MOTION FOR WIDE-OPEN SHELL INQUIRY DEFEATED BY 44 TO 82

FOUR CONSERVATIVES UPHELD DEMANDS MADE BY LAURIER

Broder, Maclean (South York), Lamarche and Mondou Voted Against Government — Situation at Ottawa Remains Tense and Cabinet Changes Are Believed Impending.

OTTAWA, April 4.—By a majority of 28 the house of commons tonight voted down the resolution of Sir Wilfrid Laurier calling for a parliamentary investigation into the transactions of the shell committee. The opposition leader in the course of his speech offered to waive his request for a parliamentary investigation if the government would guarantee a wide open investigation by the royal commission recently appointed. This offer was not accepted, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier privately declared himself to be in favor of a general house cleaning and a wide-open investigation.

Retirement of Hughes Is Rumored at Ottawa

Borden Cabinet Is Apparently on Verge of Changes More or Less Sweeping—Air Not Cleared by Vote Last Night.

OTTAWA, April 4.—Expectation that the Borden cabinet is soon to undergo partial reconstruction is admitted tonight by government supporters. It is freely acknowledged that the defeat of the Laurier resolution has not cleared the air, and the return of Gen. Hughes within the next few days will, it is said, precipitate a fresh crisis. His retirement from the ministry is confidently predicted in some quarters, and even more striking changes are rumored.

CZAR CONFERS HONOR ON GENERAL IVANOFF

INCOME TAX ADVANCED

Sixty-Five Million Pounds Additional Revenue is in Prospect.

LONDON, April 4.—Faced by the problem of financing for another year a war costing Great Britain £5,000,000 daily, the chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald McKenna, was met at the outset by two favorable circumstances, namely, that owing to the expansive power of British trade, the revenue for the year exceeded the estimated revenue by £32,000,000, while the year's expenditure has been £31,000,000 below the estimate.

U. S. Cavalry Win Fresh Victory Over Mexicans

Second Engagement Took Place Thirty Miles From Guerrero, and Americans Routed Enemy Equal in Strength.

SAN GERONIMO, Mex., April 4.—(Via aeroplane to Colonia Dublin and by wireless to Columbus, N.M.)—American cavalry men under Col. W. C. Brown, tenth cavalry, defeated an equal force of Villa followers in the second engagement of the campaign at Aguas Calientes, 30 miles north of Guerrero, on April 1.

Premier Makes Best Speech of His Career in Asking Support for Temperance Act, and Says He Will Do His Duty Even Tho it Results in His Political Downfall.

The Ontario Temperance Act passed its second reading amid prolonged applause from both sides of the house at twenty minutes to seven last night. For nearly six hours before that, speakers both from the opposition and from the government ranks had congratulated the premier on the stand he had taken and on the bill he had brought down.

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

CONTINUING their attacks on the French positions round Douaumont, the Germans suffered another severe repulse yesterday when succeeding waves of their assault were received with a curtain of fire and volleys of maxims and rifles south of the Douaumont village, forcing them to retreat in disorder towards the Bois Chauffeur, where they were again caught by French artillery fire and suffered considerable losses.

RUSSIA WILL ORGANIZE FORCES FOR VICTORY

The Vast Assortment of Pretty Flowers Makes Choice of Hat Trimmings Easy

THE flowers that bloom on hats come as regularly each Spring as the flowers that spring up in our gardens and woodlands, but this year Fashion has given them unusual prominence.

You will find the fashionable little hats all gay with them—some just banded with small flowers from which a tuft of nodding roses or iris rises to a quite considerable height. And both little hats and big hats revel in wreaths and trails, in wee little posies of flowers, in single blooms or flat applique flowers, and quite often the modish, shiny fruits, cherries, small apples, raspberries, etc., which have this season made their appearance in tremendous numbers.

These may all be seen in huge array in the enlarged Flower Section of the Millinery Department, and a glance at any of the showcases will suggest to you many delightful alternatives of trimming that new hat. Wings, quills, and ostrich tips also portray countless variety for the adornment of the new tailored hats.

Special in Flowers—1,000 single roses, in American Beauty old rose. Jack, and pink, 25c.

A Truly Phenomenal Offering in Smart Skirts for Misses

About 1,000 New Models Arranged in Two Groups at $2.65 and $1.69 On Sale on Thursday

OF VERY TRUTH, many of the skirts were never made for the money, for the materials alone cost more. They are divided as follows:—

Group 1.—About 75 samples—Extremely smart skirts in taffeta, soft satins, pussy willow, heavy serges, whipcord, poplins, gabardines, etc., all of them different; also about 400 skirts, some in taffeta, some in serge, obtainable both in black and navy. Untrimmed Hat Shapes in a Wealth of Fashionable Straws, Shades and Designs

Sailors in all Their Smart Variety of Flat, Rolling and Drooping Brims, Watteaus Uprightly at the Back, Close-fitting Turbans, and a Multitude of Modish Effects, Too Distinctive and Original to be Generally Classified

SHE WHO PREFERS TO EVOLVE her own Spring bonnet, selecting it item by item from the foundation upward, may revel in a veritable wealth of the modish shapes which Fashion has prescribed for Spring and Summer wearing. Our buyers have gathered together a collection of untrimmed hats which far exceeds any similar showing on any previous occasion—a superb array of fashionable designs and shades in such favored weaves as:—

MILAN, TAGEL, FINE HAIR, LISERE, LEGHORN AND THE NEW BANGKOK WEAVE FOR SPORT HEADWEAR.

