HUNGARY SITS WITH COUNCIL OF NATIONS LEAGUE

First Admission of Former Enemy State as Member.

Bulgaria's Request Refused—Grave Conditions in Russia Reported—Many Cases of Typhus and Relapsing Fever.

(Canadian Press Cable) London, July 20—Various Balkan frontier questions and border irregularities engaged most of the time of the council of the League of Nations yesterday.

The council declined to accede to Bulgaria's request for the appointment of a special commission to investigate border incursions alleged to have been carried out against her by Jugo-Slavia, Roumania and Greece, holding that the disputes which have arisen could best be settled by direct negotiation among the states themselves.

Consideration of the frontier controversy between Austria and Hungary and the various border disputes between Hungary and Jugo-Slavia was postponed until the council could give further study to its subjects.

Disease in Russia. Information received by the league from Russia indicates a grave spread of cholera and typhus. The latter is reported as being twice as prevalent this year as last.

Hospital facilities are said to be insufficient and the water supply is lacking. Nearly 5,000 cases of cholera are reported to have been introduced into Bucharest this fortnight.

Excluding the famine areas, the total cases of typhus and relapsing fever in Russia since the beginning of the year were 856,899 and 732,238 respectively.

The mortality rate is increasing. The seriousness of the epidemic situation is shown by the stringent orders issued by the Central Soviet authorities. Vaccination control has been in force and the movement of refugees guarded.

Munster Province Is Practically Cut Off

Developments Today in the Irish Fighting

National Army Holds Sway in 12 Counties—Waterford, Cork and Mayo in Subjection to Irregulars—Refusal of Free State to Agree to Compromise.

(Canadian Press Cable) Dublin, July 20—Reports from the fighting area received today indicate a pressure by the national army forces on each extremity of the insurgent line developing powerfully and extending roughly from Limerick to Waterford, thereby cutting off practically the whole of Munster province.

An attack on Waterford was made by troops advancing from Kilkenny, preceded by parties of engineers who removed the heavy obstructions in the road and reached the outskirts of Waterford Tuesday evening.

The nationalists found the main part of the city cut through the drawbridge over the River Suir being raised. The railway bridge was impassable and the troops opened the attack from the north side of the river, with machine gun and rifle fire, while eighteen pounders shelled the irregulars in the military barracks and the jail.

The reply, from rifles and Thompson guns was feeble, and it is said the city is lightly held, but the natural strength of the position may make the dislodgement of the irregulars a matter of difficulty.

At Limerick fighting was progressing last evening. The national troops launched a heavy attack with bombs on the O'Mara factory, but as far as is known the irregulars are still holding the position.

In the centre of the city, where the insurgents are strongly fortified, the firing was particularly heavy. The casualties are estimated at twenty killed and forty wounded.

Government Statement. Dublin, July 20—An official statement issued today by the Irish provisional government on the military situation says that at present the national army forces are supreme in the whole of twelve counties.

"They still have opposition to deal with," it says. "The Douglas and Galway and some other counties are still in the hands of the irregulars, while Waterford, Cork and Mayo are in subjection to the irregulars. The term subjection is used advisedly, for in these counties the people are overwhelmingly in favor of the Anglo-Irish treaty, and the irregulars rule there by no other authority than that of armed forces. The election results showed this clearly."

No Compromise. The statement which was issued in view of the reported suggestions for peace based on compromise with the irregulars, concludes by saying: "The safety and future welfare of the nation depends on the power of the irregulars being broken. Peace built on compromise with forces that behave as the irregulars have behaved would be a peace too costly for the Irish nation."

As he was being led away, his wife, Mary, said tearfully to him: "Shall I stay in the house while you are away?" "Yes, by all means. There's a good garden there," was her husband's reply.

Inspector Crulshanks overheard the conversation, and went down with a gang of police to see how "good" the garden was. He found thirty gallons of alcohol under the tomatoes and the other vegetables.

"The garden truck appeared to be thriving on it," said the inspector.

RIOT GUNS OUT IN TRAM STRIKE

Serious Developments Expected Today in Buffalo

Grenades Thrown on a Car Barn Roof, But None Injured—Obstructions Placed on Tracks—Orders to Shoot to Kill.

Buffalo, July 20—Policemen armed with riot guns and under orders to shoot to kill if rioting develops, rode the seventy-one street cars which started out from the car barns at 6 a. m.

In spite of Mayor Schwab's warning to the strikers last night that serious consequences would follow a renewal of yesterday's rioting police expected today to be the most strenuous of the strike.

Developments last night furnished a basis for this belief. Two hand grenades were exploded on the roof of a Gold Spring car barn, tearing holes in the building, but injuring none of the 700 strike breakers who are said to be living in the barn.

In addition crowds were busy all night throwing stones and obstructions on the tracks in the east side sections which were the hotbeds of yesterday's rioting. The mobs' procedure yesterday was to stop a car by means of obstructions on the track and then bombard it with stones or storm it and attack the strike breakers inside.

Police Chief Burfield announced that policemen riding on the street cars today will carry riot guns and will be under orders to fire on any persons who attack the cars.

(Canadian Press.) London, July 20—Presiding at a luncheon of the Empire Parliamentary Association held in the House of Commons yesterday for the purpose of meeting the visiting parliamentarians of the dominions, Right Hon. Bonar Law urged the necessity for a good understanding between the various countries, which necessity, he said was never greater and never more difficult to obtain.

Mr. Law pointed out that during the war the empire lived in an atmosphere of unselfish devotion and was now suffering the inevitable reaction and the nerves of the people were frayed.

Settle Down to A Test of Strength

Prospects of Immediate Peace in Rail Strike Gone.

Union Officials Hold Out for Seniority Rights for Strikers—No sign of Weakening on Either Side—Further Curtailment of Transportation—Falling Off of Violence Reports.

Chicago, July 20—With immediate prospects for peace in the rail strike gone, strikers and railroads today settled to a test of strength. The statement of Chairman Hooper, of the railroad labor board that the board was no longer engaged in peace negotiations, left the situation open to direct negotiation between strike leaders and railroad officials, or attempts from other sources.

Union officials remained firm in their demand that full seniority rights be restored to the 800,000 shophmen now on strike, that being the rock on which peace efforts were broken. Rail heads cancelled or shoddy to be cancelled, said reports from railroad centres in the west.

The southwestern lines apparently have been heaviest hit. The reports that the strike is being felt by the iron and steel industries, that coal mines in parts of West Virginia are without coal cars and that a portion of the fruit crop of the Pacific coast is endangered by lack of transportation.

Representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks declared that 23 per cent of the 5,000 clerks employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway would join the ranks of the strikers today.

Ranks of the strikers were augmented by walkouts in other unions yesterday and indications today were that there would be further accessions.

Reports of violence fell off somewhat but troops were called out in two more states, and isolated shootings and whippings continued. (Continued on page 8, fifth column.)

INTENDS FLIGHT ACROSS PACIFIC

British Aviator to Compete for £10,000 Prize

Plans Leaving San Francisco on October 2—Major Morgan was Injured in Attempt to Fly Across Atlantic.

London, July 20—Major C. W. F. Morgan, British aviator, has cabled to the United States an announcement of his decision to attempt a trans-Pacific flight from San Francisco to Sydney, New South Wales, for a prize of £10,000, offered by Thomas H. Ince, of Los Angeles. Major Morgan says he hopes to leave San Francisco at 7 o'clock on the evening of October 2, next, and arrive in Sydney at two o'clock on the afternoon of October 7, proceeding across the Pacific by way of Honolulu, Samoa and the Fiji Islands.

