ELECTRICAL WORKERS ARE TOLD THAT THEIR UNION WILL NOT BE RECOGNIZED BY CITY

Commissioner Graves Informs the Deputation From the Union That City Will Pay Good Wages and Provide Good Working Conditions, But—No Union

A DEPUTATION of electrical workers from the power house, who waited on Commissioner Graves yesterday, were told that, while the city would do its best to provide good working conditions and to give adequate wages, the union would not be recognized as a public utility.

Several complaints were made to the effect that the men had not been given the usual holidays, that the schedule of wages was very uneven, and that a nine-hour instead of an eight-hour day was the rule.

Commissioner Graves remarked that if the men had not had holidays it was partly their own fault in not asking for them.

The revision of the wage schedule will be taken up between the operators and Supt. McCall in a day or two.

SHEEP-SHEARING RECORD QUICK TIME NEAR TO CALGARY

Six Hundred Animals Are Clipped In a Day at Cluny, Sixty Miles East of Calgary, On the "U Bar" Ranch, Managed by Bert Muckle

SIX MINUTES AND TWENTY-FIVE SECONDS THE RECORD

Shearers Prove Themselves As Apt At Their Work As Any From Any of the Older Countries Where the Sheep Industry Prevails

Down at Cluny, 60 odd miles east of Calgary, the wool is just now flying in grim earnest. The reason is that there are shearing about at the rate of about 600 a day. Very likely there are very few people here who are not familiar with the sheep business between north and west. There is one of the biggest sheep ranches in Western Canada. This is the "U Bar" ranch, owned by the Western Horse Ranchers, Ltd., of Calgary, and managed by Bert Muckle. It comprises over 16,000 acres, and, counting this year's lambs, carries between 11,000 and 12,000 head. As fast as the herds can be driven in they are coming under the shearer's hands.

In a large low shed eight of these men are now hard at work from sunset to sunrise clipping the fleeces from the weaver's backs. They all experts, these knights of the shears and honed backs, and can easily account for their 60 or 100 head a day. The crackler member of the gang is slated to be able to take off over 150 in any day. Just for curiosity, one shearer was timed on a big bunk carrying a fleece that when weighed turned the scales at 14 pounds. He seized the animal, which was distinctively above the average for size, threw it out into position between his feet and he began to work. Up the throat, under the head, down the back, along the legs, then close up the belly, while the wool fell in one steady, continuous place. Finally he threw the buck, cleared up the wool, and started to finish the next pen—and from start to finish this performance occupied him just six minutes and twenty-five seconds. One shearer said at the time, this was quicker than an average stenographer could write out a letter on a typewriter.

AMERICAN SAILOR FATALLY INJURED BELGIAN; IS UNDER ARREST

Antwerp, June 27.—A sailor from the battleship Illinois, while ashore today with several shipmates last night got into a quarrel with a Belgian. Mrs. Pankhurst's Meal Ticket

London, June 27.—The case of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, came up in the house of commons again yesterday when Mr. Jewett, labor member for West Bradford, asked if the government was prepared to face the possibility of her death if the prison treatment were continued. Home Secretary McKenna replied that the prison authorities have done their utmost to induce her to end and that she alone would be responsible for the consequences of her persistent refusal to take nourishment.

REPORT OF SASKATCHEWAN CROPS

Regina, June 27.—Reports from 88 special crop correspondents of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture received yesterday indicate that the crops during the past week have greatly improved under the influence of the welcome showers which have fallen throughout the province. During the past few days many fears have been expressed that the remarkable series of thunderstorms, combined with cold nights and early mornings which have swept the province from one end to the other would have had a bad effect on the crops. Speaking generally, however, these fears have no foundation, while here and there crops have been badly struck, the prospects throughout Saskatchewan are of the best. The crops this year are not likely to be characterized by the drought of last year, owing to the dry, hot weather experienced in the early part of the month. Under favorable conditions wheat should be headed out generally by July 10. The oat crop is looking well, although late and rather short in the straw. No one point of the 88 reporting makes complaint of too much rain. At Battleford, for instance, they need rain badly, as the hot weather has kept the crops in a very bad way. The wheat crop was fairly dry from June 1 to June 24, but since that time there has been plenty of rain with beneficial results to the crop. From all points come the reassuring words that the crops are in the best of condition. Only one point can be found which is a little worried. A hail storm occurred in the district of Chamberlain, which has already been published. This date, however, it is possible to estimate the damage to a certain extent and it would seem, according to reports, that the best part of the crop of the district has been ruined. With this one exception, Saskatchewan's crop for 1913 has a brilliant outlook.

MURDERER WOULD BLOW UP PRISON WARD ESCAPE

Daring Attempt Made by Prisoner Who Was Discovered With Bomb Ready

London, June 27.—Reynolds Forshey, who is serving a term of imprisonment at the Dannemora penitentiary for murder and burglary, was discovered last week engaged in constructing a dynamite bomb in his cell, and confessed that he intended to use the bomb for the purpose of blowing up the prison and making his escape. Forshey was removed to a solitary confinement under a double guard. Forshey is regarded as a most dangerous criminal, who before his incarceration was a noted burglar and gun man. He was sentenced to the Tombs prison last September while awaiting his trial, but was afterwards released on bail for $20,000. He was again imprisoned. He managed to escape by drilling his guard, and a window of his cell made his way to liberty through the air shaft. He succeeded in getting free he was surprised in an attempt to blow up the prison walls. He prepared a dynamite bomb, the materials for which had been smuggled into his cell by the prison's sweetest heart, Margaret Ryan. He was detected in the act of sawing through the bars of his cell, and a quantity of explosive material and iron implements were found concealed in his mattress. Margaret Ryan, managed to have conveyed to Forshey the explosive for the bomb and she had arranged to assist him in his escape. She was later taken to the prison. The girl cannot be found.

GLASGOW FOUNDS COLONY FOR EPILEPTICS

Pioneer Work Done By the Foremost of the World's Municipalities

GLASGOW, June 27.—The first Scottish colony for epileptics, under poor law auspices, which has been established by Glasgow parish council at Chryston, Lanarkshire, was formally opened last week. The colony has been erected on a site which was secured on lease, with the right of purchase if so desired, about a mile to the north of Chryston village. It comprises a considerable extent of farmland in an open, healthy district, and provides ample ground for the buildings which have been erected and for such additions as may be deemed necessary from time to time. The buildings include a recreation hall, seated for 320, and in connection with it a tennis ground. There are also six villa blocks, with accommodations in each for 60 patients, three being for males and three for females. Houses for the medical superintendent, tradesmen's houses, and a gate lodge. When the scheme was first contemplated the expenditure was anticipated to be about £20,000, but developments subsequently undertaken increased the figure to about $45,000, or about £145 per bed. The colony is under the control of Dr. Leonard D. H. Baugh, who was senior assistant in Glasgow Mental hospital and who has made epilepsy a special study. The Master of Polwarth remarked that many persons came to the institution who ought not to be there, because though they could not be cured, he knew that many of them were not what they had done, and therefore could not rightly be regarded as responsible for their actions under certain conditions. This step was a very important one, which he hoped would be further helped by the passing into law of the mental deficiency bill.

How Should Ladies Ride?

London, June 27.—King George, through an order to the management of the Olympia Horse Show, has declared himself opposed to ladies riding astride at least in informal parades before His Majesty. This fact would seem almost to settle once and for all the most vexed question in the English horse world. Woman competitors were invited to take part in the parade of prize-winners yesterday but before the king and queen and the French president were required by the management to use side saddles.

When asked why this edict was issued the Earl of Londsdale said: "By order of the king. His Majesty said that if ladies were to ride in the parade they should all ride with side saddles, as he did not wish any ladies to appear before him in any but the Buckingham riding habit, in honor of the French president was one of the most brilliant of the season's court functions. The guests numbered fully two thousand, and the glitter of uniform and of ladies' dresses, in which elaborate jeweled embroideries were a feature, made a magnificent picture. As a consequence of the order all the lady riders but one yesterday appeared in riding habits. The exception was little Alene Emmett, who is only nine years old.

A USELESS CUSTOM.

One foolish system in our form of administration is forcing a newly appointed member of a cabinet to go to his constituency for endorsement. This is a British custom, and has prevailed for years, and has been copied into the constitutions of all the different British dominions, there is no reason for the action.

Mr. Meighen has been appointed solicitor-general. He must return to his riding to secure the endorsement of the people who elected him. But Mr. Meighen is solicitor-general, not only for Portage La Prairie, but for all Canada. He is not getting the endorsement of all the people.

There is this danger in the system, which does not appear in this particular instance, because Mr. Meighen was not only the most likely member for the position, but will be returned doubtless without opposition. But let us suppose that two men are candidates for such position. The stronger man represents a close constituency. The weaker man represents a sure constituency. The government will give the preference to the weaker man.

The custom is out of date and should be eliminated.

The late J. B. Eselman lived in Calgary almost from the beginning of the town. He was straight and upright in all his dealing, a kindly man and anxious to do a friendly act, an intelligent member of the community and in every way a worthy citizen. He will be greatly missed.

The suggestion that the city should inaugurate some kind of pension for its tried and trusted employees is meeting with considerable approval throughout the city. The city should deal as justly and liberally with its employees as a private firm, and even a little better.

The city cannot afford to let Superintendent McCauley out of its service if possible to retain him. He has been a good official. Much of the success of the street railway has been due to his ability and untiring efforts. When the city has a good official it should hang on to him.

A MISTAKEN ASSUMPTION.

The Calgary News-Telegram favors the high level bridge because it is useful, even if not ornamental, and usefulness is the main thing. It says that this sort of bridge will best serve the purpose of the teamsters, and, after all, the structure is primarily not intended for ornament, but for use, and the lower the percentage of grade the easier it will be for hauling purposes, which is the main consideration with those who will mostly use this route into and out of the city. The News-Telegram favors the high level bridge, and condemns the Mawson plan without taking the trouble to acquaint itself with the details of either. If it had enquired it would have found that the high level bridge, however constructed, would have a grade of 4-1.2 per cent., and that the bridge planned by Mr. Mawson would have a grade of 3-1-2 per cent. With these facts The News-Telegram can proceed with its sermon about the advantages of low grades. Its conclusions are not incorrect, but its premises are a long way out.