Gray, pongee, navy blue, Copenhagen blue, emerald green, chartreuse, rose, pink, and black and white—these are the colors which make up the season's rainbow, a combination of two tones being one of the new features of the display. As for prices:—

In tagel weaves are sailors, turbans and watteaus from $3.50 to $5.00, including the new broad, flat sailor with crown of contrasting shade, at $4.00.

In the beautifully fine Milan-tagel straw, so soft and yet so firm, is a splendid array of exclusive New York designs at $5.00 to $8.00.

In real hair straw, featherweight and sheer, are charming examples of a new model with drooping sides, also sailors with brims rolling gracefully upward—price, $9.00.

Wide flat shapes in tagel with brims edged with hair straw are delightful for dress wear—price, $5.50.

Mushroom and rolling-brimmed sport hats in the new Bangkok weave—like a close, fine peanut straw—are a delight to behold in art tones of rose, green and blue, at $8.00.

Embroidery Petticoats Semi-made A Boon to the Home Needlewoman

Fine Swiss Muslin Ready Frounced and Inserted With Beading

IF YOU MAKE your own lingerie, here is assistance for you when it comes to fashioning a white petticoat. “Novelty Flare Underskirting” does away with half the usual work. All that is required of you is to stitch the back seam, put a draw string in the top, and run in the pink or blue ribbon.

It is a skirting made of Swiss muslin embroidery imported direct from St. Gall—beautifully fine, assuredly durable, and presenting a choice of a whole host of different dainty patterns. The deep embroidered flounce is attached, and wide eyelets are provided for the inserting of ribbon. Only one and a half yards of the skirting are required for a petticoat three yards wide, and the price thereof is but $1.75 a yard.

A paper pattern with instructions for the cutting and finishing of undershirts, ranging from 20 to 30 waist measure, accompanies each length of muslin.

A little girl's frock can be made in the same easy, speedy manner from “Tiny-Tot Flouncing.” This is likewise of fine Swiss muslin, so patterned with yoke effect, eyelets and border that the inserting of the sleeves and the running of a few tucks below the neck, and the stitching of the back seam are practically all that is required for the completing of a charming little dress in the popular long-waisted French style. The ribbon that meanders in and out of the eyelets adjusts the fullness. This “Tiny-Tot Flouncing” is $1.25 a yard, 1 1/2 yards being required for a frock.

A paper pattern is also included in each dress length— procurable in sizes 2 to 8 years.

April is Awning time—Upon request by mail or telephone we will send a man to measure your windows and verandahs and submit an estimate of cost—for which service there is no charge.

From a Woman's Standpoint.

“WELL, I declare, it's silk you're knitting into your Edward's socks! If the censor gets hold of your parcel he will expose it as a heinous example of war-time extravagance.”

“What shade is your suit?” “Oh, it's navy. Fashion seems to have no other tune to pipe than that old American ditty, ‘The Blue and the Grey.’ Grey, of course, is charming, but I could imagine how ghastly it would look in company with a certain person's khaki, and as they are not likely to go until the end of the Summer—the fashion I mean—it was a point worth considering. So I got navy blue stuff—a really darling little suit, all full and feminine and silky which I feel declares is just what a woman's clothes should be. And, perhaps, for her present self-sacrificing role they really should be. As a matter of fact it does seem hard to think of the ministering-angel-though sort of person attired in a hobbeshirt, Ficus and frounce seem her native garb, don't they?”

“Well, I'll admit, Barbara, I never saw anything more idealistic in the wearables line than the chiffons and crepe de Chine and Georgette crepes and all those soft, mummy things that are out in array for Summer frocks. The colors are simply delectable—all the heavenly tints one thinks of somehow when Missa Elman plays—rose deepening into purple, and dissolving into blues that whiten, then pearl into ivory and yellow into yellow and gold. Men will surely carry off to the trenches a beautiful memory of the art of 1916.”

“So you, too, Anne, have been getting thought to the wherewithal you shall be clothed. It's in the air, isn't it? When the sun shines, and the sparrows chirp, and pussy willows are in the florist's windows, if you're too old to get out a skipping rope, you've simply got to buy new loggery, haven't you?” or turn hermit.”

The Toronto Electric Light Company

renders more service for every dollar it receives than any electrical supply company in America.

It supplies direct current regulated by storage batteries in the downtown section of the City from Bloor to the Bay and from Sherbourne St. to Spadina Avenue.

When electricity for lighting is required nothing but the best light obtainable should be tolerated.

