ST. JOHN N. B.

W. E. SEERY, Merchant Tailor.

Has Just Received a splendid new stock of

CLOTHS AND TWEEDS,

Spring Overcoating, Suitings, and Trouserings,

Which he is prepared to MAKE UP in the

LATEST AND MOST FASHIONABLE STYLES

AT MODERATE PRICES.

W. E. SEERY, WILMOT'S AVE.

Portland Cement.

TO ARRIVE: Barrels White Portland Cement. JAMES S. NEILL

THE PILLS

As the time of winter feeding again draws near, it will be interesting and instructive to know how other authorities from another country view the manner of feeding...

The Jersey may be regarded as the type of a butter cow. Bulk for bulk, its milk is the richest in butterfat...

Do not waste the ashes, even if they are coal ashes.

The farmer that depends on his gessing the weight of anything that he may have to dispose of is sure to be left.

Watering conveniences which do not require long distance trips of the stock on cold days, contribute, much to the score of economy.

Whenever a farmer gets a labor-saving implement for himself, let him think if something to save his wife from kitchen labor cannot also be secured.

The Dutch dairymen are scrupulously neat, and the butter from that country is a favorite in the English market.

Wheat, bran and skim-milk are each, chemically considered, quite close in resemblance to the white of the egg, which fact suggests their use in the food for laying fowls.

Old potato vines are usually the harbor of the fungus spores which produce the rot. If they were burned so soon as dry every fall the danger from rot would be greatly lessened.

When a cow or other four-footed animal is seen to lick its foot, stretch it out and examine without delay. When the cow stands at times in manure, this lodges between the hoof, or some other matter may get there; and either acts as an irritant to the tender skin there.

In time of inflammation penetrates the foot, and the hoof may be loosened or dropped off.

"All through the winter management is very much the same. No rapid change of food should ever be made, as the cattle may be thrown off their feed for a day or two, and do not let down their milk so well for the time being.—Farmer's Advocate.

HOLSTEINS AS GENERAL PURPOSE ANIMALS.

[Read by T. W. Charlton before the annual meeting of the Canadian Holstein breeders' association.] I think it is great presumption on my part in attempting to give anything either interesting or profitable on this subject to those who have been and are successful breeders of Holsteins.

But as there are a good many characters who are not familiar with the characteristics or merits of this breed, a brief sketch of their origin and home may be helpful, especially to those who may be searching for the most profitable kind of cattle; and among all the various breeds known at present, there is none entitled to so much merit or coming so near the requirements of a general purpose animal as the Holstein Friesian, being the product of the most favorable natural conditions.

This home and origin, as far as can be traced, was on the fertile flats of North Holland and Friesland, noted for their fertility from a very early period, every condition of soil and climate calculated to develop a large and hardy breed of cattle.

And when we find that the industrious Hollanders were the pioneers in dairy husbandry, and that their products in amount and quality have never been equalled by any other people on the same area, we see the reason of their zeal and effort to perfect a breed of cattle suited to their special industry. To them the typical dairy cow has been the image of profit.

To develop in the Holstein offspring those qualities that should add to their value for this particular purpose has been their study not for but many centuries. Thus strength of heredity had been acquired and intensified through successive generations.

The breed characteristics have become so firmly established that we can depend

FARM TOPICS.

Do not waste the ashes, even if they are coal ashes.

The farmer that depends on his gessing the weight of anything that he may have to dispose of is sure to be left.

Watering conveniences which do not require long distance trips of the stock on cold days, contribute, much to the score of economy.

Whenever a farmer gets a labor-saving implement for himself, let him think if something to save his wife from kitchen labor cannot also be secured.

The Dutch dairymen are scrupulously neat, and the butter from that country is a favorite in the English market.

Wheat, bran and skim-milk are each, chemically considered, quite close in resemblance to the white of the egg, which fact suggests their use in the food for laying fowls.

Old potato vines are usually the harbor of the fungus spores which produce the rot. If they were burned so soon as dry every fall the danger from rot would be greatly lessened.