Major Morgan was associated with Captain F. P. Raynham in the ill-fated attempt to fly across the Atlantic from Newfoundland to Ireland, in May, 1919. After long preparations the attempt was abandoned on October 2, next, and arrive in Sydney at two o'clock on the afternoon of October 7, proceeding across the Pacific by way of Honolulu, Samoa and the Fiji Islands.

According to the conditions laid down by Mr. Ince in offering a prize of $50,000 for a trans-Pacific flight, the start would be made from either side of the Pacific. It was stipulated that it was made westward, Venice, California, must be the starting point and the landing made on the mainland of Australia, the Japanese Islands or the continent of Asia. The announcement, which was made in June, 1919, said the coast would be open until February, 1920, and the flight must be completed within twelve days after the start.

DEVELOPMENT OF NORTH END

Proposal for Sewerage Extension Near Newman Brook

Will Open Up 100 New Lots and Increase City Revenue by Some $8,500—Tenders for Gate Valves.

At a committee meeting of the Common council this morning tenders for gate valves were opened and a plan presented by Commissioner Wigmore for an extension of the sewerage system along the new North end street extension to Newman street and along Lansdowne avenue. He said the estimated cost would cost somewhere in the vicinity of $30,000.

In submitting his plans, Commissioner Wigmore drew attention to a fact that in 1918 there were seven houses tenanted by sixteen families on Metcalf street extension, built before a water main was laid. Prior to that the people had been getting water from a well near the Shamrock grounds, but on account of pollution it was condemned by the board of health. A water main was then laid in 1918, but on account of no proper outfall a sewer was not installed. Now that the city has acquired the old Shamrock grounds and built a sewer, it is proposed to make possible the drainage of this new plant.

In addition, the commissioner pointed out that this lot is made available for building purposes 100 lots of forty feet each, which is mostly owned by the city. By making possible the sale of these lots it would mean an increase in revenue of $250,000, making an added revenue to the city of $6,000 to general assessment and about $2,500 to water assessment.

He also maintained that Metcalf street should be designated a public street and lines and grades defined, and that similar action should be taken in Gertrude, Henry, Newman and Victoria street. He said that in 1915, before the water main was laid, the valuation of the property was about $10,000, general assessment about $200, and water assessment $18. In 1922 the valuation of the real estate buildings, etc., is placed at $28,000, general assessment at $700, and water assessment at $170. At present there are twelve houses with twenty-four families in Metcalf street extension.

Commissioner Frink said this was an important matter, as the sewerage from this area will drain into the property in the rear of these houses and was a public menace to the health of the community. He claimed it was a regular nuisance.

Commissioner Wigmore agreed that immediate action was necessary to safeguard the public health and better existing conditions. (Continued on page 9, third column.)

FIVE TEAMS ARE BUNCHED NOW FOR LEADERSHIP

American League Pennant Hunt Increases in Interest

Cleveland Wins the Tenth Straight Game and Takes Fifth Place—Walker Leading Home-run Clouters—Hornsby's Timely Hitting.

(By Canadian Press.) New York, July 20—Cleveland, separated by only one and a half games from the league leaders the St. Louis club as the result of a winning streak of ten games, today loomed as a fifth entrant in the already spectacular American League pennant hunt.

Cleveland's two big Indians to their tenth straight win over Washington, 4 to 1.

All five contenders were bunched a trifle closer as a result of the Browns' defeat at the hands of Philadelphia, and the eighth straight victory of the Tigers over the Yankees, 5 to 1, while the White Sox continued their winning drive by walking Boston 8 to 0.

The Athletics owe their victory over the league leaders to the terrific hitting of "Billie" Walker, who crashed out two homers and took the American League clouting lead from Ken Williams of the Browns, with a total of twenty-three four-base blows. It was Walker's tenth in this month, and the third time within the same period that he has hit a brace of homers in a single game.

Adolph Fetting, a sandlot recruit, held the Browns to nine hits in his major league debut.

Hornsby, whose heavy hitting has been the mainstay of the drive that has carried the St. Louis Cardinals within a half game of the Giants, pulled victory out of the fire for Ricketts' men with a homer, the ninth that scored three runs and beat the Boston Braves, 7 to 6.

Neph's pitching enabled the Giants to defeat the Reds in the first game of the series, 5 to 2. Cooper of the Pirates shut out Philadelphia, 2 to 0, and Brooklyn lost to Chicago, 8 to 6, after getting away to an early lead.

Cincinnati, July 20—Possibility of the return of Eddie Roush, to the Cincinnati Nationals is being held out by sport writers, and fans here, due to reports that Roush has applied to Commissioner Landis for reinstatement.

GERMAN RULERS RESPONSIBLE FOR FINANCIAL CRISIS

Expect Guarantees Committee Will Report Today—Not Entitled to Moratorium, Says Poincaré and De Lasteyrie—The Debt to Britain.

(Canadian Press Cable) Paris, July 20—The guarantees committee of the reparations commission, having arrived from Berlin late last night, was expected to report today on the results of its investigation of Germany's financial status, to Premier Poincaré and to the commission.

Although the committee was confronted with numerous difficulties it has obtained, it is understood, enough material on which to establish the opinion that Germany's rulers alone were responsible for the financial crisis in which she is now struggling.

FIND SKELETON OF MAN BURIED NEAR ROADSIDE

Orillia, Ont., July 20—Workmen on the provincial highway about two miles north of Orillia on the Muskoka road yesterday unearthed the skeleton of a human being buried by the roadside.

A suspicious looking hole back of the skull suggests that there may have been foul play, and this surmise is strengthened by the fact that the remains were found buried in sand only 18 inches below the surface.

FRANCE SEEKS AID IN CANADA TO "FIND" MEN

War Department Appeals to Motion Picture Producers on This Continent—Tracing Shocked Poilus.

Toronto, July 20—According to Le Matin the war Department of the French Republic proposes to get in touch with prominent motion picture producers in the United States, Canada and Brazil with a view to establishing the identity of a number of poilus who have lost their memory as a result of the errors of the war.

Men Without Memory.

"There are at the present time in France nearly six, millions who are either suffering from a certain form of insanity or are afflicted with aphasia to such a degree that they can neither recall their names nor incidents connected with their former lives. All French newspapers have published their photographs from time to time, and although some of the veterans have been identified, there are still a number of these unfortunate war victims left," the paper states.

Soldiers From Canada.

"It must not be forgotten," states Le Matin, "that hundreds of thousands of the gallant soldiers who fought under the battle flags of the Republic answered the call from Canada and the United States."

The men, who are suffering from loss of memory, were officially listed as "assumed to have been killed." In the first instance they were reported "missing."

The greatest percentage of war victims afflicted in this way came to their present mental condition through the terrors of the Battle of Verdun, when the "On ne passe pas" of the pilli barred the way to the most terrific onslaught of the German armies, and when the defenders and the attackers left an army of men on the field.

MARTYR TO DUTY, SUPERIOR IS DEAD

Stricken After Trying to Quell Mutiny of Girls in Detroit Home.

Detroit, July 20—The Mother Superior of the House of the Good Shepherd is dead of apoplexy, said by Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, Bishop of the Detroit Diocese, to have been brought on by a riot of 150 girl inmates of the institution last Tuesday.

She was Mother Mary of St. Francis Xavier Reidy, and was fifty-nine years old.

Police were sent to the House of the Good Shepherd when the outbreak of girls got beyond control, the rule of the institution requiring the application of discipline, according to a statement at the bishop's residence.