It would be wisdom on the part of heads of families to consult our illuminating experts in regard to the distribution of light in their homes.

The almost imperceptible flicker of 25 cycle Hydro light is followed unconsciously by the eye, which expands and contracts with each pulsation of the current.

Children's eyes should be carefully taken care of, or nervousness, headaches, biliousness and other allied troubles will manifest themselves.

It would pay you well to pay twice as much for Direct Current if obtainable. You would still save money.

Free advice on light distribution in factory, office or house is available to our customers. We do not sell electric fixtures.

SEVERE RETRENCHMENT BY COUNTRY'S RAILWAYS Twenty Millions Cut off Salaries in Year Ended June Thirtieth. INCREASE IN MILEAGE Ontario Easily Leader—Public Subsidies Now Aggregate Big Sum.

By a Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, April 4.—An addition of 477 miles was made to the operating mileage for the statistical year ended June 30 last, according to an annual report presented to the house today. The greatest increase was in the Province of Ontario, where a total of 150 miles, or about 40 per cent of the total mileage, was added.

There was a decrease of four miles in Prince Edward Island. The mileage in the United States relates to lines which merely form operating connections between points in Canada like the short line of the C. P. R. across the State of Maine. An increase of $66,990,127 in railway capitalization for 1915 brought the total up to $1,775,510,433. Dividends on stock amounted to $32,441,337, as compared with $30,434,601 for 1914. Government owned and operated lines which are not capitalized, showed a cost of $28,252,201. Cash subsidies amounted to $5,059,284, of which the Dominion contributed $4,644,664, and the provinces $441,420.

The extensive public aid. The whole account for aid in cash, constructed lines, loans, etc., stands at $23,821,924. Land grants have totalled $2,323,312 acres, and guarantees have been authorized amounting to $409,466,165. There were 46,332,035 passengers carried in 1915, and 87,204,339 tons of freight. This was a decrease of 1,415,245 passengers and 14,189,151 tons from 1914. Gross earnings fell from $243,058,539 in 1914, to $199,843,073 in 1915. Both passengers and freight decreased, but operating expenses also decreased, and the aggregate was equal to 78.2 per cent of the gross earnings.

SOCIETY GREAT BRITAIN FACES NEW WAR TAXATION Duties on Sugar, Cocoa and Coffee Are Among McKenna's Measures.

Extensive Borrowing Will Be Necessary to Fill Up the Gap. (Continued from Page 1.) whether fiscal duties might now properly be used for controlling and directing trade in a way advantageous to ourselves and to the allies.

Match Tax Unpopular. On the whole the budget was well received both in the house and by the public. The debate following the chancellor's speech was confined to minor details.

FRESH ZEPPELIN RAID WAS ENTIRE FAILURE. East Anglican Coast Crossed in Early Hours Yesterday Morning. NO DAMAGE RESULTED Series of Attacks Have Been Foiled, Unknown to the Public.

LONDON, April 4.—An official statement issued today by the Admiralty reported that the East Anglian coast between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning (Tuesday). The airship does not seem to have been long over the land. After several explosions are reported no fragments of bombs have been discovered up to date.

Revenue Exceeds Estimates. The figures published March 31 show the revenue to exceed the estimates by $13,000,000. On the credit side, an increased yield by new taxation which gave the nation's creditors full assurance that the England is now secure. Not a pound was borrowed without making provision for interest and a liberal sinking fund.

Huge Outlay in Sight. During the coming year England will spend about $91,225,000,000. McKenna said that the deficit would be made good by borrowing. The England is now secure. Not a pound was borrowed without making provision for interest and a liberal sinking fund.

Other Taxes. Other taxes announced were an additional duty imposed on cocoa, from 24 to 6d a pound, and upon coffee and chicory to 2d to 6d a pound, these taxes will yield £2,000,000.

Higher War Profits. The total addition of customs and excise would thus amount to £21,450,000, which, added to the income tax of £43,500,000, made a total new taxation of practically £65,000,000. The tax on war profits would be increased from 20 to 30 per cent, and the effect of this increase in the case of rich men subject to the super-tax would be that they would pay in taxation no less than 60 per cent. out of their excess profits.

commodities would then arise. In any case the existing taxation would be continued. General McKenna's Measures. By the present scale of taxation, continued the chancellor, the government was making ample provision for the services of the war and when peace came the country would have a considerable margin for the reduction of taxation. The figures proved Great Britain's ability to continue the war with unbroken vigor.

Annual Charges. At the end of 1916-17 the net debt, excluding £800,000,000 advanced to the allies and dominions, would be £2,340,000,000, and the debt charge, with sinking fund, £145,000,000. The ordinary expenditure would be £175,000,000, and the total with the pension charge of £20,000,000, would thus be £338,000,000.

The chancellor declared that Great Britain was raising over £300,000,000 a year by the taxation imposed since the beginning of the war, while Dr. Helfferich, secretary of the German imperial treasury, was announcing a "doubtful increase" of £24,000,000. Great Britain would justly claim that it had not been found wanting in either civil or military courage.