When a cow or other four-footed animal is seen to lick its foot, stretch it out and examine without delay. When the cow stands at times in manure, this lodges between the hoof, or some other matter may get there; and either acts as an irritant to the tender skin there.

In time of inflammation penetrates the foot, and the hoof may be loosened or dropped off.

"All through the winter management is very much the same. No rapid change of food should ever be made, as the cattle may be thrown off their feed for a day or two, and do not let down their milk so well for the time being.—Farmer's Advocate.

HOLSTEINS AS GENERAL PURPOSE ANIMALS.

[Read by T. W. Charlton before the annual meeting of the Canadian Holstein breeders' association.] I think it is great presumption on my part in attempting to give anything either interesting or profitable on this subject to those who have been and are successful breeders of Holsteins.

But as there are a good many characters who are not familiar with the characteristics or merits of this breed, a brief sketch of their origin and home may be helpful, especially to those who may be searching for the most profitable kind of cattle; and among all the various breeds known at present, there is none entitled to so much merit or coming so near the requirements of a general purpose animal as the Holstein Friesian, being the product of the most favorable natural conditions.

This home and origin, as far as can be traced, was on the fertile flats of North Holland and Friesland, noted for their fertility from a very early period, every condition of soil and climate calculated to develop a large and hardy breed of cattle.

And when we find that the industrious Hollanders were the pioneers in dairy husbandry, and that their products in amount and quality have never been equalled by any other people on the same area, we see the reason of their zeal and effort to perfect a breed of cattle suited to their special industry. To them the typical dairy cow has been the image of profit.

To develop in the Holstein offspring those qualities that should add to their value for this particular purpose has been their study not for but many centuries. Thus strength of heredity had been acquired and intensified through successive generations.

The breed characteristics have become so firmly established that we can depend

TOUCHING FOR KING'S EVIL

One of Charles the Second's public acts was touching for the evil. July 6, 1690, his Majesty first began to touch for the evil, according to custom, which is thus described by a chaplain in his diary.

He went to California, fearing to return to his old home, and is now on his way back for the first time, his wife, with whom he has kept up a constant correspondence, and who cared for their little farm during his long absence, having any part in his being shot have either died or left the country.

Nickens states that he will sell his farm as soon as possible and return to California.

FOUL FOOT.

When a cow or other four-footed animal is seen to lick its foot, stretch it out and examine without delay. When the cow stands at times in manure, this lodges between the hoof, or some other matter may get there; and either acts as an irritant to the tender skin there.

In time of inflammation penetrates the foot, and the hoof may be loosened or dropped off.

"All through the winter management is very much the same. No rapid change of food should ever be made, as the cattle may be thrown off their feed for a day or two, and do not let down their milk so well for the time being.—Farmer's Advocate.

HOLSTEINS AS GENERAL PURPOSE ANIMALS.

[Read by T. W. Charlton before the annual meeting of the Canadian Holstein breeders' association.] I think it is great presumption on my part in attempting to give anything either interesting or profitable on this subject to those who have been and are successful breeders of Holsteins.

But as there are a good many characters who are not familiar with the characteristics or merits of this breed, a brief sketch of their origin and home may be helpful, especially to those who may be searching for the most profitable kind of cattle; and among all the various breeds known at present, there is none entitled to so much merit or coming so near the requirements of a general purpose animal as the Holstein Friesian, being the product of the most favorable natural conditions.

This home and origin, as far as can be traced, was on the fertile flats of North Holland and Friesland, noted for their fertility from a very early period, every condition of soil and climate calculated to develop a large and hardy breed of cattle.

And when we find that the industrious Hollanders were the pioneers in dairy husbandry, and that their products in amount and quality have never been equalled by any other people on the same area, we see the reason of their zeal and effort to perfect a breed of cattle suited to their special industry. To them the typical dairy cow has been the image of profit.

To develop in the Holstein offspring those qualities that should add to their value for this particular purpose has been their study not for but many centuries. Thus strength of heredity had been acquired and intensified through successive generations.

The breed characteristics have become so firmly established that we can depend

A LAKE PUMPED OUT.