Mother Mary, however, before the police arrived, tried for three hours to quell the disturbance, which resulted in smashing of windows, dishes and furniture. The police took thirty-six of the girls into custody for a hearing in the Juvenile Court. Eleven escaped.

The twenty-five girls were held at the Women's Detention Home in connection with the riots wept when told of the Mother Superior's death.

NEW COLONIZATION PLANS UNDER WAY

The First Steps for Prepared Farms in the Matapedia Valley—Build Houses and Barns.

Actual work has been commenced in launching the new Quebec government project of prepared colonization farms for intending colonists, says the Montreal Gazette. The intention is to give impetus to colonization in the province by clearing ten acres of land on each colonization lot, building a small house, and a barn, and then inviting the settler to locate himself and his family on this lot.

The first work has been commenced in the Matapedia district, where men are at work on behalf of the government preparing lots. Each house will cost about $800, according to present estimates, and the barn will cost the government somewhat less.

By this figure it will be seen that the intention is not to build anything of an elaborate nature, but merely to give the settler a chance to get started. The handicaps in colonization work has been that when the settler has secured his lot his first task has been to clear the land, a strenuous proposition, and he has had no opportunity of getting a crop for two years. By the new method he will have at least ten acres on which to plant some necessities for his own needs, and a home to which he can bring his family. As time passes, and the settler clears more of his lot, the little government built house can be readily added to, or a larger building put up. The intention is not to make any charge to the settler for the clearing work done, nor the buildings put up. Care, however, will be taken to see that only suitable colonists are chosen, so that the province will not lose in the long run.

Much Activity.

Hon. J. E. Perrault, minister of colonization, mines and fisheries, is at present on a tour of some of the colonization districts of the North Shore, below Quebec. Mr. Perrault has a large fund on hand in which to carry out his plans, a special amount of five millions having been voted in 1920 for special colonization work. This is in addition to the regular amounts voted each year by the legislature out of revenue. The majority of the five millions has not yet been spent, but the present plans will take up a great deal of it in the near future, and, in addition, the department is making strenuous efforts towards colonizing the vast waste spaces of the province suitable for farming. Efforts are being made at present to induce French-Canadians settled in the New England States to return to their home province of Quebec, agents of the province visiting fairs and making addresses to the French-Canadians, and distributing literature.

Timothy Griffiths, who resides in Union alley, had his leg caught in some machinery at the local sugar refinery last evening and he had to be taken to the hospital. It was found there that his leg was badly bruised and his head was also hurt, and he was suffering from the effects of the severe shaking up which he received. He was resting quite comfortably early this morning, and his condition is not considered to be serious.

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, and Dr. John F. Edmann, distinguished New York surgeon, were shown over the Lancaster D. S. C. R. Hospital yesterday morning by Dr. W. W. White, surgeon to the hospital. Both of the visitors expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the hospital in every way.

The Sisters of Charity began their annual retreat last evening in St. Vincent's Convent, Cliff street. The retreat, which will continue for eight days, finishing on Friday, July 28, is being conducted by Rev. Joseph Downey, C.S.S.R., of Brooklyn (N. Y.). A large number of sisters from the different missions throughout the province have arrived in the city to attend.

The coal committee of the board of hospital commissioners met yesterday in the office of the county secretary to consider the question of coal tenders, but action in the matter was deferred as the committee members were unanimous that the tenders were too high. M. E. Agar presided and the two other members, J. King Kelly, K. C., and J. L. O'Brien, were present.

Replies have been received from Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, R. B. Hanson, K.C., M.P., Sir Lomer Guin, minister of justice, Hon. Charles Murphy, postmaster-general, and Hon. John Morrissey, acknowledging receipt of the resolution of the local board of trade on the matter of routing Canadian freight through Canadian ports. A communication also has been received from the council of the Halifax Board of Trade, expressing approval of the report and action of the council of the local board in the matter of maritime co-operation.

Timothy Griffiths, who resides in Union alley, had his leg caught in some machinery at the local sugar refinery last evening and he had to be taken to the hospital. It was found there that his leg was badly bruised and his head was also hurt, and he was suffering from the effects of the severe shaking up which he received. He was resting quite comfortably early this morning, and his condition is not considered to be serious.

The following candidates from Rotheray Collegiate School have passed the first part of the McGill matriculations: F. O. Beaton, C. D. Edworthy, J. R. Frith, H. M. Nas, R. V. Parks, H. H. Turnbull. Of these, two have obtained first-class general standing. They are J. R. Frith and H. M. Nas, who obtained respectively averages of 81 and 80 per cent.

Samurai--Teaism. The code of Samurai teaches Oriental how to die. The cult of Teaism teaches them how to live. We of the west have fortunately copied the more human art of living. And here tea plays an important part. It contributes to good manners, to choice converse, to kindly relations. It has proved itself as a beverage the best friend of the human race. Serve it often, you'll enjoy it always if it's Blue Bird Tea. Brings happiness!

FARMER USES AEROPLANE TO SPRAY FRUIT TREES. London, June 29—(Associated Press by mail)—A farmer in Kent with a fifty-acre orchard has solved in a new way the problem of ridding his fruit trees of a plague of caterpillars. He engaged a flying machine and loaded it up with half a ton of insecticides. The machine flew to and fro over the trees at a height of from fifteen to thirty yards, scattering the poisonous powder. In half an hour the job was done and it proved quicker and cheaper and much more effective than spraying the trees from the ground. Bulgaria and Prohibition. Sofia, Bulgaria, June 20—(Associated Press by Mail)—The movement for prohibition has shown itself in Bulgaria. JAMMED ON MOWER WHILE HORSES RUN. Young Farmer Has Narrow Escape From Death From Knives. Milverton, Ont., July 20—While Russell Edwards, a young farmer residing two miles from here, was out on the tongue of his mower making some adjustments, the team was started by a ground hog, and started in full career across the field. Young Edwards was jammed between the flying horses and the machine as the team kept on their mad course, but fortunately, just as they leaped a ditch he fell clear of the mower. He was able to get very nearly home, although he sustained a serious gash in his hip and cuts and bruises all over his body. Assistance reached him before he fell exhausted from loss of blood, and he was conveyed to the house, where he is now confined to his bed and will have to stay for some time. Alberta Legislature. Edmonton, Alta., July 20—The Alberta legislature will meet on Tuesday, July 25, instead of the 24th as first announced.

personal property out of the country.
As the law forbids exporting securities
they work in this way:
A banker gets together his South American bonds, calls in a notary and has him count and list them. Then he calmly chucka them in the fire and sends the list as certified by the notary to the places of issue and has new ones made

BETTER THAN HARD COAL
Soft coal so free from soot that it does not make whisksers on stove covers or pipe and does not mat or clog when burning, is far better than Hard Coal for general household use. Quicker to light, takes less to make a fire, cheaper in price and can also be used for open fires and small heating stoves. Such a coal is Broad Cove soft coal. The main thing is to insist on getting the genuine article.
No other soft coal burns just like Broad Cove. You will know it by the above

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 20, 1922.

The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE ISSUE IS CLEAR

There are two ways in which the New Brunswick Power Company could get the better of the city of St. John. One would be to get the distribution of the Musquash power.

The situation must be clarified without delay. Mayor McLellan expects to have a statement within a few days. It is awaited with very keen interest.

HOTELS AND TOURISTS

Much more than a plan to improve hotel accommodation in Ontario appears to be in the minds of the members of the special committee of the legislature now making a tour of the province.

It is said the committee has found hotel accommodation hopelessly inadequate to meet the needs of tourist traffic, but hotel men say there is not enough traffic to warrant increased accommodation.