Match Tax Unpopular. On the whole the budget was well received both in the house and by the public. The debate following the chancellor's speech was confined to minor details.

The chancellor anticipated a reduction in the beer tax of £2,000,000, and the spirits revenue of £2,000,000. The recently imposed taxes on tea and tobacco would continue through the fiscal year, and a second budget in July would be necessary. The question of the further taxation of those

COPPER SHARES GAIN

Zinc Issues Also Proved Favorites on New York Exchange.

NEW YORK, April 4.—It may safely be asserted that the operations of pools and cliques were solely responsible for such changes as occurred in today's professional market.

Prices were mostly higher in the active forenoon, but yielded generally in the dull dealings of the later session, for no other reason, presumably, than that speculators refused to follow the rise. This is but another way of stating that trading lacked the incentive or manipulating force of public or outside interest.

The more extreme gains of the morning were confined to half a dozen mixed issues, such as Willys-Overland, Studelaker and Chagler, among the motors, those stocks rising 4 to 20 points.

Board Approves of Proposed Tag Day Under Auspices of Recruiting Leagues.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS

Censor Recommends That Play "Eternal Magdalene" Be Allowed to Proceed.

At the meeting of the police commissioners in the city hall yesterday afternoon the board approved of the proposed tag day, under the auspices of local recruiting leagues, being held on May 4. It will be named "Kitchener's Day."

Censor William Banks submitted his report for March. As to a play, "The Eternal Magdalene," which recently appeared in Toronto, and which had been adversely criticized by a section of the press and public, he stated that he had had no hesitation in allowing it to proceed.

J. Gray complained to the board that his premises had been unlawfully entered by Plainclothesmen Ward and Scott recently. Evidence showed that the policemen had made the entrance under warrant, and that they found sufficient to warrant their action. The board will consider what action shall be taken against Gray.

The action taken by the police in regard to future Sunday meetings was approved by the board.

The sale of unclaimed bicycles and other articles will take place this month.

Policeman Shorer (271) was awarded a merit mark for his promptness in rendering first aid to J. McDermott, who accidentally inhaled illuminating gas at his home recently. The McDermott has since died the board considered that Shorer's promptness had Jemima Meets a Friend.

MAMIE was at the same table as me yesterday for lunch. "It's enough to cure a squint to see you," says she to me. "Well, I declare to gracious," was my cordial greeting, "when I rose this a.m., I heard a robin singing outside, and I says, reflectively, 'I'll bet somebody will be rushing the season today with a new hat. And here you are! Where did you get it?'"

"I swapped it for six-fifty and ran my fingers over it a bit," says Mamie. "And, O, Jemima, I've kept it a week, but I couldn't wait for Easter. And do you think it becomes me?"

Then, while she salted her soup, she turned an interrogative eye on me, and says she: "What do you think of barrel skirts?"

"O, good Lord, Mamie, you're not thinking of it?" I ejaculated. "What do I think of a poke bonnet and bloomers?"

"What do I think of Garibaldi and chignons?"

"It's only women without form and void that come out in curtains. A waist and a skirt for me. I'm for the simple life," says I.

"Not for Mamie," says she, as she sliced a potato. "I knew a girl ten years ago wanted to live the simple life. She married into it, and she has eight children, and he has twenty-five a week."

The simple life has everything but simplicity.

"Well, Mamie," says I, "I like a tailor-made myself. And the simple life is not as simple as it looks."

Broken in health Policeman Hatch, who recently returned from the front, was allowed a month's leave of absence. He will go to the Convalescent Home to recuperate.

For deserting a comrade during a fight between the police and soldiers at Queen street and Broadview avenue recently, Policeman Smith (821) was dismissed from the force.

Chief Grasset expressed regret at the dismissal, stating that it was the first time in 30 years that a policeman had been dismissed for such an offence.

The resignation of Inspector Gilke of the mounted squad was accepted. He will retire May 1.

PICTURESQUE TRAVELOG BY FATHER McMULLEN

Beautiful Description of Hawaiian Islands With Mystery and Romance of Southern Seas.

Picturesque and informing was the travelogue given by Rev. Father McMullen, F.M.S., at Loreto Abbey yesterday afternoon. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. T. Lalor, president of the Alumnae Association, under whose auspices the address was given.

Speaking from personal experiences during the somewhat exceptional circumstances of a voyage thru the Pacific, Father McMullen told in poetic language of the mystery and romance of that wonderful region.

Beginning at the Golden Gate he took his hearers with him thru the areas of waters which are diversified by night, save the sky; then on to the beautiful Hawaiian Islands, the presence of which is announced sixty miles in advance by the wonderful odor of their flowers.

Palmy, with the graphic story of its mythology—a story, rendered to Toronto thru the portrayal of Leonora Ulrich in the Bird of Paradise—was touched upon, and then the speaker told of his entrance into Motoki—the Kaper colony, which is now known the world over thru the heroic work of the sainted Father Damien, who gave up his life in the cause of the afflicted.