Some people had the idea that a "high level bridge" proposed to cross the Bow river, meant what the words seem to imply, that the bridge was to be high and level. The fact of the matter is that it will be high at one end and low at the other, and level at neither. When you scale a bank from a level you have to go up hill some way.

The people who advocate the utilitarian in preference to the beautiful, to make their point in a concrete case must prove that the high level bridge is more useful. To do this they go on the incorrect assumption of The News-Telegram, that the grade is less, which is quite erroneous.

The fact of the matter is that the low bridge planned by Mr. Mawson will be more useful than the other because its grade is less and it is cheaper, which must be considered, and it is beautiful. These are the three considerations in building a bridge.

The government should pay for its own drill halls, sties and all. The present government says that the practice of asking aims of small cities in the way of free sites is a policy handed down from the late government, which may be true, but it is a very poor policy and should be discontinued.

It is true that the rainfall of the province is not as great as in some countries, but an inch of rain coming at the time we need it is of more value than a foot of rain coming when we do not need it.

COL. HUGHES' HUMOR.

It is true that we in the West do not thoroughly appreciate Hon. the Col. Sam Hughes or Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, or Sam the Col. Hon. Hughes. He is a humorist of a very subtle kind, who delights in saying things which surprise, dazzle, confuse, and mystify. For instance, we are all at the present time somewhat embarrassed financially. We are chasing a dollar frantically wherever we see one, not that we absolutely need it at all, but lest we should forget what one looks like. All the financiers, British, Canadian, and otherwise, declare that the stringency is caused by the Balkan war. In the Balkan war a million dollars or thereabouts were burned up, destroyed or wasted every day. Of course that cuts in somewhat on the supply. Besides that, warfare frightens the timid capitalists and money-lenders, and the people with ready cash put it into a strong box and hide it away in the cellar at this warlike season. And that is the reason, we are told, that we do have such difficulty in getting our money.

And so we have our stringency. But we do not see how we can get our money, or how we can develop regularly and keep a full supply of it. We have a surplus of money, but we do not see how we can get our money, or how we can develop regularly and keep a full supply of it.

Then along comes the jaunty Colonel Sam to tell us that wars never cause depressions and financial stringencies, or anything like that. Wars are trade tonics, and no successful country that is feeling just right commercially can afford to be without one.

Col. Sam has the financial authorities against him, and he has history against him. There was never such a grinding depression on this continent as during and shortly after the civil war in the United States. Then the United States dollars were selling for fifty and sixty cents in Canada. The Philippine war was a trifle as far as wars go, yet it had an appreciable effect upon the abounding prosperity in the United States. The South African war led to depression throughout the world. A war between two great nations would bankrupt the world.

So that Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes did not surely mean what he said. It was just his gay, humorous way.

Another strange, but on this occasion truthful, remark made by Col. Hughes was that wars were engineered by capitalists and certain financiers, who manipulate the stock market. That is true. Then the poor soldier has to step in and do the work and get killed, and that sort of thing. The selfish interests of certain South African millionaires brought on the South African war. The desire of some Americans to make their land holdings and franchises in Cuba more secure, and therefore more valuable, had much to do in bringing on the war between the United States and Spain. In this Col. Sam is pretty nearly right. If, then, wars are often a matter of intrigue between financiers for their own personal profit, why should men risk their lives in them as though for the glory of their country? If wars are so brought about, and few will deny that some of them at least are, why should we not agree always to have war preceded by an arbitration, so that such as are merely caused by financial intrigue may be brought to an end before they are started? Col. Hughes preached a good peace sermon on the tail end of his address.

And among the directors of the Letbridge fair, as shown in the gallery of notables in The Letbridge Herald are the genial features of C. E. Ekdstrom, who was a factor in western life until Letbridge dropped out of baseball. The methods of Mr. Ekdstrom when president of the league were very different from those of his successor. When Mr. Ekdstrom had any worries at all he just went down to Letbridge and forgot them. Blessed is the peacemaker!

And let us suppose that the Dominion government had taken $22,000,000 from the surplus of the year and sent it out west to be loaned to the farmers and others on a low rate of interest, to be repaid in due time. That would have frightened away the depression, given gloom a cold chill and made every person contented, happy and prosperous.

U. S. CURRENCY BILL.

The proposed currency law in the United States evolved by the joint efforts of the President and the Democratic members of the banking committees of the House and Senate, is clearly a compromise between those who believe that currency should be issued only by the government and those who favor a bank note circulation. It bears evidence also of a compromise between those who desire to have the government keep its available balances in its own vaults, and those who think that all government funds should be deposited in the banks, and payments made with checks thereon, just as individuals and corporations do business. It is a more liberal bill than was expected to meet the approval of some of the Democratic leaders, and it contains elements which will meet with opposition from men who have studied the problem from the point of view of the practical banker.

One of the clauses in the new bill provides for the establishment of fiscal agencies through whose medium the government will be enabled to relieve financial stringency at any time, by practically loaning to the banks of the country, upon gilt-edged security, the currency they may need, up to $500,000,000. Instead of the one United States bank, there are to be a number of fiscal agencies under the general direction of a central board to be appointed by the president. These fiscal agencies or federal reserve banks will have for stockholders the national banks in the various districts, receiving deposits only from their own stockholders and from the U. S. Government. They will serve an important purpose in rediscounting notes and fixing rates of discount.

These federal reserve banks will be the bankers for the banks of the country, and under certain restrictions, state banks and trust companies may become shareholders and depositors.

The federal reserve banks may apply to the government for an issue of currency, for which they must deposit bills and notes, which have rediscounted, without collateral and additional security as may be required. Each federal reserve bank is also required to maintain a specie reserve of thirty-three and one third per cent., against all notes received by it from the government and paid out of the banks.

There is no suspicion of fiat money. The new currency will be redeemable in gold at the United States treasury, or at the office of any of the federal reserve banks. The government will be protected from loss and bids fair to make some money from the operations of its fiscal agents, the federal reserve banks, whose stockholders are limited to a net return of five per cent. per annum.

The keynote of the United States bill is the lending of the credit of the nation, under suitable safeguards through the banks, to the people in the shape of a national currency.

And was it accident or design that the announcement of the appointment of Arthur Meighen to the cabinet was made a few hours after R. B. Bennett was out of sight and hearing on a ocean liner bound for the old land?

However beneficent the rain, stormy weather is bound to hit some person. And the rain which gave life to the crops blasted the hopes of the Letbridge fair.

J. G. Miller, an champion of Medicine Hat, has retired after 41 years of service. He never had a week and the only time last was the time it took him to come from Toronto to the Hat. That is a remarkable record, creditable to the Hat. That is a remarkable record, creditable to the Hat. That is a remarkable record, creditable to the Hat.

Letters to The Editor

About the High Level Bridge
Editor of Albertan:—Your estimate of the "North Hill crowd" certainly does you little credit. Perhaps if you had furnished reasons supporting the Mawson plan, your article might find justification in your eyes. Presuming we have no reasons you would give up the previous plan. We have reason on our side. The high level bridge is a permanent structure, intended to be sufficient for many years to come. There will be no congestion of traffic at either end no matter how great its increase may be.

Mr. Mawson recognizes a defect in his plan at the outset by reason of the expected congestion of traffic necessitating a tower and hoist to First Street east. The residents of the Hill a peculiar path, not exactly aesthetic, but none the less disagreeable.

This means that the Mawson plan is not a complete plan for the traffic of the hill and when complete the hill must always serve as a break in the traffic. It practically means that the cost of maintenance and repair must be a constant charge upon the residents of the Hill. Mawson's plan is precisely what we have now, with slight improvements and some further defects.

Centre Street means an expensive purchase of a portion of the hill. There is no money to buy this land for a year at least. What becomes of the bridge in the meantime? Then consider the curves, three or four of them; and remember the accident on the Riverside bridge for horses, that was caused by the momentum on the hill, so much as to bring on the rear end of the car raising the front end of the track at the point of contact. How many accidents such as that, would it take to pay for the bridge? How many accidents would it take to pay for the bridge? How many accidents would it take to pay for the bridge?

The distance must also be taken into consideration. Some say "no more height difference in the two structures and grade. The shorter distance for vehicles, and teams must certainly be the better, all else being equal. The difference in the grade of one foot per hundred to the present grade in the mud, and the mud would be from 200 to 300 feet shorter. The arguments in favor of the Mawson plan so far addressed are, first, it is aesthetically better, and secondly, it is a better grade for horse teams than the present grade. We wish no harm to Mr. Mawson. He has done good for the city already. We wish no harm to that sense of beauty has no right to interfere with the direct traffic of the city. Ho, which difference would be a difference of 1 foot in one hundred feet.

If it is a lower grade, this is fully met by the necessity of retaining walls and the necessity of retaining walls, the grade to the north. If you will see fit to agree with this question on its merits, and not ignore motives of ignorance, stupidity and prejudice when we are honestly trying to find out what would be for the best.

COUNTRY CLUBS
A country club is an institution invented for the purpose of letting city people get out into the country without bothering the farmers.

Country clubs are built for lovers of nature and contain all sorts of conveniences for enabling them to cook themselves in bucolic bliss including grill rooms, bars, golf courses, piano players and table d'hôte dinners. With the aid of these and other comforts a man can sit in the rathskeller of a country club and drink in the pure fresh air and other things until the last car leaves for the city. People who have had a long course in country clubs become so familiar of the joyous life of the rural districts that they distinguish between the turkey trot and Tango dances by ear and distinguish a bull frog from a bull calf with the skill of an old agriculturist.