DESERTED WIVES

In Ontario the officials connected with the administration of the Mothers' Pension Act are in favor of giving an allowance to wives who have children and have been deserted for two years by their husbands.

As a rule, deserted wives are more sinned against than sinning. When they have borne several children and undertaken the task of rearing them, they have earned of society the right to some protection against deliberate desertion.

Affairs in the United States appear to be drifting toward a trial of strength between organized labor and the state and federal governments. The coal and railway strikes do not appear to be approaching a settlement, and acts of violence are reported in increasing number.

The official statement issued by the Irish Free State government has the right tone. There is to be no compromise with people who have behaved as the irregulars have behaved.

It is sometimes asserted that municipal ownership is never a success, but the Toronto Globe submits this testimony: "Glasgow corporation accounts show a profit of close on three-quarters of a million dollars on the municipal street railway last year.

The Farmers apparently have a clear majority over all in the new Manitoba legislature. That is much better than a result which would leave the government at the mercy of various factions.

Attending Science School. The following residents of New Brunswick are attending the Rural School of Science at Turro:—Mrs. Merceline Allan, Buctouche; M. G. Cranston, Moncton; Mrs. Miles Gilmour, Moore's Mills, Charlotte Co.; Mrs. W. J. Hyland, Douglastown; Miss Greta Jones, Point de Bute; Mrs. Fred Mahoney, Millerton; Miss Zella Carter, St. John; Miss Beatrice Phillips, Fredericton; Mrs. Hulda Weaver, Coak Creek; Mrs. Helen Allison, Weyerton, Northumberland Co.

THE PUBLIC AND CHEAP POWER

(Daily Telegraph)

When the report on the conference between the representatives of the New Brunswick Power Company and Mayor McLellan and his power advisers is submitted to the council the citizens will be in a position to examine it carefully and decide whether or not any proposals the company has made are worthy of consideration.

It may be well to recall the strong feeling taken in the civic campaign by several of the candidates who discussed the hydro question on the public platform. The Telegraph is therefore republishing part of its report of a public meeting held in the Pythian Castle on the evening of March 27 last under the auspices of the United Organizations.

"Mr. Wigmore said that he had studied the question of the hydro-electric energy in the articles and reports available. He was absolutely in favor of cheaper power for the city of St. John, for he felt that through cheaper power alone could the city prosper.

"The provincial government had guaranteed the availability of the energy to be developed at Musquash, and it was now a matter of getting down to the cost of distribution. Power could be distributed more cheaply than it is being distributed by the Power Company. He saw no reason why municipal ownership should not pay in St. John.

BOILED BEAVER SKIN KEEPS COUPLE ALIVE

Prince Rupert, B. C., July 20—Lost in the mountains, Peter Stafford and his wife were found in the last stages of starvation, by two constables on the Kayex River, thirty-two miles from Skeena Mills. The couple had not eaten real food for twenty days, the only thing that kept them alive being soup made by boiling strips of old beaver skin. Stafford's condition was pitiful, as he has been suffering from tuberculosis for some months. How he was able to survive his terrible experience is a mystery to physicians. Stafford and his wife were discovered in a small tent, pitched under a big tree. The man, too weak to move, was placed in a canoe, and the woman was assisted along the shore until a point thirty-two miles from the railway was reached. Here they were left with friends with enough food to last six weeks, and a store of medicine was sent in.

Want Injured Men to Select Own Physicians

New Brunswick Medical Society at Closing Sessions Adopts Resolution Calling Upon Workmen's Compensation Board to Give Full Publicity to Law Bearing on Point—Against Payments to Unregistered Practitioners—Provincial Government Assists Laboratory—Officers Elected.

A resolution calling upon the workmen's compensation board to give full publicity to the fact that the patient receiving treatment under the workmen's compensation act may choose his own physician, and also requesting the board to make no payments to unregistered practitioners, was passed unanimously at the closing session of the annual meeting of the New Brunswick Medical Society yesterday afternoon in the nurses' home of the General Public Hospital.

Unfinished business was dealt with at the opening of the afternoon session. The committee thoroughly endorsed the suggestions contained in the address. It recommended the incorporation in a resolution to be sent to the premier those suggestions concerning medical inspection in schools being done by specially appointed men who during the holiday might do other public health work in lecturing. This recommendation was ordered to be carried out.

The officers of the two sections were elected as follows: Medical section, chairman, Dr. H. A. Paris, St. John's secretary, Dr. A. B. Walters, Cambridge; surgical section, chairman, Dr. John B. MacKenzie, Loggieville; secretary, Dr. Wolverson, Woodstock. Dr. Pinault drew attention to the way in which the Workmen's Compensation Act works in regard to medical and hospital care. The injured men he said were free to choose their own doctor, although generally they were not aware of this. He thought the society should ask that this fact be given greater publicity in the interests of the profession.

A resolution was passed calling on the Workmen's Compensation Board to give publicity to the fact, the best means being considered to be placing posters in factories and places where workmen are employed. The resolution...

DEADWOOD DICK IS COMING BACK

Dime Novel Heroes to Live Again in the Public Library--Kit Carson, Arizona Jones and All That Merry Crew will be Revived.

(New York Evening Post) "Don't you dare to relax or I'll make it hot for you," cried the detective, working himself into a passion and swinging his club threateningly.

"A mass of horse broke from the lips of the maiden and then her over-taxed brain gave way and she hung a lifeless weight across the stumpy arm of the outlaw."

"From the lips of the thrower came the ringing words: 'Hold, Queen Helen of the Overland! You are wanted.' 'Hold there!' shouted the Blizard. 'Fall back, you hellhounds, or the price of coffee will rise in Appecheville!'

Do you recall any of the foregoing? Did you begin to cultivate a taste for literature in the dime novel era? If so, your favorite stopping place this summer will be the Public Library at Forty-second street. Deadwood Dick, Kit Carson, Arizona Jones, Elephant Tom of Durango, Bill the Blizard, Devil Dan, and all the old heroes of your dim distant childhood have come back.

They are back in their original form, yellow covers, multi-colored covers, black and white covers, pocket editions and all. And for the first time, perhaps, you will have an opportunity to gaze upon them openly, frankly, with a clear conscience and without fear of "gettin' a lickin'" out back of the old woodshed for being found in the company of such ruffians.

Beginning today the collection, numbering more than 1,400 old favorites, is on public view.

The Famous Beadle Books.

These are the Beadle books, products of the press of Beadle & Adams, printers of Otego, N. Y., and established through many years of painstaking effort by Dr. Frank P. O'Brien, a dentist of this city, who has presented his treasure to the Public Library. Never was such a collection as this.

The younger generation who wonder where their daddies got their thrills in the days before the movies can begin to stop wondering right now. Their daddies got their thrills from "From-Armed-Abe the Hunchback Destroyer, or the Black Rider Terror, a Tale of the City of the Desert," by Capt. Mack Wilton.

They got them from "Elephant Tom of Durango, or Your Gold Dust or Your Life," by Joseph E. Badger, Jr., and "Bill the Blizard, or Red Jack's Double Crime, a story of the Mystery of Ten Spot Gulch," and dozens of others rejoicing in such titles as "The Heart Eaters," "Merciless Matt," and "Goebold the Spy."

The first of Edward L. Wheeler's "Deadwood Dick" stories is in the collection. It came out in January, 1884, and was called "Deadwood Dick, the Prince of the Road, or the Black Rider of the Black Hills." On the cover is our hero, mounted on the customary heavy steed and with the suctonary must over his beetling eyes. He is reading a reward for his capture, and "Tch, now! Ha, ha, ha. Isn't that rich, now! You can't!"

