Rebel Sao Paulo Army Starts March on Brazilian Capital FOREFIRES ARE MENACE

SITUATION IN BRAZIL GETTING MORE SERIOUS

Movement is Believed to be Directed Against Federal Government.
RIGID CENSORSHIP

Only Vague Reports Come From Scene of Trouble—Warships Sent.

(By Canadian Press.)
Buenos Aires, July 8.—An army of 13,000 men, composed of Sao Paulo state forces, together with some Federal troops, are marching toward Rio Janeiro, according to reports gathered by a correspondent of La Nacion, who has returned to the Argentine border after a trip into Southern Brazil.

In general, the news from Brazil concerning the Sao Paulo insurrection continues vague and conflicting, but sufficient has been learned to leave little doubt that the movement is of a formidable character politically, and is aimed at the Federal Government.

The report concerning the movement in the direction of Rio Janeiro lacks corroboration, but owing to the strictness of the censorship it is impossible to learn accurately what is occurring.

Disturbance Spreads.
Rio de Janeiro, July 7.—(United Press Staff Correspondent delayed.)—The situation in Brazil is becoming more critical. Disturbances are spreading in the disaffected areas and a naval squadron called for Santos yesterday morning to attempt to reestablish order.

The Journal Di Commercio says that a section of the regular army quartered in and about Sao Paulo, conspired with State troops to capture the Government palace there. The Government learned of the movement in time and took the necessary measures to prevent it being carried out, according to the newspaper, which says that the revolutionary activities are a result of a lack of unity of command in the army and adds that the movement is continuing.

An official communique says the situation is "favorable" and that the battleship Minasgervas has radiated from Santos that everything is calm there. Censorship is rigid.

Rigid Censorship prevails on messages from Sao Paulo, the storm center, and the Government, realizing that the impression on the world created by the result will be decidedly unfavorable, is naturally anxious to suppress both revolution and false reports concerning it as rapidly as possible.

The Anotica publishes an official note deprecating the movement, and advises the populace that it is quite unnecessary to become alarmed.

Last Saturday the chamber unanimously approved the President's request that a state of siege be declared at Sao Paulo and the Governors of all states telegraphed General Bernardes, placing their State troops at his disposal to put down the rebellion.

This may look funny to you, but it's a profound problem to them. It's getting so a man can hardly get a seat in a barber shop any more, thanks to the bobbed hair monopoly. When Thomas Armstrong, one of the hundreds of Bear Mountain campers who have been searching for the girl, came on her soon after daybreak, she was sound asleep beside a huge boulder. Her torn stockings were rolled in a neat ball beside her, and near the clump of ferns, which was her pillow, were her scratched and ragged shoes, neatly placed side by side.

Unidentified men found dead in the river usually are not important, but $3,866 makes a difference. Unusual efforts are being made to learn who he was.

LENGTHY DROUGHT MAKES SITUATION VERY CRITICAL

Fires are Reported From Several Places Throughout Province.
PEOPLE WARNED

Extreme Caution is Urged Upon All to Prevent Serious Damage.

(Special to The Times-Star.)
Fredericton, July 8.—The weather during the last few days has been very unfavorable for fire fighting and a considerable number of fires were reported yesterday throughout the province. One of these fires, on the East branch of the Musquash river, was quite dangerous for a time, and threatened seriously one of the pipe lines of the hydro development on this branch.

This fire was at the head of Stillwater, and covered in all approximately five acres. It was an old burn, running low, and it was confined to granted land, owned chiefly by the Inglewood Company. The fire this morning was reported under control.

One Near Minto.
On the Fredericton and Grand Lake railway between this city and Minto, a fire, which broke out last Saturday, again yesterday, crossed the railway tracks and ran along for about half a mile. A crew of 22 men were put to work fighting this blaze and it was reported under control this morning.

Four fires were reported from Northumberland county, one on crown lands and three on granted lands. The fire on crown lands and one of the others were not reported under control this morning.

From Victoria county a small fire was reported near Arthurville and the fire at Three Rivers, which was burning last week, broke out again.

Caution is Urged.
In view of the heat and the extreme dryness of everything in the woods and fields people are strongly urged to take particular care to see that no fires start through any carelessness on their part. Travelers on trains are also asked to refrain from throwing burning matches, cigars and cigarette butts from the car windows as these might result in fires causing thousands of dollars damage. Rain is badly needed at present throughout the province to relieve the country of the fire menace.

MAINE HAS SERIOUS BLAZE IN FORESTS

Ashland, Me., July 8.—The forest fire which threatened to invade the village of Masardis, last night was still raging today, beyond the control of those who fought it, but with the menace to Masardis removed by a change of wind. Forest fire warden C. L. Weeks, estimated that between 6,000 and 12,000 acres had been burned over.

U. S. BAR PRESIDENT SOUNDS WARNING

Says Encroachments of Congress Menace to Nation—Costs Jump.

(United Press).

Philadelphia, July 8.—The constitution of the United States is the favorite topic of President E. Lee Sauer of the American Bar Association, a resident of Dallas, Texas.

After giving the history of the United States constitution and its amendments, he said:

"There are now pending in Congress nearly 100 proposals to amend the constitution, practically all of them conceived, fostered and urged by highly organized bureaus or associations; virtually all of them strike the fundamental principles of our government; and many of them are fostered by the selfish interests of minority factions for purposes purely selfish.