A Battle of 10 Months Waged With Water in Order to Get a Rich Iron.

Few pieces of engineering work were ever undertaken that exceeded the pumping out of Lake Angelina, near Ishpeming, Mich., where pumps have been working for sixteen months. The water is all gone now, but apparently the hardest part of the work is still to be accomplished.

The lake lies near the southern part of Ishpeming, 160 acres, and was seventy feet deep in the middle.

It was a long time the source of that city's water supply, until the growth of the town about its shores contaminated the water. Under the head of the lake lies the largest iron ore deposit ever discovered. The ore was discovered some ten years ago, when a diamond drill was sent on the frozen surface of the lake one winter and a hole drilled 600 feet down below the bed of the big iron. Large ore bodies were cut by the drill, and the three mining companies, owning the ground under the lake, began devising means to secure this valuable ore.

The greater part of the lake was owned by the Cleveland Iron Mining Company. The first and second named companies did more or less work under the surface of the lake, but the ever present danger of a rush of water from above rendered it imperative that the water be taken out. Work was begun last spring before the snow left the ground, when a rotary pump with a capacity of 20,000 gallons per minute was anchored in a barge in the center of the lake and began pumping water into a big frame elevated twenty feet above the surface of the water. The pump has been going day and night, allowing for occasional breakdowns, and the water has only recently been drained all out.

Now, however, a serious question remains to be settled. There is a bed of mud from two to four feet deep over the bed of the former lake. This mud is kept moist by underground springs from which water bubbles up. Big tubular stanchions, pierced with myriads of small holes hardly larger than a needle's point, are being forged into the mud, and into these the water filters and is pumped out. The surface of the bed of the lake is more treacherous than quicksand, for any heavy object thrown on it is quickly engulfed. Several narrow escapes from drowning have taken place. It will take sixteen months longer to get rid of the mud.

AN INGENUOUS TOAD.

A scientific journal tells the story of a frog's cunning. A brood of chickens was fed with moistened meal in saucers, and when the dough served a little it attracted a large number of flies. An observant toad had evidently noticed this, and every day toward evening he would make his appearance in the yard, hop to a saucer, climb in and roll over and over until he was covered with meal, having done which he awaited developments. The flies, enticed by the meal, soon descended on the scheming batrachian, and whenever one passed within two inches of his nose his tongue darted out and the fly disappeared.

NOT AFRAID OF THE WIDOW.

His back was humped up, his knees badly sprung, and there was a squeak in his voice as he fondly smoothed down his long goatie and inquired:

CHAINED FOR HIS TAXES.

On one of the principal thoroughfares of Florence, Ala., a negro was bound to a rock and kept in the sun throughout the entire day because he had failed to pay his taxes and refused to work.

A young lawyer, actuated by a kindly impulse, sent him a chair. The marshal promptly returned the chair and gave the sender a round "cussing out" for interfering. That caused others to take sides with the young lawyer, and for a few moments a tumultuous mob gathered. The affair is condemned by many as barbarous.

CHAINED FOR HIS TAXES.

On one of the principal thoroughfares of Florence, Ala., a negro was bound to a rock and kept in the sun throughout the entire day because he had failed to pay his taxes and refused to work.

A young lawyer, actuated by a kindly impulse, sent him a chair. The marshal promptly returned the chair and gave the sender a round "cussing out" for interfering. That caused others to take sides with the young lawyer, and for a few moments a tumultuous mob gathered. The affair is condemned by many as barbarous.

CHAINED FOR HIS TAXES.

On one of the principal thoroughfares of Florence, Ala., a negro was bound to a rock and kept in the sun throughout the entire day because he had failed to pay his taxes and refused to work.

A young lawyer, actuated by a kindly impulse, sent him a chair. The marshal promptly returned the chair and gave the sender a round "cussing out" for interfering. That caused others to take sides with the young lawyer, and for a few moments a tumultuous mob gathered. The affair is condemned by many as barbarous.

SELECT STORY.

THE BEST GIFT.

The sermon was ended, the music low swelled, and louder its resonance grew; As the tinkling chimes of the silver dimes, Made harmony in each pew.