Old Erastus Beadle was nothing if not particular about the men he got to write for him. None of your dull text-book writers would do. He specialized in people like Buffalo Bill and sundry old scouts and ex-army majors and colonels who had fought the redskin and knew whereof they wrote. Photographs of some of them are shown. They are for the most part of the craps-hanger type, running heavily to sideburns and black frock coats, but in those days photographers wouldn't "take" you if you didn't look like that.

Uplift Novels These, too. Victor Hugo Paltsits, who helped to arrange the exhibit, has separated the Beadle books into thirty-one classes. Among the earliest of the dime novels were some that were designed to uplift rather than thrill. "Hates and Loves, or the Lessons of Four Lives," was one. As time went on, however, the literary tastes of the young idea seemed to run almost entirely to the other thing.

One of the best of these--or was he a villain?--of his time was Horseshoe Hank. He was utterly heartless. Hank is shown on the cover of "Horseshoe Hank, the Man of Big Luck, or the Gold Brick of Idaho," superintending a horse-whipping, his helpless victim tied to a tree.

"Again," said Horseshoe Hank, sternly. "Keep it up and lay on with all your might. The undershirt is a wreck but so is his character."

But there were good heroes, too. Take old Stonehat, for instance. He wore clothes like a Blue Law reformer. Villains bothered him not at all. In "Stonehat of Big Nugget Bend, or Old Ketchum's Pug-of-war," Stonehat is shown standing between a barrel of hard liquor and an angry (perhaps thirsty) mob.

"Back, you degraded wretches!" exclaimed Stonehat. "Not one drop of this vile stuff goes down your throats." And without reading the novel you know the boys never got a drink either.

After Mr. Beadle and his staff of willing novelists had immortalized in print just about all the adventures and daring deeds of the wild west, they began to turn their attention to New York. Perhaps it was because they had killed off all the redskins and had to find new material. Accordingly there appeared products like "The Wall Street Blood, or Tick Tick the Telegraph Girl."

Put one on-- the pain is gone!

GHOSTLY DRUMS OF LONDON TOWN

Apart from public ghosts, so to speak, London is surrounded by ancestral castles, some of them dating back to William the Conqueror, whose halls contain family ghosts.

An hour's ride from Charing Cross, on the Strand, is the little country village of Hurstmonceux, and below the village stands the wonderful old castle of Hurstmonceux, with its great Gothic gateway and drawbridge.

Here lives Colonel Claude Lowther, cousin to the ex-speaker of the British parliament. To every guest to Hurstmonceux, Lowther explains the story of the Drummer of King William of Normandy, in order that they shall not be frightened in the night.

The story dates back originally to the battle of Hastings, where King Harold met death at the hands of a Norman arrow. In William's train there was a drummer boy, red-haired, full of the joy of life, a boy of 17. His duty was to sound the midnight roll on his drum, while the men at arms slept by their weapons, and the guard was changed.

Now William had in his entourage Christian de Cahusac, a fierce tempered Norman knight with a pretty 18-year-old wife. A year or so after the battle of Hastings, while William and his court were established at Hurstmonceux castle, which he had just built, de Cahusac, happening to be looking for one of the battlements, saw his wife, Nicolette, walking in the garden with the young pageboy drummer. The boy plucked a flower from the hedge and handed it to his fair mistress. The same night while the serving men slept in the big hall and the boy stole out on the gallery to roll his midnight drum beats, he lifted his drumsticks and began to roll.

The Dagger Flashed. He never finished it. De Cahusac's dagger flashed and caught the boy full in the throat.

The drum beats stopped. There was a choking, gasp, a fall and stillness. That is the story which Lowther tells his guests after dinner in the great hall of the old castle. He warns them that should they hear the faint tap of a drum, they must not be frightened.

It is but the ghost of the poor drummer boy, he tells them, and who need fear a child.

Every night you may hear him. As the old clock in the Tower booms out the midnight strokes there comes the faint tap of a drum. High up in the gallery it sounds, reverberating through the rafters of the old hall, gradually working up to the old time roll beat of King William the Conqueror's drummer. Then, suddenly comes the gurgle, the fall and silence.

Old Bishop Claude Lowther's butler, who has heard the drummer night after night since he first entered Lowther's service as a page boy, dreads the night when the drum shall sound. When that night comes, he declares, the head of the Lowther family must die.

Drummers play a strange part in British ghost lore. Many have heard no doubt of the legend of Drake's drum, the drum of the famous Sir Francis Drake, contemporary of Raleigh and Hawkins, and Frobisher, and many another bold seaman of Elizabethan days.

Whenever England goes to war, Drake's drum is heard, beating its warning tattoo for naval men. In 1914, when

SEES MYSTERY IN
HEAT STROKE

Prostrations Occur Under
Contradictory Conditions,
Says Physician—How it
May be Avoided.

New York, July 19.—Physicians in England are again warning the public against the dangers of heat stroke. The medical correspondent of The London Times says that last summer, with its continued high temperatures, introduced English people to various troubles of hot climates from which, as a rule, they are free. There are already indications that once again this year we may suffer from the same cause, he says.

By far the worst of them is "heat stroke," that base of open-air life in every tropical country. "Heat stroke" is not an accident peculiar to any one age, but, on the other hand, stout middle-aged people undoubtedly suffer more severely from it than agile youth. Moreover, the after-effects tend to be worse in older than in younger victims.

It is itself something of a mystery, the physician declares. There are all manner of theories to explain it, and until recently it was generally supposed to owe its origin directly to the temperature of the air. More recent work, however, has suggested that this may be an inadequate explanation. For it has been observed that heat stroke is rare in well-ventilated places or windy places, no matter how hot these may be.

The modern tendency, as has often been explained, is to look for the mechanism of diseases in the individual rather than in his or her surroundings. We no longer seek to avoid the awkward question: "Why is it that Mr. A. who was subjected to the same conditions of heat as Mr. B. did not develop any untoward symptoms?"

Again, we are ready to attempt to answer the other difficult question: "Why is it that heat stroke may be more frequent at a place with a modern temperature than at a place with a high one?"

Two Sets of Conditions.
The truth is that here, as in other medical problems, two entirely different sets of conditions are involved. Not on any one of these, but on the relation existing between them, depends the arrival of disaster, says the physician.

We may divide the groups into (1) personal factors, and (2) factors of environment. Let us admit at once that some people are more prone to heat troubles than others. These will need specially suited in conditions in which persons better equipped to withstand temperature will go unscathed. Again, let us admit that the term "heat" is a bad one in this connection. For what matters is not so much the heat as the "cooling power" of the atmosphere.

Now, cooling power itself depends on many things. If, for example, our skins are full of blood we shall cool much more quickly than if the blood is flowing deeply under the skin. Always provided that the rate of blood flow is maintained at an active level, he says.

The pump in a motor car is as vital a part of the cooling mechanism as the radiator itself, because on the efficiency of the pump depends the rate of water flow through the radiator and so, also, over the engine.

But cooling power also depends on such meteorological conditions as the humidity of the air, the rate of wind movement, and the temperature. Thus, a high temperature may be more than counterbalanced by dry, quickly moving air; a low temperature, on the other hand, may be rendered insupportable by damp stagnation of movement.

Unfavorable Conditions.
It follows, therefore, that in the case of a stout person with a weak circulation, placed in conditions of heat, damp, and "airlessness," heat stroke is very likely to occur. It will be more likely if heavy, tight clothes are worn, and if full meals are eaten (for during digestion the circulation is normally allowed slowed down). On the other hand, a fit, thin man should stand very high temperatures in dry and windy climates, according to the writer.

