Train Hits Funeral Coach at Haymarket Square; Several Hurt

Remarkable Escape From Death; Chief Mourners at Mrs. Massey's Funeral Were in Vehicle on Way Home From Cemetery

Returning after the sad mission of burying his wife, who died suddenly a few days ago, Louis J. Massey and his little son, Leslie, were injured this morning and his mother-in-law, James Hunt, his son, James Edward Hunt, and John Rolston, a friend of the family, were badly hurt in what barely escaped being a tragedy while driving over south Haymarket square crossing.

They were in a coach driven by Patrick McCann of Eden street, when a freight train, which was backing up the line crashed into the rear of the coach and, taking away the right hand wheel, upset the vehicle and threw it against the post of the fence nearby, pinning the occupants beneath the wreckage.

Mr. Hunt was the most severely injured, having several ribs broken and a bad bruise on the left side of his face, while Rolston was badly bruised about the head. Mr. Massey and the two lads got off comparatively easily. James Hunt, Jr., received injuries to his right hand.

Lt. Col. McAvity To Command The St. John Depot

Local Force Under Military Service Act to be Trained by Former C. O. of 26th Battalion—News of the Soldiers

It is understood that Lieutenant-Colonel James L. McAvity, the former commander of New Brunswick's fighting battalion, the famous 26th, will be officer commanding the depot at St. John that will soon be established for the training of men called out under the Conscription Act. Nothing official has yet been given out, but it is known that returned officers who have made application for positions as instructors to local military headquarters have been referred to Colonel McAvity.

Nothing definite is as yet known as to who will be his staff of officers, but in military circles it is said that recommendations have gone to the effect that Captain May, Lieutenant Bertram Smith and Lieutenant Charles Knowlton, of this city, will be some of the officers in charge with Colonel McAvity. All are returned officers of high repute, and should, if appointed, render valuable aid to the officer commanding.

In a letter received yesterday from an officer in the New Brunswick forces in France to a friend here, the officer wrote among other things, that he had just heard that Major Alexander McMillan, who was recently decorated, and who had just been in London on leave, had been promoted to a staff position in connection with one of the Canadian brigades. Confirmation of this will be most pleasing to a host of friends of Major McMillan whose services since he went overseas have commanded warm admiration in every quarter.

New A Lieutenant. Lieutenant Gerald Creighton, who enlisted as a private in the C. P. R. Construction Corps, in Newcastle, two years ago, has returned home on furlough. He is a son of J. D. Creighton of Newcastle. Lieutenant Creighton is in the charge of a section in the Royal Flying Corps.

Recalled. Mrs. Dr. Anglin has received a letter from her son, Captain Gerald Anglin. He writes that while John was in the receipt of officers on the western front, he had been recalled. Captain Anglin was in England taking a course.

Doing Well. Mrs. Atkinson Morrison, 100 Leinster street, received a letter yesterday from her son, Gunner John I. Morrison, who was recently gassed at the front. He states that, although still confined to hospital, he is doing well.

Wounded Again. Mrs. Thomas Clayton, 245 Hawthorne avenue, has been advised that her brother, Private P. C. McCarthy, who came to Canada from Maine to enlist, has been wounded for the second time. He was hit last summer in the left leg. He is twenty years old.

One Killed; Other Wounded. St. George, Sept. 18.—That her son Veau and Wellington Thompson were killed by the same shell on Aug. 18 and that her son, John, was desperately wounded two hours afterwards in the same action was the word received by Mrs. Edward Maher in a letter from an American chaplain in a hospital where John Maher was taken. He writes that while John was badly wounded his chances for recovery were good. It would take a long time, however, with good care, the wound is in the left shoulder.

Salisbury Soldier Killed. Salisbury, N. B., Sept. 18.—Another brave Salisbury boy has made the supreme sacrifice, W. Lounsbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Lounsbury, of Lewis Mountain, Salisbury, having died of his wounds in France. A memorial service will be held in the Union church at Lewis Mountain at 8 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16. The music will be conducted by the Salisbury Cornet Band, who have given their services unflinchingly for patriotic work.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—The creation of an editorial board of three members of the civic service thoroughly conversant with public affairs is recommended by the joint committee of both House of Parliament which has been considering economies in public printing as the most effective way to bring about a reduction in the cost of parliamentary and departmental printing. The report, containing the recommendation that this board should have plenary powers to order reductions in printing or to refuse to sanction the printing of any report which in its judgment the public interest would not be seriously affected if the report remained unprinted. The report declared that unless parliament provides some stringent form of economy over the department, there will be a continuous increase in the printing bill of the country. "These things," says the report, "must be turned off by somebody, and it is too much to expect that the ministers working under such a pressure as they have been for years, should give attention to all details in their departments." The report declares that economy will have to be Canada's watchword for years to come, and the printing bill of Parliament and the public departments presents a fertile field for action in this regard. It is noted in that connection that the Senate of the United States cut down its printing bill this year by $470,000.

Are You Tied Up Indoors?

If so, your whole system naturally gets tied up too. A lazy liver and constipated bowels are bad things, dangerous things. Exercise as much as you can—but keep your liver and bowels up to the mark all the time. Take one pill regularly—until you are sure you are all right again.

Colorless faces often show the absence of iron in the blood. Carter's Iron Pills will help this condition.

Many Children Die From Summer Complaint

When They Could Be Saved by Using DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY. There is not a summer passes without thousands of people, especially infants, being attacked by summer complaint. The prostration, often verging on collapse, which sometimes accompanies this disease makes it one of the most serious and dangerous we have to contend with during the hot months. A remedy which will quickly effect the vomiting, purging and the profuse sweating which are the symptoms of this disease is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Mrs. Thomas M. Theriault, Grand Ave., N.B., writes: "My three children were very sick with summer complaint during the hot days last summer. I thought one day that they would die, and I didn't know what to do to cure them. I happened to have one of your plannets in the house, and found by reading about Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry that it was a good remedy. I at once got two bottles, and they perfectly cured them. I recommend every body to use this wonderful remedy."

When you ask for "Dr. Fowler's" see that you get it. It has been on the market for the past 37 years. You don't experiment when you buy it. Price 50c. Put up only by The T. McEwen Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

NO POOR MAN NEED APPLY

The man who ought to be looked after by the government in all matters relating to price control is the man at the bottom. The man higher up can take care of himself. The price that should be fixed is the price to the consumer.

There is no telling what Sweden will do, but she ought to declare war against Germany, whose intrigues have brought disgrace upon the Swedish nation. The Queen of Sweden is the Kaiser's cousin.

At last the Italians appear to have won and held the crest of Monte San Gabriele, commanding the plain of Gorizia. The Austrian resistance was of the most desperate character, but the heroic forces of Italy would not be denied.

Horrible stories of cruelty are told by British soldiers who were taken prisoners by the Germans early in the war. At that time the arrogant German soldiers were puffed up with confidence and their hatred of England found expression in revolting acts of cruelty to prisoners.

The rumor that the Borden government to soldiers overseas to vote solid for the tory party, if it proved to be true, would not surprise anybody. A government that would disfranchise loyal British subjects would not hesitate to give any sort of assurances likely to win a vote.

The iniquity of the franchise bill was again exposed in the house of commons last night, but the Borden government jammed it through by closure. It disfranchises great numbers of loyal citizens and gives the franchise to about one-quarter of the women who are entitled to it.

Jack Frost cannot wither the bloom of health the amateur gardeners put on as a result of their work during the spring and summer. They have had the pleasure of eating vegetables raised by their own effort, and many will also have a partial supply for the winter.

The attempt to brand the Liberal party of Canada with disloyalty because it will not support the Borden government must fail because it is false. Those who are loyal to the best interests of Canada and are most desirous to win the war ought not to support a government which has utterly failed to mobilize the country's resources in men and material for war service.

The week ends with a much more satisfactory outlook in Russia. The provisional government appears to have got a better grip of the situation. No one else would be likely to attempt a coup where Korniloff falls, for he was a very strong man, with a large following.

An increase in the price of bread will help Bro. Hannas. His voice will not mean to act in any way that would reduce the profits of his friends, who are expected to provide election funds. We shall not get better conditions for the people of this country who are carrying the real burden of the war until there is a change of government at Ottawa.

Any reorganization of his cabinet Sir Robert Borden may make will leave it still the tory government that packed the jury with its Prussian franchise act.

The Korniloff revolt in Russia has failed.

No Sign of Dropsy And Kidney Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

HATTIE WARREN. Port Robinson, Ont., July 8th, 1915. "We have used 'Fruit-a-tives' in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl Hattie was troubled with kidney disease. The doctor said she was threatened with dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally we decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'." She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural.

LIGHTER VEIN

Of Course Not "Do you enjoy golf?" "No. I play the game, but nobody ever enjoys it."

Sarcasm "You'll simply have to take what we've got," she said to the man her hand had unexpectedly brought home to dinner. "That's all right," said the doctor, "but I've been trying to convince Jim that this is just our home, not a delicatessen store."

Truce "You didn't seem to be enjoying yourself at the banquet?" "I wasn't."

"But the meal was good, didn't you think?" "Yes, but you couldn't put enough good food on a banquet table to make up for the punk conversation."

The Boy's Clever Teacher-Willis, who was that who whom I distinctly heard someone whisper that date.

The Ambitious Bride Bill-Hello! Home from your honeymoon trip already?

Local Prize "What is the name of this street?" "This is Broadway," replied the proud citizen of Dubuqueville.

"Ah! Named in honor of the famous thoroughfare, I presume?" "Why, sir, this is the famous thoroughfare."

Always Picking Yeast-My wife used to play the banjo beautifully.

Criticism-Now she picks on you, I suppose?"

The geography lesson was about to begin and the subject of it was France.

Accordingly, the teacher started off with the question: "Now in this present terrible war, who is our principal ally?"

"France," came the answer from a chorus of voices.

"Quite right," said the teacher, beaming. "Now can any of you give me the name of a town in France?"