Country club members are divided roughly into two classes—those who sow golf balls on the hill sides and those who sow wild oats in the grill room. These crops are not noticed in the agricultural reports but they are quite extensive nevertheless. The man who sows $197 worth of golf balls in a 140 acre weedow, harvests a pair of brown forearms in the gentle autumn, and the man who gives his earnest and undivided attention to the untrammeled oats crop, harvests the usual results but in a more stylish and exclusive manner, drawing a large and

Since the automobile has become prevalent country clubs have increased enormously in numbers and the town which does not now possess one is looked upon with scorn, even by rural communities. To enjoy nature in a country club a member should not put on overalls and a straw hat as large as a city voting precinct. To do so would excite as much unfavorable comment as if he were to be caught milking a cow. White flannel suits and Paris clothes together with a haughty and detached air are worn by city people with a monocle and borzette, secure the best results in these delightful rural retreats and a long line of well selected ancestors count for more on the country club circuit than the unporthoused cattle on a thousand hills.

HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY

A Gentleman of Our Acquaintance

Who might not be suspected of knowing much about his wife's hats and gowns, has lately acquired the habit of studying the advertising news of the Hudson's Bay. The result is that he has enjoyed no little amount of profitable diversion in helping his wife and the other members of the family make their selections of hats, shoes, hosiery, gloves and other apparel.

By friendly co-operation and discussion of the many attractive offerings announced from day to day, he proved himself of great assistance to his family and cured many weeks of irritating shopping experience into pleasant pastime.

He has demonstrated to his own satisfaction, that by a careful study of Hudson's Bay Store News, one may save time, money and patience in summer shopping. Also that it is a very good habit to study these announcements regularly and thoroughly in the quiet of the home circle.

Making Eyes at Him. There never was a sensible man who did not have profound admiration for a modest young girl.

He meets plenty of the other type of girls—the dash girls who are used to the minute as to fashion, whose glances are ever alert to see who is taking notice of them.

A man's friends would be quite sure that he had taken leave of his senses were he to fall in love with such a girl.

Do not marry the fellow unless you love him. Helen. I would not advise you to bother your head with the first fellow, either.

Dear Miss Libbey: During the last year I have been keeping company with a very attractive girl.

Wishes to Kiss Her? "Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl of 20, and have been keeping company with a young man one year, my senior.

Calgary Horse Won Big Event in Winnipeg Yesterday

Big League Race is Almost Half Finished, and Teams Are In Stride

Athletics and Phillies Still Hold Top Positions in Their Respective Leagues; Giants Are Running the Phillies Close Race

Table with columns for American League and National League, listing teams like Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, etc., with Won, Lost, and Pct. statistics.

WHAT THE BIG LEAGUERS DID DURING PAST WEEK

(By T. W. Nash) A NOTHER week of the baseball season of 1915 has passed into history. It is getting close to the middle of the season and nearly all the teams are now showing their true form. In the American league the Philadelphia Athletics have further increased their lead during the past week. They had a very successful stay at home, winning 23 out of 29 games. After their unusual long trip on their own grounds they did not seem to start on another trip last Wednesday. A change of scene is bound to do them good. Since the Cleveland Naps returned home from the eastern trip they have not been displaying the great form they did before they came east. They are therefore dropping in percentage nearly every day, although still in second place. Washington Pitchers Fail. The Washington pitchers have been displaying very poor form of late, for even the great Walter Johnson was pounded for 21 hits by the Philadelphia Athletics on last Wednesday. Unless they take a decided brace very soon they will be passed by the champion Boston Red Sox, who have struck the brace so confidently predicted, and who promise to make fun all through the league from now on. The Chicago White Sox have been playing a rather inconsistent game, and they will be lucky to finish in the first division. Tigers and Browns Hopeless. The Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Browns have very little chance of getting any higher in the race and they will likely be passed by Chancery's New York Yanks, provided they continue to show the same brand of ball they have been showing since they traded Hal Chase. National League. Since the Phillies returned from their western trip they have taken on a decided brace, winning all four games at Boston. They are now home for a stay of one month and should tighten their hold on first place during that time. The New York Giants are not at all close to the Phillies as they were at this time last week. However, they look to be far better than any other team in the league and it is going to be a battle between them and the Phillies until the end of the season.

RAIN STOPPED TWO OF THE W. C. L. GAMES

Calgary-Saskatoon and Edmonton-Moose Jaw Battles Postponed

While the easterners are dropping from heat prostration and watching the clouds for a welcome sign of rain Western Canadians, especially those who live in Alberta, are going about bundled in heavy wraps and rain coats waiting for the uncomfortable wet weather to clear up. This good-for-the-crowd weather was not desired for baseball fans at any rate and yesterday two of the games in the Western Canada League had to be postponed.

Thirteen Western Canadian League Players Are Homesteaders

American Ball Men, Seeing Advantages of the Last Great West, Swear Allegiance to King and File On Quarter Sections

Members of Homesteaders Club. Bill Hurley, manager Saskatoon Quakers; Bill O'Brien, third base; Calgary; Percy Manning, pitcher, Saskatoon; Jimmy Flanagan, right field; Calgary; Ducky Holmes, second base, Saskatoon; Sam Vivian, second base, Calgary; Cruikshank, right field, Saskatoon; Walter Frank, pitcher, Calgary; Harper, short stop, Saskatoon; Phil, Dellar, pitcher; Fred Chubb, first base, Saskatoon; Art Theisen, pitcher; Kid Ford, pitcher, Saskatoon. By JOE PRICE. THE rush of American immigrants to Western Canada is becoming a fact of life and the thousands of young Americans who have come to this country have brought with them their institutions and one of the chief of these is baseball. Baseball it must be admitted, had taken an important place in the life of the west and in many parts of the country has superseded the Canadian national game, lacrosse. Most of the baseball players are Americans, who have come here from altogether different motives than prompted the majority of the newcomers. Free land did not attract them. They came here because they could not get any more in their old country. They were doing something in the world, practically forced every one of them to come in order to earn a living. But the opportunities of Western Canada, the lure of the west, presented itself to these men who had come here almost against their will, and the result is that a large number of them have sworn allegiance to the King and have become good Canadian citizens. Perhaps all this is a round about manner of remarking upon the number of baseball players in the Western Canada League who have taken up quarter sections. Next winter in Alberta alone no less than 25 baseball players will be active baseball players, men whose term of usefulness as players is not passed and who in fact very young men who have good prospects of getting into faster company, will be doing something in the world, presented to them by the government. Ten of this number are located within three miles of each other and form one of the strangest and most remarkable colonies in Western Canada. Two of them are less than 15 baseball players in the city of Calgary, and the thirteenth, Kid Ford, has already taken up his quarter section in the country long enough to form one of the strangest and most remarkable colonies in Western Canada. JACK JOHNSON CANNOT BE STOPPED BY THE IMMIGRATION MEN

Has Through Ticket to France, Purchased in Chicago, and Cannot Be Turned Back. Presents Himself to Officers, Who Are Helpless; Had No Trouble in Crossing Line.

Ottawa, June 22.—The immigration authorities at Ottawa were told that Jack Johnson cannot be held under the Canadian immigration law and sent back to the United States if he has through transportation and makes use of it. If he has a ticket to sail for France on Tuesday he cannot be stopped under the immigration law, but regular extradition proceedings may be undertaken by the American authorities. The preliminary steps in extradition proceedings are entirely within the provincial government and the local court. Montreal, June 21.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, accompanied by his wife, Johnson, is expected to sail for Havre on Allan line steamship Sunday morning. Canadian immigration officers located Johnson late today with a view to making summary arrest and sending him back to Chicago with the restrictions of the immigration law. Johnson, in response to a demand of the officials, produced a ticket to Havre, purchased in Chicago. By this bit of strategy Johnson has managed to get past the immigration authorities. They are powerless to act further. Johnson is expected to leave the country on the ship on which he is booked to sail. As soon as he becomes officially known to the authorities that Johnson was up to the effort was made to locate him. All day the immigration officials sought him until he was located at the Hotel Hamilton. He had an opportunity to question him, but he claims to have eaten his dinner while riding in motor car. He has already proved up on his land, and on June 22 he purchased two through tickets for the Allan line steamship, one for himself and one for his wife. He boarded a train from Toronto for Hamilton on Tuesday and motored to Toronto. He entered a state room just before the train departed for Montreal. He was questioned by immigration officials at the Canadian border, he replied that he had no conversation with officials of any kind that he experienced no difficulty in crossing the line. Johnson claims to be a Toronto story of the baseball team and films mouse-tails as a "rank fact" stating that he was fully advised of his rights and privileges before leaving Chicago. Having answered the "special" questions satisfactorily, Johnson was allowed to depart, but it is understood a further investigation will be made before he goes aboard the ship. The immigration officials stated that they were acting in conformity of the United States authorities and at the American immigration offices it was no official communication with reference to Johnson had been received from Washington or Chicago.

HAMILTON RACES

Hamilton, Ont., June 21.—Sport today was varied but as the weather was good and the track was in good condition, the races were well attended. The feature of the day was the race between the two-year-old colts, when Wallace Blake went down and out, but was quickly brought back to the track by the jockey. The race was a close one, with Blake leading until the last lap, when he was overtaken by the other colt. The result was a tie. Other races were also well contested, with the favorite winning in each case. The following are the results of the races: First race, Maple Leaf, 3 years old, foaled in Canada, Maiden stakes, 5 furlongs, won; Slipper, 2 years old, second; Mofan, third. Time 1:11. Second race, 3 years old, 5 furlongs, Regogram, won; Diamond, second; Blake, third. Time 1:11. Third race, 3 years old, 5 furlongs, Regogram, won; Diamond, second; Blake, third. Time 1:11. Fourth race, 3 years old, 5 furlongs, Regogram, won; Diamond, second; Blake, third. Time 1:11. Fifth race, 3 years old, 5 furlongs, Regogram, won; Diamond, second; Blake, third. Time 1:11. ### LITTLE STORIES ABOUT BASEBALL

(By W. A. PHELON)

"That Ball Will Always Be Fair"

Tim Hurst—would that he could see him back in the game once—never had an equal for firmness, positiveness, or assertive convictions. When Mr. Hurst said a thing, there was no changing his decision. He stood by his verdict on the ball field, and he'd stand by it ever after. If you don't believe it, ask Jake Stahl, or William Armour, or the Cleveland club, struggling hard for the pennant with its usual determination—and usual failings—was at Washington, and the Senators, down near the bottom, but fighting hard, were watching him against them. It was the seventh inning; the tab was 2 to 2 in Washington's favor, and Cleveland had the sacks populated, with two among the hitters.

any Washington man would think about that decision. Cleveland won out, and Hurst, pursued by the impressions of the home team and a few hot bottles, stalked from the field to his hotel. After supper Tim sat in the lobby, cooling his heels, while a hard, grim look seemed to have frozen itself upon his jaws. While he was thus communing with himself, Bill Armour, then scouting for Detroit, came up to him. "Say, Tim," nickered Bill Armour, merely, "about that decision today. Say, on the level, Tim, was that ball fair or foul? Looked like a foul to me."