We may turn this knowledge to account in various ways, he says. We may, for example, attempt to improve the tone of our circulations by judicious exercise and attention to health generally. Again, we may thoroughly overhaul our summer wardrobes to insure that what ventilation there is will reach the surfaces of our bodies. Finally, we may postpone eating full meals till the cool of the evening, he says.

We may, too, so arrange our rooms that currents of air will flow through them even on the hottest days. This is easily managed when electric fans are available; but even in the absence of these a great deal can be accomplished by judicious use of doors and windows, the latter being blinded against strong sunlight.

Such measures reduce the chances of heat stroke to vanishing point, even on the hottest day in this country, he assures us. They may be supplemented, if occasion should require, but the old device of wearing a damp shirt. This, by increasing evaporation from the skin (when light overclothes are worn) greatly augments cooling power. But care should be taken to avoid chills in putting the shirt on—it is as easy to "chill" in hot as in cold weather, as many of us know to our cost, he says.

TRADE WITH EGYPT GROWS.

Jumps From $17,000,000 to $36,000,000 Since Start of War.

The growth of the United States trade with Egypt in recent years has been one of the striking features of the commercial changes during and since the war, says the National City Bank, in discussing the effect of the recent establishment of Egypt as an independent political entity. This country's total trade with Egypt in the year preceding the war was $17,000,000; in the closing year of the war it was $36,000,000, in 1919 it advanced to $55,000,000, and in 1920 totaled $138,000,000. With the general reduction of international trade in 1921 and the sharp fall off in purchasing power of that country by reason of the low price of its cotton, this country's trade total with Egypt fell to $86,000,000, which is still more than double that in 1918 or in any year before the war.

Miss Doherty, the bank points out, has been especially striking in the matter of merchandise exported to that country. Prior to the war exports to Egypt seldom exceeded $2,000,000, and in many years were far less than that. In 1916 they advanced to $5,000,000, and in 1918 more than $14,000,000, dropping off in 1917 and 1918 by reason of transportation difficulties, but again advancing in 1919 to $15,000,000 and in 1920 to $38,000,000. In 1921 the fall of the price of Egyptian cotton reduced the purchasing power of that country, and while our exports in 1921 were but $14,000,000 they were practically seven times as much as the annual average in the decade preceding the war, and seem likely to again advance with a return of the purchasing power of Egypt resulting from the higher prices which she is already beginning to realize for her chief export, raw cotton, of which this country is a large purchaser.

Wheat, flour, coal, petroleum in its various forms, machinery, leather goods, cotton goods, manufactures of iron and steel and tobacco are the most important of our exports in Egypt. Of coal the 1920 exports to that country were over $6,000,000 in value, which far exceeded the average in the years in which Egypt was drawing its coal requirements from its nearer neighbors in Europe. While Egypt is normally a considerable producer of wheat, the extremely high prices of cotton during the war led her agriculturists to increase the cotton acreage at the expense of the wheat area, and as a consequence we sent to Egypt $3,800,000 worth of wheat and over $11,000,000 worth of flour in 1920. Practically all of her iron and steel imports were prior to the war drawn from Europe, but our own exports of iron and steel manufactures to Egypt in 1919 exceeded $5,000,000, and in 1920 were in excess of $3,000,000, most of this being machinery, which totaled about $2,250,000 in 1920, while the exports of leather and manufactures thereof to that country aggregated about $1,000,000 in 1914. Among the other articles which helped to bring our total of

Crux of Irish Problem is General
Idleness Amongst the Youth of Country—Montreal
Doctor's Views.

(Montreal Gazette.)
After spending two months in Great Britain and five rather hectic days in Ireland, Dr. G. B. Armstrong returned to Montreal on Saturday, with the additional honor of the degree of Magistra Chirurgia, which was conferred upon him by Dublin University. After the convocation and the ceremonies of conferring degrees, a dinner was held in honor of the guests, accompanied by the booming of an eighteen-pounder and sporadic rifle and revolver sniping from the region of Sackville street.

It was during the period July 1 to July 5 that Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong visited Killarney and Dublin, and conditions were such as to be continually on the qui vive. From the moment they set foot on Irish ground at Kingstown the aspect of things was changed.

"The first thing I saw," said Dr. Armstrong, while speaking of his impressions yesterday, "was an armored car with machine guns and forty or fifty soldiers. It was necessary to take round about routes to avoid the blockades and barricades across the main roads. In most cases these barricades were crude, but most effective, barriers, generally a tree or a telegraph pole felled across the road, with crossbars and wires making an impassable obstruction. All travelers are closely questioned and searched for arms. Snipers at various points eloquently told the story of looting and pillage, and the stories of all types were everywhere."

Dublin, according to Dr. Armstrong, is anything but safe, especially after dark. Sniping on and about Sackville street, is often uncomfortably hot, but, strange enough, hundreds of spectators risk their lives every day to watch the fighting, and a great number of them have been killed and wounded in this manner. The boxes are generally stuffed full, and as the wires are drawn almost everywhere, there is only the wireless service to be relied upon for outside communication.

Idleness Among Youth.
"The press in general," said Dr. Armstrong, "does not seem to have seized what appeared to me to be the essential and fundamental condition of things in the part of Ireland it struck me, as it did every person I saw, that the general idleness among the youth of the country was perhaps more responsible for the condition of affairs than anything else. On every street corner and turning of country roads there were invariably groups of boys, ranging from twelve to twenty. Among the other things they were doing was to loiter about with sullen, morose expressions. In practically every case these boys are armed. Who are they, and why do they stand about like that? They are rebels, is the answer; young boys and men devoid of education, matured since the war, who have never worked in their lives. There is no work for them. As there is neither coal nor iron in those parts, there are no industries, and the great problem is to find something to distract their minds, and to encourage an ambition for better things. The population is idle and disgruntled, no employment in sight, and this seems to me the crux of the whole situation. Idleness is the root of all evil, and never has it been better demonstrated than over there at this time."

Quoting personal experiences, Dr. Armstrong said that he was in a golf clubhouse one day when a gang of such young rebels walked in calmly demanded food at the point of revolvers. The whole affair was carried out without any fuss, and in the same way they walk into banks and demand money. It is a most usual thing," said Dr. Armstrong, "for a man to walk up, place a revolver against his victim and demand scrip, money or other valuables. To stop it is another problem, for you cannot lock up the entire population. There is very little drunkenness; indeed, I saw none.

Feeling of Depression.
"Eighty per cent., at least, of these people are under twenty years of age; wonderful material for demagogues to work upon; until they can be disarmed and made to understand and respect the law there will be difficult times in those parts."

Dublin University is protected by soldiers, and there is a force of Free State troops there. Similar precautions have been taken in other public places. There is a distinct feeling of depression in regard to conditions in Ireland, and some drastic changes must be made before normal times will ever come to Ireland, concluded Dr. Armstrong.

TWO MEN KILLED
BY BOOTLEGGERS

22 Bullets in One Man, 18 in the Other—Motorists Saw Gun Fight.

Detroit, Mich., July 20.—Working on the theory that Robert D. Cochran, automobile salesman, and a man named Doherty of Plymouth, Mich., were shot to death in an automobile on Emmons Boulevard, Lincoln Park, by bootleggers, who sought to rob them either of liquor or money, deputy sheriffs are searching Hamtramck for the men who rode in the car from which a hail of lead was sent into the bodies of Cochran and Doherty Monday morning. Cochran received twenty-two bullets, while Doherty entered Doherty's body.