"In the Federal Government alone there are more than 750,000 employees. There are more than 8,400,000 people employed by national, state and municipal governments, so that every 12 workers in the United States support one government employe!

"But some one asks, why do we ourselves what the Government will do for us for nothing? The law of compensation is inalterable and immutable and we, the people, must pay. Accordingly to the last census report, the national debt, not including state and municipal debts, in 1922 was nearly $23,000,000,000 or over $210 for each person in the whole country, representing a per capita increase of approximately 400 per cent. in a decade for federal taxes alone. It is estimated that every man, woman and child in the United States pays for taxes approximately 16 cents out of every dollar earned, or an annual average tax of 891.

"The 59th Congress passed 6,750 laws, and in 1915 the state adopted

AMERICAN "HOT STUFF."

Whether the Third Party in the United States and its candidate, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, get anywhere or not, they are going to make a good deal of noise in the presidential campaign.

"The Republican party not alone refused to purge itself but sought to conceal and to condone its iniquities. Its titular head, the President of the United States, glossed over the offenses of each corrupt cabinet officer in turn until outraged public opinion forced him to drop them.

"The party of Lincoln is no more. In its place stands an unprincipled band of public spoliators and petty politicians, united only in common service to predatory wealth. This is the only leadership available within the Republican party to millions of progressive Republican voters.

"Neither can the organization and leadership of the Democratic party serve as an instrument for clean government and national regeneration. Drawing its life blood from the same corrupt sources as the Republican party, in the form of campaign contributions, dominated by essentially the same perverted instinct to prostitute public office and public resources to private ends, the Democratic party comes to the task of governmental purification with hands stained with war frauds, shipping board and alien property scandals and gross degradation of the Department of Justice.

"The Democratic party, equally with the Republican party, has been unable and unwilling in this crisis to rise above petty partisan ends. The pot can only call the kettle black. There is no cleansing virtue in either of them.

CANADA REFORESTING.

There is a forestry loss in what Canada is doing in reforestation, says an American newspaper. From the nursery at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, 70,000 seedlings have been planted as shelter breaks since 1901.

Ontario has established the beginnings of 18 communal forests in the past few years, says the Forestry Almanac of the American Tree Association of Washington, D. C. She is bringing seedlings preparatory to planting 10,000 acres a year for 60 years in old Ontario. At Berthierville in Quebec a large nursery is dedicated to the work of reforesting as much of the 8,000,000 waste acres in that province as is possible.

REDISTRIBUTION.

Ottawa, July 7.—A recommendation to reduce the Scotian representation of 16 members to 15, it is stated, likely to be made in the report of the redistribution committee which is to be made to the House on Wednesday or Thursday. The various schedules of the redistribution bill are now approaching completion in all provinces, though some points still remain to be settled.

EMPLOYERS AND THE STATE.

A footpath among the trees of doubt and obstruction has become a well-established and well-travelled road says the Toronto Star. Some welfare legislation has emerged from a past of theory and anticipation into a present of fact and application. Mileposts upon that road are many. Mothers' allowances, public health nursing, free clinics, minimum wage boards, workers' compensation are but a few of them.

INSIDE THE IRON

The Electric Iron is a wonderful little thing. Its little body contains the ability to do work that saves the housewife an immense amount of drudgery. It costs very little to keep it at working heat and it does away with miles of walking to and from a hot stove.

Preserving Time Needs. With strawberries starts preserving and canning time. MY MOTHER.

(Agnes B. Joyans in Saturday Night.) My Mother (feels)? Oh! Can it be so? But yesterday her strong hand lifted me. An infant, toddling with uncertain steps, across the stumbling places in my path her graceful, supple body bent through all the after years, above the warp on which I live, with awkward hands, my little web.

A Blank Vacation.

"Hello, there! And where are you off to? Not out of work, I hope?" "No, I'm not out of work, I'm working at a domino factory." "What department?" asked his friend. "I'm making boxes, or the dominoes, or what?" "I make the spots on 'em."

Making It Worse.

Mrs. Squigles used to take an interest in various amusements. During a visit a certain old man roused her compassion. "How long have you been here?" she asked him. "Twelve years," was the reply. After asking a few more questions she passed on.

Doucet, assistant priest, and Rev. Fr. Levesque, sponsor. Quite a large number of clergy were present in the sanctuary. Rev. Bideau delivered a strong sermon on the duties of the priest. An exceptionally large congregation was present including many friends and relatives of the young priest from all parts of the province.

DEMONSTRATES AID FOR WATER VICTIMS

Captain Saunders Shows Methods of Restoring Respiration.

A vivid demonstration of the correct method of restoring respiration in the victim of a near-drowning accident was given last night at Renforth by Captain Austin P. Saunders, organizer and engineer of the Maritime Safety League, Moncton. Following a talk in which he dwelt on the drowning hazard, he called for volunteers on whom to demonstrate just how it was done. Six young men responded.

Captain Saunders stretched the supposed victim full length on the floor, face downward with the right arm outstretched and the left bent, the wrist being under the victim's forehead, thus keeping his eyes, nose and mouth out of the sand.