NOW GRAND CIRCUIT STAR NO WGRAND CIRCUIT STAR

Owner Discovered Cheap Horse Could Pace, Tried Him Out and Uncovered Find

In the entry lists of the early closing events on the grand circuit this year appears the following: "Tom King, ch. g. pedigree not traced, T. D. King, Irone, S. D." And thereby hangs a tale.

Not so many moons ago, perhaps two years, a herd of broncho ponies was on sale in the northwest, the entire consignment being put up one at a time as per regular auction, and sold to the highest bidder. Among the prospective purchasers was a gentleman by the name of T. J. King, a prosperous business man of Irone, S. D. Mr. King, seeing a certain pony in the lot that he admired, bid $25 and got the broncho, which he had shipped to his home. It is not clear just what King intended to do with the horse, but in the course of time it was found that the broncho could pace, and pace like a whirlwind.

before the grand circuit opened, and he was compelled to see his pride lay up for the season. However, he has regained his form this year and King has decided to take one more chance with the horse which he named for himself, as can readily be seen. In these days of track horses, plow horses, mail wagon horses, etc., on the grand circuit, Tom King takes his place above them all, for he is the only out and out wild horse of the plains that ever broke into select company and made good.

CON JONES OFFERS FLEMING $1,000 FOR FITZ

Vancouver, June 28.—President Con Jones of the Vancouver Lacrosse club, last night wired R. J. Fleming of the Toronto 6 flat offer of $1,000 for the services of Billy Fitzgerald for the remainder of the season of 1913. While the Greenhirts are tugging the Salmon bellies in the Minto cup series at the rate of four games to one, Mr. Jones in the meanwhile has had Hyland in the field and "Boss" Johnson in goal he can still impress on the man from the Fraser that the Minto cup is still an object of serious competition. Johnson will make his professional debut in the game at Victoria today. Harry Hyland is due in Vancouver today and Fitz may come. To Fitzgerald more than any other player was due the annexation of the Minto cup by Vancouver in 1911, and there are a lot of Vancouver fans who put in with the president that with these players operating on the Greenshirt lineup the cup may come this way again.

CHAMPION WILLIE RITCHEIE MAY TELL SECRETS

Lightweight Title Holders Now Threatens To Tell World Troubles With Nolan

San Francisco, June 27.—"Just one word more from Nolan and I'll tell the real cause of our troubles," said Willie Ritchie here today in discussing his break with his former manager, and Nolan's alleged reference to him since that time as an "ingrate."

Ritchie is good and hot under the collar, following the reading of a statement attributed to Nolan after their final parting at Graneys place the other afternoon, when Nolan refused to shake hands with the fighter. At the last conference it was agreed between them that once they came to a final statement there would be no mud-slinging and they would remain friends. The last words spoken in the conference room came from the third party, called in to act as an arbitrator. "Well, boys," he said, "I hope we will continue to be friends." "Why certainly," said Nolan and Ritchie, almost in unison. "Nolan Forgets Agreement." Nolan forgot his part of the agreement the next afternoon after Ritchie had signed $3,000 over to him in settlement of all claims. That Nolan may have against him and after Ritchie an in-grate before a crowd he gave out an interview in which he scored the champion. "Nolan is a closed incident in my life," Ritchie said in San Rafael, "and while his remarks were unbecoming to say the least, I will pay no attention to them. If he again attacks me I will defend myself by telling the world a lot of things. I would dislike to be forced to do this, but if there is any more mud-slinging on Nolan's part I am going to take a hand in it myself."

GRANEY TO REFEREE THE BIG MATCH ON JULY 4

San Francisco, June 27.—Weighting just 135 pounds, Willie Ritchie starts today on the real grind of preparation of the bout here with Joe Rivers, July 4, which scrap, it has been agreed, will be refereed by "Eddie" Graney, promoter of the mill.

R Ritchie looks strong and well. He declares he will make the weight of 134 and be in perfect condition to defend his title. At the beach Rivers is working steadily every day. No figures have been given out as to his weight, but there is little doubt that he can get inside the poundage without trouble. There is little betting as yet, but Ritchie is a ten to eight favorite in what little money has been placed. R Is Prince Ferdinand Carlos Madrid, June 27.—Don Jaime, second son of the king of Spain, who has been dead and dumb since his birth five years ago, is said to have unaccountably improved in health since his recent operation in Switzerland. When a book was dropped on the floor behind him he started perceptibly, and is now confidently hoped that he will be cured of his deafness and perhaps in time taught to speak. The new Spanish prince, the latest child of King Alfonso, will be named Ferdinand Carlos.

To Teach Baseball as Profession

Charlie Carr to Open Real Baseball School

Good-bye to the sand lots and their help in developing baseball players. The player of the future will be a man who knows the theory of the game as well as the practical side. At least that's what Charlie Carr, the boss of the visiting Kaws, has to say.

Charlie is going to open up a baseball school at San Antonio in October. He admits that lots of fun has been looked at his scheme, but declares the wise heads of the baseball world, such as Connie Mack and Muggsy McGraw, approve the school idea, and would like to see the "B. B."—bachelor of baseball Graney, promoter of the mill. Another class will be for boys who want to make a college team. Carr has 300 acres at San Antonio and expects to have twenty separately fenced-off diamonds ready for play next spring. His contract with the Chamber of Commerce calls for ten teams to train there in the spring. He has, seventeen lined up to date. He hopes to make the Texas town the mecca for baseball in March. Charlie has dotted out his plans, he expects to have a specialist in every department. For pitching he will have one of the wisest fingers who ever threw the slab. He would not reveal the names of the men on his "faculty," but he says they will be famous in their lines. He promises his students lectures from the best men in the profession. To Eliminate Boners. To teach the game as a science and eliminate boned plays is Charlie's idea. He will have class rooms, text books, blackboards and lectures, just the same as a teacher teaching any other science. For his laboratories he has the diamonds on his 200-acre plot. Charlie says he expects to divide his classes. He will have a division for the boys picked from amateur teams who have ability, but no knowledge of the game. He will educate them with the idea of landing them league berth leaguers who want to go up. Another class will be for men drafted by the big league clubs and whose one opportunity may rest in the chance they will get on draft. Another class will be for boys who want to make a college team. Charlie says a few A. A. players will take a course at the school. Some thirty youngsters will be turned over to him by McGraw and Mack for development. And when it comes to that, Charlie is a pretty clever developer. He sent Marquard and Bush to the majors. Wales in An Aeroplane. London, June 27.—It has now only transpired that the Prince of Wales made a cruise in an army airship about for half an hour at L'ambourne observation was made of the event at the time, and the news was disclosed in the war office routine report of the work of the royal flying corps last night. Graney Will Referee. San Francisco, June 27.—Eddie Graney has accepted the invitation extended by Lightweights champion Willie Ritchie and Joe Rivers to referee their 20-round bout on July 4.

NEXT WEEK'S ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATRES

Sherman Grand.
First three nights, with special matinees Domblon Day and Wednesday, "The Red Widow," a musical comedy with Raymond Hitchcock and Flora Zabelle as the stars.

Last three nights, with matinees daily, Orpheum Vaudeville, offering as a special feature William Fox, and Monday, "Speaking to Father," a new playlet by George Ade.

Lyric.
Two performances every night, with matinees daily. Musical comedy "The Girl Question," next week's offering.

Every night, including two performances Saturday night, matinee daily. Partridge Vaudeville. New bill opens Monday night.

Local Musical Gossip of the Week.
The announcement made through the press last week that the work of remodeling the Lyric theatre was well undertaken immediately, met with a hearty response during the week and a good proportion of the chorus is already enrolled. It is very important that any singers who desire to identify themselves with the choir make personal application at once to the conductor, Mr. F. L. Cavendish, who will be leaving shortly for a vacation and desires to have the enrollment of the chorus completed as early as possible so that there may be no unnecessary delay in commencing the season's work early in September.

The month of July, from a musical standpoint, will be important in the fact that the two largest pipe organs in the city will be installed in Knox and Grace Presbyterian churches, respectively. The Knox organ, which has been built by Cassavant Bros., will be one of the largest and most complete instruments in western Canada while the Grace organ, built by the Canadian Pipe Organ Co., will also be very complete. Both instruments will be ready for use by the first of the month. The work of installing them will be completed shortly.

The audience which turned out to hear Raymond Hitchcock on Wednesday night was very disappointing in numbers, especially in view of the fact that the singer is a Canadian girl and has returned to her native soil with the endorsement of prominent teachers and critics in her own country. It seems unfortunate that there should be such indifference to musical events of this nature and one can only be charitable enough to attribute it to the season of the year. It is understood that Miss Toye will give another recital here later in the season, in which event she will undoubtedly attract a much larger audience.