A small boy at the back of the class almost fell over in his eagerness to tell: "Somewhere," he said, breathlessly. Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Paint in the Fall

The Fall of the year is, by general consent, the most favorable time for painting the house. Owing to comparative dryness and the freedom from dust, on account of the stillness of the air, combined with the absence of small insects. To insure satisfactory results use "Hand and Ring" Pure Prepared Paints. They cover a lot of surface, wear well, work easy under the brush—and cost no more than good paint ought to cost.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—Conservative members are talking very seriously today about the new franchise bill. When off their guard they are expressing grave doubts about its effect. They are ready to admit that it may be a two-edged sword. Some of them do not worry very much about the principle involved in beginning to divide the result of the resentment which it is arousing among all classes of the electorate. It is noticeable that only five Conservatives have had the courage to speak in the house since the bill was introduced, its parents, Messrs. Borden and Meighen, being two of these and the latter having spoken twice in defence of his child. Opposite speakers have spoken with a fire and an eloquence born of indignation. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech of yesterday is regarded as his most notable effort of recent years. The criticism sometimes offered by opponents that he is prone to give the house a garland of flowers on subjects which demand a logical and clear-cut presentation certainly does not apply on the present occasion. Sir Wilfrid was logical, forceful, and manifestly moved by his subject. He spoke with an energy which men in the prime of life might have envied. Finer Principles Involved But there is an omen more serious than the opposition of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, for that, after all, was to be expected. The liberties of the subject and the sacredness of national pledges are principles so woven into the life of policies of the Liberal leader that it could not be conceived that he would do otherwise than denounce the present measure. A more significant fact is that all but four of the twenty-six conscientious but Liberals who did the conscientious but as well as on the Carso, only to be beaten back again. On the slopes of the rugged rock in the past few weeks has occurred some of the heaviest and most sanguinary fighting of the war, with the Italians hurling themselves forward in desperate attacks and the Austrians holding to the crest as desperately as they could. San Gabriele slope was occupied by the Italians, the embassy reports, after the fortified hill or saddle of Dol and the Gargaro basin, the main bulk of San Gabriele, has been taken. The Austrians, however, still cling to some positions on the mountain. In the forest of Tarnovo, east of Monte San Gabriele, the Italians captured positions from the Austrians after suffering heavy losses.

The crest of Monte San Gabriele, commanding the plain of Gorizia to the south and southeast and the Frigidio valley to the east, has been captured by the Italians. The Italian effort to capture San Gabriele began after taking of Monte Santo, directly north, by General Cadorna's troops on Aug. 25. Several times the Italians had reached the summit of the great mountain, so important to their further progress east of Gorizia Rebel General Takes Own Life. The political situation in Russia still is befuddled somewhat. The revolt of General Korniloff apparently has failed dismally, but the former commander-in-chief of the Russian armies has not yet surrendered to the provisional government. General Krymoff, commander of the Korniloff forces sent against Petrograd, committed suicide by shooting when informed by Premier Kerensky of the probable fate that awaited him. Premier Kerensky has begun to reconstruct the government, some of his former ministers apparently opposing the taking of drastic measures against General Korniloff and his aides.

V. A. D. Plans Work

The approaching work at the armory hospital received a number of offers of service from members of the order, and these were accepted. It was also arranged that certain members should be on duty at the armory at once to assist in the preparation for the reception of the convalescent men who are expected to arrive on Monday.

A number of voluntary members will also be on hand on Tuesday the 26th inst., when the armory will be open to street hospital and at the armory, respectively. The secretary, Miss Kathleen Strudger, read a report of the summer's work, in which four young ladies from out of town centres had given good service.

Borden's Plans For New Government

Makeshift Re-organization After Protagation

For Election Purposes

F. B. Carvell Importuned to Join the Government But Has Firmly Refused—Others Mentioned

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—Premier Borden will, on the conclusion of the parliamentary session, reorganize his cabinet. He plans to give it a flavor of fusion by the inclusion of certain men who have hitherto regarded themselves as Liberals, but it is to remain a Borden party government. The Borden instability of purpose and policy and the recent capitulation of the premier to purely partisan considerations has closed the door finally upon the inclusion of any real or representative Liberals.

Temporary Makeshift

The cabinet's premier plans to form after prorogation will be a temporary makeshift created primarily for the purpose of the ensuing general election. It will be presented to the country as the best procurable substitute for the long looked for and much heralded union or national war administration and with the assistance of the new franchise act is hoped to prove effectual in "pulling the party through" as one conservative member frankly expressed it.

The personnel of the reconstructed Borden cabinet is not yet complete. Borden has the premier yet made any official communication of his plans. There is, however, much speculation among the Liberals. According to present plans, Hon. A. L. Sifton, premier of Alberta, is still a possibility. It is probable that L. G. Bennett will be rewarded for his recent consistent parliamentary support of the government by a portfolio or by appointment to the senate. Mr. Tupper's recognition is regarded as a manifestation of appreciation of the services of Sir Clifford Sifton in writing the Bostock letter and in aiding in the endeavor to line up western Liberalism with the government. A Liberal from Manitoba is also desired but it may be said with certainty that no man has yet been definitely selected, though several are "under consideration."

Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, is believed to have recently eliminated himself as a cabinet possibility, while from British Columbia the likelihood is that Robert Green, Conservative, of Kootenay, will be appointed. Ontario is expected to be represented by Hugh Guthrie, South Wellington, and J. M. Godfrey, Toronto, although the name of Lloyd Harris is also mentioned.

Carvell Refuses.

The premier's most difficult problem, however, is recognized to be that of securing some one to take the place of F. B. Carvell, the Liberal conscientiousist from New Brunswick, whom Borden has been endeavoring for weeks, is understood to have definitely refused to have anything to do with the reconstructed cabinet. His disapproval of the Borden government has been made clear by his recent statement in the house when he publicly expressed his disapproval of the government and his conviction that the chief concern of the premier was election winning rather than war winning. It is also generally known that the representative Liberals, such as Hon. A. B. Hudson, Hon. J. A. Calder, Hon. George Murray, N. W. Howell, Fred. Pardee, A. K. Maclean, T. A. Crean, H. W. Wood and others, have firmly declined to be included in the new cabinet under existing conditions, and co-operation with principles and policies which at present announce the Borden regime.

Will Withdraw Announcement.

The premier's plan is to withhold any announcement of reconstruction until parliament has prorogued and thus avoid the embarrassment of hostile sentiment within the ranks of the Conservative membership. It is generally expected that he will drop such ministers as Hon. Martin Burrell, Hon. T. W. Crothers, Hon. Albert Severyn, and others at the earliest opportunity.

Sir George Foster admitted that in his opinion the franchise bill would in the long run not do justice to the prospects of the Conservative party as a party in the years to come, but he justified the measure on the ground that it was needed to put a present punch into the Liberal efforts. Sir George repudiated the Nationalists and all their works and pleaded that "honest men of truly loyal should unite behind the Conservative party. Inferentially he argued that the more distant the election, the more their enemy sympathies would vote for the Liberals.

Foster Called Down.

To this implication of disloyalty on the part of Liberalism throughout Canada, Hon. Geo. P. Graham took energetic exception. Mr. Graham has his only son at the front. "I can tell the minister of trade and commerce," he declared, "and Liberal cheerers, that he has no right to lecture us on loyalty. Where the heart-strings are torn we know what interest in the war means. I resent the implication that the Conservative party is the only loyal party. We have supported every war measure of this government. The history of Liberalism in Canada as in England shows what genuine loyalty means."

Laurier Led Union.

It was a Liberal government under Sir Wilfrid Laurier that took the first big step towards closer union with the motherland by granting the imperial preference. It was the Laurier government that for the first time in the history of Canada sent troops to aid the motherland in war, and because of that very action some of the men who helped to put the present government into power left our shores. There is no Grattan Tory so far as war sacrifice is concerned in this dominion. My blood boils at the sight of a man in the line of the speeches of men on the other side of the house who are now degrading loyalty by making it a party cry for party purposes.

As for putting "a punch into the war," as Sir George Foster contended was the government's aim, Mr. Graham enthusiastically enquired if it was putting a punch into the war to spend tens of millions of the country's money in giving value to worthless Canadian northern stock and in buying the Quebec and Saguenay railway to help out a few of the government's financial friends.

parliament tonight by launching personal attacks upon Hon. Dr. Pugsley, D. D. MacKenzie and J. H. Sinclair, on the ground that they were the three leading Liberal "objectivists" and that each had a son who ought to be in the front. Mr. MacKenzie replied briefly that his son was in khaki waiting to move overseas. Mr. Sinclair stated that his son had applied for enlistment at the outbreak of the war, was first rejected by the doctors, but subsequently accepted. After some months training he took ill and had to undergo a serious operation, and was just recently released from the hospital.

There were cries of "apologize" and "shame" from the Liberals. Hon. Frank Oliver rose and pointing to Colonel Currie, declared: "I just want to say that his conduct is the most contemptible I ever witnessed in this house."

"I do not say that the leader of the opposition has done any obstructive thing," exclaimed Colonel Currie, "but I say that he has sat day after day in this house while his followers in Montreal have been threatening dynamite and the dagger. He has been threatening, everything and operating with dynamite and the dagger and he has said nothing."

"The men who committed the outrages in Montreal were ticket-of-leave men who were released by the minister of justice just before they committed the crime and duty as to commit it," exclaimed Hon. Frank Oliver, amid some uproar.

Colonel Currie retorted by repeating just as Sir Wilfrid Laurier entered the chamber that the followers and associates of the Liberal leader were "using dynamite and threatening dangers in Montreal" and charged Sir Wilfrid Laurier with responsibility. The men were going around cheering for Laurier and making their threats, proclaimed Colonel Currie.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier rose at once. It was a Canadian to the best of my judgment and ability.

A Fine Peroration.

"It cannot be expected that in a free country like Canada we should all see alike on present problems. No man's heart is more deeply in this war than my own, but because I do not agree with other men upon the policy of conscription, gentlemen say my heart is not in the right place. That is a matter of judgment. I may be right and I may be wrong—history will tell. But whether I am right or wrong, my conduct and my position is before the Canadian people, and I am willing to leave it there."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier then proceeded with his brief and eloquent speech on the franchise bill.

A PLUCKY BOY.

Dennis Knudson, of North street, a Western Union messenger boy, narrowly escaped serious injury in Water street last evening soon after 6 o'clock. The boy was crossing down Princess street on his bicycle and when about to turn from Princess street into Water street he collided with a Ford car driven by Charles Shanks. The boy was thrown forcibly from the bicycle and sent through the air for about ten feet. He fortunately escaped injury. The bicycle was broken. Policeman Fitzpatrick rendered first aid. The boy's first thought was of the wheel. Late last evening he was reported to be all right and about work as usual. The pluck displayed by the boy was noted by many citizens who saw the accident.