The Shafer method of restoring respiration he demonstrated by placing his hands, fingers and thumbs close together on the victim's sides, just below the ribs. While he counted three he pressed downward with almost his full strength. He released the pressure suddenly but without removing his hands. He waited while he slowly counted two, and then repeated the same motions at the rate of 14 to the minute.

This should be continued until the victim begins to breathe naturally, and should not even be discontinued then Captain Saunders said, for from experience it has been learned that a victim has to be watched very carefully for several hours after he had again begun to breathe. The method should be used until it was assured that the victim had recovered.

If there was a sufficiently large number present massaging the arms and legs of the victim could be carried on simultaneously with the Shafer method. He demonstrated this by administering the Shafer method himself and stationing one man at each leg and arm. Each massaged the member, rubbing all ways toward the heart.

In his address Captain Saunders denounced the habit of some people who while bathing, cry for assistance when they did not require assistance. It was the old story of "Wolf, wolf," he said. When they really did need assistance, anyone knowing of the habit of crying for help would disregard their calls, and the possibilities were that the person would be drowned.

Shows Moving Pictures.

When the meeting started it was still light and, as the windows of the club house at Renforth were not covered, Captain Saunders thought that he would be unable to show the motion picture "Ask Daddy," which tells in story form the lesson of safety which he was trying to preach. Darkness coming eventually, however, the picture was shown.

The silver sheet reflected a scene in earlier times, when the cave dwellers took every precaution against attack by wild animals. It drew a parallel between the wolves of those days and the automobiles on the highways today. A subtitle announced that 2,000 people had been killed in Africa by wild beasts during the year while 12,000 people were killed on the highways of the United States.

The film told the story of the "Gun that was not loaded" and what the result was when it was pointed at some one and fired.

E. W. Henry, president of the Renforth Club presided. E. A. Schofield introduced Captain Saunders. The latest Government statistics showing the deaths in the Maritime Provinces due to preventable accidents in one year were distributed to all present. The death total was 443, of which number New Brunswick contributed 185, Nova Scotia 227 and Prince Edward Island 31. The deaths due to drowning were 75 and headed the list.

Quotes Statistics.

At the outset Captain Saunders asked the audience to bear with him if during his address he quoted figures based on Toronto, as the Safety League had been in operation there for 10 years and it was the only place from which to draw statistics. In 1892, when Toronto was a city of 172,000 population, the number of drownings was 26, he said, while last year with a population of 565,000 the number was five, two of which were suicides. He spoke strongly in favor of localized bathing, illustrating his argument by saying that in Toronto at the six different bathing places at which 500,000 people bathed themselves last year, not one life was lost.

Ten years ago Captain Saunders said one-third of the traffic fatalities in the streets of Toronto were children of school age, while today the one per cent. He attributed the recampment of the Canadian Safety League.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Henry expressed the thanks of the audience to Captain Saunders for his address.

WEDDINGS

Fairweather-Seely.

Hampton, July 7—A very pretty wedding took place at the Church of Ascension, Lower Norton, when Miss Minnie Seely, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Seely, of Lower Norton, became the bride of Myles Fairweather, of Hartford, Connecticut.

The church was prettily decorated with daisies and roses. Rev. Thomas Parker, who performed the ceremony was assisted by Rev. N. P. Fairweather, a relative of both bride and groom.

The organist, Miss Ella Fairweather, played softly during the ceremony and during the service, two hymns, "O Perfect Love," and "We Lift Our Hearts, Oh Father," were effectively rendered by the choir.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, E. H. Seely, wore a very becoming three-piece suit of grey pique twill with hat and other accessories to match. She carried a prayer book of grey suede. They were unattended.

After the ceremony many friends attended the reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Seely. Here the interior decorations were in pink and white, pointers of this color being effectively used. The verandah was garlanded with grape vines. A buffet luncheon was served, after which the bride and groom left by motor for Belleisle, where part of their honeymoon will be spent. They will also enjoy a canoeing trip to different points along the St. John river and its tributaries. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial check and the organist received from the bride a handsome silk scarf.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairweather expect to make their home in Lower Norton.

Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Rev. N. P. Fairweather, and Mrs. Fairweather, of Musquash; Percy Dixon, Mrs. George Hoyt, Miss Kathryn Hoyt, Mrs. Jack Hunter, Mrs. Jessie Olive, of Newton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jeffrey, of Jeffrey Corner; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Granville, St. Stephen; Mrs. Harry Henderson, Nauwigewauk; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Foster, of Kingston; Mrs. Kenneth Raymond, of Bloomfield; Mr. Douglas Dixon, of Sackville.

The directors of Fernhill Cemetery Company held their regular quarterly meeting yesterday afternoon, with Col. E. T. Sturdee, president, in the chair, and a good representation of directors present. The quarterly financial statements were reviewed and accepted.

It was reported that the various chapters of the Daughters of the Empire had undertaken to assume the expense of providing military headstones for five soldiers' graves in the naval and military plots, which are not eligible for stones under the Imperial War Graves Commission ruling. It was decided to hold one or two special visitation days in July for annual inspection of the cemetery by lot-holders and others interested and to make arrangements for special cars and taxis to take the public to and from the grounds.