Raymond Paine Coming!
Raymond Paine in the "Girl Question" which Miss Toye and Boyle Woolf's "Chicklets" as added features, will be the attraction at Lyric theatre next week. Mr. Paine made his first success as a star in the "Kid" which he duplicated the following season in the millionaire part. Mr. Paine has graduated from melodrama however and will play the part of Con. Ryan in the "Girl Question." Mr. Paine is surrounded by an extraordinary company for a local musical comedy, which with the catchy songs and numerous specialties makes the "Girl Question" the run of all miniature musical comedies. "Oh! Gee, De Sweet to Me Kid," which is considered by the critics, melody has ever written "Alabama," (new song interpolation recently written by Boyle Woolf), "Waltz Me Until I am Dreamy," "Dramatic Reg," etc.

Playwright in Pulpit.
Charles Rann Kennedy filled the pulpit of St. Christopher's Episcopal church at Oak Park, Chicago, one recent Sunday morning, and all his parishioners turned out to hear him discourse on "Stained Glass Religion and Real Religion." Among other things his impressive dramatist of "The Service in the House" said was this: "We look at the stained glass windows of our churches and do often come to the conclusion that the figures represented there are typical of the Christians of the time of our Saviour. Let me tell you that Bible people were not of the stained glass variety; they were just common, every day folk, like you and me. They laughed and joked and maybe guessed a bit and were happy in the small things just as we are today."

Kennedy is perhaps best known to Calgary as the husband of Edith Wynne Methlison. He once played in Ben Greig's company.

Theatrical Event of the Season

The most important theatrical event of the year has been left for the fall dates. The occasion being the appearance of the popular comedian, Raymond Hitchcock, and a company of eighty people in the sensational musical comedy "The Red Widow," which will be the attraction at the Sherman Grand for five performances starting Monday night, and include special matinees Domblon Day and Wednesday, "The Red Widow," a musical comedy with Raymond Hitchcock and Flora Zabelle as the stars.

The story concerns Cleo Hanibal Butts, a cornet manufacturer (Mr. Hitchcock), who after some time in the music hall in London with Mrs. Butts (Flora Zabelle) and Oswald Butts (George White), he is returning to Russia and at the last minute his wife's desire to travel is nipped by the announcement that she is to present a suffragan petition to parliament. So the passport for Butts and his wife is cancelled and he is forced to return to Russia. Butts does not know until it is too late that the beautiful lady is a Russian nihilist. Once in Russia at a fashionable hotel in St. Petersburg, he falls in love at the Caar's winter palace, one may say at a glance the opportunity for "action." This comes thick and lively, until the real Mrs. Butts finally turns up and saves Raymond Hitchcock from having his eyes burned out with red hot poker and a life sentence to the Siberian mines. Hitchcock has never had a better chance to display his particular brand of characterization.

BILLIE SEATON.
In Orpheum Vaudeville at the Sherman Grand Next Week.

Local Stage Gossip.
After the engagement of "The Red Widow" next week, there will be only two attractions of importance at the Sherman Grand during the month of July, but at least one of them is one of the most notable engagements of the season. "The Red Widow," one of the strongest dramatic casts assembled in recent years, comes to the Sherman Grand for three nights beginning July 1, and when it is stated that such stage celebrities as Robert Elsson, Wilton Laokava, Max Fignman, Rose Coghlin and Lolita Robertson constitute the cast, it can be appreciated what a dramatic treat is in store for local theatregoers.

Later in the month, we will have a Law Field's musical production, "Honey Honey" and again in the case of "The Peacocks," the original New York cast.

Theatrical stars have long since formed the habit of assuming fictitious names when adopting a stage career, by reason of family pride and others from a desire to flourish under a more romantic name than nature had bestowed on them. In the case of Flora Zabelle, who here next week as leading lady in "The Red Widow," which prompted her to cast aside her real name of Zabelle Mangasarjan for the name of Zabelle, which she adopted. She sat down one day and counted up the letters in her real name and found a total of the same in electric lights in front of a theatre, and in a spirit of pure coincidence decided on the name by which she is now known. In private life, Miss Zabelle is proud to be known as Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock.

All local theatregoers, especially those who have come from the old land, will be glad to learn that the famous English actor, Cyril Maude will come to America next season with his London company for a tour of twenty weeks which will include a three night engagement in Calgary. His repertoire will include some of the best known plays, such as "The Second in Command," "The Beauty and the Beast," "The Headmaster," and "The Flag Lieutenant." He may also appear as Signor Scazzini "The School for Scandal."

Lewis Waller, whose local engagement at the Sherman Grand was one of the real treats of the season, opens a tour of Australia next week which will likely extend over three months. While there he intends to try a new play, "The Fair Highwayman," and if it proves successful he will likely return to offer it in America. MacFetheridge is still a member of his company as is also her husband, Charles Quarterman.

When the new season rolls around it will find a number of new foreign plays listed for production in New York. Most of these will be operated by American producers. Klaw and Erlanger will offer the rights to "Envious Butterfly," a new Chinese operetta which has been produced simultaneously in New York and Vienna. The piece is by Mr. Granichsteadten, who offers "The Merry Widow." Another production will be "The Ideal Wife," by Franz Lehar, author of "The Merry Widow." The Shuberts have the three-act operetta "Lieutenant Capriolen," of French origin, which may be brought out before next fall. It is now running in Brussels. Worms and Luescher have accepted "The Vagabond Princess," by Mr. Granichsteadten, but no arrangements have been made for its production here. Charles Frohman plans an early fall production of "The Doll Girl," by Leo Fall, who wrote the Dolles prize

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK AND FLORA ABELLE. With a Group of Dancers Appearing in the Famous Musical Comedy, "The Red Widow."

Strong Orpheum Bill for Fair Week.
Next week Manager Baker promises a bill of exceptional merit for Exhibition week, many of the features being national headlines in their respective classes and each and every one of them will be certain to be awarded the "plus ribbon" and what is more, the author wrote at the special request of Mr. Pollock, the two having been life-long friends. Mr. Pollock is one of the veterans of the stage, having been an actor and stage director so long that he cannot remember when he started in.

The first of the features will be Milton Pollock and his company in "Speaking to Father," one of George Ade's inimitable creations, which the author wrote at the special request of Mr. Pollock, the two having been life-long friends. Mr. Pollock is one of the veterans of the stage, having been an actor and stage director so long that he cannot remember when he started in.

Next there will come a little bit of anything the twice over you away from the theatre wondering how the man ever does the apparently impossible. Several mysterious boxes have been received at the Empire theatre, New York, from Miss Blanche Bates, one of the Charles Frohman stars. Now on tour in the far west in "The Witness for the Defence." The boxes were carefully packed and there was nothing at all on the outside to indicate the contents. With this also came a note from Miss Bates requesting that they be forwarded as quickly as possible to her farm at Ossining. Naturally there has been considerable speculation about the Frohman offices as to what the boxes contained and the other morning the mystery was solved.

When the mail man arrived that morning he handed Peter, who looks after the mail, a box from which sounds issued—sounds like "Peep! Peep!"

Peter decided to see what was inside and a small puncture showed him that it was—chickens.

Miss Bates has been sending "pettings" of particularly fine eggs that she has found along the side of a road to her farm where she makes a specialty of raising chickens. This particular "setting" had hatched out.

Peter got a small crate and put the chicks in it and let them continue their flight from the farm by express, as Uncle Sam refuses to transport live stock by parcel post.

Scarlet Fever in Saskatoon.
Saskatoon, Sask., June 27.—An outbreak of scarlet fever in the Saskatoon Collegiate Institute is reported by the health department and every pupil has been cleared out of the entire building while it is disinfected and fumigated from one end to the other. Seven cases were discovered this morning, the majority of which were just about to take their examinations for entrance to the university.

Billie Burke Finds a Way to "Reduce."
Every woman—that is, almost every woman—at some time or other in her career, wants to know how to "reduce." Well, Miss Billie Burke has discovered an easy way of doing it. She learned the secret while playing "Tommy" in "The Amazons" at the Empire theatre, New York, the piece in which she is to be seen on the road in the autumn.

When Miss Burke began her engagements in "The Amazons" at the Empire, she weighed exactly 135 pounds. At the end of two weeks she tipped the beam at just 118 pounds. Seven pounds off in fourteen days or half a pound a day—that isn't bad at all. And how did she do it? "I didn't," she says. "I know I wouldn't hardly believe it—I know I wouldn't myself—but it really is the truth. You know that scene in 'The Amazons' where she is a gymnast and in the course of the act I go through a very simple exercise with a light barbell. I jump about too, with the other members of the cast in quite a lively dance, but the whole thing doesn't last more than five minutes at the outside and the exercises with the barbell are such as any woman, no matter how weak she may be when she starts, can take very easily. The only thing is—and this is the real secret, it seems to me—that she must do it regularly at the same time each day."

A physical culture teacher once told me that was the chief thing in taking exercise—the taking it regularly or at different times during the day. And my experience in "The Amazons" has proved to me conclusively that this is true. You know, of course, that when one starts out to take calisthenic exercise, after a day or two it becomes real drudgery and one is very apt to put it off or let it go until one has more leisure or something of that sort. In "The Amazons," however, the exercises were so arranged that they were so interesting that one was very apt to put it off or let it go until one has more leisure or something of that sort. In "The Amazons," however, the exercises were so arranged that they were so interesting that one was very apt to put it off or let it go until one has more leisure or something of that sort.

Canada in the Drama.
"A vivid picture of Canadian life," is the description given by a critic in the United States of "The Royal Mounted," a four-act drama by Cecil B. de Mille. The story of the play concerns Victor O'Brien, Irish sergeant of the Canadian Mounted Police, who is ordered to Russell's lumber camp in the Great Elk in search of a fugitive. He meets Rosa Larabee, sister of a guide and trapper, falls in love with her and learns that the accused man is her brother. Partly for love of Rosa, and partly because Sam Larabee shot for a just cause, O'Brien lets Sam escape. Before leaving the vicinity as a prisoner for his breach of duty, O'Brien makes the discovery that the murdered man was a fugitive from justice, and that Larabee is entitled to a reward instead of punishment. Thus is the happy ending achieved.