IF HE HAD RUL'D BY LOVE!

By the Author of 'A Queen Sort of Happiness.'

CHAPTER I.

THE WIDEST BEACH.

Where is the harm of my being with Mr. Royston when I choose? demanded Edith Devereux, defiantly, looking superbly beautiful, with her great, dark eyes gazing straight into her husband's face.

in the girl's present frame of mind. But she said: "Well, dear, of course I don't see what Devereux objects to in poor Royston. He's a very nice fellow, indeed; but then I am not your husband. It would be better, perhaps, to give in. You know, my love, we women always have to give way to our husbands in the end—it's our lot, I suppose."

"I'm not mine then," returned Edith, curiously, the angry flush rising to her very brow. Mrs. Erle's soothing seemed to have just the opposite effect from what the little woman probably intended. "I don't agree to that doctrine of the submissive wife; husband and wife are equal, and free. He'll know whoever he likes; I shall do the same. I shall ride with Royston—I'm going this afternoon—you needn't look shocked, Harriet; I'm going to show Vernon I'm not so easily frightened. Now let's talk of something else."

"Mrs. Erle laughed—the softest, prettiest, little laugh, that showed her white teeth, but did not stretch her mouth unduly. She was pretty in everything she did, though Vernon said there was a spice of the cat's prettiness about her.

CHAPTER II.

THE CHAIN SNAFFED.

Passing down the fragrant groves which ran through Devereux's estate to the adjoining one, Mrs. Erle, lightly tripping along, humming to herself, was accosted by a man's deep voice, and turning, she held out her hand with a smile to the tall, good-looking personage, who was proceeding in her way, but who had come from another path and now stood by her side.

CHAPTER III.

THE CHAIN SNAFFED.

"What's my way?" she asked. "That's well. So you are going to ride with Mrs. Devereux this afternoon, I hear?" He glanced at her and smiled, bending towards her.

"And is my lady fair jealous?" he said. "Whereat little Mrs. Erle broke into a merry laugh. "Oh, you foolish fellow, why should I be? No, the jealousy comes from the other side," she added, archly.

"What, from Devereux?" she nodded. "Exactly, mon ami. There'll be a final quarrel when my lady comes home. I'm not a fool."

"Why? He hasn't forbidden her to go? He's not well disposed towards your humble servant, you know," said Royston, with a laugh. "I don't want to come across him, Mrs. Erle."

"Oh, it's all right. A little opposition lends a spice to a flirtation," resumed Harriet, brightly, without answering her companion's question, exactly. "Those two will never get on together, you know, never. 'Twould be, I declare, a kindness to separate them."

"Royston glanced again rather sharply at his companion. She began to hum a tune, making little dashes with her sunshade at the flowers they were passing.

"Oh," he said, then paused. "So that's your game," he concluded, slowly.

"What's my game, as you call it," laughed the little woman, good-naturedly.

"You dear, clumsy man, I've no game on at all. I like Edith immensely, and her husband, too; he's awfully nice, handsome, splendid, easily managed, if his wife lets him have his own way, but she won't let him have his own way, and her hands were taken and clasped in those of the newcomer. "But what is the matter, love? You are trembling. Ah! those unhappy jags; my poor Edith."

"He has no right," Edith exclaimed, in a choked voice. "I am not an slave! I will not be a slave, though he tries to make me one."

had no direct interference to anticipate in her forbidden ride. She loved riding, she had a splendid horse, and was not going to forego it because her husband had chosen to consider a man she had known in her own home not a fit companion for her. She was going, however, really more out of bravado than anything else now; for her heart and her conscience were beginning to lift up their voices unconformably, so that she had to drown them with keeping up her anger and her pride.

So she started for her ride in high spirits, and rode up later towards sunset, Devereux rode up to the door, she had not yet returned.

"Where is Mrs. Devereux?" he asked of the servant who took his horse. Devereux had been thinking all day that he had been too harsh with the young wife he so passionately loved. As usual, the tempest over, he was yearning to take her in his arms and kiss her soft lips, and say a hundred sweetening words to her.