A delegation from the Last Post Fund appeared before the directors in connection with the burial of soldiers by their organization. The other cup for general proficiency was also won by a troop from Rothesay—Troop No. 2. The camp had many visitors during their exercises.

Several of the officers are still at Oak Point, looking after the removal of tents and equipment. They will return to the city tomorrow. Miss Catherine McAvity, Miss Dorothy Purdy, Miss Raymond and Miss Sturdee were the officers in charge of the camp. FAMOUS COLOSSUS STOOD FEW YEARS

Made Little Island World Renowned, But Suffered Untimely End.

"Rhodes—the city and island of the Colossus." "So," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, "ideas of Rhodes are another in most minds whenever Rhodes is mentioned; proving that one of the greatest of modern industries, advertising, has its roots in antiquity. For this cyclic monument of Rhodes stood only fifty-six years, yet it advertised the city so well that it has identified Rhodes for the twenty centuries since it fell."

The bulletin goes on to describe this island in the eastern Mediterranean Sea, scene of a recent concentration of Italian troops. "One way of orienting Rhodes geographically is to describe it as the largest of the Dodecanese islands. It is the most easterly of the great group of islands and islets that pepper the Aegean Sea. Farther eastward in the Mediterranean lie only tiny coastal islands, like Kastellorizo, and the one island, Cyprus. Of all the islands east of the Grecian peninsula only Cyprus and Crete exceed Rhodes in size.

Rhodes was in the favored location of its day, at the crossing of the marine highways between Byzantium, Greece and Italy on the one hand, and on the other Egypt, southeastern Asia Minor, and Syria, gateway to the East. Inevitably a great maritime and commercial community grew up on Rhodes; it took the torch of Mediterranean commerce from Phoenicia, passed it later to Byzantium, Rome, Genoa and Venice. It seems natural enough to find old Greek and Roman historians referring to the island of Rhodes as a world center in the third and second centuries before Christ as the distributing center of the Levant. It would hardly be surprising in view of this familiar phraseology to find "letterheads" of the Rhodian Chamber of Commerce of that day with the truthful enough slogan: "Rhodes' trade territory is the world."

Rhodes was a world center in still another way, for in the days of Ptolemy the geographer, it was taken as the initial point for longitude as Greenwich is today. "As a result of Rhodes' dominant commercial position, its lawn and coinage were the standards of their day throughout the Mediterranean. The Rhodians, too, were colonizers and planted their stations on the shores of Asia Minor, Africa, Greece, Italy and even Spain."

Incident after incident crops up in Rhodian history to the Rhodes of the ways of today. The city of Rhodes was laid out, on its establishment in 408 B. C., according to an ordered plan, by an architectural engineer—Hippodamus, of Miletus. The new city was given a sort of "commission form" of government, consisting of a group of six executives. When Rhodes was destroyed by earthquake, in 227 B. C., it received the practical sympathy of its world as Tokyo did in 1923; relief funds were sent from all the Hellenic states to repair the damage. Even the Great Colossus was a "victory statue" made of bronze cast-pulleys and other war engines—the "gun metal" of the day.

"Perhaps the most picturesque era in Rhodes' history was from 1309 to 1522, when it was the stronghold of the crusading Knights of St. John and the bulwark of Christendom against the Muslims. The old Greek city had practically disappeared when the knights came, and they built anew great moats and walls, bastions and towers and stanch stone dwellings. They evacuated the city to the Turks in 1522, but the deep marks their two centuries of occupancy left remain today. It is doubtful if in all Europe is to be found a more perfect example of a European fortified city of the fifteen century than is to be seen in Rhodes, geographically and climatically the quintessence of the "East." "In the city's main thoroughfare, the Street of the Knights, are the same fine old windows, even if most of them are disfigured by superimposed lattices to shield harem ladies from unauthorized view. Built into the walls of the old knights' residences are the coats of arms of some of the most famous noble families of Europe. "No trace of Rhodes' famous Colossus remains today. This bronze statue, more than 100 feet high, which ranked as one of the seven wonders of the world, was toppled over by an earthquake in 224 B. C. The pieces lay where they had fallen for nearly 900 years, when a more ignominious fate overtook them. They were sold to a junk dealer."

"JOSEPH'S COAT" HOUSE.
Part of Canada's display at Wembley is a house built of every kind of wood found in Northern Canada. The house is a full-sized reproduction of a settler's bungalow, and it is made of maple, cedar, spruce, fir, beech, birch, tamarack and pine. All these woods and the special purpose to which they are put in building are shown in the finished home. Another fascinating display is Niagara in miniature, which, with other models, shows the hydraulic wealth and resources of Canada. The falls reveal how the huge water-power is harnessed and utilized for industry.

GOLD TEETH AS ORNAMENTS.
In a Chinese village sat a man selling gold teeth. He had a number of moulds of different shapes and sizes. These are slipped on over sound teeth and worn as ornaments. Prospective customers fit the moulds on their own teeth and watch the effect in a small mirror provided by the tooth merchant. When a fit is found, or a tooth that suits a special fancy, the price is discussed. If an agreement is reached, the customer pays the bill and goes away with his new possession in his mouth, but if no trade is made the tooth is thrown back into the pile and held for the next customer.

For use in banks and business houses to detect forgeries, a camera has been perfected which photographs the depositor and his signature.