It might be said by some that a Canadian play could not be made about civilized people, because such a drama might just as well be located in New England or Washington or some other typically American centre. It is when some writer recognizes that this is very far from being true that we shall see a play which gives us Canada. We have national modes of thought, national manners and national traits of character, by which any discerning Englishman or American can readily tell a Canadian in a very few minutes, even though we all speak the same language with variations. Perhaps a dramatist will come along in the dim future with the power to put our national atmosphere on the stage. Then, and not till then, will we have a "vivid picture" of Canada.

CALGARY CONDITIONS THAT MAKE THE PUBLIC MARKET AN IMPERATIVE NECESSITY

Shortage of Money in the City Treasury and Delay of Public Work, and the General Financial Necessity; Hard Winter Coming; Economy Is the Watchword

SHORTAGE of money in the city treasury with which to carry on public works, the delay in opening up of city work and the consequent shortening of the season, the general financial stringency and the heavy work compared with former years—these are conditions which make a public market an imperative necessity in Calgary.

Charity and social service workers in the city are also hard hit. Money is not likely to be plentiful. It is sincerely hoped that market movement may be such as to allow of laboring people, whose condition offers a discouraging outlook, said a disinterested observer, to be able to purchase their necessities for much less than usual.

The saving of even a few cents on each article of food, when there are several mouths to feed, the vigor with which the women are handling their campaign for the copper coin is commendable.

While it may be to the advantage of the limited few to prevent the introduction of this convenience, it will be at the expense of a large proportion of the population who can ill afford the unnecessary expenditures of even a single dime.

One hundred and fifty dollars more or less per year may seem a small amount to some people in Calgary, but there are many more to whom this sum represents the difference between green enough and actual hardship.

Mrs. E. F. Newhall, president of the Consumers' League, regards the introduction of this currency as one of the most important results of the reorganization of the market. If the copper coin can be placed in circulation and be made acceptable at the banks, and at the shops, an economic revolution may be effected.

The introduction of the coin allows of prices between 5c, 10c, 15c and 25c; it increases competition and educates the public to eliminate waste as far as possible.

Although the bear dog trade has reflected the petition of the women to circulate this coinage, it may be possible through the market to direct public opinion to a point where it will be to their advantage to acquiesce.

BAD COAST INDIAN TO BE HANGED IN SEPTEMBER

Committed a Number of Murders (Sentenced for Killing a Provincial Constable)

Vancouver, June 27.—Paul Spintium, an Indian, was found guilty at Westminster today of the murder of Provincial Constable Kindness near Clinton on May 31, 1912. This is the second time that the Indian has been sentenced to trial for his crime. He was sentenced to be hanged in September 12. At the previous trial at Spintium and his companion, Jess Paul, another Indian, at Vernon, the jury disagreed. Paul will now be tried as an accessory to the crime. Both men had been arrested on the morning of the killing at the place where they were hunting a Chinaman was found butchering the man being a hatchet. The trail was followed up eventually to the hiding retreat Spintium and Paul took refuge behind a log from which they fired on the constable. King had been shot in the back and the constable was killed. The provincial government to dispossess the chiefs of the tribes who were harassing their camps and their title and dignities that they were delivered up to justice. Spintium maintained the entire trial and made no remarks when the capital sentence was passed in due form.

CALGARY INDIAN WAS DROWNED AT FORT SASKATCHEWAN

William G. Sexton Fell Into the River While Trying to Get a Log With a Grappling Iron.

Edmonton, June 27.—Standing on a boom trying to get a log out of the water at Fort Saskatchewan by means of a grappling iron this morning William G. Sexton of Calgary lost his balance and fell into the water in full view of his young wife, and before assistance could be obtained was swept away by the current and drowned. Mr. Sexton was visiting M. Goodron of Fort Saskatchewan along with his wife, who he accompanied to the river bank, where he was taking Mrs. Sexton because of the fact that they were staying themselves on the river bank in the manner described when the husband came to the water's edge and was immediately instituted by a party, but by this evening the body had not been recovered. Deceased is a Calgary man and lived at 412 Lougheed building.

This afternoon it was reported that Mr. Sexton had been seen in the sawmills had recovered a lady's hat from the water. It was reported that this hat was the property of one of the women who met death last evening in the Saskatchewan river.

DOMINIC MCCARTHY AGAIN HELD AS GAMBLER

Well-known Calgary Character Annexes Farmer's Watch and Chain on Train.

Domino McCarthy was again in trouble last night, and only through a friend produce a bail bond for $100 did he escape spending the night in the police station. Domino's old failure of having a long for gambling was the cause of his trouble. McCarthy, who is known to the Calgary police as an inveterate gambler, was on his way from Lebride to Calgary yesterday, when a chance for an easy game presented itself. Alex. Robinson, a farmer from the south of Lebride, consented to be led into a game of poker for small stakes, but before he had finished, Domino had annexed the Robinson watch and chain, valued by Alex. at $35.50.

Robinson opened up his vest valve when he landed at the C.P.R. station and Detective Hitchcock was attracted to the glimmer of the watch and chain. McCarthy and Robinson identified the gambler as the man who had taken the watch. Hitchcock placed McCarthy under arrest on a charge of gambling.

HALF THE YEAR GONE AND MOST OF THE RECEPTION FUND EXPENDED

The Reception Committee of the City Council has come through half of the year with but one third of the sum of $15,000 provided by the bylaw, left to the city's credit, including the grant of $2,500, prudently appropriated to the Board of Trade and sundry other grants. The Reception Committee has "gone through" the sum of $8,800 and $2,500 remains out of this must cover the expenses of Ald. Ramsey, Crumpton and Costello to Saskatoon.

There is, however, the sum of $3,000 of last year's expenditure included in the sum that last year's expenditure amounted to $13,000 of which $11,500 was expended to the general estimate. The aldermen insist that the whole amount of $15,000 should be charged to the general estimate. The city solicitor refused to allow his decision. The Reception Committee was unanimous in declining that when the fund is absorbed the expenditure shall cease, and the committee shall disband. There will be no over-expenditure this year.

BARNYARD PHENOMENA ARE OUT IN WASHINGTON

Everett, Wash., June 28.—Jay Sigworth, a poultry fancier of Gold Bar, is the proud possessor of three chickens which are very barnyard freaks. All three have been hatched within the last ten days, and Sigworth is wondering what new evolution his chickens will spring on him next. He defies even Winsted, Conn., to beat the following combination:

A White Leghorn hen hatched one chick which has refused to develop the tiniest speck of down and runs about as naked as a lizard. A Rhode Island Red chick has a well defined horn protruding from near the tip of the beak, caused by a malformation of the C.P.R. officials also promised to aid in pressing the charge before Magistrate Sanders this morning.

Auto Race Ends Fatally.

Crookston, Minn., June 27.—While speeding an auto last evening, Harry Hitchcock, Arthur Bolser and Emma Wright of this city, Nettie Berg of Soke, and Maxie Long of Thief River Falls were hurled out when the auto turned turtle and was demolished. Weight and Miss Berg were not expected to live.

HOLD UP MAN STILL A RELIC OF EARLY DAYS IN THE WEST

Doted over the west as is inevitable, are many survivals from the days of six-shooter, pony express, standoff, whoop-up, and all the ancient. Change has followed change with such celerity that there are many more silver-men who would be hurt if you called them old—who trekked west when Fort Benton was of the importance that now is Butte. Fort Benton was a trading post on the Missouri; Butte is a city of stone blocks, with its streets pouring out smoke into the air. Lowell, in his book on "Mars and the Canals," says that to see the Indians now—40 days ago should go to (among other places) the plateau west of the Missouri. Within a few years a footnote may be needed to that remark. Yet, despite the change upon change, there are tracts of country in Idaho and Nevada outlaw horse room. Traveling by motor car (automobiles are taking the place of many stage coaches) in the valleys of the Rocky mountains, bear can be seen among the wild berry patches.

Out west I darest half the ranchmen are on the telephone. When they go into town they expect to be waited on by men in evening dress in the hotels they select, and to have fingers shown when they are "strongly" driving home to the ranch, they may pause at some "park" and observe that it is flooded—signifying that beavers have been at work.

The parade of veterans at Calgary, before the Duke of Connaught and a hint of the romance of the west, and how the old and the new overlap. What of a man who adventured into the deep valleys of the Rockies and the Selkirk before the railways were through. Give either his hand, and he has lived to see the cattle ousted, and the advent around him of the "raisin-cherries"—and meander among the trees. "All drilled in a straight line" sprays them. If some of the such a man instead of "making good" on the newcomers, "goes off the handle" his days are over. He is a different breed from the "bookback toughs," as they are called, who now and then make a bid for notoriety, and the penitentiary, among the central or western states, he is a different breed upon a train. These are city-bred, perhaps as sand-baggers—in Chicago, perhaps. It is the other type that wins a kind of sneaking admiration.

In a little mountain town in British Columbia I saw one of them. I will not name the town. Nervous people might not accept an assurance that they are more and more nervous there than in the Strand; and I would not wish to give the place a bad name. It lies some 30 years old and had been a broad river, on the base of which some placer mining goes on. In the valleys around it, today, apple orchards (irrigated) are talking the place for cattle and horses, though still there can often be heard the lowing of sheep, and, in a great cloud of dust, a bunch of cattle comes down into town to the depot corral, driven by dusty fellows in broad-brimmed hats, loose neckerchiefs, sheepskin chaps, quirts hanging from the wrists like cashmere, moccasins, picturesque and thirsty.

One day I saw a gaunt man ride up to a hotel in this town, and advancing to the clerk, lay before him on the counter a large Colt six-shooter. The clerk said "gun" for which he said "hang shot, you raise and crook the left arm to make a rest for the barrel. He nodded to the clerk, the clerk to him. The "gun" went over to the desk, to remain there till his owner should leave the hotel again. What I saw was a very ancient usage—surviving.

I noticed that the man had many friends by the way people nodded to him. There was something infinitely Jack-in-the-eye. He was a young man, but he had won the prize, so I was told for a beginning, in the sprinting contest at the last Dominion Day sports. Also I was told that he had done time for "lifting" a bunch of horses. According to the old stories of the west, little sympathy was spent upon horse thieves; but this man seemed a favorite.