"Mrs. Devereux, sir," answered the man, his own servant from riding; "she is not in yet. She went out England with Mr. Royston, sir."

"Devereux went pale as death; every line of his handsome face grew hard, but he turned away without a word, setting his teeth like a vice.

"You can go," he said, in a strange altered voice, and walked up and down the verandah—his feet making a noise on the gravel, not quickly, not quivering, except internally, for not a muscle of his face was in him, but grim and still. When he gave his passion rent, heaven alone knew what might happen.

He passed after a few moments' stormy contemplation of the dusk was falling, but though he could not see very far, he heard the clatter of horse's hoofs, heard them stop, then a clear voice say: "Thanks, so much! Yes, you had better not come; the sound of one of those drawing nearer fell on the air. Edith was coming alone then—that toward Royston, dared not meet her husband."

CHAPTER IV.

THE CHAIN SNAFFED.

"You will think so, my dear," laughed Mrs. Erle; "you haven't been brought up like an English nor a Spanish, nor, indeed, like any sort of girl I know. I'm afraid these amuses of slaves have spoiled you. You'll find English servants very different."

"Slaves are a great bother; though," said Edith, carelessly, "I miss them dreadfully here. Are you going, Harriet?"

"I must, my dear, I've some coming in the evening. I'm anxious about you, my love; I do wish you'd give up this ride."

"And let Vernon think he can ride rough-shod, over me!" returned the young lady, whose wrath was by no means appeased. "Don't trouble about us. Of course he will be in a rage, but he'll make it up, as he has half-a-dozen times since our marriage, and things will be much better when he sees it is no good trying to dictate to me."

"Mrs. Erle shook her head again, doubtfully, called Edith 'beautiful ternaunt,' and owned that 'Vernon certainly was a little high-handed'—and so left the 'beautiful ternaunt,' who was full of good and generous impulses, half stilled by a lifelong course of indulgence, flattery, and the possession of a temper as wilful and as passionate as her husband's. Yet, wilful as she was, Edith would have hesitated before allowing herself to do deliberately anything in the face of her husband's command, had she not been too young and too undeveloped to exactly gauge the forces with which she was dealing. In truth, she knew very little about Vernon Devereux."

loving pride he had brought home, Edith went. Then came the revelation; he would go to her, follow her the world over. She was his, he could claim her, the man said fiercely, then ground his teeth and dropped his head on his hands. What had she said?—and would he stoop to see? Could he keep her under lock and key?—could he make her love him? Well, if she were hard and cold, and proud, so would he be. Let her go, let her know what it meant to be a wife and yet not wife. She had gone to her people; there need be no scandal; in Europe no one even knew of his hasty marriage. He would see that she was under proper protection and had a proper allowance, though she had her own money."

So Vernon Devereux hardened himself; he never sought his wife. Probably if he had been older and wiser, he would not have accepted her flat so haughtily. He was hard and cold, and proud, so would he be. Let her go, let her know what it meant to be a wife and yet not wife. She had gone to her people; there need be no scandal; in Europe no one even knew of his hasty marriage. He would see that she was under proper protection and had a proper allowance, though she had her own money."

He sent the letter to Rio, and waited, in what sickening suspense he alone knew, for an answer for weeks, that seemed like years; then, through his solicitors in London, came a missive addressed in Edith's hand. With throbbing heart Devereux tore it open; his own letter fell to the ground, only that—that just that.

Afterwards he never knew quite how those hours had passed; it was all a chaos, a wild, fitful remembrance.

He did not know even after that where Edith was—with her people, he fancied; but in the months that passed by the man's heart grew sick and faint with the craving, the longing to throw himself at his wife's feet, and tell her if she would only try and forgive and love him, he would strive and chain up the demon within him, would strive to rule by love, and school himself to control. Nearly a year after the separation he tramped down his pride; softened, remorseful, penitent, he wrote to her such a letter as he never wrote to any other woman, but at least a kind answer—if she were afraid to trust to his vows, to say at least she had been touched by his contrition.