SISTER KILLS BOY SWOONS AT BIER

"I Didn't Mean to Do It," Sobs 14-Year-Old Anna Bobar.

New York, July 8—"I didn't mean to do it," sobbed 14-year-old Anna Bobar of 22 Centre Place, Yonkers, who killed her brother John, aged 15, during an argument with her about staying out late, as she viewed his body in her home just before the funeral. After the ordeal she collapsed.

The girl, who is a prisoner at the Children's Society Shelter, 111 Warburton avenue, Yonkers, was taken to her brother's bier at her own request by Agent Preston Chapman. She did not see her father, Michael Bobar, who had protested until fifteen minutes before the funeral against letting her view the body, but finally relented.

As the grand jury to meet July 9 has a crowded calendar, Anna probably will have to remain locked up until the September grand jury convenes. In the opinion of Agent Chapman, she is not of normal mentality and is backward in her studies in the public school.

Coroner Snowden has turned over to District Attorney Rowland the written statements of Anna and her mother about the killing. The statements are much alike in their review of what happened in the kitchen of the Bobar home, except that the girl says she says threw a knife at her brother, who she adds, was the only person in the kitchen, while her mother alleges that she was present and saw Anna stab the brother.

NEW ZEALAND BIRDS.
Maori land has been in many ways the playground of Nature. Ice-cold mountain streams and boiling pools within two feet of each other, a snowy mountain with a boiling lake, which will stay still for a fortnight without even blinking its eyes, and a wingless bird are among its paradoxes. But, when the first white man went to New Zealand, the strangest of Nature's creations there was the Moa, a giant bird twice as tall as a man. With the aid of a skeleton and rock impressions, the now-extinct Moa has been re-created, and a magnificent specimen stands in the New Zealand Pavilion at Wembley. This giant bird, which would kill a man with one blow of its foot stands beside another strange New Zealand bird—the Kiwi, without wings, about 18 inches high, and possessing a beak almost as long as itself.

Ready to use

The Kiwi sleeps during the day and hunts at night, and his presence in the New Zealand Pavilion has attracted as much attention as that of his giant neighbor, the Moa.

Why is Prison Life So Dreary?

Prisoners do not get much change of scenery. Their traveling is strictly limited to a few square yards of territory. That is one reason why prison life is so monotonous and dreary and benumbing. Sometimes people who are perfectly free to travel where they will, unconsciously fall into a rut—they move about in a narrow circle, traversing the same streets every day, always seeing the same things over and over again. Can you wonder that life also seems dreary to these people?

Everyone needs variety of scenery, variety of experience and the automobile helps one to get this as nothing else does. You cannot begin to measure the beneficial effects of motoring until you actually own a car and experience the glorious freedom which it brings to you.

You may have thought about buying a car many times—you may have thought about it in a more or less vague sort of way. Why not make the decision today—why not get down to earth and choose your car this very afternoon.

The classified advertising columns of The Times-Star present a convenient list of the worth while used car offerings in the current market. Consult this list—right now.

MUCH OF CHARM IN HOUSE OF LORDS

As the ordinary stranger takes his seat in the gallery and surveys the House of Lords, he sees much to charm his eye, to kindle his imagination, and even to stimulate his sense of reverence. He feels humbled, if not intimidated, by the almost religious solemnity of the place. It is glowing in gold and colors. All the glory of the mind, a deep danked the wings' gleams in its splendid decorations. There is nothing gorgeous in the scene. The subdued light of a found it in Milan—prevails, transforming things that might otherwise strike upon the senses as garish into a delight to the eye, and an inspiration to the mind. Everything heightens the impression that one is in the beautiful chapel of an ancient cathedral rather than in a modern legislative chamber.

The lofty stained glass windows have blue and crimson glazes of the kings and queens of England. Most of them were worldly-minded men and women, but like saints they look in their antique garments, and the seeming of rapid meditation and ecstatic introspection on their faces. Between the windows are pedestals on which stand large bronze statues of knights in armor, grave and stern of aspect, leaning on their naked sword and lance. They recall times when the battle of principles was fought not with words by subtle minded and ready tongued men in frock coat and silk hat, but with sword and battle axe, wielded by brawny soldiers on prancing steeds.

"DOCTOR OF BEER" IS LATEST DEGREE

Graduates of Special Course in Bavaria Will Get Designation. Berlin, July 8.—Bavaria is to have doctors of beer. Graduates of the Agricultural College of Weinstephana who take a special course in beer-making, designed to keep Munich ahead of the rest of the world as a brewery centre, will get a special degree which, literally translated, means "Brewery Director". Hops are grown scientifically on the school farm, and a miniature brewery is maintained in which the students make a scientific study of all the processes of beer making and compete for prizes offered for the contestants producing the best brews.

COAL AND WOOD

BERRIES NEED RAIN.

Rain is badly needed throughout the country if the strawberry crop is to be saved. The outlook this year was for one of the largest yields for many seasons, but the recent drought has caused growers much concern. Rain at this time would probably result in New Brunswick's largest strawberry crop. The demand for berries, however, is not equal to the supply. The importation of a carload of berries from Ontario affected the market considerably.