The reason was not far to seek. It was in the changed times. The horse thief, so the old-timer, was a low-down rogue. But the genuine old-timer, "hard as nails"—the man that, over fifty, won the first prize in the sprinting competition, could ride something with hair on it in the eyes of the newcomers who lived by buying and selling town lots or spraying green fly off fruit trees—the man was a kind of Jason. People smiling, murmured his characteristics—how he was a fine fellow; how he gave nickels to all the kids; how he conducted Sunday school at the little "burg" near his ranch when the parson was away; how he could keep a tomato can on the move along a floor by flicking it with six-shooter bullets. It was a queer mixture of characteristics that made him what he was. I was not likely to forget the man.

Six months later he suddenly appeared to be a man who had wisdom, and shoved a gun at the messenger's head. A partner was performing a similar intimidation upon the locomotive engineer and fireman.

The man, who was recognized as he of the Colt. All three were caught, tried, sentenced for long terms in the penitentiary.

The reason for that was simply that this amazing man—planner of the affair—had, before his capture, hidden away some bonds that he had taken from the safe. And he expected a pardon for all three years ago, that he returned these documents.

Last summer it was in the neighborhood of the man's late years, he asked a friend—a man of the most conservative and prudent of ranchmen, land-owner, J.P., and so forth, who has "made good." "By the way, is it a flood?"—signifying that beavers have been at work.

"Ah! That was a cruel shame!" he cried out. "He did another hold up in the States recently and was caught and broke jail, was followed by a sheriff's posse—too bad—they didn't give him a chance to make good—no more, no more, but after all, he was a great man; he had a right to it."

He was a great friend of mine. He was a great friend of mine. He was a great friend of mine.

SASKATOON GIRL, 12 YEARS OLD, CONFESSES MURDER

Saskatoon, June 27.—Katherine Simons, the 12-year-old girl who has confessed to the murder of Julia Genick, aged 9 years, had a preliminary hearing yesterday, and was committed to the industrial school at North Battleford to await trial. The prisoner in her confession states that she quarreled with the little Genick girl and had beaten her with a shovel. The body was badly battered. The tragedy took place near Wakaw, Saskatchewan.

WEIR TO COST $3,500,000 FOR THE NIAGARA RIVER

Result of Ten Years' Investigation of the International Waterways Commission

Washington, June 27.—After more than ten years' investigation, the International Waterways Commission today, through the medium of a bill introduced in congress, announced the construction of a submerged dam, or weir, in Lake Erie and its upper waters. The commission stated the value of the work to Lake Erie proper and the benefits to be derived therefrom, and estimated that it would result in extensive improvements to harbors and docks.

The commission also reported the advisability of constructing a dam at the mouth of the Canadian River, and frequent damage to property below the dam, and the necessity of a dam to regulate the height of the water in Lake Erie, but the last plan contemplates only a dam at the mouth of the Canadian River.

The cost of the weir and consequent improvements to the Canadian River, estimated at $3,500,000, will be paid by the United States and the Province of Ontario, and the St. Lawrence river would be appreciably affected.

The level of the Niagara river below the dam would be raised for a distance of one and a half miles. The commission suggested the construction of a dam at the mouth of the Canadian River to prevent damage to adjoining property.

The level of Lake Erie would be raised 11 feet at extreme low stage, 38 feet at mean stage, and 47 feet at high stage. The commission reported that the plan would raise the mean level of Lake Erie 31 feet and that of Lake Huron 29 feet. The Niagara river below the dam would be raised for a distance of one and a half miles.

The commission also reported that the weir would be a dam for power purposes and would reduce the range of oscillation on Lake Erie four and one half feet.

The report pointed out that diversion of water to the Canadian River for power purposes and for power plant purposes would be a considerable saving in the level of Lake Erie.

What the Fat Man Said to His Wife

"YES, John, the plans for our new home provide for a bath tub big enough for a fat man. And the architect says he'll make the cellar steps wide and easy for you to climb."

"That's fine, Gertrude! But remember I also said we must have a good, old Sunshine Furnace like the one downstairs."

"That's a good furnace, John. I certainly keep us cosy and warm."

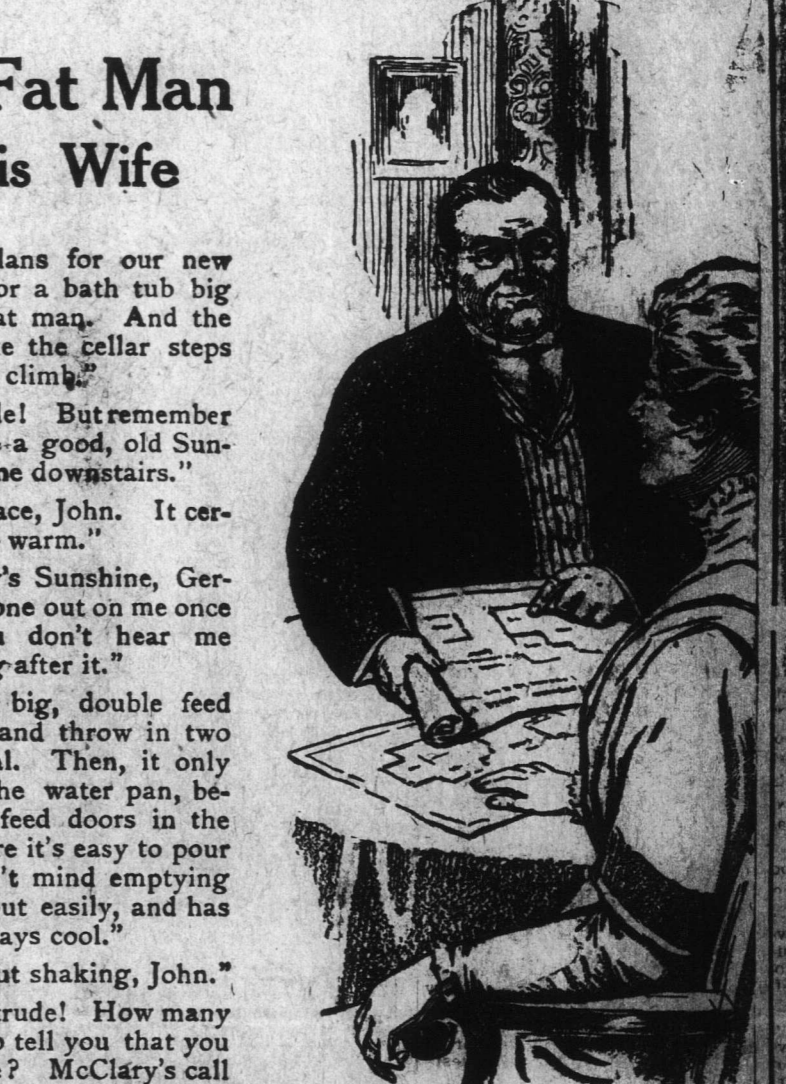

"Can't beat McClary's Sunshine, Gertrude. Why it hasn't gone out on me once this winter. And you don't hear me grumbling about looking after it."

"I just open those big, double feed doors in the morning and throw in two or three shovels of coal. Then, it only takes me a jiffy to fill the water pan, because it's right over the feed doors in the front of the furnace where it's easy to pour water into. And I don't mind emptying an ash pan that slides out easily, and has haul handles that are always cool."

"But you forget about shaking, John."

"Decue, take it, Gertrude! How many more times will I have to tell you that you don't shake the Sunshine? McClary's call it 'rocking down' the ashes. I call it a kid's job to move this handle gently to and fro a half-dozen times."

"Yes, John, McClary's Sunshine is a good furnace for a lazy, old fat man. I almost looks after itself."

THERE'S a McClary agent in your locality, who will be glad to give you full particulars about McClary's Sunshine Furnace and tell you the cost of installing one in your home. You would find it profitable to read the latest Sunshine booklet, so write to our nearest office for a copy.

SCOTLAND IS RAPIDLY BECOMING DEPOPULATED

Main Causes Are Opportunities Offered by Dominions and Dullness of Country Life

London, June 27.—According to a writer in The Daily Mail, rural Scotland is being depopulated. He says: The two main causes of rural depopulation in Scotland are the opportunities offered by the dominions and the effect on Scotch traders of the big stores. There is another cause, less definite in its effects, but brooding over the intolerable dullness of country life to people whose minds have been stirred to activity by some education, by reading the papers, and by occasionally acquiring direct knowledge of the outside world...

The well-to-do farmers feel this tedium, and they fight it by attending at least two markets a week—Monday and Tuesday. They can allow themselves since the management of a farm on the Scotch system is a familiar subject of conversation, they are anxious to take six weeks to sell it, and persuade themselves that they are exercising the markable shrewdness of the time, and making it a dead certainty that they shall not be "done." When they have nothing to sell they attend the markets all the same, converse with their friends animatedly on the price of produce and stock, and keep themselves intellectually in trim for a transaction when there is one to be carried out. They are happy content with the country life, which, without it, they could hardly endure. Farmers emigrate rarely or never.

The other inhabitants of the parishes have no such recourse, and the ways in which they seek relief are pitifully eloquent in their very inadequacy. Work on their frequent village corners, and a railway station favored by the passage of one or two trains a week, are about all that is available to them. Relatively few parishes in Scotland have one.

CRUEL RESULTS OF CONSCRIPTION IN NEW ZEALAND

After Tells of Working of New Zealand Defence Act, Which Was Put in Force Recently

London, June 27.—Mr. Israel Zangwill writes in a brilliant article on "The New Zealand Defence Act" which is now being strongly urged in England. Mr. Zangwill has received communications from all over the world in praise of the conscription stand taken by him for peace. The New Zealand Defence Act, which is now being strongly urged in England, is a cruel and inhuman measure. It is a measure that will bring about the destruction of the New Zealand race. It is a measure that will bring about the destruction of the New Zealand race. It is a measure that will bring about the destruction of the New Zealand race.

