They invaded the factory where he was employed dragged him from his work, tore day was reported for misconduct. In revenge he shot and killed two sergeants belonging to the native regiment. It is becoming monotonous, this series of defeats. It is true there is an occasional histus in the record, when the tail of the kite looms in view, but then there are The Toronto Baseball Nine. kite looms in view, but then there are cases in the Egyptian deserts and yet those same deserts are still not pleasant roads to for travelers. The fact is the Toronto team is not able to cope in its present state with any nine that has pretensions to play. There is scarcely a man in the crowd that can bat decently, and in the field they can invariably be depended on for one or more costly errors. It is true the club has experienced hard luck in having Stemmyer disabled and Reid laid up, but these things are the natural appurtenances of a baseball nine and as far as possible should be guardad against by having two or three spare men, and above all, a change battery, who should not be required to play in the field on their off days. One thing the directors may be sure of, and that is that a picayune policy will not pay. Toronte offered, and does still offer, an excellent field for a first class baseball club, but it must be as near as possible first class in every particular. It must be able not only to pluck the tail of the kite but to win against decent clubs. At present the Toronto club cannot do so. They may perchance secure an occasional victory, but it is safe to bet that it will be more owing to the blunders of their opponent than to any particular merit of their ewn. A good club means increased gate receipts, but a non-winning organization means a dropping off until the benches will present a lamentable spectacle of emptiness. It is, therefore, to the interests of the directors to allow nothing reasonable to stand in their way as regards the procuring of a good nine. Other clubs appear able to secure acquisition, why not the Torontos? The gate receipts here on a mid-week-day are as large as they are elsewhere on a Saturday, and there is no good excuse consequently for not having a reputable nine, that is, if money can attain that object, and we believe it can. Report has it that even now the Toronto team is the most expensive in the league. In that case there is no reason why it should not be the best.

MACLEOD, N.W.T., July 31 .- For some time past there has been bad blood between time past there has been and blood between two cowboys on the Walrond ranche, named respectively Thomson and Charlie Wright: This finally oulminated in a dispute which occurred last week in a corral on the ranche. Thomson seems to have been the man who forced the fighting, Wright repeatedly saying that he did not want any trouble Thomson insisted upon fighting, and both men pulled their revolvers at the same moment. Three shots were fired by each party. The first two did not take effect on either side. At the third shot the lates went against Thomson. His opposent, Wright, was not hit, but he (Thomson) received a ball in the left shoulder, which at once placed him hors de combat. Immediately after the shooting, in which loth men displayed an abundance of that quality known as sand, Wright bid a tender facewell to his old stamping grounds, and mounting a horse, struck out for Montana. The wounded man was at once brought to Macleod, and taken to the police hospital, Dr. Kennedy trailed up the offending ball, and took it out just under the left shoulder blade. THE PRISONER - LAWYER TELLS ABOUT PRISON METHODS.

An Ironical Pun on Warden Massie— Hew "Mr. Murphy's Brief" was brawn up—How the Regulations are Evaded by Prisoners.

The Central prison investigation contin ed yesterday. Prisoner No. 7078 was again called, and gave an account of the manner of recording prison punishments. His testimony was as much in the warden's favor as the testimonies of his fellow prisoners were against that official.

D. J. McCarthy, the prisoner-lawyer who it is alleged "prepared Mr. Murphy's brief," was called. He was assistant clork under Chas. Coghlan in October, 1884; became clerk in November, and remained so until December 19, when he was disbecame clerk in November, and remained so until December 19, when he was discharged. Mr. Massie one day told him to tell Coghlan, the clerk, to omit insertion of the irons in the dark cell reports. After corroborating the evidence of the other witnesses about excessive punishments, etc., the witness was taken in hand by Mr. Idington. He said that he passed the United States bar in 1876. He refused to say anything else concerning his life in the States. After coming to this country he was in prison in different places and at last landed in the central prison, convicted of getting money under places and at last landed in the central prison, convicted of getting money under false pretences. He admitted that on June 28 he drew up what Mr. Massie's counsel called Mr. Murphy's brief. The question then arose as to how he had managed to convey the information to the outside world. Mr. Murphy objected to any such question being asked, on the ground that the commission had not the power to enquire into such subjects and that if the prisoner had broken the prison regulations it was the fault of the prison authorities. His objections were overruled and it came out that McCarthy had given his brief to Guard Robinson for delivery outside the the prison. He gave evidence chowing that with all the warden's precautions the prison regulations are constantly being evaded by the prisoners. The witness says that with all the warden's precautions the prison regulations are constantly being evaded by the prisoners. The witness says that if a prisoner is on good terms with his tellow prisoners he can get almost anything he desires, money, paper, ink, tobacco or anything else. Notes and letters were produced from McCarthy to the warden betokening the greatest familiarity. After Mr. Idington was through with the witness the commission adjourned till this morning.

nothing come to disturb the tranquility of home life.