He sent the letter to Rio, and waited, in what sickening suspense he alone knew, for an answer for weeks, that seemed like years; then, through his solicitors in London, came a missive addressed in Edith's hand. With throbbing heart Devereux tore it open; his own letter fell to the ground, only that—that just that.

He did not know even after that where Edith was—with her people, he fancied; but in the months that passed by the man's heart grew sick and faint with the craving, the longing to throw himself at his wife's feet, and tell her if she would only try and forgive and love him, he would strive and chain up the demon within him, would strive to rule by love, and school himself to control. Nearly a year after the separation he tramped down his pride; softened, remorseful, penitent, he wrote to her such a letter as he never wrote to any other woman, but at least a kind answer—if she were afraid to trust to his vows, to say at least she had been touched by his contrition.

CHAPTER V.

THE CHAIN SNAFFED.

"You will think so, my dear," laughed Mrs. Erle; "you haven't been brought up like an English nor a Spanish, nor, indeed, like any sort of girl I know. I'm afraid these amuses of slaves have spoiled you. You'll find English servants very different."

"Slaves are a great bother; though," said Edith, carelessly, "I miss them dreadfully here. Are you going, Harriet?"

"I must, my dear, I've some coming in the evening. I'm anxious about you, my love; I do wish you'd give up this ride."

"And let Vernon think he can ride rough-shod, over me!" returned the young lady, whose wrath was by no means appeased. "Don't trouble about us. Of course he will be in a rage, but he'll make it up, as he has half-a-dozen times since our marriage, and things will be much better when he sees it is no good trying to dictate to me."

"Mrs. Erle shook her head again, doubtfully, called Edith 'beautiful ternaunt,' and owned that 'Vernon certainly was a little high-handed'—and so left the 'beautiful ternaunt,' who was full of good and generous impulses, half stilled by a lifelong course of indulgence, flattery, and the possession of a temper as wilful and as passionate as her husband's. Yet, wilful as she was, Edith would have hesitated before allowing herself to do deliberately anything in the face of her husband's command, had she not been too young and too undeveloped to exactly gauge the forces with which she was dealing. In truth, she knew very little about Vernon Devereux."

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS Mrs. WISSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething. If disturbed at night and broken of your rest, by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth, send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. WISSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP" for children teething. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums and reduces Inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the system. Mrs. WISSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething, is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Price Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. WISSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP."

RELIEF IN SIX HOURS.—Distressing Kidney and Bladder Diseases relieved in an hour by the Great South American Kidney Cure. This new remedy is a great surprise and delight on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys, back and every part of the urinary passages in male or female. It relieves sudden retention of water and pain in passing it almost immediately. If you want quick relief and cure this is your remedy. Sold by Davies, Mack & Co., Druggists.

CORN SOWING Is a process conducted by the agency of light boots all the year round. Corn reaping is best conducted through the agency of Putnam's Patent Corn Extractor, the only safe and sure corn reaper. Putnam's Extractor is now widely limited. Beware of all poisonous and sure producing substitutes; they are dangerous to use and are sold simply because they afford the dealer large profit.

THE SUN. The first of American Newspapers. CHARLES A. DANA, Editor. The American Constitution, the American Idea, the American Spirit, these first, last and all the time, forever. The Sunday Sun Is the Greatest Sunday Newspaper in the World. Price 5c. a copy, by mail, $2 a year. Daily and Sunday, by mail $8 a year. The Weekly, - - - $1 a year. Address The Sun, New York.

WHICH ACCOUNTS FOR IT. Mrs. Lafferty (visitor)—Your daughter has a fine touch, Mrs. Moriarty. Mrs. M.—Yes; so they do to tell me, an sure 'tis no wonder, for she loves sewing, an never tires of it; she has a great taste for moose, but this that's only natural, for her gran'father had his skull laid open with a cornet at a temperance picnic!

A MUSICAL VOICE. The nasal twang, produced by Catarrh gives a disagreeable sound to the voice. But Catarrh is also accompanied by even more unpleasant results, such as offensive breath, headache, nausea, deafness, etc. Catarrh will find its cure in Hawker's Catarrh Cure, a perfect and positive cure, restoring the organs to their natural healthy condition and removing all disagreeable symptoms. Sold everywhere. Only 25 cents.