THE BUSINESS WOMAN

Today, more than ever before, is woman's opportunity. Many new occupations are now opened to her, which before the war, she was deemed unfitted to fill. And truth to tell she has risen to the opportunity, and now shares many business responsibilities in former times confined to men. But, as women are subject to more frequent fluctuations of health than men, many will be handicapped early, if they regard their health requirements too lightly.

The nervous strain, long hours and prolonged mental or physical fatigue thin the blood and weaken the nervous system. Such conditions as women are now called upon to undergo can only be endured by a full-blooded constitution. This is as true for men as for women, only weaker women suffer sooner. The woman worker, in any line, requires her blood replenished frequently. She needs new, rich blood to keep her health under the trying conditions of business life, and to fortify her system against the effects of overwork. This applies also to the woman in the home, who, perhaps, has more worries and anxieties than usual. So let all girls and women take heed and renew their blood promptly at the first approach of pallor, lack of appetite, headache or backache. This can be best and most effectively accomplished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which make new, rich blood and thus help womanhood so perfectly. No woman need fear failure of health if she takes these pills occasionally to keep them well, or give them a fair trial if they find themselves run down.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville (Ont.).

DEATH DUE TO ACCIDENT.

At Morrisdale yesterday Coroner Ludlow Belyea, of Brown's Flats, conducted an inquest into the death of thirteen-year-old Roland Mullin, who was killed on Aug. 6, and the jury returned a verdict that death was accidental, placing no responsibility, but embodying several recommendations about employing young boys on such work. The boy, it will be recalled, was a switch-tender employed with Louney Bros., sub-contractors on the Valley road, and was run over. He was taken to the hospital in St. John and died there that same night. Dr. A. F. Emery gave testimony concerning the patient at the hospital. F.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Clay Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of the Niagara, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use two famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound trip. The National uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Tomkinsburg & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railway to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City and the National is ready to carry you westward. The departure of The National from Toronto is at 10:45 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached early next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeand beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveler an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 35,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to a vast expanse of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new route the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level rounded embankments all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The greatest travel comfort is assured. 5-10.

PLOVER AND MUSHROOMS
Amherst News—Claude J. Black, who has more than a local reputation as a sportsman was successful in bagging a number of plover this morning on the Amherst Point Marsh. He also succeeded in gathering a large quantity of mushrooms. A few days ago while shooting on this ground Mr. Black in addition to getting a large number of plover was successful in shooting some curlew which sportsmen declare is becoming very rare around these parts.

FOR PUBLIC SAFETY
In view of the recent agitation for the prevention of youths under eighteen running automobiles in defiance of regulations, orders have been issued to the police of the city to watch out for youthful drivers of cars and report them immediately to headquarters. This order is in answer to an appeal issued by the motor vehicle branch of the department of public works. The law forbids a youth under eighteen to operate a car even if accompanied by a chauffeur. It is to be strictly carried out.

PRESENTATIONS TO DEACONESSES
Miss Edith Day will leave on next Friday to enter the Anglican Deaconess House in Toronto, and the announcement of her departure has been the signal for several presentations. A morocco writing portfolio was presented to Miss Day last evening by Rev. R. P. McKim on behalf of the members of the choir of St. Luke's church, of which she has been a member. On Wednesday evening Miss Day was the guest of the Women's Auxiliary at the home of Miss Nellie Brown and was pleasantly surprised by the presentation of a fountain pen. Best wishes for success in her new work accompanied the gifts.

SOLDIER'S CHILD DEAD
Many will sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Palmer in the death of the youngest child, Herbert Robert, aged seven and a half months, which occurred at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Foster, on Thursday evening, Sept. 14. More than a year ago Mr. Palmer went overseas with the 115th battalion. He is now in France and never has seen the little one. Besides his parents, he leaves two little brothers. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. from his grandparents' home, 254 City road.

The Man in The Street

If the Indians are in any way responsible for the so-called Indian summer, they are entitled to a vote of thanks.

The Borden government's loud protestations of loyalty and righteousness and their adoption of Prussian methods to force their franchise bill through make a rather unhappy combination.

The franchise bill is the frankest confession the government has made of its fears for the result of the general election.

Perhaps the way the Borden government is running the country may furnish the reason for Explorer MacMillan's keen desire to return to the Arctic regions.

St. John folk probably will join heartily in the demand that grain should not be wasted in making whisky here—since prohibition is in effect here.

Germany's "will to win" has dwindled to a wish.

The Russian situation naturally calls forth the statement that too many cooks spoil the beans.

The Kaiser to Kerensky: "Is that a private war of yours or can any one take a hand?"

German newspapers resent President Wilson's "attempt to interfere in the affairs of the German people," by means of his reply to the Pope. Do they approve more highly of the Allies' efforts to achieve the same end by means of bullet and bayonet?

The Pen Is Mightier.
United States army officials have abolished the use of the sword, thus settling for once and all that favorite theme of debate relating to the comparative value of this weapon.

The proposal to revive the bustle as an article of feminine wear probably will be sat upon.

When the fuel controller was appointed, the freight rate on coal on the government railways was increased and now the tremendous mental and vocal activity of the food controller is to be followed by an increase in the price of bread. Will it happen if the government appoints any more controllers?

The military service bill will at least save a lot of men the prospect of suffering from a brainstorm when their future grandchildren come across with that question about what they did in the great war.

They were discussing the ethics of the car owner and the pedestrian when one of them voiced his declaration of independence. "Who should I slow up to give a man a lift? He may be walking because he needs the exercise," he said.

A lot of empty coal bins still await the fulfillment of Mr. Hazen's promise to provide transportation for that ten thousand ton order of anthracite.

He Gave His Life While Helping Others

Comrade Supplies Noble Epitaph for Pte. P. H. Pursey of St. John; Killed in the War

Mrs. Pursey of 189 Adelaide street is the recipient of a letter giving her the full details of the death of her husband, No. 446102, Pte. P. H. Pursey, who was killed in action on August 15, 1917. The letter reads as follows:

"I am very sorry indeed to have to give you the details of the death of your husband. Private Pursey was in the same platoon and same section and we were well acquainted. I was not working right with him when he was killed on August 15, but was talking to him about an hour before his death. The party had been digging a communication trench across the old German front line, better known as 'No Man's Land.' The job was finished and they had started home. Your husband stopped behind to help to get out one of our boys, who had been killed earlier in the day. He had just done his turn at carrying and was in the rear carrying the rifles, etc. A shell hit him direct. He, of course, died instantly. His body was badly mutilated. The ammunition in his pouches exploded, making it worse. His body was brought out to our billets the same night.

"He, with several more of this battalion were awarded with full military honors today, Aug. 17, at Aix Noullette cemetery, Row H, grave No. 12. Your husband was a man who always did his 'bit' and I am proud to have been associated with him. He died while helping others. Should you wish a photo of his grave send to Ottawa.

"Yours truly,
"CYRIL G. TOOVEY."

LANCE CORPORAL E. CLARKE WOUNDED

Word Comes to His Wife—Was Hit in Hip on August 18

Mrs. Eugene Clarke of 18 St. Andrews street has received a telegram from Ottawa informing her that her husband, Lance-Corporal Eugene Clarke, was seriously wounded in the hip on August 18 and was admitted to one of the base hospitals.

Lance-Corporal Clarke left here with the 115th battalion, and, after arriving in England, was transferred to a famous New Brunswick battalion, with which unit he was fighting when wounded. Later, Mrs. Clarke received word from Chaplains H. J. Gamble and Arthur Bischlager, telling her that they saw her husband and that his recovery was soon looked for. Previous to enlisting, Lance-Corporal Clarke was employed with T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd.

THE HUNTING SEASON

One Local Issuer of Licenses Already Has C.v.e.'s Out Twenty

The shooting season, which opened today has been marked already by the issue of twenty licenses by J. B. Jones, one of the local issuers of game licenses. Although the conditions have put an end to visits of European sportsmen and few are expected from across the border this year, the number of applicants on the first day would indicate that residents of the province are preparing to enjoy the fall shooting on a liberal scale.

Mr. Jones says that he finds a marked willingness on the part of the sportsmen to observe the game laws. Several of the applicants took out licenses without any definite plans for shooting, but merely to be prepared with the legal permit in case an opportunity happens to come their way.

GIET TO PASTOR AND WIFE ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very pleasant surprise awaited Rev. P. R. Hayward and Mrs. Hayward on their return to Fairville Baptist parsonage last evening after prayer meeting, when they found the house had been invaded by more than forty young people of the congregation, who called to extend hearty congratulations on the ninth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hayward's wedding.

Games were played, music enjoyed and refreshments served by the ladies. On behalf of the gathering, Wm. Arbo presented to Rev. Mr. Hayward and wife a handsome gift of china, expressing in a neat speech the best wishes of all. Rev. Mr. Hayward responded suitably.

JOE PAGE SENDS ANOTHER YOUTH TO MAJOR LEAGUE

The Chicago White Sox, on recommendation of Joe Page, have secured the services of a young pitcher, Connie Constantineau of Lowell, Mass., for a thorough try-out next spring. This young pitcher, who is still in his teens, has made a wonderful record in the past seasons. In fewer than twenty games he has struck out more than 200 batters. He has everything that goes in the making of a successful pitcher. Six foot in height, weighing 150 pounds, he has speed and control that makes him look like a Johnstone, although he is a South-paw. Old-time players like Bob Gansley and Bob Hart predict not only a great future for him, but also say he will make good for the White Sox from the start off of his career in the majors.

Stirring Address on War

Dr. Henry Van Dyke at Red Cross Meeting in Commanding Speech; Girl Ambulance Driver Also Heard

Every seat in Bangor City Hall was occupied on last Tuesday evening at a meeting held under the auspices of the Red Cross and addressed by Dr. Henry Van Dyke. John Wilson acted as chairman, and introduced as the first speaker of the evening, Dr. Van Dyke who in turn introduced Miss Theodora Dunham, who has been actively engaged in France as an ambulance driver on the Red Cross.

Miss Dunham has a most pleasing personality, and was all the more attractive because she wore the full dress military coat, plain skirt and walking boots of her service. Her graphic description of scenes at the front, the sorrow, cruelty and suffering caused by war touched a responsive chord in the audience, who hung closely upon every word which she said.