The details of the visit to the settlement were most interesting and his travelogue thruout was thoroughly enjoyed by the members of the Alumnae, together with the staff and pupils of the house.

INITIAL ADDRESS OF PRESS CLUB PRESIDENT

Mrs. Forsythe Grant Appealed to Women's Organization for Co-operation.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Forsythe Grant, the newly-elected president of the Women's Press Club, made her initial address at the weekly meeting of the society. She asked the co-operation of the members in the work of the year and announced that Mr. Houston of the board of education and Mrs. Eaton, lately returned from hospital work in France, would be speakers at meetings in the near future.

Several beautiful poems of habitat life in Quebec, written by Mrs. Harrison in France, were read by Mrs. J. W. Garvin. Discussion on the poems followed. Mrs. Harrison (Seranus) was present and received welcome as a newly-elected honorary member.

MAKING "BONNETS" TO RAISE FUNDS FOR CLUB

76 Babies Estimate World's Mug The Nearest Estimate Was 78

For the fourth time in 12 years The Toronto World has awarded to every baby born in Ontario on February 29th, 1916, the Leap Year Mug—a handsome mug. The date for closing the award for this year was on Friday night, March 31st. Today Kent's Limited, silver-smiths, 144 Yonge street, are sending out to the babies whose birthday was reported to The World by the attending physician on February 29th, 1916, the Leap Year Mug, which we announced early in February would be awarded to every baby born on that date.

Former Leap Year babies, who were awarded The World Leap Year Mug, and who were invited to send their portraits to this office, will see them contained in a group view in an early issue of The Sunday World.

5000 FACTS ABOUT CANADA.

The public will welcome the new issue for 1916 of "5000 Facts About Canada," the popular and valuable cyclopedic of Canadian dates, compiled by Frank Keith of Toronto. No up-to-date and intelligent Canadian can afford to be without this "hardy annual," which is a revelation in concrete form of the wonderful growth of our country in a single year, despite war conditions; indeed, it circulates all over the world, and as such is a splendid advertisement. The chapter of "War Facts" is, by the way, both timely and illuminating. Fifty other chapters are devoted alphabetically to every phase of our national life, from agriculture to the Yukon, while several sketch maps are of high value.

ONE MORE FOR HERBERT.

Motion Picture Editor: I was quite surprised to see that Herbert Rawlinson had so few votes. Altho I like Miss Grace Cunard very much and I am pleased to see her at the top, I think Mr.

Dear Sir: As I favor Mary Pickford myself, I do hope to see her top the list before the contest closes. I can't understand how this Cunard girl has more votes, up to date, as I am a regular visitor to the movie show in this locality and have never seen or heard of Grace Cunard, but I do know that Pickford pictures draw the crowds more than any I've ever seen. I also think Marguerite Clark and Ella Hall very clever actresses, and for humor, John Barrymore for me. Six on Charlie Chaplin.

FROM THE GARDEN CITY.

101 Geneva street, St. Catharines. Dear Editor: I am following with interest the movie contest in your columns and am sending in my vote in favor of Little Mary. I do not believe there is another actress on the screen who can take the part of a child so well as she can. I quite agree with the letter which given the reason of Grace Cunard's popularity as appearing in so many serials.

CANADA'S HELP TO SERBIANS.

Acknowledgment of the handsome contributions sent by Canada to the Serbian relief has been received by Mrs. Bruce, treasurer of the national service committee. The letter from the honorary secretary contains interesting details of certain distributions of the fund.

In the air. It weaves a hitting magic that snares your feet along. And if only you could SEE behind the rippling air to the one who makes the music, lo and behold! THERE you'd find Cupid. For in the form of Pan, the Arcadian spirit of the woods and fields, he plays upon the magic pipes and lures to destiny the maids and men who hear.

In many loves Cupid plays his part in shaping the destinies of those who love. His is the realest bit of magic in the world today. In anything, in everything, he is to be found at just the RIGHT moment. When Spring blows soft breezes through the streets and over the meadows and down the aisles of the awakening woods, there's music

CHECKS PROMINENT IN SEPARATE SKIRTS

BLACK AND RED

Skirt Worn With Dainty White Blouse Illustrated New Features.

Checks are by no means eliminated from the dictates of la mode this spring when the separate skirt with a stylish blouse is just as much in favor as ever. Some say the separate coat, built on long, handsome, but jaunty lines, is responsible, but be that as it may, there is no denying the charming simplicity of the shirt-waist-skirt attire for morning and informal wear.

And most of these separate skirt costumes are fashioned from gaily checked materials of cheerful hue with a touch of the check at waist and neck for trimming. Gingham is a popular choice of material. A very jaunty model is made from a black and Bordeaux red check with a wide band of black silk fancy braid to finish off the hem of the skirt.

An unusual treatment of the hip was noted when the pattern for the skirt was arranged in filmy pleated folds of the cloth, which concealed large hip pockets.