LAST HALF OF 1924 BEGINS FAVORABLY

IS REPORT MADE BY COMMERCE BANK

Better Feeling Throughout Canada Than in Early Part of June. The July commercial letter, issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto, says: "The latter half of the year begins under favorable auspices, with a fair demand for our staple products and with production proceeding at a satisfactory rate. There is, in fact, a better feeling throughout the country than during the early part of June, when a pessimism developed owing to the disappointing volume of retail business. Continued cool weather caused a decline in the demand for grain and other farm products, but this has been largely offset by the fact that the volume of production has been maintained at a high level."

PROHIBITS USE OF WHEELS OF FORTUNE. Definite instruction respecting the use of wheels of fortune and other such gambling devices have been issued by the Attorney General's Department, says the Halifax Echo, with the result that several local promoters who handle these devices have notified the operators of several picnics scheduled to take place in the near future that they will not be able to operate. The action against the wheels of fortune is a follow-up to the same campaign against gun and slot machines which has been carried on for several months. It is understood that many complaints have been received by the Attorney General's department, protesting against the use of the wheels of fortune, with the result that orders have gone out for all wheels to cease operation.

CROWD PSYCHOLOGY OF CONVENTION REVEALED IN PHOTOGRAPH AND STORY

Attitude of the Delegates Compared to That of Circus Throng.

By GENE COHN, News Service Writer.

Convention Hall, New York, July 8.—What is the attitude of a convention crowd toward the events transpiring before it?

Pretty much the same as that of any circus crowd. A spell binding keynoter may be hanging precariously upon a slender phrase—

He may be balancing ever so neatly on a thin wire of political policy—

Yet there are thousands gazing at the other rings and stages and commenting. "There's Mrs. So-and-So, that funny barnstormer from Such-and-Such."

Or—"There go the big lights. They're going to take some pictures."

Or—"Look! There's Bill Bryan up there! And Mack."

There seems to be little doubt about it—the roving eyes have it. If it were possible to draw direct lines from the tens of thousands of eyes the result would be a gigantic spider web design.

Only at moments of high emotionalism; only when excitement takes the floor and when crises are reached does there seem to be a centre of attention. Otherwise attention roams about the great auditorium like the tiny page boy with the piping voice, lost in the clutter of noises.

After the emotional moments they settle back in their seats, restless as youngsters in a schoolroom after the exciting episode of the teacher sitting on a pin has passed.

The women, in particular, seem to crave excitement.

For many of them it is their first convention. And, like the small boy at a circus, they do not want to miss anything. They have been told that a convention is full of thrills. It is. But there are times when only the trained seals perform. Then is the period of necks craned to every angle and arched brows.

But let the fringe of hysteria be touched and all eyes focus as directly as any camera lens.

It's an interesting study in psychology—these convention crowds; a psychology somewhere between that of a schoolroom, a sight-seeing wagon and a circus tent.

They all wait expectantly to see what will happen to the boy who put over a wicked gag with the bean-shooter.

This is a photograph of mental attitude. Occasionally motion pictures reveal thoughts of actors. Rarely is a mental process caught in one photograph. Notice the attitude of the delegates assembled in the Democratic Convention Hall at New York, especially the women in the inset group. The picture, taken in one of those frequent moments of apathy that come in a spirited gathering, shows that little attention is being paid to the speaker.

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

DEMPSEY WILL BE BUSY WITH MOVIES

Champion Unable to Train for Title Bout in the Fall.

Jack Dempsey's fighting for this year will be confined to the movies. The world's heavyweight champion will direct his sledge-hammer blows at the cinema screen in the defense of laws of red villains in the movie studios arena in the next few months.

The announcement of Rickard, promoter of the fight, following a series of conferences with Jack Kearns, titleholder's manager, and after due consideration of the heavyweight situation.

The announcement of Rickard officially confirmed reports of the champion's plans for the year which have been printed since Rickard some time ago signed Harry Wills, New Orleans negro heavyweight, and Luis Angel Firpo, South American giant, to box in his Jersey City bowl on August 30.

In making the announcement Rickard said he spoke with the authority of Kearns. The promoter explained that conditions were all against a heavyweight title struggle before the snow flies and added that Dempsey would not be seen in the ring defending his crown before late next June or early next July.

Time Is Too Short.

"I expect to hold the Wills-Firpo bout on August 30 or a date around that time," Dempsey will be busy with moving picture work. Kearns has informed me, until some time in August. It would be unreasonable to ask Dempsey to prepare himself for the defense of his title in a few weeks' time.

By the time the title is held, it would be impossible for Firpo or Wills, after a hard struggle as late as August 30, to resume training immediately for a contest that could not safely be scheduled later than the second week of September.

These conditions contribute to the decision of Kearns and myself to defer a heavyweight championship bout until next year, say late in June or early in July.

Even if it were possible for the boxers to prepare themselves in such short time, you would have another unfavorable element to contend with in the matter of furnishing too much important fighting for the good of the promoter and the boxers concerned.

A promoter cannot give his patrons too much boxing and there must be plenty of the good of the promoter and the boxers concerned.

"Kearns and myself went over every angle of the situation thoroughly and after considering every detail we have agreed on a bout for Dempsey early in the outdoor season of next year as the wisest course to follow. I think the boxing fans will agree with us. I know that Wills and Firpo, the two foremost challengers for the title, view the situation as we do."