"Many men have returned to the front or the third or fourth time," said Miss Dunham, "and one in a while, not often, one of the men will say, 'C'est la dernière fois, cette fois,' it is the last time, and then they go." She also related how everything was done to make the men happy and comfortable, and what splendid courage was exhibited by all. Men who had lost limbs are taught trades so that there is some hope left for them and they can do some things nearly as well as before.

"There is a spirit of rest and freedom as one goes through the hospitals and even in the air between the buildings," said Miss Dunham in telling about her visits to the hospital. Examples of German barbarity and heartlessness were given when Miss Dunham told of ruined homes and unnecessary pillage and cruelty. When articles of furniture needed by ruined peasants were wantonly destroyed, Miss Dunham ended her lecture with an appeal to America's patriotism in knowledge of these fitting words: "As sympathizers we have done much, as allies we must do a great deal more."

Dr. Henry Van Dyke said: "So first we fight because we object to the existence of the war. Second, we object to the conduct of the war, for which also Germany is responsible. Some of the greatest inhumanities known to mankind have been perpetrated by this country and for that the predatory Potsdam gang is responsible. They are responsible for having issued orders that these crimes should be committed. 'People say we are not angry with the German people, not in the war against them as individuals. That may be true. Many of the German people hate and loath this business. There is a man dying now, if not already dead, in a German prison, because he dared express that loathing in his knowledge. He is Carl Liebknecht. I am no socialist but I know a brave man when I see one. It may not be against them that we fight, but there are unfortunately several million Germans lined up in front of the predatory Potsdam gang and we cannot get at the gang except by going through the people and we go through them.' (Applause.)

MORE CRUEL EVEN THAN VON BISSING

Von Faulkenhausen Crushing Civil Population of Belgium Under Iron Rule

Paris, Sept. 15.—Reliable information that has reached the Belgian government at Brussels indicates that von Faulkenhausen, the new governor, is more brutally cruel than his predecessor, von Bissing. The civilian population is being crushed under an iron rule, no less than thirty persons being shot monthly by his order. The people are terrorized by the practice of sending to the Charleroi prison hundreds on the pretext that they violated any one of the innumerable rules laid down by the Germans. Many of these prisoners never come out except to face a firing line. The names of those executed no longer are made public, which fact adds to the agony of the people through uncertainty of their fate. Food supplies are decreasing in quantity and increasing in cost. Were it not for the food furnished by the American Relief Commission the populace would be desperate. One-fourth of the people subsist entirely upon what they receive from this source. The remainder live upon what is left of their scanty crops after the Germans have taken what they want. In the cities meat and butter cost $1.50 a pound and flour is $1.10 a pound. Bread, of which the allowance is very scarce, is almost unobtainable, owing to the large percentage of chaff and dirt which is included. In consequence the physical condition of the inhabitants is deteriorating rapidly. The people are becoming atrophied and anemic. Draft animals are being requisitioned by the Germans for leather. Even harnesses now are replaced in many cases by wheelbarrows painted black, while mourners trundle the coffins through the streets. In some cities trolley cars are being utilized.

Franchise Bill Forced Through Commons

Passed by Use of Gag Rule Early This Morning; Government Gives Little Opportunity for Discussion of Important Measure; Premier's Action Strongly Condemned

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—In more ways than one Toryism, as exemplified by the Borden government, established a record tonight. The franchise bill depriving at least 25,000 free citizens of Canada of their pledged rights under the constitution act and granting votes to half a million women, with a radical change in the whole dominion election machinery, was steam rolled through the commons under the gag rule after practically only three days' discussion. Since Confederation no legislation of anything approaching similar importance has ever before been fished through with so little consideration or opportunity for full and fair discussion.

The bill has been rushed so fast that the government printing bureau could hardly keep pace with its progress, and right up to the last moment the members of the opposition were contending that even in the third reading the bill was not yet printed without mistakes. When the last revision of the dominion elections act was made in 1908 the then Conservative opposition discussed the measure or weeks and even months, although the bill contained nothing like the radical changes of the present measure. This time there has been less discussion than is usually given under normal conditions to relatively unimportant government bills.

The bill was introduced for first reading on Thursday, Sept. 6, by the secretary of state in a speech of an hour and a half, second reading was moved at 10 o'clock on Saturday night last and after three liberal speakers had spoken briefly, notice of closure was given. On Monday under the twenty minute rule, seventeen members of the opposition and six members of the government side spoke on the general principles of the measure. On Tuesday the day was taken up in general discussion, with the opposition trying to get information as to the exact meaning so far as possible of all the complicated clauses of the bill. That night notice of closure was again given and on Wednesday with the bill reprinted and with members of the house for the first time really cognizant of its full purport, the last opportunity or any detailed discussion passed. Last night after a third reading had been moved and the "debate" had been closed for some three minutes, Sir Robert Borden again gave notice of closure. "Today came the final winding of the hub."

Ringworm on Child's Head

caused Great Distress and Spread to Neck and Ears—Cure Was Speedily Effected When Right Treatment Was Recommended

Grand Bend, Ont., Sept. 13.—There is no disease of the skin more obstinate than ringworm, and the mother who writes this letter does so fully realizing that it will mean to other anxious mothers to know about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This remarkable cure was brought about two years ago, and as there has been no return of the distressing disease there can be no doubt that the cure is permanent.

Mrs. D. Stebbins, Grand Bend (Ont.), writes: "I am going to tell you of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. My little girl had sores come out on her head which looked like ringworms. They were spreading fast, and I tried home treatment, but nothing helped her. I took her to the doctor, and he opened some of the sores, which were as big as the yoke of an egg. The sores gave me to put on was very severe, and the poor child would cry for an hour or more after an application. For six weeks it continued to spread all over her head, and came down to her neck and ears. She suffered terribly. At last some kind ladies told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I got a box, and the first time I put it on she was relieved of pain, and the second time the swelling was all gone. Before we had finished the first box the sores were nearly all gone. I have told all the people around here about your Ointment, and I cannot praise it too much. It is now two years since my little girl was troubled in this way, and it never came back, so you can see she is completely cured. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of others who may be suffering in a similar manner."

Joseph Brenner, J.P., endorses this statement as follows: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mrs. D. Stebbins of Grand Bend (Ont.), and believe her statement with reference to Dr. Chase's Ointment to be true and correct."

sewer pipe member from Carleton (N. B.), and the speaker rose to rebuke him. "Let him alone," counselled Mr. Carvell, desirous of saving time. "Every one in the house and country who knows him despises him and none pay attention to his outbreaks."

Dr. Neely's Charge. Dr. D. B. Neely directly charged Premier Borden with "treachery of faith" toward the western subscription Liberals who supported the military service act.

The resolution of the Winnipeg Liberal convention condemning the Borden government's partizan war record of three years and the rejection of the Turf amendment to the Winnipeg win-the-war declaration, were, Dr. Neely said, put forward as the excuse for the premier's change of front. He proposed to give the house and the country some information on that matter.

The Liberal members of parliament who believed in and supported the subscription, said Dr. Neely, had a conference in the precincts of the house shortly after the resolution was brought down. It adopted a resolution which was subsequently made the basis for the resolution of the Winnipeg convention.

This resolution was given out to the press by Hugh Guthrie (South Wellington). While the fact was unequivocally implied, there was purposely no direct reference to compulsion or conscription.

Today came the final winding of the hub. "The war time elections act" passed the commons under closure at an early hour this (Saturday) morning. It goes promptly on to the senate.

Closure was again enforced when the house met this afternoon on the motion of Premier Borden. It was adopted on division, the vote standing fifty-five to thirty-two with Messrs. Hugh Guthrie and J. G. Turfiff voting with the government.

Dr. Michael Clarke was still absent from the chamber. The debate on the third reading of the measure proceeded under the twenty minutes schedule.

There was little to come of the speeches. Hon. Frank Oliver closed his contribution with sharp criticism of the premier who proclaimed far and wide that he wanted a union non-partizan government, and proceeded to go to lengths never dreamed of before on the lines of political partisanship for the purpose of winning an election. "And this," declared Mr. Oliver, "is the government that wanted honest Liberals to share with it in administering the affairs of Canada. We have heard across the floor that we had mutual bargaining between so-called Liberals and members of the government in that—bargaining as to the exchange of principle for place in the name of patriotism, in the name of honor, in the name of loyalty. Well, it is a long line since the man who was a traitor to principles had honor with the people."

Dr. Neely charged that Premier Borden by his present conduct, had "negatively the sincerity of every effort he had professed to make for national war government. It was no longer possible for him to secure co-operation from any but those who no longer represented Liberalism in this house and who have been supporting every autocratic measure this government brings down."

The most serious blow the premier had dealt in operation in the west was when he sent Sir Clifford Sifton west to mobilize sentiment in his pocket in his pocket to promise to his own initiative. Nor had he any portfolios in his pocket to promise. "The country will be glad to know that," retorted Dr. Neely, "but we know that Sir Clifford Sifton had the blessing, if he did not have the endorsement and authority of the premier. I want to tell the premier that the west has no use for Sir Clifford Sifton. It believes he has betrayed the west in 1911 and since that day as far as he is concerned, the west is short on faith and long on memory."

Dr. Neely concluded by moving an amendment to strike out of the bill all clauses disfranchising Canadian citizens. Speaking during the night sitting, Mr. Turfiff announced that, "despite the ill-natured remarks of my honorable friend from Humbolt, I propose to vote for his amendment. During the night sitting, Mr. Turfiff announced that, "despite the ill-natured remarks of my honorable friend from Humbolt, I propose to vote for his amendment. During the night sitting, Mr. Turfiff announced that, "despite the ill-natured remarks of my honorable friend from Humbolt, I propose to vote for his amendment."

Conservative Appeal to Borden. William Welch, Conservative (North Waterloo), blamed the government bill upon the opposition because the latter had refused parliamentary extension. He believed it to be a shame that men who had lived for years in Canada should be denied citizenship. He appealed to the premier to do something.

Sir Robert Borden announced that an order-in-council had been passed whereby certificates of naturalization would be granted under the legislation of 1914 to such Germans as may prove their character and residence to the satisfaction of the secretary of state, Hon. Arthur Meighen.