This car was found abandoned in Hamtramck and witnesses declare that the license number on the car on a paste board tag was there when the car stood beside the bodies of the slain. Cochran and Doherty were found.

Three young men from Ecorse—William Lewerens, Jack Faulter and Edward Dunne—told the deputies they were driving down Emmons Boulevard when they heard the shooting and just ahead of them saw two cars side by side in the road. One of the slayers was standing on the running board of the car in which the bodies of Cochran and Doherty were lying, when the three men drove up. He jumped into the other machine which sped away.

They followed and obtained the license number of the car, but the fugitives fired three shots at their pursuers, who slackened their pace and the murderer disappeared.

Cochran, who was a salesman for the Studebaker Company, had recently been negotiating with some Italians for the sale of some cars, the police declare. His prospective customers were known as bootleggers, the police say.

ARE LIKELY TO BE APPOINTED JUDGES

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Ottawa, July 19.—Four of the judicial vacancies have been filled. While official announcement is withheld, pending confirmation by the acting governor, it is understood that the appointees are: Hon. William Martin, former premier of Saskatchewan; Joseph Demers, K.C., M.P., and Thibodeau Rinfret, K.C., to be judges of the superior court, Montreal. The appointment of Mr. Demers will mean a by-election in St. Johns-Iberville, the county which Mr. Demers has represented in the house of commons since 1906.

Claims Forwarded to Ottawa
by St. John Branch Are Satisfactorily Met.

Alexander Machum, secretary of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association, has received notice from the dominion command at Ottawa that three more claims forwarded by the St. John office have been satisfactorily adjusted and payments forwarded to the claimants. John Cook, of Plaster Rock, receives payment of one month's service gratuity which was withheld in error; T. R. Brundage has received settlement of his claim for separation allowance; and the dependant's portion of his gratuity, and J. Burt, who has previously received settlement of a claim for separation allowance, now receives notification of the payment of the dependant's portion of the gratuity.

These are illustrations of the service furnished gratuitously by the association to returned soldiers and the dependants of former service men through the clean sweep campaign inaugurated last fall and in which the association has handled about 40,000 separate claims from claimants in all parts of the world.

The city ambulance was the principal in a slight accident last evening about 7 o'clock when the front axle broke in twain in front of the Clifton House at the corner of Germain and Princess streets. The accident occurred when the vehicle was returning from a call to Fairville and there was no patient in it at the time. Repairs will be made immediately and it is expected that the ambulance will be on duty again in a day or two.

BEARD OF THE WALRUS USED AS TOOTHPICKS

Tacoma, Wash., July 20—Walrus whiskers designed for China were a part of the Behring Sea cargo unloaded here from the steamer Victoria, the first boat down from the Arctic this summer. The whiskers were collected by traders from Eskimo hunters, who tied them in little bundles. They are from two to four inches long and are exceedingly stiff and quill-like. In China they are used as toothpicks, some being mounted with gold or silver.

HISTORIC CASTLE LEASED BY GOULD Principal Seat of the Earls of Seafield, Chiefs of Clan Grant, Since 1701 - King's Favorite Moors. (Special Cable to the New York Times and Montreal Gazette.) London, July 16 - In line with the published reports that George J. Gould intended to abandon America and live on this side of the Atlantic with his bride, The Strathpey Herald, a Highlands weekly paper, states: "George Jay Gould, New York, is expected in a few days at Castle Grant, which he has rented for the season." Castle Grant is one of the many properties in the Scottish Highlands owned by the Seafield family, the head of which is the Earl of Seafield. The only member of the Seafield family who is at present in London, said tonight that he had seen the statement concerning the lease of Castle Grant to Mr. Gould, and while he thought it likely, he would not confirm it. He added, however, that the castle was not for sale. "There are many cottages and shooting lodges on the vast estates of the Seafields, but there is only one Castle Grant, which has been the principal seat and home of the Earls of Seafield, the chief of the Clan Grant, for centuries. The title goes back to 1701. There is an interesting and romantic history connected with the Seafields, who played an important part in the negotiations which resulted in the union of Scotland and England and ended up some years ago as squatters in New Zealand. In July, 1912, there was celebrated at Castle Grant the home-coming of the Earl of Seafield, from his New Zealand abode. There was a great gathering of the clan, marshalled in Grantown Square, from where they marched to the castle, the ancient seat of the family. The new Earl, when the war broke out, left for France as a captain in the Cameron Highlanders. On November 5, 1918, he was killed in battle and once again the direct male line to the Seafield estates has been broken and the lands and possessions, including the finest shooting ranges and fishing rights in Scotland go to Lady Nina Seafield, a minor. Mr. Gould will have the right of enjoying these privileges as a tenant of the castle. The spot is one of King George's favorites for a few days with his gun when shooting starts after August 12, and it is quite probable that Mr. Gould will meet the royal party on these moors. It is almost an unheard-of thing for the castle to be "let." No doubt the fact that trustees have charge until Lady Nina, the daughter of the late Earl, becomes of age has something to do with it. The castle, located in one of the most beautiful spots in all Scotland, is surrounded by "Porter-lodges" with locked gates at the different entrances, by loyal and hospitable attendants, the grounds, keeping the grass nice and short, dispensing with mowers, the fences are high to prevent their escape, and therefore very difficult for outsiders to climb over. When the Seafields are at home the castle is open to visitors on certain days and hours, but the new lessee can do about this just what he likes. The castle is not by any means a cottage, but a veritable Highland castle, surrounded by loyal and hospitable attendants, where the Goulds "can have a real honeymoon, and where the clan systems still lives." Strathpey is the home of the "Seafields," the "Gordon Highlanders," "Cameron" and other Highland regiments which comprised the celebrated Fifty-first Division in the world war.

Easiest Way to Remove Ugly Hairy Growths (Beauty Culture) Here is a method for removing hair from arms, neck or face that is unfasting and is quite inexpensive. Mix a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water and spread on hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes, rub it off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. No harm or inconvenience results from this treatment, but be careful to get genuine delatone and mix fresh. SAME DEFORMITY IN 4 GENERATIONS Child, Mother and Grandmother Have One Finger on Each Hand - A Great Grandfather's Curse. London, July 20 - Whether a great-grandfather's curse is the cause of four succeeding generations in one family being born with deformed hands and feet is to be the subject of a biological research in Nottingham. The question arose out of testimony heard at the inquest over a child who died from accidental intonation at birth. The attending doctor said that the child, like the mother and the grandmother, had only one finger on each hand and one toe on each foot. The grandmother, Mrs. Anne Carter, said that a little before her birth 'my father cursed my mother because she interfered with his stock taking machine, saying that he hoped the baby would be born without fingers. When he learned that I had only two fingers and two toes he was frantic and tore his hair.' Three of Mrs. Carter's eighteen children are similarly deformed. Members of the Eugenic Education Society maintain that there is not sufficient evidence to show that acquired characteristics are inherited. They say that the deformity may have existed in the family before the curse, but had remained masked for a generation or two. Dr. Stanley Dodd, a Harley street specialist, says that he is inclined to attribute the deformity of the grand-mother to coincidence rather than the curse. "Deformities undoubtedly are hereditary," he said. "A clubfoot often runs through several generations, and missing teeth likewise."