That Dempsey would not fight in defense of his title this year first was unofficially reported when Rickard announced encouraging response from Firpo in the overtures to hiring the Argentine heavyweight here after signing Wills to a contract.

A short visit to this city in the early spring Dempsey departed for the Pacific Coast to engage in moving picture work, but with the announcement from Manager Kearns that he would be ready to defend his title in the fall if conditions were favorable. At that time it was said, despite the announcement of Kearns to the contrary, that a clause in Dempsey's picture contract would prevent the title-holder from engaging in ring bouts this year to protect the film investment against loss in the event that Dempsey was relieved of his title.

STAGE FLAPPER WEDS

Francine Larrimore, who won fame as the creator of stage flapper role, was as willful in love off-stage as on. Eighteen months ago, it has just been learned, she married Con Conrad, composer, and kept it secret from her closest friends.

UNHAPPY AT DANCES

Wife Charges Samuel H. Owens With Glaring at Her Partners.

White Plains, July 8.—Mrs. Josephine Owen of Beechmont Park, New Rochelle, has filed an action for separation against Samuel H. Owen of Pelham, one of the owners of the Manhattan firm of Kress & Owen, manufacturers of a proprietary article. She charges Owen with cruelty in that he humiliated her by glaring at her dancing partners and that he attempted to strangle himself on March 5 last with a leather belt, which, she says, broke, causing him to fall to the floor.

REHEARSING HIS PART.

A Shakespearian actor, who was a particularly wretched gofer, was playing in a competition and was being particularly severe on the turf. Mighty lines of Mother Earth were sent hurtling into the air, and two friends who were watching the play turned to each other in consternation.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., July 8.—(United Press)—John Ormsby, local carpenter, is in the General Hospital here as the result of what physicians assert was one of the most unusual injuries on record. While working in a mill the injured man was struck in the throat by a piece of lumber hurled across the room from a hand saw.

FIRE IN GARBAGE CAN.

A fire, probably caused by a lighted cigarette or cigar butt, started in a garbage can in King Square last night. A volume of smoke and a very unpleasant smell attracted considerable attention to the fire. Sergeant Scott and Policeman Ross dumped out the burning rubbish while a hand chemical extinguisher from a fire station quickly extinguished the fire.

ON BROAD PRINCIPLE.

"Talking about jurors," said the lawyer as he emptied his pipe in the smoking room cuspidor, "this happened up in Michigan. The Bad Axe court heard the prospective juror if he understood his duties, and got this reply as the fellow drew himself up with impressive dignity: 'Your Honor, I am a plain farmer and believe in being fair. I don't go by what the lawyers say and I don't go by what the judge says, but I look careful at the defendant in the dock and I say to myself that that fellow must have done something or he wouldn't be here; so I bring 'em all in guilty.'"

OPERA HOUSE HAS STIRRING DRAMA

Betty Blythe and Mahlon Hamilton Head Cast in "Recoil."

"Recoil," a new Rex Beach picture was shown last night for the first time at the Opera House. It proved to be quite different from other Rex Beach pictures, although it had in common with them the vivid drama and strongly individualized characters which have come to be associated with this author's writings.

The story is intriguing and thrilling. It tells the love story of Gordon Kent, an American multi-millionaire, and Norma Selbee, an American girl stranded in France. They are married upon very short acquaintance and develop incompatibilities which cause Norma to seek the protection of Laurence Marchmont, in reality a famous crook who has been following her about. Kent hunts them down and gives orders that they shall be compelled to live together for the rest of their lives. His money and the influence of his friend, the head of a detective bureau, enable him to carry out his purpose. Norma's husband, whom she supposed to be dead, is discovered in New York and a new twist is given to the story when he is killed by Marchmont. It is through this melodramatic incident that Kent becomes convinced that Norma really loves him and flees with her to South America.

Betty Blythe has in the role of Norma Selbee one of the best parts that she has recently fallen to her lot. She acts the part vividly and brings to it the wealth of her motion picture experience. Mahlon Hamilton is seen as the American millionaire and acts with his usual debonair skill. Others in the cast are Olive Brook, Fred Paul and Ernest Hilliard.

AGES OF 3 FILIPINOS

TOTAL 392 YEARS

Manila, June 6.—(Associated Press by Mail).—The town of Taytay, situated only a few miles from Manila in the province of Rizal, claims the record for longevity in the Philippine Islands. From October 1923 to the end of April 1924, six persons who had passed the century mark died there, according to the record kept by Father Dumanigan.

One woman, Benita Gonsaga, according to the record was 140 years old when she died. Others who had lived far beyond the century mark were Tommas Vivencio, 123 years and Maria Roxas, 122 years.

Father Dumanigan says he believes that the simple diet of fish, vegetables and fruit which compose the chief foods of these people, adds greatly to their long lives.

STARTS ON TRIP TO FILM CLIMBING FISH

Chicago, July 8.—The Big Bill, 68-foot gasoline burning ketch, owned by former Mayor William Hale Thompson, has started on its way to the South Seas in photographic pursuit of tree climbing fish.

"Tell them down there that they may have climbing fish, but we have a climbing people," said James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, as he stepped on board to shake hands with the owner, who said he planned to accompany the craft as far as New Orleans and possibly to Panama.