The Final Step. Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 14.—The Liberals closed debating the house tonight at midnight for a vote on the Neely amendment. It was generally understood that Mr. F. B. Carvell had an amendment to submit giving the federal franchise to all women who are provincially franchised. In order to prevent its presentation and consideration, the Conservatives began to rise one after the other to talk against it. It was a new light on the closure, the majority talking out the time to prevent the minority presenting its case. The minority by this method is completely gagged.

In turn Hon. T. W. Crothers, Mr. William Bennett and Dr. Edwards worked diligently to stir up an uproar. Mr. Bennett called Mr. Carvell "the

Commander-in-Chief Praises Men of The 26th Battalion

Sir Douglas Haig Inspects the 5th Brigade; Lt. Col. W. R. Brown Entertains Officers at Dinner

"Quite an honor was accorded the 5th Canadian Brigade yesterday morning," (Aug. 27), says an officer of the 26th Battalion in a letter to a friend here, "for we were visited by no less a personage than the commander-in-chief, Sir Douglas Haig. The brigade was drawn up in mass with double company frontage under Brigadier-General Ross, and with the brigade band playing, gave the general salute. It was a very striking scene. Following this the commander-in-chief rode along the whole two lines glancing keenly into the faces of the men towards him, faces of stout young Canadians who had but recently emerged from a stiff encounter with the foe and who had helped to deepen the lustrous mantle of honor won by our chaps over here. When this was finished the brigades called for three hearty cheers and lifting their shrapnel helmets from their heads the several thousand men raised their voices in a hurrah that was deafening but significant of their esteem for him who commands the forces of Britain in the field. A march-past came next, the four battalions of the brigade moving past the saluting base eight men abreast and tendering the customary salute as they went by. Sir Douglas expressed his pleasure in seeing so fine a body of men, who were no less pleased than he in the honor accorded them in his visit. He afterwards sent a personal letter to the G. O. C. Division complimenting him upon the "magnificent conduct of the men and their fine appearance."

A Fine Tribute. When he had finished his inspection of the New Brunswick battalion, the great British leader turned to Colonel Brown and said: "Allow me to compliment you upon having such a splendid lot of men."

Officers' Dinner. In an old French chateau the night of the inspection we had a most enjoyable dinner. It was a complimentary dinner tendered by the officer commanding, Lieutenant-Colonel W. R. Brown, to his associate officers, and served in the opinion of the "originals" to be one of the most delightful gatherings held by the battalion since coming to France, while in the view of those who have since been embraced in the 26th, it quite surpassed all expectations of pleasure. I am enclosing a programme, menu, etc. Perhaps some of the terms in the list of edibles may not be intelligible to those who read them in your paper, but to anyone who has been out here there will be no difficulty. For instance the term "pip-squeak" is applied to a certain kind of light gun shell, "run-jar" another name applied to one of Fritzie's trench mortars. Although the array of victuals looks rather formidable, it was as good as could be desired. There was an abundance of good things and a choice variety. The programme was:

Face Peeling Easy—Blonde or Brunette. "The blonde complexion fades early, because she is extraordinarily thin and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri. The brunettes, on the other hand, have a thicker skin and has a tendency to an oily appearance. For either the faded blonde skin or the brunettes' oily or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary macerated wax. Used every night, this will give one an entirely new complexion without waxing a little each day without affecting the worn-out surface skin, with all its defects. The wax gradually peels off the delicate under-skin in the least. The latter will be a scintillatingly beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her face, as an appearance goes, by a course of only two or three treatments. The wax is available at any drug store, is applied like cold cream."

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS. A meeting of the directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the institution on Thursday evening with new president, Frederick E. Barbour, in the chair. The executive committee reported that it approved the selection of S. S. Marshall as physical director and also reported on the progress of the installation of the new heating plant. Arrangements were made for the business men who are members of the Y. M. C. A. to be addressed at a luncheon in Bond's restaurant soon by B. A. McLean. Mr. Cross has been connected with the Indian army and his talk will deal with that subject. Roy A. Willet was elected to the religious committee, Harry L. Treat to the social committee, W. G. Ganong to the educational committee, W. C. Cross to the boys' work committee and G. L. Warwick to the finance committee.

To Visit the West. Fredericton, Sept. 14.—Dr. W. S. Carter, chief superintendent of education, expects to leave in a few days to visit some of the western provinces with the main object of inquiring into the cost and methods of distribution of free text books. He will probably go as far as the Pacific coast and be absent until the end of October.

DO YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES? Tells Simple, Harmless Way to Overcome This Trouble at Home and Improve Hearing 100 Percent in Many Instances

Thousands of people are constantly troubled with buzzing, ringing, rumbling or hissing noises in their head and ears, are hard of hearing and fear the day when partial or total deafness may be their lot.

Such cases, even though of long standing are not hopeless as a simple home prescription used daily has shown it possible in many instances to overcome the head and ear noises in less than ten days and to restore clear, distinct hearing in less than thirty.

Get from any druggist 1 oz. Parmitin (double strength) which costs about 90 cents. Take this home and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 oz. granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved and then take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmitin is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

NOTE—While Parmitin is widely used in the treatment of catarrh people who suffer from head noises or defective hearing should be certain to get it in the special (double strength) form especially designed for treating such cases.

another, Bob." (Crowned and Barbed Wire Peas. Harrison Sweets (Trocadero Flavor). Ammonia Capsule Merangue, dotted with lemons. Fruits, Nuts, Smoke Bombs, Tooth-picks, etc. Coffee Noir, Tea the same way, Wines, Water, Porter drawn from the wood, More Water, Liqueurs, etc. The dinner was held in what was formerly a parlor or drawing room of the chateau. During the day the committee in charge with a fatigue party had been busily engaged in making the place presentable for there was nothing but the four bare walls, a dirty floor and a dirty ceiling. Plenty of soap, water and energy soon made the place clean. Decorations were added and the room was hardly recognizable as the same where we had messed the last few days. Gay colored streamers were strung from the centre of the ceiling to the borders of the walls and in the centre was a knotted cluster prettily arranged. Having no electric lights all about the room with sheets of white paper on the wall behind them for reflectors. There were four tables, with a round one in the centre for the C. O. his guests and executive. We had real dishes instead of the regular galvanized imitations, white tablecloths and vases filled with flowers and with a log fire burning brightly in the old-fashioned fireplace, the room was so cozy and cheery as to make one forget for the time that there was really a war on. And I guess all present did manage to put such thoughts away, settling down to an evening every moment of which was crammed with pleasure.

The Colonel's Tribute. Following the toast to the king which with that to The Boys Who Have Gone West, was the only one on the programme, the colonel made a few remarks in which he expressed his keen satisfaction in the manner in which his battalion, officers and men, had conducted themselves in the recent show. He was very highly pleased, he said, and proud to have had command of such a body. He spoke feelingly of those gallant members who had fallen in action and who were missing from the mess tables tonight. They had fought the good fight and had died as true soldiers, heroes in a worthy cause. Their names would live forever in the annals of the 26th and in the pages of history. All he asked was a continuance of the same loyalty and bravery on the part of the battalion and he expressed his confidence that it could be expected. Others who spoke were Major Pringle, Rev. Capt. McGilivray, Lieut. Campbell and the colonel's brigade guests, Capt. Black, Lieut. Bos and Lieut. White.

During the dinner a fine programme of music was given by the brigade band, with a few numbers by the 26th pipers and when the tables were cleared the corps concert party entertained with numbers at once bright and amusing. During an intermission in their bill some of the officers provided an impromptu programme, those taking part including Major Dawson, Capt. Wood, Capt. Hope, Lieut. Buddell and Lieut. Dever. In behalf of those present Major Fairweather, D. S. O., expressed thanks to the C. O. for the very enjoyable time and for the affair to a close, but it will live long in the memory of all present as one of the best times they have ever had.

Trying To Oust Texas Governor

Impeachment of Farmer Jim Ferguson

A Career of Interest

Poor Man's Friend Said to Have Grown Rich in Office—Tumble Over the State University

To impeach the governor of an American state is by no means an unheard-of thing, and we recall that a few years ago New York got rid of her notorious "Bill" Sulzer by this route...

A Political Mystery. How Governor Ferguson, popularly known as "Farmer Jim," ever reached prominence in the state is a Texas political mystery.

Followed, and his first administration was without particular incident, though toward the close criticism about his relations with a bank which was supposed to have been favored in the matter of state funds broke out.

University Without Funds. His latest difficulties began when he made a demand or suggestion to President Vinson, of the Texas State University, and though it is not suggested that they were incompetent teachers and though some of them had held their positions for twenty years, the governor demanded that they be dismissed.

The governor, however, had the last word, and when the appropriation bill for the maintenance of the university came before him he refused to sign it.

Therefore, the university is without funds, and until the regents are re-elected, it is alleged that, although he had entered public life in the favorite role of "poor man's friend," he had become rich by manipulating state funds for the advantage of a bank which he controlled.

His veto of the appropriation bill brought matters to a head, and other charges against "Farmer Jim" were revived. It was alleged that, although he had entered public life in the favorite role of "poor man's friend," he had become rich by manipulating state funds for the advantage of a bank which he controlled.

GIRL'S ERROR CAUSE OF ANNOUNCEMENT OF VICTORY AT SEA

U. S. Navy Department Stenographer Made it "All" Instead of "One" Submarine Lost

Station in Washington the other day over an official announcement that six German submarines had been sunk during a mass attack on the American steamship Westwego, while cruising with several other ships off the coast of France, was short-lived.

Four hours after it had been announced by Secretary Daniels that six submarines had been sunk, the secretary was obliged to issue a retraction. Then he gave to the press a statement that one of the submarines was probably lost. Meanwhile the news had been flashed over the world that all six of the submarines had been lost and the impression was spread throughout the nation, too late for correction in most afternoon papers that day, that American destroyers conveyed the merchant vessels had won a great victory over the German navy.

The retraction was issued by Secretary Daniels after he had discovered that a young woman stenographer in the navy department had, under war work rush, committed the typographical error of substituting the word "all" for "one."

In the original paraphrase of the official report, which had been delivered to her to be copied for use in making the official announcement.

Meanwhile the information as originally given to the press had been sent by wireless to Gloucester, on the Massachusetts coast—where the naval yacht Mayflower was stationed—for delivery to the president, who had been visiting Colonel E. M. House, and had received wide circulation around the capitol, where senators and representatives were congratulating the American navy on its prowess.