The clever little bodice was of white gabardine and buttoned right down the front with plain white buttons. The double-pointed collar, cuffs and revers, as well as the narrow cuffs on long tight sleeves, were made of the check and bound with narrow black soutache.

USEFUL THINGS TO KNOW

QUANTITIES.

When catering for school treats and entertainments, it is usual to use coffee, essence rather than ground coffee, and to allow nearly double the quantity of sugar needed for an ordinary afternoon party. For thick bread and butter allow about 22 pounds to a quarter loaf. Cut each in half to make 44 pieces, and allow about six ounces of butter for each loaf.

ALLOWANCES.

Meat—Three-quarters pound, uncooked and with bone per head per day.
Butter—One-half pound per head per week for eating.
Sugar—One pound per head per week for eating.
Milk—Three-quarters of a pint per head per day for adults and not if milk is drunk alone for all purposes.
Jam—One pound per head per week.
Bread—About one-quarter loaf per head per week.
Cheese—One pound per head per week.
Fruit—About three and one-half pounds per head per week.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: Toronto. I have just been reading your advice to young girls, and thought you might be able to give me a little advice, also. I have been married for some years, and have children.

Now, my husband is very good to me, but he is not truthful, and I also know he does not give me all his money, and as I am honest and upright myself I am beginning to dislike him very much. His people also tell him I am extravagant, which is not true, and he never counts his money to see how far it will go. And if I tell him this he says, "Ah, don't tell me. I give you all the money I have." He never thinks of a box of chocolates or a bouquet for me now. Please advise me what to do, as I never let my people know, and have no other friends.

LONESOME FRIEND: Lonesome Friend. THE VERY NEXT TIME he brings his money home and gives it to you, I would ask him to sit down and have a thorough understanding of everything. Prepare a little budget in which you have written down just how you have spent the money he has given you during, say, a week. Then you will have it all ready to talk over with him, and make him see that you really are not extravagant, and that you are doing the very best you can with what he gives you.

It may be very hard at first to get him to take an interest in the economies of the home, and to make him understand just how economical you are trying to be. But, if you persevere, it won't be long before he will be proud of his little manager, and will take an interest in planning things with you.

Of course you do miss the box of chocolates once in a while, and the bouquet you so long to have him bring you some day, when he is in a particularly good humor, why don't you try to make him see just what these little attentions really mean to you? You will have to be very tactful, but you will make him understand, I am sure. This is a crisis in your life. All your future life you can make what you wish if you face this moment intelligently, with a great big heart, filled with understanding and love that is fine.

Annie Laurie.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: Toronto. I met a nice young man at a girl friend's house, and I thought a lot of him. When I called again to see my girl friend, he took me out and treated me very nicely. He told my friend he liked me very much.

I am a lonely girl, 24 years old, and I thought nothing but taking a chance, so I asked him to call at my house, so he came. A few of my girl friends were down the same time, and before he went away I asked him to call again. He said that he didn't know what would turn up, and that he didn't know when he would call. So I feel very much disappointed. Dear Annie Laurie, please advise me what to do to win his love.

LONELY BLONDE: There is nothing you can do, my dear—you have done everything you can. If he really likes you he will call again. And if he doesn't like you well enough to call again, most certainly you would not wish to appear to be running after him, would you? Of course you wouldn't, so make up your mind to go on being good friends with everyone, and before you know it there will come into your life someone who really will like you very much indeed. In the meantime try to improve your English and your writing, and learn all the things you should know about taking care of a home. Fill your mind with good things, and everything else will come to you in time.

Annie Laurie.

The Amateur Gardener

BY RACHEL TODD.

PLANTING YOUR SEEDS EARLY.

The first week of April is quite soon enough to start your seed boxes with the various annuals which you have decided to use this year. This gives a good six or seven weeks' germination, the growing of strong roots and the development of sturdy young plants by the second week of May.

Years ago amateur gardeners used to be quite happy if they saw a chance of transplanting as early as the good old 24th of May. And in spite of their advice, this date is quite early enough. No matter how early spring promises to be, there is no real permanency of warmth below ground before then, and your young seedlings are better safe in their seed boxes than shivering with cold feet in a new and chilly soil.

Therefore, if your neighbor tells you she has her seeds in two weeks ago, don't worry. Go right ahead, and attend to your own business. Your plants won't be behind hers in growth and sturdiness.

When filling your flat boxes, don't make them too heavy to handle comfortably, by piling in too much earth. Remember, these boxes are starting homes, not permanent homes, for the young things. They are to be shifted to wide and too long to shift about. Don't keep them in the kitchen where the heat is too great. The cellar, if it is light, or a comfortable sitting-floor is the best place for the first few weeks. When the tiny green sprouts begin to show up, give them sufficient light to prevent spindly and pale growth, but don't place them in the strong sunlight too soon.

Before the first shoots appear be careful as to the watering. A gentle moisture is all that is required, not a heavy soaking of the soil one day followed by a week of dryness.