But again there arose a mighty conflict, this time a civil war—a cruet, fratricidal war that gave no promise of end. The drums beat, the bugles sounded, and there was a call for soldiers. The husband heard the call, and he said: "I will answer the summons—I will be a soldier again!"

Then the fear of the little girl, the maiden, and the wife, was realized. The husband went from his home and became again a soldier. With an sohing heart the wife abided with her little ones. She had not let him know her grief, she had not let him know her spice, she had not let him know her grief, she had not let him know her grief, she had not let him go with never a word of the anguish that bowed her spirit. So she became indeed a soldier's wife.

But who shall tell of the soldier's wife, waiting and watching and praving on the hearthstone? These were years of martyrdom to her. The soldier's wife complained not. The sacrifice she made was with that patient for tinde found only in the lives of women. But when the soldier came from the war the gentle wife put away his sword with sense of devout thankfulness, for now had he come to share with her and their little ones that quiet home life for which her wifelv nature yearned.

"Nay, not so," said the people, "ha has won our cause, he has redeemed our fleg, he has saved our country. Our hearts overflew with gratitude—he must be our ruler."

What cared the soldiers's wife for these things? To the woman's heart how like empty vanities are the dignites and tives of the world when compared with the holy sweets of home!

But a divine will directs all things. The soldier obeyed the voice of his countrymen and he became their ruleray, and a second time he served them as their magistrate, so great was their veneration and gratitude, and anch was his devotion to his native land. His fame extended over all the earth, every nation did him honor, and when, in search of ret; he went into far countries great kings and princes came out to meet him and do him reverence. Such and so great a distinction ne'er before was shown to any man.

At last, after it all—after all these years of war and ceremony—the soldier said to his wife that they would give their declining years to the action of the successor to continue to wage war with the Christians.

of war and ceremony—the soldier said to his wife that they would give their declining years to that heme life for which she had always hungered. And the wife's heart wa g'ad, and she felt that the sacrifices and the martyydom of the old years were not in vain. But happiness was all too brief; a great and crushing grief came to the so'dier's wife. A mortal disease fell upon the soldier and struck him down, and held him in its fatal clutch for weary months. The soldier's wife saw her beloved dving dav by day, and, struggle as she might, she had not the power to save him. The people made a great outcry. Catarrh is a muco-purulent discharge caused by the presence and development of the vegeby the presence and development of the vegetable parasite amceba in the internal lining membrane of the nose. This parasite is the simplest living form known that lives upon organs and is only developed under favorable circumstances, and these are: Morbid state of the blood, as the blighted corpusole of tubercle, the germ poison of sphills, mercury, toxomoes, from the retention of the effete matter of the skin, suppression, perspiration, hadly ventilated sleeping apartments, and other poisons that are germinated in the blood. These poisons keep the internal lining membrane of the nose in a constant state of irritation, ever ready for the deposit of the seeds of these germs, which spread up the nostrils and down the fances, or back of the throat causing ulceration of the throat; up the eustachian tubes, causing dearness; burrowing in the vocal cords, causing hoarseness; unsurping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many attempts have been made to discover a cure for this distressing disease by the use of inhalents and other ingenious devices, but none of these treatments can do a particle of good until the parasites are either destroyed or removed from the mucus tissue.