Nuxated Iron to Make New Age of Beautiful Women and Vigorous Iron Men

Say Physicians—Quickly Puts Roses Into the Cheeks of Women and Most Astonishing Youthful Vitality Into the Veins of Men—It Often Increases the Strength and Endurance of Delicate, Nervous "Run-Down" Folks 100 Per Cent. in Two Weeks' Time.

Opinions of Dr. Schuyler O. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City; Dr. James Louis Beyer, for Fifteen Years Adjunct Professor in the New Homeopathic Medical College, and Wm. R. Kerr, Former Health Commissioner, City of Chicago.

New York, N. Y.—Since the remarkable discovery of organic iron, Nuxated Iron or "Fer Nuxate," as the French call it, has taken the country by storm.

It is a conservative estimate that over three million people annually are taking it in this country alone. Most astonishing results are reported from its use by both physicians and laymen. So much so that doctors predict that we shall soon have a new age of far more beautiful, rosy-cheeked women and vigorous iron men.

Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author, when interviewed on this subject, said: "There can be no vigorous iron men without iron in their blood. Anemia means iron deficiency. The skin of anemic men and women is pale; the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone; the brain fags and the memory falls and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks."

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, apples, pears, degenerated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron from these staple foods. The iron in our food is so scarce that it is difficult to get it. The writer possesses a card index of war stamps, probably the only list of its kind in existence. It is more than 750,000 pages long and is kept up-to-date since the war began, and today it discloses that more than 2,200 varieties of postage stamps have resulted from the war."

These, added to stamps that various countries have issued which have not been caused by the war, and considered also with those postal labels which were put forth during the year 1901 to July 1914, inclusive, would make the total to the point today where the announcement can be made definitely that the world's nations have issued more stamps than those of the 19th century. In other words, makers of stamp albums found that those volumes became so cumbersome at the beginning of the 20th century that they began manufacturing special albums for 20th century stamps only, and today the 20th century volume is larger than that devoted to the stamps of the 19th century."

Aside from the stamps themselves, three years of war have had unexpected effects on philately. Collectors and dealers alike, in America and abroad, expected the conflict would have a detrimental if not a fatal influence. Instead, the war proved a boon, both to collecting and the industry. This was because of the appearance of so many war stamps which no one, at the commencement of hostilities, foresaw."

The announcement is made of another effect which the war is having. For the first time since about 1880 the United States is not to have a new edition of Scott's annual American catalogue. France, Germany, Great Britain and the United States have yearly each a catalogue of its own, pricing, used and unused, of the world's more than 75,000 major and minor varieties. At this period of the year the advance sheets of Scott's are usually sold for $1.00, but this year, due to the war, there are no 1918 advance sheets to be had. The cost of white paper, felt so keenly by all publishers, is reasonable. Instead of a volume of 1,200 pages Scott's for 1918 will consist only of a supplement, containing all stamps issued subsequent to the appearance of the 1917 annual, together with whatever price revisions have been necessary as affecting the stamps listed in the 1917 volume. The supplement will contain about 90 pages."

"Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of twenty and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact, a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret, he said, was taking iron—Nuxated Iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 40 he was careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50, after taking Nuxated Iron, a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get iron strength out of it, and as a consequence, you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were alling all the while double their strength and endurance and entirely rid themselves of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, visiting surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

Dr. James Louis Beyer, for 15 years adjunct professor in the New York Homeopathic Medical College, says: "As a physician I have always been opposed to prescribing advertised remedies, and for fifteen years, while adjunct professor in the New York Homeopathic Medical College, I taught my medical students that such remedies were generally valueless, but in the case of Nuxated Iron severe tests made on myself and numerous patients, have absolutely convinced me that it is a remedy of most extraordinary merit and one which should be generally prescribed by all physicians. Notwithstanding the fact that I am nearing my 80th birthday, a short course of Nuxated Iron has made me feel like a new man. Friends say: 'What have you been doing to yourself, you look so well and full of life?' In my opinion there is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to put youthful strength and power into the veins of the weak, run-down, infirm or aged. But beware of the old forms of metallic iron which often do more harm than good. To be absolutely sure that my patients get real organic iron and not some form of the metallic variety, I always prescribe Nuxated Iron in its original packages."

NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended also by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to and widely prescribed by eminent physicians both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, makes them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in nuxated iron, that they offer to forfeit $100,000 to any charitable institution, if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron, and increase their strength 100 per cent. or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists. Wasson's Drug Store.

Teuton Intrigue

"German intrigue, German espionage, German conspiracy against neutrality, her ships passing through this very city of St. John carrying bombs to blow up bridges in a country with which we were at peace. We gave voluntarily, shelter to German ships in our harbors. And Germany's spies made those very ships a cave in which to plan the destruction of our merchant vessels bound on peaceful voyages.

"Then there was the intrigue with Mexico to endeavor to purchase our neighbors' belligerency against us and to use her as a cat's paw to pull Japan in, to procure those things by the offer of territory in four American states. Ah! Predatory Potsdam Gang, when you made that offer you did not have the goods to deliver and you never will.

The Submarine War

Then there was the submarine war, which is positively and actually a crime under the law of nations. I have been reproached with a tendency to exaggeration.

tion. But Germans are pirates. That is an exact, technical, legal term. A pirate is one who commits upon the sea an action which is not justified either by civil or by naval law. They are justified in sinking war ships. They are justified in taking prizes. That is their business and perfectly legal. They are justified in searching ships. If those ships carry contraband of war they have a right to take them into port and condemn them as war prizes. In case of necessity they have the right to sink them. But they have no right to sink them without warning and without providing for the safety of passengers and crew.

In the civil war there was a ship named the Alabama. She was rather a troublesome customer. Her commander, Capt. Simms, was a hard fighter, a seaman of course. But when he captured a ship and could not get for weather or other reasons get her into port he let her go. On one occasion like that he said: 'I thought I had you but I'll have to let you go. I cannot keep you.' That is the way a gentleman fights in contrast with the way of the predatory Potsdam gang.

Murder to Make a German Holiday. They sank the Lusitania on May 7, and 114 perfectly innocent Americans, men, women and children were drowned. A murder to make a German holiday. The holiday was kept in Berlin. The streets were flagged. A medal commemorating the sinking of the Lusitania, on one side was a ticket office with a skeleton at the door. On the other side was the great ship going down, stern foremost into the sea. There was on that medal a line telling of the Lusitania's sinking by a German submarine and the date May 7. And the Lusitania was not sunk until the 7th. Why was that medal made on the 5th. Ah, they are liars, all liars. You cannot trust them in anything they may say.

Wilson then wrote his three famous notes. There followed the sinking of the Arabic. Then correspondence languished for a while and Germany sank the Sussex. She was a passenger boat and on board were several hundred American citizens. Then President Wilson said to Germany 'If you do not stop this submarine warfare on merchant vessels and passenger vessels, America will break relations with you.'

"Germany replied that she would do what she could. She did not change the matter much but she trimmed it with lace a little. She said she was unable to guarantee the safety of the passengers and crew but would do what she could, would do something.

"The sinkings went on with a little less loss of life than previously. On Jan. 31, 1917, she proposed to sink at sight every merchant vessel were they neutral or belligerent and diplomatic relations with Germany were severed. Her reply to this was to sink eight American ships in ten

TWO CONFESSIONS OF TREMBLAY ARE PUT IN EVIDENCE

Statements Tell of Hatching Plots, Upon Oath of Secrecy - Tremblay Recommitted and Two Charges Added. When He Still Refuses to Answer Questions.

Montreal, Sept. 14—Joseph Tremblay, one of the alleged dynamite men, who was committed to jail a couple of days ago for contempt of court because he would not answer questions put to him in the witness box by the crown counsel in the preliminary hearing in the case of Lord Atholstan's summer residence at Cartierville. The first charge was having dynamite in his possession.

Tremblay made two confessions, one on Sept. 5 and the other on the 7th inst., according to evidence given this afternoon by stenographer Casson. The confessions were made to the crown authorities and were allowed in the court record. Tremblay admits therein that one of the men present at a meeting in Lalumiere's store when the dynamite plot was hatched was a detective, this having been learned since. The discussion included the proposed blowing up of Sir Robert Borden's house, the residence of Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Donald Mann and General E. W. Wilson, G. O. C. of the Montreal Military District. Also mentioned the names of Hon. Albert Seigny, Hon. P. E. Blondin, the offices of the Gazette, La Patrie and Le Soleil. Oaths of secrecy were taken with loaded revolvers in sight. It was understood at this meeting that dynamite was to be stolen from the Martinus Quarries, Lalumiere, Handfield, who since committed suicide, Monette, still at large; Wisniewski, Charbonneau, Lacroix, and Tremblay stole the dynamite. An automobile was procured by Handfield and Monette by the expedient of cracking a chauffeur, Therrien, over the head and shooting him. Tremblay did not see this, but Handfield and Monette told it in his presence.

Handfield drove the car that carried the gang out to Lord Atholstan's Cartierville home, so Tremblay stated, the dynamite to be used for the purpose of destroying the residence and family having been stored at Tremblay's home after the theft. Tremblay had to carry the dynamite and place it. Handfield walked behind the rest of the gang with a Ross rifle in his hand. The rifle was loaded with five bullets. Tremblay put the dynamite three times in the corner of the house, saying to himself, 'That won't make more than a noise. It won't blow up the house.' If the dynamite had been placed as the others wanted it, it would have blown up the whole place. The party at Cartierville consisted of: Handfield, Monette, Wisniewski, Cyr and Tremblay, according to Tremblay's confession.

On one occasion at Lalumiere's house there was talk of getting money, the confession states. Desjarlais, the detective, handed out a check for $200, which Lalumiere took. Lalumiere seemed to have money and from Tremblay's information, he understood that the money came from a priest. Lalumiere said he expected to have $50 from the cure. Tremblay explained that the priest was giving the money to aid in the meetings, but the priest did not know what was behind it. Lalumiere was the cashier of the gang. He had several masks, which he kept in his store on St. Lawrence boulevard. One man had promised $100, so Lalumiere announced. It was agreed that if any member of the gang "squealed" on his companions, his family would disappear. Monette and Handfield told Tremblay that it was Lalumiere who had placed the dynamite at the residence of Senator Beaubien's brother. It did not explode.