The ketch will go to New Orleans via the drainage canal, the Illinois river and the Mississippi. Thence, according to Davis, it will go "somewhere east of Suez," visiting the Malay Archipelago, rounding the Cape of Good Hope and the Horn, and returning by way of New York and the Great Lakes after circumnavigating the globe.

AT IT AGAIN!

New York, July 8.—Paul Berlenbach of Astoria scored a technical knockout over Frank Carpenter or Merrick, after two minutes and 27 seconds in the seventh of a 10-round bout at the Queensborough stadium tonight. Berlenbach weighed 169 and Carpenter 168½.

FAME ABROAD

Philosophers generally and fatalists specifically will find "Merry-Go-Round," showing at the Imperial Theatre, is their "meat."

The spectacle picture that Universal made with a big expense of time and money really tells a story that is very simple and straightforward. Its theme is that the "Merry-Go-Round" of life is constantly whirling us from place to place, position to position, with no chance for anyone to "lick" or decide his course. It has a fatalism of the sincere, hopeful sort, expressing a belief that the "merry-go-round" really operates for good and not for bad, no matter how obdurate it may be about obeying the human will.

The two leading characters of the story, played by beautiful Mary Philbin and the familiar Norman Kerry, are a peasant girl, an organ grinder of the Prater, Vienna's Coney Island, and a count to whom life is a happy chase and work a showy, pompous idleness.

Can two such people love? They do in "Merry-Go-Round," but it isn't a fairy tale. It merely tells how the "merry-go-round" picked them both up, whirled them around a few times through a vortex of war, love, human emotions and the multimediated drama of life, and finally deposited them—at a "station" that is in a different plane for both of them, a more equal plane.

The Imperial Orchestra certainly gave "Merry-Go-Round" a charming setting. There were topical and humorous reels as well. Tomorrow the programme changes again when Betty Balfour in the English serio-comic feature "Mord Emly" will grace the screen. Pictures of the High School Closing will also be on.

There has been no greater success in recent years in the Chautauque and Lyceum entertainment field than Noah Bellharz, who is to appear here on the Chautauque program this season.

He is perhaps the most popular of all the make-up artists now on the American platform. He is famous for his wonderful facial expression. Those who do not study the efforts of such artists can scarcely realize the peculiar accomplishments of Bellharz. In his quick changes before his audience he does not use a dab of paint or a bit of powder to transform his face. Truly, his face is his fortune. By simply forging his face to the contour and expression of any type of character and the use of a wig, he is the character for as long a period of time as he wishes—there is no "let-down."

"Merry-Go-Round" is Big Feature With Much of Interest.

Philosophers generally and fatalists specifically will find "Merry-Go-Round," showing at the Imperial Theatre, is their "meat."

The spectacle picture that Universal made with a big expense of time and money really tells a story that is very simple and straightforward. Its theme is that the "Merry-Go-Round" of life is constantly whirling us from place to place, position to position, with no chance for anyone to "lick" or decide his course. It has a fatalism of the sincere, hopeful sort, expressing a belief that the "merry-go-round" really operates for good and not for bad, no matter how obdurate it may be about obeying the human will.

The two leading characters of the story, played by beautiful Mary Philbin and the familiar Norman Kerry, are a peasant girl, an organ grinder of the Prater, Vienna's Coney Island, and a count to whom life is a happy chase and work a showy, pompous idleness.

Can two such people love? They do in "Merry-Go-Round," but it isn't a fairy tale. It merely tells how the "merry-go-round" picked them both up, whirled them around a few times through a vortex of war, love, human emotions and the multimediated drama of life, and finally deposited them—at a "station" that is in a different plane for both of them, a more equal plane.

The Imperial Orchestra certainly gave "Merry-Go-Round" a charming setting. There were topical and humorous reels as well. Tomorrow the programme changes again when Betty Balfour in the English serio-comic feature "Mord Emly" will grace the screen. Pictures of the High School Closing will also be on.

AT IT AGAIN!

TIMELY TIPS FOR AMATEURS

SAYS CY PERKINS

Catcher, Philadelphia Americans

No ambitious youngster can get anywhere in the catching game unless he first becomes a good receiver.

I have reference to the purely mechanical end of the sport.

A catcher who is a poor receiver, constantly dropping pitched balls, is bound to upset his pitcher and offer countless opportunities for the opposition to profit thereby.

The dropping of a pitched ball by a catcher is often due to anxiety.

Instead of waiting for the ball to get to him, he goes out to meet it. In baseball slang we call such a habit, "fighting the ball."

This usually causes the catcher to be stiff-armed at the time of contact and prevents him from giving with the ball, which of course is most essential to receive properly.

GOLF MATCH SCORE

In the Fredericton-Riverside visitation match at Riverside yesterday, when the visitors were defeated by the wide margin of 56 to 6, the following were paired:

The match, which was played under excellent weather and grounds conditions, was punctuated with some exceptionally fine golf which was by no means confined to the winning side.

The Fredericton "Pro" played the St. John professional, Lingard, and was defeated. Lunch and dinner were served in the Riverside dining rooms and in the early evening some of the visitors who were motoring back to the capital, played a round of golf with chaperons.