THE COAL STRIKE SETTLED. As a result of the miners conference at London, Eng., under the presidency of Lord Rosebery, it was announced that it was settled by the conference that the miners should resume work at the old wages on Monday. They will work for these wages until February. The board of conciliation will hold its first meeting on Dec. 15. It will be constituted for one year. If at the first meeting the members fail to elect a chairman the speaker of the house of commons will nominate one. The board will be empowered to determine the rate of miners' wages. The news that work would be resumed in the mines on Monday at the old wages was received with demonstration of great joy in all the mining centres of the Midlands. The leaders of the miners read the despatches aloud in the streets and the waiting crowds of strikers cheered themselves hoarse. Church bells were rung in all the mining towns and thanksgiving service held in the dissenters' chapels.

FORTUNE'S FREAKS. In unexpected turns of the wheel of fortune, elevating the unknown to places of power and debasing the mighty without warning, France leads the nations, in the surprising career of a man, the grandson of the millionaire may black boots for the grandson of the crossing sweeper. The installation of Mme. Grey in the Elsee is a happy instance. She was the daughter of a tanner, and earned her living by her needle. Her husband, when she married, her whole fortune was less than five hundred dollars; at her death she leaves something like a quarter of a million to her daughter. She did not invent an ancestry with her promotion, nor assume fine airs with her riches. Her manners were characterized by simplicity, her accounts were carefully audited to the smallest detail, and she set her face against court etiquette.

Club Rates for 1894. Two Subscriptions in one remittance $4 Six Subscriptions do. do. 10 Ten Subscriptions do. do. 15

AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES. Farm Crops and Processes, Horticulture & Fruit Growing, Live Stock and Dairying. While it also includes all minor departments of rural interests, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, etc., it is especially devoted to the practical farmer, the stock raiser, the fruit grower, the dairyman, the beekeeper, the fisherman, the hunter, the sportsman, the gardener, the grower of the new of the West. Its Market Reports are especially valuable, and are published daily to the Farmers of the West. It is a valuable and interesting paper, and is published weekly, containing more reading matter than any other paper of its class. The subscription price is $2.00 per year, but we offer a special Reduction to our

Do you COUGH? Hawker's Tolu and Wild Cherry Balsam is a sure Cough cure.

NEW DRUG STORE, 2 DOORS BELOW PEOPLES BANK, QUEEN ST. FREDERICTON.

Having severed my connection with the firm of DAVIS STAPLES & CO., I have opened up business on my own account, in the store formerly occupied by the CANADIAN Express Company, two doors below People's Bank.

With my experience of twenty-one years in the Drug Business and being manager of the business of the late firm for thirteen years, I feel with every confidence that I can fully meet the requirements of my friends and the public generally.

Yours Respectfully, ALONZO STAPLES, April 29, 1893.

Executors Notice. NOTICE is hereby given that I, the undersigned, have been appointed Executor of the last will of the late John A. Morrison.

DR. R. MCLEARN. Office and Residence, Corner Queen and Regent Sts. Office Hours, 8 to 10 A. M., 1 to 3 P. M., 6 to 8 P. M. Telephone, 66. Fredericton, May 6th, 1893.

THE SUN. The first of American Newspapers. CHARLES A. DANA, Editor. The American Constitution, the American Idea, the American Spirit, these first, last and all the time, forever.

THE SUNDAY SUN. Is the Greatest Sunday Newspaper in the World. Price 5c. a copy, by mail, $2 a year. Daily and Sunday, by mail $8 a year. The Weekly, - - - $1 a year. Address The Sun, New York.

LOST OR FAILING MANHOOD. General and Nervous Debility. ICH, Glands and Scratches of every kind, on human or animal, cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. Warranted by Davies, Mack & Co.

Grindstones. Weakness of Body and Mind, Effects of Excess or Excessive Oil of Young, Robust, Noble Manhood fully restored. How to Enlarge and Strengthen Weak, Undeveloped Organs and Parts of Body. Absolutely unfailing Home Treatment—Dresses in a Day. Mentally from 50 States and Foreign Countries. Write them. Descriptive Book, explanation and practical method (sent free).