Commence to thin out the plants before they have grown crowded. A dozen plants will soon be strong, where 50 would be dwarfs in the same small box. You will be surprised at the wonderful improvement that comes when you commence this thinning-out process. When transplanting time finally comes it will be some satisfaction to handle good, healthy plants, instead of twice as many pale weaklings.

Now, as to your choice of seeds, let the wonderful improvement that comes when you commence this thinning-out process. When transplanting time finally comes it will be some satisfaction to handle good, healthy plants, instead of twice as many pale weaklings.

desires decide you. The lists from which you may choose are long and well-known, and all are easily grown. Among the border plants are sweet alyssum, forget-me-not, candytuft, some of the saxifages, little English daisies, dwarf mignonette, several of the dwarf spreading pink family, and dozens of others. These are low growing, spreading, and soon produce a more or less thick matted border. And most of them are early and perpetual bloomers.

Taller annuals, blossoming a little later, and suitable for picking are cosmos, poppies, all the velvety margolds, sweet alyssum, cornflowers, love-in-a-mist, golden wave, asters, pinks by dozens, marguerites, double and single fringed petunias, fragrant nicotiana and stocks, primrose, shining godetia, and how many more I am sure I cannot tell you.

You cannot begin to have them all this year. But try a few new ones every year.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT A Mental Defective

Copyrighted, 1916, by News paper Feature Service, Inc.

MY Dear Winifred Black: There is a young woman works in the shop with me that has left her husband a very good young man, and two small children because he could not dress her in the style she wanted. How can I make her see that her children are worth more than all the fancy clothes in the world?

OLD MAID.

HOW can you make her see, Old Maid? What a question! There's a blind man down on the corner there. See, he's been there all day with his dog and his cane, and his little stool with the cup on it. I'd like to do something for him, I really would.

Every time I can I do stop and give him whatever change I can spare, for I happen to know that he is really blind, and that he would work if he could. But what can you do for him, or I, that will be of any actual permanent benefit?

He will never see again. The doctor told him so, for I asked him. Can you bring the sight to his eyes in any way on earth?

You know you can't, and I know that any woman who will desert a good man and two helpless little children just for love of fine clothes can never be brought to understand what it is that she has done.

Do, I be angry with her. She can't help it. She's born blind, that's all, and nothing on earth will ever make her see.

There's a hole in her brain somewhere. She isn't really a woman at all. She's just a poor little mental defective.

She's probably stopped growing, as far as her brain was concerned, when she was 7 or 8 years old, and she'll never grow any more if she lives to be a hundred.

Merely a Moral Defective

That's the one great difference between sanity and insanity, between the age of reason and the age of impulse—the ability to see. The power to tell the difference between what matters and what doesn't matter!

Once I saw a man in prison the day before he was executed. That man had killed two people, just to get a dollar to buy himself a pipe, some tobacco and a peculiar match box that he had seen in a pawn shop somewhere.

The man could speak Spanish, Italian, English and French; he was quite a good mathematician, a man of quite more than usual intelligence in some ways.

But he didn't like to work, and he wouldn't work. And he wanted the tobacco, and the pipe, and the odd little match safe that he saw in the pawn shop, and so he killed two people.

No, he was not crazy. He was just a moral defective, that's all. The world is full of them. That's what the woman is who takes your clothes home to wash, and wears your stockings, just for fun.

That's what the man is who makes love to every girl he meets, without stopping to consider for a minute the misery and grief he is almost sure to bring into some one's life.

That's what the woman is who deserts her children, because they're too much trouble, or because her husband can't afford to buy her all the pretty clothes she wants.

Look Up the Babies

Teach a deaf man the beauty of a symphony, make a cripple understand the joy of a dance, bring to the eyes of the blind man his sight, if you can, but don't try to drum any common sense, or common decency, or common self-respect, or common sense of responsibility, into the head of a moral defective.

You are wasting your time, and hers. She won't even hear a word you say. You can talk till you're exhausted, and all the time you're talking she'll be wondering whether to trim the new hat she's going to have with red roses or yellow ones and what to do with the old jacket to make it look like new.

Clothes, petticoats, silk stockings, silk little high-heeled shoes, feathers, furs, so he killed two people. That's all she knows or cares, poor, silly peacock.

Don't worry about her husband or her children. They're better off without her.

At least she had decency enough to come out in the open and take her medicine. She didn't drink nagging him for more money for more clothes.

She didn't trapeze around the neighborhood, window shopping, with her children neglected at home, and then hurry back just in time to put a paper-bag supper on the corner of a dirty kitchen table and make herself believe that she was a perfectly good wife and an absolutely lovely mother and member of society.

That's what the young woman who is so fond of clothes—won't bother you very long. She won't work for a living for any great length of time.

Her sort never does—there are so many "easier" ways to get fine clothes.

Look up the babies, if you can. See if there's something you might do for them. They're worth while—the mother isn't.

Making Over Old Furniture

OLD furniture on which the varnish has cracked, turned dark and lost its luster, or a table top that is scratched or discolored, should be scraped and done over. It can be made to look as good as new. Scrape off all of the old varnish. All the reliable paint and varnish manufacturers sell varnish removers, which are excellent, provided the directions are followed explicitly.