Some time since a well known physician of forty years' standing, after much experimenting, succeeded in discovering the necessary combination of ingredients which never fail in absolutely and permanently eradicating this horrible disease, whether standing for one or forty years. Those who may be suffering from the above disease, should without delay, communicate with the business managers, Messrs A. Pain Killer is a purely vegetable preparation, safe to keep and to use in every family. The simplicity attending its use, together with the great variety of diseases that may be entirely eradicated by it, and the great amount of pain and suffering that can be alleviated through its use, make it imperative upon every person to supply themselves with this valuable remedy, and keep it always near at hand.

came a part of the system, and by applying the use of their working tools to their actions in everyday life, they thus founded a peculiar and beautiful system of natural morality that, like the ancient buildings, is not yet surpassed by any. In this system every tool or implement that assisted in the production of anything adding to the comfort or convenience of man became an object of veneration, and its devotees were thereby encouraged to study closely the hidden mysteries of nature and science, as it has been proven through all ages that from the aforesaid sources only can man successfully expect to find that knowledge by which progress is possible. The reason why disease is so soon pelled from the system by Burdock Blood Bitters is because the excellent semedy acts in a four-fold manner, that is so say, upon the bowels and liver, the blood and the kidneys, driving out all bad humor, and regulating every organic function.

Editor World: Considerable interest has cisms upon either masons or agnostics, permit me to briefly notice a few phases of this question from an outside standpoint. My knowledge of masonry and its teaching being very limited, it is possible that I may be severely criticised by those who profess to be intimately acquainted with its mysteries; but as I partly apologize before making my remarks, I trust that the criticisms may at least be kindly. From the recent decision of the Grand master, it is made apparent that masonry in Canada has become to a certain extent affiliated with christianity, and this connection becomes more marked as the

It is a well-known fact that there are hundreds of agnostics or secularists among Canadian masons, while in France they are numbered by thousands. In fact, I am credibly informed that in France an atheist may become a mason. If this be true there is certainly a marked difference between French and Canadian masonry. The World has received from Ed. W. Pike of the Arcade barber shop a late copy of the National Barbers' Journal, published in Philadelphia. The Journal is entirely devoted to the trade of the gentlemanly tonsorial profession. It prints in full The World's account of the big barbers' meetbetween French and Canadian masonry. between French and Canadian masonry.

From the symbols of masonry it would appear that the order dates its origin back to the time when architecture was in its infancy, and its promoters held in common a natural religion that gave more than a passing importance to the tools and appliances that were so useful to the builders of antiquity. As the ancient Egyptians paid homage to the Nile, and held as sacred the river, to whose annual overflow they owed their bountful harvests, so also did those ancient builders glorify and venerate the tools that made it possible for them to produce those beautiful and Logically the outcome of all this is that masonry may lose from its ranks a number of worthy, honest men, whose views may have been in perfect harmony with modern masonry when they became connected with the order but who by study and investigation have had their views modified or changed. ufactured by Rainer & Co., Guelph, Ont The undersigned respectfully announce on the 9th day of April, 1884, Joseph F. Bon the 9th day of April, 1884, Frank Sweet and the state of the stat The undersigned respectfully announce that on the 2th day of April, 1884, Joseph F. Rainer dissolved partnership with Frank Sweetnam and John Hazelton, as piano manufacturers, and that said Joseph F. Rainer, with his son, will continue to manuacture the original cross-scale Pianos, of which the said Joseph F. Rainer is the sole inventor.

Since the above dissolution, Mr. Rainer, sr., has greatly improved the small Cross-scale Pianos by adding one string more to-each note throughout the middle, making three strings to each note instead of two, thus giving the Piano a third more power of tone throughout the middle. There will be fifty-three notes from the treble down that will have three strings instead of twenty-four notes from the treble down as formerly. The undersigned will give to wholesale and retail customers the benefit of this improvement by letting them have these Planos for the same price as the ones formerly made with two strings.

These Planos have now been before the public for 23 years, and have alwaysranked among the very best, and are celebrated for quality of tone, great power and durability of section, prompt elastic touch, fine finish and elegant style of case, combined with every known improvement. The most complete and unbroken list on record, embracing a period of 30 years, and made up of 28 first prizes, medals and diplomez, rocard, embracing a period, and the reputation in Philadelphia, in 1876, we secured a medal and diploma for our piano. The great favor with which the cross-scale pianos have been received for so long a period, and the reputation they bear, has induced others to imitate them. We therefore caution intending purchasers and dealers wishing to obtain the original cross-scale piano to see that the name of "Rainer & Co." is on each instrument. We make the Upright and Square Grand Planos for truther particulars. Price List, &co., address Bahker & &co., Gaetph, Ont. ress RAINER & CO., Gueiph, Ont.