Johnson Held in Montreal. Montreal, June 27.—Jack Johnson will be detained here pending official advice from the immigration department at Ottawa. It was stated today by the local immigration authorities. The pugilist visited a local newspaper today seeking information as to the attitude of the United States authorities toward his departure. He said that while he had not informed the Chicago police that he was leaving for Russia, he had been told by United States Special Agent DeWoody that nobody could stop him as he was out on bail. He asserted that he did not intend to run away and was ready to give himself up to the authorities if they wanted him. Otherwise he would sail for Europe on Monday.

Affairs of Union Life. Toronto, June 27.—The policy-holders will be protected in full; that will be the basis of the agreement for re-insurance, declared D. D. Philpott when he emerged at 2 o'clock from the negotiations with regard to the taking over of the assets of the Union Life Assurance company by the Metropolitan Life of New York. "We are hopeful for signing an agreement for the re-insurance."

LABOR NEWS AND NOTES

Government positions under civil service regulation in the U. S. number 29,350. Sandusky, O., is contemplating establishing a municipal lighting plant and will vote for 200,000 bonds to pay for it. A city ordinance just enacted in Los Angeles compels drivers of automobiles to halt their street cars as long as the cars are halted. Governor Goos of Massachusetts has vetoed the Meany milk bill to require the labeling of all milk from out of the state, or that has been pasteurized. The ice famine in Toledo by the strike of ice handlers has not been allowed to interfere with deliveries to hospitals and homes where persons are ill. The state railroad commission of California proposes to make a general investigation into the rates, regulations and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in session at San Francisco, went on record by a strong majority as opposed to any form of federal compensation law for injured employees. In Kansas City the bricklayers and the marble workers are fighting over which union shall lay the thick marble. The bricklayers say that all marble over one inch thick is their work, and the marble workers say it belongs to them.

Demands for a referendum on the issue of reducing assessments on railroads were made by the New York Business Men's association, organized to relieve and encourage industry by reducing taxes on land improvements. Dyers, finishers and warehousemen in Yeadon and Galesby, Wm., demand a standard wage of 15s 6d a week at the age of 22 and over, and 8 cents an hour for those between 19 and 22. Boys also asked for a raise of 4s cents an hour. Nearly 1,500 brewery workers in Buffalo and 700 in nearby towns such as Tonawanda, Lockport, Niagara Falls and Dunkirk, have voted a raise of $1 a week and a reduction of working hours from nine to eight. ENGLAND MORE THAN ITS SHARE OF YOUNG ADULTS

London, June 27.—Much valuable information on the birth-rate and age distribution of the population is contained in a blue book issued by the census-office, containing reports and tabulated results of the last census. Condition as to marriage is also dealt with. This country, it seems, contains a larger proportion of young adults than either France, Germany, Sweden, or Holland. It has fewer children than any of these countries but France, and fewer old persons than any except Germany. Though the age distribution of the English population is still exceedingly favorable to low death rates, it is becoming less so than it was in 1901. For each million at all ages in 1901 there were in England and Wales 126,574 children under five years of age. In 1891, however, the fall in the birth-rate had lowered this proportion to 121,823, and since then to 114,667 in 1901 and to 106,847 in 1911. The proportions of older children have also been lessened. In the totals of population the females considerably outnumber the males.

Interesting Comparisons of Vital Statistics of Different Countries

She'd Seen Pittsburg. Tom Lewis, who plays a native of Pittsburg stranded in England in "The Sunshine Girl" at the Kalkreuth Theatre, New York, almost forgot his lines the other night. At one place in the piece a young woman who has never seen Pittsburg goes into raptures over it. "Oh, it must be a beautiful city," she says, or words to that effect. Lewis is astonished. He always looks straight ahead into the house and asks: "Shall I tell her?" On this particular night he chanced to look directly at a woman in the front row when he asked the question. To his surprise and consternation she shook her head. "She'd evidently been to Pittsburg," said Lewis in telling of the incident. "Anyway, it struck me as being so funny that I almost forgot what I was to say."

Late entries will be received up to noon on August 1 in which case the entrance fee will be £160. No part of the entrance fee is to be received by The Daily Mail, but all amounts received will be applied towards payment of the expenses of the Royal Aero club in conducting the competition. The course will be a circuit starting from Southampton, via Water and returning to Southampton Water. The circuit will be at or near each of the above places and competitors must alight at each of these control points during the flight. The aircraft must remain 30 minutes in each control, during which time it will be examined by the officials. This time will not count in the 72 hours.

Competitors may start at 6 a.m. on August 16, or at any subsequent time and date, provided the complete circuit is accomplished by 6 a.m. on August 23, within the 72 hours. All starts must be made under the supervision of the official of the Royal Aero club and of the official timekeeper.

There is no restriction as to the number of starts made by competitors, but in every case the start must be made from the official starting place. Stoppage between the control points is prohibited, but all alightings must be effected on the sea, an inlet of the sea, an estuary, or a harbor. Flying is not prohibited, but the finishing line must be crossed in flight.

Individual replacements and repairs to the aircraft and motor may be made on route, but neither may be changed as a whole. The aircraft may be taken ashore for such repairs and replacements. Any time thus spent will count in the 72 hours.

Macleod
Macleod, June 26.—The regular weekly meeting of the town council held in the town office on Monday evening was short and decidedly uneventful, the only business of note being the turning of the corner of a $250 advertising scheme presented by a William Burt Orr of Vancouver, and the refusal to lease the town hall for the putting on of motion picture shows. The matter of disposing of the town hall was also taken up and Mayor Stedman being authorized to go east to negotiate for the purchase of the hall and Alderman McDonald left on their ill-important mission on Thursday.

High School Principal Watt threw a card on Tuesday when in a venture some letter to the secretary he made a startling statement that the board as at present constituted was neither a legal nor a valid body. He proposed in a position to transact any other business affairs. It was decided at the meeting that Public School Principal Watt's salary should be raised from $1,000 to $1,400, that Miss Elder, the high school staff should also receive a 10% raise, and that Principal Watt should not be re-elected. The latter refuses, however, to recognize the Board of the board as he claims that both Mr. E. G. Mathews and Rev. Barnard Hall are disqualified under sections 102 and 24 respectively of the school ordinance.

That the Macleod board of trade is for a busy year and one that will in all probability be the forerunner of an important era of the town's history is the impression that is to be gleaned from industries' report to the board's first regular report to the board on 24 trade executive on Tuesday afternoon. Since undertaking the task of heading the first little town in the province, the commissioner has handled considerable correspondence and from the tenor of the communication, it looks as if Macleod is attracting a fair share of attention from prospective manufacturers and settlers. Mr. Moffatt brought up the idea of a board meeting that ensued was that it should be held on August 7th, the last evening of the Macleod fair. It was also decided that the commissioner should go to the territories and the Calgary exhibitions as the official representative of the board.

A remarkable case of Indian stoicism came to light here this week when a Blood reserve saw a dead body in a fierce electric storm with the body of her dead husband beside her in the buggy. She, Mrs. Blood, an Indian, was driving home with her wife and child when the storm broke. The lightning was unusually sharp and when it killed by a bolt. As the unfortunate woman sank to the bottom of the buggy her squaw, with true Indian bravery, grabbed the reins and continued the trip to the reservation, the journey being completed in 24 hours.

For the past weeks Old June Fluhus has been showing his blasphemous and likewise his rain on the Macleod district and the local farmers are quite optimistic as to the quantity and quality of the crop they expect to gather. It is thought that the big thunderstorm and squall that has visited this section last week has brought the crops and the local grain has fallen. The sun, too, has been strong for some days so that with such excellent "growing" weather there is little room to doubt that this year the Macleod district will realize the largest crop both in yield and acreage that it has ever known.

Persistent rumors have lately been afloat regarding the immediate entry of the Canadian Northern railway to Macleod. The "in-the-street" and others, too, have received the idea somewhere that the town is soon to have its second railway and the news has acted as an opener to business conditions generally. The C. N. R. has a short distance of Macleod and it has made the latter an important division point and build car shops within its limits. The laying of the steel is all that is necessary and that all important phase will undoubtedly be consummated in the very near future.

Rev. Roberts A. Richard, who succeeds Rev. Mr. Bishop in the pastorate of the Methodist church here, occupied the pulpit for the first time on Sunday and at once created a very favorable impression. Mr. Richard comes from Calmar, where he was stationed for four years and so highly was he esteemed that on his departure the mayor and council waited on him to express the regret they felt at his removal.

HEAPA RAIN.

(With apologies to Rud, if he wants them.)
You may talk o' pretty nights
When yer out to see the sights,
And yer lookin' at the soldiers in the camp.
But when it comes to slaughter
We gets licked and burred by water,
An' we spent the days a-fightin' of the damp.
In Alberta's sunny climate,
Where each year I spends me time,
A-drillin' fer His Majesty the King
I was soaked and drenched by night,
When I'm ready there to fight,
So you'll pardon me a minute while I sing:

It was rain, rain, rain,
Heaps o' splashin', drivin', freezin' rain.
From the Colonel to the last
You could hear the whole troop shout:
"Fer Gawd's sake, Mr. Heavens, stop yer rain."

I shan't forget the day
When they tucks me safe away,
With a puddle where my blanket should a' laid.
I was soaked from spine to heel,
Mud was all that I could feel,
Me rheumatism shows me now just where I stayed.
But the Colonel bravely led,
And they shouted as he said:
"Rush the mud, an' never mind the stain."
We've been belted and been flayed,
And we're cussin' them as made
This weather, with its days of pouring rain.

It was rain, rain, rain,
With breakfast, dinner, supper, we had rain.
As we lays down in our bed,
This little prayer we said:
"Fer Gawd's sake, Mr. Heavens, stop this rain!"
— J. R. R.

Philadelphia, June 27.—Word has gone out to veterans of both armies all over the country not to bring their tattered battle flags to the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg next week for they cannot be flown to the breeze in the encampment. Every precaution will be taken to prevent the stirring of animosities and feelings on the part of the veterans, and that is one of the precautions considered necessary.