If varnish removers are not easily available, a knife will do very well and is cheaper. Be careful not to scratch or dig into the wood. When the varnish is all off, rub the wood smooth with fine sandpaper not coarser than No. 00.

There are often ugly dents in the wood, especially on table tops. Where the fibers of the wood have simply been crushed down, not a piece gouged out or broken off, the wood may be raised so that the place will not show when it is finished over. Scrape all the old varnish out of the dent and get down to the bare wood; then keep it damp with hot water.

If it is a very deep scar, pick all over the bottom of the dent with a needle or with the point of a very sharp, thin-bladed penknife, about a quarter of an inch deep, keeping the blade parallel with the grain of the wood. The object is to let the water into the wood so that the lower grain will swell up into place again.

Wet the place well. Lay two or three thicknesses of wet blotting paper over the dent and set a hot flatiron on it. But dry paper around to keep the iron from discoloring the wood. If the dent is deep, it may take two or three days. Let it dry thoroughly and put an iron on now and then. If the wood is all there it will usually swell back into place. Let it dry thoroughly and then sandpaper smooth, as the grain has been raised round the dent. It is now ready to finish.

It will usually take three or four coats of shellac to finish a piece that has been scraped. The shellac will dry hard in less than half an hour as that the piece can be used if necessary, each coat should be allowed to dry three or four days before being rubbed down with No. 00 sandpaper. Just smooth it off lightly and apply another coat. The last coat should be thinner. It is then rubbed to a finish with fine powdered pumice stone.

The last finish is put on with rottenstone. If a very high polish is desired use linseed oil with the pumice and rottenstone. If a dull or egg-shell finish is wanted, use water in place of the oil.

Orange shellac can usually be had all out and ready to use. If it is too thick—and it usually is—thin it out with grain alcohol. If you have to cut the rum shelter yourself, be sure to use the grain alcohol.

STORIES OF THE OPERAS

Flotow's "MARTHA" Condensed by ADRIEN TOURNIER

LADY HENRIETTA DURHAM, a maid-of-honor to Queen Anna, has become bored with the humdrum court life at Hampton, and longs for some new form of diversion. She confesses the state of her mind to Nancy, her sprightly maid, who says that there is but one cure for her—to fall hopelessly in love.

One of Lady Henrietta's devoted admirers is Sir Tristan Mickleford, who, the longer you are, is lively and willing to provide any amusement the capricious Henrietta may fancy. She, however, declines to favor any of the entertainments he suggests.

At this moment a company of villagers and servants pass, singing merrily, on their way to the fair at Richmond. Their care-free happiness awakens a responsive chord in the heart of the fair Henrietta. She decides that she and Nancy shall don peasant's dress, and, thus hiding their identity, mingle with the holiday crowd. And Henrietta persuades the shocked but devoted Sir Tristan to act as her escort.

The market place at Richmond is filled with merchants, townspeople, servants, peasants and farmers. A wealthy young farmer by the name of Plunkett, and Lionel his adopted brother, come to the fair to hire a servant to help Plunkett manage the farm, which his mother has left to him. The farmer arrives and announces that all contracts for household servants shall be binding for a year, providing money is advanced. Then Sir Tristan enters with the two ladies, all in three-peaked hats.

Plunkett and Lionel are much at ate departure, and Sir Tristan tries to rescue the girls, but the sheriff declares that they are bound to the farm for a year. Lady Henrietta forbids Sir Tristan to disclose their identity, and, with Nancy, goes off with the farmers.

When they arrive at the farmhouse Plunkett tells the girls that they must rise at dawn to begin the day's work. Lady Henrietta has taken the name of "Martha" and Nancy that of "Julia." The men cannot understand the stupidity of the girls who apparently seem to know nothing about their new duties. Even spinning is an unknown art to them.

Plunkett finds the fiery spirit of "Julia" much to his liking. He tries to make love to her, but she gives him no encouragement. Lionel has lost his heart to the lovely "Martha," and proposes marriage to her, but she only laughs at him. She sings the tender ballad, "The Last Rose of Summer," for in truth she is touched by his sincere devotion.

After the two men have retired the two girls make their escape, assisted by the faithful Sir Tristan.

At a country tavern Plunkett and Lionel sit drinking. A hunting party from the court enters, and Lionel goes away. Among them Plunkett recognizes his former servant, "Julia," and demands that she return to the farm and complete her contract. She refuses and calls the hunters to her aid. They chase Plunkett into the forest.

Have You Read It?

The many enthusiastic readers of "The First Hundred Thousand" will be glad to hear that the author, Ian Hay Beith—formerly "The Junior Sub."—has lately been gazetted captain in one of the new battalions of the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, and has also been recommended for the military cross. It is pleasant to think that the gallant spirit that he has pictured as possessing the battalion is but the reflection of his own— "The First Hundred Thousand"—$1.25. Main Floor.