Liquid Glue. Just Received by Mail. 7 BOXES and 2 Cases of Liquid Glue in one and two ounce bottles, half-pint, quart, half-gallon and one gallon size, with 1-cent opening. This glue is good as strong, and will meet most every thing. Try it. For sale by ERIC MEDICAL CO., Dufferin, N.Y.

McMURRAY & Co. Have Just Received A CAR LOAD OF WALL PAPERS, And are now prepared to show the largest stock of Wall Paper in the city.

Canadian American Makes. CALL and SEE the GOODS. Also a lot of REMNANTS, Which will be sold Low, to make room for New Goods.

P. S. Expected daily a Large Stock of INGRAIN paper with BORDERS to match. Pianos, Organs and Sewing Machines in Great Variety at the Lowest Prices. No Agents.

McMurray & Co. Club Rates for 1894. Two Subscriptions in one remittance $4 Six Subscriptions do. do. 10 Ten Subscriptions do. do. 15

Do you COUGH? Hawker's Tolu and Wild Cherry Balsam is a sure Cough cure.

WILEY'S DRUG STORE, 196 Queen Street.

5 GROSS HIRE'S ROOT BEER Daily expected, Just Received: LACTATED FOOD, MELLIN'S FOOD, BUTTER COLOR, DIAMOND DYES.

JOHN M. WILEY, Druggist, THE GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY.

R. C. MACREDIE, Plumber, Gas Fitter, AND TINSMITH.

WOULD inform the people of Fredericton and vicinity that he has removed business on Queen Street.

OPP COUNTY COURT HOUSE, where he is prepared to fill all orders in above lines, including ELECTRICAL AND MECHANICAL BELL HANGING, Speaking Tubes, &c.

It is BEYOND QUESTION! That Our PAPER ENVELOPES are the Best for the Price, you can get.

For QUALITY and VALUE, OUR ACCOUNT BOOKS are Unexcelled.

YOU WANT THE BEST GOODS AT THE BEST PRICES, THEN BUY YOUR SCHOOL BOOKS AT Hall's - Book - Store.

Ready Mixed Paints and Varnish. Just Received by Mail. 162 GALLONS of the best quality of Varnish suitable for all purposes, and 100 gallons of the best quality of Paint, guaranteed in quality. I have just received 1 barrel Patent Dryer.

Steel! Steel! Just received from Sheehy's, Raleigh and Toronto. 100 lbs. of the best quality of Steel, for sale low.

Grindstones. Weakness of Body and Mind, Effects of Excess or Excessive Oil of Young, Robust, Noble Manhood fully restored. How to Enlarge and Strengthen Weak, Undeveloped Organs and Parts of Body. Absolutely unfailing Home Treatment—Dresses in a Day. Mentally from 50 States and Foreign Countries. Write them. Descriptive Book, explanation and practical method (sent free).

Liquid Glue. Just Received by Mail. 7 BOXES and 2 Cases of Liquid Glue in one and two ounce bottles, half-pint, quart, half-gallon and one gallon size, with 1-cent opening. This glue is good as strong, and will meet most every thing. Try it. For sale by ERIC MEDICAL CO., Dufferin, N.Y.

McMURRAY & Co. Have Just Received A CAR LOAD OF WALL PAPERS, And are now prepared to show the largest stock of Wall Paper in the city.

Canadian American Makes. CALL and SEE the GOODS. Also a lot of REMNANTS, Which will be sold Low, to make room for New Goods.

P. S. Expected daily a Large Stock of INGRAIN paper with BORDERS to match. Pianos, Organs and Sewing Machines in Great Variety at the Lowest Prices. No Agents.

McMurray & Co. Club Rates for 1894. Two Subscriptions in one remittance $4 Six Subscriptions do. do. 10 Ten Subscriptions do. do. 15

Do you COUGH? Hawker's Tolu and Wild Cherry Balsam is a sure Cough cure.