GENERAL ELECTION IN THE YUKON SOON Dawson, Y. T., July 19 - The Yukon legislative assembly has been dissolved. Writs will be issued this week for an election in the territory to take place some time in September. The Yukon legislative council consists of thirteen members elected by popular vote, presided over by a commissioner appointed by the federal government. Commissioner McKenzie, the present incumbent, issued a proclamation yesterday dissolving the present legislature which was elected in February 1920. AFTER TAKING POISON DECIDES LIFE IS GOOD St. Thomas, July 20 - A local doctor received a genuine surprise when a youth of the city walked into his office and asked that he be examined, explaining that in a rash moment he had contemplated suicide and had drunk a quantity of oil of cedar. Immediately afterward the young man changed his mind about departing this life in such a hurried manner and sought medical aid. The doctor found that the oil had done the young man little serious harm, but warned him not to make any more experiments of that nature. FEELING FINE - A few days ago though, I felt pretty miserable - kind of tired and drowsy. I must have been very much run down, until someone recommended Dr. Wilson's Herbine Bitters. An old-fashioned, natural preparation made from Dandelion, Mandrake, Burdock and other purifying herbs, which tend to relieve Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaints and Constipation. It purifies, enriches the Blood and builds up the whole system. Try a bottle and get back that peppy feeling you used to have. 50c a bottle. Family size four times as large, $1.00. Try a bottle. DISTANCE FORMS
EMPIRE PROBLEM

Earl of Balfour Confident a Solution Will Be Found

Success or Failure—Statesmen at Home Must Have Empire as Background of National and Political Thought.

London, July 1.—(By mail.)—A meeting of the Victoria League was held at the Guildhall yesterday afternoon. The lord mayor presided over a large gathering, and among those supporting him were the Dowager Lady Jersey (president of the Victoria League), Lord Balfour, Sir Joseph Cook (High Commissioner for Australia), and Mr. W. Ormsby-Gore, M. P.

The lord mayor said it was just twenty-one years since the Victoria League was formed. It was founded on the death of Queen Victoria—in her memory and in her name. Its object was the promotion of closer union between British subjects living in different parts of the world.

Lord Balfour proposed the following resolution: "That in the opinion of this meeting the practical and non-party work of the Victoria League for the Empire deserves the heartiest support of all British people." He said that the inherent difficulty or problem of the British Empire arose largely—almost entirely—from physical conditions. The United States had one great advantage over us, due to geographical situation. Those who gradually settled the land were bound to each other by means of communication—by a train of settlers. So that when the farthest and remotest parts of the continent were settled, there was one nation of which all the members were in direct physical, as it were, and material connection by land with all the others.

Main Preoccupation.

"How different and how much harder," Lord Balfour continued, "is the destiny that we have to accomplish, the problem we have to solve. We are separated from the nearest of the great dominions by the whole width of the stormy Atlantic. And as for Australia and New Zealand, they are, as we all know, at the very Antipodes, the parts of the earth most distant from the Motherland, that central community from which they issue, whose laws and institutions they have carried to the uttermost parts of the world. In these circumstances, it is quite inevitable that human nature being what it is, the communities that we have planted, or that they have planted themselves in these remote regions, should have as their main preoccupation the immediate pressure of necessity of concentrating their attention on their local problems, on their local difficulties, on the development out of uninhabited, or at all events, uncivilized land, of a community as

Soak coloured things half an hour (white things one hour, two hours, over night or whatever time is convenient) in Rinso suds.

Soak the Dirt out.

THERE is such a simple easy way of washing rompers, school gingham, play clothes, etc., that you won't mind how many there are—thanks to Rinso.

First, make the wonderful Rinso liquid. Take half a packet of Rinso, thoroughly dissolve it in cool water, and add two quarts of boiling water. Then lay your clothes to soak in the tub of cool or lukewarm water. After one, two or three hours or in the morning give them a thorough rinsing and the dirt just runs away. No need to rub on the wash board so that holes come and colour goes.

Rinso is a wonderful product, scientifically made to wash clothes by soaking—different from soaps, chips and washing powders, and used differently.

Do not put Rinso into the tub from the package, but make the Rinso liquid first.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Follow directions as above. After soaking the clothes wring them into machine, add enough fresh Rinso liquid, operate and rinse, and you will have the sweetest, cleanest clothes you ever saw.

free, as cultured, as that from which they sprang. "That is a preoccupation which may well absorb all the attention of these fellow citizens of ours. And yet if either they or we allow ourselves under the pressure of our own local difficulties, to allow ourselves to be cold or even lukewarm in our imperial patriotism, then this great experiment of the British Empire, new as it is in the whole history of the world, is doomed either to failure or to the most qualified of successes. It can only be what Providence intended it to be. What statesmen of this country do can only fulfil the ideal at which they aim if, in addition to all these local patriotisms, however warm they be, we always add as the background of our political and national thought the notion that we are common members of a common family. The problem is not easy of solution, but it can be solved, and I boldly maintain that the kind of work this league has done and is doing is the kind of work which is eminently calculated to further the great object which I have described." The resolution was carried unanimously.

REFUSES TO TAKE THE CHILD

Mother Says Hospital Wrong Regarding Baby's Identity.

Windsor, Ont., July 20.—Whether Mrs. Josephine Arigan of Windsor should accept an infant which authorities of the Women's and Infants' Hospital, Detroit, are endeavoring to force upon her as her own child, is a matter which will be settled in juvenile court, Detroit, July 27.

The case is a peculiar one. Last September Mrs. Arigan advertised in the Border Cities Star for someone to adopt her baby boy, then about two months old. A woman who gave her name as Mrs. H. Price, with a Walkerville address, communicated with Mrs. Arigan and agreed to keep the child. She took the babe with her. Four days later, when Mrs. Arigan went to see the child, she discovered that there was no such address as the woman had given her. She commenced a frantic search for her baby, and to this day says she has been unable to find any trace of either the woman or her baby.

In Detroit, some days ago, a child which had been abandoned was turned over to the Women's and Infants' Hospital. Authorities after investigating decided that the child was the one which had been stolen from Mrs. Arigan. They notified her, but at the hospital she said that she was positive that the child was not hers. Her husband also agreed that it was not his child.

Hospital authorities tried to impress upon them that their investigation was sufficient to show that the child was theirs. They tried to force both Mrs. Arigan and her husband to take the infant. When they refused, the authorities said that they would put the matter in the hands of the police.

Juvenile court officials are now investigating the case. The father and mother of the stolen baby said that the child in the Detroit hospital had an abnormal sized head. Their child was born normal. This is also substantiated by Dr. C. F. Lewis, who was the physician who bought Mrs. Arigan's child into the world.

"NO TRESPASS" SIGN IN THE AIR NOW

Pennsylvania Judge Fines Aviators for Passing Over Land on Which Notice Appeared.

Punxsutawney, Pa., July 20.—Are you "trespassing" when you fly over property that is posted against trespassers? Justice of the Peace C. C. Rowan evidently believes that you are for he fined Lieutenant Harold O'Nevin and Leon Smith, aviators, here, conducting passenger flights, $1 each on information made by O. P. Grube, of a nearby town. The fliers landed here Wednesday with two Curtis airplanes and have been conducting flights from the Barger stock farm, adjoining the O. P. Grube farm. Mr. Grube objected to the flights being made over his land and today made complaint against the fliers and Francis Cole, trespassing. At the hearing no evidence was forthcoming to show that any of the fliers had set foot on Mr. Grube's land. They admitted, however, having flown over his land at varying heights and it was upon this admission that Mr. Grube and his counsel insisted upon a conviction. Cole was discharged, but O'Nevin and Smith were assessed $1 and costs. Upon the advice of their attorney, a petition of appeal was at once prepared and was presented to Judge Charles Corbett this afternoon.