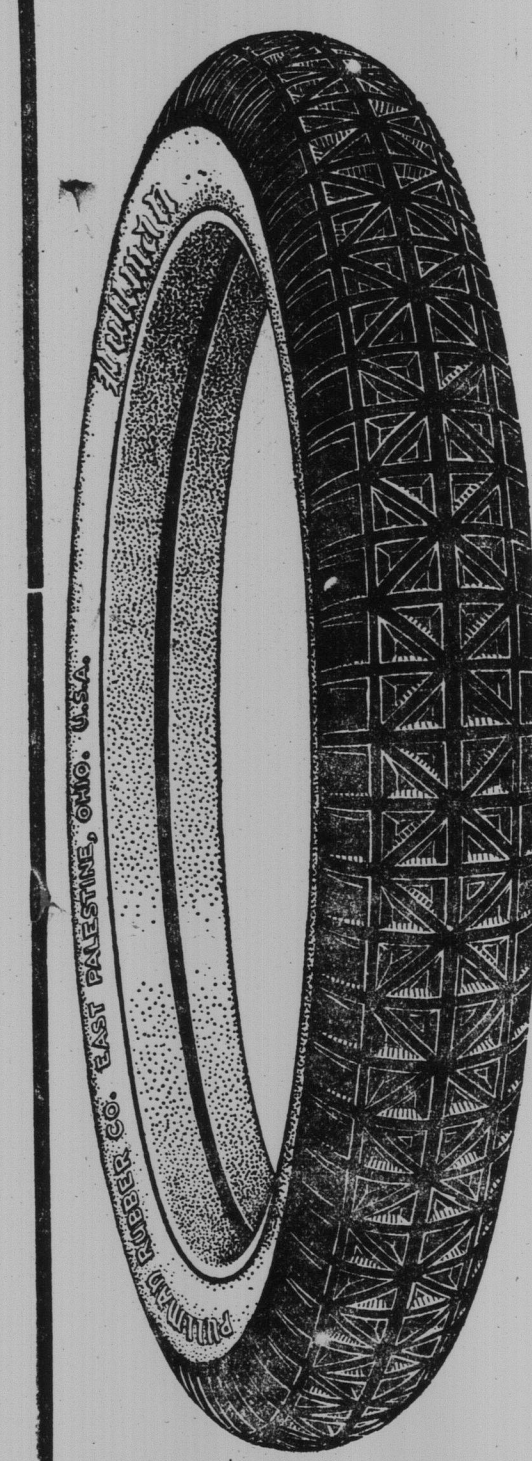

days and murder forty Americans. Then our president said, 'It is enough. We have been attacked; we have been forced to defend ourselves or to submit to insults and to mortal injury.' Congress declared war and we went into it not because we want it, not because we sought it. Germany forced it upon us. Being in, we are in to stay in. Being in, we mean to have such conduct of war repudiated and those who conduct it punished. 'We mean to have a union of great states throughout the world, which shall be pledged to prevent a repetition of this world war. We ask that all these be democracies. We ask not whether they shall be crowned or uncrowned, but that all the states shall have a government responsible to the people. That is the keynote. That is what has made us a nation. That is what we must stand for. We have a flag, whose white stands for integrity of purpose, whose red stands for courage of heart, whose blue with its stars stands for faith in liberty, clear and strong as the eternal heavens. 'A bright flag A brave flag A flag, to lead the free; To guard the weak; To guide the strong; To make an end to human wrong; To draw a hundred million strong To follow after it.'

(Philadelphia Ledger)

Mars and Venus have still more than a passing acquaintance, but to many a youth and many a maid whose dream of love in a cottage is deferred the sudden mobilization is no laughing business. A woman's imagination is quick in these matters, and it does not minimize the risk. The wounded soldier is her soldier and "the white face of the uncomplaining dead" is hers. Her heart detects the sound of battle, though the Maxims are far beyond the range of the ear; her own intuitions, which she trusts beyond man's logic, are messengers of dismal tidings when naught is certainly known. Perhaps in the haste of the going and the bustle of departure a glamour attaches to the warrior exceeding the effect he produces as a mere civilian. If he seems more of a man in khaki than in muffs, that is all his gain. The girl left behind will think more of the man who goes than of the man who might go and refuses for the sake of ease or safety. Abroad they have an uncomfortable way of quizzing the man who is not at the front. Soon the tennis absentee and the cottillon slacker may become equally unfashionable here.

Bernhardt Acts Twice Each Day

Appearance in New York Recalls Debut There

73 Years Old In October

Great Hope in Her Life is to Be in Paris When Victory is Won Over the Boches

New York, Sept. 13.—Sitting in the orchestra seats of the Knickerbocker Theatre watching Mme. Sarah Bernhardt as the Duc de Reichstadt in the last act of "L'Aiglon," it seems almost incredible that the world famous French actress will celebrate her seventy-third birthday on Oct. 28. On Nov. 8 it will be thirty-seven years since Sarah Bernhardt made her first appearance in America under the Abbey management in "Adrienne Lecouvreur," when she had seventeen curtain calls after the second act. The same brilliancy of the magic eyes and the wonderful voice is still to the fore at the Knickerbocker Theatre in "L'Aiglon," but Madame is much stouter than she was thirty-seven years ago. This is due chiefly to her attacks of sciatica, which commenced ten years ago and culminated in the operation at Bordeaux. Previous to that Mme. Bernhardt retained her sylph like figure by her work at the theatre and athletic exercise between the performances.

Not satisfied with two performances a day, including Sundays, with rehearsals in between the "Divine Sarah," as she is affectionately known all over Europe, would find time to go out shooting jaguars, alligators, leopards, coon or other wild animals or birds according to the country she was in. Her slowness was so remarkable in 1860 that when she arrived at the stage door of the Odeon for her last rehearsal before sailing for New York the Figaro stated sarcastically: "An empty carriage drew up at the door of the Odeon and Mme. Sarah Bernhardt descended."

Next to her beloved France she is wrapped up in her art and her chief regret is that the stage is losing caste through the vogue of the moving picture, and also because young people will not take the time to study the finer technique and ethics of the legitimate profession as they were compelled by a critical public to do in her young days in Paris. In spite of the fact that Mme. Bernhardt has recently recovered from an illness that brought her almost to the gates of death, she has not relinquished one jot of her arduous work with the company organized by W. F. Connor in 1916 for a tour of the United States. It is Sarah Bernhardt who tells the young French actors and actresses how they must act their roles. Her word is final on the stage and in the dressing room, even to the changing of the robes she wears in the various plays, and the packing away of her cherished jewels with their cherished historical associations.

Her physician is always in constant attendance at the back of the stage at the Knickerbocker Theatre, with his familiar expression, "Mais, Madame, je vous prie" but if it is of no avail. Sarah Bernhardt does as she has always done—follows her own free will. If there is any human being who can influence the great actresses it is her charming granddaughter, Lysiane, the child of her beloved son, Maurice, who is in her twenty-first year. She is going on tour with Mme. Bernhardt next Sunday, after her parents have sailed for France.

Bernhardt commences her day in her suite at the Hotel Savoy at 8.30 o'clock every morning, when her maid brings in coffee and rolls, with fresh fruit. At 10.30 she is dressed and ready to drive to the Knickerbocker Theatre to rehearse excerpts from her lengthy repertoire with the new members of her company, who have been sent over from Paris. At 12.30 she is back at the Savoy to receive her guests for luncheon, the only meal to which invitations are given. After luncheon Mme. Bernhardt rests for an hour and is then driven to the theatre for the matinee performance. Sometimes the rehearsals have to be repeated in the afternoon, often at her own insistence, and she will attend them as if they were part of the ordinary routine of her daily life.

In an interview in her dressing room at the theatre last night after her remarkable impersonation of the Duc de Reichstadt in the last act of "L'Aiglon," while seeing to her dresses with her English secretary, Miss Elizabeth Ormsby, she said that the great hope of her life was to be in Paris when peace was proclaimed.

"I am going back to France next May," Mme. Bernhardt continued, "and by that time the Allies, with the valuable aid of the American army will have vanquished the boches. I believe that victory would have been won this year if it had not been for the actions of the Russians, who fell at the supreme moment and cost France so many of her brave sons in the Champagne. That was a chance for the Germans, was it not? They are always getting chances those people without God?"

"And it seems strange that the men who are fighting for the lives and liberty of future generations in America and Europe should have to suffer for such a long time, but it will all come right in the end. I feel that I shall survive to see France restored to her rights, and her devastated fields made fertile and populated with the peasant folk once again as they have been for centuries past."

THE DAMAGE TO CROPS IN MAINE BY THE FROST

(Bangor Commercial)

Tuesday morning's frost inflicted heavy damage on the sweet corn crop in Portland and vicinity. Many hundreds of acres of corn were ruined and a large quantity can only be saved by picking it right away.

In order to take care of the corn that has not been entirely spoiled for canning, many of the factories in the country have arranged to run in three shifts for the next few days. Most of the large factories had been in operation for a week while some of the smaller ones had just started up.

Other garden crops were also seriously damaged. It was the heaviest frost known in this section for many years. According to reports crops in Androscoggin county were seriously damaged by the frost Tuesday morning. It came as a hard blow to the canning factories as in the lowlands beans and corn suffered badly and in some instances were completely ruined.

Farmers who came into Bath Tuesday were not feeling happy and their faces showed it, for Sagadahoc county was visited by a heavy hard frost Monday night which did an estimated damage of $15,000 to crops of Sagadahoc farmers. Not for years has such a frost hit the crops. Accompanied by a temperature of 98 degrees, the frost wrought havoc. So sudden was the cold spell that professional farmers as well as the man who is raising vegetables as a patriotic duty were caught badly unprepared.

The greatest damage was done to late corn. Thousands of dollars' worth of this product were destroyed and an expected bumper crop is a thing of the past. Beans, tomatoes and lighter vegetables were killed everywhere.

"There's George smoking my Marguerites again. He thinks I don't miss them."

The Marguerite was a favorite twenty six years ago. It is still one of the most popular three-for-a-quarter cigars in Canada. That comes pretty near establishing a record in the cigar business.

The reason is that the quality has been kept up. In these days of high manufacturing costs, that means less profit to both maker and dealer, but the retail price remains at three for twenty-five.

But increased sales will make up the difference, because the Marguerite smoker is now getting "ten cents straight" value or better at three for 25c.

Spend a quarter for a try out and then buy by the box.

Dr. Pugsley, Nimble, Quick, Makes The Govt. Look Sick

Franchise Fight Again Discloses William as a Party Moses—Very Keen For Fights His Nose In—There Are Thorns on William's Roses

(Special from Toronto Star Staff Correspondent.) Ottawa, Sept. 10.—When the Liberal party in Parliament gets into a "scrap," as it did on Saturday, Dr. William Pugsley comes to the surface as naturally as a bass rises to a fly; rises, indeed, with much the same business-like energy, and the same accuracy of purpose which marks the upward dart of his latter's brother, but without half the latter's chances of being caught. In fact the honorable doctor is never caught, and that is what "rises" his opponents. Just when they think they have him safely hooked, he jumps two feet out of the water, so to speak, turns a flip-flop in mid-air and leaves the political fisherman to pull in a loose line without fish or bait; nothing on it but the hook and sometimes not even that. The younger generation hear Pugsley spoken of so often as "Doctor" that some may have a mental picture of him as a physician. In a sense he is. He has a healing voice. The itching of an opponent for re-election, he has been known to cure with a few bland sentences. But on the whole, his political arguments are deceptive. They irritate and inflame, although the tones in which he proclaims them would indicate an intention to soothe and pacify.

Appearances Deceive. He can say a nasty thing more nicely than anybody else in parliament. His political hyperemics may appear calculated to induce solemnity, but they usually have the effect of throwing the patient into a fearful paroxysm of rage. As the poet saith: "Old Doc Pugsley's health's dose Has nicer taste than Borden's Bitters; But when you watch its actions close, It ain't no balm for human critics." No! Indeed. Perhaps that is because Dr. Pugsley is really a lawyer, and a doctor of law and not of medicine. His greatest asset next to his legal astuteness, is his absolute self-control. Few men are so well able to dissociate manner from intention. He may rise in the House to "rip the hide" of a victim, yet his tone will be as placid and undisturbed as though he were going to suggest a vote of thanks to his opponent or decorate him with the Victoria Cross. But let the victim struggle and cry out while the cuticle is being removed, and the voice of Dr. Pugsley will shiver with such a deep and condemnatory indignation that the House of Commons attendants are tempted to throw open the windows to let the vibrations out, lest the very walls be shaken down. Nobody in parliament has so much indignation stored up and ready for instant use as has the member from St. John. When he solemnly denounces the outrageous conduct of some Conservative, every inflection of his voice against whom his thunderbolts are directed becomes almost convinced that he must be guilty, even if he knows that he is not. Cool in Midst of Ructions Dr. Pugsley loves a fight. He smells it from afar, but he does not paw and prance. He twiddles his watch chain and when he rises he beams upon the Speaker whom he most probably is going to defy, and upon the victim whom he is most certainly going to dissect, and if the Speaker relaxes his vigilance, or if the victim sits back in false security, why, all the worse for both of them, for they get taken unawares. It must not be inferred that Dr. Pugsley is always attacking people, or that he never shows anger when he does. As a usual thing, he is one of the most charming of men, both in the House and out of it, and it is also true that there are occasions on which the Commons has seen him almost dancing with rage. But was it the spirit which danced, or the limbs only? There are those who aver that even when Dr. Pugsley appears angriest, he has never for one instant lost control, but that that serene machine-like mind of his has dictated that the time has come to "register anger," and that the carnal body has simply obeyed its mental master. If that is the case, Dr. Pugsley cannot sit must often sit back and enjoy the performance of its outward and manifest partner, admiring the swift and audacious thrust; the accurate and unhesitating parry.

He's Off Again, on Again Dr. Pugsley has the rare faculty of instantaneous self-transformation. He can be "all twinkles" one minute and all horror the next. The reverse operation was seen on Saturday. There was Pugsley, his whole attitude that of a man who was putting the "pug" in pug-nacious, standing with flaming eyes in open defiance of the Speaker, his whole being bristling with belligerence—and what happened? The Speaker told him that he would "name" him if he did not sit down. Dr. Pugsley knew with absolute certainty that the Speaker Rhoades would keep his word and moreover that he would be justified in keeping it. Caught in a wrong, he rejected the temptation with punishment the average member would have had but two courses open: One, to stay standing and be "named," the other, to subside like a beaten man. But not so the member for St. John. If he was tempted to continue his defiance (and it is the hardest thing in the world to draw back from defiance when it is once begun), that smoothly-working mind of his rejected the temptation as involving no gain in tactics, and, with the same lightning-like rapidity, prompter words and actions which took all the sting out of the situation. Said Speaker Rhoades to the glaring Pugsley: "I will name the hon. member if he does not sit down." In a second, the belligerent face in the Liberal front row was transfigured with good humor. His eyes twinkled as though his own retreat were the best joke in the world, he said: "I will do that immediately," and did. It was irresistible. The House laughed with him; the tension snapped. Even the Conservatives admitted that the enemy had successfully evacuated his front trenches under fire and had covered his retreat with a battery of smiles. Has Personal Charm While Conservative papers are wont to cartoon the Honorable William as a very dreadful human being, indeed, he is known at Ottawa as a man whose personal habits are beyond reproach. He is the best company imaginable and has a grace of manner which he bestows upon the humblest stranger as freely as upon his most influential constituent. His thoughtfulness for others (except men whom he happens to be fighting), is acknowledged even by his foes. It was R. B. Bennett who paid tribute to his personal graces in the house the other day, and what he said of the learned Doctor was this: Mr. Bennett: "When I was a young man and used to learn much from the hon. member from St. John."

Mr. Pugsley: "I am afraid you have gone astray." Mr. Bennett: "No, I have never forgotten many of the lessons that I learned, but the lesson of urbanity I have never yet been able to learn. I have never been able to say 'Thank you' with that same kind of consideration that he does. I should like to, but I fear I never shall." With becoming modesty, Dr. Pugsley himself occasionally refers in the house to the attributes so often associated with his name. The other day he read a letter written some years ago to Mr. Hazen, in which a political opponent had referred to Pugsley as the "Genial William." The half-credulous tone in which "William" pronounced those two words stirred the house to suppressed laughter. "Meaning me," added Dr. Pugsley, and at the awe of his voice the laughter became unrestrained. "The only true words in the letter," commented D. D. Mackenzie. Clothiers Hate Him There is one man in the house, however, who cherishes a deep and undying resentment against the member from St. John, that man being the Hon. Thomas Brotherton, minister of labor. He it was who presented the case against Pugsley to the house when charges were made against the latter some years ago. He it was, on a later occasion, who used in the house the expression "Slippery Bill." At intervals ever since, Dr. Pugsley has taken the opportunity of sticking parliamentary pins in tender portions of the minister's anatomy. The minister also, but generally ineffectually to plant bombs under the gentleman from St. John. It would please him vastly to see the hon. member blown up. If the liberals continue this week their fight against the war-time elections act—that is, if they are to adopt blockading tactics and all that sort of thing—Dr. William Pugsley will be right there or thereabouts. And nobody will be able to judge from the front of his face what is going on in the back of his head. All of which gives rise to the question which so many people have asked, to wit: "What would Dr. Pugsley look like without his whiskers?" DOMINION OWNS BEDFORD BASIN Status Fixed in Judgment Awarding $2,915 on $150,000 Claim at Halifax

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 14.—Sir Walter Cassels, judge of the Exchequer Court, in filing a judgment in the Halifax case of Edward Maxwell vs. the King, gives an interesting decision regarding the status of Bedford Basin, an expansion to the northward of Halifax harbor. Maxwell claimed compensation for lands appropriated by the Crown for the construction of works at Halifax in connection with the Intercolonial Railway, and for land bounded by high water mark in Bedford Basin, and for a water lot and damages to property. A total claim was made for $150,000. The crown tendered $2,915. The Exchequer Court now makes it $2,915.75. In opposition to Mr. Maxwell's claim, the crown contended that Bedford Basin was at the date of the Confederation act under a provincial grant, and that grant of the water lot by the province of Nova Scotia, after Confederation is void. The judge says: "I have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion, bearing in view the reasons in the Fisheries case and the English Bay case, that at the time of Confederation Bedford Basin was a public harbor, the property of the province of Nova Scotia, and passed to the dominion by the provisions of the British North America Act."

Learned, but the lesson of urbanity I have never yet been able to learn. I have never been able to say 'Thank you' with that same kind of consideration that he does. DECLARES PROHIBITION RESULTS IN ONTARIO ARE VERY SATISFACTORY. Toronto, Sept. 14.—Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario, speaking of the effects of prohibition of which the province has had a year's experience, said: "We have now had twelve months' experience of the Ontario Temperance act, and I am thankful to be able to say that the operation of the law has come up to my greatest expectations. Reports from all parts of the province indicate the success of the measure, as well as the great benefits that are resulting from it. One very gratifying result of the act is the increase in the efficiency of the workers of this province in every branch of production."

Knights Templars. Winnipeg, Sept. 14.—Business sessions of the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Knights Templars ended here yesterday with the election of officers. Charles H. Collins, of Toronto, was elected supreme grand master. Eastern provincial grand priors included: D. H. Leach, Sherbrooke; H. A. Currie, St. John (N.S.); and Prince Edward Island; A. M. Rowan, St. John (N.B.); H. A. Porter, of St. John, was elected a member of the grand council. Won Ford Car. A St. Stephen despatch says: "The drawing for the Ford car which was recently put up by the Soldiers Comfort Association took place at the fair grounds this evening. The car was won by J. J. Danforth, of Eastport (Me.). The ticket was No. 2938. The proceeds of the lottery was about $2,000. W. W. Clarke, of St. Stephen, had charge of the drawing."

Fit your writing with Waterman's (Ideal) Fountain Pen. For Army and Navy. For School and College. Two people write alike. Some write a delicate, shaded hand requiring a fine, flexible pen point. Some write a "scrawly" hand requiring a heavy point. Others write anywhere between these extremes, each requiring a particular or unique gold point. In Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen you can find the point you need—fine, medium, coarse; flexible, normal, stiff; long or short nib, with round, fine or stub point—and perfect writing comfort. Superior quality and strength—guaranteeing long life and dependability—have for thirty-four years made Waterman's Ideal the standard writing implement. Further improvements by two succeeding generations of experience maintain this position. The thought and science entering into the manufacturing of this pen does not show on the surface, but service counts—and service they give.
